Dad battles ban on sledding

Plymouth Township's government has decreed no sledding this winter at the township park, but one township man is fighting to retain the popular activity.

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

No sledding this winter at Plymouth Township Park? That's unacceptable to one local dad, who's bringing the matter before township trustees.

Earlier this month, the township administration announced there would be no sledding at the park this winter, citing concerns over safety and the risk of lawsuits stemming from sled mishaps.

The township public services department is to review the layout of the sled area with an eye to potential improvements — but sledding won't return until the 1995-96 season at the earliest, officials have said.

"No one on the board wanted to shut it down," said Kathleen Keen-McCarthy, township supervisor. "The difficulty that we have is that the sledding hill does not have a long enough run. When we know something is wrong, it puts all the township taxpayers at risk.

"We have a responsibility to all the taxpayers in this community," she said.

"I see what goes on out there; to me it's not a big problem," said Scott

Truckload of donations: Observer staff writer Kevin Brown and Salvation Army Lt. Randall VanLandingham joined Observer and Salvation Army staff in loading Christmas Cheer Club donations into a Salvation Army truck.

Caring people make yuletide brighter

It was another big year for the Plymouth and Canton Observer Christmas Cheer Club drive.

At 3 p.m. Thursday, Salvation

Army Lt. Randall VanLandingham and some Salvation Army staff members joined Observer staffers in loading the truck with toys and food items you've donated since the day after Thanksgiving.

By our deadline for accepting donations at 3 p.m. Thursday, more than 200 of you had contributed to the drive.

Most recent contributors were Adam Barbara of Plymouth; Audrey

Cords of Plymouth; Kathleen Micol of Plymouth; an anonymous donor; Lorraine McLin of Plymouth; the Modras family of Plymouth; the

Some see favoritism in district hirings

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

It's getting to be the rule, not the exception, that new hires in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools are relatives of employees, says board of education member Barbara Graham.

Graham has grown increasingly concerned about the issue as qualified, would-be Plymouth-Canton teachers have contacted her, questioning the fairness of the district's hiring practices. A couple are considering litigation.

"I can understand it happening once in a while, but we have adopted an unwritten policy. It's nepotism first, and anyone else after that," said Graham, adding that she recalls a former trustee commenting, "Isn't it nice we can take care of our own?"

Policy

According to policy, 1) administration must inform the board when an employee's relative is being hired; and 2) an employee can't be supervised by a relative.

"We want to hire the most qualified people available," said Errol Goldman, assistant superintendent for employee relations. "Just because it's a relative doesn't mean that's not the best person applying."

Goldman encourages job candidates to work as substitutes to "get known by principals and teachers prior to being considered." Job openings are recorded on a hot line (313-416-2744), he said.

One applicant called Graham and spoke with the Observer after the daughter of executive director for instruction Patrick O'Donnell was hired a few months ago.

"This gal is very qualified and has applied over and over," said Graham. "We say we're looking for the most qualified candidates, yet we take Pat O'Donnell's daughter right out of school. Does the fact she just graduated make her more qualified?" (The daughter, incidentally, is a well-liked and respected elementary school teacher. She has a sister who also teaches in the district.)

Frustration

"It's extremely frustrating. My application is spotless," said the woman, who has 20 years of experience, credits beyond a master's degree and special certification. She asked that her name not be used because she still would like to work for the district.

"I have an almost perfect attendance record and many positives as far as my references and evaluations. I've worked as an assistant to the principal. It's not like I'm a run-of-the-mill person.

"I've been applying for seven years, yet they've never even called me in for an interview," she said. "I feel I have a lot to offer, and I don't have the opportunity to use my skills and help educate people in my own community."

Substituting doesn't seem to matter, she added. "Personally I know of two instances in which substitutes had subbed faithfully for seven years. Some positions opened up, and subs were just furious because they hired a niece or relative of one of the board members, and they also hired a friend of one of the principals."

Who's who

Goldman said 7 percent of the 126 certified staff hired since 1988-89 — eight teachers and one administrator — are relatives of current employees. He said figures aren't kept for non-teachers because of high turnover.

Administrators with relatives working in the district include transportation director Dale Goby; executive director for instruction Tom Tattan; curriculum coordinator Sheila Alles; principals Chuck Portelli, George Belvitch, Dave Farquharson and Jim Burt; faculty athletic manager Gary Balconi; community education director Larry Masteller; and

Ice festival

It's coming. As sure as January snows, the Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular is on the way. It's set for Jan. 11-16 in and around Kellogg Park. As part of the festival, the Plymouth Observer is producing a special guide to the events. The special section is distributed in our newspaper and free to the crowd, which has hit up to 500,000 people.

For more information about becoming involved in that section, call Dick Raspecki in our retail advertising office at 963-2168 or Donna Orsoco at 963-2156. Space must be reserved by Dec. 27.

Game aids Playscape

Sales of "Plymouthopoly" aid the Plymouth Playscape Project, which seeks to build a big wood play structure for kids this spring at Plymouth Township Park.

The professionally crafted games modeled on "Monopoly" are $20 each and are available at several locations around Plymouth, including the Little Professor Book Center, Walker-Bussenberg furniture, Sideways and Laurel Furniture.

School leaders to discuss goals

Enforcing attendance policies, setting consistent academic goals, establishing a data base to measure academic progress and long-range planning are among the objectives slated to be adopted tonight by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

The board meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. at the E.J. McClendon Educational Center, 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth.

