Teacher pay-freeze vote looms

School officials and teachers-union officials have been meeting in an attempt to come up with an agreement to save extracurricular activities and teaching positions. Part of that deal involves teachers taking a 3-percent pay freeze for one year.

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Negotiators for Plymouth-Canton teachers and the school district last week inched closer to an agreement that sets the stage for teachers to vote on accepting a pay freeze.

Teachers' one-year deferral of a 3-percent raise is part of a proposal drafted by a coalition of booster-club parents. Their plan — which also asks for an administrative pay freeze and other contributions — would raise nearly $2 million, more than enough to save sports and other co-curricular activities. Extracurricular activities are to be cut as a result of the voters' defeat of the 4-mill tax increase request Aug. 17.

The millage failure also means the layoff of 42 teachers. Twenty-seven teachers remain on the layoff list from last year.

Teachers were scheduled to attend a 7 a.m. general membership meeting today to discuss the proposal, following several meetings between teachers and administrators last week. Teachers' union president Chuck Portelli planned to meet Sunday with his bargaining team to take a position. Voting may take place Wednesday and Thursday.

Portelli and Tom Cotner, who's served as the teachers' chief negotiator, wanted several issues resolved before agreeing to take the matter to the membership for a vote.

You can't blame them. They feel like movie stars. "Hello, Mrs. Frye. This is James from '911.' Your sons got the job," Maureen Frye said, recalling the phone call she received that put her twin sons, Jason and Jonathan, in the television lineup.

The 7-year-old boys spent three days in Toledo on their first acting job. Both played the role of a 6-year-old boy named Wyatt who rode an ATV off an embankment and severed his leg.

"I started screaming," Jason said, when he learned he would be acting for CBS' "Rescue 911" show. Their segment is expected to run in the next season, as early as October, but possibly as late as May.

His brother, Jonathan, was just as excited. "I just said it was cool."

Their venture into television came as sort of a fluke. The Northwestern Suburban Mothers of Twins Club contacted Frye.

since fall 1991, will reopen as Memory Lane Antiques, Hill said.

Hill has said restaurateurs have been interested in leasing the space for a restaurant.

But a city ordinance would require a restaurant owner using the space to pay the city thousands of dollars in "parking credits" to go in, and that has kept interested restaurateurs out, he said.

City officials have been working to revise the parking credit ordinance to make establishing restaurants downtown easier. Action is expected sometime this fall, city officials say.

Meanwhile, the Plymouth Downtown Development Authority has established a downtown sidewalk cleaning program "to provide a litter- and weed-free area that would be more inviting to area shoppers," said Steve Guile, DDA director.

"A downtown is the community living room, so it needs constant care," Guile said.

Part-time workers and a worker from the Private Industry Commission of Wayne County are sweeping sidewalks with a motorized sweeper, pulling weeds and doing other things needed to give downtown more visual appeal, Guile said.

"Downtown business owners have commented that they appreciate our efforts to improve the visual appeal of the downtown," he said.

"Business owners have also been impressed with the elimination of weeds in the planters, around the curbs and at the base of street trees," Guile said.

The effort to spruce up downtown follows a recommendation made by downtown consultants Doyle Hyatt and Deloris Palma of Washington, D.C.

Their study, presented last year, suggested downtown should have "greater visual appeal than it does today," and encouraged better maintenance and cleanliness.

Check your water

Any unusual taste or odor residents might experience in their water is due to naturally occurring non-harmful substances produced by algae during the summer, the Detroit Water and Sewage Department reports.

"These substances are also found in vegetables such as beets," the water department reports.

"Although sometimes unpleasant, these substances do not make the water unsafe in any way," according to a water department statement.

The department is continuously monitoring water quality throughout the system and is providing extra powdered activated carbon to minimize the problem, the statement continued.

Township settles pacts with 2 employee unions

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth Township recently wrapped up contract negotiations with two employee unions, while the Plymouth city administration is in mediation with its firefighters' union.

Township Supervisor Kathleen Keen-McCarthy said the township and the union representing 16 township police officers agreed to a three-year contract retroactive to Jan. 1.

The contract provides for pay raises of 3, 4 and 5 percent in each successive year of the contract. Police in the last three-year contract had won raises of around 5 percent each year.

The township also has reached agreement on a three-year contract to pay the township's seven unionized employees in the department of public works 0-, 2- and 2-percent raises in each of three years of the contract, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Unionized DPW workers got raises of 5 percent in each year of their prior three-year contract.

McCarthy said the township administration sought to trim percentage raises in order to reduce costs.

Following mediation sessions with the union representing city firefighters on Aug. 20 and 25, City Manager Steve Walters said a third session is scheduled for September.

The city firefighters' contract expired June 30 last year.

Walters said the city is seeking to bring the firefighters' contract more in line with Plymouth Township firefighters' contract, adding that if that happens, ef-orts to merge the city and township fire departments could be made easier.

"The township contract and many other contracts in the area are more alike in several aspects than the township and the city's," Walters said.

For example, he said the city firefighters' contract provides for a comparatively lower salary, but better vacation benefits.

To bring the city firefighters' contract more in line with the township firefighters' "should make a merger discussion easier," he said.

The city is also in contract negotiations with the union representing three police command officers and the union representing 14 department of public works employees.

Both contracts expired June 30.

Mettetal committee: State officials are getting ready to appoint people to the seven-member Mettetal advisory committee. Canton Township will have two people representing that community, while Plymouth Township will get one. The state will appoint four members.

Officials ready Mettetal advisory group for takeoff

By October, state officials should be ready to get a Mettetal Airport advisory committee off the ground.

"We want them to be actively involved," said Richard Jackson, assistant deputy director of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission. "We want them to provide a forum for the community input regarding the airport and to be a conduit between the commission and the airport."

The committee — promised in an agreement between Canton Township and the state immediately prior to the state's more than $4 million purchase of Mettetal — will be comprised of seven people. Two members will represent Canton Township, one will represent Plymouth Township and the remaining four people will be appointed by Bill Gehman, Michigan

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack recently recommended Elaine Kirchgatter, township treasurer, and resident Mark Merlanti to sit on the committee. Merlanti served on the citizens group, which reviewed concerns regarding state purchase of the airport.

"My position is that we are in a position that we are recommending," Yack said, as opposed to making appointments to the committee.

While Yack also was interested in recommending Barbara Bergenty, president of the Canton Homeowners Advisory Council and member of the former airport citizens group, state officials said they wanted her to be one of their appointees.

Meanwhile, Jackson said officials are getting close to finalizing a request for proposal that will be sent to companies with experience in managing airports. Until a company is hired, Desert Sands Inc., from whom the airport was purchased July 14, is managing Mettetal, Jackson said.

Though some residents remain concerned about the state purchase, local officials have said they feel content that safeguards are in place, based on a contract between the township and the state.

Residents question district's plans for new school

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

The newly constructed Tonda Elementary School has Canton residents talking.

Homeowners who live nearby are unhappy with the prospect of having to look at a boarded-up building for a year. They're also less than thrilled that the school's parking lot has become a gathering spot for teenagers.

The district announced that because the millage failed Aug. 17, neither Tonda nor Bentley, the other new elementary school in Canton, will open this year.

Some residents surmise that the district must intend to somehow open Tonda, because they say they've seen night-time deliveries of desks and other equipment.

Sandy Puroll, who lives on Proctor about 100 yards from the school, said that about 12:30 a.m. Aug. 19, three semi tractor-trailers loaded with desks and other equipment pulled up to the school. Puroll and her husband, Jerry, wondered whether they were being unloaded, because the trucks were gone by the time people were leaving for work in the morning.

"Trucks pulled in there and people were walking around," said Sandy Puroll. "Lights were on in the school that weren't on before. It definitely appeared they were working awfully late into the night. I can't be absolutely positive, but it looked like some kind of sneaky thing they were trying to do."

Mike Schlenke, project manager for Barton Malow, the school district's construction company, says nothing could have been unloaded between 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 a.m., because the school is locked, and alarms would have sounded.

"The schools had to get tables, chairs and desks in prior to school starting. But the millage failed, and the district to my knowledge isn't going to open the schools," said Schlenke.

"I know a tremendous amount of talk is going on about sports and co-curricular activities. They're trying to come up with an alternative funding method, but I don't think that's going to come to fruition."

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Empty school: Residents don't welcome the thought of living near a boarded-up elementary school. The newly built Tonda Elementary won't open because the millage failed.

Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business, said trucks did show up Aug. 19, "but because the school was locked, they couldn't unload. They had to wait," he said.

Hoedel said that while the school will be boarded up, "it'll be a nice boarded-up building; it's a beautiful school. And it will open next year."

Schlenke said the schools "definitely are not going to be open. Actually, we're going to start boarding up doors and windows.

If trucks were there at midnight "it shouldn't have happened," he said. "But guys come in from North Carolina and other places; they drive all day to get up here, find the job site and typically find a truck stop somewhere. They come back the next day to unload. I'm sure no one was there in middle of night unloading things. The alarm is set and the school is locked up at 3:30."

"There's no way for anyone to get into the school. There's an alarm system, so the police would have been there."

Schlenke said Barton Malow will be reusing wood to board up school entrances.

"On the windows we will put some opaque brown paper. It will still let sunlight through, but it will retard mold growth inside the classrooms."

nitely using it as a gathering point or a hangout."

Cheryl Caincross is another disgruntled Franklin-Palmer subdivision resident.

"As the school stands, it's a real pain," she said. "It's attracting too many teenagers at night. Also, they're getting deliveries there after hours. I realize they're saying that isn't happening, but what they're saying is very inaccurate. I just feel if it's not going to open, they need to level it. It's already been vandalized, and most of us in the sub have small kids," Caincross added.

Jerry Puroll said he called Canton police the evening July 28 when he noticed the boiler room door at Tonda was wide open.

"If it's going to sit vacant, they should tear the damn thing down and put a cornfield back there," he said. "There's no sense having a vacant building. That will do nothing but attract trouble."

Salem graduate helps to update image of State Fair

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

New billboards touting the Michigan State Fair proclaim, "The Wildest Ride Ever."

And "wild" is a good way to describe the new publicity campaign to promote the 1993 fair, now through Sept. 6.

It was put together by a two-woman free-lance ad team — graphic designer and Plymouth-Salem High grad Jeannine Caesar and Farmington Hills copy writer Nancy Wellinger.

Their mission is to make the fair seem hip to young people who've probably viewed the annual event as dull.

Fair organizers have added sports activities, new music groups and a "video wall" to draw the young. Caesar and Wellinger's job is to tell metro Detroit about those changes, and update the fair's image.

"Some see it as very country, not hip and cool," said Caesar, 32, a former Plymouth resident.

"There was a much-needed funk-up," said Wellinger, 37, of Farmington Hills.

The two, working out of Caesar's Royal Oak house, have come up with billboard slogans including "Play more sports than Bo Jackson," "Watch a mother have a cow," "Attend more concerts than a Dead Head," and "Live like the Cartwrights on Bonanza."

The official 1993 Michigan State Fair T-shirt displays the word "wild" on the front. Letters are made up of drawings of a roller coaster, a ball and bat, cotton candy on a cone, and a rabbit with pointed ears — all in vivid color.

"We want to show it as more of a party and less of an ode to the country life in Michigan," Wellinger said.

Still, they refer to livestock in their ad materials, because getting to see these animals is a unique experience in the city, they say, and therefore a good reason to go.

Caesar, an alumnus of Detroit ad agency W.B. Doner, had worked earlier with Carol Marvin, publicity director for the fair, on a promotion of Trappers Alley.

In approaching Caesar about doing promotion for the state fair, "Carol wanted to hip it up," Caesar said.

Marvin is pleased with the results, saying, "They're doing a really great job."

In a promotional brochure titled "10 Reasons this year's State Fair will be the wildest ride ever," reason No. 2 reads, "We encourage you to sneak into concerts without paying," as all concerts are free with a fair ticket.

Reason No. 5 states, "Secretly, you're dying to dive into a pool of chocolate pudding," adding that this is possible when the Nickelodeon television channel films its show "Wild & Crazy Kids" at the fair.

Watch a mother have a cow.

MICHIGAN STATE FAIR August 27 - September 6

New look: Billboard slogans reflect this year's hipper approach to publicizing the fair.

Attractions this year get hipper and sportier

Hipper music acts and a variety of sports activities top the list of featured attractions at this year's Michigan State Fair.

The fair runs through Sept. 6 at the state fairgrounds at Woodward just south of Eight Mile Road in Detroit.

Evening concerts include Ska Fest '93 on Friday, featuring Bim Skala Bim and seven other bands playing reggae sounds, Chaka Khan on Saturday, rap star Kris Kross on Sunday and country star Lorrie Morgan on Monday, Sept. 6.

Jazz, alternative, rhythm and blues, hip hop and Motown bands play each night at the Coliseum Grove stage, and several bands have been rounded up to perform at the country music stage.

There are several sports-related activities for fairgoers. The public is invited to participate in three-on-three basketball and volleyball, hurl themselves against a Velcro wall, scale a climbing wall, try sumo wrestling, join an aerobics class and more.

A $1,200 mountain bike will be given away each day of the fair.

Professional Detroit sports teams the Tigers, Red Wings, Rockers and Drive will have their own days at the fair. Kids can participate in a training camp in which team coaches put them through the paces of the pros and receive free souvenirs.

Also scheduled is Fantasy Day, on which kids have the chance to play sports with members of the Detroit sports teams. On Hero Hotline, kids can ask their favorite players questions on WJR radio.

There will also be exhibitions of in-line skating.

Rotary to begin handicapped equipment exchange program

The Plymouth Rotary Foundation has announced its handicapped equipment exchange program, beginning Sept. 1 through Oct. 31.

The Rotary will solicit equipment in the Plymouth community and distribute it to needy area residents. At the end of the program, undistributed equipment will be turned over to a local charity for distribution through their network, said Jerry Trumpka, chairman of the Plymouth Rotary Service to the Handicapped Committee.

"A lot of equipment is sitting out there collecting dust and it needs to be matched with people who can use it," Trumpka said.

The committee is looking for wheelchairs, crutches, lifts, walkers, scooters and other types of equipment.

Individuals who need equipment or have equipment to donate are asked to contact rotary member Marie Morrow at United Way, 453-6879. The foundation will make receipts available for the fair market value of the donated equipment. Donations are tax deductible.

'A lot of equipment is sitting out there collecting dust and it needs to be matched with people who can use it.'

