City to preview streetscape

A public unveiling of an updated streetscape project will be at 7 p.m. today at the City Commission meeting at city hall, 201 S. Main.

A fine-tuned design for the downtown street and sidewalk improvement project is scheduled to be pre-viewed tonight for city commissioners.

Downtown Development Authority Director Steve Guile is scheduled to detail changes in the streetscape project design at the 7 p.m. Monday City Commission meeting at city hall, 201 S. Main.

Construction on the $2.4 million project is to begin in late March or April. Guile said construction drawings are being prepared, and the DDA plans to award construction bids in January.

The City Commission has to approve the construction budget early next year before work on the project can start.

Since August, a DDA streetscape committee has been meeting nearly weekly to make revisions in the project design.

"The changes are based on citizens' input and commissioners' concerns," Guile said.

Changes to the design sparked by these suggestions include:

Downtown storefronts filling up

Empty storefronts in downtown Plymouth aren't remaining empty for long these days.

Plymouth shoppers this Christmas season will notice some new businesses and familiar stores in new locations, as there's been plenty of activity downtown this fall:

■ Wild Wings gallery on Ann Arbor Trail (near Harvey) is moving to the northwest corner of Main Street and

Ann Arbor Trail in early January, said business owner Kal Jabara.

■ Venture, an outdoor wear and hiking-camping gear store, opened Oct. 15 at 863 Penniman.

■ Trader Jack's Sports Collectibles, formerly on Main, moved Sept. 1 to 585 Forest Ave. just north of Wing Street.

■ Quilt Works recently opened at 580 Forest, featuring quilting fabrics and supplies, and Laird's General Upholstery, formerly on Main Street, moved to a bigger building at 895 Wing in September.

The most prominent downtown business change is the upcoming move of Wild Wings to the Main Street space vacated this summer by Aventura. "We want to be in there in early January, before the ice fest," Jabara said.

"We think it's one of the best corners in Plymouth for exposure," he said, adding the line of outdoor art will be expanded to suit the space and a broader line of gift ware will be added.

Jabara, who said the business will soon mark its 15th anniversary, added, "I'm really looking forward to the move."

Dan Argonis, 27, owner of Venture, said the idea for the outdoor wear store came to him in college. After working a time in similar stores in Arizona, he decided to

Dates set for 1995's ice festival

Plymouth's annual Ice Sculpture Spectacular will take place Jan. 11-16 in downtown Plymouth, the board of directors announced.

The team carving competition will be one of the top events, according to Mike Watta, festival organizer.

The two-person professional team competition will start at 6 p.m. Friday, Jan. 13. Each team will receive 10 blocks of ice and will carve for 20 hours, with judging to take place at 3 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 14.

The college and high school team competition will take place from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 15, in Kellogg Park. Each team will receive three blocks of ice and will have five hours to carve its work.

Other competitions include college and high school individual student competition from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 14, and the non-professional competition from 9 a.m. to noon Sunday, Jan. 15.

The professional individual competition is Sunday, Jan. 15, from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m.

Also to be featured will be a light show that will have colored lights shining on the ice sculptures in the Gathering. The display will incorporate theatrical lighting.

Also, there will be cooking demonstrations at County LightFest: The second annual Wayne County LightFest got off to a magical beginning last Monday. A special fireworks display and music helped launch the second annual holiday light show. The light show continues through Jan. 1 (except Dec. 25). Hours are 7-10 p.m. LightFest traffic should enter Hines Drive at Merriman Road in Westland (approximately 2.5 miles south of I-96) and proceed one way, eastbound, exiting at Warren Avenue just east of Telegraph in Dearborn Heights. A donation of $5 per car will help raise funds to keep the parks operating and maintained.

Teachers, schools in mediation

Seven hours of mediation Thursday night failed to bring the Plymouth-Canton school board and the local teachers' union closer to a settlement on open contract issues.

"Nothing crucial occurred," said Chuck Portelli, president of the teachers' union. "Except the board met with the mediator. That's a first for Plymouth-Canton."

Still under dispute are teacher salaries for this year and next, and the calendar for the 1995-96 school year. Also unresolved is contract language regarding school improvement, decentralized administrative procedures that allow individual schools in the district to make more of their own decisions.

Bargaining between the district and teachers, cafeteria workers, custodians and paraprofessionals has been stalled for some time. All four employee associations have turned to mediation.

Thursday, representatives of the district and the union waited in separate conference rooms in the school's administration building. A state mediator shuttled between them, relaying proposed terms, but by 10:30 p.m. no new agreement had been reached.

A second meeting has been scheduled for 6 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 22. In the meantime, representatives for both the union and the district declined to comment on the possibility of a walkout.

"I want to give the process a chance to work," said Tom Cotner, a Plymouth Salem instructor who sits on the teachers' bargaining team.

Under a bill recently passed by state lawmakers, teacher strikes after the end of the current school year will evoke harsher penalties for both teachers and school districts.

Resident working on Red Cross relief

Plymouth resident Richard Merrill is in Texas for three weeks volunteering for the Red Cross flood relief effort.

The mission is the 36th for Merrill, who is joining four other southeastern Michigan residents working with the Red Cross in Texas. He will oversee supplies as a logistics technician.

Since 1988 when he began volunteering for Red Cross disaster services, Merrill has been both abroad and in the United States. He is a part-time Plymouth Township firefighter.

"My family knows that I'll be gone within a couple of days after a disaster," said Merrill.

He plays a role in the chapter's disaster plans as communications chairman for the Southeastern Michigan Chapter.

The current estimated cost of Red Cross operation in Texas is about $13 million and estimated damage assessment now indicates that 15,775 families were affected. Almost one million meals have been served and about 3,000 paid and volunteer staff members have worked on the Texas relief operation.

Red Cross disaster assistance is free and is funded by public donations. The public can send donations to the American Red Cross Disaster Relief Funds, Box 33351, Detroit, Mich., 48232. Make checks payable to ARC National Disaster Relief Fund or call 1-800-842-2200 for credit card donations.

The safety robot Trooper Mac visited Bird Elementary School Thursday in Plymouth.

Trooper Mac was to be accompanied by his human partner, Michigan State Trooper Herbert Weiss. The team's presentation is "Stranger Danger: What To Do When Approached By A Stranger." The program offers emergency precautions, such as implementing a "magic word" system between parents and their children.

Teenage hunter has success to report

Hunters can call us between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, to report their deer. Also, we'll take a photo of you with your buck or doe and use it in the newspaper. To report to the Buck Pole, call us at 459-2700.

Our most recent report came from Glenn Heinrich, 14, of Canton. He shot a buck last year with a bow and arrow. But this year he got his first buck during the rifle season at 8 a.m. Tuesday, opening day — a six-point buck he shot with a 30-30 rifle.

"He got it with one shot in the heart," said his mom, who reported the kill. Heinrich, a student at

Political analyst says Democrats still strong

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

From what political analyst Bill Ballenger sees, the Democrats didn't fare too badly in the Nov. 8 election.

"I really don't think the Democratic party should feel quite so depressed," said radio commentator Ballenger, publisher of Inside Michigan Politics.

Ballenger told the Canton Economic Club Wednesday that Gov. John Engler's coattails didn't slide all Republicans into office. Engler's re-election helped candidates such as U.S. Senate-elect Spencer Abraham and Secretary of State-elect Candice Miller. But other Democrats were elected and re-elected, such as State Attorney General Frank Kelley.

"They barely squeaked into the majority," Ballenger said, of the Republicans who now have 56 seats - a majority - in the state House.

Anti-incumbent talk also didn't pan out to unseat the experienced - except nationally for the Democrats. "No Republican running for the U.S. House, the U.S. Senate got defeated," said Ballenger, a former state senator and representative. The only Republican incumbent from Michigan who was defeated was Gil DiNello of Macomb County.

Ballenger said he thought the Republicans would do better than they did in races for the state Legislature. He referred to township clerk Loren Bennett's narrow win over Democratic opponent Charles "Trav" Griffin of Westland. "If Loren Bennett had not won, Republicans would have lost seats in the Legislature."

On another level - university boards of education - Republicans again didn't sweep the winning field. "In fact, two Democrats got elected," Ballenger said.

It was also the university boards where women shined the most. "This is the year of the angry, white male," Ballenger said, contrary to 1992 - the year of the woman. Nonetheless women did well, including on the state Supreme Court, which now has three female justices.

In 14 statewide races for courts where 241 judgeships were open, 55 candidates were women and nine of them won. "They continue to do well in judicial races," Ballenger said.

That's not to mention state House races, where 30 women were elected. "This is an all-time record," Ballenger told the audience that there is a farm system - like in baseball - for women. "There is strength there that is growing and growing."

In response to audience questions, Ballenger said he believes the Republicans will be a cohesive group in the state Legislature in Engler's second administration. "They really are a homogenous, monolithic group caucus." Any Republican who could cause trouble for Engler is really to the far right of the governor politically, Ballenger said.

"John Engler is the Republican Party in this state. He controls the Republican Party like no one else has since World War II," Ballenger said. "He almost functions (more) as party chair than as a governor."

Ballenger also responded to a question about Engler's upcoming agenda. "I'm sure a lot of his agenda will depend on the econ-my," he said. "If the economy goes sour, that could change a lot of things."

Engler's agenda could include changing or scrapping the single business tax, as well as changes in the charter school law and perhaps fine-tuning labor legislation.

While Engler isn't likely to do the Michigan Education Association any favors,

Ballenger said he doubts the governor will try to ravage the organization. "Any organization that can run as much money into races has got to be considered a key player in the future."

Plastering: Plaster is applied to the clay figure by sculptor Joseph DeLauro.

Sculpture of Christ reveals artist's multitude of talents

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

Canton's Joseph DeLauro waited almost one year after completing his 12-foot Christ sculpture to see it in its rightful place - the front wall of Christ Our Savior Lutheran Church in Livonia.

Installed and dedicated two weeks ago, the commanding figure with arms outstretched now welcomes all through its doors.

"I don't think there's anything that touches the human heart more than the religious figure," said DeLauro at an interview in his Canton studio.

"It was a nice occasion. That always makes an artist happy, to know he's appreciated."

The Rev. Luther Werth, pastor of the 1,500-member congregation, had commissioned the Christ sculpture in May 1992, but problems with the wall's construction delayed installation for a year.

"When we were preparing to build the church the architect, Ron Cieslak of Farmington, said he had this large expanse of wall," Werth said.

"I went to work right away to fill it."

After searching long and hard for a solution, Werth found the answer he was looking for in Matthew 11:28.

"It took off on a Bible passage that has Christ, our savior, with his arms upheld welcoming all. 'Come to me all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest,' the passage reads. That's basically the theme of the statue," Werth said.

"It's art, and it adds a little bit more to the community of Livonia. It's a nice addition out there on Farmington Road. It's our hope that it's a statement of what we believe."

DeLauro, who retired as chairman and founder of the University of Windsor's fine art department in 1983, originally made a 36-inch clay model for the sculpture in his home studio. After being given the go-ahead by Werth for the design, DeLauro went to work sculpting the 12-foot figure in clay onto an armature of wire, wood and plaster of Paris at Metro Cast Corp. in Westland.

The finished clay model is used in making a mold for casting the final sculpture.

Initially, the 78-year-old sculptor cajoled and manipulated the clay horizontally, but eventually the time came when the figure had to be righted to the position it would appear on the wall.

"I worked on it horizontally. Then vertically because your vision of it changes."

Satisfied with the figure, DeLauro then applied a thick layer of plaster over the clay to make a massive mold. Once dried, he chipped away the clay. Finally, the sculpture was ready to be cast using a material called polycarbonate.

If it had been cast in bronze, the sculpture would have cost five times as much. As it was, DeLauro's commission for the sculpture cost the church $20,000.

DeLauro would never have released the sculpture to the church for installation two weeks ago if it hadn't met his high standards first.

"It fits right on the exterior of the church. Its scale is right; the terra cotta color was right for the brick surface."

DeLauro, who earned a bachelor of fine arts degree from Yale

■ DeLauro, who retired as chairman and founder of the University of Windsor's fine art department in 1983, originally made a 36-inch clay model for the sculpture in his home studio.

