Company: No more defense cuts

Some $300 million in defense cuts have put Loc Performance Products, Inc. of Plymouth, a maker of tank parts, on the defensive. The company is joining other military suppliers in petitioning Congress for relief.

By KEVIN BROWN

A Plymouth tank parts maker is joining other military suppliers in an effort to lobby Congress to restore defense cutbacks. Loc Performance Products, Inc., on Industrial Drive just east of Massey Field, has written letters to Congress, urging support for legislation to restore cuts made this summer to the M-1 tank program. "The vast majority of our business is in defense work, we make tank and truck parts and the majority of those are for the spare market," said Jim Johnston, company sales manager. During the summer, more than $300 million was cut from the M1 upgrade program, which cut annual production from 120 upgrades to 70. Loc Performance Products, which has employed as many as 160 employees, had its workforce drop to 120 from resulting layoffs and employees leaving because they couldn't get as many hours as before. "We have employees with families, they have house payments, car payments, kids going to school," said Victor Vojcek, president of the firm. The letters to Congress drew the attention of John Schall, Republican candidate for U.S. Congress in Michigan's 13 District, which includes greater Plymouth. Schall toured the company's main facility on Wednesday, talking with workers and company officials. He supports restoring funding to the tank upgrade program. "When those on the far left cut defense

Leaves: Township bags 'em, city sucks 'em

By KEVIN BROWN

How to deal with falling leaves depends on where you live — Plymouth city or township.

If you live in the city of Plymouth, rain leaves into the street, or onto the lawn between street and sidewalk, the collection is by the city.

But in Plymouth Township, residents do not rely leaves to the street.

"Leaves in the township are not collected by a leaf vacuum system," stated the township Department of Public Works in a recent information sheet on leaf pickup.

"Leaves in the township must be bagged and then picked up by your waste hauler at the edge of the road as part of the compact collection program."

"Leaves which are not bagged and allowed to remain in the roadway will also create serious flooding problems and create difficulties for the street sweeper," the township DPW continued.

In Plymouth Township, leaves should be placed in special paper compost bags or in containers marked with a large "X" or "compost" and placed at the roadside for pickup.

Christine Haas of the township DPW said she's fielded about two dozen phone calls in recent days, from residents who say they heard the township would abandon its composting program next year.

"That's not the case. People need to know we plan to continue our program next year," she said.

Paper bags for leaves and yard waste are available at Kroger, 44505 W. Ann Arbor Road, and at the township DPW, 46535 Port Street. Plastic bags containing leaves won't be collected.

Township residents are also urged to mulch leaves by mowing them into small pieces. This saves raking and bagging, and decaying leaves encourage earthworm activity.

The township compost collection program runs through Dec. 3. After that, compost will be collected with regular trash.

City residents can also put leaves and yard waste in large brown paper bags and set them out at the curb on the normal trash-collection day.

"City Department of Public Works crews will be making at least three trips through the entire city to pick up leaves," said Paul Sistoich, DPW director. Leaf pickup is expected to finish by Nov. 25.

considering selling. The district has asked Plymouth Township if it would be interested in buying the 10-acre woods, which includes an adjacent 30 acres.

Kelly, a botany and microbiology instructor at Henry Ford Community College, told the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education last week that Miller Woods is a "unique natural resource that belongs in public hands."

Once earmarked for a future elementary school site, Miller Woods is used as an outdoor laboratory by the school district and the University of Michigan. The district no longer foresees the need for a school at Powell and Beck roads, given the direction of growth in the community, said Errol

Woman wants action on leaky, creaky co-op

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Not satisfied with the upkeep at her co-op apartment complex, a Plymouth woman has written the City Commission, U.S. Rep. Bill Ford, and the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development to get some action.

But since her concerns were raised before city commissioners in April, city building official Jim Penn said the co-operative's management company "did obtain the permits they hadn't previously obtained," for roof and sewer replacement and resurfacing some parking areas.

"In my opinion, they're making an attempt to clean things up," Penn said.

Ron Weaver, of the company that manages the complex, said the company is taking care of repairs that are needed, as directed by the board that residents elect to oversee the complex.

"We're doing the things we should do as a good manager," he said.

Rita Lanci, who has lived 21 years at the Mayflower Townhouses off of Plymouth Road, had complained of tubs that leak, crumbling tiles, plumbing leaks that cause damage, cracks in basement foundations, crumbling porches and potholes in parking lots.

A letter detailing complaints was sent to the City Commission in April and signed by 13 other residents of the complex.

Lanci's attorney Edward Zelmanaki Jr. in June wrote HUD's Detroit office, asking for HUD to provide information on the co-operative's finances. "Mrs. Lanci had been attempting to gather this information herself; however, her requests for this information were refused," Zelmanaki wrote.

In a letter to the state attorney general, Lanci wrote, "Thousands of dollars have been spent on kitchen cabinets in the town houses and new stoves and refrigerators that were not all needed. This money should have been spent on more serious structural damages and health hazards."

Weaver said the items were replaced as part of a general upkeep program. He said after Lanci wrote Ford, who contacted HUD, "They gave us a satisfactory rating" following inspections in the summer.

"Every stone she's thrown, so far we've been able to pass the test," he said.

As HUD insures the mortgage for the complex, the agency tries to ensure that government housing regulations are maintained, a HUD spokesman said.

An employee of the Detroit HUD office declined publicizing details of the inspection.

Teen hurt in bike crash

A 13-year-old Plymouth Township youth was treated for minor injuries Friday after the bike he was riding collided with a car at Canton Center and Ann Arbor roads.

In the 3 p.m. accident, the youth was thrown up onto the car hood, causing the windshield to break, then continued over the top of the car before landing in the street, Plymouth Township police said.

The youth had been riding south on Canton Center Road. Witnesses told police he rode through a stop sign before striking the westbound car, police said.

The youth was taken by ambulance to St. Joseph Hospital in Ypsilanti for treatment of minor injuries.

Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry reminded bicyclists that by law they must follow the same traffic rules — including stopping for stop signs — as motorists.

Brooks named MMTA director

Mary A. Brooks, Plymouth Charter Township Treasurer, has been elected to the office of director on the Michigan Municipal Treasurers Association.

MMTA has an active membership of over 600 finance officers in cities, townships, villages, counties, and governmental authorities throughout the State of Michigan.

The purpose of the MMTA is the provision of continuing education which sustains sound financial practices and the mutual exchange of ideas which are prudent to management of public funds.

Police arrest drunken driver

A 45-year-old Westland man was arrested for driving under the influence by Plymouth police shortly before 3 a.m. Oct. 23.

An officer noticed the driver accelerate quickly from a red light at Mill and Spring, Northbound on Mill, the man drove left of the center line. Police pulled him over and said the driver smelled of intoxicants. The motorist said he'd had four beers in the last 30 minutes.

He was given a number of sobriety tests. The man got halfway through the alphabet, omitting several letters before he gave up. He also failed counting, finger-toe and balance tests.

His blood alcohol level was measured at .17. A level of .10 is considered legally drunk in Michigan. The man was booked and jailed. At 10:14 a.m., when his blood alcohol level was down to .03, he was assigned a court date and released.

Goldman, assistant superintendent for employee relations.

The district recently had the property appraised at $1.25 million.

"The more building that goes on, the less likely it's going to be that it can remain as it is," said district spokesman Richard Egli. "There's going to be change in there whether any of us like to believe it or not. With all the development, it becomes increasingly difficult to maintain it. With more use of the area, there's more vandalism and more dumping."

Kelly researched the woods' history and learned it was purchased from the Miller family with HUD funds with "the stipulation that it remain as open space. The Plymouth-Canton school administration (board) expressed its intention to dedicate the site as a conservation and nature study area in a 1991 resolution."

Kelly said that since the land is exempt from taxation, an appraisal isn't valid.

"I feel it should not be sold since it can't be developed. If road paving is going to be a financial burden for the district, why not sell the land to the township for $1?"

Goldman said the deeds were reviewed by outside counsel. He requested copies of the documents from Kelly. "I saw nothing in the file that dealt with the HUD aspect," said Goldman.

Emily Kemnitz is president of the Friends of Miller Woods. Despite what school officials have said, it's the Friends of Miller Woods, not the district, which has maintained the forest. Also, damage and vandalism are not on an upswing, she said.

"Aside from the few adult neighbors who damaged the fence, there is a decrease in damage," since the fence was built, Kemnitz said.

"Mr. Egli is not monitoring it, so I'm not sure he would be aware of an increase or decrease in damage. The Friends are monitoring it."

Miller Woods merits saving because "it's a rare virgin beech and maple forest that's a fragment of our history. It shows how much of Michigan looked before settlement. It contains trees that are over two centuries old, along with many of the plants and animals that make up this special ecosystem," Kemnitz said.

The forest won't deteriorate and die of its own accord, she added. "There's something special about maples and beeches. Saplings can begin growing, even in the heavy shade of older maples and beeches. There are always new ones coming along, so this type of forest stays the same over hundreds of years."

The Friends are interested in working with the township.

"There are groups and individuals willing to donate for something this valuable. If we had time, we would certainly like to pursue those things," she said.

Gay music teacher seeks to beef up schools' non-discrimination policies

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

It's Mike Chiumento's fervent hope that no Plymouth-Canton student will endure what he went through as a young person.

Chiumento, a West Middle School band teacher, knew he was gay before he graduated from elementary school, but told no one until he was 22 years old, when his self-hatred grew to the point where he became suicidal.

Chiumento, 41, attended Catholic school in New York. "I received an outstanding education, but I also suffered in many ways," he said. "Church doctrine said there was hell and damnation to pay if you were gay or lesbian."

Chiumento vividly remembers visiting the psychology stacks in the public library in seventh or eighth grade. "I took one of my biggest books with my 'Our Lady Queen of Peace' book cover and tucked a book inside it. I knew the term homosexuality, but not much more," Chiumento said.

"The books I read dealt with it as a perversion. I read that, 'Boys feel this way a lot of times, but usually when they're 18, they sort of snap out of it.' It said shock therapy was being used with some success."

"I can't tell you how shocked I was when I got to 18 and felt the same."

Shocked

Chiumento, an accomplished oboist who also directs West's stage jazz band, received his bachelor's degree in education at the University of Wisconsin. He attended graduate school at Eastern Michigan University on a two-year fellowship, teaching and studying woodwinds performance.

While in college, "I came to the perfect solution: I decided I would take this to my grave. I decided this was my cross," said Chiumento, who shares a Westland condo with his partner, Lou Schiavone, a creative director at "Some people have ailments, and others have money or employment problems. This (homosexuality) was mine. I thought, 'I have great friends, a wonderful family, an outstanding education, and a career I love.' My life was simply great, yet every day, I got up, looked in the mirror and hated myself."

"Some people have ailments, and others have money or employment problems. This was mine. I thought, 'I have great friends, a wonderful family, an outstanding education, and a career I love.' My life was simply great, yet every day, I got up, looked in the mirror and hated myself."

It was at EMU that Chiumento came to a crossroads. "I had suicidal feelings," he said. "I was 22 at the time, and I sought someone out. A priest at the Newman Center on campus was very kind and nonjudgmental. He gave me the name of a counselor."

Danced around issue

Counseling was helpful, "but I danced around the issue. I couldn't bring myself to say the word," said Chiumento.

It wasn't until 1983 that the teacher summoned up the courage to contact a gay and lesbian discussion group in Ann Arbor.

"I got there early on a Sunday night and paced back and forth in front of the house," he said. "I was sure all my parents and students were on that street. I finally got the courage to go inside."

Chiumento said the men in attendance, "who all looked pretty average," discussed problems involving divorce and coming out. "At the very end, I blurted out, 'I'm Mike, I'm gay, and I'm really glad I came, because I've grown up believing it was bad, ugly and evil.'"

Since then, life has been a roller coaster, Chiumento said. "But I've been very fortunate with my family and friends. I can't even recount a bad experience. I think it has something to do with the fact that they knew Mike the person first."

The staff members at West - who, along with students and parents, hold him in high regard - have long known Chiumento is gay. District spokesman Richard Egli said Chiumento is an exemplary teacher, and that homosexuality in Plymouth-Canton schools "is a non-issue. The district reflects society," he said.

If it really is a non-issue, Chiumento would like to know why his repeated requests to include the words "sexual orientation" in the district's non-discrimination contract language have been ignored.

It's been two years since Chiumento began sending Egli correspondence and contract language from other districts, requesting that Plymouth-Canton's non-discrimination clause be amended. "We have non-discrimination language; why not put some teeth in it?" he asks.

Non-person

He's sent reminders to the district, but has been met with silence. "It's infuriating. It's more hypocrisy," Chiumento said. "They say, 'We want you to be involved in decision-making,' but it's baloney. Instead, you get treated like a non-person."

Egli said Chiumento did contact him requesting changes, but that the district's policies are adequate.

Since Chiumento seized the opportunity of National Coming Out Day Oct. 11 to let others know he's gay, he's been gratified with the positive reaction of students and parents. Many have written or called with messages of support and encouragement.

Chiumento wants to destroy myths and stereotypes about gays and lesbians. He also wants to point out that many gay and lesbian people are forced to live invisibly for fear of losing their jobs.

"I'd like to destroy the myth that gay and lesbian people are inherently evil and sick, incapable of love or maintaining long-term relationships," he said. "I'd like to break the stereotype that gays and lesbians are somehow interested in pedophilia. I lot of people equate those two words."

"A lot of people think it's a choice," he added. "I want to scream when I hear the term 'sexual preference.' It's so ludicrous."

"And I'd like to break the myth that there is something unusual about us. We own houses and cars, like to take vacations, and have significant others in our lives."

Lonely

Some have questioned why Chiumento chose to make his lifestyle public.

"If statistics are correct, one of every 10 kids in my band room may be growing up like I did. I remember what a scary, lonely feeling that is. I don't know if people realize the rate of suicide within the gay and lesbian community is significantly higher. The same with alcoholism, depression and drug abuse. Gays and lesbians are more prone to this because of the fear of being themselves and living their own lives."