Four-year-old Daniel Caudill, a Plymouth resident with spina bifida, is the program's poster child. "Daniel is a remarkable young man," Trumpka said. "In the four short years of his life he has been through several surgeries and hours of physical therapy — more than most of us can imagine. Yet, he projects so much joy. He's really inspired a lot of people."

Earlier this year, the Rotary became aware of Daniel and his need for a special wheelchair called a "Starcar." The wheelchair was purchased through the foundation and was delivered to Daniel in July.

Volunteers from the Plymouth Rotary and local churches will be distributing fliers throughout the community to help promote the program. If you and your group would like to get involved please contact Morrow. The foundation is also looking for volunteers to distribute fliers.

"This is a great opportunity to help our neighbors," Trumpka said. "Plymouth is a unique place where people still reach out to one another. I have no doubt that the united community spirit found here will make this program a huge success."

Mayflower Hotel acts as police barracks for officers in training

BY DIANE GALE
STAFF WRITER

The Mayflower Hotel had a major run-in with the police recently. And it's all good news.

Three officers stayed in the downtown Plymouth landmark while they attended the Wayne County Regional Police Academy at the Schoolcraft College Radcliff Center in Garden City.

John Vinson of Southfield was hired as a police officer by the City of Battle Creek and Michael Rozema, of Grand Rapids, was hired by the Grand Rapids Police Department.

During the past 13 weeks they woke at 5:30 a.m. and attended classes until 5:30 p.m. Some nights and weekends were included, too. Both men received state certification on Friday and plan to begin work today as police officers.

"You can't really practice until you complete training and pass (state certification)," said Vinson, who stayed at the hotel to escape the noise of brothers and sisters in his suburban Detroit home.

"When you go through something like this you need to concentrate," he said. "It's pretty hard when you have six or seven young ones running around."

Another officer in training, Emilio Trejo of the Muskegon police department, stayed at the hotel for the past three months.

Why did they stay at the Mayflower?

Officers in each of the police departments called hotels in the area to see what was available.

Apparently the Mayflower offered the best rate, free breakfast and "it's a real nice place to be," Rozema said.

Neither Rozema or Vinson had ever been to the Mayflower before, or to Plymouth for that matter.

"If I'm around, I'd like to come back," Rozema said. "I like this town and it's clean."

"Except for the cruisers," he said pausing and then laughing.

Vinson added: "The staff here at the hotel was great."

ARTHRITIS & FATIGUE

Arthritis drags you down. It impairs your stride and causes strain when you arise from a chair or commode and when, with difficulty, you get in and out of a car. You have few strategies to overcome your joint limitations. Exercising to "strengthen" joints is never a consideration. There is no conditioning that can improve the stamina of a joint just as there is no way to ride a tire so that piling up miles on the road will increase the tread. The effect of arthritis on sleep compounds the feeling of fatigue. Resting is important, but the irony is that arthritic joints need frequent movement, otherwise they stiffen and ache. During sleep your body responds to this need. Unfortunately, when you have arthritis, such moves irritates pain penetrating enough to awaken you. Sleep so interrupted does not readily return. You are denied the restoring rest that is the body's first defense against undue fatigue. The physician's response is not to order further blood tests or more x-ray procedures in search of a reason for your exhaustion. Instead, he will review how you might obtain additional rest or change treatment without substantial risk. An unrecognized chronic fatigue syndrome does not bring on arthritis, rather it is the arthritis itself that causes continuing fatigue.

Area residents called on to march over 'Big Mac'

By RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Livonia resident Lucille Thielen and Westland resident Stuart Adams have been chosen to represent Wayne County in the annual Labor Day trek across the Mackinac Bridge.

Thielen, 64, and Adams, 69, are members of the Livonia walking club and sport badges declaring them to be "Wise Ould Walkers."

The group of 60 mostly senior citizens meet several times a month to set out on their regular jaunts through area parks and malls.

"You don't have to be wise," Thielen said. "You can walk and not have to say boo if you want to."

This dynamic duo will be driven to Mackinac on Saturday, Sept. 4, and stay two nights in a hotel, compliments of Wayne County Parks. Monday morning they'll ride the ferry to St. Ignace, then stretch their legs on the five-mile walk back astern of Gov. John Engler.

"We're going to be right behind him," Thielen said.

The winners were chosen from among hundreds of entries collected by Wayne County Parks officials. "Every time you walk, you sign a card and they put that in a bowl and they just draw them out," Adams explained.

The whole deal is part of the Walk Michigan program, in which walks are scheduled around the state all year. The Wayne County Parks system sponsored 54 Walk Michigan events from August 1992 to July 1993. More than 700 Walk Michigan participants walked nearly 1,500 miles in that time.

Livonia resident Lucille Thielen (at left) and Westland resident Stuart Adams have been chosen to represent Wayne County at the Labor Day Mackinac Bridge walk Sept. 6.

"I was very surprised and appreciative to win," Thielen said. "I've been trying since 1988." Meanwhile, Adams said he felt "marvelous" about winning. "It was great to win for doing something I enjoy."

Thielen and Adams will be among 250 Walk Michigan winners from 85 parks and recreation departments throughout the state.

The next Walk Michigan events are scheduled for 9 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 11, at Nankin Mills; 6 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 14, at Nankin Mills; 9 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 18, at the Warrendale picnic area; and 6 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 23, at the Wilcox area.

Walkers in these events may enter the contest to win a trip for two to Mackinac for next year's bridge walk. For additional data, call 261-1990.

SC secretaries get tentative contract

By RALPH R. ECHTINAW

Schoolcraft College has reached tentative agreement with a secretaries union that has been without a contract since June 30, 1992.

The 56 members of the Schoolcraft College Association of Office Personnel are expected to ratify the agreement Sept. 9. "I think our members will be pleased," said former union president Belinda Eleson. "I'm optimistic that it will be passed."

Board of trustees chairman Steve Ragan said, "I'm sure the board will accept it also" at the Sept. 22 meeting.

Terms of the contract won't be disclosed until everybody ratifies it, but the agreement is expected to be of three years duration with pay increases, expiring June 30, 1995.

The last union Schoolcraft settled with got raises of 5 percent, 4 1/2 percent and 4 percent over three years. Schoolcraft officials usually give each union about the same pay increases.

The annual salaries of the secretaries range from $20,700 to $27,300. Assuming the first pay raise to be 5 percent, a secretary atop the scale would get about $1,600 in retroactive pay, then an additional $26 per week.

Ragan called the tentative agreement "very generous" on Schoolcraft's part, adding, "I think our secretaries are compensated extremely well."

Oddly enough, the secretaries union had contacted the Observer in the first week of August to solicit a story on how negotiations had stopped. "Things have gotten stagnant," Eleson said at the time.

Negotiations had assumed an "adversarial" nature, said union president Diane Greenwell.

Indeed, state and federal mediators had attended some of the sessions. And the union filed a complaint with the National Labor Relations Board. Schoolcraft officials, Greenwell said, "don't like the public to know that bad things are going on."

Grant offers birth-control implant funds

Planned Parenthood of Mid-Michigan received a grant to help poor women get Norplant, the birth control implant that is effective for up to five years.

The Michigan Department of Public Health is granting a subsidy to help low-income women and students receive financial assistance if they wish to use this method of contraception.

Because of Norplant's high initial cost, it has been used by few women who lack health insurance. Medicaid recipients are already eligible for this method. Now many other women may qualify to receive Norplant and pay for it on a sliding fee scale.

Norplant consists of six thin capsules the size of cardboard match sticks that are inserted under local anesthesia into a woman's upper arm. A low dosage of the hormone progestin is slowly released to prevent conception for five years. Because Norplant is not a barrier contraceptive, it does not provide protection against sexually transmitted diseases, such as HIV, which causes AIDS.

For additional information or to schedule an appointment, call 973-0155 in Ann Arbor, 485-0144 in Ypsilanti or (517) 482-1500 in Lansing.

U-M offers empowerment series for people with diabetes

The University of Michigan Diabetes Research and Training Center is offering a program entitled "Empowerment: The Path of Personal Self-Care" for persons with diabetes.

The program is being offered as part of a research study to determine the effects of six support group sessions on the control of diabetes and beliefs about the ability to manage it on a daily basis.

Topics are goal setting, problem solving, coping with diabetes, coping with stress, support, and motivation. In addition to the support group sessions, the participants will receive two to three glycated hemoglobin blood tests. Because this is a research study, the program and lab work are offered to participants at no cost.

Participants will be required to fill out questionnaires at the beginning, the end, and two months after completion of the program.

The program will be offered on six successive Wednesday evenings, from 7-9 p.m., at the University of Michigan Hospital during the fall of 1993. Persons with diabetes wishing to know more about the program are invited to attend an orientation session scheduled 7-9 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 1, in classroom 2C108 (across from the University Hospital Gift Shop) and repeated again 7-9 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 7, in dining room C/D of the University Hospital cafeteria. To register for the orientation call 1-800-438-1710 and indicate that you are calling about the "Empowerment Research Study" or call 763-1153.

Ready to start new year, SC hires more teachers

Six new full-time teachers were hired by Schoolcraft College and introduced to the board of trustees Wednesday.

Five of the six are moving up from part-time status. "And the students love them all," said college spokeswoman Sandra "Sam" Florek.

English teacher Mary Alice Diehr will be teaching at the Livonia campus and at Radcliff Center in Garden City. Her teaching experience includes two years at Eastern Michigan University, plus teaching at Henry Ford, Jackson and Washtenaw community colleges, Jordan College, Wayne State University and the University of Detroit.

Diehr has a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan and a master's from EMU, and she's working on her doctorate.

Metallurgy teacher Charles Gibbons, a part-time Schoolcraft teacher for 17 years, was also welcomed into the full-time ranks. He began his career in 1965 as a metallurgical laboratory assistant for the Detroit Steel Products Division. His most recent jobs were as staff engineer for Ford Motor Co. and field engineer for Hoegaens Corp. Gibbons said that Schoolcraft's metallurgy lab is the most advanced lab of its type in Michigan.

Biology teacher Michael Orick, a part-time Schoolcraft teacher since 1991, has moved up to full-time. Orick previously taught at Madonna University, the University of Michigan-Dearborn, and Henry Ford and Washtenaw community colleges.

Orick got his bachelor's from U-M-Dearborn and his master's from EMU, where he also received an award for his thesis called "Genetic Diversity of Iris Lacushias."

Robert Schaden, Schoolcraft's campus minister since 1973 and part-time teacher since 1986, joins the full-time faculty as a teacher of philosophy and psychology.

"The best thing about teaching philosophy is it helps people to learn why and how they think about things," Schaden said. "Psychology helps them learn about their lives and relating to others."

Schaden is also a Moral Perspectives columnist for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Master Chef Leopold Schaeffl will be teaching full-time in Schoolcraft's culinary arts program. He began his career at age 16 as a culinary apprentice in Switzerland. In 1952, Schaeffl became the youngest chef to be accepted into the Zurich Chef de Cuisine in Switzerland. After coming to this country, he cooked at the Machus Red Fox Restaurant for 18 years.

More recently he worked at Jim's Garage in Detroit and the Drawbridge Restaurant in Northville as general manager, executive chef and co-owner of each.

Jody Scheller is the only one of the new full-timers who wasn't already a Schoolcraft part-timer. She'll be teaching in the medical record technology program. Scheller was employed at Providence Hospital as the director of medical record services. Before that, she taught for seven years at Mercy College of Detroit. She got her bachelor's and master's degrees in the medical record and health services areas at Mercy.

Take The Next Step At Wayne State University...

If you are ready to take that next step toward earning your four-year degree, we are ready for you.

Last year approximately 5,000 students transferred to WSU from some 500 community colleges and four-year schools across the country. They are taking classes at our main campus in the University Cultural Center in Detroit or on one of our satellite campuses while others go to our University Center at Macomb Community College.

Some of the reasons students come to Wayne State:

- Strength of our academic programs — international reputation
- Cost — the only Michigan public university with a negative increase in tuition costs over the past decade based on inflation
- Financial aid — During 1991-92 WSU awarded $50 million in aid to students

So go ahead and take the next step. Simply clip and mail the attached coupon and we will send you more information about transferring to Wayne State.

"They had called a friend of mine about her girls and asked if she knew anyone with boys," she said.

Jason and Jonathan were asked to audition for the television show, which re-enacts emergencies and rescues involving police, fire and ambulance personnel.

"The show is basically about heroism and the different people — police, fire and emergency and regular people — who go above and beyond the call of duty," said Kevin Shukar, coordinator of Jason and Jonathan's segment. "In this case it was Wyatt's neighbor who was the hero."

Friday, Aug. 13 brought good luck to the Fryes. That was the boys' audition day. They didn't have to read script but they did answer questions, such as what they did on their summer vacation.

"I told them we got a hot tub," Jason said.

Frye said she wasn't surprised the boys got the job — especially after seeing Wyatt whom the boys played. "They look alike," Frye said, adding her sons' hair was darkened to match Wyatt's.

Jonathan explained that his brother, Jason, showed the director and crew at the audition that he could pretend to be sick.

"I had to lay on the ground with a fake leg on. My real leg was in the ground (in a hole)," Jason said.

When the three-day shoot began in Toledo, Jason and Jonathan took turns playing Wyatt. "They used a stuntman," said Jonathan, referring to re-enacting the ATV flying off an embankment.

In fact, that stuntman — named Bobby — had Jason and Jonathan in awe. And not just because he was the stuntman. It didn't take either one long to realize just who they were working with: the actor who plays Stink on the Land of the Lost television show.

Jason's work involved lying on the ground with a severed leg, as well as being put in an ambulance.

"It was totally re-enacted by the real people (in the real emergency) except for the boy (Wyatt)," Frye said.

Jonathan played the role in the hospital's operating room. "They used fake blood," he said.

And on the last day of shooting, both boys played Wyatt, with whom Jason and Jonathan had dinner one evening during the shoot.

Shukar said participants in emergencies that are re-enacted for "Rescue 911" have the choice to play themselves. "Sometimes it's too traumatic for them. And with kids we almost virtually always cast actors," he said.

Frye and her husband, Dave, took turns being with the boys while shooting. "I was very surprised how slow the whole process is. Scenes are taken over and over," Dave Frye said.

Their mother said Jason and Jonathan were treated like princes and got to take home the clothes — cut-off Wranglers — used in the "Rescue 911" scenes.

"I would love to do more," Jason said, referring to their budding acting careers.

Three times before, Jason and Jonathan had been asked to act in shows. "But we didn't pursue it," Maureen Frye said.