University and a master of fine art from the University of Iowa, has artwork in private and public collections from Italy to South America, including a five-ton marble sculpture, "The Pieta," in Chicago.

Locally, his work is permanently installed at Madonna University in Livonia, the Detroit Public Library, Fairlane Manor in Dearborn, and churches and seminars too numerous to mention.

In Windsor, DeLauro's 11-foot bronze work illustrating the Creation story according to the Iroquois and Wyandotte Indians' myth can be seen at the Hiram Walker & Sons distillery. Also, he has a sculpture based on the Holocaust at the Jewish Community Center in Windsor.

In Canton Township, DeLauro's 26-inch bronze, "The Storyteller," greets visitors to the Canton Public Library.

His current commission for the Italian Caboto Club in Windsor is a sculpture of John Cabot (Giovanni Caboto), a European explorer who came to Canada. It will be completed by 1997, just in time to honor Caboto on the 500th anniversary of his arrival.

Parade features students

Four local students will be among 300 greater Detroit honor roll students to be honored for their outstanding academic achievements in the 1994 Parade Honor Corps, a specialty unit in the 68th Michigan Thanksgiving Parade on Thursday.

Local students are: Delia Chien, 17, of Canton; Jennifer Ma, 17, of Plymouth; Rebecca Ann Uhlmann, 16, of Canton; and Brent Pernak, 17, of Canton.

The unit is being sponsored by Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan and Blue Care Network.

The 1994 Parade Honor Corps will feature students from 86 public and private high schools in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, including several Detroit high schools.

Area school superintendents were asked to select outstanding students to represent their districts in the parade. Parade Honor Corps students selected met excellent attendance standards, had outstanding academic performance with a grade point average of 3.0 or above, and were involved in extracurricular activities.

Students in this year's "human float," as it has been described, will also carry their school banners and pennants, creating a rainbow of brilliant colors when they march down Woodward Avenue. They will wear blue jackets bearing the "Wave of the Future" logo - the Honor Corps' theme.

The "Wave" theme and logo were designed by the first group of Honor Corps students who walked in the 1992 parade.

The Honor Corps will be ninth in a lineup of more than 100 parade units on the 2.2-mile parade route. The Detroit area Eagle Scouts and First Class Girl Scouts will lead the students. Forty Honor Corps alumni, who marched in last year's parade, will return to join this year's honorees.

Last year, the Honor Corps was seen across the state on a television feed produced by Detroit's WDIV-TV. This year's parade again will be shown on WDIV's statewide network and across the nation and on 100 station networks which parade organizers expect will show the parade - and 300 of Detroit's best and brightest young people - to more than 40 million viewers nationwide.

■ Taking the clock now just off of Kellogg Park and placing it a few yards north of the site it was planned for — the south edge of an island in Main Street. The island will create a boulevard between Ann Arbor Trail and Pennington. Moving the clock a few yards farther from traffic meets concerns that turning fire trucks could hit and damage the clock.

■ Adding more flowers and a few less trees to the design. "That's an attempt to visually soften the look downtown," Guile said.

■ Taking some street lights planned for the center island on Main and placing them instead at pedestrian crosswalks between Kellogg Park and the west side of Main.

■ Also to soften the look, grass will replace brick planned for the Main Street island. Brick will be used for edging.

Other changes include a left-turn signal for drivers headed south on Main and turning left onto Ann Arbor Trail, and scrapping plans for an island on Ann Arbor Trail between Forest and Main to allow easy turning for emergency trucks. A narrow island is still planned for Ann Arbor Trail just west of Forest, to slow traffic to make the area more conducive to walking.

"We've been approached by some downtown business owners about installing a heated sidewalk," Guile said, to make ice and snow removal easy. If heated sidewalks are favored by enough business owners, they'll be paid for by special assessments of business owners.

While construction next year on the streetscape project could be seen as something that would keep shoppers away, the DDA has organized a campaign to market the streetscape renovation to the public as a way to promote Plymouth.

The project is being paid for from taxes on downtown properties collected by the DDA.

Law will legalize home music teaching

BY LYSAGHT
STAFF WRITER

Legislation that would allow music instructors to teach scales, sonatas and solos in their homes without worry is poised for passage in the state Legislature.

The question is whether a lame-duck House of Representatives will consider the bills before the legislative session ends, said Sen. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, a sponsor, who expects approval of the three-bill package that permits academic tutoring at home.

"If they meet at all, it's going to pass, and I expect they're going to meet again," said Honigman. The state Senate overwhelmingly approved the bills, which Honigman said have bi-partisan support. But one House aide familiar with the legislation said the chamber was unlikely to take up the measures this year.

Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, predicted the package would be passed this year. Faxon has long been a patron of the arts.

"I don't see where there should be any problem with them," Faxon said.

The bills would establish a state law allowing art and music teachers to practice their profession without running afoul of municipal ordinances that regulate home businesses.

The bills were introduced twice before but failed to reach the floors of both houses for votes.

"This is the farthest we've ever gotten," the senator said.

He first introduced the legislation in 1987 after a West Bloomfield Township couple was cited for teaching music in their home.

"We've gotten so many professional musicians out of our studio, but one of our neighbors decided he wanted to try to stop us," said Betty Kowalsky Stassen, a piano teacher who pushed for state legislation to solve the problem after getting a ticket.

West Bloomfield eventually passed an ordinance that allows home-based music teachers, but some other municipalities haven't, Stassen said. Music teachers still get ticketed.

Stassen, whose home contains two Steinway grand pianos, said she and her husband, Gerald, a violin and strings instructor, now teach about three days a week.

"It's not business, it's education," Stassen said. She argues that music teachers provide a vital service in encouraging and developing talent and a love of the arts.

Passage of the legislation, which the Senate approved in near-unanimous votes last May,

"will make us feel like we're not criminals," said Arvi Sinka, a piano teacher.

"At this moment, in nearly every municipality in the state, teaching music in the home is counter to city codes," said Sinka, a pianist with the Birmingham-Bloomfield Symphony Orchestra.

Honigman said the legislation had received some opposition from municipal associations but that he believed their concerns had been resolved.

If the bills are not passed by the end of December, they would have to be introduced a fourth time, Honigman said.

"As of now, I know of no organized opposition," he said.

He said Republicans, who currently share control of the House with Democrats, may hold off voting on some legislation this year because Republicans will hold a clear majority in the House next year.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDINANCE NO. C-94-12 AMENDMENT TO MULTI-CHANNEL SERVICE PROVIDER REGULATORY ORDINANCE

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE MULTI-CHANNEL SERVICE PROVIDER REGULATORY ORDINANCE WHICH DESCRIBES REGULATORY PRACTICES FOR MULTI-CHANNEL SERVICE PROVIDERS, INCLUDING PROVISIONS FOR INSURANCE, REPORTS AND RECORDS, CONSUMER PRACTICES, CONSUMER PROTECTION MEASURES, CONSTRUCTION AND CONSTRUCTION RELATED PRACTICES, FRANCHISE FEES AND ALTERNATE USER CHARGES, OPERATION PROCEDURES, AND HEALTH, SAFETY AND WELFARE MEASURES, AND AMENDMENT TO THE CONTINUITY OF SERVICE PROVISION, PROVIDING FOR THE REPEAL OF INCONSISTENT ORDINANCES ONLY TO THE EXTENT OF THEIR INCONSISTENCY, PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY, PROVIDING FOR A SAVINGS CLAUSE, PROVIDING FOR PENALTY FOR VIOLATION, PROVIDING FOR PUBLICATION AND EFFECTIVE DATE THEREOF.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

SECTION 1.

Section 74.265 of Chapter 74 of the Code of Ordinances of the Charter Township of Plymouth is amended by adding Subsection (G) to read as follows:

Section 74.265. Policy with Respect to Continuity of Multi-Channel Services.

- A) The Board/franchising authority declares that as part of its right to establish multi-channel customer service guidelines, it has the duty to ensure continuity of multi-channel service for all subscribers. In that light, the Board/franchising authority also determines that it may take appropriate measures in order to ensure that no portion of the Township is threatened or faced with a disruption, interruption, or discontinuance of multi-channel service due to the actions of any MCS provider.
B) In addition to the principles and ideals enumerated in subsection (A), the Board/franchising authority also expresses that its policy covers the following:
1) providing for continuity of multi-channel service in the event of acquisition by the Township.
2) providing for continuity of service in the event of a proposed abandonment, withdrawal, or cessation of multi-channel service by an MCS provider.
3) providing for continuity of service in the event of revocation, termination, or non-renewal of a franchised MCS provider's franchise.
4) providing for continuity of service in the event that a transaction occurs that affects the ownership or control of the MCS provider, such as an assignment, sale, transfer, or merger.
5) providing for continuity of service in the event of an expiration of a franchise.
6) preventing disruption of multi-channel service which would provide a hardship on those subscribers who rely on a multi-channel system as their primary or secondary source for information; and
7) preventing the interruption or cessation of multi-channel service which would disrupt or eliminate the diversity of programming choices enjoyed by subscribers of a multi-channel system, and thereby restricting their ability to receive information.
C) Whenever any situation occurs (including those mentioned above) which threatens the Township and subscribers with the loss or interruption in the continuity of multi-channel service, then the Board/franchising authority may direct the MCS provider for a period of up to twenty-four (24) months to do everything in its power to ensure that all subscribers receive continuous, uninterrupted multi-channel service of the same quality, mix, and level(s) regardless of the circumstances.
D) During the interim period, the Board/franchising authority shall work with the MCS provider in order to secure a new multi-channel system owner, or rectify the problem, so that the threat of loss of continuity is removed at the earliest possible instance.
E) During any interim period in which the MCS provider continues to provide multi-channel service to subscribers, the MCS provider is entitled to all revenues collected, except any sums owed (including franchise fees, alternative user charges, and taxes) to the Township or to other persons.
F) In the event that the threat of loss of continuity is not resolved within twenty-four (24) months, then the Board/franchising authority may extend the interim period of a month-to-month basis until the situation is satisfactorily resolved. Also, in such a circumstance, the Board/franchising authority may adopt any emergency rules or procedures which will ensure that the subscribers will receive continuous, uninterrupted multi-channel service of the same quality, mix, and level(s).
G) This section 74.266 shall take immediate effect upon publication notwithstanding any other provision of this Multi-Channel Service Provider Regulatory Ordinance and shall be applicable to all cable operators, cable services, cable systems or multi-channel service providers operating in the Township without exception or relief and is particularly applicable to existing franchisees.

SECTION 2: SEVERABILITY.

Deck the halls with safety and caution

Detroit Edison is cautioning homeowners to be careful this holiday season when they put up electric decorations.

The most important thing to check before stringing lights and setting up other trimmings is to make sure they contain a label from Underwriters Laboratories, Edison said in a press release.

The second-most important consideration is to use lighting as it is intended by the manufacturer — either outdoor or indoor.

Also, inspect Christmas lights for frayed wires, damaged sockets and cracked or missing insulation.

Most lights cost 1-7.5 cents per string to operate for six hours, depending on wattage, Edison said.

For strands of lights that blink off and on, the cost is halved.

Edison offered the following suggestions for a safer holiday season:

Indoor lighting

- Do not overload electrical circuits. Older home circuits usually cannot safely carry more than 15 amps, or 1,800 watts. Newer homes are able to carry as much as 20 amps or 2,400 watts. For the best results, load to only 80 percent of your home's maximum capacity.

- Use no more than three sets of standard lights on each extension cord.

- Do not insert new bulbs or change fuses when light sets are plugged in.

- Keep lights away from carpeting, furniture and drapes. Some standard lights produce enough heat to scorch or damage items they touch.

- Turn off decorative lights before you go to bed or leave home.

