Experts warn of gang threat

Experts spoke to parents recently about their preteens and teens and the potential trouble they can get into with gang-related activities in the Plymouth-Canton area. Experts urged parents to make their children responsible for their actions.

The mother of an 11-year-old Canton boy — a former member of the Dee Kings gang — told how she found his gun in her house. The boy had been beaten by other gang members.

Another mother told how her 14-year-old daughter whipped her with the telephone cord when she was told to get off the phone. The mother suffered fractured ribs.

"It's not just Canton Commons. It's Beacon Hill. Sunflower. Plymouth," said the mother whose daughter beat her.

The mothers joined the less-than-full crowd in the Canton Township board meeting room Wednesday night for a panel discussion about keeping the Plymouth-Canton area free of gangs.

The discussion, hosted by Family Service of Detroit and Wayne Coun... included: Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry; Canton Township police community relations/crime prevention officer Tammie Colling; officer Angelo Nardoni of the Detroit Police Department's Special Crime Section; Brownstown Township Det.

Freshness crops up at market

BY DIANE GALE
STAFF WRITER

Visit the Farmer's Market if you want a real taste of Canton.

Twice weekly — from 3-7 p.m. Wednesdays, and 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays — Canton farmers set up their stands and sell freshly grown produce at Ford and Sheldon roads in the New Towne Plaza. Everything is nourished in homegrown soil.

The farmers' first day out this year was Saturday, July 24, and they plan to continue selling their goods until the last Saturday before Halloween.

The bad news, however, is that every year the number of farmers at the market dwindles. For instance, last year there were six farmers at the market, and so far this year there have been three or four.

"I think there will be more this year," Lenore Walker said. "When we first opened, they (the people) said, 'We've been looking for you.' They're happy to get fresh produce."

She and her husband, James Walker, have a three-acre farm on Denton. They've been selling their farm goods at the farmer's market for about 11 years, beginning when James retired. And they hope to continue the tradition for as long as they can or until development pushes them out.

"We put out about three acres," said Lenore Walker. Their crops include beans, tomatoes, corn and peppers.

"So far we're putting out as much as we always have," she said.

Why go to the Farmer's Market instead of the grocery store?

"The vegetables are more fresh," Lenore Walker said, adding that the produce is usually picked shortly before the farmers go to the market.

"The prices are normally just a little lower than the store," Lenore Walker said. "Some things might be the same."

Bon appetit.

Crowds to decide tax hike

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Don't forget to cast your ballot tomorrow if you're a registered Plymouth-Canton voter. The election is tomorrow, and polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

On the ballot is a single issue: a 4-mill tax increase to fund Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Based on absentee voting, observers forecast a record high voter turnout. As of Friday morning, absentee voters totalled 2,600, "an all-time high, by a lot," said Ellen Schroeder, elections clerk for the school district.

Schroeder's office, and the schools' community relations office (451-3188), will welcome calls from voters.

"If people aren't sure whether they're registered, or of their voting precinct, they can call the election office at 451-3135, even on election day," said district spokesperson Annette Kubeshesky.

Long lines voters have encountered at precincts in the past should be alleviated this time around.

"We've worked to improve the numbers of voting machines so that people will be better accommodated," said Kubeshesky.

No more absentee ballots are being issued due to time constraints, but if voters "still have one, someone else can drop it off," said Schroeder. Anyone who'd like to vote absentee may still do so, in person, from 7:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. today at the board office, 454 S. Harvey in Plymouth.

If approved, the property tax increase will be effective for one year, even though the ballot will ask for two-year approval. That's because state lawmakers recently passed legislation to take effect July 1, 1994 that will do away with local property tax revenue as the source of funding for schools. The Legislature hasn't yet determined how it will replace the $5.6 billion in lost revenue.

Toy inventor: Mark Sassak finds success with Saturnian I.

Inventor toys with playing for profit

BY KEVIN BROWN

To succeed in the adult world, most of us leave far behind our childhood toys and days filled with play.

But Plymouth toy inventor Mark Sassak is one adult who makes his living trying to think like a kid.

In the Canton office of his company, Saturnian I Inc., on a recent weekday Sassak, 39, rose from behind his desk. He picked up a black paddle ring with a springy green spider web in the center, to bounce a black rubber spider for two visitors.

"I like this business I'm in," said Sassak, smiling.

"You can capture more of the market if you have more than one item," he said.

Two parties who hold the fate of the former Plymouth Hilton hotel in Plymouth Township refuse to talk about the status of the facility, other than to say it remains closed.

The hotel, closed in July 1991, is still owned by the Columbia Sussex Corp. of Fort Mitchell, Ky. When asked to comment on the hotel's status, Columbia Sussex real estate division man Joe Marquette said, "I just can't discuss that."

He did mention that one might try Lynn Powers of Prudential Insurance Corp. in Chicago, Ill., the mortgage holder on the property.

"We aren't commenting to the press," Powers said Wednesday.

The hotel, on Northville Road, has the fourth largest ballroom in the state and 195 sleeping rooms.

New business

Silk Flowers and Things, 880 W. Ann Arbor Trail, has just opened for business.

Owner Barb Tyler first started teaching flower arranging 26 years ago, then started a business out of her home before opening her own business in Livonia.

"We sell flowers that are realistic and good quality. They never die and they portray more consistent color variety," Tyler said.

The store offers custom order service and teaches silk flower arranging.

Virginia Caffery of Plymouth, events coordinator for the Michigan Boating Industries Association, has been nominated for the 1993 Briggs Marine Woman of the Year Award.

The winner will be announced at the group's convention in Las Vegas Nov. 29-Dec. 1. The award is presented to an outstanding woman actively involved in the marine industry for devoted service, commitment and the advancement of women in the marine business.

Auditorium cutoff hits sour note with symphony

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

With its fall season about to kick off, the Plymouth Symphony Society is still without a community venue in which to play.

Society members are disappointed that their request to use school facilities, and foot the bill, apparently fell on deaf ears at last week's school board meeting.

After the millage defeat in June, the Plymouth-Canton school district barred community groups' use of its buildings and facilities. An exception was made for the Plymouth Community Arts Council, because it is actively involved in the classroom.

School officials said that further complicating their ability to appease the symphony is the fact that the high school auditorium manager has been laid off and no one on staff knows how to operate the equipment.

The 35th District Court Magistrate Theodore Johnson, who is active with the symphony and other community groups, including the arts council, told the board that the U.S. Supreme Court recently ruled that if school districts grant use of a facility to one group, the same opportunity must be given to other community organizations.

The symphony has scouted sites outside the community, and projects a drastic revenue loss if performances are in Novi or elsewhere, as occurred last year due to scheduling problems.

Symphony spokeswoman Linda Alvarado said that the average take at last year's two off-site concerts was just $1,015, down from the average $5,456 at Salem High School auditorium.

"That's a 66-percent loss of revenue," said Alvarado.

"I'm really pleading for the school board, community groups and the community at large to work together on problem solving," she said. "These programs provide enrichment for the community, and this action is jeopardizing it. Once programs and organizations cease to exist, they are at best difficult to rebuild, and at worst, an incalculable loss."

Johnson, who has volunteered his time to work with students, urged the board to reconsider. "I don't believe the current auditorium would be in place, as is, without the symphony," he said. "They have made many contributions to our community and to the student body. Inability to use the facility will have a devastating impact. I'm not sure it's been adequately thought through."

Russ Reed, director of the symphony, told the board, "Basically, we need the schools. We hope you will consider allowing us to pay our way."

School board president Roland Thomas said, "This isn't a pleasant task we have in front of us. We all want the Plymouth Symphony to perform in Plymouth. We feel strongly it's an asset to the community."

"From my point of view as one board member, we don't have a person to run any of the equipment at the high school. The job was eliminated. While the symphony does many wonderful things for students and the community, they don't have direct impact in the classroom."

Elizabeth Johnson, a symphony society board member, said the organization has been active in Plymouth-Canton elementary, middle and high schools for 47 years. In addition to working for passage of the bond issue to build Salem auditorium, the symphony has provided scholarships; featured students as soloists and regular members, sponsored clinics, given concert tickets to students, and donated to the schools' music departments.

The symphony's mission statement says, in part, that it "shall seek to enrich and encourage music education in the area schools."

K.C. Mueller, past president of the symphony, told the board that not only is it difficult to re-educate the public to go outside the community for concerts, "but as a Realtor, I hate to see our community have additional negative feelings imposed upon it."

"I would like you as a board to work with the symphony which has expressed a desire to work with the cost problems," she said. "Tell them what the costs are and even if they have to hire a person to handle the equipment and pay them directly, it still will be cost efficient for them."

Trustee Les Walker said that while he's willing to reconsider, the board in making cuts looked closely at educational impact. "It's not our intention to one-by-one, decide that this has impact, and this doesn't," he said. "We had to treat this categorically, rather than individually."

Thomas directed Superintendent John Hoben to examine the situation "in light of criteria we used with the arts council, and I will communicate back with the board individually."

"What troubles me most," said Ted Johnson after the meeting, "is that the symphony is prepared to pay the full cost of use of the facility. No one was even willing to investigate whether that was feasible. We talk about working together, yet this offer wasn't even discussed. That's sad. Then there's the millage. If it's defeated, we'll hear the question, where is the community support?"

Gunshot leads to arrest, charges

A Garden City man has been charged by Plymouth Township police with felonious assault after a gunshot was fired Aug. 7.

On Friday, Aaron Benson, 18, was bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court on charges of felonious assault, possession of a gun and carrying a concealed weapon.

Plymouth district Judge John MacDonald bound Benson over on the charges after the accused waived a preliminary examination. A not-guilty plea had been entered on Benson's behalf.d

Police charge that at 8:40 p.m. Aug. 7, Benson aimed a .32 caliber semiautomatic pistol at the roadway and fired it, lodging a bullet in the bumper of a Chevrolet Berretta driven by an 18-year-old Plymouth man on Cleat Street south of Five Mile.

Earlier Benson had passed the Baretta on the right, angering its driver who pursued him, police said.

Benson was arrested at Six Mile and Ridge by Plymouth Township and Northville Township police. Plymouth Township Police Det. Steve Mann said police found a gun in a grassy area nearby.

Theft charged

Milton Burack, 36, of Redford, was bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court Friday on a larceny charge stemming from the theft of a cash register from a Shell gas station at 39621 E. Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township on July 27.

A man entered that gas station at 12:30 a.m. and asked the lone attendant for a case of motor oil. When the attendant went to a back room, the man took the cash register with money inside and drove off in a Ford pickup.

After Burack was arrested Aug. 2 for a similar theft in Livonia, he admitted robbing the Plymouth Township crime gas station, said Plymouth Township Police Det. Steve Mann.

Gas stolen

A 21-year-old Westland man told Plymouth police that a customer left his Hop-in gas station on Ann Arbor Trail without paying for $20.75 in super unleaded gasoline shortly before midnight Aug. 10.

The suspect, who was driving a 1986 two-door Cougar, is described as a white male, aged 18-20, with blond hair and a buzz cut. He is 5-feet-6, 210 pounds, and clean shaven. The man was wearing a black T-shirt and jeans.

After pumping his gas, the suspect got into his vehicle, looked back at the attendant and quickly left the station with his lights off. The complainant was able to get the license plate number and says he can identify the suspect. Police said the man wasn't at the address listed on his registration when they checked.

Harassing phone calls

A 29-year-old Plymouth woman told police that her ex-husband is harassing her at home and at work. The suspect is a Canton resident, age 33. The couple was married for two-and-a-half years and divorced last year.

She says the problem is ongoing. She receives threatening phone calls, hang-up calls, and is fearful for her children, as they are with him every other weekend.

Assault and battery charges have been filed against him in the past. The suspect also has threatened men the woman works with. The complainant also said her ex-husband has been physically abusive in the past. She said he is an alcoholic and may be suffering from mental problems.

Indecent exposure

A Plymouth woman reported that a man exposed himself to her and a group of children who were playing outside near the intersection of Linden and Herald at about 2:15 p.m. Aug. 9. The man, who has brown hair and a mustache, was wearing a light blue, short-sleeved shirt and blue shorts.

CLARIFICATION

John Vos has served on the Plymouth city commission since 1989, not since 1979 as reported in the Aug. 12 Plymouth Observer.

Board sends pay-to-play suggestion to the showers

Despite the many parents who've told the school board it's feasible, there won't be pay-to-play in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools if the millage request on Tuesday's ballot fails.

Warren Miller was the latest parent to put the question to the board.

"Is there a pay-to-play system ready to kick in as a backup measure?" he asked at the board at meeting last week. Miller said several other financially strapped school districts in metro Detroit have adopted pay-to-play programs.

The board has maintained that pay-to-play would be cost prohibitive, given the staff that's been pink-slipped and other factors.

"There are no plans for pay-to-play," said school board president Roland Thomas. "If you set it at $500, you are going to drop off kids on the fringes, so the price escalates."

Miller asked whether the district has consulted Wayne-Westland schools or other districts that are adopting pay-to-play programs.

"We don't plan to," said Thomas. "It's an exorbitant amount of money on a per-student basis — and that means all activities."

WATER THERAPY FOR ARTHRITIS
Swimming is excellent exercise for arthritis. The buoyancy of water reduces the weight the knees and ankles must carry while the movements strengthen muscles and stretch tendons in a manner under your control.
However, to gain these benefits you must know how to swim and have a pool available to you. Furthermore, you need sufficient joint stability so the wet floors of the pool do not present a hazard. Finally, the pool must have heat regulation to give a water temperature between 85-92 degrees. Otherwise the chill to your body will counter your need for increased blood flow to the extremities.
A heated pool, if available, is an asset you should not forgo even if you are not a swimmer. Pool walking or exercising, if done on a regular basis, benefits almost any arthritic joint. If you have a knee that cannot fully flex, a trial of pool exercises may improve your range of motion so you can cancel a proposed operation or wheelchair purchase.
If using a pool is not practical, water therapy still remains possible. Shower in the a.m. under the hottest water you can stand, and move your joints as you would if you were swimming or walking.
Your pool membership or water use expense is small compared to the bill for medications. The gain in mobility is priceless compared to the cost of remaining impaired.

Hospice keeps rolling with classic autos

Hospice Services of Western Wayne County, based in Garden City, was the winner of a car show at the Canton Township Kmart last Saturday.

Nearly $2,600 was collected for the hospice service with locations in Garden City and Plymouth.

"All of the proceeds will go directly to the clients we serve," said Vicki Martin, director of development for Hospice Services. "If it hadn't been for Kmart we never would have been able to raise this much money."

This is the third year for the car show, which has been coordinated from the first by Kmart manager Chuck Wagner. The first two years the event was held in the parking lot of the Westland store, but when Wagner was transferred to the Canton store the event moved too, Martin said.

Car enthusiasts paid a fee to show their cars and earn prizes and spectators paid a fee to see the cars. A bake sale and food concession were on hand as was WHND radio.

Prizes for the car show were donated by area businesses.

Hospice Services serves 38 area residents every day, Martin said. Donations to Hospice Services are used to supplement insurance payments.

"Insurance doesn't usually cover all the expenses," Martin said. "We look to donations to fill the gap."

Hospice Services provides support services to clients and their families coping with terminal illnesses. They serve western Wayne, southern Oakland and eastern Washtenaw counties.

Business at Mayflower enjoys calmer sailing

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Hotel and restaurant business is up at the troubled Mayflower Hotel, and a catering firm has been hired to service the Mayflower Meeting House.

Ron Wilson, the receiver appointed in December to take over the hotel, said Thursday that room occupancy is now running at "around 55-60 percent; it was running around 42 percent."

Why is business up? "We've restructured the packages that are available by different amenities we offer," Wilson said.

He said the hotel now follows a strategy by which rates are adjusted higher during peak demand times, and lower when demand is low, to build profits, a strategy followed by the airlines.

Meanwhile, "The restaurant added some really excellent specials to the menus on weekend nights, it's going over fantastic," Wilson said.

There have been lines of diners waiting to get into the restaurant weekend nights, Wilson said, adding, "Reservations are strongly suggested."

■ 'Reservations are strongly suggested.'

Wilson said business at the Crow's Nest lounge is also up, since folk singer, WDET-FM radio host and teacher Matt Watroba has been performing Friday and Saturday nights.

"He's doing a great job; the lounge is doing much better since Matt has come on board," Wilson said.

The Mayflower Meeting House, once catered by the Mayflower Hotel when the Lorenz family controlled both businesses, is now a totally separate business, with food service no longer provided by the hotel.