But as far as their parents are concerned, a future in acting is up to Jason and Jonathan. "I think it's real neat for them. I want what they want. But I don't want it to ruin them," Maureen Frye said.

asked to give up their pay raise, teachers said they wanted some assurance that savings will be used to rehire laid-off teachers or to lower class size.

Lowering class size — which averages 30 in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools — is an issue, paramount with a newly formed committee of parents headed by Sue Feiten and Judy Mardigian. The committee would like to see part of the $2 million go toward lowering class size in the elementary grades.

"Teachers will hear what's taken place on Monday," said Portelli. "Our constitutional bylaws are what I need to follow. That calls for them to have, for 48 hours, in their hands, any tentative agreement, if there is one. At this point, I don't have one," Portelli said late Friday.

Negotiators for the teachers were set to meet with Superintendent John Hoben following their Monday morning meeting.

Voting could be held Wednesday and Thursday, with a count available by the end of Thursday.

Vote possible

A vote at today's membership meeting was technically possible, if the PCEA bylaws were suspended.

"The MEA (Michigan Education Association) is telling me, 'Yes, it can be done,' but we run the risk of having someone challenge the suspension of rules," he said. "This is too important for my teachers to end up in court fighting over constitutional bylaws."

Portelli said he's unsure where his membership stands on the issue.

Board treasurer Dave Artley declined to be specific about the progress of negotiations, but said rehiring pink-slipped teachers is not a stumbling block.

Teachers would be hired

"If teachers conceptually agree to give back wages, then obviously we will reinvest that in teachers," Artley said. "Teachers and the board are of the common belief that if there is in fact a giveback, there will be some sort of net dollars that would go to bringing back teachers. That can be counselors, librarians . . . It would be inappropriate to say the number."

Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business, and Hoben have agreed to pay freezes. Other administrators reportedly are agreeing to give back 2 or 3 percent, if the teachers give back their raises and other conditions are met.

Hoedel said he's optimistic the coalition's plan can work.

"I'm always optimistic," he said. "Hopefully, it will come about. I'm a strong supporter of extracurriculars. If you look at the end result for students, that's what we're here for."

Plymouth-Canton teachers aren't alone in being asked to accept freezes. West Bloomfield teachers, who count Plymouth-Canton board member Carl Battishill among their ranks, voted on a pay freeze last week. They ratified an agreement that calls for a deferral until January of their pay hike. West Bloomfield teachers also agreed to a 3-percent raise instead of the initially agreed-to 5.9 percent.

Portelli and Cotner say the focus shouldn't be on teachers in the first place, especially given the fact that the community defeated millage increases in June and August.

"We just watched two votes go down," said Portelli. "We watched the populace of Plymouth-Canton say it wasn't going to fund 4 mills. Teachers are being blamed for what's being done, and it is not teachers' fault."

"We are being asked to be on a team and to help the district" without being given the tools, he added. "We're the third wheel on a two-wheel bike."

More thought should be given to what this is doing to the educational program, and to the quality of student-teacher relationships, he said.

"What is going to happen to those relationships, and to parent-teacher relationships?" asked Portelli.

"The whole focus is wrong here," said Cotner. "We will do what we can to work things out, but we are not the ones that caused this problem."

Meteor shower fizzles here, sizzles in Europe

RAYMOND E. BULLOCK

SKY WATCH
To quote from the American Heritage Dictionary: "aham - Something false or empty purporting to be genuine." Add to that definition: "The 1993 Perseid meteor shower."

To say that the Perseid shower was disappointing is an understatement. For a meteor shower that is, on average, one of the best of the year (50 meteors per hour), the Perseids left much to be desired; for a shower that had the potential to be even better than average in 1993, the Perseids should be banished to the deepest regions of outer space.

I personally saw a whopping two meteors in a 15-minute period, and one of those appeared to be not a Perseid but a Lyrid meteor. Another observer reported seeing only 11 in 90 minutes. However, European observers saw a nice display.

This is what "Sky & Telescope's" on-line news bulletin reported:

"One of the best meteor showers in years struck the Earth on the night of Aug. 11. Even so, the Perseids confounded and disappointed millions of eager viewers by producing no 'meteor storm' anywhere in the world. Astronomers had forecast a great display following the return last December of the shower's source, Comet Swift-Tuttle."

Worldwide media attention turned "Perseid night" into the most awaited night-sky event since Comet Halley in 1986. NASA even postponed a Space Shuttle mission to avoid endangering the astronauts.

"While much of the public dubbed it a dud, the Perseid shower was in fact much richer than average. Moreover, observer reports received here say it contained an unusually high proportion of very bright meteors. The display got off to a slow start... when the Earth crossed the comet's orbit plane, the rate picked up for observers in Europe. Meteors were coming much faster... as dawn began to break over France, where the zenithal hourly rate may have surpassed 300.

"Here in North America, observers across the United States typically saw 60 to 110 per hour under conditions that probably translated to a zenithal hourly rate of a couple hundred or so. But many regions were clouded out." (Sky & Telescope magazine is available at bookstores or from Sky Publishing, P.O. Box 9111, Belmont, Mass. 02178.)

This "zenithal hourly rate" is not what one would actually see, mind you. The "Observer's Handbook," published by the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, defines the ZHR as "the number of meteors a single experienced observer would see (from a shower with a radiant directly overhead) in a dark sky location under exceptional conditions where plus-6.5 magnitude stars are visible."

Well, sounds like the far side of the moon would be a great location; however that is a bit remote, so one might have to settle for the rarefied atmosphere on top of a terrestrial mountain. Alas, southeastern Michigan is not noted for its towering peaks, in spite of the number of "heights" we have around here (Sterling, Madison and Dearborn).

The sky in the northern suburbs developed a light haze shortly after midnight which, unfortunately, was the prime observing time, so skywatchers who went Perseid hunting earlier in the evening had better viewing conditions. Oh, well; one can hope for a better display from the Geminids in December.

Meanwhile, four of the five naked eye planets will be visible the first part of September. Venus will continue to dazzle the eye in the predawn sky; Mars and Jupiter will be seen in the west at dusk, although not for long, and Saturn will be visible all night.

The moon, just past full phase, will be rising in the east shortly after sunset on Sept. 1. Notice the "star" 26 degrees to the right of the moon; this will be the planet Saturn.

Saturn will rise in the east southeast at 7:38 p.m. (which is 33 minutes before sunset) and will set at 6 a.m. (about an hour before sunrise) the following morning. This means the planet will be visible all night, skimming low across the sky in the constellation of Capricornus.

Meanwhile, look toward the west southwest on the same evening and you will see Mars, Jupiter and Spica. Jupiter will be the brightest of the three. Nine degrees to the left of Jupiter will be Spica, the brightest star in the constellation of Virgo; two degrees below and to the right of Jupiter will be Mars, the fainter of the three. (Binoculars will help you spot Mars.) In one week, Mars will slip less than one degree below Jupiter, but the conjunction (grouping) will be difficult to see because of interference from the glow of evening twilight.

Venus will be found 12 degrees above the eastern horizon on the morning of the 2nd. Notice the star 15 degrees above Venus; this will be Pollux, one of the "twin" stars in Gemini. His "brother,"

Castor, will be seen five degrees higher.

Mars will be within one degree of Jupiter for three nights, beginning Sept. 4. Their closest approach will be 0.8 degree on Sunday, the 5th. Is there a risk of "worlds in collision"? No, the planets are millions of kilometers apart. A conjunction makes for an attractive grouping and nothing more.

Look toward the east, 45 minutes before sunrise on Sept. 6, and try to spot Regulus, the "heart" of Leo the lion. Regulus will be 18 degrees below bright Venus, but only four degrees above the horizon. Venus will pass one-half of a degree to the left of Regulus in two weeks.

The moon will be approaching the Pleiades star cluster on the morning of the 7th. Use binoculars to observe this tiny "dipper," above and to the left of the moon. The Pleiades marks the "shoulder" of Taurus the bull.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Chef answers reader requests for recipes

Most of us tend to lay low in the kitchen during the dog days of summer. But if reader requests are any indication, you can stand the heat!

Before I get down to answering questions, a few words on some summer vacation finds up north. Put Pete & Mickey's Restaurant in Charlevoix, and Sleder's Tavern in Old Town Traverse City on your list of stops. You won't be disappointed.

Toni Mattier of West Bloomfield requested a recipe for chowchow, a tasty pickle relish that's a favorite "Down South." Fresh from the pages of the hot-selling new cookbook "Salsas, Sambals, Chutneys & Chowchows," by Chris Schlesinger and John Willoughby (William Morrow Publishers) is this tasty repast.

GREEN CABBAGE-CORN CHOWCHOW

1 cup diced green cabbage
Kernels from 3 ears of corn, uncooked
1 red bell pepper, diced
1 green pepper, diced
1 red onion, diced
½ cup diced celery
5 whole cloves
2 cups cider vinegar
¼ cup sugar
Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

Prepare all the vegetables as described and place them in a large mixing bowl. Set aside. Combine the cloves, vinegar, sugar, salt and pepper in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Pour this mixture over the vegetables and mix well.

Allow to stand until mixture is at room temperature, then cover and refrigerate. This will keep covered and refrigerated for about 3 weeks. Makes 4 cups.

Chef's note: I made this and substituted pickling cucumbers for the cabbage with great results.

Nancy Borheis of Wayne left a message that she saw me on a recent "Company" segment on Channel 7 and was hoping I could locate a recipe similar to Chili's honey lime salad dressing.

Well, Nancy, this might not be Chili's original, but I think it comes mighty close!

HONEY LIME SALAD DRESSING

½ cup honey
½ cup freshly squeezed lime juice
Pinch of ground ginger
Salt and freshly ground white pepper to taste

Combine all ingredients and mix well. This recipe is great over a cool summer fruit salad or simply tossed lightly with a few greens and sprouts.

Mark Budington of Farmington said he wanted to try momma's method of soaking ribs in vinegar before grilling, but was curious as to how long you should soak the ribs before cooking. Momma reports that a minimum soak of four hours is best, but adds they can be soaked overnight for a more tangy flavor.

Cathy Law of Farmington was searching for a recipe for dills made in a clay pot, also called brine cured dills.

Investing a week or two in curing cucumbers before packing them results in superior eating. However, be sure to make a chart and do the daily care religiously, because even one missed day will spoil the whole batch. Good luck Cathy!

BRINE-CURED WHOLE SWEET PICKLES

1 gallon small pickling cucumbers
Boiling water
½ cup canning/pickling salt
1½ gallons water
4 cups 5-percent acid strength vinegar
1 cup water
8 cups sugar
¼ cup mixed pickling spices

Wash cucumbers. Set aside. Wash and scald a 2 gallon crock and a heavy plate to cover crock. Place cucumbers in crock, cover them with boiling water, top with the plate and cover with a towel. Count this as day 1.

On the next 5 days, drain the water, remove cucumbers, wash and scald crock and plate, rinse cucumbers, cover with boiling water, add plate and cover with a towel.

On the 7th day, make a brine by dissolving salt and 1½ gallons of water. Drain cucumbers, wash and scald crock and plate, rinse cucumbers, return to crock and cover with brine and plate. Cover with a towel.

On the 8th day, drain cucumbers. Pierce each in several places with a fork to prevent shriveling. Combine vinegar, 1 cup water, sugar and spices (tied in a cheesecloth bag) in a 4-quart kettle. Boil 20 minutes.

Remove bag of spices. Pack cucumbers into 8 sterilized hot pint jars. Cover with syrup, wipe rim and adjust lids. Process in a boiling water bath for 5 minutes. Remove jars and complete seals. Makes 8 pints.

■ Twenty years ago, a group of people living in a Troy subdivision got together for a picnic. Now it's an annual event that draws 170 families.

BY SANDRA DALKA-PRYSBY
SPECIAL WRITER

Every year, just before Labor Day, families in the Wendover Woods Subdivision in Troy host a neighborhood picnic to say farewell to summer and hello to their neighbors.

"Like the Sunday church picnics of the past, this event features good food, family games and neighborly camaraderie. It's something everyone looks forward to and something everyone who attends enjoys," said Jan Everson who has lived in the subdivision for 17 years.

The picnic began more than 20 years ago as a street party with a few residents. In 1990, it grew to include a number of streets and more than 170 homes in the Big Beaver-Beach Road area of Troy. "Now, because of the large number of attendees, it's held at Beachwood Swim Club just east of the neighborhood," Everson said.

"This is a wonderful activity for my whole family," said Denise Lance, a 14-year resident. "I grew up in the city, and there weren't any opportunities like this to get to know the neighbors. Also, I have few good memories of the neighborhood where I was raised. These picnics will allow my kids to have happy childhood memories."

Lance's three children, Jeff, 10; Rachel, 9; and Kevin, 5, agree that the event is "really great." They said they like the kid games and bike parade led by a Troy fire truck (borrowed for the event by a neighborhood volunteer fireman).

"But my most favorite thing about the picnic is the food," said Rachel. "There's an unlimited supply of lots of good food."

Every family attending brings a dish to pass. And, according to Everson, some dishes are so good that they are requested year after year. Her Grandma Mitchell's Old Fashioned Sugar Cookies are a favorite each year.

"My grandmother taught me how to make them, and I have been baking these cookies since I was a teenager. They've become a tradition at the picnic."

Julie Holtgreive, one of the newer residents of the neighborhood, said that she chose to bring her Picnic Potato Salad, which is popular with her family. Holtgreive, who has lived in Wendover Woods for two years, was in charge of the children's games for the picnic and served on the committee last year.

"One of the best things about our picnic is that it gives the children an opportunity to meet and get to know who the neighbors are," said the mother of two. "This makes me feel that children are safe when I send them out to play."

Another advantage, according to

Sweet corn: Bicolor corn, a mixture of white and yellow kernels, is sweet and tender when it comes to market.

Sweet bicolor corn tasty without butter

BY JOAN BORAM
SPECIAL WRITER

Strictly speaking, not only is corn not a vegetable, it isn't even corn. "Corn" is a generic European term for grain, and the grain we call corn is really maize.

Corn (maize) was developed by Native Americans from a wild grass that grew in the southern Mexican highlands. The plant they developed (zea mays) was adaptable to many kinds of soils and conditions. Different dialects and languages gave the plant different names, but they all had the same meaning: "our life."

Michigan produces more than 100 million ears of sweet corn each year, making it the sixth largest producer in the nation.

Corn is a good source of fiber and vitamins A and B. A single ear contains 200 milligrams of potassium and about 70 calories unless you slather butter on it. Just two pats of butter add 90 calories.

In 1992, Nino Salvaggio, owner of Nino Salvaggio's Strawberry Hills in Farmington Hills, was invited to address the Michigan Corn Board to detail the kind of corn consumers prefer.