Concert: The 145-voice Plymouth Community Chorus, directed by Michael Gross, is ushering in its 21st season with its Christmas concert, "Sing We Now of Christmas," at 8 p.m. Thursday through Sunday, Dec. 1-4, at First United Methodist Church of Plymouth, 45201 N. Territorial. Tickets are $8 for adults and $6 for seniors and students. To raise funds for its Washington tour in June, the chorus will serve pie, coffee and tea for a concert afterglow following the Dec. 2 and 3 performances in the church Fellowship Hall. Christmas CDs and cassettes are available at $14 and $9, respectively. Call 455-4080 for additional information and afterglow reservations.

Crash simulator added at local firm

Car seat maker Johnson Controls has added a $2.8 million vehicle crash simulator to its Plymouth Township facility — making it the first independent car seat supplier in North America to have in-house crash testing. "Our new testing system is an asset to our company and to our customers," said Jerry Zimmerman, Johnson Controls chief engineer for technical services. The sled can simulate a crash up to 35 miles per hour. The crash test dummies are supplied by another Plymouth Township firm — First Technology Systems Inc. "All along we've had to do sled testing off site. A lot of times, booking the tests is tough," said

Jeff Steiner, company spokesman. "Having a sled on site allows us to evaluate designs faster and shrink design time down," Steiner said. The crash simulator is supplied by CVC Products of Syracuse, N.Y. It is one of 30 such systems in use by major automotive companies. It simulates crash conditions to allow Johnson Controls to produce car seats that meet dynamic impact requirements that comply with federal standards. The system includes an 80-foot track, an accelerating test sled, computer-controlled activating devices and sensors, high-speed cameras and a high-speed video system and an observation room. "The information we collect from each crash simulation is critical," Zimmerlee said. "It enables us both to assist our customers in meeting dynamic safety requirements and better engineer the product." The team of crash dummies involves four "adults" and four "children." They ride in vehicle seats during crash simulations and sensors on the crash dummies' bodies collect data on the effects of various types of collisions.

State road crews bracing for winter weather

State and county highway maintenance crews are preparing for snow, sleet and freezing rain. "Keeping our state's 9,550-mile highway system clear of ice and snow is our top priority during the winter," said Michigan Department of Transportation spokesman Pat Nowak. The state government says it will spend nearly $40 million for snow and other winter maintenance this year, about a third of its annual highway maintenance budget.

M-DOT says it will give the highest priority to plowing heavily traveled highways that average at least 5,000 vehicles a day in volume.

They will be plowed as soon as possible until the pavement is

Fuel prices up for holidays

Motorists will pay nearly a nickel per gallon more to drive this Thanksgiving than they did in 1993, the American Automobile Association reports.

AAA's Fuel Gauge Report shows the nationwide average price of self-service regular unleaded gas rose 4.9 cents to $1.165 per gallon.

The price is up 0.8 cent from last month.

The cost of self-serve, midgrade unleaded rose 4.6 cents from last Thanksgiving to $1.261 per gallon.

Self-serve premium unleaded was up 3.6 cents to $1.341.

Regionally, prices were highest in the West ($1.28 per gallon) and lowest in the Southeast, ($1.11).

Other prices were: Mid-Atlantic ($1.18), New England ($1.18), Southwest ($1.15), Great Lakes ($1.13) and Midwest ($1.13).

Nationally, nearly 64 percent of the stations surveyed will be open on Thanksgiving Day and 34 percent will operate 24 hours.

generally bare of ice and snow. Lesser traveled highways will be plowed until the center portion of the road is clear or until the pavement is passable.

They will be fully cleared later during normal work hours.

The department maintains state highways in 21 counties and partners with road commissions and public works departments in the remaining 62 counties and 154 cities.

M-DOT maintenance improvements in the state include increasing the use of permanent raised pavement markers to better delineate lanes for nighttime guidance.

The reflectorized markings, which are on about 75 percent of non-lighted freeways in the state, show up better than painted lines during wet conditions.

The department also is installing flexible reflector posts in high impact areas, such as freeway ramps.

The posts are constructed of a flexible plastic that bends and rebounds on impact.

Besides improved safety to motorists and less vehicle damage, they are more cost effective and require little to no maintenance once installed, M-DOT officials say.

Motorists are warned to watch out for ice on bridges.

Cold air passing under the bridge causes the temperature of the bridge deck to drop.

While the adjoining pavement may be dry, condensation forms on the bridge deck and freezes, making driving treacherous.

Motorists are also cautioned not to follow snow plows closely.

The blizzard-like conditions that typically surround a plow make it difficult to follow closely or pass.

And there's a risk of being hit by rocks, chunks of ice or snow thrown from the plow.

Light Up a Life

Angela Hospice supporters enjoy benefit

More than 1,000 area residents turned out last Tuesday for an evening of fashion, food, music and prizes at the annual "Light Up a Life" Angela Hospice benefit at Jacobson's in Livonia.

Sponsored by the Italian American Club of Livonia, the benefit raised some $40,000 for a hospice pediatric program, "My Nest Is Best," which is set to begin in 1995 — the same year Angela Hospice celebrates its 10th anniversary.

A "strolling supper" throughout the store featured gourmet appetizers and refreshments from more than 20 area restaurants.

The Jacobson's fashion show featured clothes by St. John Knits, J.H. Collectibles, menswear and children's clothes.

Carolyn DiComo, chairwoman from Northville Township, said this year's benefit was "very special because it was for children."

"My Nest Is Best" is a program of care for children with life-threatening illness. It focuses on helping children remain home, in the comfort and security of familiar surroundings.

DiComo, who has chaired all seven hospice benefits, attributes the success of the event to hard-working committee members.

"I also have to thank my family — they do such a good job and they're a big part of the event."

Carolyn and her husband, Don DiComo, are the parents of four grown children — Donald DiComo II of Livonia, Dan DiComo of Northville, Cindy Shultz of Wixom and Candy Keaser of Royal Oak.

Italian American Club members come from Livonia, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Westland, Northville, Novi, West Bloomfield, Rochester, Howell, Brighton, Canton Township and Plymouth.

Area celebrities who donated their time to model fashions for benefit included WXYZ-TV reporter Cheryl Chodun, Amyre Makupson of WKBD-Channel 50 along with her children, Ruddy Makupson and Myre-Z Makupson, and Jimmy Launce of WJR radio and his wife, Brigitte.

"Like father . . ." Livonia City Councilman Dale Jurcisin is joined by his son, Mark, on the celebrity fashion runway at last Tuesday's hospice benefit.

All eyes on fashion: Barbara Peterson of Plymouth (front) and her daughter, Karen Christensen of Canton Township, admire the fashions by St. John Knits at Tuesday's Angela Hospice benefit at Jacobson's.

At your service: Chef Cliff Suhr of Sur-ell Catering at the Daniel A. Lord Knights of Columbus slices roast beef for benefit patron Cheryl Ouimet of Livonia.

Also appearing were Paul Gross of WDIV-TV Channel 4, WXYZ-TV reporter Dan Springer and his wife, Heidi, "Captain" Rick Jagger of WHYT-FM 96.3, Bob Rathbun and Rick Rizz, Detroit Tigers announcers, Novi City Manager Ed Kriewall, Livonia City Councilman Dale Jurcisin and his son, Mark, and former Detroit Tigers pitcher Milt Wilcox.

Leaving that night with some special prizes were Lorraine Stevenson of Plymouth who won two tickets from Northwest Airlines, Kim Lokar of Farmington, the winner of a $1,000 shopping spree at Chris Furniture of Livonia, and Donna Meyers of Novi who won a $500 gift certificate from Jacobson's.

Other prizes winners include J. Pociuluyka of Livonia, a weekend getaway at Grand Traverse Resort; Sylvia Zagaroli, dinner for two with Mort Crim at Roma Cafe; Rosemary Elkow of New Hudson, Treetops/Sylvan Glen ski package; Toni Minni of Dearborn Heights, weekend at Pinecroft Golf Plantation; J. Kustia of Livonia, gift certificate to Tamara Institute de Beaute; Kathy Hartmus of Livonia, $50 gift certificate to Cooker's in Livonia, and Angela Kelley of Livonia, Lodis Executive Writing Instrument.

Angela Hospice was founded in 1985 by Sister Mary Giovanni under the sponsorship of the Felician Sisters of the Presentation Province. Since then, the hospice has provided care for more than 1,000 people suffering from incurable illness.

12 alternatives to lashing out at your child.

The next time everyday pressures build up to the point where you feel like lashing out — STOP! And try any of these simple alternatives.

You'll feel better . . . and so will your child.

1. Take a deep breath. And another. Then remember you are the adult . . .
2. Close your eyes and imagine you're hearing what your child is about to hear.
3. Press your lips together and count to 10. Or better yet, to 20.
4. Put your child in a time-out chair. (Remember the rule: one time-out minute for each year of age.)
5. Put yourself in a time-out chair. Think about why you are angry: Is it your child, or is your child simply a convenient target for your anger?
6. Phone a friend.
7. If someone can watch the children, go outside and take a walk.
8. Take a hot bath or splash cold water on your face.
9. Hug a pillow.
10. Turn on some music. Maybe even sing along.
11. Pick up a pencil and write down as many helpful words as you can think of. Save the list.
12. Write for parenting information: Parenting, Box 2866, Chicago, IL 60690.

State balks at long sentences for repeat offenders

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

The Department of Corrections is asking the state Supreme Court to overturn a decision by the Court of Appeals that has resulted in much longer prison sentences for parolees who commit new crimes.

The July 5 Court of Appeals decision said that parolees convicted of new felony crimes must serve the remaining portion of their maximum sentence for the first crime before beginning any part of the sentence for the second crime.

Since January 1993, when this interpretation of the law began to be enforced by the Department of Corrections, more than 700 re-offending parolees have been returned to prison to finish their maximum sentences. None of these people will be eligible for parole for a long time.

The Department of Corrections thinks that prison overcrowding and financial problems will result if the Court of Appeals ruling stands.

"This new form of consecutive sentence will require the Department of Corrections to expend a considerable amount of funds over the coming years to house parolees who are required to serve the entire maximum sentence of the crime on which they were originally paroled," says the application for leave to appeal filed with the Supreme Court by Attorney General Frank Kelley.

The document goes on to say that the Court of Appeals "did not properly weigh and consider the unreasonable and absurd sentencing consequences which a repeal by implication would cause."

The document concludes by asking the Supreme Court to rule that parolees who commit new crimes should serve only the minimum sentence for the new crime before being eligible for parole again.

"We just want to have some real clarity as to what the statute calls for," said Warren Williams, a spokesman for the Department of Corrections.

The court was interpreting a law passed by the Legislature and

"The governor likes to brag that he and his administration are tough on crime, but the corrections department's decision to appeal this case to the Supreme Court certainly contradicts that claim."

Sen. George Hart

signed by then-Gov. James Blanchard in 1988.

The Supreme Court has not yet decided whether to accept the case.

The law was never widely enforced until Wayne County chief assistant prosecutor George Ward pursued the case of Gregory Lee Young, who has 15 felony convictions to his credit.

Young committed a breaking and entering offense in September 1991 while on parole for armed robbery.

Ward argued his case in front of Recorder's Court Judge Lawrence Silverman, who ruled that Young must finish the remaining nine years of his armed robbery sentence before beginning the three-year minimum sentence for breaking and entering.

The Department of Corrections balked at Silverman's ruling, and a declaratory judgment by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Susan Bieke-Neilson was requested.

Bieke-Neilson backed Ward, a resident of Plymouth Township, and the case went to the state Court of Appeals.

"I don't think of myself as a bloodthirsty prosecutor," Ward said. "But why do we prosecute the same guy 15 times? I am trying to point the way out of the woods."

State Sens. George Hart, D-Dearborn, and William Van Regenmorter, R-Jenison, chair of the Senate Judiciary Committee, are on Ward's side.

"I think the (Circuit Court) ruling is correct," Van Regenmorter said. "I recognize in some cases it will mean an exceptionally long sentence, but it's dealing with repeat offenders."

Hart's objection was more partisan. "The governor likes to brag that he and his administration are tough on crime, but the Corrections Department's decision to appeal this case to the Supreme Court certainly contradicts that claim," he said. "It is disappointing that the administration does not want to stop the revolving door of the criminal justice system."