Now managing and catering the meeting house for the Lorenz family is Great Events & Great Water Yachts of St. Clair Shores.

Marketing and sales manager Lynn Wilhelm said the Lorenz family is "contracting us out to do the food service."

Due to a continuing dispute over the liquor license for the meeting house, stemming from the hotel filing for bankruptcy early last year, the meeting house presently has no liquor license.

People attending wedding receptions and other functions at the meeting house are asked to bring their own liquor, Wilhelm said.

Besides catering weddings, Wilhelm said her firm also wants to draw wedding shower business, and provide "bigger, better, splashier, fancier Sunday brunches."

Also, "We'd like to entice some corporate people to do meetings here," she said.

Food served at the meeting house is initially prepared in Troy, then cooked in the meeting house kitchen, which is being remodeled.

Wilhelm said her firm is also considering some changes in the Meeting house decor.

School board recalls 17 teachers with money already budgeted

Seventeen pink-slipped teachers were recalled by the Plymouth-Canton School Board Monday night.

The action was included in the board's consent calendar, which lumps together for a single vote such routine items as bills for payment, leaves and resignations. The board explained that money is budgeted for the recalls, being made periodically to save money in unemployment costs.

Employees are being recalled based on staffing needs and certification requirements.

The latest recalls include Janet Sutherland, Renee Lakatos-Nowaske, Charles Huhta, Sherry Suffety, Jackie Merrifield, Kathryn Eldridge, Kimberly Martin, Susan Konovaliv, Linda Haeberle, Janice Way, Frank Pavia, Mary Lynn Breyfogle, Kathleen Hunt, Brenda Belanger, Mary Corridore, Mary Gerrelts and Barbara Anderson.

A total of 42 certified staff will be laid off if the 4-mill proposal on Tuesday's ballot fails.

Lance sentenced to 2 years probation

Barbara Lance, 26, of Plymouth was sentenced to two years probation after pleading guilty to fourth-degree criminal sexual conduct in connection with the assault of a wheelchair-bound woman at West Trails Nursing Home.

The victim, 87, is also blind.

Lance was sentenced by Detroit Recorder's Court Judge David Kerwin.

Fourth-degree criminal sexual conduct is defined as sexual assault of a physically helpless person with force or coercion. It is punishable by a maximum two years in prison and/or a $500 fine.

Lance confessed to the Feb. 22 incident at the Ann Arbor Trail nursing home, where she worked, in a three-page written statement to police.

The confession was deemed inadmissible by Kerwin, who ruled Lance should have been advised of her rights.

Both the police and prosecution said they were prepared to go to trial had Lance not entered a guilty plea.

West Trail personnel said the victim is still living at West Trail and is doing well. Lance has not worked at the nursing home since the incident. Her status was unknown by the administrator on duty at press time.

Plymouth man earns new post with Kelsey-Hayes

Robert L. Crumley of Plymouth has been appointed Kelsey-Hayes vice president of international operations and business development for its worldwide ABS and Controls Group.

Crumley will be responsible for directing the activities of the Topy and Kelsey-Hayes joint venture in Japan and initiating anti lock braking systems market activities in China, Korea, Central America and South America.

He will also coordinate the planning and development of Kelsey-Hayes' worldwide brake and controls business activities.

Crumley joined Kelsey-Hayes in 1991, after serving as vice president of sales and engineering for Siemens Automotive, director of business development for Bendix Electronics, director of engineering for ITT Teves and LTV Aerospace defense and manager of truck marketing and manufacturing programs for Ford Motor Co.

Group seeks help to keep conservation fun

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

To members of the Canton Beautification Committee, beauty is more than flowers.

"We figure if we can get children interested in beautification and conservation, that's great because they will be adults one day," said committee member Tillie Schultz.

The committee gets kids involved through a series of booklets used in the Plymouth-Canton schools. Actually, they are activity books in which children can learn about conservation, recycling, beautification and landscaping.

Committee members also have printed booklets for kids about vandalism and Canton's history.

Throughout the activity books, a particular theme, such as conservation, is driven home by what committee member Pam Swiderek — a math teacher at St. Raphael Catholic School, Garden City — calls the Flower Family, drawings which she has copyrighted. She uses games, anecdotes and puzzles in coloring books to show children who to be responsible.

"We have a very artistic teacher here," Schultz said, referring to Swiderek, who with her artistic talents is considered the vehicle for the committee's ideas.

For example, the booklets teach kids to think about an old sink, for example. Where should that be put when it becomes useless? Beautification committee members want kids to consider alternatives to putting it out on the curb for garbage pickup.

"This will give the kids information they can take home," Swiderek said. "It allows them to investigate the problem. And it lessens what they put down at the curb."

The beautification committee wants to continue producing the booklets. And while they receive a small budget from the township, members are now embarking on a fund-raising project that is expected to help with the booklets.

The effort, called DirectoRecycle, is designed to get community residents to recycle their telephone books. With Ameritech's help, the committee plans to accept phone books and for each one the group will get 10 cents from the communications company.

"This time we will actually be practicing what we preach — recycling," Swiderek said. "By bringing in the phone books, residents are actually participating in the funding of these booklets."

There's one problem, however. The beautification committee needs a sponsor — a store, such as Target, Kmart or Meijer — willing to provide the big-enough boxes in which to collect the phone books. They also need someone willing to transport the collected phone books to Data Disintegration in Detroit. The company recycles phone books into animal bedding.

New phone books are expected out Oct. 11. The committee would like to get their fund-raising and recycling effort underway by them. "So hold on to those phone books," Swiderek said.

Any store or company who would like to help with the project should call Swiderek at 453-1122.

Other communities who have seen the beautification committee's booklets are jumping on the bandwagon. "Oh, we would like one for our town,' Schultz said other beautification groups say.

In addition to the booklets, the committee also sponsors the Arbor Day seedling distribution and landscape symposium, sponsors residential landscape awards, as well as for apartments and condominiums.

But there's more: the group also works with Keep Michigan Beautiful, as well as the Beautification Council of Southeastern Michigan. They also decorate the Canton Public Library showcase for May cleanup, paintup, fixup and plantup ideas.

Lansing moves to subsidize art

The state's regulatory budget — with $29 million for the arts — will become law despite many attempts to amend it in the House of Representatives.

The bill was passed 83 to 18 and sent to Gov. John Engler without major change from the Senate version.

It funds the Michigan Council for the Arts and Cultural Affairs, the Detroit Insititue of Arts, Detroit Historical Museum, Detroit Zoo, Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Edison Institute at Greenfield Village and the Grand Rapids Public Museum.

"This complex bill was just presented Wednesday (one day earlier) at 4 p.m. I have not been able to study it," objected Rep. Penny Crissman, R-Rochester, who voted no.

Rep. Greg Kaza, R-Rochester, raised the philosophical question of "whether it is a legitimate function of Lansing to provide taxpayer subsidies for the arts."

Kaza quoted author Ernest Hemingway, sculptor Wheeler Williams painter Larry Rivers and novelist John Updike as opposing governmental interference in and support of their arts.

From the west side of the state, Rep. Harold Voorhees, R-Wyoming, opposed a state subsidy to regional facilities as lacking equity. "Regional facilities should be supported on a regional basis," said Voorhees, who lost an amendment to reduce Detroit area facilities and raise it for the Grand Rapids museum.

Rep. David Jaye, R-Utica, lost an amendment to withhold funds from the Detroit art institute, zoo and historical museum until the city lifts its ban on hiring suburban residents.

Here is how area lawmakers voted on final passage:

Yes — Republicans Lyn Bankes of Redford, Barbara Dobb of Union Lake, Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills, John Jamian of Bloomfield Township, Shirley Johnson of Royal Oak and Jerry Vorva of Plymouth; and Democrats Maxine Berman of Southfield, William Keith of Garden City and Richard Young of Dearborn Heights.

No — Republicans Crissman of Rochester, Kaza of Rochester Hills and Debora Whyman of Canton.

Blackwell's power cut deeply

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Wayne County Commission Chairman Arthur Blackwell, D-Detroit, presented no opposition recently when a group of commissioners moved to strip him of a good deal of his power as chairman.

The changes approved in Rule 14 of the commission's Rules of Procedure make it very difficult for the chairman to favor friendly commissioners with committee chairmanships and increased office budgets.

Introduced by commissioner William O'Neil, D-Allen Park, the amendment to Rule 14 was supported technically by all 15 commissioners, who voted unanimously to adopt it Aug. 5.

But the main supporters were suburban commissioners like Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, and Edward Boike, D-Taylor, who have often been denied committee chairmanships by Blackwell. The rebel commissioners have also questioned Blackwell's practice of granting larger office budgets to his favorites.

A prime example is commissioner George Cushingberry, D-Detroit, whose staff included 25 people in 1992 who were paid $173,000.

Blackwell employed 19 staff members in 1992, paying them $245,000.

By contrast, the staff of commissioner Kay Beard, D-Westland, comprised just two people in 1992 who were paid $62,000. (Beard also represents Garden City.)

The new Rule 14 says that a majority of the commissioners must ratify the chairman's appointment of committee chairs. The rule also requires majority approval of everyone's office budget and makes it very difficult for commissioners to overspend in their office budgets, or for the chairman to grant larger office budgets to selected commissioners.

Some commissioners have speculated that Blackwell went along with the changes to Rule 14 only because he's running for Detroit mayor this year and doesn't want the negative publicity O'Neil promised to deliver if anyone stood in his way.

"If this rule is not voted properly, you will hear an awful lot from me," O'Neil said last March. "I will be the most hated commissioner."

Also, Blackwell has reportedly told two commissioners that he plans to give up his chairmanship even if he isn't elected mayor.

Business index says area economy is improving

The Detroit Area Business Activity Index for June hit an all-time high of 166, 10 points above May's level and 14.6 percent above the year-earlier June index number of 145.

Year-to-date through the first half of 1993, the Detroit area economy is running 10 percent higher than the same period in 1992. The previous high, 160, occurred in March of this year.

"Seven of eight components in the business activity index rose between May and June, underscoring the general local economic improvements," said David L. Littmann, first vice president and senior economist of Comerica Bank.

"The fact that Michigan's motor vehicle output through June is up 25 percent from one year ago emphasizes the greatest single source of momentum in 1993."

Since 1957 Comerica Bank has compiled the Detroit Area Business Activity Index monthly from eight measures of regional activity which are seasonally adjusted, corrected for inflation, and expressed as an index with 1982 as base year equal to 100.

Police, parents urge staying alert to indicators

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

The woman held up the drawings — of gang-related items — and told of troubles with her 14-year-old daughter.

"I feel hurt and ashamed. But I found this in my home. My daughter draws all the time. See the beads and the colors," said the mother. "She is angry all the time. She says these are her friends."

Parents at Wednesday night's panel discussion on gangs — hosted by Family Service of Detroit and Wayne County — shared stories about their realizations that their children were to one degree or another involved in gangs or "wannabe" gangs.

■ 'If she could beat up her own mother, what would she do to you and me? Canton is not immune. It happens here, folks.'

Angelo Nardoni
Detroit police

Parents spoke of kids wearing bandanas, beads and certain necklaces, all similar to the kids they befriend. They spoke of finding drawings of gang-related symbols, as well as one mother who found her son's gun in the house.

They also spoke about their children's attitudes and their disregard for their families and their rules.

"This is a mother who was beaten up by her own daughter," said Detroit police officer Angelo Nardoni of the Special Crimes Section. "If she could beat up her own mother, what would she do to you and me? Canton is not immune. It happens here, folks."

The panel of experts told parents what to look for to determine if their children are getting involved with gangs or gang-related activity.

Tammie Colling, Canton police community relations officer, told parents it's irrelevant whether kids are part of an actual gang or are wannabes. "If the fear and intimidation is there, consider them a gang."

Remember, she said, gangs depend on their image and status. Graffiti, symbols, and the same style and color of dress, including beads and bandanas, maintain the status and image.

Police already have found graffiti throughout the community. "It's also important it gets cleaned up. You don't want to give out the message that we are accepting their values," Colling said. Graffiti marks gang turf, advertises power and communicates to rival gangs.

She provided parents with samples of gang symbols they might find in drawings or graffiti. Symbols include pitchforks, hearts, snakes, five-point and six-point stars, and letters.

"This is how gang members communicate. Other children recognize these symbols," Colling said.

Gerald Ostien, Salem High School principal, acknowledged that school officials have found graffiti with symbols, as well as groups of kids wearing identical colors. "It's something we should watch and be aware of," he said.

Consider drugs, violence and the mentality of adolescents, Ostien said: "Put that all together and we could have some problems."

If your child and his friends wear only red and black, for example, Colling said, "that might be a time for you to start looking and evaluating."

Also consider the tilt of the hats they wear, on which ear they wear earrings, and various hand signals they give each other, Colling added.

The panel members urged parents to get involved with their children and to keep tabs on them. Despite police efforts, including officer training about gangs, parents and the community must help solve the problem.

"It's not just a police problem," Colling said. "It's a community problem."

kids from a particular area. We're talking about all kids."

A task force, including police and school officials, has been formed to share information about gangs, provide public information, and work to prepare law-enforcement agencies and school officials.

Though problems are not restricted to Canton Commons, subsidized low-income apartments on Haggerty, complaints from those residents brought concern about gangs, or children who are causing problems, to the surface.

Nardoni, who has worked with gangs since their influx into Detroit in 1989, drove home the point that Canton and the Plymouths are not immune to the problem. The suburbs are potential targets as the gangs are pushed out of Detroit.

"If it's in Canton, you've got to educate yourself. That's the only way you'll get rid of it. You have to get as educated as your child will be."

Though suburban children may be less street smart, they are not immune to becoming gang members. "You would be surprised what your suburban children are doing," said Gerard, who added that five drive-by shootings have occurred in his community since January.

As did other panel members, Nardoni urged parents to parent their children, acknowledge what their children might be up to, and allow them to suffer the consequences for their actions.

"You don't have to be on welfare, a single parent in a ghetto-type environment for your child to be involved in gangs," Nardoni said.

Panel members told parents that children who join gangs are those who have loose family ties, or are bored, truant, seeking a thrill, enticed by peer pressure or have low self-esteem. Many kids are seeking structure and rules.

"If they did not really want that they wouldn't join a gang," Plecha said.

Another woman, a Livonia resident, told how her daughter sneaked out of the house and took her car. Police would do nothing when the girl was later stopped. On the way home, the daughter told her mother that indeed she can get away with anything.

"Very few parents have the courage to do the right thing," Nardoni said, adding most parents won't let their children face consequences.

Police Chief Berry urged the woman to return to the police department that wouldn't take action against her daughter and talk to the chief. "Your police department needs to know what you want," he added.

Berry asked parents to take a "zero tolerance" attitude with their children and other children. He also urged parents and residents to contact the police when something happens or something appears suspicious.

"The worst thing we have to do in government is legislate parental responsibility," Berry said. If 90 percent of the parents take control of their children, 90 percent of the problem would be solved, he said.

"I want the support when I go after those parents. Don't get mad at us when we go after zero tolerance," Berry told parents.

Wiens of Family Service agreed. "Unfortunately, parents will deny a problem and wait until it gets out of hand."

Home again: Ed Kelly has gone full circle with his radio career, starting across the border in Canada and slowly working his way back to the U.S.

Ed Kelly has Windsor start, Detroit finish

BY BOB SADLER
SPECIAL WRITER

Proving the old adage that things can indeed come full circle, Ed Kelly considers himself at home.

A Windsor, Ont., native, Kelly has bounced around Canada and the United States, leading a charmed radio life. Armed with an arsenal of voices few can match and the ability to write airwave friendly comedy, Kelly now finds himself teamed with Ken Calvert for the morning shift at WLLZ-FM in Farmington Hills.

Given where he has ended up, it is ironic that the place where Kelly got his first radio break was also a place known as "Wheels" — a Windsor roller rink. Kelly had been working there as a disc jockey when CKWW, a small 500-watt station in town, happened to be doing a live remote broadcast. The program director spotted him and asked him if he was interested in working at the station.

Initially, the self-proclaimed "blue collar kid" chickened out at the opportunity, preferring a job at a local General Motors trim plant. But about a year later, he ran into the program director again — and this time decided to give it a go. His first shift, on a weekend at three in the morning, was not particularly memorable.

"It was like me and my Mom listening," Kelly said.

Continually passed over when more appealing shifts opened up, Kelly ended up doing the overnight show for three years. He then made a jump not normally made in radio — a job in Sarnia doing a morning show. There was no looking back.