It was the idea of Superintendent Charles Little to have a cross-section of community "stakeholders" draft the 1994-95 goals for the board.

"We tried to capture some of the needs of the district," said Little.

The objectives include setting high expectations for teaching and learning, standardizing the discipline code of conduct for each building, exceeding state performance standards, and creating a data base to measure academic progress.

Trustee Susan Davis liked the idea of timelines being set. "It seems like we fix things with a Band-Aid. I like to see time lines," she said.

The committee included accountability in its wish list.

"In order to improve student learning, we will institute a process to review, assess and design performance standards, then implement those standards and consistently hold accountable those persons involved in the learning process to those standards," the committee wrote.

Other goals are standardizing the middle school attendance policy; establishing unified academic goals; long-term planning, specifically with regard to the Gallimore, Tanger and Starkweather buildings; and the continued involvement of citizens in long-range financial strategy.

Commenting on the latter, Trustee Roland Thomas said, "We need to broaden the perspective of the finance committee."

Thomas also emphasized the need to address overcrowding at the high schools.

"CEP (Plymouth-Canton Educational Park) needs attention," he said. "Something will need to be done at the high schools. We need to get on that as soon as possible, recognizing full well we are not going to get any money from the state."

Teacher Earl Harrington suggested the board expand upon another goal, that of training and orientation for new teachers.

"We're missing the boat by thinking we need to train only teachers. You need an orientation for all employees, not just teachers."

A member of the stakeholders' committee encouraged the board to keep citizens involved. "Since you got the community involved, I think you should keep them involved," he said. "Keep a forum of us around to interact with the board."

School board president Dave Artley said "the fact we are even talking about this is evidence that our partnership with the community is alive, well and growing."

Paving project merits weighed

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

The biggest Plymouth Township road paving project in years is being studied by the township administration.

The project would call for:

- Paving Powell Road from Beck Road to a point just west of Powell's intersection with Ridge Road.
- Paving Ridge Road from North Territorial to a point just south of Ridge's intersection with Powell Road.

An engineering consulting firm is scheduled to report to the township board of trustees next month, after taking soil borings along the road and preparing an engineering study and cost estimates, said Jim Anulewicz, township director of public services.

Trustees on Tuesday approved spending $5,000 on the engineering study, as 87 percent of affected homeowners in adjacent subdivisions have signed petitions asking the township to pave the roads.

"The next step will be to schedule a public hearing to discuss the special assessment district and the assessment," Anulewicz said.

While the actual cost of the project is yet to be determined, Anulewicz said homeowners would likely be assessed $2,000 to $2,600 per dwelling unit.

If approved, the project would call for paving 18,400 feet of the two roads.

A desire to have the roads paved was sparked in recent years by completion of several subdivisions in the area — Deer Creek, Plymouth Commons, Hunter's Creek and Fox Pointe.

Residents of the subdivisions have sought direction from the township on how to make paving happen. "I have had numerous preparatory meetings and informational meetings with residents," Anulewicz said.

"We've been seeing more and more problems with the gravel road deteriorating," he said.

Salvation Army helps needy all year

Have you ever wondered what happens to the money you give to the Salvation Army, either through the annual Christmas mail appeal or what's dropped into the kettles?

There's a young woman in the Plymouth-Canton-Northville area who could tell you. Her husband left her with three children, one a newborn, and no income. With the help of the Salvation Army, providing food and paying utility bills, she found part-time work. She attends classes to improve her work skills, and she is supporting her family.

A working husband and wife also found help from the Salvation Army when their child became seriously ill and medical expenses and home care needs became burdensome. The wife cut back on job duties to provide home care and the Salvation Army helped with food and payment of utility bills. The family has managed to get through the crisis.

An unemployed single mother seeking work didn't have gas money to attend a job fair session. The Salvation Army provided the gasoline and the young mother returned with several positive job interviews.

Martha L. Schultz, director of the area campaign for the Salvation Army, revealed some of these typical human need cases that exist in the communities of Plymouth, Canton and Northville. Along with corps commander Lt. Randall VanLandingham and other staffers at the corps center in Plymouth, Schultz is most familiar with such situations.

In reviewing recent cases, she remembered a call from the VFW one evening. A Vietnam veteran was stranded on the highway, his car broken down. He was en route to the veterans' hospital in Grand Rapids and he was visibly ill.

The VFW asked "Can you help?" The Army Corps found someone to repair the car, free of charge. It provided a bed for the evening. It gave the veteran a sendoff the next morning. The veteran cried. And so did Schultz.

So that's where your money goes . . . and will again this Christmas. Help isn't given without a thorough investigation to verify the facts, unless it's an emergency. Then the Salvation Army responds and asks questions later.

Through Dec. 8, collections in the kettles totaled $36,461.30, while mail donations stood at $96,000. The goal for the kettle drive is $106,000, while the combined kettle-mail goal is $200,000.

Chorus will hold auditions on Jan. 3

Calling all tenors, basses and baritones: In its 21st season, the Plymouth Community Chorus is holding open auditions at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 3, with pre-scheduled auditions at 7 p.m. on subsequent Tuesdays.

The chorus meets in the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church, 45201 N. Territorial Road, west of Sheldon in Plymouth Township.

The chorus is preparing for its spring concert, "Remember the Song," April 29-30 and for its Washington tour June 22-26, as well as its upcoming compact disc and cassette recording to be released in November.