Christmas tree ornament doubles as smoke detector

A Christmas tree ornament that's really a smoke detector is for sale by a Troy-based company called Quadra Linc.

The company has announced the introduction of "Natale," a battery-powered smoke detector that looks like an ornament.

Natale, which is ready to hang on a tree or other decoration, offers early detection of smoke by emitting a 75-decibel alarm that will alert you and your family to a fire.

Natale is a 3½-inch globe made of crystal-like plastic and powered by a nine-volt battery.

The device is available through Bordine's stores throughout metropolitan Detroit and Bronner's of Frankenmuth.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Relax and plan your great turkey dinner

I'll never forget the first time I cooked Thanksgiving dinner. I didn't have 27 years of cooking experience under my belt, and felt totally overwhelmed.

My heart went out to Sandy from Southfield who nervously approached me one afternoon at a Kitchen Glamor store.

This is going to be Sandy's first year preparing Thanksgiving dinner for her in-laws, who are coming from upstate New York. Sandy said she knows nothing about cooking a turkey, let alone making an entire dinner.

This column's for you

If you've never attempted to prepare a full turkey dinner, then this is the column for you. Mothers, clip this out and send it to your kids, or file it until they're old enough to invite you over. You won't be disappointed.

First off Sandy, the best thing you can do is plan ahead. Work out the menu and choose some recipes. Then write your shopping list.

Experience has taught me to write down what needs to be done at what time. If appetizers and desserts can be made a day or two ahead, why not take advantage?

When it comes to buying a turkey, fresh birds are best. Allow one pound of uncooked bird per person, more if you want leftovers. Order your bird today.

Check your spice rack to make sure you have what you need. Ditto for serving pieces, cookware, utensils and cutlery.

Look for Yukon Golds

Plan on eight ounces (½ pound) of potatoes and vegetables per person. When it comes to potatoes, look for Yukon Golds, they make great mashed, roasted or baked potatoes, and are easy to find at grocery stores.

For convenience, turn fresh or frozen vegetables into casseroles. Definitely do this the day before.

People love stuffing, and it can be as easy or as complicated as you choose to make it. Plan on two cups of stuffing per person and, whatever you do, don't stuff the turkey! Cooking the stuffing separate in a covered casserole shortens the cooking time of the turkey. Homemade breads and rolls are nice, but check out the selections from specialty bakeries in your area. Buy breads and rolls ahead of time, wrap and freeze. Pop them in the oven for 10 minutes while the food is being placed on the table Thanksgiving Day.

Remove the turkey from the refrigerator one hour before roasting begins. As a rule, unstuffed birds require 16 minutes per pound while stuffed birds require 20.

Make sure it's done

When it comes to cooking the turkey, the most difficult task is deciding when it's cooked. Invest in a good thermometer and cook the bird until the temperature in the thickest part of its thigh, without touching the bone, reaches 165 degrees.

But before you cook the bird, remember to wash the inside and remove the bag containing the giblets, neck, gizzard, etc. Rinse the bird inside and out with cold water. Pat dry with paper towels. Lightly season the turkey inside and out with salt and fresh ground pepper.

You can make a stock with the neck and giblets by placing them in a small saucepan and covering with two cups of water. Bring to a boil, reduce the heat and simmer for 1 hour. If you desire, insert a cut up onion and any fresh herbs like parsley, celery leaves or fresh sage in the cavity and truss, if you know how. If you don't, forget it.

Now it's time to begin cooking. Preheat the oven to 425 degrees. Place the turkey, breast side up, on a greased rack in a shallow roasting pan just large enough to hold the bird. Melt a stick of butter and cut a 14 by 24-inch piece of cheesecloth. Soak the cheesecloth in the melted butter until all butter has been absorbed. Double the cheesecloth and drape it over the turkey breast (this ensures a moist, not overcooked breast).

Place the turkey in the oven and immediately reduce the heat to 325 degrees. Using a large bulb baster, baste the turkey through the cheesecloth with the pan drippings every 30 minutes. About 45 minutes before the turkey is finished, remove the cheesecloth. Continue roasting and baste every 10 minutes. Check the temperature at this time. When the bird reaches 165 degrees, transfer the turkey to a carving board and cover loosely with foil and allow to rest for 20-25 minutes.

The bird's internal temperature will rise about 10 degrees, and the bird will retain more juices. Make the gravy and mash potatoes.

Preparing for Hanukkah is 'men's work'

Making potato latkes is a male tradition in the Katzenstein family. Three generations - grandfather, father and son - help prepare food for the eight-day Jewish Festival of Lights.

BY SANDRA DALKA-PRYSBY
SPECIAL WRITER

Most people think of candles, not food, when it comes to Hanukkah. But for some families, food is an important part of this "Festival of the Lights," which is observed over eight nights beginning at sundown, Nov. 27.

According to Danny Katzenstein of Beverly Hills, preparing food for the celebration commemorating the Maccabees' rededication of the Temple in Jerusalem in 165 BC, has become a male tradition in his family.

"My father, father-in-law and I make the potato latkes for our family celebration," Katzenstein said. "This year we're going to introduce my eight-year-old son, Joshua, to this custom."

Grandfather Sonny Schwartz of Farmington Hills said that while Josh is going to be taught "the skill of making not only good, but great, latkes, one tradition - that of cooking with a glass of vodka in one hand - will have to be postponed for a number of years."

Josh's other grandfather, William Katzenstein of Birmingham, said that the vodka is needed to inspire the chefs.

"It also makes it much easier to handle the less-than-pleasant task of peeling lots and lots of potatoes."

Danny Katzenstein said potato latkes, also known as potato pancakes, are a traditional Hanukkah food because they are cooked in oil.

"Oil is a significant ingredient to Hanukkah. After the Maccabees threw out the Greeks and their idols, they lit a lamp to help them clean up the Temple. There was only enough oil in the lamp to last one night, but a miracle happened. The oil lasted for eight days," he said.

"Cooking food in oil is one way of marking this occasion. Another is lighting the menorah (a candelabrum that holds nine candles). One candle is lit the first night, two the second and one on each of the remaining nights of Hanukkah."

William Katzenstein said that while latkes are the tradition of Jews in this country, deep-fried pastries similar to jelly-filled donuts are the tradition in Israel.

According to the three chefs, some American Jewish families also make "heizenblozen" for their celebration.

"This is cookie dough that is deep fried in oil. While being fried, the dough expands. The result are odd-shaped puffs that are sweetened with powdered sugar and cinnamon," said Danny Katzenstein.

Sweet treats are not the main concern of Sonny Schwartz. He said his

Simi Winery CEO misses winemaking

BY ELEANOR AND RAY HEALD
SPECIAL WRITERS

You read it here first. Zelma Long, chief executive officer (CEO) of Simi Winery, will get back into winemaking with a new California label.

It may take a couple of years, but the former winemaker at Robert Mondavi and Simi Wineries is getting tired of being CEO and watching someone else make the wine while she pushes papers in her office.

Long created the Simi Reserve Chardonnay program that continues under the able winemaking skills of New Zealander Nick Goldschmidt. The 1990 Simi Reserve Chardonnay has intense fruit with harmonious, rich oak in a true reserve style, with the added advantage of two years bottle age.

We don't know whether Long will continue as CEO, but it's exciting to think that we might again be able to drink a chardonnay made by the master. What makes this such an intriguing prospect is that Zelma's husband, Phil Priest, is the for mer vineyard manager for Robert Mondavi Winery, now operating his own vineyard consulting business.

A dynamite duo! Frieze is itching to grow grapes again, and Zelma needs to get back to doing what she loves.

Tom Mazzocco is one of the happiest winery owners in Sonoma County. He has his winery back, after a short hiatus, and he has a new winemaker, Phyllis Zouzounis, former assistant to Larry Levin at Dry Creek Vineyards. Phyllis also owns her own zinfandel label, Deux Amis, available in Michigan.

The 1993 Mazzocco River Lane Chardonnay ($14) sports pineapple, orange and tropical fruit with a background of French oak. The 1991 Mazzocco Cabernet Sauvignon ($18) is blended with cabernet franc, merlot, petit verdot and malbec. It shows blackberry fruit with integrated oak and good structure. Mazzocco's super-premium cabernet blend called Matrix ($28) has a big hit of cabernet franc to elevate the aromas. Zouzounis likes the "dusty, smoky, meaty, earthy" character and managed tannins. If you are looking for an easy drinking zinfandel with lots of fruit, yummy berries and spice, try the 1992 Mazzocco Zinfandel ($14).

With Zouzounis at Mazzocco's helm, we'll be seeing more great wines, especially fruity zins and deep, rich cabs. Matanzas Creek Winery is the epitome of dedication to quality. This includes an active winery research program and implementation of proven methods. As hands-on owners, Sandra and Bill MacIver have guided every aspect of production.

"Style is not a cookie-cutter shape that one uses over and over," Bill MacIver said. "Our role as owners has been to set the philosophy directing activity and decision-making, bringing together talented people, then encouraging, supporting and gently guiding all elements of the winery. We have been hands-on people from the earliest days of Matanzas Creek."

Ten years ago, the MacIvers decided to specialize in producing three varietals.

"We chose to stay with chardonnay," Sandra said, "because we felt it was our hallmark wine; sauvignon blanc because we were developing a style that excited us and brought something new to the world of sauvignon blanc; and merlot because we wanted to be one of the pioneers of a varietal we particularly enjoyed."

The only problem at Matanzas Creek, if you call it that, is increasing demand. There is constant pressure to release wines early to keep the pipeline filled.

The wines of Matanzas Creek are to die for. The current releases include the 1993 Sauvignon Blanc ($14) and the 1992 Chardonnay ($22). The 1992 Merlot ($30) has already received so much hype, it will probably be released before March 1995.

Since 1976, Jordan Winery has been known for its smooth, velvety cabernet sauvignon made from Alexander Valley fruit. Tasted when young, Jordan cabernets impress with drinkability and balance. Let's dispense with the myth that hard wines develop into supple, luscious reds when mature. That's baloney.

We were reminded of Jordan's cabernet longevity when we tasted the 1981 with dinner recently.

The wine is supple and smooth with great length for a wine that is over 13 years old. We were also impressed recently by the 1989 Jordan Cabernet, from a vintage that has been much maligned in the press.

Today, the news from Jordan is the sparkling wine simply called "J." The 1990 "J" Brut ($23) is a 50/50 blend of chardonnay and pinot noir, aged 42 months on the yeast. It shows a delicate, crisp, citrus character that is refreshing and complementary to shellfish, crab and fresh oysters.

interest is in perfecting latkes.

"While Danny and I use the same recipe, my son-in-law likes to make his with a batter that has been pureed. This makes them similar to pancakes. I like my potatoes to be grated. This makes the latkes similar in texture to hash brown potatoes," Schwartz said. "And," he added, "mine are better."

While the men are in the kitchen cooking their traditional treat, the women, including Esther and Dolly Katzenstein and Gerri Schwartz, prepare the large salad bar and dessert table.

Esther Katzenstein, Danny's wife, also puts out the sour cream and homemade applesauce to go with the latkes.

Esther Katzenstein said salad with all the fixings is an excellent accompaniment to the latkes.

"The latkes are very filling so salad provides a nice balance to the meal."

With the men and women busy making the meal, the children, including Josh's two sisters — Laurin, 6, and Megan, 4, — play a game with a dreidel (or dreidyle), a four-sided top-like toy.

Although I enjoy playing with the dreidyle, I'm happy to be helping in the kitchen this year," said Joshua. "I really like being with my dad and grandpas."

HOMEMADE GRAVY

2 cups homemade turkey stock, chicken broth or canned low sodium chicken broth
2 tablespoons turkey fat
2 tablespoons all purpose flour
Pan drippings
Salt and pepper to taste

Pour all the liquid from the roasting pan into a large glass measuring cup or clear container. Using a ladle, skim off as much fat as you can and set aside. Reserve the dark, rich pan juices.

Set the roasting pan over two burners on medium heat. Add 2 tablespoons of the fat and whisk in the flour, scraping up any browned bits that were stuck to the bottom of the roasting pan. Start adding the stock, whisking constantly to make a paste and then add remaining stock and whisk until smooth.