After bouncing around some Canadian markets during the mid-'80s. Kelly was hired as a writer and performer by the American Comedy Network in New York City in 1988. ACN is the preeminent supplier of pre-produced radio comedy bits, parody songs and celebrity impressions in the country, feeding material to morning shows in more than 300 markets.

Thanks in part to fax machines, digital audio tape and overnight delivery services, Kelly is still employed by ACN as a principle performer, in addition to his current position at WLLZ. Therefore, morning commuters in cities all over the United States have the opportunity to enjoy Kelly's stalwart impressions of Eddie Murphy, Tom Brokaw, Regis Philbin, David Lee Roth and others.

Brought back to the Detroit/Windsor area from the Hartford market by CKLW-AM, Kelly admits that he was ready to try his hand at the talk format after seeing the successes of larger-than-life personalities like Howard Stern and Rush Limbaugh.

However, a contract snafu at CKLW suddenly gave Kelly the opportunity to look for a new position. His agent had possibilities in New York and Los Angeles — but Ken Calvert and WLLZ were also interested. Calvert made numerous one-on-one calls to Kelly to convince him, and chemistry began to develop.

"The key to success in this business is finding the right partner," Kelly said. "I am the gimmick. Some partners don't like to share that spotlight. Ken Calvert is what we in the business call a prime quarterback. He's able to draw the best out of other people.

"I've been on a quest for 12 years to find this guy, and he found me."

And so, Calvert and Kelly have become a team. Expectations at the station are high that the duo will raise WLLZ's sagging fortunes of late, which were brought about by a combination of factors — including bad publicity surround Calvert's January move to the morning slot and the exiling of long-time J.J. and the Morning Crew (Jim Johnson and George Baier).

Cruise has its stars and more

Cruising the Detroit River can have its wild side. So discovered a boatload of women who were entertained by the sounds of Go West and the revealing show by "The Boys from Venice Beach."

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

So far, you could say saxophone player Dave Koz's summer tour has been filled with wine, women and song.

"On the west coast, I've played mostly wineries. People sit and drink wine and I play," Koz said.

In the Midwest, however, Koz played radio station Q95's fourth annual "Cruise For Women Only" along the Detroit River.

"I can safely say it's the first time I've ever followed a strip act," said Koz on the deck of the "River Gambler" as it drifted past downtown Windsor.

Koz's three-song set was sandwiched between male strippers from "The Boy Toys of Venice Beach" and "Seduction," and the English pop band Go West.

Koz, who recently released the album "Lucky Man," felt up to par with his album's title.

"We've all done a lot of shows, but this is just a party. Plus with 500 women . . . you can't do much wrong," he said with a smile.

The cruise on Thursday, Aug. 5, was the fourth annual cruise which in the past has attracted entertainers Michael Bolton, Jon Secada, Michael Damien, and Eddie Money. For the Secada cruise, contest winners were flown via charter jet to Miami. Tickets to all the cruises were available exclusively to the station's listeners and were not available for purchase.

Marge Selman of Beverly Hills attended the recent cruise and the Miami cruise. During the winter cruise, winners were flown from Detroit at 7 a.m. and arrived home at 2 a.m. During the time they were able to sightsee around the Miami area.

"I've enjoyed it. I went on the winter cruise. It was really nice," she said with a big grin. For the Miami trip, she won tickets by being the 95th caller. She faxed in her entry for this cruise.

Sue D'Agnillo of Windsor, Canada, came with a friend who won tickets. She had her heart set on meeting Matthew Ashford from "Days of Our Lives."

"I wanted to see what he looked like in real life," D'Agnillo said.

Seemingly, many of the women were riled about seeing the two teams of male strippers. Long after they were on the stage, their legacy continued. When station personalities Kevin O'Neill and Mark "Doc" Andrews came on stage to introduce the acts, the contest winners screamed for them to take their clothes off. One woman offered O'Neill $10. Koz, dressed in all black except for a green suit coat, responded by letting an audience member take his suit coat off him. After all, he couldn't do it himself.

"It's hard to play and disrobe at the same time," he said.

During the cruise, the women were separated into two groups. Half were sent to the lower deck of the boat where they saw performances by Koz, who performs the new theme to "General Hospital," the strippers, and Go West. Upstairs, Ashford signed autographs along Judson Mills from "As The World Turns" and pop star Daryl Hall as a local band played. After the show downstairs was over, the groups switched places.

Between sets, Go West frontmen — Peter Cox and Richard Drummie — hung out on the deck overlooking the Detroit and Windsor skylines. The group flew in from England to do this show. Although they enjoyed the cruise, Cox is looking forward to playing in the United States with a full band. Space limitations only allowed for the groups to sing with a backup tape.

"It's great to come out and meet all the people. In all honesty though, we'd rather be playing fully live. Logistics dictate it's easier in such a small area to use a DAT," Cox said.

"We travel with 12 musicians. It gets expensive for the American company (EMI Music) to bring everyone over here," he added.

The group played its three recent hits "Tell Me," "King of Wishful Thinking" from the "Pretty Woman" soundtrack, and "Faithful." In full shows, Go West also includes in its set older hits like "We Close Our Eyes" and "Don't Look Down."

Koz played three songs as well: "Castle of Dreams," the General Hospital theme "Faces of the Heart," and "You Make Me Smile." The latter of which described exactly how Koz felt when, during the second set, it was sometimes hard for him to fight back his shy grin as the women screamed for him.

"You definitely make me smile."

Blind Melon offers its fans diversity

Blind Melon: Shannon Hoon (left), Brad Smith, Christopher Thorn, Glen Graham and Rogers Stevens will open for Neil Young and Soundgarden at Pine Knob Music Theatre Aug. 16.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Brad Smith and Shannon Hoon have suffered the repercussions of being rock stars. When their band Blind Melon is on the road, they're forced to go out of town to get in a good game of pool.

"(Lead singer) Shannon and I are vicious pool players," said bassist Smith via telephone from a Cincinnati, Ohio, hotel room.

"We bet money and everything. We have to go far away (from the venue) to get serious about pool. Everyone wants to meet us now."

A year ago this time Blind Melon was touring to prepare for the September 1992 release of its self-titled debut. Those spots included dates with "f20 Minutes Tour" (Public Image Limited, Live and Big Audio Dynamite II) and Soundgarden. Tonight, the group will be reunited with Soundgarden when both bands open for Neil Young at Pine Knob Music Theatre.

"When we first went on tour with that band, the first two shows I was goin', 'Huh?, English rock relived in the '90s.' But I ended up freaking out over that band," said Smith with his Southern-tinged accent.

Smith said bands that slowly get attention — like Blind Melon and Soundgarden — are long-lasting talents.

Asking therapist to party could harm treatment

STREET SENSE

BARBARA SCHIFF

Voice mail message:
Barbara,

I have seen a therapist for two years and I like him very much. My 30th birthday party is in three months, and I want to invite him to it. My girlfriend says it's not right for me to do that. She says it will put him in an uncomfortable position for me to even ask him.

This whole thing is complicated by the fact that neither one of us is married, and he is around my age. But my girlfriend says that's not the problem. She says that even if we were both married, I should not ask him.

Can you tell me if there are rules regarding social interactions with one's therapist? Should I ask him to my birthday party? If both, or one of us were married, would your answer be different? How about presents, are those allowed?

Dear Caller,

Many therapists confront the dilemmas posed by your questions. Psychologists are guided by the American Psychological Association's Ethics Code when deciding what they should do. The code says that a psychologist must be sensitive to the potential harmful effects on the client of another relationship besides the therapeutic one. In other words, if you ask your therapist, you put him on the spot.

So, the answer is no, do not invite your therapist to your party. If one or both of you were married, the answer is still no. Presents are not allowed.

Let's look at the dilemma the therapist is in if you ask him to your party. If he says yes, there may be no way to prevent your relationship from becoming confused. You might expect him to become your social friend. If he does, he is further breaking the rules, and if he does not, then how will you feel? Will you be angry, and will this negatively affect your therapy?

Because you may experience his refusal as rejection, you have put him in an uncomfortable position, even if he says no. Although, he does not deserve it, you may react with hurt and anger.

About presents, the answer is the same. If he accepts the present you may expect an unrealistic repayment, and if he doesn't accept it, we are back to you experiencing a narcissistic injury with an undeserved reaction of hurt and anger toward him.

Although on the surface what you are contemplating seems innocent, it is not. It is a resistance to your treatment. What you should be doing in treatment is working hard to change yourself, not finding ways to manipulate the therapeutic structure.

Your girlfriend appears to be a sensible person. It sounds as if you asked her for advice, and then planned to ignore it. How will that make her feel?

Barbara

Barbara,

My mother has been depressed for many years. She is deathly afraid of medication, so that my father and I cannot make her see a doctor or any kind of a therapist. I am hoping that the letters of Aug. 9 and July 5 will convince her to seek help. I want to thank those callers for educating me and giving me a new approach to helping my mother.

If you have a question or a comment for Barbara Schiff, a trained therapist and experienced counselor, send it to Street Sense, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. You can also leave a message by calling 953-2047, mail box 1877, on a touch-tone phone.

Woo, Van Damme team up for fun

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

■ MOVIES

Call it a guilty pleasure, but "Hard Target," the new Jean-Claude Van Damme action film, has more firepower than any movie this summer. It's an appropriately mindless burst of adolescent energy where bad guys run with clothes aflame, heroes strike obscenely macho poses, and guns rarely require reloading.

Van Damme, in Dearborn last week to promote the Friday release, aptly calls it "a ballet of action, of guns, kicks and punches."

Remember "The Most Dangerous Game," the short story you probably read in high school about a crazed hunter who stalks human prey on a private island? It's here, updated to modern-day New Orleans, where sportsmen pay $500,000 to track homeless men.

"It's like a drug isn't it, to bring a man down?" hisses the evil urban safari guide played by Lance Henrikson. "It's always been the privilege of the few to hunt the many."

The victims are usually Vietnam veterans without families. But when a young woman (Yancy Butler) shows up searching for her father and Van Damme offers to help, the high-stakes hunters want the meddlers out of the way.

For once, there's a plausible reason for the action star's French accent. He's a tough Cajun merchant marine named Chance, able to take on a half dozen thugs at once, which he does with ease in his first few minutes on screen.

What makes "Hard Target" so watchable is Hong Kong director John Woo, who has set the standard for over-the-top action in the movies. A household name among moviegoers internationally, Woo makes ample use of visual effects — slow motion, a constantly moving camera — and dissolves not only between scenes but also between the many shots within a scene.

Of the dozen or so films he's made, only "The Killer" (1989) has surfaced locally, and then only for a night at the Detroit Film Theatre. "Bullet in the Head," Woo's 1990 epic about three friends' journey through the hell of Vietnam, played in Ann Arbor earlier this year.

The trip to America was partly orchestrated by executive producers Sam Raimi and Rob Tapert, formerly of Ferndale and now Hollywood hot shots. "Army of Darkness," the third in their trilogy of "Evil Dead" movies, replaced The Three Stooges with John Woo as their most predominant influence.

Woo returns the compliment here. In fact, you might think you're watching a Sam Raimi movie when the camera appears mounted to the spike of an arrow in flight. In the climax, Van Damme and the bad guys battle it out in a warehouse full of papier-mache Mardi Gras props.

While Woo often edits and directs his pictures, Raimi alumnus Bob Murawski takes editing credit for "Hard Target." Rumors have also circulated that Van Damme, outfitted with his own private editing suite, had a heavy hand in the final product.

"I start from low, low, low budget movies, you know from 'Kickboxer' and 'Bloodsport,'" he said. "It became a habit to be involved in everything just to have a decent career."

The MPAA rating folks also had their say, insisting on seven different cutting sessions (mostly for violence) before they'd grant "Hard Target" the R rating needed for wide release.

"The poor guy," Van Damme said. "John was very depressed. They cut so much of his movie."

The experience obviously hasn't soured Woo on Hollywood, where he now resides. While Van Damme would like to work with Woo again, he said that the director has a project in the works with Quentin Tarantino ("Reservoir Dogs") and is also taking meetings with Sylvester Stallone.

If you have a comment for John Monaghan, call him at 953-2047, mailbox number 1866, on a Touch-Tone phone, or write him care of Street Scene, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

"If people like a band right away, then they're a pop artist and it's probably 12-year-olds who are freaking out over them. I think Soundgarden is a highly sophisticated band."

Smith is also "freaking out" over the chance to open for Neil Young for close to a month. Following that, the band will tour with Lenny Kravitz, beginning Sept. 14.

"Neil Young, Lenny Kravitz. What more can you ask for? I listened to that cat (Young) years ago and then when I moved to Los Angeles," he said.

Prior to these tours, Blind Melon opened for Guns 'N Roses and Ozzy Osbourne and headlined its own club tour. Smith said he found that the club audiences could better relate to their folksy-rock sound.

"I love clubs much better. We left a lot of people at Guns 'N Roses and Ozzy going, 'Huh?'" Smith said. "The people we meet, they're people we have a pre-nuptial pact with. They hear our music, and click with us. I could hang out all night with these people, spend the night with them and have a barbecue with them the next day."

But since his record has been certified gold and the video for the song "No Rain" was added to the MTV "Buzz Bin," Smith's having a hard time remembering who he meets.

"I used to remember everyone I meet. (Now) I can't possibly remember everyone. That's a good feeling. It's definitely an interesting thing that's been ripping through my head."

He also finds it interesting that fans are just now catching on to Blind Melon.

"I think we were there but the public wasn't with us," Smith said. "I think if people will buy the record for 'No Rain' they're going to be pleasantly surprised. If they're not, then they aren't Melon fans. The big thing about our band is diversity."

Smith's musical diversity begins with his post-Blind Melon career aspiration - writing songs about letters for Sesame Street.

"I keep writing songs that sound like 'Sesame Street' (theme)," said Smith as he interchangeably hummed "Sesame Street" and "No Rain."

"Like 'Little Rebel L.' They had this Billy Idol puppet. 'With the Rebel L'," Smith sang in this bad English accent.

"By the time I'm 30, I hope I can have some kind of cool career so I can write songs about letters."

Blind Melon performs along with Soundgarden and Neil Young at 6 p.m. Monday, Aug. 16, at Pine Knob Music Theatre, I-75 and Sashabaw Road, Clarkston. Tickets are $18.50 for lawn. The pavilion is sold out. For more information, call 645-6666 or 377-0100.

Johnson and Baier promptly hooked up with rival WCSX-FM, immediately taking a significant portion of their audience with them, according to the spring quarter rating books.

However, in the unpredictable world of Detroit radio, anything can happen as audiences continue to reshuffle.

"I love a challenge," said Kelly. "I think there's enough room for everybody in this market, and whoever works the hardest should win. This is the longest commitment I've ever made in radio — a two-year contract. I'm looking for a house.

"This is a huge step for me. For the kid who grew up in Windsor, Detroit might as well be Hollywood."

MUSIC NOTES

Catherine Wheel has had one of those "Spinal Tap" sort of bad luck tours. "This tour's been hell, hell transportation wise," said drummer Neil Sims. Early in the tour, buses broke down, forcing the Englishmen to travel in a van.

Now that they are traveling in a new bus, they have to go through the "teething" process, as Sims explained. That included driving through the Arizona desert without air conditioning.

Catherine Wheel is touring in support of its new album, "Chrome," which is a bit more guitar edged than its debut, "Ferment." "I had a definite idea of how I wanted it to sound. I wanted to make it a bit more 'in your face.'"

A little "quirk" about the album is that it was released with four different covers — a limited edition chrome cover; and the CD, album and tape have three different photos.

"We couldn't decided which one to go with so we chose all three. We not saying much about it" because it's not a marketing ploy. "It's just a quirk and maybe people aren't aware."

Catherine Wheel performs Sunday, Aug. 22, at St. Andrew's Hall, 431 E. Congress, Detroit, with Slowdive. Call 961-MELT for more information.

The Hope Orchestra will premier its first video "Bumblebee" during the band's performance at the Magic Bag Theatre Cafe in Ferndale at 10 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 21. The video, directed and produced by local filmmaker Kimberly Conely, was created on Super 8 film during a live performance at Alvin's in Detroit. "Bumblebee" is included on The Hope Orchestra's 12-song CD "Lingo." For more information, call 544-3030.

The industrial band HAL, winners of the Budweiser Modern Rock Jam, have recently finished recording its debut release called "Electrip" at the Tempermill studios in Ferndale. Although the CD will not be released until early November, a pre-release cassette is available by writing HAL at 241 Thalia, Rochester Hills 48309. HAL's next performance is at The Impound, formerly the Front Page Saloon, 17320 Harper, Detroit, on Saturday, Aug. 21, with Workshed and I.E.C. For more information about the show, call 884-9441.