Plan to consolidate police functions scrapped

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Canton Township's role in efforts to consolidate some police functions with the Plymouth and Northville communities has come to an end.

"It basically brings the curtain down on a two-year endeavor," said Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack.

Leaders in Canton, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township announced Dec. 13 that attempts for a single joint dispatch won't pay, and attempts to involve all five communities are over.

"It provides no cost benefit to us and no cost benefit that accrues to the other four communities," Yack said.

But it is expected that the four remaining communities will continue to investigate the potential of some joint services. Plymouth and Plymouth Township recently merged fire services.

"For the two Plymouths, it makes total sense to do something jointly because of the joint fire service," said Plymouth Township Supervisor Kathleen Keen-McCarthy, a co-chair of the Intergovernmental Cooperation Committee's dispatch, records and lockup subcommittee.

Plymouth Mayor Doug Miller agreed. "The city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township have been talking about joint dispatch and lockup. The city of Northville and Northville Township expressed an interest."

An initial study showed there was potential for cost savings by combining dispatch, records and lockup among the communities. But additional research showed that the cost of providing radio equipment to cover the communities' combined 72 square miles, as well as computer costs, outweighed potential savings, according to a press release issued by the community leaders.

Yack said that Canton, which accounts for half of the land area and population, has achieved the type of efficiencies sought by the remaining communities.

"It became evident that when you look at the numbers, because we do a lot of what would be gained by coming together, there's no cost advantage to us," Yack said.

McCarthy said that when Canton was added to the mix, everything became twice as large. "With their 911 calls and arrests, they are 52 percent of the total," she said.

McCarthy also referred to Canton's ability to staff for the number of police and fire calls it receives. Each of the four communities has to have a minimum of four dispatchers - one in each community. Canton has two on that same shift.

"Because we do our own, we have to have four people," McCarthy said. "The numbers we developed from this will help us. We have a good model for the four of us."

Miller acknowledged that each community will have to upgrade its facilities at some point. "All of the four communities have lockups that aren't state-of-the-art," he said. "Canton Township has a modern facility. We had determined that with the five communities, financially it wasn't going to make sense," he added.

Flood study done

A preliminary flood insurance study has been completed by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, and will be reviewed with the Plymouth Township building department at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the building department.

The study includes a flood insurance rate map that depicts the areas that would be flooded annually, by a 1-percent probability, according to the emergency management agency.

Charles McIlhargey, township building director, said that from available information, "I think there's very, very minor changes," adding only four or five township residents are currently affected by the flood plain designation.

Financial institutions determine who must purchase flood insurance and insurance agents determine the cost of flood insurance based on data compiled by the emergency management agency, which funded the study.

Luck leads to buck

Plymouth Department of Public Works employee Steve Faiman caught a fish and a four-point buck - all with the same fishing pole.

Faiman, who isn't a deer hunter, was fishing Nov. 12 at the Muskegon River near Newaygo when he caught a 10-pound steelhead, then spotted something floating down the river. His dad, Bob Faiman, who was along to hunt deer, said the deer was a four-point buck that had been shot with an arrow, then apparently drowned.

Of the group that went up north to deer hunt, Steve was the only one to get a deer, his dad said.

Mettetal officials eye building buy

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

The Canton-Plymouth Mettetal Airport Board has asked state aeronautics officials to investigate the purchase and possible uses of a building next to the airport.

"Our objective is to have input from the state, Canton Township, citizens and airport users, on the pros and cons of this building," said Mark Merlanti, airport board chairman.

Merlanti officially notified the township Dec. 13 of the request to consider the building, its potential uses, as well as fire safety, and how a state purchase of the building - that would take it off tax rolls - would affect the township.

The building's owner approached the state. "The state said, 'Talk to the airport board,'" Merlanti said. "We haven't gotten back to him yet."

The township board told Merlanti it would accept the state's investigation of the building just south of the main airport entrance on Lilley Road.

"We want to emphasize that it is extremely preliminary," Merlanti added.

He asked township officials to consider a study session after a list of possible uses is drafted. State aeronautics officials are expected to provide a list at the next airport meeting Jan. 12.

Purchase of the building could affect an agreement for Mettetal between the township and the state. Amendments would be required if the building is used to house airplanes. The agreement specifies the maximum number of hangars and airplane tie-downs at the airport.

"The mere purchase of property would not require an amendment to that agreement," Merlanti said. Land acquisition doesn't require township approval.

The blue-and-yellow building was most recently used by University Limousine. The building has since been sold. Tax bills are being sent to J&J Auto Electric, which has a total winter tax bill of $1,487.92.

Canton Treasurer Elaine Kirchgatter estimated summer taxes at $500. The building has an assessed value of about $41,000.

"We may gain that back on personal property (taxes)," Kirchgatter said, referring to the potential loss of property taxes.

Airport board member Mike Stankov stood alone in his opposition to the state's investigation of the building. "I don't think we should even have the state look at options of using that building. There is plenty of property at the airport."

Some preliminary uses for the land and building that sits on an acre include a meeting facility, airplane hangar for pilots or for a commercial group, and a fuel field. "Public safety people are concerned about installing a permanent fuel field. This is away from other airport activity," Merlanti said.

Stankov, however, doesn't believe the airport needs a meeting facility. Airport board meetings are now in the E.A.A

hangar. "Meeting rooms are not an issue," he said, adding that meetings can be held at Canton Township Hall. There's also plenty of room for a fuel field.