"Our customers want a full, large ear of sweet corn," Salvaggio said. "Over the past five years or so, Michigan customers have come to prefer bicolor corn, which is so sweet that it doesn't even need butter."

"There are 20 or so specialty produce stores in the area, and we've educated our customers to appreciate bicolor corn. It costs a little more because it's delicate and more difficult to harvest, and the seed costs the farmer more, but it's worth it because of its sweetness."

David Ruhlig grows 250 acres of bicolor corn on his farm in Carleton, which is in Michigan near the Ohio border. He switched from yellow and white corn about five years ago.

"The first bicolor corn was an accident," said Ruhlig. "White and yellow corn growing close by cross-pollinated, producing bicolor. When the hybridists took over, they took the best genes from the white and yellow, producing the ear that consumers enjoy today."

"Not too many years ago, people would buy Michigan corn on the Fourth of July, and if it was tough, they wouldn't buy Michigan corn again that season. But the sugar-enhanced hybrids have much higher sugar contents, as well as a longer shelf life, guaranteeing that yellow as well as bicolor corn is sweet and tender when it comes to market."

"The whole idea is to grow corn and sell it," said Ruhlig. "These hybrids assure that Michigan corn is sweet and tender from the first ear in July to the last ear in October."

Native Americans learned that corn grew best when they planted four kernels in a hill, often "planting" a small fish under the hill as fertilizer. Sunflowers were interplanted among

Lend an ear for tasty ways to cook corn

See related story on Taste front.

SOUTHWESTERN BAKED CORN

- 1 large onion, finely chopped
- 4 tablespoons melted butter
- 2 peeled green chilies, finely chopped
- 2 cups finely chopped peeled and seeded tomatoes
- 1 tablespoon chili powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 6 ears of corn
- 1 cup grated or shredded Monterey Jack cheese

Saute the onion in butter until just limp. Add the chilies and the tomatoes, and simmer 15 minutes.

Add the seasonings. Cut the corn from the cobs and scrape off all the milk. Add to the tomato-onion mixture, pour into a 1½-quart greased baking dish, and bake about 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Ten minutes before it's done, add the cheese and allow it to melt and brown. (From "James Beard's American Cookery," 1972.)

CORN PUDDING

- 10 ears of corn
- 3 well-beaten eggs
- 1 cup milk
- ½ cup cream
- 1 tablespoon melted butter
- ½ teaspoon salt

- 1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 5 or 6 dashes Tabasco sauce

Shuck, clean and scrape the corn, being certain to scrape the cobs well after removing the corn to get all of the milk. Combine with the beaten eggs, milk, cream, butter and seasonings. Pour the mixture into a 1½-quart baking dish and bake in a 350 degree oven for 45-50 minutes, or until just firm to the touch.

(From "The New James Beard," 1981.)

Combine corn meal, salt, sugar, butter. Pour water over mixture.

Beat in egg. Mix until blended. Drop the batter from a spoon onto a greased baking sheet, or dip your hand in cold water, fill it with batter, reverse the hand, letting the batter sploit onto the sheet.

(The hand method was used by vendors who sold dodgers at the Kentucky Derby.) Bake in a preheated 400 degree oven for about 20 minutes.

TOMATOES FILLED WITH CORN PUDDING

- 8 medium tomatoes
- salt and pepper
- 2 eggs, room temperature
- 2 tablespoon flour
- 2 tablespoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- 1 cup half and half
- 1 cup corn kernels (about 4 medium ears)
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- Minced fresh parsley

Slice tops off tomatoes and discard. Scoop out pulp and seeds. Sprinkle shells with salt and pepper and invert onto paper towels. Drain 20 minutes.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Beat eggs to blend in medium bowl. Mix in flour, sugar and baking powder. Blend in half and half. Stir in corn and butter. Season with salt and pepper. Spoon into tomatoes. Arrange in oiled muffin tin. Bake until custard is puffed, lightly browned and firm to touch, about 45 minutes. Garnish with parsley and serve immediately.

CORN OYSTERS

- 2 egg yolks
- 2 cups fresh corn kernels
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ cup flour
- 3 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Add the beaten egg yolks to the grated corn. Add salt and pepper. Mix in flour and fold in the well-beaten egg whites carefully. Do not stir any more than necessary to blend. Drop onto a well-greased hot skillet in globs the size of an oyster. Brown both sides and serve at once. Makes 12. A nice side dish with cold meat.

(An old Shaker recipe.)

CORN DODGERS

- 1 cup corn meal
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoons sugar
- 1 to 2½ tablespoons butter
- 1 to 1½ cups boiling water
- 1 beaten egg

How to pick, store corn

Even though the new hybrids have given corn a longer shelf life, it's still best to take it right home and cook it. Choose fresh-looking ears with green husks, moist stems and silk that is amber of golden, never black or dry looking. Kernels should be plump and full of juice when pierced with a thumbnail. Do not husk corn at the market; you lose in flavor what you gain in house-keeping. If necessary, store corn in the refrigerator in the natural husk, wrapped in damp paper towels. Here are some ways to cook corn. Leave it in the husk and bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 30 minutes, or until tender. Remove the husk and serve. Barbecue corn in the husk over hot coals or on a wire rack in a covered grill for about 20 minutes, or until tender. Put in a shallow pan of cold water. When the water reaches a rolling boil, remove corn at once. Steam corn for 6 to 8 minutes. To microwave corn: To microwave in the husk, peel husk back and remove silk, then replace husk to enclose kernels completely. Secure ends with string or wrap husked corn individually in plastic wrap. If microwaving only one ear, place in center of oven. Place 2 ears side by side; 3 in a triangle, 4 in a square; 5 in a line of 4 with one at the top. Microwave on high for 3-4 minutes per ear. Turn ears halfway through cooking. Let stand for 2-3 minutes. Kernels should be tender when pierced.

Holtgrieve, is that it gives the children an opportunity to meet and get to know who the neighbors are," said the mother of two. "This makes me feel that children are safe when I send them out to play." Another advantage, according to Holtgrieve, is that the picnic and other neighborhood gatherings provide us with substitute extended family members. "Our children get 'aunts' and 'uncles,' and we get 'brothers' and 'sisters.' This is helpful because many of us moved here from other parts of the country. These gatherings allow us to feel like we are part of a large family. That's what a neighborhood should be."

Many months of work and the efforts of numerous residents are required for the picnic to be a success. This year's event was chaired by Barbara Czerniewski and Tracie Reihm-VanDusen, who reported that the time and effort were worth it. The co-chairwomen said the event helps maintain the neighborhood's strong cohesiveness and makes everyone feel at home. The above "good neighbors" wanted to share their picnic recipes with our readers. You may wish to serve them as you say farewell to summer during the upcoming Labor Day weekend.

the cornstalks, which were three feet apart.

Other vegetables were grown in the same field: pumpkins and melons grew along the ground, and beans and peas used cornstalks as poles.

To appreciate the Native American's sophisticated pattern of agriculture, consider that in Europe, farmers still planted field crops by scattering the seed on the ground, hoping some of it would grow.

Native Americans developed many ways to eat corn — boiled and eaten off the cob; pones, ashcakes and corncakes from corn meal; misickquatash (succotash), corn and lima beans cooked together; rock-ahominy (grits); and nasaump (somp), which colonists served for breakfast and supper.

Many of corn recipes in modern cookbooks are based on these early recipes with other ingredients added for flavor.

"Indian corn" (which wasn't "Indian" either) was tough, and lacked the sugar content of today's product. Sweet corn first appeared in the mid-1800s, but the major advances in its evolution have been within the past few years with the development of "sweet gene" corn hybrids. These hybrids keep their sweetness for several days unlike earlier sweet corn, whose sugar began turning to starch within minutes of picking. See recipes inside.

- 1 pound spicy Italian sausage
- 1 green pepper, finely chopped
- 1 onion, finely chopped
- 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese
- 1 egg yolk

Thaw frozen bread. Roll out to 5-inch or 6-inch by 4-inch rectangle (don't roll too thin). Brown sausage and drain well. Sauté green pepper and onion; combine with cooked sausage and spoon onto bread (avoid getting mixture too close to the edges).

Sprinkle cheeses over sausage mixture. Roll up bread into a jelly roll, using beaten egg to seal edges. Brush top with egg yolk. Bake at 350 degrees on lower rack for 20 minutes. Move to top rack for 20 minutes. Serve immediately. Submitted by Tracie Reihm-Vandusen.

ORIENTAL COLE SLAW

- 1 small green pepper, finely chopped
- 4-6 green onions (including tops), finely chopped
- 1/2 cup frozen peas, thawed
- 2-3 tablespoons toasted sunflower seeds
- Noodles from a 3 oz. package
- Ramen Chinese noodle soup mix (Oriental or chicken flavor)

Crush Ramen noodles, combine with salad ingredients. Toss with dressing just before serving.

DRESSING

- Pepper, to taste
- Flavor packet from Ramen noodle mix

Combine ingredients to make dressing. Serve on cole slaw. Submitted by Barbara Czerniewski.

PICNIC POTATO SALAD

- 1 onion
- 1/4 cup Italian dressing
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
- 1 stalk celery, chopped
- 1/4 cup imitation bacon bits
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped

Combine potatoes, onion, Italian dressing, pepper. Cover and refrigerate. Mix mayonnaise and Dijon mustard. Just before picnic, toss potatoes with mayonnaise until well-coated. Stir in celery, bacon bits and eggs. Submitted by Julie Holtgreive.

GRANDMA MITCHELL'S OLD-FASHIONED SUGAR COOKIES

- 2 1/2 cups flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 beaten eggs
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 tablespoon milk

Cream together margarine and sugar. Add eggs, salt, baking powder, vanilla and milk; beat well. Gradually add flour. Chill dough. Roll on a well-floured counter. Dough should be about 1/4-inch thick for a soft cookie. Cut into circles or desired shapes.

Place on a greased cookie sheet. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake at 350 F for 10-15 minutes. Cookies are done when light brown on bottom. Submitted by Jan Everson.

SALTED PEANUT CHEWS

- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 salt
- 1/4 soda
- 1/2 cup margarine or butter, softened
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 egg yolks
- 3 cups miniature marshmallows
- 3/4 cup corn syrup
- 1/4 cup margarine or butter
- 2 tsp. vanilla
- 10 oz. package peanut butter chips

Heat oven to 350 F. Lightly spoon flour into measuring cup; level off. In large bowl, combine all crust ingredients except marshmallows until crumb mixture forms. Press in bottom of ungreased 13-inch by 9-inch pan. Bake for 12-15 minutes or until light golden brown. Remove from oven and immediately sprinkle with marshmallows. Return to oven for 1 to 2 minutes or until marshmallows just begin to puff. Cool while preparing topping. In large saucepan, heat corn syrup, margarine, vanilla and peanut butter chips just until chips are melted and mixture is smooth, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat; stir in cereal and nuts. Immediately spoon warm topping over marshmallows and spread to cover. Chill so it will be easier to cut. Submitted by Denise Lance.

LITE SUCCESS

FLORINE MARK

If you enjoy a hearty, All-American breakfast, but don't enjoy worrying about fat and cholesterol, Weight Watchers can help. It's true that a typical, All-American breakfast may not be the healthiest choice for a regular morning meal. But you can learn how to make choices that are both healthy and enjoyable.

Expand your idea of a breakfast menu. Low-fat yogurts and fresh fruit, melted cheese sandwiches, even leftover soups all taste great in the morning. If you enjoy more traditional breakfast foods, try reduced fat and calorie bacon and sausages.

For those who enjoy cooking in the morning, Weight Watchers has developed three scrumptious recipes. Whether you serve a non-traditional Breakfast Pie, Pecan Oatmeal Belgian Waffles or Banana French Toast, you can be sure breakfast will be everyone's favorite meal.

Pour egg substitute into shallow bowl; dip bread in egg substitute, coating both sides and absorbing all liquid.

Spray large non-stick skillet with non-stick cooking spray; over medium heat, cook bread until browned on both sides. Remove to heated platter, cover, and keep warm. In same skillet, quickly cook banana slices until golden on each side.

Place 2 slices bread on each serving plate; top evenly with yogurt mixture, banana slices, and syrup. Makes 2 servings

Each serving (2 slices) provides: 1/2 Milk; 1 Protein; 1 Bread; 1/2 Fruit; 25 Optional Calories on the Weight Watchers Food Plan. Per serving:

239 calories; 12 g protein; 2 g fat; 48 g carbohydrate; 150 mg calcium; 385 mg sodium; 1 mg cholesterol; 2 g dietary fiber.

PECAN OATMEAL BELGIAN WAFFLE

- 3/4 ounce quick-cooking oats
- 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon granulated sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
- Dash salt
- 1 large egg, separated
- 1/4 cup skim milk
- 1/4 ounce shelled pecans, finely chopped

Fresh fruit and confectioners' sugar for garnish (optional)

Spray a non-stick waffle iron with non-stick cooking spray; heat according to manufacturer's directions.

In small bowl, combine oats, flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. In 1-cup measure, whisk together egg yolk, milk, and pecans; stir into oat mixture until just combined (do not beat or overmix). Set aside.

In separate bowl, with electric mixer on high speed, beat egg white until stiff; fold into oat mixture.

Pour batter into preheated waffle iron. Close and bake on high or according to manufacturer's directions, until golden brown, about 4 minutes. Makes 1 serving.

Note: This recipe can be doubled, and freezes well.

Each serving provides: 1/4 Milk; 1 Fat; 1 Protein; 1 Bread; 50 Optional Calories on the Weight Watchers Food Plan. (Add fruit selections as used, plus 10 Optional Calories per 1/2 teaspoon confectioners' sugar.) Per serving: 278 calories; 13 g protein; 12 g fat; 30 g carbohydrate; 221 mg calcium; 440 mg sodium; 214 mg cholesterol; 2 g dietary fiber.

Gourmet gadgets make chores fun

As I write this column, the nutty, mouth-watering aroma of roasting garlic fills the house. I haven't yet decided to what use I will put my soft baked garlic cloves. I have simply taken a fresh whole bulb, cut the top off to expose the cloves, and placed it in a terra cotta baker.

I sprinkled the bulb with salt and pepper and a little thyme, and drizzled it with olive oil. Now it is slowly baking to a butter-like consistency. The garlic baker is the newest entry in an amazing melange of gadgetry that lines the shelves of gourmet kitchen stores. Mine is from Williams-

Sonoma at Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi. The mini baker holds one bulb ($9) and the larger baker holds up to eight ($17.50). Sauces 'n' Tosses in Bloomfield Plaza, 6634 Telegraph, sells a 4-bulb baker for $15.