Lower the heat to low and simmer the gravy until thick and shiny, about 5 minutes. Stir in the reserved pan juices and whisk until smooth. Season with salt and fresh ground pepper.

Pour the gravy through a sieve or strainer into a gravy boat, cover and take to the table. Makes about 3 cups.

EASY SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE

4 pounds sweet potatoes, peeled and cut into 1-inch chunks
2 1/2 cups apple cider
1/2 cup dark brown sugar (packed)
1 stick (8 tablespoons) butter
1 small piece cinnamon stick

In a large stainless steel saucepan, combine the potatoes, cider, brown sugar, 6 tablespoons butter and the cinnamon stick. Bring to a boil over moderate heat. Reduce the heat to a simmer, partially cover and cook, stirring occasionally for 45 minutes or until the potatoes are tender.

Let cool slightly. Remove the cinnamon stick and mash the potatoes either by hand, through a food mill or in batches in a food processor.

Transfer the potatoes to an oven-proof serving dish. The potatoes can be prepared to this point up to 4 days in advance. Cover and refrigerate. To continue cooking, preheat the oven to 325 degrees. Dot with remaining butter, cover with foil and bake for 20-25 minutes. Remove foil and bake for 5 minutes longer. Serves 8.

Chef's secret: for a better treat, top with large marshmallows and pop under the broiler till they melt just before serving.

TWO BREAD STUFFING WITH SAGE

9 cups, 1/2-inch cubes white bread (about 3/4 pound loaf)
7 1/2 cups, 1/2-inch cubes whole grain bread (about 1/2 pound)
3 tablespoons butter
1 turkey liver, chopped (optional)
1 1/2 pounds sweet Italian sausage, removed from casings

1 large onion, chopped
2 ribs celery, chopped
1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
1/2 teaspoon dried rosemary
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 1/2 teaspoons fresh ground black pepper
2 large eggs, beaten
1 cup low sodium chicken broth or turkey stock
1 cup cranberry juice
1/2 cup chopped parsley

Preheat the oven to 225 degrees. Spread the white bread and the whole grain bread on a baking sheet and bake in the oven for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally until lightly toasted. Allow to cool. If desired, you can skip this step by allowing the bread cubes to air dry overnight.

Meanwhile, in a large skillet, melt 1 tablespoon of butter. Add the liver and cook for 2 minutes. Add the sausage and cook, crumbling with a wooden spoon until very brown and crisp, about 10 minutes. Remove meat. Add 2 more tablespoons of butter to the skillet and add onion and celery and cook over moderate heat until softened, about 15 minutes. Combine the onion mixture with the meat and the bread cubes. Add the spices, salt and pepper and mix well. Set aside.

Combine the eggs, cranberry juice, stock and parsley and mix well. Stir into the bread mixture. Place in lightly greased casserole dishes, cover and bake at 325 degrees for 1 hour.

IT DOESN'T WAIT AROUND TO BE SOLD ... LIKE MOST HAMS!

At The HoneyBaked Ham Company, we spiral-slice and glaze your ham fresh every day. If you take a chance with a supermarket ham, you might end up with a ham that's been shrink-wrapped for the long truck ride to the store. Then it might sit in a bin for days or weeks waiting to be sold.

Not so at The HoneyBaked Ham store! You'll feel confident when you leave our store, because you have just purchased a delicious ham made just for you. So, if you want guaranteed taste, quality and freshness, trust the ham experts at The HoneyBaked Ham Company.

Sold when it's made. Made fresh every day!

Try combining squash, apple

The autumn colors and distinctive shapes of squash make them a perfect dinner-table centerpiece for Thanksgiving. But don't forget that their excellent nutrient content and delicious tastes make them a natural for your Thanksgiving meal as well.

Most varieties of squash are sources of beta-carotene, vitamin C, potassium, and fiber. To make sure they are fully ripe, choose the ones with hard, dry, bright-colored shells; when winter squash are ready to eat, you should not be able to pierce the skin with your fingernail.

The mild taste and soft texture of squash make them adaptable to many delicious flavors — including low-fat preparations that can lighten up the traditional Thanksgiving groaning board. For example, you can make a delicious soup from cooked acorn squash and baked apples: pulse the two with evaporated skim milk, and season with thyme or rosemary.

Make a spaghetti squash salad by baking the squash; removing the seeds and stringy fibers; separating the spaghetti-like strands; and tossing with chives, minced celery hearts and a light oil and vinegar dressing.

seed and cube the squash. Toss the cubes with a little orange juice, then place in a casserole dish and sprinkle with chopped garlic, parsley and black pepper (a handful of raisins or dried cranberries can be added). Bake at 350 degrees until tender.

Here's a recipe from the American Institute for Cancer Research.

SQUASH AND APPLE PUREE

- 3 pounds winter squash (acorn, butternut, or Hubbard)
- 3 large baking apples (such as Rome Beauty, York Imperial)
- 1 teaspoon dried parsley
- ¼ teaspoon salt

- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup toasted wheat germ

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cut the squash in half; scoop out the seeds and stringy portions. Place in a large baking pan, cut side down, and bake until soft (about 45 to 60 minutes, depending on size).

About 30 minutes before the squash is done, poke a few holes in the apples. Add them to the baking pan in the oven. When the squash and apples are tender (but not mushy), remove them from the oven. Cut the apples in half to aid cooling; meanwhile, turn the oven up to 400 degrees.

Scoop squash out of its shell. Remove the peels, seeds, and cores of apples. Place the squash and the apple in a blender or food processor. Add the parsley and the pepper, and puree.

Spread the puree in a lightly oiled baking dish. Sprinkle the wheat germ evenly over the top. Bake for 20 minutes, or until bubbling slightly.

Each of the 6 one-cup servings contains 1 gram of fat and 133 calories.

and simmer for 30 minutes, or until tender. Stir in spices to taste and cook another 3-5 minutes.

Mash in pan and cool. For smoother applesauce, puree in a food processor.

Cool and refrigerate for up to two weeks.

POTATO LATKES

- 6 large baking potatoes
- 2 eggs
- 2-3 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 small onion (grated)
- ¼ teaspoon baking powder

Peel potatoes and keep in cold water until needed to prevent them from turning brown. Grate or puree potatoes and onion. Add other ingredients and mix well.

Drop by tablespoons into frying pan with at least ¼-inch deep hot oil. Fry until brown on both sides, turning only once to prevent latkes from getting soggy.

Recipe submitted by Sonny Schwartz.

APPLESAUCE

- 8 large Macintosh apples
- ¼ cup apple juice or cider
- ¼ cup sugar
- Cinnamon, allspice, ginger, cloves and/or nutmeg to taste

Peel, core and quarter apples. Put into 3-quart saucepan with juice or cider. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat

HANUKKAH RECIPES

- 2 eggs
- Pinch of salt
- 1½ cups flour
- 1½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ cup powdered sugar

Mix eggs, salt and flour and knead until soft and elastic (add more flour if needed). Roll out on floured surface to about ¼-inch thickness. Cut into two-inch squares.

Make a slit through the center of each square and pull one corner through the slit.

Drop into hot oil or fat and fry to a golden brown. Remove and drain off fat. While hot, sprinkle with cinnamon and powdered sugar.

Barbecue a bird on grill or in pan

Feldbro Quality Meats and Fish, 32902 Middlebelt, Farmington Hills, (810) 626-4656 was accidentally left out of our round-up of local stores which carry Frankenmuth Poultry chickens in the Monday, Nov. 14 Taste story about Frankenmuth Poultry.

In addition to Frankenmuth chicken, which averages only 3.25 grams of fat per serving when cooked, Feldbro Quality Meats offers fresh turkeys, and spiral hams.

Market owner Alan Feldbro faxed us this recipe for barbecue turkey breast.

BARBECUE TURKEY BREAST

- One 5-6 pound turkey breast or 10-12 pound turkey
- ¼ cup orange juice
- 2 cans chicken broth
- 2 tablespoons paprika
- 2 tablespoons seasoning salt
- Garlic to taste
- 1 onion sliced ½-inch thick
- 1 bunch of broccoli chopped

Your choice of potatoes and carrots, sliced or cut into cubes

Put turkey in shallow pan on grill. Grill at medium heat, approximately 1 to 2 hours for a five to six pound turkey breast or 3 to 3½ hours for a 10-12 pound turkey. Baste often. Cover with foil.

How to bake a better holiday turkey

Any day may seem more like a holiday — and the holidays can seem festive indeed — if you make a meal of that terrific, all-American bird, the turkey.

Here are some tips for picking and preparing your holiday turkey from the Michelob Holiday Recipe and Entertainment Guide.

Buying the bird

- If possible, get a fresh turkey. Be sure the breastbone and joints are flexible, signs that the turkey is young.
- If you buy turkey frozen, let it defrost for 2-3 days in the refrigerator so that it will retain more of its juices.

Preparation pointers

- Turkeys should be well-oiled, especially the breast which can tend to dry out.
- Before roasting, rub the bird inside and out with seasoned salt.
- If the turkey's cavity is large, use the heel of a loaf of bread to hold in the stuffing.
- Use dental floss to sew up the turkey after stuffing. It holds better than thread and won't tear the bird.

Cooking

- Roast a 10 to 13 pound turkey at 325 degrees F. for approximately 20 minutes per pound.
- To test for doneness, see if the drumstick moves freely. You can also pierce the thickest part of the thigh. If the juice runs clear, it's done.
- Do not premix the stuffing. If you wish to prepare ahead, keep the pre-measured ingredients separate.
- Pack stuffing loosely in the cavity; it will expand during cooking.

Temperature and timing are important: the stuffing must be cool before it is placed in the bird, and the bird must be stuffed just before going into the oven.

Use a meat thermometer to check the doneness of the bird and the stuffing. The meat should reach 185 degrees F. and the stuffing should reach 165 degrees F.

Spoon all the stuffing into a serving bowl as soon as the bird is out of the oven.

Turkey at home still a bargain

Whether your budget is tight or not, with a little shopping you can loosen your belt after a big turkey dinner without spending a lot of cash. According to the Associated Food Dealers of Michigan the average price to purchase and prepare a traditional turkey dinner has gradually declined since 1990, when the AFD first began keeping track.

Joe Sarafa, AFD executive director, says that 10 people can stuff a turkey and their stomachs this year for about $3.45 a person, down from $3.72 in 1993 and $3.80 in 1990, with plenty of leftovers for after-holiday snacking.

This cost includes all the traditional trimmings: stuffing, mashed potatoes, gravy, yams, cranberry sauce, rolls and even wine (or other beverage) and pumpkin pie.

"We have surveyed retailers since 1990 and found that the same dinner is actually less in 1994 than it was four years ago," said Sarafa. The 1990 turkey dinner cost approximately $3.80 per person.

Sarafa attributes the reduced price to increased competition within the retail food industry which has resulted in a deflation in food costs. The prices reflect the average cost of items that can be purchased at supermarkets throughout the state during the two weeks prior to Thanksgiving.

Sarafa said that many of the items on the traditional Thanksgiving dinner menu are on sale during this time and can be bought for less than at other times of the year. However, Sarafa said that savvy shoppers can save even more by clipping coupons and watching their local stores' sales.

Pumpkin pie can be quick

Holiday dinners and parties just wouldn't be the same for many of us without such favorite desserts as pumpkin pie.

Happily, that traditional treat is wonderfully quick and easy to make these days thanks to easy-to-use products you'll find at your local grocery store.

These products include Comstock Premium Pure Pumpkin. Here's a quick recipe to try.

PUMPKIN PIE

- 1 (9-inch) unbaked pastry shell
- 2 cups Comstock Pure Pumpkin (one 16-ounce can)
- 1 (14 ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (not evaporated milk)
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon ground ginger
- ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- ½ teaspoon salt

Preheat oven to 425 degrees F. In large mixing bowl, combine all ingredients except pastry shell; mix well. Pour into pastry shell.

Bake 15 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees F. Bake 8½ to 60 minutes longer or until knife inserted one inch from edge comes out clean. Cool. Garnish as desired. Refrigerate leftovers.