Stankov remains concerned about removing more property off the township's tax rolls. "That was a main concern when the state bought the airport to begin with. I pointed out in the meeting that our board was warned about empire building. This is what we were warned about - this kind of action," Stankov said.

Township officials questioned whose money would buy the building. Merlanti said the state must discuss the purpose of buying the building with the Federal Aviation Administration for financing, which, if available, would be distributed at 90 percent federal, 5 percent state and 5 percent local.

Supervisor Tom Yack and Kirchgatter said it was their understanding that local dollars came from airport revenues, not township coffers.

Plymouth-Canton educators brace for flurry of changes

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Legislation passed as part of what's come to be known as the "Christmas Eve Massacre" of 1993 is reshaping education in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

"This will be the most significant change in education we have seen in our lifetime," said Thomas Tattan, the district's executive director for instruction. "Since we can't leave the state of Michigan, we have to abide by their mandates. For the first time, a diploma will have an impact."

When this year's eighth-graders are high school juniors, they will take a new state proficiency test. "Our hope is that they will do lots better than the kids of 1994," said Superintendent Charles Little.

For the first time, he said, after test results are in, the district will look to see "who got what right and wrong, and we'll see who taught them. That's where accountability is going to come in. Inevitably, there'll be differences in learning. But we'll share with teachers what they need to be more successful."

The board last week heard from the school improvement team at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park about changes in the high school curriculum. Team member Pat Barry told the board that gone are the days when in high school, female students read "girl magazines" and males read automotive magazines as part of their studies.

"We're moving at a very, very quick pace and that's causing a lot of people a lot of anxiety," he said. "We meet a lot of the requirements right now, but the proficiency tests are extremely challenging. They're going to make the MEAP test look like the good old days. It's a little frightening."

Barry said, "There's going to be fallout with kids and parents when they find out there will be expectations. So," he told the board, "you'd better get your armor out. It's going to hit the fan."

Area coordinator Sharon Strean said there'll be changes in language arts. "The new twist is students have to pass ninth-grade English and American literature. There'll be seven essential outcomes aligned to the proficiency test." Less challenging English classes will be dropped from the curriculum.

Jerry Morris, also an area coordinator, said the proficiency test will include science. "We're looking for all students to meet these high standards and to succeed.

"We will emphasize geography and economics, which really haven't been part of the program. Teachers will have to go through in-service," he said.

Area coordinator Barbara Church said the district is moving away from the tracking system in math, and gearing the curriculum to the new test. "Our goal is that all students will leave with a strong foundation in mathematics with competence in algebra, geometry, statistics and probability."

Students will no longer receive a science credit for taking photography. The Advanced Black and White Photography class will expand to teach video technology and visual imaging.

"We'll train teams of students to produce videos that can be used in the district," said Church. Keyboarding classes will become things of the past, replaced by computer applications instruction. Students will learn about spreadsheets, data bases, graphics and word processing.

The board also heard from humanities teacher Cyndi Burnstein and Mary Beth Carroll, who presented a plan for the establishment of a "school within a school" for grades nine and 10.

The board was receptive. Trustee Roland Thomas said, "In my 13 years on the board, this is the most prepared group of teachers I've seen come before us. I do appreciate everything you've done. Others have done an outstanding job as well; it's a change I've seen in the last 18-24 months."

Cakes, gingerbread houses to adorn fest

Save your gingerbread house or decorated cake to enter in the contest sponsored by the 13th Annual Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular and the Plymouth Observer.

The five categories for the Gingerbread House Contest are: Churches and Castles, Small Gingerbread Houses (15 inches in diameter or smaller), Gingerbread Houses Large (larger than 15 inches in diameter), Baker's Delight (for culinary students, bakeries or restaurants), and Kid's Creations for ages 10 and under.

A $25 cash prize from the Westchester Square Mall and Days Gone By store will be awarded to the first-place winner in each category. Second- and third-place winners will receive ribbons.

"Salute to the Sunday Funnies," is the theme for the decorated cake contest being coordinated by Mary Denning, pastry instructor at Henry Ford Community College. Categories are advanced (2 or more years of experience), junior college culinary student, professional and youth or teen (under 18 years of age). The registration fee is $10 for adults and $5 for youth and teens.

Houses must be delivered to Days Gone By between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday, Jan. 9. There is a $4 entry fee for adults, and $1 for children.

Lorenz, who with his two kids has used the sled hill for years.

"In my opinion it's the insurance companies. They don't want the exposure; they scare these municipalities right out of providing the services they're supposed to do," said Lorenz, former Mayflower Hotel co-owner, now president of a public relations consulting firm.

He raised the issue before township trustees at their Dec. 13 meeting and plans to continue talking with the township administration and trustees on the issue.

"I'm committed to do whatever I can to get this thing going," Lorenz said. "It's a quality-of-life issue. It's one of their responsibilities to provide recreation, and it's one of the things you can do for free, for crying out loud."

Lorenz said that what the township did last year worked well — putting hay bales at the end of the run and a row of hay bales along one side to direct sledders going up the hill away from those coming down.

"If they said we're going to close Hilltop Golf Course because somebody might get hit in the head with a golf ball, you'd have a riot," Lorenz said.

Lorenz, who organizes volunteers to staff the Christmas lights display at Domino's Farms, said it would be easy to organize parents to volunteer on weekends at the sled hill this winter, to oversee sledding.