Coming out hasn't been easy. But Chiumento said that if he can serve as a role model or facilitator for other people, it's all worth it. "You have to educate.

That's what life is all about. Education isn't just math, social studies and English. There are other things to be learned, and some of them can be learned while in school."

Field trip plan draws concern

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth-Canton School Superintendent Charles Little says students will be safer and the district less vulnerable with parent-driven field trips becoming a thing of the past.

But some remain unconvinced that his back-up plan is a good one, or that it's being well-communicated.

Little said school buses and drivers can be used for field trips between 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. at a cost of 88 cents per mile and $11 per hour for labor. Parents may still go on field trips, but as chaperones, not drivers.

Sharon Belobraidich told the school board she's come to appreciate how valuable field trips are, having taught first grade in the district for 29 years.

"Education doesn't always take place within four walls," she said. "A student of mine was walking through Miller Woods and said, 'I've never been in a forest before.' It was a thrill for that child," said Belobraidich, who teaches at Hoben.

"If this is going to be the new policy, then do something about the bus policy. Eighty-eight cents a mile and $11 per hour adds considerable cost. Returning by 1:30 p.m. is an impossibility. It's difficult to get through the zoo in three, let alone two hours."

"It doesn't seem fair because there are schools where finance is not a problem. I urge you to reconsider your policy on bus usage."

Sue Poniatowski told the school board she's "not satisfied with the way the new policy is being communicated." Poniatowski helped set up a Miller Elementary School field trip to Lansing recently.

"We were told bus drivers weren't available Thursday, Oct. 20 and to switch the trip to the next day. We made arrangements for the change, only to be told drivers weren't available. We were rescheduled for March."

"It was obvious there was no communication between the transportation office and our principal," she said. "I was there for several of the phone calls that day."

Poniatowski said she doesn't want to incur liability, "but I think the policy should be clear. I hope money is made available for field trips," she added. "It shouldn't be the full responsibility of PTO's."

Said Little: "We have limited funds. I guess the day is here when there are constraints placed on the school budget. There's not an unlimited amount of money for things as valuable as field trips. Don't think there is funding available, because there isn't."

Safety remains the key issue, said Little. "We can't risk having an accident with a carload of youngsters, not to mention the liability of the chain of command that would authorize trips. It could freeze us for years. The prudent step to take is to use our transportation window," and the district's buses and drivers.

7-year-old's call saves mother's life

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Seven-year-old Michael Potter asked his father if he did right by calling 911 when his mother fainted in her Canton home Oct. 26.

"How can I stress more importantly that you saved your mom's life," Jim Potter said he told his son.

Michael has been recommended by the Canton Police Department for a civilian commendation for the efforts that saved his mother, who had a seizure and fell to the floor in her house on Antietam Drive at about 12:40 p.m.

Mary Potter, 34, was coming out of a bedroom when she collapsed. "He heard her fall," Jim Potter said.

The Bentley Elementary School student called 911 and told a dispatcher that his mom had fallen and was bleeding from her mouth, according to fire and police reports.

"I've been trying to piece things together," Jim Potter said. "He was holding up her fingers and asking her how many fingers she had. She was staring off into space when he called 911."

Mary Potter was taken to Annapolis Hospital where she remained as of Friday. "She's coming along," Jim Potter said.

According to police and fire information, Michael gave the 911 dispatcher his address and stayed on the line while emergency rescue was alerted. He was able to answer all necessary questions over the portable phone he was using while keeping a check on his mother.

Michael told the dispatcher that he could tell his mom was still breathing by watching her chest rise and fall and that she has a history of fainting spells. With the portable phone, Michael told the dispatcher when he heard the emergency sirens and when help arrived.

Michael learned about 911 not only from his parents but from a public safety booklet for children. "We stress the importance of it (911) and that it's not a toy," Jim Potter said.

The booklet also has blanks for children to fill in emergency numbers. "He filled them in by himself," Jim Potter said. Michael also informed emergency personnel how his dad and grandmother could be reached.

Parents are encouraged to teach their children emergency information, such as when and how to dial 911.

"Kids get nervous. We want them to be able to say who they are and what help is needed," said firefighter Mike Caruso. "We would like them to stay on the line."

The 911 system automatically tells dispatchers where a call is coming from. If a child hangs up, dispatchers are able to call back. But it is preferred that callers stay on the line to keep communications open and to provide dispatchers with necessary information.

Firemen defuse diesel fuel leak

Listed below are some of the Canton fire and rescue incidents reported during the past week, as well as fire safety tips and programs available free to the community. Year-to-date (Jan. 1-Oct. 27) runs for the Canton Fire Department: 2,891.

FUEL SPILL

Firefighters spent most of the evening and early morning hours working on a diesel fuel leak at a motel at Michigan Avenue and Lotz Road, Oct. 20.

Firefighters were called to the scene at 9 p.m. when about 20-25 gallons of diesel fuel spilled. A semi-truck that was hauling tractor trucks piggyback pulled into the driveway of the motel when a fuel tank on one of the tractor trucks was ruptured, according to fire department personnel.

The diesel fuel spilled onto the driveway and into a storm sewer. One of the fire department officers who is a member of the regional hazardous materials team was on duty at the time. There was no need to call in the larger HAZMAT team, fire personnel said.

The spill did not cause a fire. But people in the area, such as at a nearby strip mall were evacuated. No buildings were shut down, however.

The diesel fuel was contained in the storm sewer with fire department equipment and was prevented from entering the nearby Rouge River.

Fire department personnel left the scene at 5:31 a.m. Canton police also were on the scene.

DRYER FIRE

Firefighters responded to a dryer that had caught on fire at Plymouth Landing Condominiums at Warren and Sheldon roads just before 4 p.m., Oct. 22.

When firefighters arrived they could see flames coming out of the back of the clothes dryer, which had to be removed from the condominium.

PROGRAMS OFFERED

Canton residents and businesses are reminded that a number of programs are available to them for free from the fire department. Programs include CPR and basic First Aid classes, juvenile firestarters, babysitter awareness and tours and department presentations.

■ CPR/First Aid: Groups may sign up for training for adult, infant/child and First Aid classes. Groups can be as small as 3-4 people. Most of the classes are about four hours. Participants receive a card that says they completed the course. The only cost to participants is the purchase of a $12.72 book. For more information contact Sgt. Jim Davison, 453-4114.

■ Juvenile fire starters: This is a program for youths whose parents, teachers or school principals are concerned about fire setting, or pulling fire alarms or abnormal fixations with fire. Firefighters meet with parents and children.

"We let them know the importance of fire alarms who would be left in danger if the department had to respond to a false alarm," said firefighter Greg Tellner, who works in the program. If counseling is needed for the child, a referral is given. For more information, call fire prevention, 397-5348.

■ Babysitter awareness: These are sessions for youths interested in babysitting. Information is provided explaining what to do in cases of emergency, as well as basic first aid. For information, call fire prevention, 397-5348.

■ Classes and tours: Groups, homeowners associations and businesses interested in learning fire prevention and fire safety, such as the use of extinguishers, may contact fire prevention, 397-5348.

SAFETY TIP

Residents are reminded to change the batteries in their smoke detectors annually. Fire officials encourage changing the batteries when clocks are turned back for the fall-winter season. Smoke detectors also should be cleaned regularly.

With leaves piling up in the community, residents and businesses are reminded that open burning is illegal — and punishable with a fine — in Wayne County. If you have any questions, call fire prevention, 397-5348.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

During the recent Fire Prevention Week, the fire department handled 77 calls for emergency service. Firefighters conducted guided tours of the fire stations to 332 people, while 11 fire safety classes were given for 404 children.

The Fire Safety House visited Canton schools Sept. 19-Oct. 15, allowing 826 students to tour the facility and receive fire safety instructions.

Parents are to limit their conference to five minutes if other parents are waiting to see a particular teacher. Alternatives offered to Rivers, Schall

BY RALPH E. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

If the Democratic and Republican candidates for Congress in the 13th District don't get you all excited, consider the two alternatives.

Although Republican John Schall and Democrat Lynn Rivers have gotten all the headlines, Libertarian Craig Seymour and Workers League candidate Helen Halyard would like you to consider them as well.

The 13th District includes Canton and Plymouth townships, Plymouth, Westland, Garden City and the southwest quadrant of Livonia.

Seymour, 26, of Westland, works in retail sales for a food distributor. In his spare time, he publishes a newsletter called "Capital and Liberty."

Seymour is running for Congress on the premise that "government has only one legitimate function, and that is to protect individual rights," according to his campaign literature.

His top priorities, he said, are to protect the right to keep and bear arms and to lobby for U.S. withdrawal from international organizations like the United Nations and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Seymour would also like to balance the federal budget, in part by selling most of the property the federal government owns.

Halyard, 43, of Detroit, is a socialist. It doesn't matter that she doesn't live in the 13th District, she said, because "we have a program that represents the working class, and the working class lives throughout the U.S."

Helen Halyard

Halyard believes in public ownership of banks, large corporations, the health care industry and more. She would also have the government confiscate all income more than $150,000 a year.

In her campaign literature, Halyard claims that the increase in interest rates in 1994 was done for nefarious reasons.

Youth at risk

Forum tackles juvenile delinquency

BY RALPH E. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

The chief lament at a League of Women Voters forum on "youth at-risk" last Wednesday was that most of the officials who were invited didn't show up and the ones who did left early.

"The key people who could help and make a difference, they leave," said Lewis Colson, who chairs the Metro Detroit Commission to Prevent Crime, Drugs and Violence. "They didn't see enough people here. That's why they left. When they see a full auditorium they'll stick around."

Attendance at the event, held in the Livonia Library auditorium, was about 20.

Colson and Robert Bee, the director of child welfare licensing for the state Department of Social Services, were the only officials to stay for the whole four-hour meeting.

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano, state Rep. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, and county commissioner Edward Boike, D-Taylor, all spoke and left early.

The topic was juvenile delinquents and what to do with them. Colson said that his commis-

"We need to start teaching people some accountability and responsibility. By and large, we have told people they no longer have to be accountable for their actions."

State Rep. Jerry Vorva

sion, which is not affiliated with government, is comprised of volunteers who are tired of waiting for government to address the problem of juvenile delinquency.

"We could not wait for our city officials to name a blue ribbon committee to study the problem."

Colson hopes, however, that the government will give his group some money to use for programs to prevent juvenile delinquency. "We're going to design the model for the nation," he said, "design a prevention strategy. We want to be known as the prevention capital of the United States."

The solution, Colson said, is mostly to catch kids before they become hard-core criminals.

"Young people who make bad decisions are not bad people," he said. "They just need to be taught how to make good decisions."

Audience member Patricia Holmes, a Livonia resident, agreed with Colson. She said it does no good to put boys in places like the Wayne County juvenile detention facility. "They're going to learn more bad in those facilities," she said.

Boike said he recently toured the county youth home and wasn't impressed.

"For what they have there, they're not doing a bad job," he said. "(But) if something major was to happen, you'd almost have to make a 911 call to get someone to respond."

The youth home, which houses 210 juvenile offenders, was recently renovated, but Boike said the work was "an absolute waste of money."

County prevention programs are also ineffective, he claimed.

Vorva said that government should give more money to community-based organizations who work with kids. "You have to take the money to where the problem is and work with the money right there," he said.

The key is to teach people morality, Vorva said. "All of us know that poor people aren't bad people," he said, noting that he grew up poor in Alabama, the illegitimate son of a 16-year-old mother.

"My mother still taught me right from wrong," the former police officer said. "We need to start teaching people some accountability and responsibility. By and large, we have told people they no longer have to be accountable for their actions."

Vorva concluded his remarks by noting that he can be very candid because he lost his primary and cannot be re-elected. "I'm in a real good position to say whatever I want," he said.

Introducing the

GOOD NEIGHBOR TEAM

A program to help "Keep The Heat On" this winter for needy people in the western suburbs of Detroit

The Good Neighbor Team is designed to provide furnace service and repair (non-emergency), and in some instances, parts and furnaces, to those who have no financial or other means of keeping their furnaces operating this winter. Up to 500 hours of service will be donated to those in need.

Indications that this program may be able to assist you:

- Marginal furnace operation
- Continuous falling of furnace
- Furnace no longer provides heat
- You have no financial means to repair furnace

Requests for service assistance will be monitored by the Salvation Army. Phone 313-663-2049 to request assistance on an automated answering service. Leave complete information, including name, address, and daytime phone where you can be contacted by the Salvation Army.

This is not an emergency service.

This is not a heating bill payment program.

As a heating safety reminder, always call your gas company immediately if you smell gas.

Canton man appointed

Jim Thomas of Canton has been appointed program manager for the Michigan Training and Resource Center (MTRC), a program of Family Service Detroit and Wayne County.

MTRC, based in Westland, provides on-going technical assistance and services to Youth Assistance Programs in 22 Wayne County communities for at-risk children.

MTRC also operates the Alternative Intervention Method Program (AIM). AIM accepts referrals from courts, police, and youth assistance programs, giving families and children the chance to redirect their lives through in-home counseling and other treatment methods.

According to Thomas, 78 percent of the families served by AIM since its inception in 1989 have not had further contact with the juvenile justice system. AIM has helped about 120 families since October, 1993.

Thomas, formerly an AIM counselor, was recently acting supervisor for MTRC. The Canton resident has a master's degree in guidance and counseling from Eastern Michigan University and is a certified social worker.

Family Service is a United Way agency providing family-focused counseling, education, training, and advocacy at office in Canton, Dearborn, Livonia, Trenton, and Westland.

Hospice founder lands special honor

As Angela Hospice of Livonia moves into its 10th year of providing compassionate hospice care, the achievements and leadership of its founder and president have not gone unnoticed.

Sister Mary Giovanni has dedicated the last 20 years of her life to a unique service that provides specialized care for people who suffer from incurable illnesses.