Baking tempers the pungency of garlic and brings out its sweeter flavor — perfect for spreading on a hunk of hot French bread or adding to your homemade spaghetti sauce.

What else is new in the world of cuisine contrivances? Pizza stones ($19) are hot sellers at Williams-Sonoma as are tortilla makers ($50). The tortilla maker looks like a waffle maker with a flat griddle, and is simple to use, especially if you purchase premixes of corn and flour tortillas.

Clay bakers are enjoying renewed popularity and the 6 1/2 quart size will easily accommodate your Thanksgiving turkey ($75). Just soak the baker in water for 15 minutes and the bird will steam to moist perfection. These versatile bakers also turn out a dynamite loaf of bread. Smaller sizes are $32.50 and $46. The folks at Williams-Sonoma will gladly fill the clay container with spices, oils and cookbooks, creating a unique gift basket.

Gadgets galore

A favorite W-S gadget? The bulbous mushroom-shaped wooden garlic press ($6.50). It's great for arthritics because it fits perfectly in the palm of the hand.

Sauces 'n' Tosses is a veritable toy shop for kitchen gadget lovers. Among the latest inventions are a battery-operated Parmesan cheese grater than can be passed around the table for an instant fresh pasta topping and a handy pineapple corer that works like a corkscrew, easily slicing a fresh pineapple while leaving the shell intact ($12.50).

Have you ever discovered anything that would completely eliminate the odor of onion from your hands? Believe it or not, an amazing new product called NOnion really works ($7.95). It is made from a special metal alloy that reacts with the oil of an onion and lifts it from the surface of the skin. Just rub your hands with the metal bar under cool running water. "Fisherman in Alaska rave," says shop owner Judy Krull, who claims the product works on all stubborn food odors. If you're tired of your two-liter Coke going flat after a few days, try Sodamatic ($5.50). It works like a seltzer dispenser and will preserve your fizz for up to two months.

Moulinex has come out with an electric can opener that lifts lids off at the seal ($39.95). The bladeless design leaves no sharp edges, opens all can sizes and shapes and can be wall mounted.

"I have been waiting for this for so long," said Gladys Kolb of Birmingham, who happily purchased her can opener at Sauces 'n' Tosses. "It keeps food from any contamination." Just think, no jagged edges and no fishing for sinking dusty lids in the baked beans.

Banana split

Kids love to "help" in the kitchen and they are particularly adept at tossing together a fruit salad. To add a little fun to their routine chopping and scooping, surprise them with a Chiquita banana slicer ($3.50). They'll love the bright yellow banana shape that renders perfect slices in one quick motion.

Finally, no well-equipped kitchen or cook should be without designer rubber gloves from France. These fully lined, heavy duty gloves come complete with polka-dot or striped ruffles. The ultimate in fashion and function.

Trading times: Video game players like James McIntosh, 15, and Ryan Bowen, 15, of Farmington Hills, are discovering that FuncoLand stores will buy their old video games and resell them at discounted prices. Customers also appreciate the chance to try out game titles before they buy on game systems set up in the stores.

Malls debate smoking ban

Shopping malls across the country are beginning to enforce no-smoking rules throughout their centers. No local malls have such a ban, but it is under discussion.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

If Molly Giles of Birmingham couldn't have a cigarette between stores at the mall, she insists she'd take her business to the mainstreets.

"Hey, if I couldn't smoke at the mall, I'd have to go out to my car to light up. And if I walked to my car, I might as well get in and drive away," she said, snuffing out a cigarette at Summit Place Mall last week.

"A smoking ban at the malls would hurt business. Look, I had my cigarette break, now I'll go back to shopping. If I had to go outside, I'd be gone. I'd do my shopping in downtown Birmingham."

Mall managers in the area hear her. They also hear the complaints of shoppers who don't want to breathe the smoke of others when they take their shopping break.

"I really wish the malls were smoke free," said Linda Weinstein of West Bloomfield after a morning walk at Laurel Park Place in Livonia. "I'm here walking for fitness, but I wonder if the air I'm huffing and puffing is clean and healthy enough."

The solution? At Oakland Mall in Troy, Summit Place Mall in Waterford, and Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn, separate benched areas have recently been designated by signs as "Smoke Free," while others are designated for smokers.

"We're listening," said Joy Powell, manager of the Oakland Mall. "We think we've met the problem by separating the rest areas. The issue is in general discussion throughout the country now, we're still listening."

At the Westland Mall, spokeswoman Claudia Frederick said there was no official smoking policy, although management has had customers comment on both sides of the issue.

"A smoking ban is the kind of thing that will be happening more and more in malls around the country. But, here at Westland, we're debating whether it's a pro or con, based on our customers' needs," she said. "The publicity about the ill effects of second hand smoke really sparked the controversy."

Hudson's has completely banned smoking in all their stores, except for smoking sections in their restaurants. Most stores have such a ban, dictated by fire concerns.

At the Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi, manager Philip Morosco said The Gathering Space and center court are no smoking zones, but smoking is allowed in other common areas of the mall.

"We try to keep the air replacement system within the mall operating at a velocity strong enough to clear away standing smoke all through the day," he said. "A mall smoking ban is principally in shopping centers where a city or state law has been passed ban-

Coats steal the show for Hudson's

A sold-out crowd attended Hudson's "Challenging the Future: An Evening for Women," at the Grand Manor of Fairlane in Dearborn last week.

They came to preview the latest fall fashions and hear New York Times health columnist Jane Brody discuss her beat.

The event, one of two that Hudson's presents for the public each year, featured dinner, make-overs, Brody's motivational speech, comments on the upcoming fashion season by Beth Adamich of Mirabella magazine, a visit by designer Eileen Fisher, and of course, a fashion show of 117 complete outfits.

The audience was attentive, though quiet, throughout the show, until the "Great Coats" segment was introduced. Here, three rounds of applause greeted the models as they filled the runway in red military coats, accented with gold buttons and black trim in leather and velvet. Definitely, the hit of the evening.

"I didn't care for too much in the show because I thought the fashions were too trendy," said Amelia Boladian of Lathrup Village, who has attended the event for the last three years.

Her friend Nina Sarkisian of Troy agreed.

"We're a more mature audience," she laughed. "Maybe the younger gals will like these styles more. The ruf-

University research refutes cult stereotypes

Allegations made this spring by U.S. media that the Montana-based Church Universal and Triumphant is "the next Waco waiting to happen" are false, two Oakland University researchers claim. The possession of weapons does not constitute a community threat, according to psychologist Larry Lilliston and sociologist Gary Shepherd, following on-site observations made in July. They also refute international charges of child abuse brought against members of a second religious movement called The Family (formerly known as The Children of God). Family member homes have been raided by authorities in several countries, on the basis of trumped-up charges, and children have been forcibly taken away from their parents. All of these charges have subsequently been dismissed and the children returned. However, just this spring, 90 children were removed from their homes in France, and most still remain in government custody. Several California homes have also been recently harassed by detractors and professional "cult hunters." Lilliston and Shepherd were among a dozen scholars from universities all over the country who were given unprecedented access to study the Church Universal and Triumphant. Lilliston and Shepherd spent three weeks at the church headquarters in Montana (longest of any of the research team), living with members, observing social practices, conducting interviews, etc. They were also the only team members who went on to spend a week living with members of The Family in California, where they conducted similar observations, testing of children, etc. Lilliston earned a doctorate from Temple University and is currently chairman of the psychology department at Oakland University. He has conducted a number of previous studies of new religious movements with a particular emphasis on socialization of Hare Krishna children. Shepherd was awarded his doctorate from Michigan State University and has also carried out much previous research on contemporary religious movements, particularly Mormonism. The recent tragedy in Waco, Texas, and the subsequent wave of public "cult" hysteria gave special impetus to their studies. The OU researchers claim that popular conceptions of these new religious movements (the term "cult" has become debased into a pejorative label, they say), shaped and reinforced by media sensationalizing, are very distorted. It is important that more objective information, based on unbiased scholarly motives and direct observations, be made available to both the general public and government authorities, Lilliston and Shepherd say. Otherwise, they fear that civil and religious liberties in these and other cases are likely to be seriously eroded.

id rollout of multiple stores in high-traffic strip malls, aggressive TV advertising and market support, and then use sophisticated inventory control and management information systems to help things along."
 FuncoLand went public last August when they were ready to expand. They raised an additional $13 million through a second offering, providing them with the funds to open stores in Dallas, Chicago, Milwaukee and New York.
 "Stock started out at $5 and is trading at $14 and $15 today," Pomije boasted. "Not bad for a 37-year-old entrepreneur from Minnesota who started selling used video games from a mail-order catalog, in his basement."

 FuncoLand is Pomije's second business attempt; he brings with him lessons learned from his first. He founded Protectronics Inc., buying and selling the Commodore computers gathering dust on the shelves of manufacturers and retailers. He was forced to file for bankruptcy when both the supply and demand dried up — after he made $10 million from the venture in two years.

FuncoLand stores opened a few months ago at West Oaks in Novi, Summit Crossing in Waterford, Burlington Square in Taylor, Fairlane Meadows in Dearborn, Nine Mile and Middlebelt in Farmington, and Clinton Valley Center in Sterling Heights.
 "I love to play video games myself," Pomije said. "And I sympathize with parents who have to pay $50 or $60 for a new game. That's crazy. Using their children's old games as a source of value, parents can shop at FuncoLand and get new games for just half that investment."

ning smoking in public buildings." New York and Vermont have such laws. Smoking is prohibited in most indoor spaces, including malls. Michigan, through the Clean Indoor Air Act of 1978, bans smoking in all government buildings, hospitals, nursing homes and day care centers. However, private businesses such as office buildings and shopping centers are exempt.
 "If a mall wants to ban smoking, it's entirely up to them," said

Cindy Peruchetti, administrative assistant to the public health committee of the state House of Representatives. "They are not mandated to do so under the law. Restrictions of the act became a question of how far government wanted to interfere in private business."
 At the Somerset Collection in Troy, spokeswoman Colleen Creagh said management is considering a smoking ban and the issue is under discussion.

"But there are no plans for a ban in the near future," she said. Somerset shopper Frank Bruni was glad to hear that.
 "I need a cigarette while my wife is spending my money," he said with a wink. "I'm retired. I like to walk around the malls for exercise, stop, relax, have a smoke and watch other people go by. I think smokers should have one half of the mall and let the non-smokers have the rest. That's fair, don't you think?"

fled blouses were very beautiful though."
 Karen Friendly, of Dearborn, a legal secretary, said she fell in love with a green Dana Buchman suit shown, modeled with a cream ruffled cuff/collar blouse and red vest.
 Health reporter Jane Brody reminded everyone that well-balanced meals and exercise were "the true basics" of fashion. She challenged the busy crowd to "live healthfully" by eating nutritional home-cooked meals and exercising once a day.

 "Does cutting the grass, painting the house, dusting and running up and down the stairs all day, count as exercise?" Emily

Rozen of Detroit asked. "Yes," Brody smiled. "But you really need a more sustained activity that gets your heart rate up 20-30 minutes at a shot."
 Brody insisted that in the long-run, whether it seems to or not, living healthfully is actually a time and money saver, not time-consuming and expensive as many believe.

Second City warms up for Detroit debut

BY BOB SADLER
SPECIAL WRITER

While on vacation in Chicago two weeks ago, I had the opportunity to catch the late Saturday evening show at The Second City's main stage. The company there was performing an entertaining little revue called "Take Me Out to the Balkans," an indication of the edgy brand of reality-based humor being presented. Audience response was enthusiastic throughout, and justifiably so, because the company was at the top of its craft that night.

As the revue ended, the company prepared for the traditional improvisational portion of the show which follows the revue on selected nights. Since it was already 1 a.m., some of the less hardy souls in the audience made for the exits. Their seats were quickly scooped up by Second City fans who — believe it or not — will wait that late every week outside the theater rain or shine and pay a few bucks just to come in and watch the improv. They were not to be disappointed on this night. Before the lights went up on the stage again, an announcement came up that there were a few special guests in the house who would be joining the action. Among the alumni who showed up were Chris Farley and Tim Meadows, two guys with nothing better to do since "Saturday Night Live" is still on summer hiatus.

A genuine anticipation filled the room as the old pros mixed with the current cast and the energy generated carried the performers and audience alike through more than an additional hour of laughs.

This is just a sample of the kind of excitement that comes to Detroit on Sept. 15 as The Second City opens its newest stage in the revitalized Theater District. While it can't be guaranteed that big stars who got their starts at The Second City will show up every night in Detroit, you'd better believe the homegrown cast of seven will give everyone their money's worth.

The troupe includes Robin Buccu of Sterling Heights, Colin Ferguson of Birmingham, Jerry C. Minor of Fenton, Andrew Newberg of Ann Arbor, Tim Pryor of Farmington Hills, Jackie Puritan (yes, she is the daughter of a certain morning radio personality) of Bloomfield Hills and Angela Shelton of Detroit. This group was chosen out of the more than 750 performers who auditioned at The Fox in April.

"It's the most diverse cast in the history of 'The Second City,'" said Pryor, a Detroit Country Day graduate who still works as an advertising copywriter in addition to performing.

The troupe spent its summer training and rehearsing for the big premiere. They got some

AT THE MIKE

■ A Face only His Mother Would Love ... Monday, Sept. 6, marks the return of Bobcat Goldthwait to the area, fresh off his motion picture tour de force as "Shakes the Clown." I guess if you loved the "Police Academy" sagas, you'll enjoy Bobcat at Pine Knob with special guest Kevin Meaney. Tickets are available through TicketMaster or charge at 423-6666.

■ Comedy for Hunger ... Jerry Seinfeld is asking 35 bucks for his November shows at the Fox - and he's keeping it. Thank goodness the pride of Beverly Hills (Michigan, that is), Tim Allen is giving his time and the proceeds from an appearance Saturday, Sept. 11, to Forgotten Harvest, where it will help the hungry in the Detroit area. The show at the Fisher Theater also features Mark Ridley, Jim McLean, Keith Ruff and Jill Washburn. Tickets are $50 and can be purchased at all TicketMaster outlets or at The Fisher Theater box office. Call Forgotten Harvest at 557-2587 for information about other ticket categories. And remember, "Home Improvement" trashed "Seinfeld" on Wednesday nights last season.

Liz Phair: Fresh face for X-fest

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

In the last few months, fresh-faced singer/songwriter Liz Phair has appeared in most major music magazines. Despite anticipating some press, the unsure Phair sees it all as a "gag."