Vudu Hipples are shopping for a new guitarist. Aside from that, the group has many things in the works: a midwest and west coast tour, a New York club date and a new CD. The group's recent CD "Happy Medium" has earned the band much acclaim. Any interested guitarists can call Chris at 434-1757.

Prior to its show at Meadow Brook Music Festival in Rochester, Phish was inducted into the Royal Oak Metropolitan Musicafe's "Walk of Fame" on Thursday, Aug. 12. The group is touring in support of its recent release, "Rift."

The Gin Blossoms have more to grin about than getting deli trays in every city and their first tour bus. They recently picked up a new drum kit.

Educator wants a showdown with critics

GUEST COLUMNIST

MARTHA TRAFFORD

It's nearing "high noon." Tension cuts the hot air. A showdown is about to occur. The educators have arrived. You can tell who they are by their "black hats."

We've been made to wear "the black hats" because we're the "bad guys," according to Gov. John Engler, some legislators like Jerry Vorva and Gil DiNello, and the double-barreled pens of some members of the press.

Saddling up alongside them now is Jeff Counts, editor of the Plymouth/ Canton Observers, who has the educational community wearing "white sheets," along with their "black hats." According to his Aug. 2 editorial, "The educational establishment has become the KKK, hiding behind white sheets and trying to scare us into propping up an old system whose time has come."

Perhaps "the time has come" for those of us who have been etched with the "scarlet letters" — MEA or MFT — to muster up "the courage of Gary Cooper," and step forth to face you "city slickers," who are dudes, when it comes to education.

Mr. Counts claims the MEA is trying to "hoodwink the taxpayers," and for the second time in his editorial, referred to a "modern day KKK in Michigan, which is composed of school administrators, teachers unions, and school boards." Nothing like making us such "undesirable and savory characters" in the "Old West" (western Wayne county), as to be equated with a group known for its cowardly bigotry and hatred.

It's too late for us to "hoodwink," or "pull the wool over your eyes," Mr. Counts, because you and certain elected officials are far too short-sighted already to see that the educational problems that this state faces will not be resolved by your editorials defaming and maligning the character of teachers, administrators, and school boards.

For such a derogatory comparison, Mr. Counts, you owe the MEA, and all other associated with education in this state, an apology.

The majority of educators, administrators, and school boards of this state deserve positive recognition and a "pat on the back" for their consistent efforts to educate the children of Michigan, in spite of numerous obstacles, and the changing social structure of the '80s and '90s. Every educator in this state pays the same taxes as other citizens, and nearly 90 percent or more of them have children who are currently enrolled or were enrolled in Michigan's public schools. In other words, we have "double the stakes" — double the investment in education in Michigan, compared to the average citizen.

Since the governor and legislators played "double dare" in the state capitol, and education lost, I recall reading only one article which encouraged the government, educators, parents, and the community to work toward the restructuring and financing of public schools. (It appeared in The Free Press.) All other articles in the press, commentaries on the radio, etc., have been directed at punishing teachers and administrators, by taking away benefits earned by most of us after 25-30 years in the profession.

Those who would do so, need to step outside their own "corral" and into any school building. Once they slip into the "saddle of education," they might understand the needs and the challenges.

And for those who consider themselves the "good guys wearing the white hats," Gov. Engler, Jerry Vorva, Gil DiNello, and Jeff Counts, look again, because you're not riding atop a gallant white horse. Rather, you're astride a two-tailed stubborn jackass — going nowhere.

And, "High Noon" is coming.

Martha A. Trafford is a Canton resident.

Fighting the power

Power! Money! Influence! Greed! I believe these are the reasons behind the State of Michigan purchase of Mettetal airport. The will of many of the people of this area, the logic and the facts of this situation did not win out.

Remember those on the State Administration Board who voted yes for your tax dollars to purchase Mettetal airport on Tuesday of last week in Lansing. (They or the representatives of these officials voted for them at the meeting.) They are: Gov. Engler, Lt. Gov. Connie Binsfeld, Secretary of State Richard Austin, Attorney General Frank Kelley, State Treasurer Douglas Roberts and Superintendent of Public Education Robert Hiller.

These people had all the information from both sides of this issue. Remember their names because one power we do have is our vote. I for one will not be voting for any of these people for any position in public office. I urge you to do the same.

Gloria Pappas, Plymouth

Support the kids

The young people of Plymouth/ Canton deserve better than we are giving them. I appeal to the large number of senior citizens to remember it was your parents and grandparents who made significant sacrifice for you to have fine schools and activities available while you were students. Now, justice demands you to make sacrifice for the youth of today. Your nest eggs were made during a time of rapid growth of our country. Now, when times are more difficult please don't just think of your future, but of the future of our children. Please vote yes on the millage and make a one year contribution to the future.

The argument of Rep. Jerry Vorva against the teachers union and the very upsetting story of teachers double dipping makes all of us angry. But we must be careful we direct our anger at those who are guilty. It would be a miscarriage of justice to make our children suffer because we are angry at the way our money is used. Please support our children. Vote yes on the millage on Aug. 17.

Nancy Dankert, Plymouth

Deficit poses threat

Ms. (Judy) Berne is mistaken in her column of July 22 ("Congressmen's vote on arts lacks realism"), not Congressman Knollenberg. He and more than 100 other freshman members of the House of Representatives were sent to Washington with a clear message from the citizens of this country that, "the national debt and continued deficit financing constitute the most serious threat to this nation requiring effective and immediate solutions."

Congressman Knollenberg is also aware of the responsibilty he owes to the United States of America. If we are to survive as a nation, substantial reductions in the expenditure of the taxpayers money are mandatory. Although Ms. Berne, as a self proclaimed liberal Democrat, probably will not understand, or at least accept, the citizens are fed up with continued increases in their taxes as the only solution to all of society's problems, perhaps she should check the news reports concerning the financing of public education in the State of Michigan. It's all about inequity and higher and higher taxes on real estate.

Certainly, we would all like the government entitlements and subsidies in which we have a personal interest continued and even increased. No one enjoys the symphony, for instance, more that my wife and I, but if rated by any system based on priority, the National Endowment for the Arts could not be other than non-essential.

Joe Knollenberg understands that you can't simply talk about cutting the deficit and then, when it comes to the difficult task of actually "cutting" a particular item in the budget, always find a reason or excuse to avoid biting the bullet. We may have discovered the difference between a polititian and a statesman.

The tax hike will cost the owner of a $100,000 home an extra $200 per year. If your home is valued at $160,000, you'll pay an added $320 if the proposal passes. The increase would total $400 for a $200,000 house and $480 for a $240,000 home.

If the millage fails, 42 teachers, counselors, nurses and media specialists will be laid off and nearly $5 million in budgeted cuts will be enacted.

The list includes not opening two new Canton elementary schools; eliminating all extracurricular activities, including athletics, marching band and drama; closing buildings and the Central Middle School pool to the public after school; restructuring the Talented and Gifted program; and eliminating textbook purchases. Also reduced will be budgets for individual buildings and the co-op program.

The alternative education program and the in-school suspension program will be eliminated. District officials say they'll also cut "approximately 45 positions in the areas of administration, clerical, custodial, educational aides and maintenance."

If the millage passes, the district will rehire the 26 teachers laid off from last year; recall pink-slipped employees; open the two new elementaries; restore extracurricular activities and public use of school buildings; keep the Central Middle School pool open; purchase textbooks; re-establish the budget surplus; reduce class size by one student per room; fund student assessment and staff development; extend media center hours; and add to the maintenance and marching band budgets.

The district says it needs the millage increase because it has lost nearly $12 million in funding over the past few years, including $2.1 million in state payments for special and vocational education, transportation and employees' social security. The Headlee Amendment, which limits school revenue to inflationary increases, has prevented the schools from collecting $6.2 million. Officials add that the property tax freeze cost them $3 million.

Among the toys he's marketing is the "Finger Zinger" — a Frisbee-like foam disc with a hole in the center that can accommodate a beverage can and keep it afloat in a pool.

A smaller hole in the rim is for putting a finger through, allowing the user to spin it around by moving the wrist.

"A big distributor picked it up," said Sassak, whose trademark is brightly colored toys with an emphasis on safety. "It's sold about 200,000 in the last two years."

Besides the earlier mentioned "Spider Sport Toss," he's also created "Trapp Ball," a small, hand-held net that can hurl a ball or water balloon high into the air.

And don't forget "Splatz," a brightly colored small disc that catches badminton-like birdies outfitted with suction cups on the ends.

Sassak's father, who ran Segmented Carbide Die in Livonia and was also an inventor, "had us in the shop when we were 5 or 6 years old."

When he was 12, Sassak, an avid water skier, came up with a redesigned water ski.

He started working for his father after high school, but left for Las Vegas, where he dealt cards for two years.

"It was just a good time," he said. Sassak returned to Plymouth when his father fell ill, then recovered. "My dad was on his death bed from going over to Africa buying diamonds," Sassak said, adding he was diagnosed as having malaria.

Upon returning, Sassak operated the successful Urban Cowboy Saloon in Westland during the late '70s, then decided to settle down upon meeting his wife, Allison, who is in the banking business.

"She's the real conservative one; she keeps my feet planted on the ground," he said.

While many of Sassak's toys are sports- or activity-oriented, he wasn't much into sports as a kid. "I liked (comic strip pilot) Steve Canyon," he said.

An opportunity to get into a major toy show in New York City led to the success of his first toy, the "Finger Zinger."

How does a toy inventor come up with ideas? "If I'm on a long trip and I'm driving I'll start thinking," Sassak said.

He also keeps up with trade magazines, to get a feel for what kids are into.

For Christmas, Sassak has developed "Ninja Stardarts," a takeoff on darts. The toy features a brightly colored target. The "stardarts" are brightly colored plastic replicas of ninja stars, ringed with small suction cups allowing them to stick to the target when thrown Frisbee-style.

"It's good to use indoors in the winter, in a rec room," Sassak said.

On his success so far, "I just got lucky," Sassak said. "It will always happen if you just keep moving on."

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Dinner's just a thaw away when you plan

OK, I'll be honest. Slaving over a hot stove boiling jars, blanching vegetables, simmering sauces and cooking jams is not my idea of how to spend a summer vacation. Not that I haven't tried all of the above and surely can appreciate the taste of summer in the middle of winter by walking down to the fruit cellar.

But canning has never been my forte. I can admit, however, to being a freezer junkie. Blueberries, frozen and thawed in February with just enough juice to make a cobbler perfection, literally send shivers of delight down my spine. Ditto for the fresh taste of shredded zucchini, garden fresh carrots, strawberries and luscious sweet breads.

There's something about the aroma of cinnamon from fresh zucchini-carrot bread as it warms slowly in the oven for a winter's breakfast treat.

My freezer has been a godsend. Not only does it house the fruits of my garden and summertime visits from the farmers' market, but it also offers me much-needed time savings. When I make lasagna, I always make an extra for the freezer. The same goes for meatballs. When I make bread, I could easily eat all five loaves; but when I freeze the extra three loaves, I simply having to heat them up to enjoy later.

Appetizers are stored in freezer bags, tightly sealed, just waiting to be plucked from the depths of my freezer when unexpected guests pop in on the Janes Gang. Family day trips are considerably less hassle, especially when I know that upon returning, a frozen batch of goulash will be waiting in the oven. It will be defrosted and with my oven's programmable temperature settings, piping hot and ready for dinner after a daylong trek to the zoo.

Freezer management

Last month's turkey I grilled and spent 20 minutes cutting into chunks for frozen leftovers is a two-hour defrost away from turning into this afternoon's turkey salad sandwich. The first rule for superior freezer management is to keep foods going in and coming out while keeping track of the flow.

The second rule is to make the freezer do part of your work. There are a few steps that I have found work best when stocking my freezer. I always begin with foods of top quality. The freezer does not improve the quality of the food; its function is to preserve the quality and the nutritive values.

Success in freezing foods depends a great deal upon proper packaging, wrapping and sealing of foods. In the dry zero degree temperature of the freezer, solidly frozen foods can lose moisture; they must be protected by wrapping and/or the use of containers that are moisture proof, vapor proof and airtight. Moreover, the wrappings must be tight, with no pockets of air trapped between the food and wrapping material. Air draws moisture from foods, resulting in freezer burn.

Storage containers

During a few of my cooking demonstrations, folks have a tendency to giggle when I mention that momma was a Tupperware lady. Personally, I disdain the use of foil and butchers wrap and have a tendency to rely on those burpable containers and plastic baggies that have a seal. Fill plastic bags and containers as full as possible when freezing, leaving necessary space for expansion. Use your hands or "burp" those containers to remove as much of the air as possible. Label packages clearly and carefully, specifying contents and date frozen.

When freezing more than a few packages, always spread out the items, allowing at least one inch between them for circulation of the cold air. Allow at least 12 hours for the food to freeze solidly before stacking and packing in the depths of the freezer. If you are lucky enough to have a freezer or have a refrigerator-freezer large enough to hold your freezer offerings, there are other jobs that a freezer can accomplish to make your life easier.

Defrosting

In her latest book "All New Hints From Heloise," (copyright 1990, $9.95), Heloise suggests that when frost begins to form about ¼ inch thick, it's time to defrost. It's easy to do even with a freezer full of food. Line a sink or washtub with damp newspapers, fill the sinks with the frozen food, topping with more newspapers and then cover with ice.

Heloise claims that cooling efficiency decreases the more frost that builds up and a simple washing using a baking soda wash (½ cup baking soda to a gallon warm water) keeps the freezer clean and fresh smelling. Speaking of baking soda, she also swears by the practice of keeping a box of soda in the freezer at all time (or using charcoal briquettes).

So keep cool this summer and let your freezer do its job; it's a lot cooler than slaving over the stove and you'll reap the benefits for months to come.

■ Freezer jams and jellies are the perfect way to savor homegrown fruits and veggies all winter. They're easy for beginners to make.

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

If you're a gardener, soon you'll be bringing neighbors, relatives, and co-workers gifts of vine-ripened, juicy tomatoes, and bunches of basil and parsley.

And don't forget fruit — raspberries, peaches and plums. You can't possibly eat them all, and most of us don't have time to can. So what's a weekend gardener to do?

Why not make some freezer jellies and jams to enjoy in the winter when you can't get fresh produce, or give as gifts?

Even if you're not a gardener, but someone who swears you can't beat the taste of homegrown fruits and vegetables, freezer jam is the perfect way savor those tasty memories all winter long. Produce markets and roadside stands are brimming with freshly picked fruits and vegetables. Now is the time to jam.

When you think of jams and jellies, don't just consider the familiar fruit versions.

Herb jelly flavored with fresh basil, minced fresh parsley and grated lemon peel is the perfect accompaniment to meat and poultry. Use it as a glaze for pork roast or spread it on crackers and top with thinly sliced meat or mild cheese or an appetizer.

Salsa jam, made with ripe plum tomatoes, onions, cilantro, hot peppers and lime, adds zest to fajitas or quesadillas.

KRAFT GENERAL FOODS

Savory spreads: Easy freezer herb jelly and salsa jam preserve the flavors of garden fresh herbs and succulent vegetables. Serve them with meat and poultry or as appetizer spread on crackers topped with thinly sliced mild cheese.

Freezer jams and jellies are easy enough for beginners to make. The ingredients are simple — crushed fruit or vegetables, sugar, water, and powdered pectin, a natural substance found in fruit that boosts the jelling process in jam-making.

"Freezer jam doesn't take all day to make," said Sandy Garcia of Farmington Hills. "It has a homemade flavor. I don't notice a difference in flavor and texture from cooked jams."

Like cooked jams, making freezer jam is a science. "The biggest mistake people make is they don't follow the directions," said Garcia.

"They don't boil it long enough so it doesn't thicken. They try to double the recipe, and you can't. You can't use sugar substitutes either. Use regular granulated sugar. Use glass or plastic containers with a good seal and sterilize jars in the dishwasher."

Lisa Van Riper, a spokeswoman for the Sure-Jell brand of fruit pectin, agrees. "Making jams and jellies is an exact science," she said. "Stick to the recipe and you won't have any problems. Don't substitute ingredients. Use the type of pectin the recipe calls for. Each brand of fruit pectin has a different formulation."

It's also important to use fully ripened fruits and vegetables that are thoroughly rinsed with clear water. Crush berries one cup at a time. A potato masher works best, said Van Riper. If you use a food processor, pulse to chop the fruit. Do not puree. The jam should contain pieces of fruit.