"Instead of saying no sledding until we rebuild the hill, it needs to be managed. If that's what makes the insurance company happy, then that's what we should do," he said.

"We could have a parent volunteer at the top of the hill and somebody at the bottom. Give them a megaphone and a red vest and let them go for three-hour increments, four shifts every day."

Lorenz said parents interested in volunteering for such an effort can call him at his Ann Arbor office at 930-3123.

area coordinator Lynne Lonigo. In the board office, mother and daughter Marilyn and Karen Stemberger work as administrative secretaries.

A review of the district directory shows that at least 42 married couples work for Plymouth-Canton. Not included in the count were numerous employees with the same last name, but for whom no address appears. Employees who are parent and child, brother and sister, or otherwise related weren't counted either. About 1,200 full-time people work for the district.

Teaching ranks not alone

Other departments have spawned similar complaints. "On two occasions in the last six months, maintenance workers were hired who were related to other employees in the district," said Chris Kearns, maintenance union president. "Two positions came up, and they interviewed two individuals, basically off the street. They walked away with jobs. The only condition was, they're related. It's frustrating for people who've been working in the district as subs for months or years with good work records."

Checks and balances

District spokesman Richard Egli said, "There are checks and balances. That's why the policy is put together that way. If the board isn't satisfied that administration has looked deeply enough, it can question hirings."

Employees watching as high technology is installed in the schools have noted that the son of David Rodwell, Plymouth-Canton's associate executive director/research and technology, is working in the district. Paul Rodwell designs systems and sells for Computer Connection, a local company subcontracted by Plymouth-Canton.

Until recently, Mark Rakozy — son of Computer Connection owner and president Lawrence Rakozy — also was working in the district. Mike Schlenke, project manager for the firm overseeing the schools' capital improvements, knows the Rodwells and Mark Rakozy and speaks highly of them.

"Paul is extremely knowledgeable," he said. "I know his dad is extremely sharp, too. I don't know of anyone more qualified to work with computers than Dave Rodwell."

Schlenke describes Rakozy, who assisted in system design but now is working elsewhere, as "a computer wizard."

Some employees have questioned whether Ameritech was contracted by the district because an administrator's husband works for Ameritech. "There is no link," Egli said. "It's absurd to consider rumors like this when the bidding process has been open to anyone, and the books are open to anyone." Ameritech's proposal was superior to those of its competitors, he added.

The positive side

Employing relatives can be an advantage, Egli said. "Think about it for a minute. Say you go home and you're talking with your spouse about some aspect of a problem you haven't been able to solve. If he is in the same business, perhaps he can offer a solution. It's a plus from that angle. Probably if anything, we get additional help and skill we might not otherwise have."

But Graham sees problems. "If Pat O'Donnell is my boss, do you think I'm going to tell the rest of the committee that Pat O'Donnell's daughter isn't qualified?"

Evaluations also can be difficult. "When it comes time for the six-month report, do you mean to tell me they are going to be honest? An administrator's relative is going to have an edge over everyone."

The teacher still applying to the district points out that the district benefits in several ways by hiring someone with experience. "They're getting an experienced teacher at entry-level pay. That person may not be employed in the district as long as a younger person. Consequently, you're talking about fewer bucks. I can understand hiring young teachers to keep things vibrant and vital. But you also need experienced people to keep a balance."

GOOD NEIGHBOR TEAM

A program to help "Keep The Heat On" this winter for needy people in the western suburbs of Detroit

The Good Neighbor Team is designed to provide furnace service and repair (non-emergency), and in some instances, parts and furnaces, to those who have no financial or other means of keeping their furnaces operating this winter. Up to 500 hours of service will be donated to those in need.

Indications that this program may be able to assist you:

- Marginal furnace operation
- Continuous falling of furnace
- Furnace no longer provides heat
- You have no financial means to repair furnace

Requests for service assistance will be monitored by the Salvation Army. Phone 313-653-2048 to request assistance on an automated answering service. Leave complete information, including name, address, and daytime phone where you can be contacted by the Salvation Army.

*This is not an emergency service.
 This is not a heating bill payment program.
 As a heating safety reminder, always call your gas company immediately if you smell gas.*

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING SECTION 71.046 OF CHAPTER 71 OF THE CODE OF ORDINANCES OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH, EXTENDING THE FRANCHISE EXPIRATION DATE TO FEBRUARY 6, 1996, OR UNTIL COMPLETION OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE HEARING UNDER 47 U.S.C. SECTION 548(C)(3) WHICHEVER IS LATER, PROVIDING FOR SAVINGS OF THE REMAINDER OF CHAPTER 71; PROVIDING FOR REPEAL OF INCONSISTENT PROVISIONS THEREIN; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR PENALTY FOR VIOLATION THEREOF; PROVIDING FOR PUBLICATION AND EFFECTIVE DATE THEREOF.

SECTION 1.
 Section 71.046, Term, is amended to read as follows:
 71.046. Term.
 Subject to the provisions herein, the rights and privileges of the grantee shall continue for a period of fifteen (15) years from February 6, 1980, or until completion of the administrative hearing under 47 U.S.C. Section 548(C) (3) which ever is later, which shall be deemed to constitute a contract between the Township and said grantee. Further, said grantee shall have the right of first refusal in renegotiation.

SECTION 2: SEVERABILITY.
 If any section, subsection, clause, phrase or portion of this ordinance is for any reason held invalid or unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction, such portion shall be deemed a separate, distinct and independent provision, and such holding shall not affect the validity of the remaining portion hereof.