As a result of her commitment to hospice, Sister Giovanni was recently selected to receive the Special Award for Contribution to Hospice by the National Association for Home Care.

This national award is given to "provide recognition for an individual who has done a particularly excellent job running his or her hospice," said W. Holt, chair of the nominating committee.

About 6,000 people attended the award presentation at the National Association for Home Care's annual meeting in Chicago on Tuesday, Oct. 25.

"I am honored to receive this special award," said Giovanni. "Without the strength of our Father, the commitment of our staff and volunteers, and the support of the communities in which we serve, Angela Hospice would not be where it is today.

"As we move into our tenth year, we remain committed to our promise that no one should die in pain or alone as we care for people during the most delicate time of life."

Since 1985, Angela Hospice has cared for more than 1,000 patients, started the area's first hospice day care program, opened Michigan's first hospice inpatient facility of its kind, established a comprehensive home health care program, and will add a pediatric hospice program, My Nest is Best, in 1995.

In a letter sent to Sister Giovanni, President Bill Clinton stated: "Angela Hospice brings compassion, understanding, and judicious relief of pain to the dying, thus endowing them with dignity. I commend you for your commitment to others."

Angela Hospice will celebrate its 10th anniversary in 1995.

Community Hospice benefit show is a hit

An enthusiastic crowd enjoyed first class entertainment at "Friday Nite Live — Puttin' on the Hits," Broadway Review held by Community Hospice Foundation to benefit Community Hospice Services (formerly Hospice Services of Western Wayne County) on Friday, Oct. 7.

Community leaders such as Plymouth Township supervisor, Kathleen Keen-McCarthy; Denise Radtke, Field Representative for United States Congressman Joe Knollenberg; Plymouth's Beth Lurtz and Dan Herriman; and Livonia's Christopher and Nancy

"This event gave me an opportunity to acquaint my friends with the work of Community Hospice Foundation, and to interest them in getting involved in the Hospice movement."

Ziomek were "wowed" by talented performers.

"It was a delightful evening of quality entertainment," said Beth Lurtz, "This event gave me an opportunity to acquaint my friends with the work of Community Hospice Foundation, and to interest them in getting involved in the Hospice movement."

The audience was treated to a cocktail hour featuring the talents of professional jazz musicians Dwayne Harvey, Lance Loiselle, and Pat Proudly, amidst a festive atmosphere of balloons and stars. The piano performance of Gregory Hamilton during dinner was pleasant background to a sumptuous family style dinner featuring roast sirloin, home-made ravioli and chicken scallopini.

Music was supplied by Dr. Marie Delewsky of Farmington Hills and Livonia, on flute; while the talents of Plymouth's Margaret Thomsen and CAPA program's Sue Nienhuis accompanied on piano. Emcee and comic relief was supplied by Bruce Gerish of Northville, formerly of Plymouth.

Test score studies provide interesting comparisons

Q: My son recently took the Scholastic Aptitude Test and is now sweating the results. He is a B+ student. He felt he "tightened up" during the SAT testing. We are worried. It seems every newspaper article I read on the SAT scores shows how low our students are scoring nationally. Are students today scoring that much lower on the SAT than in the past?

A: A recent comprehensive study from the National Center for Educational Statistics entitled, Education in States and Nations, was very interesting. That study along with the research of Gerald Bracey, a research psychologist out of Washington D.C., nationally known for his work in this area, needs to be considered. Look at the data and you make up your own mind.

The Scholastic Aptitude Test standards were set in 1941 when 10,654 students took the test. Ninety eight percent were white, 40 percent had attended private high schools, most lived in the Northeast and many stated they planned to attend private colleges.

The developers of the SAT, in their infinite wisdom, converted this elite population's scores into a normal bell shaped curve, a distribution from high to low scores.

This 1941 elitist group had 6.68 percent of the students score above 650 (which is a very good score) on the math section. How bad are we today in comparison? In 1993, 11 percent of our students scored above 650 on the math section. That is an increase of 4.32 percent when compared with the original 1941 group. And today we are testing over 30 percent minorities of which over 30 percent have family incomes in the $20,000-$30,000 range. A different population than the 98 percent, affluent, private school, upper class student population that set the original standard in 1941.

You refer to how the news stories you read points out how bad SAT scores are. I personally don't believe and never have believed the press is the enemy. I believe it is "deadlines" and simply time to study the issue.

For instance, George Will, the nationally syndicated writer whom I thoroughly enjoy reading, wrote a column entitled, Meaningless Money Factor. He pointed out that states with more money don't even score as well as "poorer" states on the SAT. To make his case, George pointed out that the top five SAT scoring state's, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah and Minnesota were relatively very low spenders on education while New Jersey spent more money and yet was down in the pack on SAT scores. What George didn't point out is that only 5 percent of the student population took the SAT in Iowa, only 6 percent in North and South Dakota, 4 percent in

DOC DOYLE

Utah and 10 percent in Minnesota. . . probably the student cream of the crop.

No, did he mention that in the wealthier state New Jersey, which he used as a comparison, 76 percent of the seniors took the SAT. The more students taking the test (76 percent in New Jersey as compared to 5 percent in Iowa) the more "average" or below average New Jersey students are tested. A first year high school student in math can figure that out. New Jersey, which tests 76 percent of its students on the SAT will not look good when compared to a state (Iowa, etc) which tested only 4 percent to 6 percent on the SAT. . . most likely it's brightest students.

And to compound Will's lack of factual data in his column is that most students in the states he cited which spent the least money on education (Utah, etc.) don't even take the SAT. In the states he cited as winners, over 90 percent of the students take the ACT, the American (College Admission) Test. Reporting in general numbers without breaking down the data can be newsworthy but not necessarily factual. How can he compare one state, New Jersey in which 76 percent take the SAT with "poorer states," Utah where only 6 percent take the SAT. Apples and oranges!

One of the most interesting studies from the National Center for Educational Statistics study ranked the top finishers on the International Assessment of Educational Progress (IAEP-2), a test that compares nations, states and groups within nations.

Top finishers: Asian students (U.S.) 287, Taiwan 285, Korea 283, advantaged urban white students (U.S.) 283, white students (U.S.) 277, Hungary 277.

Bottom scorers: Jordan 246, Mississippi 246, Hispanic students (U.S.) 245, disadvantaged urban white students (U.S.) 239, black students (U.S.) 236. From the data above it is clear that specific groups of American students score at the top, that includes . . . Asian students (U.S.) . . . advantaged urban students (U.S.), and white students (U.S.). And it should be noted that 70 percent of our K-12 population is made up of white and Asian students.

Recognizing it is not politically correct to break data down in this enlightened era, the fact is that Mississippi, Hispanic, disadvantaged urban white and black students scored at the bottom in the international study, Education in States and Nations. And those scores impact on this nation's over-all score. Of course, this data is a reflection of a multitude of inner city social problems we must address.

But these facts are overlooked when those with a need want to take another shot at public education. No more fair than for me not to state that educated, wealthy blacks out score many Asians . . . which negates any thought of blacks not being capable.

You ask if our students are scoring lower today than in the past. Review the data and make your own decision. As far as your concern about your son "tightening up" during the SAT. . . this is very normal. When I took my doctoral degree final, I didn't sleep the night before.

Salespersons going in for a big sale experience this, coaches before game, band directors . . . principals before major meetings, lawyers before cases, editors being deadlines. It's very normal.

Smokeless is no alternative with an increased risk of oral cancers.

Suggesting this switch is like telling someone to use a rifle instead of an Uzi.

As an oral and maxillofacial surgeon, I am all too familiar with the ravages of smokeless tobacco. Its devastation is not restricted to the spot in the mouth where smokeless users place the pouch. According to the American Cancer Society, "the use of chewing tobacco or snuff increases the risk of cancer of the mouth, larynx, throat and esophagus and is a highly addictive habit."

Some other disheartening information regarding smokeless: while cigarette smoking has declined for the seventh year in a row, consumption of snuff has risen for the fourth consecutive year. And, who's using it? More than 22 million persons, age 12 and older have used some form of smokeless. Usage among high school students is as high as 35 percent — 19 percent use some form daily.

Even more shocking, a recent government survey found that smokeless users pick up the habit at the average age of 9½ years old. . . n. and more than 25 percent of users start dipping snuff by age 5.

So, do we want to suggest that smokeless is a "better alternative?"

The answer is a resounding no! No, we don't want an increase in the more than 29,000 cases of oral cancer that doctors diagnose each year. No, we don't want to increase the number of persons who die as a result of oral cancer from 8,000 each year to an even larger number.

And for those who are among the millions of current smokeless users, I advise you to perform a self-examination at least once a month and see a dentist or oral and maxillofacial surgeon for a yearly exam. To learn more about how to perform a self-exam, a free brochure is available by sending for "A look that can save a Life" to AAOMS, 9700 W. Bryn Mawr Ave., Rosemont, IL 60018.

McNamara, commission mow down parks budget

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Wayne County commissioners approved a $600,000 cut in parks funding Thursday while enacting a general fund budget of $337.5 million for 1995.

The parks cut was part of the budget that Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara delivered to the commission. In fact, McNamara had asked for a $600,000 cut, but the commission restored $100,000 of that.

The new parks budget for 1995 is $1.8 million, and director Hurley Coleman said programs and services will be cut if the money isn't restored.

"We just have to lop off some things we're doing," he said. "Some park areas could be closed down."

Commissioners are hoping to modify the budget in the next month to replace the money that was cut.

Lester Robinson, the budget director for McNamara, said the commission could have easily continued parks funding at 1994 levels, but chose to spend new revenue from fee increases elsewhere.

The budget was approved on a 9-6 vote. Among those voting against the budget were commissioners Michelle Plawecki, D-

Dearborn Heights, who also represents Redford Township and Livonia east of Middlebelt, and Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, who also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Among those voting for the budget were Vice Chair Kay Beard, D-Westland, who also represents Garden City, and commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, who also represents Canton Township.

Beard was the commissioner who suggested transferring $100,000 from the Probate Court to parks, restoring part of McNamara's cut. "The parks system is very important for the quality of life of Wayne County," she said. "We're committed to restoring most, if not all, of that money for the parks."

Amann blamed the budget woes on rising costs and stagnant revenues associated with the property tax cut approved by voters last March.

"This is the first budget where Wayne County has to learn how to live under Proposal A," he said.

McCotter and Plawecki said they opposed the budget because of the parks cut. The two freshman commissioners were also disappointed that the commission's personal budget increased by about $125,000.

The increase was due to increased costs in health insurance and related areas.

"I can't vote for a budget that has an increase for the commission and a decrease for county parks," McCotter said.

Plawecki and McCotter also agree that the commission's personal budget should be cut. They said that a plan already exists to examine the commission budget early next year and make staff reductions. "There will be some people who are let go," Plawecki said.

Amann suggested that the commission's fiscal advisor office should be "seriously economized."

The commission's spending on itself was about $3 million in 1986 and rose to $6 million in 1992.

Plawecki and McCotter said that McNamara has an unofficial office budget of $20 million, and it should be cut, too.

The new budget is expected to be the subject of discussion and modification during the next two commission meetings, tentatively scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursdays, Nov. 3 and 17, in the commission headquarters downtown.

The new budget also includes several fee increases and a new medical examiner fee for moving dead bodies.

Local Red Cross short of type O blood

The Red Cross in southeastern Michigan is appealing for donors with type O blood as shortages threaten the ability of area hospitals to meet patient needs.

As of Thursday, Oct. 20, the general inventory for type O blood at Red Cross headquarters in southeastern Michigan was 92 units, or 10 percent of adequate levels.

People with type O blood are urged to call (800) 562-4383 to make an appointment to donate blood.

"There are almost two million people (45 percent of the population) in our area who have type O blood, however, only about 5 percent of eligible individuals donate blood on an annual basis," says Red Cross spokesman Dan Waxman in a press release. "We supply blood to 64 hospitals in a five-county region and these 92 type O units do not leave much room for an emergency."

Type O blood can be given to people of all ABO blood types. In emergencies when the recipient's blood type is not known, or their specific type is not available, type O blood can be given.

For that reason, it is used in greater proportion to other blood types.

Area families take part in Gilda's walk

More than 500 walkers and even a few runners turned out under sunny skies Sunday, Oct. 23, at the metro area's first family block party and 5K walk to honor the late comedienne and former Southfield resident Gilda Radner.

The metro Detroit area joined New York City as part of Gilda's Club, a nonprofit support group working to raise money for a center for families of cancer patients. Radner died of ovarian cancer.

Music by local bands, clowns and entertainment by local comedienettes greeted walkers as they completed the route which started at Cobo Center and continued through Hart Plaza to Chene Park.

The event was geared toward families, and organizers said they were pleased by the turnout at this first event.

Sponsors included People Magazine; Observer & Eccentric Newspapers; PPOM (Preferred Providers of Michigan); Southfield; Edcor Data Systems (EDS); Farmington Hills; Franklin Bank, Southfield; RR&A, River Rouge; Oakland Mall, Troy; Horizon Bi-County Community Hospital, Warren; Henry Ford Health Systems, Detroit; and Hospices of Henry Ford Health Systems, West Bloomfield.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Don't 'stew' over what to cook tonight

When daylight savings time ends, and the clocks fall back an hour, my internal clock begins craving for stew. Rich, thick and hearty, stew is a one pot meal that sticks to the ribs.

On a blustery day a good pot of stew will steam the windows of the kitchen and the soul. Served with some bread or a quick johnnycake to soak up all the juices, stew can be as exotic as a beouf bourgignone, as French as a pot au feu, as British as Shepherd's Pie, or as American as meat and potatoes. And you don't need the skills of a rocket scientist to pull it off.

Cooking method

To "stew" is to cook less tender cuts of beef such as the chuck, shoulder, round or brisket using a moist heat method. These methods help cook the meat in varying amounts of liquid in a closed pot or casserole for relatively long periods of time, therefore rendering a tender meat by-product.