LINDA BACHRACK

It's in the cards at Penn & Paige

Sure, you could stop at the drugstore or the neighborhood Hallmark for a generic holiday sentiment, but Darin Asselin of Penn & Paige, Ltd., 331 Main St. in downtown Rochester, shops London's prestigious international stationery show for the most original and captivating greeting cards to purvey in his shop.

All of his cards are works-of-art, and many are blank inside, awaiting your own thoughtful message. Some, like those designed by photographer Gretchen L. vanHoosier, combine an artform with a line of poetry. Zed Publishing's "love cards" began as a thesis project for two Harvard students until they were "discovered" and financed by Merv Griffin.

Past glories

The most expensive card in the shop is a three-dimensional montage of handmade and imported papers by Two Women ($11). Their holiday line, called Vintage Postage, features authentic Christmas stamps and postcards from decades past, allowing you the opportunity to share someone else's long ago Christmas greeting. This same collection offers cards that appear as mini-sheet music printed with Christmas carols ($7.49).

For pure charm, select a card by Hannah's College Fund (Hannah is now three, and her mom is thinking ahead). The Hannah cards feature handmade paper and stitched bits of crochet, burlap, dried flowers and potpourri bundles. The Prima Collection showcases simple, yet intricate watercolors and pen and ink drawings; and the cards of Graphique de France depict reproduction black and white photos from Paris.

Cards for a cause

Roger LaBorde is a British artist whose drawings reflect his "different angle on life," according to Darin. The representations on his holiday cards and gift wrap portray Renaissance-like images. Darin's "Card of the Year" is a LaBorde design that pictures two pairs of hands giving and receiving a gift. The back of the card reveals that the hands are reaching from a Romeo-figure to a Juliet-figure on a balcony ($2.25). A percentage of sales benefits worldwide organizations that help the homeless.

Cards from Great Arrow Graphics feature elegant hand silk-screened designs that resemble 19th century wallpaper patterns in holiday greens and reds. Traditional boxes by Regency ($7.50-$25) and William Arthur ($15.49) are hardly ordinary. Look for hand-lined envelopes and engraved messages. Ethereal and cherubic describe Cape Wrath Design Co. cards ($10.99), and the ultimate in interactive holiday wishes is the compact disc card of carols by the Westminster Cathedral Choir ($10.99).

One of my favorite offerings at Penn & Paige is a Mosaic angel card from London. Entitled "Sweet Dreams," the mini-cards are photos of actual children with angel wings. The sepia-tone coloring and angelic expressions are enchanting (75 cents).

Darin's sense of humor is reflected in his selection of Murray's Law Christmas Greetings. Bright colors, fun graphics and witty lines prevail, including the card with three tipsy elves who sing, "Bingle Jells," and the one that shows a flustered Santa chastising his lead reindeer after the sleigh overturns in the snow. "Now what, Mr. Nose-so-bright?"

Murray's cards also come boxed ($11). Finally, the Museum of Modern Art offers boxed cards designed by contemporary artists ($13.99-$14.99). Included are a three-dimensional fireplace with garland and flames, "Warmest Wishes," and a Christmas mobile complete with Santa and a tree.

Though most of the cards at Penn & Paige could be framed as art, you'll find one appropriate for every occasion. And if you're stuck, just ask Darin for assistance. He knows every card on the shelf — after all, he hand-picked each one.

LOOKING AHEAD

What to watch for in Malls & Mainstreets next week:

- Linda Bachrack tells you where to relax while shopping for holiday gifts.
- Added Attractions lists special holiday events at area shopping centers.
- Visit two shops in Birmingham where unique small gifts are the specialty.

Gift budgets keep shoppers in the green

Elizabeth Allen, a certified financial planner with Ann Arbor Financial of Plymouth, specializes in debt reduction counseling. She offers holiday shoppers some tips on how to avoid overspending this season.

Holiday shopping can really put a dent in your budget if you're not careful. For many people, feverish holiday spending completely wrecks any budget and requires months of penny-pinching afterward to recover!

The last thing you want to do is pay for gifts that were charged during the holiday season several months into the new year. The following steps will help you not over spend, and start the new year off in the right financial direction — debt free!

Step 1: Prepare a written personal balance sheet. List all current debts so you can see them in black and white.

Step 2: Make a detailed gift list. List names of everyone you will be buying for and how much you can afford, or are willing to spend, per person.

Step 3: Know which stores have the lowest prices for the specified gifts on your list. Keep an eye open for special sale prices.

Step 4: For some people on your list, a gift that requires your time might be more appreciated than an expensive store bought gift.

Step 5: Consider buying one gift for a family instead of separate items for each family member. Example, purchasing a gift certificate to the Detroit Zoo or Greenfield Village.

Step 6: Do not use deferred billing plans. Unless you are certain you can pay off the balance when due in February or March, you can forget this idea. Usually, the interest paid on the account is retroactive to the 2-3 month deferral period.

Step 7: The best way to stay within a budget is to pay cash for gifts. When you are out of money, you are out of shopping!

Step 8: It is best to spread your holiday shopping out all year long. This helps you purchase items on sale, use cash instead of credit cards, and make reasoned choices.

Step 9: Admit that holiday shopping can be the biggest fiscal weakness. Budget for it all year long as a part of your financial planning strategy.

Keeping all this in mind, Happy Holidays and good luck sticking to your gift shopping budget!

MALLS & MAINSTREETS

back to the town recently and afterward she stopped into Minerva's Dunning's department store to visit her old friend.

Maier and Minerva reminisced about times past in the aisles of ladies sportswear and then said good-bye after telling one another how good it was to see each other.

"That's just the way it is these days," Minerva said, waving. "My customers come in to see me. They bring pictures of their grown children and their grandkids. It's wonderful. I remember them all."

Minerva Chaiken won't reveal her age, but she's been selling clothing to women and children for the past 43 years in downtown Plymouth. In 1951, she and husband, Herbert, now deceased, opened Minerva's on Penniman Avenue. The store did well selling women's and children's wear until one very cold night in January, 1968 when a sizeable fire destroyed the shop along with a Western Union branch, the Plymouth Draft Board and Bode's Restaurant.

"I remember watching the store burn from across the street on the post office steps," she said. "It was so cold that night. Everything was lost in the fire. Mary Parson's boy kept yelling, 'Mommy, look at my clothing store!' Over and over again. I can still hear his voice. Why, he must be over 30 years old now."

In the spring of that same year, the Chaikens bought competitor Margaret Dunning's shop on Forest Avenue. Minerva put the two business names together and Minerva's Dunning's opened in October.

"I guess what kept me in business all these years, and what still keeps me going, even though business isn't what it used to be, is my customers," Minerva explained over coffee and pineapple cake in the kitchen located in the back of the store. "I appreciate every one of them. Can the big stores say that? My sales staff knows just what to show a customer. And we let things go out on approval. We help people make selections they're satisfied with. If you let my sales staff wait on you, I guarantee you'll go out smiling."

Minerva said there could be no doubt that the opening of Laurel Park Place in Livonia and the expansion of other malls in the area hurt her business. She said she's lost the younger shoppers but holds tight to her "regulars" and people in town.

"I've got more inventory than I ever had," she said. "I know the store's fixtures are old and the store's decor is a little dated, but the merchandise is current. It's out front where it's easy to see. If my customer goes to a mall, she can't always find what she wants. She comes back to me saying, 'I knew you'd have it,' and we always do. Then they say, 'I hope you don't change.'"

Minerva buys her merchandise from manufacturer's representative's she's dealt with for decades. Sportswear is her biggest category. In the children's division, it's mostly grandmother's buying gifts for their grandchildren, looking for classic styles and good quality. She prices brands like Alfred Dunner, Koret and Hanes competitively with two big sales a year. The fierce competition for shoppers these days has Minerva contemplating additional sales and a raffle for a leather handbag.

Sales staffers Helen Sorenson and Betty Campbell have been with Minerva for almost 20 years. As nine-year employee Arlene Trudeau explained it, "We're like a family here."

In 1985, the mayor of Plymouth presented Minerva with a plaque commemorating her 35th anniversary. She displays it proudly while denying plans to retire or sell the store.

"I still feel I'm young enough to keep going," she said.

Her wish is for downtown Plymouth to return to its glory days when there were five drugstores in town, a bustling hardware establishment, several places to buy shoes, and numerous groceries.

"It was so wonderful coming to work in the mornings back then," she said with a big smile. "People were sweeping their sidewalks and as you'd walk by, you'd exchange good mornings by name. That's what makes small towns so special."

Minerva, a resident of Livonia, still comes into work each day, though usually not until the afternoon hours. Store hours are Monday-Thursday 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Fridays 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturdays 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays for the holidays, noon to 5 p.m.

Making memories

All I want for Christmas: Santa's taken his seat at most shopping centers in the area. He reports that he's anxious to meet all the local good boys and girls. At Laurel Park Place in Livonia, he'll be seated on the chair used in Twentieth Century Fox's remake of "The Miracle on 34th Street."

FRANK'S HOLIDAY SHOPS
Frank's Nursery & Crafts began opening temporary Christmas sites in 1990. This year the locations have grown in number to 110 throughout metro Detroit, most in regional shopping malls.

A 11,000-square foot super store for the holidays is open in Troy at John R and 14 Mile Roads. The shop features wall-to-wall decorations including a boutique line of decorator items — garlands, wreaths, lights, trees and keepsakes.

Frank's president Scott Hessler said sales from the temporary holiday locations were over $11 million in 1993. Sales for 1994 are projected to exceed $12 million.

KMART'S CARING
This year marks the 10th year that Kmart will donate 48,000 Thanksgiving food baskets to those in need in time for Thanksgiving. On Dec. 3 Kmart stores welcome 48,000 youngsters of poverty who are allowed to select gifts for their families during the company's annual Shopping Spree program. The children's choices are wrapped by employees while the shoppers have breakfast with Santa.

Kmart passes the opportunity to give to its shoppers through Giving Trees located in all stores. Customers can donate gifts that will be distributed to seniors in area nursing homes and needy children throughout the community. The company expects 240,000 children and seniors will benefit from this year's national effort.

Chief surge buries Blazers

Livonia Ladywood had the home-court advantage and the revenge factor in its favor when it met Plymouth Canton in the girls basketball district final Friday. But it wasn't enough against the quicker, scrappier Chiefs.

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

There are two halves to every basketball game.

Sounds simple enough, but Livonia Ladywood discovered a whole new dimension to that lesson — the hard way — Friday night.

And it was Plymouth Canton that did the teaching. Trailing by a point at halftime, the Chiefs blitzed the Blazers with a 20-8 third quarter as they rolled to a 56-43 win in the Class A district basketball final hosted by Ladywood.

It was the second year in a row the Chiefs won a district title at Ladywood's expense.

Canton, now 16-6, advances to the Birmingham Seaholm regional where it will play Detroit Central (9-10 this season) at 7:30 p.m. Monday. The regional final is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

"I just said to them I thought we could score on them," Canton coach Bob Blohm said, describing his halftime talk. "I said we need to be patient, to get the ball in the high post, and to play good defense."

Nothing too enlightening in that speech, but something lit a fire under the Chiefs. Not that they had played poorly in the first half; it's just that they put on a performance that might qualify the third quarter as their finest of the season.

The Blazers, behind nine points from Becky Bilicki, were ahead at the half 23-22. They were more successful executing coach Lisa McPhee's game plan in the first two quarters. "I know how quick (the Chiefs) are," McPhee said. "I told the girls to be patient, to work the ball inside."

The mistake Ladywood made was playing at the same level in the second half, while Canton turned its game up several notches.

In the first two minutes of the third quarter, the Blazers had three possessions — but just one shot (a miss). All three ended with a turnover.

The Chiefs had three baskets in four shots in that stretch, taking a lead they never relinquished. They added three more baskets by the time the period was half over and before Ladywood had scored. The Blazers had more turnovers (five) than shots (one) in that span.

Amicie Crayton and Sarah Warnke did most of the damage, scoring six points apiece as the Chiefs took a 42-31 advantage into the final eight minutes.