SECTION 3: REPEAL OF INCONSISTENT ORDINANCES.
 All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed to the extent necessary to give this ordinance full force and effect.

SECTION 4: SAVINGS CLAUSE.
 The rights and duties which have matured, penalties which have been incurred, proceedings which have begun and prosecutions for violations of law occurring before the effective date of this Ordinance are not affected or abated by this Ordinance.

SECTION 5: VIOLATION AND PENALTY.
 Any person, corporation, partnership or other legal entity who violates the provisions of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and may be fined not more than Five Hundred ($500.00) dollars or imprisoned not more than sixty (60) days, or both, at the discretion of the Court. Each day that the violation continues after due notice has been served to accordance with the terms and provisions hereof shall be deemed a separate offense.

SECTION 6: PUBLICATION.
 The Clerk for the Charter Township of Plymouth shall cause this Ordinance to be published in the manner required by law.

SECTION 7: EFFECTIVE DATE.
 The Clerk for the Charter Township of Plymouth shall cause this Ordinance to be published in the manner required by law.

SECTION 8: EFFECTIVE DATE.
 This ordinance shall take full force and effect upon publication thereof.

This Ordinance was duly adopted by the Township Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth at its regular meeting called and held on the 13 day of December, 1994, and was ordered to be given publication in the manner required by law.

8 years service equals lifetime health insurance

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

At his last meeting as a Wayne County commissioner, Thursday, Dec. 15, Bryan Amann had the rules changed so he can continue to receive health insurance after he leaves the board Dec. 31.

Amann, a Wayne Democrat, told the commission that the minimum age requirement of 45 years for receiving county health insurance violates federal law. The commission promptly voted 9-6 to remove the age requirement.

The policy in question was put in place in the mid-1980s, before federal age discrimination laws were enacted. It says that elected officials, department heads and their chief deputies may leave county government after a minimum of eight years service and continue to get health insurance for themselves and their families paid for by county taxpayers. (In Amann's case, his eight years is divided between the commission and two previous jobs with county executive Edward McNamara and former clerk James Killeen.)

However, there was a requirement that the departing officials be at least 45 years of age to get the insurance. Amann is 37. He told the commission that the county could be sued for age discrimination if the age requirement wasn't dropped.

Amann said he might not need the insurance, but the law says he's entitled to it. It's good that the commission voted to change the law, he said, because "otherwise I had to sue them."

Six commissioners opposed Amann's request, including Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, who also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township, Michelle Plawewski, D-Dearborn Heights, who also represents Redford Township and Livonia east of Middlebelt. Commission Vice Chair Kay Beard, D-Westland, who also represents Garden City, voted in favor of Amann's request.

The insurance package is not exactly lucrative, lacking dental and optical coverage as it does, but some commissioners oppose it being given to officials for working only eight years for the county.

McCotter, who has been a commissioner for two years, said he wouldn't take such a deal if it was available, and he probably won't be a commissioner for eight years anyway.

He voted against Amann's request because it will increase Wayne County's expenses. "I was disappointed that it came up when it did because we were doing the right thing with the budget," he said, alluding to the commission's effort to cut money from its own office budget. "We just shot ourselves in the foot again."

Plawewski said she voted against Amann's request because she didn't want her constituents to think that she was only interested in getting such a deal for herself.

State officials get an even better deal than county officials do. They only need five years seniority before they can leave "public service" with a full package of health insurance.

In Oakland County government all employees are treated the same when it comes to insurance. To retire with health insurance for the whole family, an employee must work 25 years for Oakland County. This system applies to everyone from Executive Brooks Patterson to the janitors, said personnel director Vince Luzzi.

Beard did not return the Observer's phone calls by press time.

Amann gets emotional in farewell speech

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Bryan Amann took himself by surprise last week while making his farewell address to the Wayne County Commission.

As Amann began his speech, he also began to cry. He continued to get choked up, blow his nose and wipe away tears throughout the speech.

A Wayne Democrat, Amann represents the largest county commission district, which includes Canton Township. He did not run for re-election this year. His last official day as a county commissioner is Dec. 31.

In his speech, Amann was sure to thank the inconspicuous people as well as the conspicuous. He praised aides Tom Kelly and Rob Rowe, but reserved special praise for secretary Laura Willey. "Without her, I, Tom and Rob would have looked like fools around here," he said.

On Dave Katz, the chief of staff for County Executive Edward McNamara, Amann said, "He has had a good compass and a lot of integrity. David will give you a straight answer."

On deputy executive Michael Duggan, with whom Amann has occasionally clashed, he said, "To keep a friend sometimes you have to close both eyes, and Mike has done that."

Other commissioners praised Amann.

Commissioner Arthur Blackwell, D-Highland Park, said, "I know Bryan Amann will be back in politics. All of us in Wayne County should get behind the Bryan Amanns of the world."

SERVICE WITH A SMILE

By adhering to a program of oral health maintenance at home and regular office visits, the public can generally expect to prevent common problems with its teeth. In fact, the majority of younger patients who brush and floss daily and receive dental sealants can expect to be cavity-free through their adolescence. Older patients can avert gum disease (their primary concern) by addressing plaque buildup with office cleanings. When tooth loss, breakage, or misalignment does occur, there are a variety of advanced restoration and replacement techniques available that render the synthetic versions virtually indistinguishable from natural teeth. We invite you to make use of our column in order to make better choices about your oral health.