"It's like one of those birthday gags where it says 'insert your name here.' That's what all my friends say. We all laugh about it," said Phair via telephone from her Chicago home.

Even though she is highly regarded by her peers and rock critics, the 26-year-old has many apologies for her show.

"I'd like to apologize in advance; I'm not the best performer. I've only performed live once. Please be forgiving of my bad technique," said Phair who is performing at the X-Fest at the Phoenix Plaza Amphitheatre in Pontiac on Sunday, Sept. 5.

Does her lack of experience make her nervous?
"Oh yeah. I'm totally scared. No ... apprehensive," Phair said in a sing-songy voice. "I'm gonna be excited, restless and antsy coupled with anxiety. . . . and apprehensive."

Phair has a lot to be apprehensive about. Aside from only playing once, Phair's songs on her debut album, "Exile in Guyville" (Matador records), are deeply personal, vivid recounts of bad relationships with men. Sharing her songs with audiences has made her feel uncomfortable.

"Everything new has really caused me some grief in terms of my music. I wrote the songs in my room, in private. It felt kind of intrusive for awhile."

On "Exile in Guyville" Phair also shows a lighter side by modeling her album after the Rolling Stones' record "Exile on Main Street." Like the Stones, there are 18 songs on the album. For her next album, which she is in the middle of recording, Phair is looking for another model.

"It's a tried and true sequence," she said. Aside from the freshman performer Phair, there will veteran acts be featured at radio station 89X's X-Fest. Former Big Star member and Replacements song subject Alex Chilton continues his comeback with his performance.

Walt Mink, 13 Engines, Urge Overkill and the Breeders, featuring ex-Pixie Kim Deal, will also play on the mainstage.

The sidestage will be home to a diverse group of local acts — alternative dance's Charm Farm, the rock and rap of Brotherhood Recipe, swirly alternative rock of Majesty Crush, the surf tunes of the Goldentones, and the hard alternative rock of Brick.

Aside from the music, there will be ethnic food booths and others from Soul in the Hole, a used soul record and T-shirt store, Noir Leather in Royal Oak, Incognito in Royal Oak, hats by Hysterica, Beads of Love in Pontiac, MAPP (Midwestern AIDS Prevention Project) and Alternatives for Girls.

The gates open at 1 p.m. for X-Fest at the Phoenix Plaza Amphitheatre, Water and Saginaw streets, Pontiac. The event will take place rain or shine. Tickets are $8.90 with 50 cents from each ticket sold going toward Alternatives for Girls. For more information, call 334-1999, 645-6666 or 335-4850.

Bermuda Mohawk has seasoned kind of sound

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Sal D'Agnillo has this knack for forming bands with memorable names. Once a member of Anne Be Davis, D'Agnillo is now fronting the band Bermuda Mohawk.

"Yeah, I don't know what it is," D'Agnillo said with a grin about his band's names.

In case you've missed the Brady Bunch mania, Anne B. Davis is the woman who played Alice the maid on the television show. For those who don't travel east through Royal Oak down I-696, Bermuda Mohawk is the name of an ill-placed exit. D'Agnillo found the name to be perfect.

"They were two words that sounded good together and looked good," the Farmington Hills resident said. "It's an interesting name. A lot of people comment on it."

Formed in September 1992, Bermuda Mohawk is a threesome with an impressive resume. Bassist

Lance Larsen is a former member of the Jazz Nerds and Babylon Hotel. Drummer Jimi Latini gigged throughout New York City while growing up there. D'Agnillo played lead guitar with his brother, John D. Lamb, and frequently does solo acoustic shows at clubs like the Back Seat Saloon in Keego Harbor.

D'Agnillo also did session work for Bob Seger's Silver Bullet Band early in his musical career.

"I was 21 at the time," he said. "I couldn't believe it."
Using those experiences, Bermuda Mohawk prides itself on the fact that it hasn't subscribed to any current trend. Fans of Bermuda Mohawk will be able to appreciate that sound when the band releases its first tape in late October.

Bermuda Mohawk will perform, with The Impatients, Wednesday, Sept. 15, at the Blind Pig, 206-208 S. First St., Ann Arbor (996-8555), and with The Opaque, Thursday, Sept. 23, at 3-D, 1815 N. Main St., Royal Oak (889-3344).

Bermuda Mohawk: Members include bassist Lance Larsen, vocalist/guitarist Sal D'Agnillo and drummer Jim Latini.

Drugs and murder. Comm the news and at the movie it's not new territory when drama "One False Move" (with a home invasion that leaves six people dead and three suspects, carrying off a cache of drugs, on the run from Los Angeles).

Then the focus shifts to a small Arkansas town where I suspect the trio, two men and a woman, are heading. This well-crafted film follows the groups, one waiting and the other moving, until they come to an inevitable collision course. At that end, though, the focus is on the characters, particularly the local police chief and the feisty suspect.

A pair of neatly suited Los Angeles officers arrive to wait their suspects. They're horrified when they first meet the chief, played by Bill Paxton, comes off rather like Jethro Leeden with a badge and gun.

needed practice before a live performance at one of The Second City stages in suburban Chicago two weeks ago to the day formed at the main stage as of the usual Monday "Best of Second City" show.

"We feel great because it went really well in Chicago Pryor said. "That gave us a confidence. We're really excited that we're finally going in our own space."

The "space" Pryor speaks of is rapidly moving toward completion at the corner of Wood and Montcalm, next to The Theatre — another jewel in the crown. The actual building will house the 350-seat theater where The Second City will its mantle, plus a 350-seat restaurant with a rooftop terrace, a 50-seat bar and a shop for Second City.

'Banquet' filling; 'Friends' doesn't last

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

Wei Wei, a Chinese artist living in New York, needs a green card. Wai Tung, her landlord, wrestles with a more sensitive problem.

He's gay but doesn't want his parents in Taiwan to know about it. His companion Simon proposes the perfect plan: marry Wei Wei, get the folks off your back, and take a major tax write-off.

Of course, without complications there wouldn't be "The Wedding Banquet," a very funny, very wise international comedy currently at the Maple Theatre.

The movie, with Chinese and English dialogue, is both about communication and how the ancient bonds of tradition translate to modern times. Not surprisingly, Wai Tung's parents are outraged by the impersonal civil ceremony that the bride and groom insist upon.

At dinner, the family runs into an old friend, who insists that he throw a proper wedding banquet in respect for the groom's father, a retired general. The resulting celebration mixes the best and worst of both Asian and American reception rituals.

The performances are gems. Winston Chao's Wai Tung is a likable but slightly greedy real estate entrepreneur, a perfect straight man playing out a situation that quickly spins out of his control.

We're relieved when Mitchell Lichtenstein's Simon actually blows his top because he's so perfect and patient during most of the film. Even the staunchest homophobe will want to marry this guy.

May Chin's Wei Wei has some of the goofiest bits, especially when she has too much to drink and tries to "liberate" her husband on their wedding night. More than just funny, she's also sympathetic when she receives traditional wedding gifts from Wai Tung's mother.

As directed by Ang Lee, "The Wedding Banquet" overcomes its penchant for stagginess with large helpings of honesty and good-natured humor. You can't help but leave the theater in a great mood. "Amongst Friends," also joining the Maple lineup this weekend, delivers yet another twist on the gangster genre: the wise guys aren't underprivileged, uneducated hoods from the inner city. They're upper-middle class kids from the mean streets of Long Island.

Although pumped full of style, the low-budget film that won accolades at the Sundance Film Festival earlier this year has surprisingly little staying power.

Andy, Trevor and Billy graduate from high school and, instead of heading off to college or real jobs, continue careers in crime. Trevor, busted during a drug deal, gets sent to prison for two years but doesn't return home for another two.

It was just a matter of time before James Dean met Seattle Grunge and here it is in Patrick McGraw's Trevor, riding back to town on a Harley, outfitted in plaid shirt and bandana. He's on his way to the West Coast, but reluctantly books up with his buddies for one final score.

There's plenty going for "Amongst Friends." It marks the directorial debut of 26-year-old Rob Weiss, who mixes family stories with the best parts of every gangster movie he's ever seen.

It also offers able performances from unknowns, especially Joseph Lindsey as the dark-eyed Billy, the most ruthless of the trio. Steve Parlavescchio's rapid-fire voice-overs force you to miss some of the insights, but they capture Andy's nervous energy perfectly.

"Amongst Friends" should have some impact, especially on teenage viewers who will gladly overlook the simple-minded relationships and storyline. Others will recognize it for what it is: a bunch of kids playing gangster games, "Goodfellas" remade by the Beastie Boys.

BARBARA SCHIFF

Dear Barbara: I have been in therapy for eight months. I do not seem to be gaining insight or moving forward. I do not feel that my therapist is giving me the help that I need. Of course, I feel insecure about switching to someone new at this point. This therapist does not seem to say enough that is meaningful. I leave the appointments as confused as I was when I came in. I am not getting the answers that I need.

Jim

Dear Jim,

This is an excellent question because what you describe occurs so frequently in psychotherapy.

It helps when client and therapist match up. In your example, if the client is the type who doesn't want the therapist to say anything, or is afraid to hear what the therapist might say, he might continue comfortably with your therapist.

If he wrote a letter about an active therapist, he would say, "My therapist talks too much and doesn't let me say what I want to say because he's so busy making interpretations, which I can't understand anyhow."

In your letter, you are saying you want a therapist who talks to you and gives you more guidelines. Before you make any switch to someone new, explain this to your therapist and see how he handles it. It may be that he could give you what you want. If he can't, then you might change to a therapist who has a reputation for active psychotherapy and so would suit you better.

However, let the reader beware, there are clients who will complain about any therapist. I remember a story told to me by an older, experienced therapist. A client came to him and complained that she had had eight previous therapists and that none of them knew what they were doing. His response was: "This time, you won't have that excuse."

Good luck in your therapy. A good experience can make a huge difference in one's ability to feel good about oneself.

'False Move' is compelling

BY LEANNE ROGERS
STAFF WRITER

Drugs and murder. Common in the news and at the movies. So it's not new territory when the drama "One False Move" opens with a home invasion that leaves six people dead and three suspects, carrying off a cache of drugs, on the run from Los Angeles.

Then the focus shifts to the small Arkansas town where police suspect the trio, two men and a woman, are heading. This very well crafted film follows the two groups, one waiting and the other moving, until they come to their inevitable collision course. Until that end, though, the focus is on the characters, particularly the local police chief and the female suspect.

A pair of neatly suited Los Angeles officers arrive to wait for their suspects. They're horrified when they first meet the local chief, played by Bill Paxton, who comes off rather like Jethro Bodden with a badge and gun. His wife, concerned that her overbearing husband is going to get in over his head, asks for help from the out-of-town officer.

"Dale doesn't know any better, he wales television. I do (know better), I read nonfiction," she explains.

Paxton is very good at developing the character of the small town cop, someone whose outward behavior and responses can be very deceiving. The big city cops can still be surprised by an officer who knows everyone involved whenever he responds to a call.

Equally good is Cynda Williams as the female member of the criminal trio, a woman who calls herself Fantasia. A drug addict, she has her own scruples dictated by her past and the pressing demands of her habit.

Also very good is Michael Beach as the brilliant, murderous ex-con who has hooked up with the other suspects merely out of convenience. Maximum security prison is obviously not the place to make trusted friends.

The primary reason this film works so well is that director Carl Franklin keeps the focus where it belongs — on developing the characters. Sometimes people are forced to take a hard look at themselves and they don't like what they see. The violence isn't exploitative. The sad thing is the violence is matter-of-fact and expected by the suspects and the police alike.

The basic ingredients of "One False Move" are familiar but the difference is the fine handling of the story by Franklin and the actors. It's a very compelling film.

"One False Moves" is available on tape at local video stores. If you have a question or comment, call LeAnne Rogers at 953-2103 or write her at The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

needed practice before a live audience at one of The Second City's stages in suburban Chicago and two weeks ago to the day performed at the main stage as part of the usual Monday "Best of The Second City" show.

"We feel great because things went really well in Chicago," Pryor said. "That gave us a lot of confidence. We're really enthusiastic that we're finally going to be in our own space."

The "space" Pryor speaks of is rapidly moving toward completion at the corner of Woodward and Montcalm, next to The Fox Theatre — another jewel in the Ilitch crown. The actual building will house the 350-seat theater where The Second City will hang its mantle, plus a 350-seat multi-level restaurant with a rooftop terrace, a 50-seat bar and a retail shop for Second City merchandise. The speed of the building's construction is reminiscent of the recent Tiger Plaza project at Michigan and Trumbull.

Pryor would not elaborate greatly on what exactly audiences will see when The Second City premieres in Detroit. Sketches have been taken from the best material gathered in the more than 30 years of The Second City existence. It is premature to expect material with a metro Detroit angle at this stage of the troupe's existence, Pryor said, because they need additional improvisational performances to develop sketches for future performances.

"We're learning a lot of music; people will be surprised at the number of production pieces," Pryor said. "There's also some real acting."

But all in all, the cast is concentrating on having a good time and making sure the audience follows.

"It's just great being paid to do this stuff," Pryor said.

For ticket information, call The Second City-Detroit at 965-2222.

Rocks gain tie in opener

Plymouth Salem rallied from a two-goal deficit Thursday to tie host Brighton 3-3 in the season opener in boys soccer.

The Bulldogs lost only two starters from a team that was 22-2, losing to Salem in the first game (1-0) and Class A champion Warren DeLaSalle in the state semifinals.

"The kids were elated, considering we had Brad Jaskolski missing (with a bruised kidney)," Salem coach Ken Johnson said. "It was like a win."

The Rocks got the tying goal with three minutes left on Scot Buczek's header off a rebound by Matt Hucal.

Salem pressed the attack and might have won the game, according to Johnson, but one shot went over the top and the Brighton keeper made a save on another header.

The Bulldogs led 1-0 at halftime and took a 3-1 lead with a pair of goals by all-starter Jon Herbst. Mark MacInnis and Mike Kley scored the first Salem goals with assists from Doug Herriman on both.

Johnson had special praise for sweeper Trevor Pruett, Herriman, MacInnis and Kley. All of them played the whole game despite the heat and humidity.

Chiefs win tourney title from Rocks

Plymouth Canton won its second championship in the Centennial Educational Park Invitational Saturday, ending defending champion Plymouth Salem's four-year reign with a 3-0 victory in the final of the soccer tournament.

Coach Don Smith said his Plymouth Canton boys soccer team would be the highest-scoring of the five he has coached.