"I think both Sarah and Amicie are just great athletes," said Blohm. "They're quick to the ball, and they really jump well."

And they used those abilities to overwhelm a bigger Ladywood lineup that featured University of Michigan recruit Ann Poglits.

"Their size did concern me," said Blohm. "It really concerned me. But I thought our quickness neutralized their size."

Ladywood's McPhee agreed, acknowledging the speed in which Canton rotated the ball offensively and the Chiefs' defensive quickness. "Canton played with a lot of heart tonight," McPhee said. "Those kids work hard all the time on defense."

"We were not playing our game at all. Sometimes the kids come to play and sometimes they don't."

There was nothing the Blazers could do in the last quarter to overtake Canton. The closest they got was nine, but Canton was good enough at the free-throw line (10-of-15 in the quarter) and did a better job rebounding.

Crayton paced the Chiefs with 19 points, converting 7-of-8 free throws (Canton finished 12-of-21 at the line). Jackie Nicastrì scored 11 and Warnke had eight.

Bilicki's 13 points paced Ladywood; next highest was Erin LaSage with seven.

Ladywood bows out with a 9-10 record.

Injuries hamper Baker

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

When Tom Baker left Plymouth for the University of Virginia, he took with him confidence built on ability, ability enough to earn him a spot on the Parade All-American soccer team while he was at Plymouth Salem.

He was good, no question about it. Which is why he went to Virginia, the NCAA champion two of the three prior years. Twice named to the all-star team while at Salem, Baker's talent was summed up briefly by his high school coach, Ken Johnson:

"He's the best player Salem has ever had."

It was high praise, just as being named All-American was. It can be difficult to live up to such lofty expectations, but Baker's first year with the nation's best collegiate soccer program was a solid one.

Before Virginia opened its 1993 season, the Cavaliers' coach, Bruce Arena, told a Charlottesville newspaper that Baker would be in the starting lineup for that first game.

"Baker has been the most impressive first year (player)," Arena said. "He's extremely versatile ... a kid who's going to be hard to keep off the field."

But that was last year. It ended gloriously, with Virginia collecting its third NCAA title in four years. And Baker's future seemed secure.

Then came the injuries.

Three times in a year he sprained his left ankle. The last two came at the beginning of summer, then again at the end — just two weeks before Baker was to depart for Virginia to start his sophomore year.

Now the Cavaliers are in their customary position — a 17-3-1 record with another Atlantic Coast Conference championship to its credit, collected Nov. 13 with a 1-0 win over Duke in the final at Clemson. Next on the agenda: the NCAA Tournament, a familiar tour for Virginia. It began yesterday at home against the University of North Carolina-Greensboro.

The question: Where does Baker fit in?

His injured ankle (sprained during his Vardar club team's final match) cost him, no doubt. "I was not in the best of shape when I got here," Baker said.

And at Virginia, that's not a good position to be in. As Baker explained, "We have six or seven guys who played with the national team. (Arena) brings in one or two of them a year."

Which means there's a lot of competition for playing time, between players who brought credentials to Virginia at least equal to Baker's. "Everybody's fighting for their position," Baker said.

It was more than a month into the season before Baker's ankle was close to normal, and by then his status with the team was changing. "I kind of lost my confidence," he said. "I wasn't playing all that great, so he switched me."

A marking back most of the time since coming to Virginia, Baker started nine of 21 matches; he came in off the bench in seven others.

A highlight of his season was getting his first collegiate goal, Oct. 19 against Virginia Commonwealth. But other than his team's success, there haven't been many others this year.

"I'm not getting in as much time now as I was earlier in the year," said Baker. There's no bitterness, however; no alternate plans regarding relocation. "No, I like it here," Baker said. "It's a great school, with a great (soccer) program."

Which is what brought him to Virginia in the first place: "A combination of those two things," he said.

And it will keep him there, hopefully with two sound legs and a couple more NCAA titles supporting him.

Productive: Tom Baker scored 34 goals in four years at Salem.

John Glenn stopped by Bay City Central, 13-12

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Westland John Glenn's final minute of the 1994 football season certainly will be remembered as its most painful.

Bay City Central denied the Rockets their second straight trip to the Pontiac Silverdome when quarterback Jason Kokaly proved he could find a needle in a haystack, tossing what seemed to be an impossible 10-yard game-winning touchdown pass to Eric Lee with only 53 seconds remaining.

Charles Zanotti then booted the all-important extra point to give the Wolves the state Class AA semifinal victory before an estimated 4,500 fans Saturday at Lansing Everett High.

Bay City Central and Troy, now both 11-1, will play for the coveted crown 1 p.m. this Saturday at the Silverdome.

The game-winning play came on third down-and-goal from the

Rockets' 10-yard line. Kokaly, a 6-foot-2, 160-pound senior, was chased toward sideline, but miraculously stay in bounds and fired a pass directly on a line.

Lee, leaning toward the sideline himself, was able to keep both feet in play as he cradled the catch surrounded by a maze of Glenn defenders.

The Rockets, ironically, carried a 12-0 lead into the final quarter, but found themselves on their heels following a Kokaly 26-yard TD pass to Ken Chase with 9:43 remaining. Zanotti, however, missed the extra point, as the deficit was narrowed to 12-6.

Brian Kolb's fumble recovery set up his own 27-yard field goal in the opening quarter for Glenn.

Kolb added a 26-yard field goal with 9:15 left in the second quarter for a 6-0 Glenn advantage. James Hagelthorn's underhand shuffle pass to Brent Washington, covering 40 yards, set up the score.

But it was the only pass Hagelthorn would complete in seven attempts.

The Rockets coughed up the ball on their own 25 with 5:45 to go in the half, but defensive end Keith King came up with a key sack and Hagelthorn, playing free safety, broke up a pass at the goal line.

Kidder returned the second-half kickoff 31 yards and Glenn cashed in nine plays later on Washington's 5-yard run off-tackle. (The Rockets, however, missed the two-point attempt.)

Other than the shuffle-pass play, Washington was stymied most of the day. The 6-foot, 170-pound senior had been averaging over 165 yards over the last four games, but was held to 73 yards on 18 carries by the Wolves.

"We shut them down defensively for the most part," Bay City coach Fraser said. "Washington is a good running back, but we had to do some things with our outside linebackers to keep him pinched in. He's basically their ballgame along with their quarterback. We knew he (Washington) was going to carry it 25 to 30 times a game."

Glenn ran only eight plays in the final 17 minutes.

The Rockets final gasp (following Lee's TD catch) resulted in a Jeremy Coberly interception with 36 seconds to play.

"Bay City is very good up front, actually better than I thought," Glenn coach Gordon said. "But because we were playing such good defense, I thought we were in good shape when we got it to 12."

Seniors anxiously await Old Timers annual fest

TEN-PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

The good word for today is Senior.

Once again, it's time for the Old Timers 64th Annual Bowling Tournament and party Saturday, Nov. 26, at Thunderbow Lanes. The first squad goes off at 10 a.m. followed by the other at 1 p.m.

It's open to men who have been associated with bowling for at least 25 years and are 40 or over.

The $16 entry fee includes banquet and refreshments. Bowling only is $8. Entries close Wednesday.

This year's tournament is dedicated to Ron Seibel, past president and director of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association.

There are leagues everywhere for senior bowlers of every ability level, and there are plenty of older bowlers around who can keep up with anyone at any age, such as Fred Smith, 55 who came within one pin of perfection at Mayflower Lanes in Redford when he fired a 299 in the Senior Classic.

Ron Lancaster, 62, of Westland, just rolled a pair of 700s within a week. He had a 703 in the Monday Morning Men's at Westland Bowl and 721 in the Mayflower Senior Classic.

Al Thompson, 73, of Plymouth recently fired 751 and 756 in the same week at Mayflower Lanes.

Alvar Freden of Farmington Hills rolled a 269 game with 717 totals, not bad for 73. And Redford's Jack Dahlstrom, 70, just had two 690 series in the past two weeks.

For those Senior bowlers who seek the ultimate in competition, try the National Senior Bowling Association, which features monthly scratch tournaments.

In the latest event held at Cloverlanes in Livonia, these Observerland seniors reached the finals: Terry O'Neill (Southfield), Bud Bogotay (Farmington Hills) and Jack Treolar (Farmington).

The champion turned out to be a first-time entry, Ron Watkins of Lincoln Park. The Next NSBA event is slated for Saturday, Dec. 10, at 300 Bowl in Pontiac. The first place money is projected at $1,500 (based on 150 entries).

For details or entry forms call (810) 626-8886 ask for Phil or call Mort at (810) 358-3740.

ALL-AREA SOCCER

Canton quintet leads way

BY C.J. RIBAK
STAFF WRITER

Finally, the Class A boys soccer championship is back where it belongs — within the realm of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

OK, OK, it's true, in the past the league basked in the notoriety of a state title delivered by just one of its members: Livonia Stevenson, winner of five Class A crowns since soccer was officially made an MHSAA sport in 1982.

But as noted, that was in the past. Since Nov. 12, to be precise — that's when Plymouth Canton collected the title with a 1-0 win in overtime over defending champ Warren DeLaSalle.

All of which makes this season's state championship a bit special. It reaffirms the Observer-land-area's position at the pinnacle of soccer statewide.

But in case further proof is necessary...

Two of the 1994 version of the all-Observer soccer team were part of the state's dream team. Three others were first-team Class A all-state selections, with two more making the second team.

An adequate summary. And the Observer's coach of the year? No problem with that: Don Smith, who guided Canton to its first-ever boys soccer title (to go with the girls title he coached the Chiefs to in 1988). The season started ominously enough — a 5-1 loss to Plymouth Salem.

That proved to be Canton's only defeat of the season. The Chiefs finished at 20-1-3 against a schedule that included regular-season matches against non-league foes like Troy, Troy Athens and Brighton (all ranked in the state's top 10 sometime during the season).

It wasn't easy for Smith. He confided after one match that this season's team could be a difficult bunch; however, when they focused on a common goal, nothing could stop them.

Certainly, with what they accomplished, he deserves the honor.

FIRST TEAM PICKS

GOALKEEPER
George Tomasso, Plymouth Canton, junior: Tomasso was the last link in a defense that sparked throughout the season, but in particular down the tournament stretch. Which is why he was named first team all-state, as well as all-WLAA.

For the season, Tomasso surrendered just 12 goals (a 0.55 goals-against average with a .917 save percentage) while recording 13 shutouts — five in tournament play.
"George's effectiveness in goal improved as the season progressed to the point of being outstanding," said Canton's Smith. "Big saves in big games is what we expected of George and he came through every time."

FORWARDS

Nick Deron, Livonia Stevenson, senior:

George Tomasso
Canton

Deron proved most efficient at doing just what a striker is expected to do — put the ball in the net. Which is why he was a statewide Dream Team selection, as well as first team all-Class A. Deron was also voted the WLAA's top player this season.

Deron scored 25 goals this season and assisted on 10 others. As a junior, he netted 20 goals with 15 assists.

"He's a great target at forward," said Stevenson coach Walt Barrett. "His inspiration comes from the style of play they have in the English First Division: Get it and shoot quickly."

Charlie Roberts, Livonia Churchill, senior: A year ago, Roberts was a second team all-Observer selection. His solid season this year made his choice an easy one.

Roberts was a first-team all-WLAA choice. He scored 17 goals and assisted on 15 others, although on a young Churchill team he was often marked closely. He was also the team captain.

In '93, Roberts achieved all-state as well as all-WLAA honors.

Chad Dale, Plymouth Canton, senior: One could say Dale came of age this season, emerging as Canton's chief offensive threat. He finished the season with 15 goals and seven assists, earning all-WLAA and honorable mention all-state laurels. He's also part of the ODP all-regional team.

"His scoring ability was always a threat to other teams," said Canton coach Don Smith. "He can score with both feet, as well as being very dangerous in the air."
"His big-game goals kept us in games all season."