The entire staff of LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES is pleased to welcome you to this column. Whether you are in need of dentures, crowns, cosmetic dentistry, or any other dental service, we're here to provide you with comprehensive, gentle dental care — offering you the latest techniques to give you a great appearance. We believe in preventative health care. We are located on the northwest corner of Merriman and Seven Mile Roads. Please call 478-2110 to schedule a convenient appointment. Smiles are our business.

Women musicians get equal time

BY MELISSA PREDDY
SPECIAL WRITER

Plymouth Canton High School senior Mandy King has only been working at the high school radio station since last spring. But she's already the host and creator of an innovative series of broadcasts featuring all female artists.

The second segment of King's series, "Anonymous Was a Woman," will air on WSDP, 88.1 FM, 8-11 p.m. Monday. She designed the program to highlight female musicians, whom she thinks are underrepresented on the airwaves.

"If you look at any radio station format it will most likely have a majority of males," King said.

"The female voice needs to be heard and be respected."

King tries to choose from a wide variety of performers, exposing both well-known and local talent. From groups such as Faith and Disease to singers like Tori Amos, her music selection covers a broad range of styles and tastes.

"I don't want to play something just because I like it," King said. "I feel that women in some way or another have been forgotten about in the music business. Being a woman myself, I feel that we need to speak up and do something."

Each broadcast also includes an interview with a female poet.

Tonight's guest will be Lisa Hammond of Ann Arbor, and for January, King hopes to line up a Detroit writer named Vive.

The program's title is derived from a Virginia Woolf essay that speaks to the difficulty of being a female artist.

"Just listening and doing things with the show has shown me so much and given me so much more strength and confidence and diversity," King said.

She is pleased with the local response.

"I've had all positive feedback," she said. "Even when I was preparing for it, and word got around,

I was amazed at the positive comments. People said it was great and that they'd listen."

King, who also works on the school paper, plans to attend Columbia College in Chicago after her June graduation. The college runs its own record business, and King intends to major in music business, with a minor in radio management or art. She would like to work for a record company or manage a radio station.

Also, she said, "I want to be the kind of person that people can look up to and respect because I do what I say I'm going to do."

Local members of MedHealth work on '94 Holiday Contest committee

Michael Broder, vice president of Broder Brothers and honorary chairman of the MedHealth Holiday Contest committee, has announced that MedHealth members Carole Brandt of Plymouth and George Lovich of Canton have volunteered to work on the committee.

The committee will be responsible for the distribution of funds to local charities. The funds will be collected as an entry fee from members who choose to participate in MedHealth's first annual Holiday Fitness Contest.

This program is designed to encourage the participating members to maintain their weight and to continue working out throughout the holidays. The participating members will not only help themselves, but by joining this contest will also help the needy.

Carole Brandt has lived in Plymouth for 18 years and has been involved in many community organizations, including the Plymouth Newcomers Club and the Plymouth Symphony League. She has also been on the board of the Plymouth Symphony Society.

A 22-year resident of Canton, George Lovich has been involved with many community craft show fund-raising programs. He also spent 18 years as an athletic director for Livonia Public Schools.

Professor to retire

Richard T. Arlen, a Plymouth resident, will retire as an accounting professor at Schoolcraft College in Livonia after 25 years.

Arlen was a leader in the college's Faculty Association, served on the college's grievance committee for 14 years, as chief negotiator for 16 years, and as president for 10 years. He joined the college in 1969.

He published a textbook for accounting students, "College Accounting: An Introduction." He was a facilitator for accounting presentations.

Spirit of giving alive and well

BY MELISSA PREDDY
SPECIAL WRITER

There certainly were a lot of turkeys at one local office party Friday night. And no, it wasn't due to the holiday punch or the rum in the fruitcake.

It all started when Sue and Bill Grady, owners of Prudential Prime Properties in Canton, offered to donate their upright freezer to Mother Waddles' Kitchen in Detroit.

"Since Mother Waddles recently had a fire, we figured she could use it the most," said Bill Grady.

Somehow the agents at the real estate office heard about the freezer, and decided it shouldn't be delivered empty.

"We kind of spontaneously came up with the idea of filling it with turkeys," said agent Marty Feamster, who promptly went out and found turkeys on sale for 39 cents a pound. "I got two of the biggest I could pick out — over 40 pounds of turkey for $15. I just got real excited about it."

So did the other agents, who shopped for more 18- to 20-pound turkeys and delivered them to the Gradys' freezer.

The 19 frozen gobblers stopped off at Prudential Prime Properties' annual Christmas party Friday night to have their photo taken with all the donors. Saturday, using a trailer loaned by Plymouth Construction, the Gradys and their son delivered the freezer and the turkeys to Mother Waddles.

"That's going to feed a lot of people. It wasn't that much work," Feamster said. "And it was something we all felt good about."