You can substitute unsweetened frozen fruit for fresh fruit. Thaw the fruit to room temperature before crushing to equal the same amount of crushed fresh fruit. Do not drain off excess juice.

Keep in mind that a full rolling boil is a boil that does not stop when stirred. It is essential to get a full rolling boil for jam or jelly to set. Boil for the amount of time specified.

Sure-Jell Light is perfect for people who are counting calories and want to reduce the amount of sugar in the products they use. Van Riper said Sure-Jell light contains ⅓ less sugar than Sure-Jell and was formulated to meet

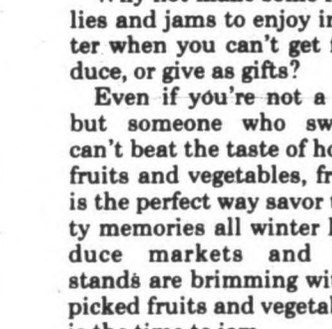
Demand for Michigan wines ripening

FOCUS ON WINE



ELEANOR & RAY HEALD

"I can't speak for the entire state, but I know that sales of St. Julian wines are up 10 percent this year," said owner Dave Braganini.

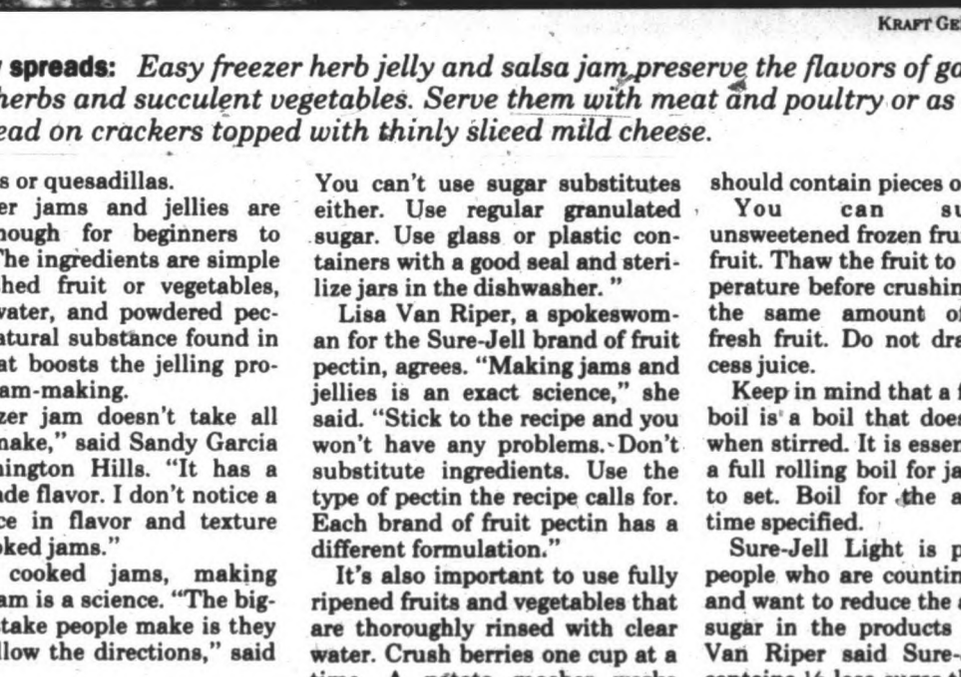
Annually, we've taken stock of the progress of Michigan's wine industry. It's healthy even after the disastrous 1992 growing season that could hardly be called summer.

"St. Julian's sales are booming outside Michigan in Illinois, Indiana and Nebraska," Braganini said. "For some producers up north, 1992 was a tough year because the crop never ripened, but our 1992 Riesling is the best we've made. The future continues to look bright. In 1993, we'll have a significant number of new plantings coming into production to bring our chardonnay close to 2,000 cases.

"People are buying our wines because they perceive value. In the $5 range, we're as good as they get. Simply Red is our best seller at $5."

In September, Great White will be introduced as a counterpart to Simply Red. It, too, will be $5 and is a blend of chardonnay, vignoles and riesling.

While Braganini deservedly touts his 1992 Riesling ($8.50), we're putting all red wine lovers on alert for the 1991 St. Julian Chambourcin ($8.50). Both wines are hard to beat at this price.



CHATEAU CHANTAL WINERY

New winery: Winemaker/partner Mark Johnson and owner Bob Begin discuss vineyard conditions at Michigan's newest winery, Chateau Chantal on Old Mission Peninsula north of Traverse City.

The number of Michigan wineries grew by three during the past year. Jack and Linda Stegenga will welcome you to their Bowers Harbor Vineyard (2896 Bowers Harbor Road, Traverse City, (616) 223-7615).

From Traverse City, take M-37 (Center Road) 8.5 miles north on the Old Mission Peninsula to Seven Hills Road and turn left. Continue a half-mile and turn left on Bowers Harbor Road. The winery is on the left.

The Stegengas believe, as all vintners in that region do, that Old Mission Peninsula is a natural vineyard haven. The winery is producing chardonnay, Riesling and a methode champenoise Brut sparkling wine. Most impressive of all Bowers Harbor bottlings is the 1991 Reserve Chardonnay ($12.75). Vanilla oskiness harmonizes well with gentle fruit. If you like your chardonnay with defined oak impressions, you'll find it attractive.

Grower Bob Begiff has teamed up with Mark Johnson, former Chateau Grand Traverse winemaker for 10 years, to open Chateau Chantal (15900 Rue de Vin, Traverse City, (616) 223-4110) in July. The unusual, retreat-like development is a 65-acre site replete with winery, vineyards, orchards, bed and breakfast, residence and six private homesites.

At the bed and breakfast, suites are $115 and the Queen Room is $85. A two-night minimum stay is required on weekends, June 15 to Oct. 30. From Traverse City, drive north 11 miles on M-37 and look for Chateau Chantal on the right.

"While the estate offers one of the most unique settings in northern Michigan, our business is wine," Johnson said. "Chateau Chantal is a must-see, must-visit wine retreat."

From Chateau Chantal, the 1991 Select Harvest Johannisberg Riesling ($11) and the 1991 Select Harvest Gewurztraminer are solid examples of the varietals.

Rick Moersch, former Tabor Hill winemaker, has launched Heart of the Vineyard (10981 Hills Road, Baroda, (616) 422-1617), a western Michigan wine-oriented getaway. Currently, wines are vinified and bottled at Fenn Valley Vineyards, but the winery's tasting room is in an 1881 post and beam bank barn.

There you can taste more than 20 varieties of sparkling, white, blush and red wines crafted by Moersch. It's hard for us to pick just one winner from among Moersch's offerings. They're all unusual. "With some of the wines, I only make a minuscule amount, he said. "It keeps me from getting bored. I was born to be a grape grower."

Rick and his wife, Sherrie, have recently remodeled a nearly 100-year-old country home into a bed and breakfast facility just around the corner from Tabor Hill winery. Cost is $95 with a two-night minimum stay on weekends from Memorial to Labor Day.

To reach the winery, take 1-94 exit 16 then travel north to Lake/Shawnee Road. Turn right (east) four miles to Hills Road. Turn right (south) and go 1.5 miles on the South Bend U.S. 31 bypass to Snow Road. Turn left and go eight miles to Hills Road. Follow winery signs from that point.

Leelanau Wine Cellars continues to improve its quality. The 1992 Chardonnay ($10) is fruity and dry. Tall Ship Chardonnay Reserve ($13) is its fuller counterpart. Vis a Vis white and red ($11) are value-priced drinking. Leelanau's fruit wines are outstanding. Both the apple and peach are winners at $6.

The state's best sparkling wine producer Larry Mawby is recuperating well from a bout with colon cancer. Mawby was hit hard by last year's non-summer. His late ripening red varietals didn't ripen and there will not be any 1992 Vignoles.

Always the innovator, Mawby has introduced a new blended off-dry white dubbed Moira ($7.80) after the Greek goddess of fate because Mawby put it "it reflects the fate of the vintage." A red blend (also reflective of the fate of the 1992 vintage), and as yet unnamed, will be introduced in September.

Brut Cuvee 5, Brut Cremant and Brut Rose (all $15) continue to beat the socks off any sparkler in this price range.

ORANGE GLAZED FREEZER CARROTS

- 1½ pounds carrots, peeled and cut into strips
- 2 teaspoons flour
- ¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ½ cup orange juice
- 1 tablespoon fresh grated orange peel
- 2 tablespoons butter

Blanch carrots in a boiling water for 5 minutes. Drain. Blend together the flour, sugar and salt. Add vinegar, juices and orange peel.

Bring to a boil. Add butter. Cook 5 minutes. Pour over carrots in a 1 quart foil-lined pan; freeze. Remove from pan, wrap, label, date and store in the freezer. Serves 6.

To serve: turn carrots upside down in the same pan, cover and bake in a 350 degree oven for 1 hour. Uncover for the last 20 minutes of cooking time.

OATMEAL ZUCCHINI BREAD

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 cup rolled oats
- 2 eggs
- ¼ cup vegetable oil
- 1 cup milk
- 2 cups shredded zucchini
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 cup chopped walnuts

Sift together the dry ingredients. Stir in the oats. Beat eggs, oil and milk. Add to dry ingredients and stir just enough to moisten. Stir in zucchini and spices. Fold in nuts. Pour into a greased 9-by-5-by-3 loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour.

Cool on a rack. Makes 1 loaf.

To freeze: Wrap, label, date and freeze. To serve: Thaw in wrapper on a rack at room temperature for 2 hours.

Freeze summer for wintry days

See related story on Taste front. For best flavor, store freezer jams and jellys in freezer for up to one year. Store in refrigerator 3 weeks. Thaw in refrigerator.

EASY HOMEMADE STRAWBERRY JAM

1 box Sure-Jell Light Fruit Pectin
3¼ cups sugar, divided
4 cups crushed strawberries (buy 2 quarts fully ripe strawberries)

Mix fruit pectin and ¼ cup sugar in small bowl. Add pectin mixture to fruit, stirring vigorously. Let stand 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Stir remaining sugar gradually into fruit mixture until sugar is completely dissolved and no longer grainy, about 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystlas may remain.) Pour into clean plastic containers; cover. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours. Jam is now ready to use. Store in refrigerator or freeze extra continers. Thaw in refrigerator. Makes about 6 (1 cup) containers.

HERB JELLY

3½ cups boiling water
¾ cup minced fresh basil or ¼ cup dried basil leaves
¼ cup minced fresh parsley
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
2 to 3 drops green food coloring (optional)
6 cups sugar
¾ cup water
1 box Sure-Jell fruit pectin

Mix water, basil, parsley and lemon peel in large bowl; cover. Let stand 15 minutes. Place 3 layers damp cheesecloth or jelly bag in another bowl. Pour herb infusion into cheesecloth. Tie cheesecloth closed; hang and let drip. When dripping has almost ceased, press gently. Measure 3 cups into large bowl. Add food coloring. Stir sugar thoroughly into herb infusion. Let stand 10 minutes; stir occasionally.

Stir water and fruit pectin in saucepah. Bring to a boil on high heat, stirring constantly. Continue boiling and stirring 1 minute.

Stir pectin mixture into herb infusion mixture. Stir constantly until sugar is completely dissolved and no longer grainy, about 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals may reamin). Pour into clean plastic containers; cover. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours. Jam is now ready to use. Store in refrigerator or freeze extra containers. Thaw in refrigerator. Makes about 7 (1 cup) containers.

SALSA JAM

1 box Sure-Jell Light fruit pectin
1½ cups sugar, divided
2 cups finely chopped tomatoes (buy 8 fully ripe plum tomatoes)
1 cup tomato sauce
½ cup finely chopped onions (buy 2 medium onions)
¼ cup minced cilantro
¼ cup finely chopped pickled jalapeno peppers
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2 tablespoons fresh lime juice
¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce

Mix fruit pectin and ¼ cup of the sugar in small bowl. Mix tomatoes, tomato sauce, onions, cilantro, peppers, lime juice and hot pepper sauce thoroughly in large bowl.

Add pectin mixture gradually to vegetable mixture, stirring vigorously. Let stand 10 minutes; stir occasionally.

Stir remaining sugar into vegetable mixture. Stir constantly until sugar is completely dissolved and no longer grainy, about 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals may remain.) Pour into clean plastic containers; cover. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours. Jam is now ready to use. Store in refrigerator or freeze extra containers. Thaw in refrigerator. Makes 4 (1 cup) containers.

RASPBERRY PEACH JAM

2 cups crushed raspberries (buy about 1½ pints fully ripe red raspberries)
1½ cups finely chopped peeled peaches (buy 1¼ pounds fully ripe peaches)
7 cups sugar
1 box Sure-Jell Fruit pectin
¾ cup water

Mix raspberries, peaches and sugar thoroughly in large bowl. Let stand 10 minutes; stir occasionally.

Stir fruit pectin and water in saucepan. Bring to a boil on high heat, stirring constantly. Continue boiling and stirring 1 minute.

Stir pectin mixture into fruit mixture. Stir constantly until sugar is completely dissolved and no longer grainy. About 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals may remain). Pour into clean plastic containers; cover. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours. Jam is now ready to use. Store in refrigerator or freeze extra containers. Thaw in refrigerator. makes about 7 (1 cup) containers.

Recipes from Kraft General Foods, Inc.

Just freeze fresh bounty

Making jams and jellies isn't the only way to save your surplus produce. You can simply freeze it without a lot of prep work.

For help on the best way to freeze foods, pick up the 32nd edition of the Ball "Blue Book."

According to the authors, freezing is a good way to preserve foods because freezing retains the flavor, natural color and nutritive qualities of most foods better than other methods.

Most vegetables should be blanched and then frozen. Some fruits can be frozen whole without sugar, while others should be stored either in a sugar pack or syrup pack — a mixture of water or juice, sugar, ascorbic and citric acid to prevent discoloration.

Nothing could be easier than freezing berries. Use this method for blueberries, cranberries, strawberries and raspberries. Wash thoroughly, drain, pat dry, and put on cookie sheet in the freezer.

When berries are frozen, dump them into a resealable plastic freezer bag. While you're doing this, imagine how delicious fresh blueberry muffins will taste on a cold Sunday morning in February.

Plums can also be frozen whole without sugar. Wash, halve and pit plums. Pack the washed and drained plums in a plastic freezer bag, attempting to fill all space, seal and freeze.

For the best-tasting frozen vegetables, process on the day they're picked or bought. Vegetables to be stored or frozen for more than four weeks, except green onions, hot peppers and herbs, should be scalded. This cleanses the vegetables of dirt and organisms, brightens the color, helps retain vitamins and reduces the action of enzymes that would destroy the fresh flavor after about four weeks. Scalding also shrinks vegetables, making packing easier.

Before scalding, wash, drain, sort and trim vegetables as you would if you were cooking them fresh.

Use 1 gallon of water per pound of vegetables. Put vegetables into a blancher (wire basket, coarse mesh bag or perforated metal container) and lower it into vigorously boiling water.

Begin counting the time as soon as the vegetable is placed in the boiling water. Keep the heat on high and stir water, or keep container covered during blanching.

Cool the vegetables by immersing in ice water when scalding is complete. Pouring hot vegetables into a cool colander that's placed in ice water helps the vegetables cool quickly. Package, label and place in freezer.

Consult the Ball "Blue Book" or a basic cookbook, such as a Betty Crocker book, for vegetable-blanching times and more information on freezing fruits.

Easy steps to lower food-poisoning risks

LOIS THIELEKE

Every year between $5 and $17 billion are spent on medical costs and lost productivity as a result of food borne illnesses. Slaughter practices, limited inspections and food processing techniques can't be blamed for these high numbers. Blame some of this on us, the consumer.

One-third of food poisoning cases are caused by food prepared at home. We have the basic equipment in our kitchens to prevent most food borne illnesses; the stove, refrigerator and running water, but still forget the precautions.

Germs accumulate on your hands as you go from task to task. It is reported that most cases of diararhea and vomiting are caused by inadequate handwashing. By not washing your hands thoroughly you can pass on a host of ailments to friends and family. These can range from the common cold to dysentery or hepatitis. The simpliest way to avoid these infestions is with a little soap and water. Just running water over your hands doesn't count as a washing.

Apply soap or detergent to your hands and rub vigorously for 10-20 seconds, then rinse. Germs tend to accumulate around cuticles, under fingernails and creases in your hands. It is critical to wash your hands before handling or eating food; after handling raw food, especially meat; after a visit to the bathroom; after blowing your nose or sneezing or coughing into your hand; after handling garbage; after playing with a pet; after changing a diaper or after handling money. Make vigorous hand washing a habit to stay healthy.