Mark Macinnis, Plymouth Salem, senior: Macinnis absorbed some valuable experience early in his career as a Rock, starting as a sophomore on the '92 Salem team that advanced to the Class A state finals. In his three seasons as a starter, Macinnis scored 38 goals and assisted on 27 others.
A tri-captain this year, Macinnis totaled 12 goals and eight assists. He was an all-WLAA West Division pick, and is repeating as a first-team all-Observer choice.

"He's a fast, skillful forward who scored some big goals for Salem as a three-year starter," said Rocks' coach Ken Johnson.

MIDFIELDERS

Jeff Fliss, Plymouth Canton, senior: There are many ways to describe Fliss, all of them favorable — unless you were stuck trying to defend him. He was an all-WLAA and a Dream Team selection, all-WLAA and voted No. 2 among the league's best players.

Perhaps the best word to describe Fliss is relentless. A co-captain, he was consistently around the ball, quite often controlling it. He scored 10 goals and assisted on 12 others this year, bringing his career totals to 25 goals, 24 assists. In '93, he was first team all-Observer as a forward.

"He's a player who will be missed greatly," said Smith. "He had excellent ball control and field sense. His ability to make the big pass or (score the big) goal was something we all came to expect, and Jeff usually came through. He had incredible ball-winning ability."

Steve Willford, Livonia Stevenson, junior: League opponents have probably seen enough of Willford already; he just completed his third year as a starter, and he's just a junior.

He excelled this season, named all-WLAA and all-state first team.

"Steve's great on the ball and off the ball," said Stevenson's Barrett. "He was our 'schamer' this year, the midfielder who quarterbacked the offense."

A look at teammate Deron's stats will show just how well Willford did his job. He also had a strong left foot that made him dangerous on free kicks taken anywhere within 40 yards of the opponent's net.

Graham Wilk, Plymouth Canton, senior: Wilk contributed many things to Canton's success, although there's no doubt what he'll be remembered for — heading in the game-winning goal in overtime against DeLaSalle in the state final.

Wilk, an all-Western Division selection and a second team all-state choice, was clearly an offensive threat. He scored 12 goals and assisted on seven others this season, finishing his career with 30 goals and 18 assists. But his greatest talent was his ball-control ability.

"He is outstanding in the air all over the field, and he's extremely dangerous in the goal area," said Canton's Smith. "His intensity and ball control in the midfield will be greatly missed. He turned in an outstanding effort in our tournament run."

Scott Buczek, Plymouth Salem, senior: Buczek was a major offensive threat for Salem from his midfield position. His 15 goals led the team; he also had 11 assists. For his career, Buczek totaled 35 goals and 25 assists.

His efforts earned him a position on the all-WLAA. Like Macinnis, Buczek's graduation will leave a large gap on the Rocks' roster; he, too, was a starter as a sophomore when Salem reached the state finals.

"He's one of the best attacking midfield players to play for Salem," was Salem coach Johnson's summarization.

DEFENDERS

Mike Kley, Plymouth Salem, senior: Kley was the glue that held Salem's defense together, whether at sweeper or at marking back. A team tri-captain, Kley was a first team all-state selection as well as an all-WLAA choice.

He still managed to score three goals this season, which shouldn't be much of a surprise — when Kley wasn't on the soccer field, he kicked for Salem's football team (something Fliss did for Canton, too).

And again, his departure will leave a gap in experience to fill: He started on that '92 state finalist team, too.

"He's one of the best marking backs Salem has ever had," said Salem's Johnson. "He has great stamina and is a great leader."

Brian Collier, Redford Catholic Central, senior: A co-captain, Collier displayed some versatility this season by playing wherever his coach, Phil LaJoy, needed him — both at forward and mid-field. Collier was a second team all-state pick and was also all-Catholic League. This is his second consecutive appearance on the Observer's first team.

He finished the season with two goals and two assists.

"Brian is the best marking back I have ever been associated with," said LaJoy. "He always did an outstanding job on the other team's best player. He plays the game in a very physical way, but is always under control."

Scott Sersen, Livonia Stevenson, junior: Sersen proved his mettle early this season — before it even got underway, in fact. He suffered what Stevenson coach Barrett called "a terrible shoulder injury" in July, yet he bounced back to have a superior season.

How superior? A year ago, Sersen — who played sweeper most of the season — showed how strong a defender he was by being selected to the Observer's first team. He is one of four first-team selections to repeat. He was also all-WLAA and honorable mention all-state.

"Unquestionably, Scott was Stevenson's best defensive player," said Barrett.

Keith Gniwek, Plymouth Canton, senior: He wasn't flashy, not by any means. Gniwek was more of an enforcer on defense — a job he handled extremely well, always marking the opposition's most dangerous forward.

"Keith had the responsibility of marking the top forwards in the state all season," said Canton's Smith of his all-Western Division defender. "His ability to keep these forwards in check was a plus in our successful season and tournament run."

Hawks outshoot Knights in grid semi

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

Coach John Herrington got a puzzled look when he told Nick Williams and Jason Granger they reminded him of Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard.

"They said: 'Who are they?' They're too young to remember that, but they are Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside," Herrington said.

The Farmington Hills Harrison backfield duo called to mind the 1940s Army tandem with a pair of fine performances Saturday in a Class A semifinal game.

Williams ran up the middle and through the Royal Oak Kimball defense for 203 yards and four touchdowns as the Hawks won 38-25.

Granger burned the corners for another 159 yards and a touchdown on the artificial turf at Withington Stadium in Jackson.

"If I'm not in the game, (Granger) would get the ball more but probably have less yards, because the defense would key on him," Williams said.

"It's the same with me. When I'm in the game, they have to put the linebackers outside (because of Granger's speed) and that helps me go inside. We help each other."

Williams, who scored on runs of 35, 8, 2 and 32 yards, and Granger complement each other well. Williams is a 248-pound senior full-back and Granger, who sprinted 39 yards for his touchdown, a 148-pound junior tailback.

"We expected speed, and the

turf really accelerates it," Kimball coach Terry Powers said. "All it takes for those guys is a little opening. Both read holes well and can run to the open areas."

The running of Williams and Granger offset the passing of Kimball quarterback Jeff Davis, who gave the Harrison secondary its best workout of the season.

Davis attempted 39 passes and completed 19 for 276 yards and all four Kimball touchdowns. Kevin Bryant intercepted two of his passes and also recovered a fumbled punt.

Brian Isatt caught TD passes of 13 and 14 yards for the Knights, Jason Webster 7 and Neal Mosdziers 31.

"(Williams) was running over people today, and we needed it all because they were throwing the ball all over the yard," Herrington said, adding the Hawks aren't any more vulnerable to the pass than other teams.

"They're just a good passing team. In high school, if you have a kid who can throw like that, it's very tough to stop him."

Harrison (11-1) needed just three plays to score after the opening kickoff, leading 7-0 following the first of five extra points by Kyle Vesell.

But, as was the trend throughout, the Knights (10-2) came back on their first possession to score and stay in the game.

Granger's TD capped another short, four-play drive, and Williams helped make it 21-6 with his second TD at 2:59 in the second quarter.

That gave the Hawks breathing room, but Kimball managed to keep it interesting. With only 49 seconds left, Davis passed to Isatt for a TD and a 21-12 halftime tally.

Harrison scored on its first two possessions of the second half to lead 31-12. Williams, enjoying another big playoff run, continued to pile up yards, and Vesell kicked a 42-yard field goal.

"The line really opened up some holes," Williams said. "They always do better themselves in the playoffs."

"It's a challenge for me, knowing when I'm at tailback I get the ball 90 percent of the time. When I break one, it means all the more."

A fumbled punt allowed Kimball to keep the ball, and Mosdziers' TD catch pulled the Knights within 31-18 early in the fourth quarter.

The Hawks lost another fumble but stopped Kimball, and Bryant's fumble recovery led to Harrison's last TD (38-18) with 2:13 remaining.

Kimball executed its hurry-up offense to get one more score, Davis passing for all 64 yards and a TD to Isatt with five seconds left.

MAKE THE MOVE NOW!!

THERE'S NO BETTER TIME TO BUY

If you've been thinking about moving from your current residence to the house of your dreams...

- The selection is excellent. Low interest rates are available. There are many financing options available.

NOW is the right time to Buy a Home!

Purchasing a home has always been a wise decision, but current market conditions are making it even more attractive to buy now.

EXCELLENT FINANCING IS AVAILABLE NOW

Interest rates are lower, and mortgage lenders are offering a wide variety of financing options.

- 30-year fixed mortgages are still available as well as many other financing alternatives. First time buyers are encouraged to purchase now through financing packages offering small down payments.

YOUR HOME IS YOUR BEST INVESTMENT

Purchasing a home is the best way to build a solid financial foundation. A home not only provides you with warmth and comfort, it also serves as a secure investment.

- Today, homes in the area continue to be a wise investment. Equity in your home can be used as collateral, thus providing you with additional financial security. Home ownership provides you with a sizable tax advantage because interest paid on mortgages is fully deductible.

Will to survive is premise for NBC's Following Her Heart

BY AMY HIBBERT

When Merry Helm wrote the script for Following Her Heart, she had An-Margret in mind for the lead.

The NBC movie, premiering Monday, Nov. 28, stars Ann-Margret as an emotionally abused wife, struggling to be her own person and gain her independence.

Ingalill Lundquist, Ann-Margret's character, is a Swedish woman who experiences a lot of hardships in her life, including a loveless marriage and an unsupportive and uncaring husband.

"She had a pre-arranged marriage in Sweden when she was very young to a much, much older man," Ann-Margret comments. "And he was very cruel to her. Just very cold. And she thought that that was her lot in life."

It is evident from the beginning of the movie that Ingalill's husband, Anders, cares for his pet parakeet more than his own wife. The love that should have been hers is geared toward the bird instead.

Because of this lack of love, Ingalill turns to her first love - music. She dreams of a time when she can travel to Nashville to perform at the Grand Ole Opry.

Ingalill also finds comfort in her only daughter, and in writing to her secret pen pal, Maise.

"It's one of the secret things that she does, is to write to this woman who lives in Nashville, which her husband doesn't know about," director Lee Grant says. "It's her secret. It's her pen pal."

Only a small portion of Following Her Heart focuses on her painful and hard life with her husband. But it serves to establish the abuse that Ann-Margret's character has been through.

"She has always been a very courageous lady," Ann-Margret says. "But, she has been so deeply repressed and so horrendously frightened. She's not physically abused by her husband, but mentally and emotionally, he never gives her credit for being anything."

When her husband dies, Ingalill believes that now she can live her own life. Yet, even from the grave, her husband continues to ruin her life.

In his will, Anders leaves her financial affairs in the hands of Kenny, their daughter's husband. Kenny happens to be cut from the same cloth as Anders. Immediately, he begins to run Ingalill's life, thus shattering her dreams again.

With newfound determination, Ingalill embarks on a journey to Nashville with a tour group to pursue her dream and rediscover herself.

"It is a literal journey, in terms of where she's going, and also an interior journey, in all the people and the kind of effect that they have on her," Grant comments. "The trip that she takes from North Dakota to Nashville on this bus tour is a kind of journey to revelation for her."

Through the people in the tour group, Ingalill looks at the woman she was before and the woman that she still could become.

Ingalill discovers that it is possible to love and still retain a sense of independence. She finds out that living life can be a wonderful experience.

Summerall: NFL, this drumstick is for you

As millions of families settle in for a Thanksgiving Day of kickoffs and cranberry sauce, sacks and stuffing, touchdowns and turkey, perhaps football fans should take a moment and give thanks to the people who make the NFL such an integral part of the holiday tradition.

"I haven't been home for Thanksgiving in 30 years," says Fox football play-by-play announcer Pat Summerall, who will be covering the game between the host Dallas Cowboys and the Green Bay Packers on Thursday, Nov. 24. "Of course, my family has gotten used to it - me being gone. We used to celebrate Thanksgiving on Friday, but that was before I started having to do games on the following Sunday. Now, that has all changed."

Of course, if you can't spend the holidays with family, the next best thing is to be with friends. And Summerall has spent the past 14 Thanksgivings in the booth with his partner and close friend, color commentator John Madden.