Any type of meat is perfectly acceptable to make a good stew. Beef, lamb and venison offer the perfect tougher cuts that can slowly tenderize in their own cooking liquid, but pork, chicken and small game are also acceptable alternatives.

The liquid medium that surrounds the meat can be as plain as water or as delicate as wine. Personally, I favor a mixture of V-8 vegetable juice cocktail and a few hearty gulps of cheap dry red wine (i.e. Gallo Hearty Burgundy is a Janes Gang favorite). This mix assures a tasty sauce or gravy.

Proper pot

Before you begin a stew, choose an appropriate cooking vessel. A crock pot works wonders for those who work all day. A heavy saucepan on the stove top may tempt to be stirred every now and then, but a Dutch oven or deep casserole nestled gently in the oven is just what this doctor of cuisine prefers to utilize.

A pressure cooker is nice, but for the most part, stew is one of those dishes that begs to be made on a frosty day to help warm the house and diners inside.

Since stews beg to be cooked slowly, it's not one of those meals the beef industry wants you to start at 5:15 p.m. and have ready for a 5:45 p.m. meal. Bigger chunks of meat means longer cooking times. If the clock matters, choose a more tender cut of beef, and cut the meat into small cubes or thinner slices against the grain.

The procedure for preparing a great stew is one of those no brainers that even a beginner can accomplish with minimal fuss. The most difficult task in making stew is to cut the meat into uniform cubes or strips.

Simply cover the cubed meats in a little flour and shaking off the excess, brown the meat in a pan just barely covered with sizzling fat. After the meat is browned over medium high heat, remove the meat and splash a good cup of the cooking liquid over the bottom of the fry pan to loosen any bits of meat and flavors that might have adhered. It's even OK to stir and prod the pieces with a wooden spoon. Look at it this way - by loosening all that stuff off the bottom of the fry pan, it's a cinch to wash!

Experience has taught me to cook the browned meat for an hour or two before adding in the vegetables but either method can be used.

Next, wash, trim, pare and dice the vegetables and toss them in with the meat. Pour on your liquid and sprinkle with salt and pepper. You can get fancy with herbs and spices and add everything from juniper berries to Hungarian sweet paprika, but you'll want to rely on the flavor of the vegetables for a real stew.

Speaking of the vegetables, most stews contain all of your basic vegetables. Carrots, celery, onions and potatoes are the average stewing vegetables but again, you can get as exotic as you wish with the addition of turnips, parsnips, rutabagas, fancy potatoes, peppers, leeks and squash.

Shortcuts

In the produce sections of some grocery stores you'll find a package of vegetables that contains just enough redskin potatoes, onions, celery, carrots and parsley to help stew up a one pound package of chuck complete with a basic recipe.

In the frozen food section, convenience seekers will find a bag filled with frozen vegetables and potatoes that can be "dumped in" with nary the need to scrub a potato or pare a carrot.

Experienced cooks know the benefits of a "bouquet garni" or a blend of fresh parsley, garlic, bay leaf and a few peppercorns tied together in cheesecloth that helps accentuate the flavor and turn a basic stew into a gourmet meal.

HUNTERS ARE WILD

ABOUT VENISON

Some people enjoy the thrill of the hunt, others prefer the spoils. Hunters talk about their favorite ways to prepare venison.

BY LARRY JANES
SPECIAL WRITER

Let's make one thing perfectly clear: I'm a lover, not a hunter.

I have, on numerous occasions, hunted, yet when it came time to sight in the six-point buck that was no less than 20 yards away - a clear shot - I raised my rifle, but my heart wouldn't let me pull the trigger.

As a matter of fact, when I saw my first buck, it was all I could do to just stand there, my heart beating what seemed like 200 times a minute. I lowered my rifle and grabbed the binoculars but couldn't hold them steady. I'd prefer to cook venison than to kill it.

But it's evident that I'm in the minority when it comes to hunting. With bow and arrow season well under way, and firearm season beginning Nov. 17, Michigan's 250,000 hunters will pump more than $40 million into our state economy before the season ends.

Matt Richards of Troy will be one of those hunters. If early results are any indication of his luck (Richards bagged a six pointer just before dawn Oct. 9 with a bow) the season looks to be prosperous.

Richards has been hunting since he was 8, and has a deep freeze purchased solely for venison hidden in the corner of his Troy rec room.

Richards and two friends bought 40 acres just north of Owosso. They have been lucky enough to have bagged at least two deer every year for the past five years.

An auto worker who turned down a weekend of overtime to begin hunting, Richards agrees with Chef Milos Cihelka (see related story) about the importance of proper field dressing to ensure good tasting venison.

"I know of guys who bagged a deer and properly field dressed it only to strap it onto the front hood of their car, and by the time they returned home, the meat was almost rancid from the heat transfer," Richards said.

He attended Chef Milos' class on butchering last year at the Kitchen Glamor store in Rochester, and now prefers to butcher his own deer.

"About 5 years ago I sent my deer to a local processor and it was evident they didn't know what they were doing. I ended up with two roasts and 125 pounds of venison burger.

"After observing the ease of technique offered by Chef Milos, butchering my own deer not only saved money, but the results were far superior to the processing plant."

In addition to luscious tenderloins, Richards' favorite style of venison preparation is a dish called "onion roasted venison" that cooks all day in a crock pot.

Don Marshall of Canton enjoys the thrill of the hunt for other reasons.

"I never even held a rifle until three years ago when I suffered a major heart attack and underwent triple bypass surgery," Marshall said.

Having always been a fan of red meat, Marshall was told by his doctor to lay off beef.

When a fellow retiree introduced him to the joys of eating venison, which is low in fat and cholesterol, he decided to join a few friends at a hunting camp near Gaylord.

On the first day out, Marshall bagged a 10 pointer and has been a lover of venison ever since then. Having worked at a butcher shop many years ago, Marshall enjoys butchering his own deer.

"I enjoy making low-fat stews and roasts and frequently entertain and grill venison tenderloins and serve them with roasted vegetables and Yukon Gold potatoes," he said. "It's a hearty dinner any lover of red meat can really sink their teeth into."

Marshall's wife Carol, who started hunting last year, supervises the wrapping of the meat and enjoys bringing homemade venison sausage to co-workers at a local medical office.

Her co-workers first thought venison was gamey and tough, but Marshall's recipes quickly changed their minds and their appetites.

"Now they ask me when I'm bringing it in," said Carol.

Carol and Don belong to a loosely organized gourmet group and

Chef Milos shares secrets in video series

BY LARRY JANES
SPECIAL WRITER

The Wildlife Management Institute reports America's 20 million hunters kill about 4.5 million deer annually.

Hunters add $14 billion to the economy, making those millions of pounds of venison very valuable meat. Valuable, that is, if properly field dressed and prepared or so says Chef Milos Cihelka (Michigan's first certified Master Chef), who, with noted Michigan outdoorsman Jerry Chappetta, has produced a three-part video series on the subject.

Co-sponsored by weapons manufacturer Compacting and Jeep, this series of videos, its accompanying instructions and recipes, are a must for anyone contemplating "the thrill of the hunt."

Interviewed at his cozy, contemporary Bloomfield Hills home, Chef Milos, semi-retired from the fabled Golden Mushroom restaurant in Southfield, was between free-lance duties.

He's an independent contracting chef at Schoolcraft College in Livonia, and Oakland Community College in Farmington Hills, guest instructor at Kitchen Glamor stores and an official judge for the American Culinary Federation culinary contests. Chef Milos has been experiencing the joys of food, cooking and wild game for more have prepared a venison ragout for the group that garnered rave reviews.

If it sounds too good that both hunters have prospered in the field, it would be unfair not to add that they both spend an ample amount of time preparing for the hunt.

The fields must be scouted, and blinds and tree stands must be erected. Both hunters have an average of $1,000 in hunting equipment invested in the sport and spend 3-4 weeks in the fields.

The Marshall family "easily spends $500" in a normal week-end with motels and a stop or two at their favorite northern Michigan restaurants.

"But in retrospect, our red meat food costs are virtually zero from mid-October through May," said Richards. "The season is just beginning and it looks like it's going to be a great one."

Whether or not you choose to butcher your own, hunt your own or spend your time letting your fingers do the hunting, great venison dishes are as easy to prepare as red meat.

If you're not into hunting and your friends and relatives keep all the meat for themselves you can order venison from one of the country's leading food importers.

Polarica Foods in San Francisco will happily send you a catalog featuring their assortment of wild game and exotic meats. Call toll free 1-(800)-426-3872. They specialize in farm raised Cervena deer meat from New Zealand.

The Porterhouse butcher shop in Plymouth will be happy to order just about any wild game or exotic meat. You can call Porterhouse Meats in Plymouth at (313) 455-6770.

than 50 years.

But as much as he enjoys cooking, he is an avid hunter. Avid might be a bit of an understatement because the modest, warm and charming chef has bagged moose, elk, caribou, antelope, bear and numerous deer with both gun and bow in North America, and a large variety of other game in Africa and around the world.

"The biggest mistake that hunters make with their deer meat and other wild game is that they don't field dress it properly," he said.

Part one of the video series, dubbed "Big Game: Field to the Table" details the centimeter exactly what the hunter must first do in the field to ensure good eating wild game. Chef Milos claims "proper field dressing greatly enhances the quality of the game meat, whether you decide to butcher your game yourself or deliver it to a processor who can do the work for you."

When told the only time I've ever dressed anything in the field was when I accompanied a close friend on the hunt during a rainstorm and changed clothes in the blind, Chef Milos snickered and suggested I watch the video.

At the risk of alienating any independent meat market that processes deer, Chef Milos also claims "the second mistake hunters make is that they take their venison to a processor who doesn't age the meat and prepare proper cuts."

He said many processors can't take the time to properly age the carcass, and when the cutting begins, the hunter usually ends up with more venison burger than anything else. The video also very aptly illustrates techniques for general butchering and exact instructions on boning out the legs, saddle, ribs, flanks, neck, shoulders and tenderloins.

Chef Milos says that butchering your own game not only adds more satisfaction to the hunt but that it (butchering) is "a chore any hunter can and should handle with full confidence; you'll be surprised at just how simple it is."

Part two of the video series entitled "Venison: Healthy and Tasty," is a food lover's dream come true. Anyone who has ever taken a cooking class by the venerable chef knows of his ability with food, and watching him prepare wild game is no different.

The video also includes a complete book of recipes that will be published in cookbook form for the general public, probably after Chef Milos finishes the hunting season.

The final segment of the three-part video is a must for anyone who also hunts small game and wild birds. Recipes include roast pheasant, quail with wild grapes, grilled Mallard and braised rabbit and squirrel with a white wine sauce.

Presently, the videos are available locally at the Kitchen Glamor stores in Redford, West Bloomfield, Novi and Rochester, and at local Wild Wings Art Galleries. The videos are $29.95 each and can also be ordered toll free by calling 1-800-819-3799.

When asked where he prefers to hunt, Chef Milos indicated that as far as stalking the elusive whitetail deer, you can't beat Michigan.

His personal hunting ground is about 50 miles south of Alpena near Curran.

The chef also enjoys hunting for mule deer in Utah and New Mexico, elk in Arizona and New Mexico, antelope in Wyoming and whitetail deer in Texas.

If you hunt or know someone who does, these videos would certainly be a welcome addition to someone's video library.

Savory stew is comforting on our chilly autumn days

BLUE COLLAR BEEF STEW

- 1 1/2 pounds chuck or bottom round, cubed
- 1 tablespoon Kosher salt
- 1/2 teaspoon fresh ground black pepper
- 1/4 cup peanut oil
- 1 white turnip, pared and cut into cubes
- 2 medium carrots, pared and cut into cubes
- 2 medium potatoes, cut into cubes
- 2 onions, cut into cubes
- 2 ribs celery, cut into cubes
- 1/2 cup dry red wine
- 3 cups water

Trim the meat of fat and gristle. Cut into 1 inch cubes. Pat the meat dry and place it in a medium bowl and toss with salt and pepper. Sprinkle with flour and toss until meat is evenly coated.

Heat the oil in a heavy pot over medium high heat. Brown the meat in batches, adding just enough meat to the pot as will fit without touching. Cook, turning the meat, until evenly and well browned on all sides, about 7 minutes. Remove the meat to drain on paper towels and repeat with remaining pieces of meat.

Adjust the heat and do the same to brown the vegetables without burning. Add the wine and water, scraping up any bits from the bottom and bring to a boil. Return the meat to the pot and low to a simmer and simmer uncovered for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Add the potatoes, partly cover the pot and continue simmering until potatoes are tender, about 1 hour. Check the seasoning and adjust if necessary. Serve hot. Serves 6.

BOEUF BOURGIGNON

- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 3 pounds beef chuck, trimmed and cut into cubes
- 1 large onion, diced
- 1 carrot, diced
- 1/2 cup all purpose flour
- 1/4 cup Cognac or brandy (optional)
- 3 cups dry red wine
- 1 1/2 cups beef broth or stock
- 2 shallots, diced
- 4 cloves garlic, chopped
- 1 tablespoon tomato paste
- 1 teaspoon bouquet garni spices (see footnote)
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon fresh ground black pepper
- 24 pearl onions, peeled
- 12 new potatoes, peeled
- 1/2 pound sliced mushrooms (about 1 1/2 cups)
- 6 sprigs parsley (for garnish)

In a large casserole, heat oil over high heat. When oil begins to smoke, add the meat in two batches and brown on all sides for 7 minutes.

Sprinkle with flour and toss to coat. Add the onion and the carrot and reduce heat to medium and cook until vegetables are browned, about 3 minutes. Remove the casserole from the heat. Add the Cognac and flame.

When the flames die, add the wine, stock, shallots, garlic, tomato paste bouquet garni, salt and pepper. Cover and reduce the heat to medium low and simmer until beef is tender, about 1 1/2 hours, skimming off the fat or foam as needed. Stir in the pearl onions and potatoes and stir.