Next step to food safety is to keep your refrigerator set below 40 degrees and the freezer at or below 0 degrees. Slip meat packages into another plastic bag or container prior to refrigeration. Juices from raw meat or poultry may leak from the original package and contaminate other foods or surfaces.

Ground meat tends to spoil faster than other cuts, so store ground beef, pork, lamb, turkey or poultry two days at the most. If you purchase jumbo-sized or family-sized packages of meat, make sure you follow the two day guideline from the refrigerator or freeze it or cook it all and then freeze it.

Store raw roasts and steaks in the refrigerator no longer than three to five days, raw chicken or turkey no longer than one to two days and leftover meats no longer than three or four days.

Never thaw foods, especially meat, at room temperature. The outside surface thaws before the inside, leaving the outside vulnerable to bacterial contamination and growth. Cook food frozen or thaw in the refrigerator.

Marinate meats and poultry only in the refrigerator. Don't put cooked meat back into uncooked marinade or on a plate that previously held raw meat. If you do you're passing the bacteria back and forth. Don't trust your nose to pick up bacteria smell. Bacteria is odorless.

Never use utensils that have touched raw meat or poultry without a thorough washing. Everything that comes in contact with the raw meat should be washed immediately. Don't contaminate other foods or hands by re-using towels or sponges that have been used to clean up drippings from raw meat.

Wash your cutting board with hot soapy water or put it in the diswasher. Occasionally wash it with a mild bleach solution and rinse with clean water. Cross contamination from raw to a cooked product is a common mistake that can be avoided with some thought.

Some foods can be eaten raw but meat and poultry aren't on that list. Steak tartare may be considered a delight to your taste buds; however, it could be dangerous to your health. Most health authorities discourage any consumption of raw meat.

Cook hamburger meat thoroughly. Hamburger meat is riskier than steaks or other cuts because of so much surface area. Cook until no pink shows in the center. Rare beef does carry some bacterial risk so, you make the choice. Cook meat to an internal temperature of at least 160 degrees. Red meat when done is brown or grey inside and the juices in poultry run clear.

Cooking meat perfectly means careful timing and temperature. A very high heat will harden the protein and make meat tough and dry. When grilling or broiling, the timing is extremely important.

Recent deaths and serious illnesses from fast food hamburger really underscore the importance of food safety at home and away. Heat destroys most bacteria so use good judgement when cooking meats and keep your work space and hands clean.

Proper food handing will help eliminate food borne illnesses. Who needs a headache or stomache ache anyhow?

Grill seafood or vegetables for memorable appetizers

AP — Grilled appetizers provide the perfect opening for a summer meal. Among the possibilities: grilled tomatoes, oysters, pineapple boats, pizza and vegetable kebabs. For health reasons, always cook foods according to the recommended times, and never use the same utensils or platters for raw and cooked foods.

PATIO TOMATOES

- 6 medium tomatoes
- 6 slices bacon, diced
- ¾ cup chopped onions
- 1½ cups cooked rice
- 1 cup shredded Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese (4 ounces)
- 2 tablespoons snipped fresh parsley or 2 teaspoons dried parsley flakes
- ¼ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon dried thyme, crushed
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Cut a thin slice off the stem end of tomatoes. Hollow out tomatoes, leaving a ¼-inch-thick shell. Reserve pulp for another use. Drain tomato shells upside down on paper towels. Set aside.

In a large skillet cook bacon until crisp. Drain bacon on paper towels, reserving 1 tablespoon of the bacon drippings in skillet. Add onions to reserved drippings; cook until tender but not brown.

In a medium mixing bowl combine cooked rice, cheese, parsley, salt, thyme and pepper. Stir in bacon and onions.

Turn tomato shells right side up. Spoon about ⅓ cup of the rice mixture into each tomato. Place each filled tomato in the center of a 6-inch square of heavy foil. Fold up foil around each tomato, leaving top open.

Place tomatoes in foil in center of the cooking grill. Grill about 25 minutes or until heated through. Makes 6 servings.

OYSTERS ROCKEFELLER

- Rock salt
- 12 oysters in shells
- 1 teaspoon finely chopped green onion
- 1 small clove garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons margarine or butter
- ⅓ cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1 tablespoon snipped parsley
- ½ teaspoon dried tarragon, crushed
- Dash pepper

Line a 13- by 9-inch aluminum pan with rock salt to a depth of about 1¼ inch. Dampen the salt with water. Place pan on the cooking grill to heat.

Thoroughly wash oysters. Open shells with an oyster knife or other blunt-tipped knife. Remove oysters and dry. Discard flat top shells. Wash deep bottom shells. Place each oyster in a bottom shell.

In a small saucepan cook onion and garlic in margarine over medium heat about 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir in bread crumbs, parsley, tarragon and pepper. Sprinkle crumb mixture over oysters in shells.

Carefully arrange oyster shells in rock salt. Grill 5 to 8 minutes or until edges of oysters begin to curl and crumbs are lightly toasted. Makes 12 servings.

RUM PINEAPPLE BOATS

- 1 pineapple
- ⅓ cup margarine or butter
- ¼ cup packed brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons rum
- ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ⅛ teaspoon ground cloves
- ⅛ teaspoon ground nutmeg

Use a sharp knife to quarter the fresh pineapple lengthwise. (Do not remove crown.) Remove hard core from pineapple quarters. Loosen pineapple flesh from shell. Cut the flesh of each quarter into ½-inch-thick slices.

In a small saucepan melt margarine. Stir in brown sugar, rum, cinnamon and cloves.

Wrap pineapple crowns in heavy foil to prevent burning. Place pineapple, shell side down, in center of the cooking grill. Grill about 15 minutes or until pineapple is heated through, basting every 5 minutes with the rum mixture. Just before serving, remove foil from crowns. Sprinkle each serving with nutmeg. Makes 4 servings.

APPETIZER PIZZAS

- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 10-ounce package refrigerated pizza dough
- 8-ounce can pizza sauce
- 4 ounces Canadian-style bacon or thinly sliced salami, cut into pieces
- ½ cup sliced mushrooms or chopped sweet red or green pepper
- ¼ cup sliced green onions
- 1 cup shredded mozzarella or Monterey Jack cheese (4 ounces)
- ¾ teaspoon dried oregano, crushed

Combine olive oil and garlic; set aside. Cut roll of refrigerated dough into quarters. Flatten each quarter into a 5 1¼-to 6-inch circle. Brush both sides of circles with the oil mixture.

Place dough circles in center of the cooking grill. Grill 6 minutes. Transfer circles, grilled side up, to a piece of heavy foil. Spread each with some of the pizza sauce. Top with bacon, mushrooms and green onions. Sprinkle with cheese and oregano.

Return pizzas on the foil to the cooking grill. Grill 7 to 9 minutes more or until cheese melts and bottoms are light brown. Cut each pizza into quarters. Makes 16 servings.

SQUASH AND PEPPER KEBABS

- 1 small green pepper, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 1 small sweet red pepper, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 1 small zucchini, sliced ½-inch thick
- 1 small yellow squash, cut into 1-inch pieces
- ½ cup bottled clear Italian salad dressing

Place all vegetables in a plastic bag set into a shallow dish. Pour Italian dressing over vegetables. Close bag. Marinate at room temperature 30 to 60 minutes, turning bag occasionally to distribute marinade.

Drain vegetables, reserving dressing. On four 12-inch skewers alternately thread green pepper, red pepper, zucchini and yellow squash, leaving space between pieces.

Place kebabs on the cooking grill. Grill 10 to 12 minutes or until vegetables are tender, turning once halfway through grilling time and brushing occasionally with reserved dressing. Makes 4 servings.

Fun is fashion for preschoolers

What do you wear on that all-important first day of preschool? Popular classics abound for the prekindergarten set. The focus is on comfort and durability, with a huge dose of fun and updated styling thrown in for the fashion conscious.

You can't go wrong with denim. Add splashes of color to a black denim button-down collar shirtdress, and it becomes more than a little bit special. Jacqui Taub models a JM Original that's embellished with multicolor felt appliques, pompons and sequins ($54). Perfect for a 2-year-old's debut at preschool. Jacqui selected her outfit among the dresses at The Waiting Game in Applegate Square, 29769 Northwestern Highway, Southfield.

Other favorite new fall dresses include simple cotton corduroys, cute plaid flannels and gorgeous abstract watercolor prints by French designer Jean Bourget ($98).

Of days gone by

The new romantic vintage looks are in for children and Mousefeathers interprets this trend in nostalgic floral print dresses ($32-$52) at Jordan Marie, Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi. Another hot retro number is the pink poodle skirt and matching jacket, complete with black poodles, musical notes and glittering leashes ($34). Jordan Marie specializes in monograms and personalizing, so her name could sweep across that flirty little skirt, just like Laverne's.

Another Jordan Marie exclusive is the hand-painted knit romper in toddler sizes. Look for new designs with tennis shoes, socks and caps to match.

Like big sister, fashion-forward baby sis needs a pair of hip bell-bottoms. The Waiting Game offers pink belled leggings with felt appliques and modified bell-bottom jeans, a major hit so far this season.

That Barney business

Then there's Barney. Love him or loath him, he's showing up on the trendiest preschoolers. Jacqui needed no encouragement to model her denim overalls with the shiny satin Barney the Dinosaur applique. She's definitely a Barney fan and will probably want to wear this outfit every day, says her mom. The unisex overall ($80) comes with a matching jean jacket ($92). Both from The Waiting Game. To complete the ensemble, tote lunch and crayons in a multicolor vinyl backpack featuring Barney the football star ($12) at Jacobson's.

Lifelike dinosaurs are the preference of Michael Bender of Birmingham, a fashion-conscious preschooler who picks out all of his own clothes. He has his eye on a dinosaur sweater and black jeans.

"Anything with stuff on it is more exciting to him," says his mom, Linda. Mad for plaid? For very special occasions, he'll look smashing in Babymine's lined wool fleece autumn plaid pant with matching red cabled sweater ($229) from The Waiting Game. Or outfit him in an exclusive Jean Bourget navy denim jacket lined in flannel buffalo checks ($126) with matching check shirt ($48) and corduroy pant ($49).

Another plaid standout is the navy and green flannel bomber jacket, lined in black and white checks, from Jordan Marie ($70). Strictly for fun and games, opt for primary color jogging suits in sport motifs with matching socks, shoes and caps ($34) from Jordan Marie and thermal weave tees with bright blue and black check flannel pants ($47) from The Waiting Game.

The very best selection of outerwear for little ones is available right now at The Waiting Game. Machine washable polar fleece is the fabric of choice this winter. This soft, cuddly material is interpreted beautifully in a flounced fuchsia dress coat with pearl buttons and matching hat and muff ($128). Or for a bit of drama, choose black fleece trimmed in a leopard print ($136). Also, look for hooded anoraks and microfiber jackets in exquisite prints.

Guild trains models

By Susan DeMaggio
Staff Writer

Several malls are looking for attractive, enthusiastic adults who are interested in fashion and have a burning desire to learn more about the retail world.

For their trouble, these volunteers will have the opportunity to enter an inner circle, becoming members of the select Fashion Guild.

"This year I learned a lot about fashion as well as what's happening in the world through the friendships I made in Twelve Oak's Fashion Guild," said Betty Wells of Livonia. "These women are busy, interesting, progressive. It was a welcome change of pace from my regular job of running a night club in Ann Arbor."

Marketing director Elaine Kah explained that the eight-year-old guild was organized at the request of shoppers who wanted to see the mall's fashions modeled by "real" people, petites as well as full-figured models, not just "110-pound gals over

Malls are alert to any gang activity

Teens are a vital segment of a mall's demographics while youth gangs are not. Retail security forces try to prevent youth violence before it happens at a mall through strict enforcement of No Loitering laws.

By Susan DeMaggio
Staff Writer

Police warnings about the growth and development of metro-area youth gangs have mall security officers and local police forces on their toes.

However, youth officer Gregory Winn of the Livonia Police Department said the "big problem" the experts predicted hasn't materialized.

Still, to keep abreast of this new, highly sensitive mall security issue, local affiliates of the International Council of Shopping Centers will attend a workshop on gangs in the malls next month.

"As we watched the gangs move their activities from southwest Detroit to the downriver communities, we went on alert," Winn said. "Redford, Westland, Garden City and Livonia police officials came together to discuss the issue. We want to be prepared, not caught off guard. It's strictly a fringes problem right now. The big gang takeover of our local kids never developed."

Winn suggested that gang stories in the media give these groups the notoriety they seek, and only serve to bolster gang membership.

But Sgt. Dale Hawkes of the Westland Police Department was a little more cautious. Although he insisted that Westland Mall and other shopping areas in the city are absolutely safe, he warned everyone to keep their guard up and cooperate to control youth gangs.

'They are out there'

"They are out there. You see it in their graffiti, which they use to mark their territories — much like dogs," he said. He went on to say that youth groups have left this graffiti all over Westland schools, some malls and abandoned buildings, resulting in thousands of dollars in property damage.

"We can't allow these gangs to become organized, so through strict enforcement of no-smoking, loitering or trespassing laws we harass their leaders, moving them along, until the gangs are forced to dissolve," he said. "We've asked any mall, business or neighborhood coming in contact with these groups to report their names and activities to police so we can monitor their activity through the computer files we've started."

Winn said gang graffiti — the first sign that gang activity has invaded a community — was reported in several communities in January and February. This prompted the police departments to hold seminars with mall security officials to advise and educate them about a possible summer problem, but the problem has been minimal.

"We're staying on top of the issue with the help of the police department," said Donna McQuaid, director of security at Livonia Mall. "We have evidence of gang members being in the mall from time to time because we've been taught to recognize their colors, their trademarks like beads or handkerchiefs. When we noticed mall graffiti on our exterior walls we photographed it, sent the photos to police, then removed it. But we haven't had any altercations or fights.

"We found out that one store employee was a member of a gang, but she's since left the mall. We enforce our banning practice with its strict guidelines to keep any troublemakers out of the shopping center."

Teens welcome

At the Westland and Wonderland Malls, security has been beefed up, with plainclothes and uniformed police officers on regular patrol. There are always uniformed officers at Wonderland Mall on the weekends, according to Winn.

Mall security officers walk a thin line when approaching young shoppers suspected of mischief.

"They have a right to be in the mall, and we welcome teenage shoppers," McQuaid said. "However, larger groups that may be intimidating to shoppers are asked to disperse. If they cause trouble they are ordered to stay out for a day. Most of our young shoppers are not a problem. They are here to see a movie, buy new clothes or have lunch with friends. We just want kids to know we're staying on top of their activities."

Jim Lamphear, vice president and director of property management at Wonderland Mall, prepared a statement about the issue.

"All shopping centers have become a natural community gathering place for today's youth," he said. "Wonderland Mall is no exception, but we are not aware of any problems associated with organized gangs or graffiti that is a common gang trademark.

"The security staff at all our properties is trained to recognize gang colors, beads, tattoos, and other identifiable insignias. We work closely with the Livonia Police Department on a pro-active basis in dealing with issues that all regional shopping centers encounter in today's society."

Malls spend thousands of dollars on video surveillance, security personnel and alarm systems to protect their merchants, merchandise and shoppers. Any "incident" could cost revenue. Summer is a busy time for security officers, Hawkes said, because school is out and kids have more free time to fill.

However, Winn said gang activity breeds in the schools where the groups are organized, not in local restaurants and malls — although members can be recruited there. Kids join gangs for protection and "to belong to 5-foot-10."

"So we recruited some women from the community to represent the image of the mall for an entire year," Kah said. "These women participate in fashion-related events as models and hostesses, and join workshops designed to enhance the potential of each member. They receive tips on grooming, makeup and hairstyling. They receive runway modeling training and enjoy motivational seminars."

Women of past guilds have spun off into Glad Rags Productions, producing their own shows with ex-guild members, Kah said. Friendships continue at brunches, barbecues and guild reunions.

Women interested in joining the 1993-94 guild have until Sunday to submit a brief biography and non-returnable color photo to the Twelve Oaks Mall management office. Forty women over the age of 21 will be selected by a special committee after personal interviews the following week.

At Laurel Park Place in Livonia, Fashion Group members (also known as Fashion Panelists) will be recruited in February. Members act as informal models for mall-sponsored shows. They serve as greeters during promotions. They act as hostesses during special events, handing out gifts and store directories.