He might have added that the Chiefs would be very good defensively, too.

Canton won two games by shutouts Saturday to capture the Centennial Educational Park Invitational championship for the second time in its 10-year history.

The 3-0 victory over defending champ Plymouth Salem supported Smith's prediction of more offense this year, though the Chiefs only beat Portage Central 1-0 in the first round.

"We had a solid group last year and they worked hard; we just couldn't score," Smith said. "This year we hope to make other teams work a little harder down in their third."

The Chiefs won the tournament for the first time since 1985 and ended Salem's four-year hold on the championship trophy. Canton (2-0) was the runner-up three of the last four years and five times overall.

"It's about time we won this; they've been kicking our tail every year," Smith said. "I'd rather beat them at the end (of the season, in the district tournament), but it's nice to win this since we haven't done it in awhile."

Canton controlled the action for the most part, and the Rocks (1-1-1), who defeated Grand Blanc 4-2 in the first round, did not have a good scoring chance until late in the game.

"They came out with more intensity," said Salem coach Ken Johnson of the Chiefs. "They had a lot of team speed and outpaced us. I was impressed; today they definitely looked like top-10 material.

"We were putting a lot of high balls down the middle, trying to get it to (Mark) MacInnis, but the high-ball didn't work against this team. Canton fought us for every ball right to the end. I think our players were shocked by their style and speed."

Jeff Fliss scored the first goal off a header by Chad Dale following a throw-in. Fliss raced up on the left side and, as he slid into the ball, directed it across the front of the goal.

Dale scored the second goal with a line drive off his right foot to give Canton a 2-0 halftime lead. Graham Wilk made it 3-0 early in the second half when he converted a penalty kick.

"We've got a lot of young players so it's hard to tell right now, but I think we're going to do pretty well," said Wilk, a junior and third-year starter. "I think we're better than last year; we have a better attitude and more confidence than any of the years I've played."

"I didn't feel real comfortable with (the two-goal lead)," Smith said. "I'm glad we kept up the tempo in the second half, which was great.

"Salem is the kind of team that can come back and get in your face; they get a goal and all of a sudden they're fired up and it's a whole new ballgame."

That didn't happen as the Chiefs continued to play well and keep the ball away from their goal. Smith attributed that in part to player rotation.

"We have different kids we can put in there, so we ought to be able to keep them fresh," he said.

"We match up much better with Salem (than in the past). They usually have big players. They have good players but not too big, so they can't push us around now."

Lance Fellow scored the Canton goal with an assist from Jeff Knysz in the first game against Central.

Drew Drummond and Ronny Mashni had one goal and one assist each in Salem's win. Matt Simons and Scott Buczek also scored goals, and MacInnis and Doug Herriman also had assists.

Brady wins Michigan PGA

Steve Brady of Farmington Hills won another major golf tournament in Michigan last week, taking top honors in the Michigan PGA Championship on Wednesday in Lewiston.

The 35-year-old Brady, the assistant pro at Detroit Golf Club, won back-to-back Michigan Open titles in 1991-92.

He received a $12,000 first-place prize and some additional bonuses for his victory last week. The win qualified Brady for the Ameritech Showdown that was played Sunday and berths in the PGA Club Professional Championship in October and the Buick Open next year.

Brady shot a 3-under-par 69 on the final day to edge Ron Beurmann by one stroke overall, 209-210. Beurmann shot 68 in the last round but had 72-70 going into it. Brady, who was seven under for the tournament, shot 70-70 the first two days.

Men's senior softball

Rev up the bus, National Trails is hitting the road again.

The 50-and-over men's slow-pitch team, featuring several area players, has qualified for the National Association of Softball Club Seniors Tournament Sept. 29 to Oct. 3 in Houston, Texas. But the first stop is Sept. 6-13 in Scottsdale, Ariz., for the 22-team USA Senior Softball World Series.

National Trails, fourth a year ago in the NASCS, has joined forces this season with East Side club Nothdurft Tool.

Manager Al Moran's team qualified for Scottsdale last weekend with an 18-4 victory over the Akron (Ohio) Tuffys in the Dorchester, Ontario, tourney.

"We've merged the east side and the west side teams together," said Moran, a Farmington Hills resident who once played for the New York Mets. "This is our first year together and it's going well. We've jelled at the right time."

National Trails, 46-7 overall, is unbeaten in the 50-and-over Oak Park League.

Area players include Livonians Eddie Hammecher (pitcher), Chuck Hebestreit (first baseman) and Vaughn Covert (outfielder).

Third baseman Pete Woodard of Plymouth, MVP in the Mount Clemens Tournament, is a mainstay along with pitcher Joe Martin and outfielder Jerry Ratuwicz, both of Canton.

Rounding out the squad is pitcher Don Phillippi and outfielder John Sprys, both of Northville; shortstop Zeke Zdrodowski of Mount Clemens; catcher Jim Raniszewski of Detroit; second baseman Roy Simms and outfielder Jay Barr, both of Sterling Heights; outfielder Bill Solomay of East-pointe; and pitcher-outfielder Larry Falinski of Fraser.

Leftfielder Al Frank of Southfield is the team's sponsor.

"It's difficult to say how good we are until we get there," said Moran, an assistant baseball coach at Redford Catholic Central High. "Hopefully we'll have a better team. We took fourth last year and want to get closer."

Marlins win hoop debut

Junior guard Glenda Lee had an outstanding season debut Thursday as Farmington Hills Mercy defeated host Walled Lake Central 69-50 in girls basketball.

Lee scored 16 points to lead the Marlins and also had seven assists.

Junior Mitzi Ruddock came off the bench to score seven of her 12 points in the fourth quarter when the Marlins finished off Central with a 17-8 advantage. She also led Mercy with 12 rebounds and had six assists.

"We needed some fresh legs in the second half," Baker said. "Mitzi came on strong and so did Holy Taylor and Carrie Schwagle."

"They really helped us extend our lead. The heat and humidity took their toll, and our bench saved the day."

Mercy junior Julie Angell also scored 12 points and senior Zendre Simmons added 10. Kerri Kobus netted a game-high 21 points for Central before fouling out in the third quarter.

Canton veteran: Senior Alyson Nounne will be a three-year starter at guard for the defending WLAA champions.

Canton adjusts game for 1993

The continued success of the Plymouth Canton girls basketball team will depend on how well the Chiefs adjust to a new situation in 1993.

In the wake of major graduation losses, the Chiefs have to adapt their game to fit their capabilities.

Canton was 18-3, won the Western Lakes Activities Association championship and for a time was the No. 1-ranked team in Class A, with a group of seniors who were the heart of the program for three years.

The Chiefs lost six players and four starters to graduation — Stephanie Gray, Jori Welchans, Kelly Holmes, Christie Saffron, Amy Westerhold and Christie Anderson.

Two are still playing basketball, Gray at Western Michigan and Saffron at Adrian, while Westerhold might try to walk on at Central Michigan. Holmes and Welchans are on scholarship at Michigan and Detroit-Mercy for softball and soccer, respectively.

"That senior group developed their game over four years and did some outstanding things for Canton High School," coach Bob Blohm said. "You don't lose people like that and not have an impact on your program. They contributed to the school community in a lot of different ways. That group will be missed."

The Chiefs do return six players, including senior guard Alyson Nounne, but they won't be as tall without the 6-foot Gray and 5-11 Holmes in the lineup. Adjusting to the absence of such height is the main task facing Canton in 1993.

"This team will be able to compensate for a lack of size with their understanding and hard work," Blohm said. "Their court intelligence is very good. You can only take yourself so far physically, but you can enhance your game a lot by being real smart.

BASKETBALL

Hopefully, this team will be real good in that area."

Instead of using two post and three perimeter players, the Chiefs will surround 5-10 senior center Lisa Nicastri with four wings.

In addition to 5-foot Nounne, the other starters will be 5-7 senior Britta Anderson, 5-7 senior Erica Anderson and 5-6 junior Amicie Crayton. All are returning varsity players.

"It's not like we don't have any experienced players coming back," Blohm said. "What we're trying to do with this group is open up the floor, and the big test will be how well they play against zones because we'll see a lot of it."

"We're going to have to work awful hard on rebounding because we don't have the size, and defense is going to be real critical. We have to get pressure on people and make sure they're not always able to do the things they want on the court."

The return of Britta Anderson is a major plus for the Chiefs. She was the second-leading scorer as a sophomore, but she suffered a serious knee injury playing soccer in 1992 and re-injured it in basketball last year. She is fully recovered, according to Blohm.

"Britta had an active summer and played a lot of basketball," he said. "Her big challenge is not trying to do too much too soon, but being patient and working toward her goal."

Nounne averaged eight points and three assists last year, Erica Anderson six rebounds and six points. Crayton is probably the quickest player on the team, having led the Chiefs in steals and deflections. Nicastri's court time last season was limited by an ankle injury.

Chiefs hope to continue gridiron success

Plymouth Canton finished the 1992 football season with its players and coaches thinking ahead to the possibility of more good things in 1993.

After losing their first four games, the Chiefs (4-5) began a turnaround by beating Farmington Hills Harrison for the first time and won four of their last five.

Canton returns 23 lettermen and 15 starters (eight on offense, seven on defense) and is optimistic about the coming campaign, hoping to continue a three-game winning streak.

"I think we can have a good team," coach Bob Khoenle said. "We have a lot of people back and a lot of good kids moving up from the JV. Things look promising, and I'm excited about the season."

The Chiefs are blessed with outstanding skill players, and they have the potential for their most balanced offense since Karl Wuffie led Canton to a 9-2 record and the state playoffs in 1990.

"Our strength is in our backs and receivers," Khoenle said, adding the Chiefs return two quarterbacks, their backfield and two fine receivers. "If anybody in coaching had their druthers, that's where they'd want their strength to be." The quarterback will be either junior Brett Elledge (5-11, 150) or senior Kevin Shankie (5-11, 175). Elledge played his first varsity game against Harrison and finished the season as the starter, but Khoenle opened the job for competition this year.

"One has qualities and abilities the other doesn't," Khoenle said, adding Shankie has the edge as a passer and Elledge as a runner.

"It's a matter of who does what before the first game and then we'll make a decision. Both have experience; we're in pretty good shape there."

Khoenle speaks glowingly of senior flanker Ryan Ostach (6-3, 200), who also will do the punting again.

"This kid can do everything," Khoenle said. "He has great speed, great hands, great size; he can run, catch and kick."

The Chiefs also return starting wide receiver Tim Moritz (6-2, 185) — another excellent pass target — and tight end Justin Buchhop (6-1, 175). Both are seniors.

Junior Andy Bahrou (5-11, 160) runs like a rabbit and will contribute at the split positions, too, Khoenle said.

Seniors Scott Valimont (6-1, 170), a converted quarterback who is the third option at that position, and Chris Polidori (5-11, 170) are other wide receivers. Juniors and former JV players Mike Musser (6-0, 165) and Adam Gut (6-0, 170) provide backup at tight end.

Canton will have senior Eric Arnold (6-0, 200) at fullback and junior Lennie Gardner (5-9, 165) at tailback again. Arnold gained a lot of tough years last year, and Gardner alternated with Neil Haremski.

"They're good hard runners and they have good speed," Khoenle said. "I don't think we have an intimidating back like someone 6-3 and 225, but our kids are quick and run hard and are good athletes."

"The passing threat will help our running threat; whereas, it's the opposite with most teams. We have good balance between throwing and running, and we will not hesitate to throw more than we run — whatever is going to do it."

Seniors Steve Acevedo (5-11, 170) and Richard Crist (6-0, 190) are additional fullbacks, juniors Derrick Young (5-8, 160) and Kevin Kovachevich (5-10, 160) reserve tailbacks.

Canton hoops: Junior Amicie Crayton becomes a full-time starter for the Canton girls basketball team.

"With this team, we can move people around and not get tied to specific positions," Blohm said. "Erica and Britta have the ability to score around the basket and both are good perimeter scorers. Amicie is a better open-court player because of her speed and quickness."
The Chiefs also have 5-9 freshman Kristi Florenzi as the backup to Nicastri in the post, and the Andersons can play near the basket, too.

"Lisa Nicastri is healthy and staying healthy, and that is a key for her," Blohm said. "She's playing her position very well, and I think she's going to have a solid season."

"Britta and Erica can guard the post. Size is not necessary for that, but Kristi is going to help Lisa do that. This team will have to work hard defensively on the perimeter and try to keep the ball out of the post."

"(The Andersons) can go down there as cutters on offense because they're real good at cutting inside from the perimeter and scoring."
The Chiefs will bring 5-4 senior Robyn Vachow and juniors Melissa Tomei (5-6), Tara Schuler (5-5), Amy Santeiu (5-7) and Jackie Nicastri (5-5) off the bench to help at guard. Vachow also is a returning varsity player.

Blohm always stresses defense and rebounding, and those aspects of the game will be even more important this year with less height.

"We outrebounded our opponents 60 percent to 40 last year," he said. "You can do a lot of things wrong in basketball, but you can never over rebound."

"You can't win a championship at any level without aggressive defense and rebounding. We've seen that size doesn't matter there; it's just all hard work."

With essentially a new team, Blohm is confident the Chiefs will remain a contender in the WLAA.

Canton began the season Saturday at Flint Powers and will entertain Waterford Kettering Tuesday before visiting defending Class A champion Birmingham Marian Thursday.

"Their challenge is to remember the way we played last year might not be the same this year because of the physical differences," Blohm said. "Skill and ability-wise this team is very capable of challenging for the division and conference championships."

"The game stays the same in a lot of ways, but we have to make small adjustments so we still have a chance to be successful."

Overaitis, Drabicki lead hoop teams

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

When he was playing in New York, Reggie Jackson, never at a loss for words, defined his value with the Yankees: "I'm the straw that stirs the drink."

The same could be said about two area girls basketball players, even though Livonia Ladywood's Tara Overaitis and Livonia Stevenson's Mo Drabicki are much too modest to conjure those thoughts.

Overaitis and Drabicki are the heavy hitters for their respective teams this season, and will determine how far their teams go this season.

The 5-foot-10 Overaitis, only a junior, made first-team All-Observer a year ago, leading Ladywood to an 18-6 overall record and a spot in the Class A quarterfinals before Charlotte ended the Blazers' run, 75-71.

With an uncanny knack for being in the right spot at the right time, the multi-dimensional Overaitis averaged 16 points and seven rebounds as a sophomore. And not to be outdone in the classroom, Overaitis carried a 4.0 grade-point average.