Cover and cook for 45 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in mushrooms, uncover and cook for 10 minutes. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve. Serves 6.

CROCK POT ALL AMERICAN STEW

- 1 1/2 pounds stewing beef
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon fresh ground pepper
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 3 large carrots, cut into thirds
- 2 small onions, split
- 4 ribs celery, cut into thirds
- 1 large clove garlic, chopped
- 2 cups V-8 vegetable juice
- 1 cup water, wine or apple juice
- 1 bay leaf

Remove all visible fat and gristle from the stewing beef. Sprinkle with flour, salt and pepper and toss to coat. In the bottom of a heavy fry pan, heat the vegetable oil until hot. Add beef and toss to brown on all sides. Do not overcrowd the pan or meat will braise and not brown.

Remove meat from pan when brown and place in the crockpot. Return pan to stove top and over medium heat, add 1 cup of the V-8 juice to the skillet and scrape to loosen all bits of brown and meat from skillet. Pour over meat. Add remaining ingredients. Cook at highest temperature for 4 hours or lower the setting to the lowest and allow to stew slowly for 8-10 hours. Serves 6.

VENISON STROGANOFF

2 pounds trimmed tenderloin or top butt, cut into strips 1/2-inch thick and 2 inches long
1/2 cup clarified butter, salt and fresh ground pepper to taste
3 cups sliced mushrooms
2 cups (about 3 large) onions, cut into strips
3 cups sour cream
4 tablespoons hot or spicy mustard

Preheat a large skillet or 2 medium skillets to very hot. Add a small amount of butter to the skillet and add no more meat than to barely cover the bottom of the pan. Over high heat, sear the meat on one side to brown, turn the meat over and sear about 20 seconds on the other side.

Remove it from the pan while rare. You may have to do this in batches and the pan should be cleaned and very hot each time before adding more meat.

If you overload the pan, the meat will start boiling in its own juices and will not get brown. After all the meat is browned, add mushrooms and onions to the same skillet and if necessary, add more butter.

Cook them until limp, drain the juice off and set aside. Toss the mushrooms and the onions with the meat and set aside. Return the juice to the pan, carefully stir in the sour cream and mustard. Season the meat mixture with a pinch of salt and a healthy cracking of fresh ground pepper.

Add meat and vegetable mixture to the gently boiling sauce and heat throughout. Serve over noodles or spaetzle. Serves 6.

VENISON STEW

Marinade: 1 onion, sliced
2 tablespoons chopped garlic
1 tablespoon dried thyme
3 tablespoons crushed peppercorns
6 crushed juniper berries
2 bay leaves
1 bottle (about 3 fl. oz. cups) dry red wine
3 1/2 pounds venison neck or shanks, cut into 2-inch cubes

Combine all ingredients except the meat into a deep glass or ceramic dish and mix well. Add the meat and mix well. Cover tightly and refrigerate overnight for 1 day.

COOKING METHOD

1 pound lean slab type bacon, cut into 1 inch cubes
1/2 cup clarified butter
1 cup rich brown stock or broth
Salt to taste
1 cup (or more) gingersnaps, crushed (for thickening)

Drain the wine off the meat and reserve. Pick meat free of onions and pat dry with a paper towel. Save the onion.

Preheat 2 large skillets. Add 1/2 the butter to each and divide the bacon between them. Cook the bacon over medium heat until brown. Remove bacon from the pan and transfer to a heavy non aluminum sauce pan.

Return the skillets to medium high heat and add the meat in batches and brown well on all sides.

Transfer meat to the pan with the bacon and set aside. Add drained onions to the skillets and brown lightly. Add wine from the marinade along with the stock and a pinch of salt. Bring this mixture to a boil and pour over the meat. Add meat mixture to the skillets and bring to a good simmer. Cover and lower the simmer and simmer slowly until meat is tender. (depending on the age of the venison and the type of meat used, simmering could take anywhere from 1-3 hours).

When the meat is done, transfer just the meat to another pot, leaving the onions and spices behind in the juice. Add crushed gingersnaps to the juice mixture and cook for 5 minutes. Pour mixture into a strainer and press hard to remove the juices doing so over the meat. Serve with noodles, spaetzle, boiled potatoes or crusty bread. Serves 6.

HELPING MUSCLES RECOUP

No-nonsense exercisers who are prone to grueling workouts and overtraining can benefit from a boost in their vitamin C and E intake. During moderate exercise, the amount of oxygen consumed by the body does not pose a problem. However, severe workouts boost oxygen consumption to the point where elevated levels of the harmful molecules called "free radicals" accumulate in the body's cells. If left unchecked, free radicals can damage muscle tissue. (They have also been linked to cancer and heart disease.) According to a study performed at the Sports Science and Fitness Research Center in Australia, endurance athletes who took a daily dose of 1,000 I.U. of vitamin E and 1,000 mg. of vitamin C experienced 25 percent less muscle tissue damage than they sustained without supplements.

Unless you eat lots of oranges, green peppers or kiwis daily, you may not get this amount of Vitamin C in your diet. We invite you to peruse our huge selection of vitamin supplements. The GOOD FOOD CO. is Michigan's largest natural food supermarket. Our stock of organic foods is without comparison. We believe that "you are what you eat", so we offer only the freshest and most healthy foods. Call us with your questions at 981-5100 or just come on by. We are located at 42815 Ford Rd. We are open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 to 9:00 and Sundays from 10:00 to 6:00. Come by and give us a try!

HINT: Harmful free radicals are also created by pollution, aging, and sunlight.

MALLS & MAINSTREETS

Stores, Detroit Institute of Arts Museum stores, Winkelman's, Scott Shuptrine and Godiva Chocolates to name a few locally.

"There was a time when retailers thought all they had to do was offer their product through a lot of similar locations and they would be successful," he said. "They formed buying groups and standardized store designs so what we ended up with was mail after mail across the country all looking the same with almost the same merchandise."

"Today retailers recognize that they must stand apart from their competition. They come to us asking what they can do to differentiate themselves, to be special to the consumer."

Crosson argued that shopping is a leisure activity. If it is pleasant, rewarding, fun and educational, consumers will shop more often, buy more items, boost up the bottom line.

It's no coincidence that JGA has recently acquired theme park, municipal aquariums, and hotel complex clients with plans to add retail elements to their properties.

"Magic happens when sales go up," Crosson smiled widely. "And people shop where they feel good."

To make shoppers feel good, Crosson said retail designers need to create visual cues in a store that reassure, instill confidence, identify the product, and move a customer through the merchandise.

"The successful business is the one that listens to its customers and gives them exactly what they want," Crosson said. "Consumers all say they want value. And what they mean by value is price, quality and service. No matter how attractive or interesting a store is, it will fail in the long run if any of these components is missing."

Constance Crump, marketing communications manager for JGA, points to the award-winning Warner Bros. Studio Store designs as the direction for stores of the future.

"We're all so jaded. We need to be stimulated when we walk into a store," she said matter-of-factly. "The Warner Bros. Stores certainly stimulate. With video walls, a Batmobile machine that descends from the ceiling every few minutes, life-size Fiberglass cartoon figures, custom fixtures and beautiful materials throughout, browsing this store is elevated to a multi-sensory experience."

Crump said she heard rumors that the Louvre Museum in Paris is considering leasing space to a Warner Bros. studio store!

"Many manufacturers are getting into retail," according to Crump. "Harley Davidson is looking for a location for a merchandise showroom. At one time Marlboro was considering a store. The Crane Stationery Company is opening up a showroom-style retail store. All these stores will have their own themes signaling the end of the cookie cutter approach to retailing."

Crosson challenged retailers to think multi-generationally, to plan stores and developments that keep both grandparents and toddlers entertained. To stay on the cutting edge of retail design, Crosson said JGA is a company "two ticks to the left."

"Like the court jesters and wisemen of old, we attempt to break the pack mentality. We like to jerk the slack out of people," he said. "We try to help retailers build excitement and sales. That's where it's at."

BIRMINGHAM PLEASE

Children's Cancer Center at Beaumont Hospital. This figure topped the $13,000 raised in 1993 to the delight of all participants, including event organizer Richard Astreine.

NEW FRAME SHOP

The Great Frame Up, a do-it-yourself and custom picture framing store is open in Rochester at 113 West University. Owners Dan and Susan McGraw said the store specializes in products not found in typical framing establishments. These include a lower, wheelchair-accessible work station, special framing areas that have work benches equipped with magnetized boards, and "You Name It" mats where customers can spell out words and personalize holders for pictures and artwork. Custom framing takes up to 48 hours.

The shop also carries prints and catalogs to access 10,000 works of art. The Great Frame Up operates 135 stores in 30 states. Inquiries are welcome at (810) 650-3500.

SHOE WAREHOUSE OPENS

The Designer Shoe Warehouse opens its second store at the Tel-Twelve Mall in Southfield on Nov. 9. The original DSW is on Rochester Road in Troy. The 14,000-square-foot store at Tel-Twelve mall will carry 30,000 pairs of name brand and designer shoes for men and women, making it one of the largest shoe showrooms in town. The shoes are priced 20-50 percent off department store prices.

DSW is closed every Tuesday for restocking. DSW also carries hosiery, socks and purses. To celebrate the opening, a portion of the first week's sales will go to benefit Hospice of Southeastern Michigan. For more information, call (810) 350-8900.

NEW SKINCARE LINE

The unique water-based skin-care system H2O is available at most Hudson's cosmetic departments beginning in November. H2O uses biodegradable ingredients in products for the skin, hair, sun, spa therapy, bath and shower. The system is 100-percent oil-free and priced between $4.75 to $25.

SALON CONVENIENCES

The Salon Kennice Bashar, 228 West Maple in downtown Birmingham now features cellular phones, a fax machine, lunch service, and a 10-minute stress relief treatment to better serve its clientel. Salon owners Kennice Hoffman and Bashar Kallabat designed the recently opened salon with old Italian and French influences including antique cabinets to showcase hair products.

Salon Kennice Bashar offers electrolysis, permanent make-up, aromatherapy, corporate massages, European scalp treatments and hair care.

BODY SHOP CAMPAIGN

The Body Shop stores are leading an international effort to collect 10 million signatures in November to protect the world's endangered species. The company's efforts will culminate at the UN Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species, set for December in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. There, the Body Shop will present the petitions collected to U.S. vice president Al Gore.

The Body Shop will reward the employee who collects over 800 shopper's signatures for support with a 14-day African safari trip to Kenya. The Body Shop has local outlets in Twelve Oaks Mall, downtown Birmingham,

The Roman word for right was "dexter," their word for left was "sinister"; is it any wonder that things have been downhill ever since for left-handed folks? For the estimated 20-million lefties in the U.S. a shop has opened at the Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn. Southpaw sells a complete line of functional, gift and novelty items specially designed for left-handers. These items include scissors, notebooks, can openers and knives. Southpaw is in a new kiosk in the Lord & Taylor corridor of the mall.

For more information call owner Anne Waldorf Bonner at (313) 240-8282.

GILDA'S CLUB BENEFIT

The recent Hats Off party/auction to raise funds for the new Gilda's Club cancer support group at Rox & Sherm boutique in the Bloomfield Plaza produced $10,000 for GC.

SANTA BEAR STUFF

To celebrate the 10th anniversary of Santa Bear's debut at Hudson's, special Santa Bear Shops are being set up within the stores for the holidays. Merchandise includes pajamas, robes, fleece separates, mugs, clocks, waterglobes, ornaments, hosiery, neckwear, jewelry, cookie and candy boxes. Prices range from $4.99 to $39.99.

JACOBSON'S MANAGERS

Jacobson's at Laurel Park Place in Livonia has a new management team — Sandra Wloszek, general manager and Elizabeth Clark, assistant store manager in charge of merchandising.

Wloszek holds a master's degree in music from Michigan State University. She joined Jacobson's in 1979 as Miss J supervisor in the east Grand Rapids store. She was named store manager of the Dearborn store in 1990. In July, Wloszek supervised the $2 million renovation of the Livonia Jacobson's.

Clark graduated from Pennsylvania State University. She joined Jacobson's in 1985 working in various positions in the Birmingham and Rochester Hills stores. She has worked as a model, fashion coordinator, and store manager. She has also owned her own retail business. Clark will set a new direction for merchandise in the Livonia store.

'For about $1,000 a year, the current amount families spend on cable, telephone and video rental each year, an American family will be hooked up to a metered fiber optic cable that will be linked to a video server, a giant jukebox' of accessible information and services.'

media director

the audience to the concept of Smart T.V., a "telecomputerfaxvideophonerecorder," his word for the information superhighway.

"For about $1,000 a year," he predicted, "the current amount families spend on cable, telephone and video rental each year, an American family will be hooked up to a metered fiber optic cable that will be linked to a video server, a giant jukebox' of accessible information and services."

He pointed out that high technology is here to stay with shopping by television and terminal producing sales of $2-billion in 1993. Catalog sales are $50-$60-billion annually.

Donlin said paper catalogs will soon become video catalogs and shoppers will either get the merchandise they select at home through United Parcel Service or a quick trip to the fulfillment center, the neighborhood mall.

Mass customization

High products manufacturer Kuglen founded the Fashion Group with reports of high tech manufacturing which allows garments to be customized by body measuring machines and ordered to personal specifications for every customer. She described an experimental "chameleon thread" that picks up the color of the garment as it is sewn, eliminating the need for garment workers to re-thread sewing machines — a breakthrough that will save thousands of dollars and manpower hours. The dawn of lasers to cut patterns will also revolutionize the clothing industry.

Kuglen said returns would become obsolete in the future, as customers, armed with exact merchandise specifications, order exactly what they want in the perfect fit.

Retail maven Ashley, said shopping centers need "to entertain and serve as piazzas of old," functioning as gathering places for people to meet and interact.

She pointed out that the Taubman Shopping centers — Lakeside, Twelve Oaks, Briarwood and Fairlane Town Center, continually offer top-notch quality entertainment for families to show shoppers that they are welcome and their business is appreciated.