"We've had a Fashion Group for four years now," said Mike Buescher, director of marketing at Laurel Park Place. "Our members range in age from 16 to 60. From the mall's standpoint, it's great because we get real people from the community to support the center's activities and wear the center's fashions. In return, members get valuable experience, personal image consultations and modeling lessons. Many of the women have made good friends through the group and certainly plenty of new friends."

The Fairlane Town Center is considering a Fashion Guild in September. Vicki Howard of Ta-Dah! Productions in Berkley coordinates a few of these mall panels.

"The purpose is really self-enhancement for each member," Howard said. "I want each member, no matter what age, to gain new insights, experiences and satisfactions. I've had women tell me that it's a dream of a lifetime to get the chance to be a runway model after years as a housewife, teacher or grandmother. They get a taste of the business. A few have even gone back to school to become cosmetologists or learn how to dress fashion shows."

Howard, a model for more than 20 years, says she now wants to be a "guardian angel."

something." Assaults often result from initiations, when someone wants to leave a gang, or when someone targeted for membership won't join.

Gangs sometimes turn to criminal activity to support themselves via drug sales or street robberies. Initiation rites for both male and female gangs can include sexual or criminal acts. In many instances, members are armed.

Letter to parents

Starting September, Westland police will warn parents of suspected gang members about the activities of their children through a form letter. Parents will be instructed to look for the telltale signs of gang affiliation: the wearing of specific colors, tattoos or beads.

Gangs recruit members as young as 11 and up to people in their 20s, according to Hawkes.

"These kids are typically the losers," Hawkes said. "They feel powerless against other kids with more talents and abilities. Gang membership gives them a sense of power, identity, brotherhood and security."

Wonderland's Lamphear concluded that "the young customer is a very important segment of our consumer demographic. We encourage teen shoppers and it is unfortunate how isolated incidents in the metropolitan area tend to tarnish the image of all teenagers."

Elezovic ready for U-M challenge

Pete Elezovic, former Redford Catholic Central athlete, won the job as the University of Michigan placekicker last year and is ready to fight to keep it as he begins his senior year of football with the Wolverines.

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

It's Pete Elezovic's last shot, so the Redford Catholic Central High product won't be holding back when it comes to kicking the football during his final season as a Michigan Wolverine.

Pete Elezovic

But the Wolverines' kicking game was much maligned during the 1992 season, so much so that some followers and media observers said it cost U-M, which finished 9-0-3 overall, a shot at the national championship.

Elezovic, who started his career in 1989 as a walk-on, is now a scholarship player trying to hold onto the No. 1 job as placekicker.

He welcomes challenges from holdovers Erik Lovell and Remy Hamilton, along with highly touted freshman Nate DeLong, the latter whom could also make a bid for the starting punting job against incumbent Chris Stapleton.

Competition doesn't hurt

"I had some field goals last year that I should have made," admitted Elezovic, who hit seven of 12 a year ago. "I think it helped me to kick in the big games. And with the competition this year, it puts more pressure on me, but that's what I like.

"They (the coaches) are going to wait to see if I improve. They want to see what I'm made of. I'd rather have it that way."

A closer look at the 1992 statistics show that Elezovic's first full season as kicker was far from a disaster.

He made 52 of 55 PATs, three shy of a Michigan record. He also had a field goal in Michigan's 17-17 tie with Notre Dame, and opened the Rose Bowl against Washington with a career-long 41-yarder.

His last-second 39-yard boot earned Michigan a 22-22 tie with Illinois, which clinched a second straight Big Ten championship. And if that wasn't enough, Elezovic recovered a fumble in a victory over Oklahoma State. He also ranked third on the team in total points (73) behind Tyrone Wheatley and Derrick Alexander.

Not all went well

But others point to his extra-point misses against Ohio State (a 13-13 tie) and Illinois as negatives, along with another major downfall — short kickoffs.

"The kickoffs, I've worked on that this summer," said the Farmington Hills native. "But even more important than that is consistency. I feel I have the ability to make it, but I need to be more consistent. That's the thing I need to improve upon each and every day."

During Friday's initial gathering with the media, head coach Gary Moeller emphasized that the kicking and punting game was given special attention during the off-season.

"We've spent a tremendous amount of time and we did a better job addressing that need during spring ball," Moeller said. "And kickoffs — we simply have to get better in that area."

Murray helps kicker

Elezovic has spent time practicing with former Lions All-Pro kicker Eddie Murray. The two have worked to improve Elezovic's form.

During the summer, the fifth-year senior served as a social counselor with the Detroit Police Department. (He is majoring in sociology.)

"I've basically been at school all summer working on kicking and conditioning," said the former All-Observer pick. "I know this is it, so I'm

United '77 wins title

Livonia Youth Soccer Club United '77 moved up to the girls under-19 age division and captured first in the Jeff Wyler/Head and Shoulders Soccer Classic Aug. 7-8 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Coached by Pat McCaul and Ian Fairbrother, United '77 won five matches, including the first three by an average margin of four goals, en route to the title.

United '77 defeated the Cincinnati Buckeyes in the championship match 3-1 after edging the '73 Cleveland Cobras in the semifinals thanks to an overtime goal by German exchange student Rebecca Brandmeier-Daley.

Captain Lenay Truchan and Theresa Cisco were named tournament co-MVPs.

Other members of United '77 include goalie Lindsay Bryant, Angie Snyder, Emily Lawrence, Lisa Bernardo, Janess Vartanian, Jill Schmidt, Heather Huizing, Wendy McCaul, Ali Lord, Margaret Wirth, Heather Richards, Amy Marcoe and Candace Perkins.

United '77, which has captured 15 tourneys over the past 15 years, returns to action Labor Day weekend in Troy.

Blazers 17th in nation

The Motor City Blazers, a 15-and-under girls basketball team with nine area players, placed 17th among 63 teams in the AAU national tournament last month in Ogden, Utah.

The Observerland players include four from Farmington Hills — sisters Maura and Kerry Duggan, Andrea Salyer and Kara Walter. Erin Jeffrey (Redford), Erin Lasage (Livonia), Walter and the Duggans play for Ladywood High School. Salyer attends Farmington High.

The Detroit trio of Lazandra White, Latresa Cunningham and Octavia Satchel play for Bishop Borgess. The other team members are Julie Henderson and Liz Freedman, both of Ann Arbor and Greenhills High; Shannon Kulick (Riverview); Becky Murray (Ashley), St. Johns High; and Liz Barker (Huntington Woods), Birmingham Marian.

The Blazers, who survived regional and state tournaments to qualify for the nationals, advanced from pool play into the championship round. The team is coached by Pete Pullen (Ann Arbor).

Senior Olympic records

Jerry Gawra of Canton won three events and set two records in the women's 70-74 age group at the Michigan Senior Olympics Aug. 4-7 in Holland.

Gawra won the javelin, discus and shot put competition. She threw the javelin 46-9 (feet/inches) and the shot 22-3¾ to set age-group records.

Sandy Darvin of Farmington Hills set three women's records in 80-84 swimming. She was first in each event, swimming 3:13.85 in the 100 backstroke, 1:40.47 in the 50 breaststroke and 1:25.09 in the 50 backstroke.

Engine problem costly

The SCCA Trans-Am competition at Watkins Glen (N.Y.) began exactly the way Jim Stevens of Farmington Hills had hoped on Aug. 7.

Even though the engine in his Ford Mustang ran with a miss during qualifying, Stevens turned in a time fast enough to earn his first start in the Kentwood Fast Five Shootout during the Dallas Grand Prix in October.

But the Roush Racing Team was unable to locate and fix the engine miss, and it turned a hopeful weekend for Stevens into disappointment. He watched as one after another of the Trans-Am competitors snatched positions until Stevens finished the 42-lap race in 13th place.

"We think it's a problem with second gear," Stevens said. "If it would have rained hard throughout the race instead of just at the start, we'd have been in a lot better shape. But, as it was, they just had the power on me. It was real frustrating."

After running the first eight laps under pace-car conditions while the Watkins Glen circuit dried, Stevens initially could fend off his competitors.

For the first six laps under the green, Stevens battled with former champion Greg Pickett (Camaro) and George Robinson (Camaro) but lost ground after the full-course yellow and restart.

Kennedy nominated

Redford's Jennifer Kennedy, a recent graduate of Albion College, is the school's first nominee for the National Collegiate Athletic Association Woman of the Year Award.

The award, sponsored Champion Products, is presented to senior student-athletes who demonstrate athletic ability, academic excellence and dedication to community service.

The Livonia Ladywood High product, who was voted the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association's Most Valuable Player in women's basketball for the 1991-92 season, graduated in May from Albion with degree in history.

The two-time All-MIAA pick was one of 14 women's basketball players to receive an NCAA post-graduate scholarship. She was also one of 40 players nominated for the Kodak/Women's Basketball Coaches Association Division II All-America Team.

Area players figure in MIAA grid plans

OUTLOOK

BY C.J. RISAK

No one could relate to a life as the bulls-eye better than Albion College quarterback Mike Montico.

He's been it since he became the Britons' starter as a freshman. It wasn't so easy. As the Detroit Country Day graduate recalled: "I still remember in my first league game as a freshman fumbling my first snap. I think coach (Pete) Schmidt has a lot more confidence in me now."

Sure Schmidt does. He should. As Montico enters his senior year, he's started every game in his career. He was the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association's MVP last year, has led the conference in passing efficiency and has tossed a school-record 40 touchdown passes (in 28 games) in his career.

But most importantly, he has guided Albion to three-straight MIAA titles. His return, combined with the return of 18 other starters from last year's 8-1 squad, made choosing the pre-season favorite at Thursday's media day in Alma a no-brainer.

The coaches picked Hope College to finish second, followed by Adrian, Olivet, Kalamazoo and Alma.

Sure, the pressure is on at Albion. But Montico can live with it — by now, he's used to it.

Besides, goals remain. There's still the matter of the NCAA III championship.

Albion has made the playoffs once in Montico's tenure, losing to then-defending NCAA III champ Allegheny (Meadville, Pa.) 24-21 in 1991. This year, the Britons are ranked anywhere from 10th to 17th in major national publications.

"I think everybody should be shooting for a national championship," reasoned Montico, who completed 122 of 202 passes (60.4 percent) for 1,613 yards and 14 touchdowns, with nine interceptions, last season.

Doesn't that sound overconfident? What about the league season? Replied Montico: "Well, we aren't going to get a shot at a national title if we don't win the MIAA. And coach Schmidt takes a real good perspective. He keeps us focused on one game at a time."

Despite the overwhelming factors favoring Albion, winning the MIAA and reaching the NCAA III playoffs won't be easy. The Brits have road games at Ohio Wesleyan, at Adrian and at Hope; Wesleyan beat Albion 21-17 last year in Albion, ruining any playoff hopes, and Hope and Adrian are figured to be the Brits toughest challengers in the MIAA.

"I worry about us being complacent," said Schmidt. "There are no guarantees. But we have 12 outstanding seniors, perhaps the best group of seniors we've ever had."

Schmidt's concern has had an impact on his quarterback — Montico thinks this may be the toughest league season Albion's experienced since he was a freshman.

"My freshman year, every (MIAA) game was tooth and nail," he said. "Everybody's been gunning for us all these years, but I think it'll come back to what it was like my freshman year a bit and be a lot closer this year."

It wouldn't bother him if that didn't happen, though.

Veteran boys coach takes WLAA post

BASKETBALL

John Verdura has coached boys basketball teams a lot of years and has been very successful at it.

Now he will apply his talents and try to generate the same success as coach of the Farmington High School girls varsity team.

Verdura, who replaces Brian Swinehart, also coaches the Riverview Gabriel Richard boys and has compiled an impressive 90-49 record over the last six seasons with the Pioneers.

"I enjoy coaching, it's a way to supplement my income and it's a challenge," he said in response to why he sought the Farmington position. "Basketball is what I know and enjoy doing."

The 12-year Farmington Hills resident, who lives just a mile from the school, teaches physical education at Richard and had hoped to land a teaching job in the Farmington district, too.

"I enjoy it at Gabriel Richard, but it is a 60-mile drive back and forth," he said. "It's not that big a task for me to coach at another school, because it's not that far from home. I'm not the first coach who's had that situation.

"It's always better to be in the school when you're starting a program, but it's nothing that can't be overcome. If you work it the right way, you can still be successful with it."

Besides his work as a camp instructor, Verdura's only previous experience coaching girls was with the Birmingham Groves track team. He might have to adjust his coaching, but players are players in the end, he said.

"I found out this summer — and I told the girls — they listen better than boys," the 43-year-old Verdura said. "That's a nice situation because when you're talking to one you know the others are tuned in to you.

"At the same time, the jury is still out on work ethic. We're not talking about checkers or chess. It's a game that requires you to run and exert some energy. I have to see how coachable they are, how they take criticism and react in stressful situations.

"But when it's all said and done, there's not a whole lot of difference. The girls who are there, like the boys, want to be there and improve as individuals and a team."

In his second season at Richard (1989), Verdura guided the Pioneers to an 18-9 record and appearance in the Class B state semifinals. He followed that with consecutive 19-5 seasons.

Verdura wasn't able to organize trips to team camp this summer, but he conducted open-gym sessions for the Farmington girls. He wanted to go slow at first, letting the players get to know him and vice versa.

"I hope a year from now to say we had a great summer," Verdura said. "I didn't want to lose anybody in July. We implemented some drills and worked on the offense a bit. It all has to be reviewed when we have the whole team together."

The Falcons, who were 5-16 last season, will have only one senior, and a new coach beginning with a young team is a good situation, Verdura said.

John Verdura

"A year from now I hope to go to team camp and everyone to know the terminology and what it's all about," he said. "Learning to win games

Southfield (Royal Oak Shrine) who led Albion with five interceptions in '92; Tom Cavanaugh, 6-0, 190, junior defensive back from Troy (Madison Heights Bishop Foley); Mike Branstorm, 5-11, 225, sophomore inside linebacker from Birmingham (Seaholm); Bill Erminger, 5-11, 175, sophomore defensive back from Troy (Athens); Brian Lee, 6-1, 200, sophomore wide receiver from Farmington (North Farmington); Steve Lieger, 5-11, 220, sophomore offensive lineman from Detroit (Redford Catholic Central); Kevin Curtis, 6-3, 210, freshman tight end from Garden City (Garden City HS); Mason Hicks, 5-11, 205, freshman running back from Orchard Lake (St. Mary's); Sassan Panah, 6-0, 175, freshman wide receiver from West Bloomfield (Cranbrook); Martin Stonehouse, 6-0, 210, freshman linebacker from Rochester Hills (Country Day); Joseph Whitt, 5-10, 205, freshman linebacker from Auburn Hills (Avondale).

Hope College

With 14 starters back, 10 on offense, it might seem logical to pick the Flying Dutchmen as the pre-season favorite — in most years, particularly after a 6-3 overall record and a 4-1 conference mark.

However, as Ray Smith, the dean of MIAA coaches, noted, "I noticed nobody mentioned parity in our league this year. When someone wins four titles in a row, people start thinking maybe there isn't so much parity.

"I think there may be parity in the race for second."

He's probably right, considering Albion visited runner-up Hope for its homecoming last year and thumped the Dutch 37-0.

"As far as we're concerned, Albion was the best team we played last year, and that included (NCAA III playoff pick) Illinois Wesleyan," said Smith. "Our cupboard is not bare — I'd be dishonest if I said that. With 10 starters back on offense, initially that will be our strength.

"But defense is the name of the game — you've got to be able to stop people."

The entire offensive backfield, including senior quarterback Mike DenBraber and the top three rushers in Hope's wing-T attack, return, but the defensive line and the whole defensive backfield must be rebuilt.

Players to watch: Phil Martin, 6-1, 240, junior offensive tackle from Troy (Troy HS); Alex Fedototzkin, 6-1, 205, sophomore offensive guard from Rochester (Adams); Jamie Sewruk, 6-0, 165, freshman wide receiver from Westland (Livonia Franklin).

Adrian College

According to three-year coach Jim Lyall, the key to success is "great players, good coaches and consistent play." Last year, in which Adrian was a disappointing 2-7 overall (2-3 in the MIAA), the Bulldogs were lacking the last element in particular.

"In my mind, we lost far too many games in the fourth quarter," he said. With 24 seniors, and 16 returning starters, on the '93 team, Adrian's fortunes could change.

Quarterback Ryan Holtz (second team all-MIAA), tight end Jeff Toner (first team all-MIAA), split end Dan Larison and leading rusher Kevin Valimont, all seniors, pace the offense; linebackers Elliot Grondin, a junior (first team all-MIAA), and Bill Dunn, a senior, lead the defense.