Blazers look strong

Once again, Ladywood should be a Catholic League and a championship contending team by the end of the year.

But the key to Ladywood's title aspirations may rest with 6-foot-4 junior center Anne Pogits, who saw plenty of action a year ago as a non-starter.

"She's relaxed and playing with more confidence," said Ladywood coach Ed Kavanaugh. "She's improved her shooting range. She's added a variety of moves around the basket and has increased her mobility."

The 5-6 Drabicki, meanwhile, is a first-team All-Observer pick who led the Spartans to 19 straight victories in 1992 before season-ending losses to Plymouth Canton (in the Western Lakes championship game) and Ladywood (a heartbreaking 55-51 setback in the opening round of the Class A districts).

The cat-quick Drabicki, who averaged 15 points, five steals and five assists per game a year ago, may take on added responsibility this season with the graduation losses to three starters — Lori Shingledecker, Karen Groulx and Julie Martin.

Mo knows hoops

"Mo will make things happen in transition and she can play defense," Stevenson coach Wayne Henry said. "This year she's added a perimeter shot to her game that she didn't have or use last year. She'll pull up for the jump shot on the break."

The Spartans' 1993 hopes, though, may rest on the performance of several newcomers.

Sophomore Stacey Nichols, a 5-11 center who played on the varsity as a ninth grader, showed flashes of promise last year.

"She's got good hands and is smooth around the basket," Henry said. "She can score inside with either hand."

Jill Van Tiem, a 5-10 junior, can play inside and outside. She may be able take the pressure off Drabicki and Nicholes.

Another WLAA team, Livonia Franklin (7-13 in 1992), went through some growing pains last year after the departure of Miss Basketball runnerup Dawn Warner (now a sophomore at Western Kentucky).

Patriots like center

The Patriots will rely on 6-foot junior center Jaclyn Deane.

"We hope she is the key," Franklin coach Mary Jarvis said. "She's made improvement in basketball, as well as improvement in the other sports (softball and volleyball). She can get the rebound and put it in. We'd like to see her as the high scorer."

Two other WLAA squads, Westland John Glenn (3-17 in '92) and Livonia Churchill (7-14 in '92), are rebuilding.

Churchill's new coach is Dave Balog, who formerly spent six seasons at Bloomfield Hills Andover. He takes over for Gary Fulks.

Wayne Memorial, which joins the new MEGA circuit, was hard hit by graduation, losing first-team All-Area player Lateefa Moore. She led the Zebras (11-12 in '92) to its first-ever district championship.

Frosh at Wayne

Waiting in the wings is 5-6 freshman Rica Barge, a baby-Barkley type, who could fill the void for coach Chuck Henry.

In the Metro Conference, Lutheran High Westland (10-11 in '92) coach Ron Gentz is brimming with optimism.

Two transfers, Lauren Horton (from Plymouth Christian Academy) and Julie Twietmeyer (from Ann Arbor Huron) add depth to an already veteran team.

Livonia Clarenceville has a pair of inside threats to build its program around in 5-11 junior Wendy Roy and 5-8 Pam Inzano, but the Trojans (7-13 in '92) lack depth.

Remaining ballclubs

As for the rest of Observerland, WLAA champion Plymouth Canton will miss center Stephanie Gray, while Plymouth Salem tries to replace Cyndi Platter.

Both were first-team All-Area choices.

Redford Bishop Borgess (20-3 in '92) is another team to watch.

The Spartans, led by super sophomore Maxann Reese, once again should be a big factor in the Catholic League playoffs, as well as the Class C state tournament.

Full complement boosts SC outlook

SOCCKER

By C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

One factor could prevent Schoolcraft College's women's soccer team from reaching its ultimate goal this season.

High expectations. Translated, it means the Lady Ocelots are aiming very, very high. Such elevated hopes could lead to disappointment.

But, heck, it's the preseason. Let's allow for optimism.

Particularly when there's such good reason for it. After all, coach Nick O'Shea has started drills with 16 players. Sixteen!

That alone should serve as a warning to SC's rivals. The Ocelots have struggled to finish the past three seasons with a full team. Last season's depleted team ended up 7-8-3.

More impressive, the players O'Shea has recruited have talent — enough that many of them are challenging returning starters for field time.

"We don't have the individual superstars we had when we won (the NJCAA title) in '87," said O'Shea. "But we do have a good group of smart players."

"Athletically, we won't dominate teams. We have to play smarter than them."

Question at sweeper

What O'Shea would like to find is a dominant, speedy player to fill in at center midfield. His top candidate is freshman Danielle Priebe (Churchill), whom he believes could easily handle the position. (O'Shea coached her at Churchill.)

The problem is, he may need Priebe at sweeper. So he's taking a close look at freshman Amanda Thomas (Royal Oak Dondero); she's shown "good skills." And newcomer Christina Stansell (a '92 Plymouth Canton grad) will "definitely see a lot of playing time." So should returnees Kelly Graves (Lakeland) and Tiffany Graves (Livonia Franklin).

With Priebe at center mid, the unit is more than capable. Without her, there's some question.

So if Priebe goes to midfield, who will play sweeper? One candidate is Jodi Grabowski (Sterling Heights Stevenson): "She's got some speed, she's pretty solid."

The defense is helped by returnees Cindy Tolstead (Northville), Becca Raymor (Canton) and Mari Kissinger. Tolstead should be at stopper — "She's smart enough to play in the middle and cause problems" — with Raymor and Kissinger filling outside defender spots.

The Ocelots should be solid in goal, too, when Jenny Emmett (Plymouth Salem) rounds into shape. "She's having a little trouble on crosses right now because her timing's a bit off," said O'Shea. With good reason: Emmett did not play her senior year at Salem because she was afflicted with leukemia. She's recuperated and is back in the nets, but it's been two years since she played.

So how good can the Ocelots be? "They're better than some of the teams I had that finished third (in the NJCAA Tournament)," said O'Shea. "But there's no doubt about it, we won't win a national championship unless we play as a team."

That means "try to keep possession and move (the ball) up slowly." Once in the opponents' end of the field, SC can unleash its quick forwards.

It all adds up to some good reasons for high expectations.

Bowlers observe rules of etiquette

AL HARRISON

As the new season gets under way, there are bound to be many new bowlers taking to the lanes.

It is expected that most of them are aware of the rules of bowling etiquette, but for the benefit of those who do not know, a little refresher course is in order.

- Rule No. 1: Prepare to take your turn promptly on the lane. Be ready to bowl when the pins are set up.
- Rule No. 2: If you are keeping score, turn the scorekeeping over to someone else when it's your turn to bowl.
- Rule No. 3: Don't take too long to aim or get set up when you are on the approach.
- Rule No. 4: Stay on your own approach. Return to the back of the approach after each delivery.

■ Rule No. 5: Do not use another player's ball, except with their permission.

■ Rule No. 6: Observe one lane courtesy. The bowler on the right should bowl first if both reach the approach at the same time. Step to the back of the approach while you wait and indicate to the adjacent bowler that you are yielding to them.

■ Rule No. 7: Good bowling requires concentration. Bowlers should keep in mind that when others are preparing to bowl, excessive noise could be distracting to them.

When a player is ready to bowl, give him or her the courtesy of making the shot without any kind of interference because it's important to give the same consideration when it is your turn to bowl.

■ Rule No. 8: Be ready to bowl, but wait until the pinsetting machine has completed its cycle and the sweeper bar is raised. Otherwise you may damage the ball or machine.

■ Rule No. 9: Respect the equipment. Getting the ball out on the lane is good technique, but "lofting" hurts your game and damages the lane. Do not kick the ball returns if you get angry.

■ Rule No. 10: Play the game to win at all times, but be a gracious loser if you are on the short end of the score when the game ends.

(The these 10 commandments come from the Women's International Bowling Congress booklet No. 271 FC.)

The 57th Annual John Gavie tournament took place last week at Thunderbowl Lanes and it was the largest turnout in the history of this event, which is the official kickoff of the bowling season.

As usual, the media team handily defeated the Stroh's management team, led by none other than the Observer & Eccentric's Jim Jimmerson, along with yours truly.

The Chiefs must fill some positions on the offensive line, though they return senior Sam Stafford (6-1, 215) and junior Mike Marsh (6-1, 250) at the guards. Both are converted fullbacks who might end up at tackle.

Senior Dan Riese (6-4, 215) is slated to be one tackle but hurt a knee in a scrimmage and is out indefinitely, prompting Stafford to change positions.

The other tackle could be senior John Mogelnicki (6-1, 180) or junior Tony Radziszewski (6-0, 210). Senior Aaron Short (5-11, 225) is the probable starter at center.

Other line prospects are senior center Al Erickson (5-10, 195), senior guard Tom Tsallis (5-10, 170), junior guards Matt McIntosh (6-0, 200), Matt Shear (6-0, 160) and John Miller (5-8, 190) and junior tackles Todd Watroba (6-0, 230) and Dale Severson (5-9, 250).

"We're hoping all the kids come around and help us," Khoenle said. "But if Riese doesn't get back, we'll have to play with these people and get the best kids in there. We have good kids; we just have to get them ready to go."

The returning starters on defense are senior end Chris Mazur (6-0, 190), tackles Marsh and Mogelnicki, noseguard Tsallis, senior linebacker Tony DeGallio (5-11, 195) and backs Ostach and Moritz.

Junior Chris Agius (6-1, 160) will probably start at noseguard, to be replaced by Tsallis when Agius moves to linebacker when someone needs a rest.

The other defensive starters will be Cris at end, junior Dan Kanaan (6-0, 190) at linebacker, senior Josh Lee (6-0, 165) at monsterback and senior Brett Neienham (5-8, 150) at cornerback.

"There are some things we're concerned about on defense, but we have capable kids there," Khoenle said. "It's matter of experience for some of them."

"We'll two platoon as much as we can. But if some are not ready yet we'll work them in gradually."

Stafford and Watroba can play tackle, and other backs are Valimont, Kovachevich, junior David Gay (5-10, 150), Bahrou, Musser and Young. Junior Jeff Fliiss, a member of the soccer team, will be the placekicker.

The Chiefs open the season Friday at Monroe. Canton lost 14-13 to the Trojans last year when Monroe scored a late touchdown.

The Chiefs also lost to North Farmington, league champion Walled Lake Western, Northville and Livonia Franklin (after the Harrison victory) but finished with wins over Livonia Churchill, Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Salem. Canton has won three of the last five games with the Rocks.

"We were a young team when the season started, and young teams get better as the season goes on," Khoenle said. "Things went the way they should have (based on which teams were up and which were down). Now we're kinda in the drivers seat."

How would this man compose a PERSONAL SCENE ad?

Perhaps something like this:

LONG-HAIRED printer, well known for electric persona, enjoys getting (kites) high in the rain, revolutionary thinker, ingenious inventor, seeks like-minded travel companion for frequent visits to France.

"Setting too Good an Example is a kind of Slander seldom forgiven."
—Benjamin Franklin, 1753

Personal Scene Ads in The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers allow you to record a message in your own voice over the phone. That way when people see your ad in the paper, they can dial your code, hear your message and leave a message of their own. You can call, day or night, to get your messages. It's fast, it's easy, and it helps people find out more about each other. Look in today's classifieds or call your Observer & Eccentric ad taker and ask about our introductory offer. There may be a printer in your future, or a trip to France, or a walk in the rain. It pays to advertise.

Letterman rebounds from a wintry year of discontent

BY SUZANNE GILL

"Don't forget this," says an unusually sincere David Letterman. "I know I'm the luckiest man on the planet." It's a side of the wisecracking talk-show host that many viewers noticed virtually for the first time during his farewell speech on the last "Late Night With David Letterman," Friday, June 25, on NBC.

Preparing to launch a new series, "Late Show With David Letterman" on CBS, Letterman, who held out for months for an earlier time slot and will now earn $14 million a year, is lucky," he says, to be employed. When NBC named Jay Leno to replace Johnny Carson as host of "The Tonight Show," Letterman found himself at a turning point.

"At that point," he says, "honest to God, I thought that I was just going to have to leave and wouldn't have a job. And I'm very, very lucky to be in this situation.

"I always wanted to be considered as a candidate to have the job (as 'Tonight Show' host). And that never happened. So obviously that was disappointing to me.

"Now, as I guess time does for you, it kind of leads me to believe that things worked out for the better. Through all of this, I've suffered no rancor. I've had a little remorse."

As for his new, five-day work week, Letterman observes, "Don't most Americans work five days? It's going to be a back-breaker, I know."

And what about that salary? Won't it put him at arm's length from his audience?

"Geez...I hope not," he replies. "I'm certainly not worth that kind of dough...It happens to be the marketplace." Unable to resist a straight line, he adds, "If that happens, I'll just, you know, buy a new audience!"

On the subject of guests, Letterman's top-10 list begins with Johnny Carson, who has not appeared on any talk show since his retirement from the genre in May 1992.

"I would love to have Johnny Carson on our show under any circumstances," he says. "That would be great for me. I kind of get almost embarrassed when I talk about Carson, because he meant so much to me in my life and my career.

"The first time I was on ('The Tonight Show'), it was like, you pull a $5 bill out of your pocket and the next thing you know, you see Abe Lincoln walking down the street. It was like, 'Oh, my god, it's Johnny Carson.' And it never stopped feeling that way."

Letterman admits he's sorry to be leaving Rockefeller Center behind in the move from NBC to CBS.

"It's easily one of the great, recognizable landmarks on the globe," he says. "It was exciting, it was convenient, it was glamorous. Everything about it was absolutely wonderful. And we're leaving that behind. But I think that we will be able to find a home for ourselves."

The new home for Letterman and his staff is CBS' Ed Sullivan Theater, which is being renovated for his use.

"I've been in there three or four times, and every time I go in there, I stay about eight minutes, and then all you see are big clouds of asbestos. And then I have to get out. I just think it might have been easier to renovate Ed Sullivan than the theater itself," he concludes, returning to his on-air form.

The biggest question, for both fans and lawyers, concerns the contract of the new Letterman show. A saber-rattling NBC has already laid claim to certain "intellectual property." Letterman's producers have conceded that character names (like Larry "Bud" Melman) and the billing for music director Paul Shaffer's World's Most Dangerous Band belong to NBC. The Top-10 Lists and Stupid Pet/Human Tricks are Letterman property, however.

All in all, Letterman, Shaffer and crew think of it as the same show, only earlier.

"I think all these questions will be answered, like, the first night or the first week," Letterman says. "I mean, it'll either seem very odd to see me an hour earlier, or it'll seem okay.

"You know, I see myself almost every hour of the day, and I think that's fine."