"The new retail thinking," Toffolo concluded, "is not to sell, but, to help you buy."

Holiday Exhibit

Beast meets Beauty: Hudson's annual holiday exhibit opens Sunday, Nov. 6, at the Summit Place Mall in Waterford. The classic fairy tale is told through 17 vignettes featuring 120 animated characters. The exhibit takes about 15 minutes to tour. Admission is free.

Child abuse is not a pretty subject. But it happens. And right here in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. Through your donation to the United Way, over 14,700 victims of domestic violence and abuse receive shelter and family counseling.

The United Way supports some 140 agencies that help the homeless, the illiterate, the elderly

So please give to the United Way. You can help make sure there are fewer broken hearts this year.

PLYMOUTH SPORTS SCENE

PCA advances

Plymouth Christian Academy's soccer team advanced to the Class C-D district finals (played Saturday) by defeating Williamston 4-0 last Wednesday at Williamston. The spark for the Eagles came from senior striker Ryan Thomason, who scored their first three goals, the first coming in the 12th minute, assisted by Shaun Walker. Walker, a junior, accounted for PCA's final score. Jamie Neil was in goal for the shutout, his 10th this season. He made 11 saves. The win boosted the Eagles' record to 14-3-2. Williamston bows out at 4-11-3.

Salem swimmers reign

Melanie Bosse and Yvonne Lynn each won two individual events to ignite Plymouth Salem's 121-65 dual meet swim victory of Farmington Thursday at Salem. The win allows the Rocks to finish the season at 5-5 overall, 2-2 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Bosse's wins came in the 200-yard (2:09.16) and 500-yard (5:41.27) freestyles. Lynn was victorious in the 200 individual medley (2:27.40) and the 100 backstroke (1:04.67). Other individual winners for Salem were Kellyann Williams in the 50 free (26.44), Zoe Yockey in the diving (265.05 points) and Andrea Bien in the 100 free (59.53). Lynn, Carey Hyatt, Sarah Casillas and Williams combined for a first in the 200 medley relay; Williams, Carrie Dziala, Casillas and Bosse won the 200 free relay (1:49.04); and Williams, Dziala, Bien and Bosse were best in the 400 free relay (4:02.53).

Ocelots recover

Well, Oakland University women's soccer coach Nick O'Shea really has no one to blame but himself for what happened to his team Wednesday. The Lady Pioneers lost 3-2 — to Schoolcraft College, the team O'Shea was coaching until he was hired at OU last summer. Indeed, he was responsible for recruiting everyone on the SC squad. In fact, it's possible to take that a step further: SC's current coach, Nikki Johnson, played for O'Shea at both Livonia Churchill and SC before going on to earn NAIA All-American status at Siena Heights. The Ocelot victory was their second this season over their former coach's team. SC improved to 10-6-2. The win did not come easily. Twice the Ocelots had to come from behind; trailing 1-0 at the half, Colleen Connell (from Plymouth Canton) tied it early in the second half. But they fell behind again and were still trailing with five minutes left. That's when Andrea Zawislak (Churchill) popped one in to tie it at 2-2. And before O'Shea's struggling team could recover, Zawislak scored again two minutes later to give the Pioneers the win.

Ocelots spike Windsor

The Schoolcraft College women's volleyball team improved to 24-13 overall with a 15-12, 15-3, 15-10 victory Thursday over visiting University of Windsor (Ontario). Sophomore Shannon Gottschalk (Clinton) was SC's top hitter with 12 kills. She also added 10 digs. Julie Campau, a sophomore from Livonia Churchill, added nine kills. Plymouth Salem's Jamey Vian contributed six kills, four digs and two ace serves. Other contributions came from freshman Ann Fehn (Harper Woods Regina), four kills and two digs; Janet Zabivnik (Plymouth Canton), 29 assists-to-kill; Vicki Rohloff (Wayne Memorial), two kills and one block; and Janel Hemme (Livonia Ladywood), two kills and two blocks.

Big goal

Well, if you're playing soccer for Michigan State and you have a choice against whom you'd like to score your first goal, there's really just selection. Kris Goff, a sophomore at MSU from Plymouth, fulfilled that dream when she netted her first goal of the season against Michigan. It couldn't have come at a better time, either — it was the Spartans' only goal in a 1-0 win Oct. 21. Goff's score came after a corner kick taken by Karen Winslow. That and MSU's 2-0 win over Penn State Oct. 23 improved the Spartans' record to 11-3-1 overall and to 5-1-1 in the Big Ten. Leah Hutho (Plymouth Salem) remains their third-leading scorer, with seven goals and 19 points through 14 matches.

Strikers finish first

The Canton Strikers claimed the championship in the under-18 girls division I of the Little Caesars Freestyle Soccer League with a 6-3-2 record. They clinched the title by edging the LYSC United '99 (from Livonia) 1-0 in their final match of the fall season. Team members are Amanda Abraham, Lisa Bouchard, Janet Davis, Jill Garrett, Shana O'Neil, Lindsey Jann, Angie Lohman, Kristin Lohman, Rachel Martin, Jill Roberts, Kristina Smith, Jessica Smart, Jenny Webb and Pam Welling. The team is coached by Mike O'Neil.

Tomasso lifts Chiefs to title

BY BRAD EMOH

It was a fitting scene following Plymouth Canton's district-clinching 2-1 boys soccer victory over Livonia Stevenson in the Class A final at Redford Union's Kraft Field. Senior goalkeeper George Tomasso found himself under an avalanche of celebrating teammates. He had a right to be mobbed after making several clutch saves while stopping a late Stevenson onslaught in the final minutes. The win puts the Chiefs (16-1-3 overall) into Wednesday's regional semifinals at Walled Lake Western against Novi, the Northville district champion. The doubleheader starts at 5:30 p.m. "The defense has come up big for me all year, just as I've come up big for them," said Tomasso, who led Canton to its first district crown since 1988. "It was one of my best efforts. Everything came naturally, but I also pulled a couple out of my rear end."

SOCCER

Five-time state champion and three-time runner-up Stevenson bows out at 13-2-2 overall. It's only the second time in school history that the Spartans have failed to get past the district. "I thought we dominated the second half... in all aspects," Stevenson coach Walt Barrett said. "We had 15 shots to their one throw-in, but that one went in." Senior Jeff Knyaz scored the game-winner with 13:20 remaining in regulation play. The goal came after a throw-in by Lance Pellow and a cross by Chad Dale. "I had my back turned on the throw-in, but all the sudden the ball was at my foot," Knyaz said. "I just reacted to the ball and shot it." Following the go-ahead goal, Stevenson pushed everyone up in a mad attempt to score the equalizer.

Defender James Bossieux, backing up Tomasso, made a clutch play by heading away a pin-point shot from Scott Sersen with 9:30 left. Tomasso then went high to save a hard drive off the dangerous left foot of Steve Willford. "Stevenson came hard at us, especially in the second half," Canton coach Don Smith said. "They had more scoring opportunities, but we played tough in the box." Canton struck first at 14:23 of the opening half when Graham Wilk scored on an assist from Jeff Fliss. Jeff Urbats then tied it at 1-1 with a goal for Stevenson at 27:32. Despite playing against the wind in the second half, Stevenson began to increase its pressure tactics. To make matters worse, Canton had to go without top marking back Keith Gniewek, who was sent off the field because the head referee feared the senior defender had suffered a head injury.

"This game was hard on me because I had to do a lot of yelling," said Canton coach Don Smith, who won the season series against the Spartans, 2-0-1. "I kept telling my guys they couldn't let down." "We overcame some adversity. Todd Stonestreet came in for Keith and did a nice job. Jason Bennett, a sophomore, also gave us a lift. Everyone came through nicely." Barrett shook up his lineup in an attempt to gain an edge on the Chiefs. He pulled a switch prior to the game when he went with Mo Lanspaery in goal in favor of Jim Grewe. "Canton hadn't seen Mo all year and psychologically I thought it would get us going," Barrett said. "But I told Grewe he would play the second half (which he did)." "Anthony Vetrano also kept them out of there sweeping. Joe Brach did a great job shutting down Dale, and Sersen marked Fliss." "Everything worked well, but their goalkeeper 'stoned' our finishes."

Salem rally nips Canton again

Finding room: Salem's Mike Brannan did have some problems, fumbling twice, but he rushed for 112 yards and recovered a fumble that preserved the Rocks' victory.

All season long, these two players have been central to what success each of their football teams experienced. Plymouth Salem's Mike Brannan and Plymouth Canton's Len Gardner: Every game, they could be counted on to break a run, more often than not in a key situation. When their teams won — and quite often when they didn't — their rushing totals sparkled. So it's no surprise to find these two filling the main characters' roles in this most important of games, Salem vs. Canton on Friday. Both had their heroic moments. But both also had to absorb moments of dejection. Brannan proved that not giving in to depression can, and will, be rewarded. His vindication came at Gardner's expense: With less than two minutes to play, Canton, trailing by a point, was driving, with a Gardner bolt advancing the ball to the Salem 42 — where he fumbled. And Brannan, who twice in the second half hobbled balls deep in Salem's end of the field that led to Canton touchdowns, pounced on the loose ball. With 1 1/4 minutes left, Salem's 21-20 win was preserved. "The first time he fumbled (on the punt), I grabbed him and said, 'Don't worry about it, it's one of those things,'" said Salem coach Tom Moshimer of Brannan's troubles. "I said in a situation like that, when the ball's sailing in the wind, just let it go. And then — it just popped out." "Just one of those things." Those "things" allowed Canton to overturn Salem's comeback and stage one of its own. The lone touchdown of the first half was scored by Gardner, a 3-yard run on the second play of the second quarter, capping a 13-play, 75-yard drive that gave the Chiefs a 7-0 lead. But despite outgaining Salem 197-98 in the first half, those were the only points they could manage. Salem stormed back with two third-quarter TDs, both scored by Ashraf Youssef. The tying touchdown came on the Rocks' first possession; they went 69 yards on 11 plays, the biggest a 29-yard Brad Lear pass completion to Rushi Amin to Canton's 21. Youssef scored five plays later to knot it at 7-7 with 7:15 left in the third quarter. A strong punt return by Brannan (partially neutralized by a clip against Salem) gave Salem its next possession at their 47. The Rocks scored in six plays, the biggest a 34-yard draw by Brannan, to take a 14-7 lead into the fourth quarter. But that's when fate turned against Brannan. Canton was forced to punt early in the final quarter from its own 38; Jeff Fliss got it up into a strong wind, forcing Brannan to retreat. He got his hands on the ball, but fumbled it, and Andy Bahrou recovered for the Chiefs at Salem's 18. Now it was Gardner's turn. On an 18-yard gain in the second quarter, Gardner had lost the ball at the Salem 8. This time, the Canton captain carried three-straight times, the last covering 9 yards and scoring the tying TD with 7:35 left to play. Fate was still frowning on Brannan. On Salem's second play after the ensuing kickoff, the ball just popped out of his hands; Canton's Rob Johnson recovered at the Salem 25. On the first play, Chief fullback Paul Fromm — subbing for Sam Epley, who was injured while gaining 59 yards in the first half — burst through the middle and scored.

Canton's Docks sets course for Morehead State

Right man for the job. That's the distinction Ted Docks has earned. And that's what will take him south to Morehead, Ky., a year from now, to Morehead State University, to play basketball while he's earning his degree. Docks announced his intention to attend Morehead State last week. He will make his commitment in writing during the early signing period, which begins next week. Docks becomes the first-ever Plymouth Canton male basketball player to land a full-ride NCAA Division I scholarship. Hal Heard did earn a partial scholarship at Mississippi Valley State. Docks' decision quickly concludes what has been a whirlwind recruitment. He first drew attention at the Western Michigan University team camp in late June. WMU is coached by Bob Donewald Sr.; Don Young, who succeeded Dave Van Wagoner as Canton's coach in June, served as an assistant to Donewald. Donewald's son, Bob Jr., had been an assistant coach with the New Jersey Nets and was acquainted with Young. When he was hired as an assistant at Morehead State last summer, Young said he contacted him.

Driving force: Ted Docks plans to sign with Morehead State and fill its point guard spot.

"He liked (Docks) in team camp," Young said. "He told me, 'We need a point guard. We want to come and see your point guard play.'" So Young called some friends and put together

"He told me, 'I want him now. Is anyone else recruiting him?'" was Young's recollection of Donewald's impression. The reasons were simple: As Young said, "Number one, he's got great quickness, which you can't teach." Also, he was in the right place

Central stops Salem for title

Plymouth Salem got a second-straight strong effort from Shellye Silla, and three strong quarters of play from the entire team in Thursday's showdown for the Western Lakes Activities Association girls basketball championship at Walled Lake Central.

What the Rocks didn't get was a very good performance from anyone in the third quarter. And that ended up costing them in a 50-36 defeat.

"We didn't do a very good job in the third quarter," said Salem coach Fred Thomann, whose team is 17-5 overall and finishes 8-3 in the WLAA. Indeed the Rocks didn't — they were outscored 13-2 in the period, allowing Central (14-2, 10-1) to increase its 25-21 halftime lead to 38-23 after three quarters.

"They got their hands on the ball and did a very good job in the passing lanes," Thomann said of the Vikings. "We battled all the first half, but they're awfully rangy and athletic."

Still, the Rocks were able to narrow the gap to seven points with three minutes to play. But that was as close as they could come.

Silla, who scored 23 points including the game-winning free throws in the final second in Tuesday's win at Northville, again led Salem, this time netting 18. She also grabbed nine rebounds.

Central got 19 points from Christi Harmon, which included six three-pointers — five coming in the first half. Jessica Alsop scored 15 and Becky Cummings had 12.

■ Canton 55, W.L. Western 28: Once Plymouth Canton got rolling Thursday against visiting Walled Lake Western, it was no contest.