Players to watch: Scott Dziedzic, 5-11, 190, sophomore defensive back from Inkster (Wayne Memorial); Paul Rockwood, 6-2, 190, junior wide receiver from Livonia (Stevenson); Peter Zantop, 5-11, 180, sophomore defensive back from Canton (Salem HS); Scott Latham, 6-2, 180, freshman quarterback from Garden City (Garden City); Josh Reynolds, 5-11, 175, freshman wide receiver from Westland (Livonia Franklin).

Olivet College

There's no doubt Albion has established itself as a football powerhouse. Olivet is still struggling to establish itself among the MIAA's perennial title contenders.

Dominic Livedoti, former coach at West Bloomfield HS, has the Comets on a rollercoaster: They tied for the MIAA title in '91, going 7-1-1 overall, but slumped and were just 2-6-1 in '92.

With 15 starters back (seven offensive, eight defensive), including quarterbacks Nick Leone and Rob Tenyer, who shared the position last season, and a strong fleet of receivers, this could be an up year for Olivet. The defense is led by linebacker John Pratt and defensive lineman Mike Farrier, both seniors.

Players to watch: Derek Reeves, 5-10, 230, freshman offensive lineman from Westland (Wayne Memorial); Ramzy Saleh, 5-11, 265, freshman offensive lineman from Wayne (Wayne Memorial).

Kalamazoo College

Like many of their peers, the Hornets have an abundance of experience — 16 starters return — but how talented are they?

"We should be improved at almost every position," said coach Dave Warmack, who guided Kalamazoo to a 3-6 record (1-4 in the MIAA). "That's what we're hoping for. Defensively, we have a few holes to fill.

"But I'll say this about this team: It's the hardest working in the off-season I've been around."

Maybe that will help. The offensive line is certainly a strength, thanks in part to 6-2, 258 pound junior guard Tony Prey (Westland John Glenn), a two-year starter. Senior Chris Berkimer will be at quarterback.

On defense, senior defensive back Bryan Schultz (Canton/Plymouth Salem) anchors the secondary, while sophomore linebacker Andy Smetana (Rochester Adams) should see more playing time.

The Hornets should be improved. The question is, will their record reflect it?

Players to watch: Rob Cavagnol, 5-10, 180, sophomore strong safety from Farmington (Farmington HS); Erich Kickland, 6-2, 220, junior defensive end from Livonia (Stevenson); Jeremiah Repinski, 6-4, 235, senior center from Rochester (Rochester HS); Steve Gusfa, 6-2, 215, freshman punter from Detroit (Redford Catholic Central); Neil Haremski, 5-10, 170, freshman tailback from Canton (Plymouth Canton); Steve Tack, 6-2, 200, freshman defensive end from Bloomfield Hills (Lahser).

Alma College

There's a lot of work to be done if Alma is to get its program turned around. The Scots will attempt to do so with an air attack in what they call fast-break football. Matt Snyder returns at quarterback, with three experienced receivers and a solid running back in Calvin Woodard.

But there are plenty of holes to fill on a team that struggled to a 3-6 finish in '92 (1-4 in the MIAA). A few freshmen could see playing time, which could be trouble in a league packed with teams loaded with experience.

Players to watch: Matt Gordon, 5-7, 170, sophomore wide receiver from Farmington Harrison; Scott Moffatt, 5-8, 160, sophomore defensive back from Rochester Hills (Rochester HS); Paul Heymoss, 5-11, 210, sophomore defensive lineman from Troy (Troy HS); Bill Heist, 5-8, 168, freshman quarterback/wide receiver from Troy (Troy HS); Craig Fritts, 5-11, 175, freshman defensive back from Troy (Troy HS); Jorge Livingston, 6-2, 208, freshman outside linebacker from Rochester Hills (Rochester HS); David Johnston, 6-3, 225, freshman receiver from Milford (Walled Lake Central).

going to go out and do the best job I can.

"I'd like to do both (placekicking and kickoffs), but the coach is going to pick the best guy. And if it happens to be two different guys, then it's not a problem with me."

Elezovic is used to the pressure. He made several big field goals during his high school career, including one in overtime to beat arch-rival Birmingham Brother Rice.

His days at Sorrows

"I went out for football as a seventh grader at Our Lady of Sorrows and the day of tryouts, some kid beat me out, and I was nothing," Elezovic said. "But I came back in the eighth grade and made one in a game, and to make one at that age was a big deal."

Elezovic felt he belonged then, and now believes he's more than a bit player on a national championship contending team.

"It made me feel good and wanted when the coaches gave me a scholarship," Elezovic said. "It showed they had faith in you. They gave me a lot of support.

"Even at the beginning, when I was a walk-on, I've always hung out with the crowd. I've never felt like an outcast. I don't consider being a kicker an obstacle. They know and I know what I have to do."

doesn't happen overnight. It's a building process.

"I do like what I see. If we get them to play hard and be fundamentally sound, we'll be a respectable team and we'll start with that on Monday."

Verdura, who was raised in Detroit and attended Redford St. Mary High School, also taught and coached at Dearborn St. Alphonsus, Southgate Aquinas and Royal Oak Shrine. He was an assistant coach at Redford Bishop Borgess in the mid-1980s.

His coaching style is considered conservative, but that was due to necessity. The Pioneers had to play that way against the likes of DePorres, Divine Child, Aquinas, Bishop Gallagher and Bishop Foley in the Catholic League AA Bracket.

It won't necessarily be that way with the Farmington girls.

"I've always been accused of being from the old school — deliberate, slow down," he said. "We do what we have to do to win games.

"With the boys, we didn't have the athletes our opponents did, so we were difficult to get into an up-tempo game. So much depends on the players you have."

The 27-year-old Swinehart, who coached the Falcons for two seasons, will continue to coach the Farmington boys JV team, but he decided to relinquish his duties as a head coach to spend more time with his family and on academic pursuits. His wife had their first child in June, and Swinehart also is working on his master's degree.

"I wasn't able to devote the time needed to run a successful program," he said. "It's a big time commitment, and I felt my family and schooling were priorities right now."

Beaufait gets step closer to making Olympic team

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

When Mark Beaufait was a youngster, a poster of the 1980 gold medal U.S. Olympic hockey team adorned a wall in his bedroom.

"He dreamed about it all the time," recalled his father, Robert. "He always said he'd love to do that."

Despite getting a late start at the U.S. Olympic trials (Aug. 3-15 in Cromwell, Conn.) because of an ankle injury, the Livonia native is one step closer to reality.

The 5-foot-10, 173-pound center, who helped lead Northern Michigan University to the 1991 NCAA title, is a member of the 25-man U.S. squad which flies today to Europe to play in a series of exhibition games during a three-week stretch in Germany and Finland.

"It's a big thrill," said Beaufait, a graduate of Stevenson High School. "These people really treat you well. I'm ready for Europe. I worked out hard this summer, lifting and skating, so I should be in good shape."

(Beaufait spent time working out at NMU with Detroit Red Wings Jim Hiller and Dallas Drake. The trio also played a lot of softball.)

Beaufait missed a week of training camp because of the ankle (injured while jogging in Marquette), but must have made a favorable impression despite a short stint on head coach Tim Taylor (of Yale) and the selection committee.

"The first game I didn't play too well," Beaufait said. "It was tough being off, but I really didn't think about it. I just went out and tried to do the best job I could."

The next day, Beaufait notched a goal and one assist. He was one of three Michigan players to make the squad; the others were Brian Rolston of Lake Superior and Jim Storm of Michigan Tech. (Redford's Patrick Neaton, a defenseman from Michigan, played well but did make the cut.)

"I'm not sure what role I'll play," said Beaufait, who is known for his defensive abilities as well as scoring. "If they want me to kill penalties, I'll do that. Right now I just have to play my game."

Beaufait spent the past season playing for Kansas City, the San Jose Sharks' top farm club, in the International Hockey League.

He was voted the IHL's top American rookie and was an All-Star. He also spent the final few games with San Jose (getting his first NHL goal) before going back to Kansas City for the IHL playoffs.

Beaufait is currently under contract with San Jose.

After returning from Europe, Beaufait must report to the Sharks' training camp, beginning Sept. 9 in San Francisco.

"The Sharks are pretty well set on three centers," Beaufait said. "There's basically one spot open. Right now I'm not sure what they think or where I fit in."

If the Sharks don't bite this fall, Beaufait may ultimately wind up next February in Lillehammer, Norway for the 1994 Winter Olympic Games.

Garden City's Erik Shpakoff shot a low round of 38 to win the Boys 13-14 age division Friday at the Burger King Junior Golf Tournament at Westland Municipal Golf Course.

Ninety-one competitors competed in the 14th annual event.

Shpakoff, an incoming 10th grader who plans to play for Garden City High's golf team, birdied the No. 8 hole en route to his low round for the day.

He edged Plymouth's Jeff Lear and Wayne's Craig Piscopink by a stroke. Both shot 39.

Lear defeated Piscopink on the second hold of a sudden death playoff to gain second place.

In the Boys 15-16 division, Port Huron's Paul Morentz successfully defended his title with a 39. Garden City's Craig Morton was second with a 40, while Bryan McNamara carded a 41.

Westland's Chris Tompkins won a one-hole playoff to capture the Boys 11-12 title. Tompkins and Westland's Brandon Lombardi each shot 40 for nine holes, forcing a playoff. Shaun Murray was third with a 43.

Lindsay Yorick of Westland shot a 67 to win the Girls 13-14 age category. Magan Crutcher of Livonia was second with a 94.

Colleen Yorick made it two victories in the family by capturing the Girls 11-12 title with a 72. Jaida Clarridge of Westland was second with a 97.

■ BLAZER CAGERS 17TH

The Motor City Blazers, a 15-and-under girls basketball team with nine area players, placed 17th among 63 teams in the AAU national tournament last month in Ogden, Utah.

The Observerland players included four from Farmington Hills — sisters Maura and Kerry Duggan, Andrea Salyer and Kara Walter. Erin Jeffrey (Redford), Erin Lasage (Livonia), Walter and the Duggans play for Ladywood High School, Salyer for Farmington High.

The Detroit trio of Lazandra White, Latresa Cunningham and Octavia Satchel attend Bishop Borgess. The other team members are Julie Henderson and Liz Freedman, both of Ann Arbor and Greenhills High; Shannon Kulick (Riverview); Becky Murray (Ashley), St. Johns High; and Liz Barker (Huntington Woods), Birmingham Marian.

The Blazers, who survived regional and state tournaments to qualify for the nationals, advanced out of pool play and into the championship round. The team is coached by Pete Pullen (Ann Arbor).

■ STEVENSON GIRLS TENNIS

Buying a Used Car Can Be Risky.

Blackwell Ford can help minimize the risk you take when purchasing a used vehicle. Every used vehicle sold by Blackwell Ford undergoes extensive reconditioning and safety inspection before it is offered for sale. If the vehicle does not meet our high standards, it will never be displayed on our lot. In the unlikely event that something does go wrong with your vehicle during the first 30 days or 2,000 miles, whichever occurs first, we will stand behind it 100% and repair it free of charge. It's that simple. We offer new car peace of mind with your used vehicle purchase. Stop in today to see our large selection of quality used vehicles, all priced to sell. And please remember,..

"If You Don't Know Used Cars, Know Your Dealer."

Brokaw, Couric take anchor seats of NBC's 'Now'

By DAN RICE

Last April, NBC announced the development of its new prime-time news magazine, "NBC Prime Story," with co-anchors Fred Francis, Faith Daniels and Mike Schneider and executive producer Steve Friedman. In the interim months, the peacock network decided brighter plummage was needed for its news magazine, so the brass refitted the program with a more happening name and called upon the news division's credible king and perky queen. "Now With Tom Brokaw and Katie Couric" premieres Wednesday, Aug. 18.

National-security reporter Francis has been retained as one of the program's six correspondents; Mike Boettcher, Noah Nelson, Chris Hansen, Dana Adams and Elizabeth Vargas round out the staff. The post of executive producer has been refilled as well, with Friedman swapping jobs with the much younger Jeff Zucker, head honcho of "The Today Show." Speaking for "Now," Zucker acknowledges the drawing power of Brokaw and Couric.

"I think the fact that Tom's doing (NBC's "Nightly News") and Katie is on 'The Today Show' will benefit all of us," Zucker says. "Certainly Tom's ability to reach an audience every night will help draw people to this program. Katie's got the same thing on 'The Today Show.'" But Zucker adds that each would bring "incredible credibility" to "Now" without their affiliation to the other shows.

Brokaw, who will keep his anchor seat on "Nightly News" and continue with an occasional edition of "Tom Brokaw Reports," views the news magazine's reassignments with the candid realism of a veteran reporter.

"The fact is that if you're looking at launching a new program," Brokaw says, "you want to put the strongest people that you have in front of that program."

Brokaw says the format of "Now," which includes both live and filmed reports, promises to distinguish the program from other news magazines.

"I do think that we can bring to the format now something that is a little more responsive than the magazine programs that are out there at the same time," Brokaw says. "One of the things that I think has happened, not just in our business but in the print medium as well, is that we're all kind of circling the same issues and the same topics. We'd like to be able to establish a pattern where we can bring things to the attention of people in the rest of the country that may be happening regionally."

Since his career breakthrough covering the Watergate scandal, Brokaw has seen first-hand much of the evolution of television news coverage, and he has his own ideas about its future.

"My great dream," says Brokaw, "is that some day we'll have a one-hour nightly newscast. That would be, I think, a cherished hope of everybody in all the news divisions in all the networks. That, at some point, you could have a nightly program, 10:00 to 11:00 (Eastern), 9:00 to 10:00, whatever, that would be a combination of that day's news and other feature reporting. But that is an evolutionary process.

"What is heartening about what's been going on this summer is that people are watching news-magazine programs. And if the success of these news magazines moves us in that direction, all the better."

HIGHLIGHTS

Brad Johnson (left) stars in the title role in the CBS series "Ned Blessing: The Story of My Life & Times," beginning Wednesday, Aug. 18. Luis Avalos (right) plays Crecencio, Ned's sidekick. Wes Studi ("Last of the Mohicans") and Brenda Bakke also co star. In the Western adventure, an elderly Ned Blessing – once known as "the bandit of Texas" – reminisces from his jail cell about his notorious life as the sheriff of the frontier town Plum Creek. In the pilot episode, Ned takes a stand against the murderous Borgers clan.

HOROSCOPE

By C. C. Clark

Aries (March 21 - April 19)

There could be some trouble on the horizon, but you will be able to handle it. There are those who may be jealous of you; be wary.

Taurus (April 20 - May 20)

Try not to dwell on the past; you have so many other things going for you. A new career opportunity is on the way, and you need to be ready.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)

Take your best shot and do what you think you must. No matter what happens, you will know that you gave it your best, and chances are things will turn out fine.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)

There is clear sailing ahead, and you will accomplish more than you ever thought possible. You will be able to solve a problem that has had you perplexed.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)

Try to laugh at your mistakes and things will not seem so bad. If you need help with a situation, do not be afraid to ask for it.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)

You have an important decision to make concerning work or school, and you need to do it quickly. Consider your options carefully.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

Keep your eye out for potential problems concerning finances. Do not procrastinate when dealing with daily chores. Do what needs to be done and get on with life.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)

You will feel a sudden need to get everything in order. This could be your instincts at work preparing you for an upcoming time-consuming event.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)

Make certain you have your facts straight when confronting co-workers, superiors or friends. You may need to look at things from a different perspective.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)

You will have the opportunity to do a good deed for a dear friend. You might consider a new look for your hair or clothing to brighten your spirits.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

Do not make any drastic life changes or major purchases for the time being. You need to get your priorities straight and decide what you want out of life.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)

A friend will help you laugh at a difficult situation. Try to relax and enjoy the simple things in life. Many times, that is what sees you through the difficult times.

Bell creates daytime dynasty

BY CANDACE HAVENS

William Bell has created three of the 11 daytime dramas on television today, and he was the head writer for three others. Bell (executive producer of "The Young and the Restless" and "The Bold and the Beautiful") knows daytime, and has worked in it successfully for more than 35 years.

"Y&R," Bell's most popular daytime drama, has been No. 1 in the ratings for more than four consecutive seasons, and "B&B" is not far behind. Bell attributes his success to consistent story lines and strong characters.

You won't find UFOs, angels or witches on Bell's shows. "We try to write characters that people can relate to, be furious with or, at the very least, become interested in," says Bell. "We want a strong emotional attachment between the audience and a character, because that is where it all starts. You must also have good stories to sustain the characters."