The Chiefs (13-4 overall, 9-2 in the WLAA) were clinging to a 10-9 lead after one quarter. But they pushed that to 25-13 by halftime with a 15-4 second-quarter surge, then outscored the Warriors 30-15 in the second half.

"We got some turnovers by way of our half-court defense, then got some easy scoring opportunities (in the second quarter)," said Canton coach Bob Blohm. "Our defense got the pressure going, and it continued into the third quarter."

"We got some good balance and a good effort after a hard game Tuesday versus Central."

CC wins thriller against Fordson

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Redford Catholic Central junior defensive end Mike Smiley did the job of two players Saturday afternoon against Dearborn Fordson.

Smiley played for himself and for his twin brother, linebacker Tom Smiley, who left the Livonia Clarenceville field on a stretcher with a back injury in the first half.

CC's defense responded time and again and sealed a wild 14-13 victory over the defending Class AA state champions when senior defensive back Ken Marzec blocked an extra-point attempt with 22 seconds left.

Both teams finished the season out of the playoffs with identical 6-3 records.

Junior Chuck O'Connor did well in place of Smiley, one of the Shamrocks' leading tacklers.

"We definitely missed his absence; you can feel it," Mike Smiley said. "But I love our defense. It comes up big, like a 'Brick Wall.'"

The game was as hard-hitting as you'll see, but afterward the players shook hands with no incidents.

"We saw a lot of showboating by them on game films, but actually they're a lot of good guys," Mike Smiley said.

The Shamrocks took a 14-7 lead with 10:51 left when Greg Call, after completing a big third down pass to Eric Gilbo, scored on a quarterback sneak on fourth down to cap a 48-yard drive.

Fordson threatened to score throughout the fourth quarter and finally pulled to within 14-13 after a 1-yard TD run by senior halfback Michael Saad with 22 seconds left.

The score came two plays after the Tractors blocked a Ron Bialobrzski punt and fell on the ball at the CC 2.

But Marzec came up with a block of his own, charging from the right side of the CC line to block the kick that would have forced overtime.

"I was coming from the right side and no one touched me," Marzec said, fighting back tears. "This is both the worst day and best day of my life. I did something great on my last play in high school."

Fordson coach Jeff Stergalis said the Tractors were hoping to draw CC offside on the extra-point attempt, and then go for the two-point conversion to win.

Fordson, held without a first down in the third quarter, had chances to score earlier in the fourth quarter.

The Tractors used two long passes by quarterback Michael Bitar and a pass interference penalty on fourth down to march 58 yards to CC's 5.

But a Fordson unsportsmanlike penalty on second down brought the ball back to the 21.

A halfback option pass failed on third down and Marzec came up big on fourth down, tipping a pass away near the end zone with 4:35 remaining.

The Tractors came out throwing again on their next possession, which ended with Call's interception at CC's 34 with 1:43 left.

The Shamrocks took a 7-0 lead on a 15-yard run by Craig Wasen at 6:16 of the second quarter. A 16-yard pass to Ryan Kato and 26-yard pass to Brad Rainko helped keep the 68-yard drive going.

But Fordson tied the score at 7-7, scoring on a 17-yard pass to Saad in the corner of the end zone with only three seconds left in the first half.

CC had a 194-177 edge in total offense. Call completed nine of 14 passes for 105 yards.

Spartans finish in style; playoffs next

BY NEAL ZIPSER

Many of the Livonia Stevenson football players were still in diapers in 1979 — the last year the Spartans qualified for the state playoffs.

Now, 15 years later, the Spartans have matched that feat by advancing to the post-season for the second time in the school's history.

Stevenson officially qualified Friday by concluding its regular season with a 40-0 romp over visiting Livonia Churchill.

The Spartans (7-2), who finished third in Class AA Region II, will play Friday against Howell, which is the second ranked team in the region. Game time is tentatively set for 7:30 p.m. at Howell.

"I don't know much about them, other than they are good and have played some good teams," Stevenson coach Jack Reardon said. "Now that we're in the playoffs, all the teams are good or else they wouldn't be here."

Coming off a hard-fought, emotional 21-20 loss at Farmington Hills Harrison, and with a playoff spot locked up, the Spartans managed not to overlook the Chargers.

Stevenson scored six touchdowns by six different players en route to the easy victory.

"The players knew we were going to win this one," junior quarterback Dean Bacheller said.

Coming off a hard-fought, emotional 21-20 loss at Farmington Hills Harrison, and with a playoff spot locked up, the Spartans managed not to overlook the Chargers.

Stevenson scored six touchdowns by six different players en route to the easy victory.

"The players knew we were going to win this one," junior quarterback Dean Bacheller said.

"We still practiced hard, however, and I think we played real well tonight."

The Spartans dominated both sides of the ball by collecting 283 yards rushing (333 total yards), and limiting Churchill to 121 total yards. The rushing performance gives Stevenson 1,278 yards on the ground this season, which is a new school record.

Stevenson was also able to survive the game with minor injuries to running backs Gade Clark (ankle) and Craig Martin (foot). Both are expected to play Friday.

It's a different story for the Chargers who finished their winless season by losing their 10th straight game, and 44th in their last 45.

"I would like to coach these players until we get a win," Churchill coach Steve Naumcheff said. "It will be tough to close the book on this team. This is a special group of players that really care about the game of football."

"You can't discount the rest of this team, but the seniors are the core of the team and have given it their all. They were a part of breaking the losing streak."

The Spartans opened the scoring with a 2-yard touchdown run by Clark. The play was set up by a 71-yard scamper by senior Chris Mullett on a counter drive.

Four plays after junior Chris Arsenault recovered a fumble on the ensuing kickoff, the Spartans went for it on a fourth-and-23 at the Churchill 34.

"If I cared what people thought about my decisions, I would have been in trouble a long time ago," Reardon said.

Bacheller threw a lateral to the sideline where backup quarterback Ryan Phimster caught it and connected with senior tailback Scott Goldman on a 34-yard scoring pass. Martin converted the two-point conversion to give Stevenson a 14-0 lead.

"We just put that play in this week," Bacheller said. "We have a lot of stuff we haven't used yet." The Chargers had their best opportunity to score on their next possession as they drove to the Stevenson 10. The drive ended when Bob Swain was picked off in the end zone by junior Tom Dumont.

Stevenson made it 21-0 prior to halftime when Bacheller threw a 5-yard touchdown pass to senior tight end Nick McLaren. Steve Vezina made one of his three extra points.

The Spartans scored in the second half on a 2-yard carry by senior Mike Redington, a 36-yard jaunt by junior Todd Ayres and a 6-yard run by junior Steve Davis.

Ayres paced the Stevenson ground attack by gaining 91 yards on 12 carries. Senior Jeff Sheehan was the Churchill bright spot as he collected 93 yards on seven carries, including a 68-yard run.

TEN-PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

It's always nice to see someone's dream come true.

That's exactly what has taken place in the life of Joe Fitzsimmons. When he moved from his native Pennsylvania to Garden City in the early 1960s, he was already bitten by the "Bowling Bug" and had ambitions of making the Pro Bowlers Tour.

The job came first, however, and as an employee of the Marriott Corp., Fitzsimmons found himself transferred, first to Chicago, then to London, England.

He kept up with his bowling wherever he went. He played in the Chicago classic leagues, then while in England, rolled for the London Greater Bowling Association, a pro team which traveled Europe.

His team competed in 51 European tournaments, winning 49. Coming back home in 1980, Fitzsimmons became the director of food services at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, his current position. This situation has worked out very well, for it has allowed for the necessary time to practice and compete.

Fitzsimmons has realized his lifelong dream.

He has made it with the Pro Senior Bowlers Tour and with considerable success.

The best so far was earlier this year at the Senior PBA in Jackson where he qualified second for match play, and second place in the event losing out to Larry Laub 300 to 215. His finish was still good for $3,000 in prize money.

Fitzsimmons also joined the local National Senior Bowling Association where he took first place at Drakeshire Lanes last month. Joe has cashed in all five NSBA tournament that he has entered. The next NSBA event will be held this Saturday at Cloverlanes in Livonia.

Fitzsimmons has been a big part of his life, starting at age eight in Lansdale, Pa., where he also set pins while learning to bowl. Now 60, he has hit the pinnacle of competition and looks forward to more success on the Senior Pro Tour.

His advice for other competitive bowlers: "Stay totally focused on your game" and adds that in tournaments it is very important to have the right equipment for whatever lane condition you may encounter.

He has also worked for the sport of bowling behind the scenes as he instituted the PBA regional, getting Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital as the initial sponsor.

Senior bowlers are for those over 50. There is still time to enter the next NSBA tournament at Cloverlanes on Nov. 5. Call 626-8886 or 358-3740 for details and entry forms.

Brian Paluk ready for trip to USA Team Trials

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Brian Paluk, a sophomore baseball/basketball player at Saginaw Valley State University, has played host for his brother several times this semester.

Jeff Paluk is a pitcher in the Los Angeles Dodgers organization and former roommate of Brian's at SVSU. With so much free time this fall, Jeff visits as often as possible.

"I'm jealous just watching him do nothing," Brian Paluk said. "I've got homework, practice, things to worry about."

Players might not envy Brian

Paluk's busy schedule, but they'd like to be in his shoes next week.

Brian Paluk, a 1993 Redford Catholic Central graduate and Plymouth resident, leaves Tuesday to participate in the 1994 USA Baseball National Fall Trials in Homestead, Fla.

The purpose of the trials is to identify, evaluate and select possible players for the 1995 and '96 USA baseball teams.

Paluk is one of 72 freshmen and sophomores who received invitations and one of the few from a Division II school. The roster is loaded with players from such baseball powerhouses as the University of Miami (Fla.), Florida State and Stanford.

Paluk believes his daily schedule, which includes a couple hours of practicing and running as a starting forward with the SVSU basketball team, has helped his conditioning.

The players will be put through tests and drills Tuesday through Thursday, followed by intrasquad games on Friday, Saturday and Sunday when camp breaks, Paluk said.

"I think I'll be in real good shape," said Paluk, a 6-foot-6 230-pound right-hander who participated in fall practice for the SVSU baseball team in September. "Playing basketball and running a lot, it won't be a problem, I don't think."

Paluk is taking 14 credit hours. A typical day starts with his first class at 8:30 a.m. and his final class ending at 12:30 p.m.

He pitches each day, beginning around 2 p.m. under the watchful eye of an SVSU coach and a video camera. Paluk said he videotapes his motion to see how he can improve.

He's trying to take a crash course in improving his velocity.

"When I'm breaking my hands, I'm breaking a little late, which causes me to throw with mostly my arm and not my whole body," Paluk said. "I lose four miles per hour sometimes."

After throwing a baseball, Paluk said he "ices down my arm, change and go right to basketball practice," which starts at 4 p.m.

Paluk said his basketball teammates and SVSU basketball coach Robert Pratt have been gracious about him taking a leave of absence this week. The Cardinals open the 1994-95 season at home Nov. 18 with a game the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

"So far they've been pretty supportive, but we'll see next week when I miss a week of practice," Paluk said. "Coach Pratt has been really lenient."

Paluk will recognize the face of University of Michigan infielder Kelley Dransfeldt, who is the only other Michigan player selected to tryout for team USA. Paluk pitched against Dransfeldt last summer in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League. Paluk played for Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury and Dransfeldt was with Del Wal.

"So at least I'll know someone," Paluk said.

With 6:52 to go, Canton had a 20-14 lead. But Fliss never got a shot at the extra-point kick; the snap sailed over the head of Johnson, his holder. Fliss tried a desperation two-point conversion pass, but it failed.

Salem had an opening. It took a near-miracle play to save the Rocks, however. They had 80 yards to travel and 6:28 to do it in. But after five plays, they had advanced just 19 yards; they were facing a fourth-down-and-3 at their own 39.

The call: a short 'out' pattern to Dirk Schmiedel. It worked — Schmiedel beat two defenders and caught Lear's pass, then turned up the sideline to see what he could get.

It was a lot. By the time he was run out of bounds, he was at the Canton 5 — a gain of 56 yards. On the second play, Lear went through the center of the Chiefs' line for the tying TD with 3:03 left.

And Mike Kley provided the game-winning extra-point kick.

"We had 'em all over in the first half," said Canton coach Bob Khoele. "And we couldn't get into the end zone. We just do too many things wrong — we screw up."

"You can't win a game with turnovers and a bad snap on an extra point. It comes down to a crucial play and look what happens to us. Four of the five games we lost, we beat ourselves."

Statistics were nearly as close as the score. Salem, which finished 5-4, ended up outgaining Canton (4-5), 333-322, thanks in great part to Lear's 6-of-11 passing for 112 yards and Brannan's 19 rushes for 112 yards.

But Canton had the edge running the ball, 267-183, with Gardner's numbers nearly matching Brannan's — 19 carries, 111 yards. Fromm ended up with 55 yards on four attempts, giving Canton's fullbacks (Epley and Fromm) a combined 114 yards on 11 tries.

Quarterback Brett Ellledge completed 7-of-12 passes for 55 yards, suffering one interception; he also rushed seven times for 40 yards.

"I'll tell you what," a jubilant Moshimer reflected afterward on an almost deserted field. "If we didn't have any character, our kids would have quit. That shows you one thing — we have character. And that's something we're proud of."

They also have a season-ending win to show for it.

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Jubilant: The Rocks' three second-half touchdowns were just enough to edge Canton for the second-straight season.

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Touchdown: Canton fullback Paul Fromm rolled 25 yards for a touchdown on the first play after a Salem fumble to give the Chiefs a 20-14 fourth-quarter lead.

Salem grad part of USA junior hockey team

BY GRETCHEN MADICK
STAFF WRITER

Brent Bessey, a 1993 Plymouth Salem High School graduate, and Bobby Hayes of Westland, have been named to the 1994 USA Junior Select Team that will compete in the Five-Nation's Tournament Nov. 2-6 in Fussen, Germany.

Former Redford Catholic Central stars Frank Novack (of Detroit) and Mark Holdridge (of Northville) also are team members.

The team will compete against squads from Germany, Switzerland, Norway and the Czech Republic.

Mike Velluci of Livonia, the head coach of the national champion Compuware Ambassadors of the North American Hockey League, has been named the USA's head coach.

The team was selected after tryouts this summer at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo. A total of 85 players tried out for 20 roster spots.

"I played the best I ever played," Bessey said. "I felt that I had the best chance I could have had, anyway. After that, I was happy I made it."

Bessey, a center, has stood his ground in a sport where lack of size can be a deterrent to success. At 5-foot-8, 170 pounds, Bessey is the second smallest player on the NAHL team he plays on during the regular season in Fraser called the Detroit Freeze.

Bessey lifts weights 1½ to two hours per day, and bicycles and runs sprints and distances to improve strength and endurance.

Bessey has lived in four states and his hockey career began at age seven in Omaha, Neb. The equipment he used was so big on his body he could hardly move.

His family moved to Bloomington, Minn., and in 1984 his squirt team won its division.

After settling in Plymouth, Bessey's career took off and in 1992 he decided to move on his own to Waterloo, Iowa, where he played the last two seasons for the Blackhawks of the United States Hockey League.

"I moved away my senior year so I could play," Bessey said. "I missed out on all kinds of school stuff, dances, going out with my friends."

Hayes and Bessey were teammates on a national champion midget team in 1991 and reunited the last two seasons as teammates and roommates on the Blackhawks.

"Hayes is good, he can do just about everything," said Bessey, who also played on a national champion in 1991-92 for the Little Caesars major team in Detroit. "He is probably one of the best forwards in North America. He can score, he works hard and has been playing 14-15 years."

This is the second round of international competition for Hayes, who went to Japan when he was 17 for another junior tournament.

Hayes, a 5-11, 165-pound forward, expresses admiration for Bessey as well.

"Brent is the kind of player you love to play with and hate to play against," said Hayes, contacted in Waterloo before heading overseas. "I wish he was still here in Iowa playing for the Blackhawks."

Hayes' father Dale expresses how he and his wife Tamie feel about this level of hockey.

"This kind of hockey is very enjoyable and it's very good hockey," the elder Hayes said. "Both of our teams could go into Canada and compete against anybody. I'm speaking for myself."

"This is a big pyramid. For every 100 kids that started at 6, 7 or 8, maybe there are still two or three playing right now. The 17-year-old team is great but when you're still around to go at 19, it's something."

Besides the financial commitment of his family, Bessey has paid his dues physically. He estimates he has 75 stitches, mostly on his face.

He split his mouth open last year and has lost teeth. He also suffered a severe break that required and a 4½ inch pin to be surgically placed in his ankle.

"If I get a scholarship, that's $80,000 right there," Bessey said. "That's an education. That's a chance to play four more years of hockey. Hockey is what I've always done. More than anything it's a rush when you go out and play. That's the best way I can explain it. I like it and it grows on me, I guess."

at the right time. Morehead State, a member of the Ohio Valley Conference, had just one point guard in its program, and he's a junior.

Which means Docks will serve as a back-up for a year. Then the job will be his.

"There were two others they were recruiting," Young said, "but they both said they needed more time. Teddy didn't need more time. If either of the other two had committed, he would have been out."

For Docks, it's a wish come true — although until last month, he had never heard of Morehead State. But he liked it instantly when he visited, situated on the slopes of the Appalachian Mountains. It has an enrollment of about 8,000, which pleased him, and it offered the right curriculum (psychology).

But best of all, it gives Docks a shot at playing with the best. "I definitely wanted to play in college," he said. There had been no real offers, however — until Morehead. "Not many opportunities like Morehead come along," Docks said.

He's already been hard at work, trying to prove their decision was correct. The 5-foot-9 Docks said he's put on "about 15 pounds since last year."

HOROSCOPE

By C. C. Clark

Aries (March 21 - April 20)

You may not be happy with the way a love relationship is going. There may be a need to get away from the situation and think things through.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)

There will be an opportunity to celebrate with those you love. A wish could come true for you or someone close to you.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)

You will think of traveling but will find yourself wondering where to find the time. Express your desires to those closest to you.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)

A hard-headed person could pose a problem when you are trying to complete important tasks. Try to find a way to go around that person.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)

You will have to deal with several different aspects of your life at one time. A new job could be in your future, but are you ready to make a change?

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)

It would probably be best if you keep your intentions to yourself at this time. An authority figure may not understand why you think the way you do.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

Young people may play an important part in something you do. Think twice before committing yourself to anything having to do with finances.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)

A party or some type of get-together will prove to be great fun; you will be glad you made the effort to go. Listen carefully to loved ones.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)

You have several decisions to make, and none of them will be easy. It may be necessary to sit down and make a list of pros and cons.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)

There will be a new job opportunity or a chance to prove yourself in your old job. Accept the challenge and show people what you can accomplish.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

You may have to deal with an important person in banking or some kind of financial matter. This person is someone you will come to trust.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)

The time for resting is over, and now you have to get out into the world. Break down tasks into smaller increments and you will succeed.

Farentino leads colonists to new home on Earth 2

By Pete Bucci

For actress Debrah Farentino, the opportunity to play a strong female character on television was the hook for the leading role in Earth 2, premiering Sunday, Nov. 6, on NBC.

"This is clearly the most satisfied I've been in my job," she says. "I finally found a role — and it's not easy to find in television — of a mature woman."

Farentino plays Devon Adair, who organizes an expedition 200 years in the future to a distant Earth-like planet. She hopes to cure her son (Joey Zimmerman), and others whose health is threatened by the sterile environments of the space stations humanity now inhabits.

"When I first read this script, I went 'Wow, here is a woman who is a mother' — there's no more feminine power than that, motherhood," she says. "So I still can be completely in my femininity and yet still find the strength in that and be somewhat of a leader, a decision-maker and a doer."

"She's a very proactive person, and she doesn't depend and bounce her ideas or her decisions off a male counterpart, and that's just unusual. And it's a lot of fun. So I get to play a mother, but I don't have to be the wife."

Until reading the script for Earth 2, Farentino says she never considered doing science fiction.

"This script was sitting on my desk for a couple of weeks and was not really a top-priority read for me, because science fiction had not been something I was hugely interested in," she says. "But the writers created a story so rich in character that it could have been a mystery to me; it could have been an adventure; it could have been a character piece."

"I read this and I said, 'I must do this role; I must get this part.' It was something that I just thought 'This is the woman I've been waiting to do' — grabbed me, from the page, she grabbed me."

Farentino says she feels fortunate to be playing Devon, adding that she is not as proud of some of her previous characters.

"I didn't quite like the babes in distress roles," she says. "This is no babe in distress."

To simulate an alien environment, Earth 2 is filmed around Santa Fe, New Mexico. While playing a character who has never before stepped foot on a planet is challenging, Farentino says the pristine beauty of the location certainly helps.

"I live at sea level in Los Angeles, and our first day on location was at 10,000 feet," she says, describing the filming of the scene in which the settlers crash land on the planet.

"Now, when I stepped out of that pod, I needed to take a breath. And it was so helpful, because I hadn't felt air like this in my life. When the air is that thin, the light reflects differently — blue sky like I've never seen blue sky before, and I've traveled a lot; green in the trees like I'd never seen before. So, it really helped in terms of Devon Adair's first experience."

The ensemble cast of Earth 2 also includes Clancy Brown (Highlander), Antonio Sabato Jr. (General Hospital) and Jessica Steen (Homefront).

"After Equal Justice, I didn't think that I would have an ensemble cast that worked so well together," Farentino says. "I really thought that that was a once-in-a-lifetime thing, and then I come here and it's just as good. We're ever closer because we're all away from home."

After crash-landing on the planet, the colonists face an arduous trek to find a spot on the planet that can support a large civilization. Farentino, who describes Earth 2 as "a wagon train in the future," says the trip will include plenty of strange new creatures and plot twists.

"There's quite a few interesting things that we run into, and they're amazing to work with," she says. "The creatures are so well thought out, and the actors in those costumes are some of the best performers I've ever worked with."

Farentino says much work goes into the aliens because they are an important aspect of the show.

"We are the aliens; we are coming into their land," she corrects.

TV FOR KIDS

Secret Garden, Mix worthy of a look

BY SUZANNE GILL

Saturday, Nov. 5, brings two noteworthy productions.

For younger children, ABC presents an animated version of The Secret Garden, the story of a lonely girl's discovery of a long-neglected garden and the spirit of love it symbolizes for an austere Victorian household. Derek Jacobi, Honor Blackman and Anndi McAfee are among those lending their voices to the show. At press time, copies of the program were not available for review.

Teens should take note of an In the Mix episode, "Teens Talk Risk & Reality," airing on PBS (check local listings). The show addresses the leading killers of young people - drunken driving and homicide - and shows the tragic results of each. To be certain of hooking viewers' attention, the special opens with an emergency-room scene as doctors and nurses try to save the life of a real-life gunshot victim.

Since even the survivors of such situations find their lives changed forever, In the Mix cameras visit high schools in the New York City area, where physically impaired members of the Bryn Mawr Rehab Center and a group called People Opening the World's Eyes to Reality (P.O.W.E.R.) speak frankly to students about making good choices.

As one member puts it, "You don't get old by being no fool."

LET'S TALK

Robby Benson is staying busy; No video release for Piazza

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: Whatever happened to Robby Benson? You never see any movies or TV series by him. Could you give me a recent address? Is he still single or married? -Ms. P. Capps, Beaumont, Texas.

A: I'm sure you are aware that Benson, who turns 40 in January, provided the voice of the Beast in Disney's phenomenally successful animated feature Beauty and the Beast. He told me he still has mail forwarded to him from that studio. Write to him C/O Walt Disney Studios, 500 S. Buena Vista St., Burbank, Calif. 91521-2215.

Last year he took on a very dark role in Precious Victims, a CBS TV movie in which he starred with Park Overall (Empty Nest) and Richard Thomas. He also has been building extensive credentials as the director of episodes for a number of TV series, including Evening Shade, Thunder Alley and Family Album. In his spare time he also is a songwriter. He is married to singer Karla DeVito and has two children, Lyric and Zephyr.

Q: I once saw a movie called A Light in the Piazza, starring, I think, George Hamilton and Yvette Mimieux. It takes place in Italy. Yvette plays a woman who, at 26, has the emotions of a 13-year-old. During her marriage ceremony to Hamilton's character, a miracle happens in the church and she is healed. No one else remembers this movie. Did I dream it? -Katherine Pulzone, Elmwood Park, N.J.

A: Of course not. This 1962 film, based on a novel by Elizabeth Spencer, also starred Olivia DeHavilland as Yvette's mom. I am sad to report that it isn't on video.

Q: We enjoy Walker, Texas Ranger. I think I am related to Chuck Norris. Would you please send me his address? -Frank Carr, Sherman, Texas.

A: Again, I can't send individual responses, but you can write to any CBS star C/O CBS Inc., 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90036.

Q: I just finished watching My Bodyguard on TV and noticed that there was an actor named Adam Baldwin in it. Is he related to the well-known Baldwin brothers? What other movies has he done?

-Paige Johnson, Kalama, Wash.

A: Adam, who is not related to Alec, William and sibs, has made far too many movies to list here, but films on video include Full Metal Jacket, Next of Kin, Predator 2, Moment of Truth and Where the Day Takes You.

Q: I watch Roundhouse on Nickelodeon and would like to get autographs from the actors. Where should I write? -Matthew T., Heph, Ga.

A: You can write to any Nickelodeon cast member C/O Nickelodeon, 1775 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Q: Are Saved By the Bell and In the Heat of the Night coming back

Robby Benson

this fall? -Angela Braxton, Nederland, Texas.

A: I've answered both of these several times already, but since people still keep asking: The Bell TV movie that aired earlier this month is the last of the series. Heat will be back only in the form of three or four TV movies.

Q: Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman is one of my favorite TV series. My husband makes mountain man coats on the side. We would like an address to send one of these coats for Joe Lando to wear on the series. Thanks! -Dixie Montgomery, Blackfoot, Idaho.

A: Write to any Dr. Quinn cast member C/O the show at 4024 Radford Ave., Building 1, Room 115, Studio City, Calif. 91604.

Fan thinks Brooke, Ridge belong together

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Dear Candace: I am a long-time fan of The Bold and the Beautiful and have watched the show since it began. I am glad Ridge and Brooke are married. They belong together. No matter what anyone says, Bridget is their child, and a child is one thing Taylor could never give Ridge - not to mention passion. They didn't have the chemistry that Ridge and Brooke have. I hope Taylor and Ridge divorce. She is just not right for him.

In the past Taylor has called Brooke names and given her a hard time about sleeping around. Well, what about Taylor? She slept with James. Ridge had several opportunities to make love to Brooke, but he never did until he thought Taylor was dead.

I was hoping Taylor would get pregnant by James when they slept together at the cabin. It would have served the dragon lady right. -A Fan in Tennessee

Dear Reader: Fans are split on whom they would like to see Ridge end up with. Many agree with you that after seven years of an on-again, off-again relationship Ridge and Brooke belong together.

Other viewers enjoyed watching Taylor and Ridge together and thought there was great chemistry between them. One thing is for sure: Ridge's marriage to Brooke isn't valid because Taylor is alive and she is still Ridge's wife.

Dear Candace: I have watched Days of Our Lives for a really long time, but lately I have been getting fed up with it. This whole thing about John Black discovering his past has been going on for two years. And now this idea that he was a priest. Give me a break! The writers have to be kidding. I hope this story line ends very soon. I'm also ready to see Stefano get what he deserves.

Bo and Billie make a great couple and should be together, as should John and Kristen. The producers need to bring Roman back so that he and Marlena can be together. Jennifer needs to find out what Peter is really like. -Mary Natch in North Jersey

Dear Reader: Some of your wishes may come true, but not any time soon.