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH
ORDINANCE NO. C-94-12
AMENDMENT TO
MULTI-CHANNEL SERVICE PROVIDER
REGULATORY ORDINANCE

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE MULTI-CHANNEL SERVICE PROVIDER REGULATORY ORDINANCE WHICH DESCRIBES REGULATORY PRACTICES FOR MULTI-CHANNEL SERVICE PROVIDERS, INCLUDING PROVISIONS FOR INSURANCE, REPORTS AND RECORDS, CONSUMER PRACTICES, CONSUMER PROTECTION MEASURES, CONSTRUCTION AND CONSTRUCTION RELATED PRACTICES, FRANCHISE FEES AND ALTERNATE USER CHARGES, OPERATION PROCEDURES, AND HEALTH, SAFETY AND WELFARE MEASURES, AND AMENDMENT TO THE CONTINUITY OF SERVICE PROVISION; PROVIDING FOR THE REPEAL OF INCONSISTENT ORDINANCES ONLY TO THE EXTENT OF THEIR INCONSISTENCY; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR A SAVING CLAUSE; PROVIDING FOR PENALTY FOR VIOLATION; PROVIDING FOR PUBLICATION AND EFFECTIVE DATE THEREOF.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

SECTION 1.
Section 74.265 of Chapter 74 of the Code of Ordinances of the Charter Township of Plymouth is amended by adding Subsection (G) to read as follows:
Section 74.265. Policy with Respect to Continuity of Multi-Channel Provisions.

A) The Board/franchising authority declares that as part of its right to establish multi-channel customer service guidelines, it has the duty to ensure continuity of multi-channel service for all subscribers. In that light, the Board/franchising authority also determines that it may take appropriate measures in order to ensure that no portion of the Township is threatened or faced with a disruption, interruption, or discontinuance of multi-channel service due to the actions of any MCS provider.

B) In addition to the principles and ideals enumerated in subsection (A), the Board/franchising authority also expresses that its policy covers the following:

- 1) providing for continuity of multi-channel service in the event of acquisition by the Township;
- 2) providing for continuity of service in the event of a proposed abandonment, withdrawal, or cessation of multi-channel service by an MCS provider;
- 3) providing for continuity of service in the event of revocation, termination, or non-renewal of a franchised MCS provider's franchise;
- 4) providing for continuity of service in the event that a transaction occurs that affects the ownership or control of the MCS provider, such as an assignment, sale, transfer, or merger;
- 5) providing for continuity of service in the event of an expiration of a franchise;
- 6) preventing disruption of multi-channel service which would provide a hardship on those subscribers who rely on a multi-channel system as their primary or secondary source for information; and
- 7) preventing the interruption or cessation of multi-channel service which would disrupt or eliminate the diversity of programming choices enjoyed by subscribers of a multi-channel system, and thereby restricting their ability to receive information.

C) Whenever any situation occurs (including those mentioned above) which threatens the Township and subscribers with the loss or interruption in the continuity of multi-channel service, then the Board/franchising authority may direct the MCS provider for a period of up to twenty-four (24) months to do everything in its power to ensure that all subscribers receive continuous, uninterrupted multi-channel service of the same quality, mix, and level(s) regardless of the circumstances.

D) During the interim period, the Board/franchising authority shall work with the MCS provider in order to secure a new multi-channel system owner, or rectify the problem, so that the threat of loss of continuity is removed at the earliest possible instance.

E) During any interim period in which the MCS provider continues to provide multi-channel service to subscribers, the MCS provider is entitled to all revenues collected, except any sums owed (including franchise fees, alternative user charges, and taxes) to the Township or to other persons.

F) In the event that the threat of loss of continuity is not resolved within twenty-four (24) months, then the Board/franchising authority may extend the interim period of a month-to-month basis until the situation is satisfactorily resolved. Also, in such a circumstance, the Board/franchising authority may adopt any emergency rules or procedures which will ensure that the subscribers will receive continuous, uninterrupted multi-channel service of the same quality, mix, and level(s).

G) This section 74.265 shall take immediate effect upon publication notwithstanding any other provision of this Multi-Channel Service Provider Regulatory Ordinance and shall be applicable to all cable operators, cable services, cable systems or multi-channel service providers operating in the Township without exception or relief and is particularly applicable to existing franchisees.

SECTION 2: SEVERABILITY.
If any section, subsection, clause, phrase or portion of this ordinance is for any reason held invalid or unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction, such portion shall be deemed a separate, distinct and independent provision, and such holding shall not affect the validity of the remaining portion hereof.

SECTION 3: REPEAL OF INCONSISTENT ORDINANCES.
All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed only to the extent necessary to give this ordinance full force and effect.

SECTION 4: SAVING CLAUSE.
The rights and duties which have matured, penalties which have been incurred, proceedings which have begun and prosecutions for violations of law occurring before the effective date of this Ordinance are not affected or abated by this Ordinance. With the exception of section 74.265 amended herein, the remainder of Chapter 74 is unamended and hereby saved intact.

SECTION 5: VIOLATION AND PENALTY.
Any person, corporation, partnership or other legal entity who violates the provisions of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and may be fined not more than Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars or imprisoned not more than sixty (60) days, or both, at the discretion of the Court. Each day that the violation continues after due notice has been served in accordance with the terms and provisions hereof shall be deemed a separate offense.

SECTION 6: PUBLICATION.
The Clerk for the Charter Township of Plymouth shall cause this Ordinance to be published in the manner required by law.

SECTION 7: EFFECTIVE DATE.
This ordinance shall take full force and effect upon publication thereof.

COMMISSIONER
This Ordinance was duly adopted by the Township Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth at its regular meeting called and held on the 13 day of December, 1994, and was ordered to be given publication in the manner required by law.

Charter schools debate revving up in Lansing

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Even as the Michigan Legislature patched up its charter-school law, the debate heated up over whether the movement is a religious stalking-horse for "parochialism."

Lawmakers last week voted money for eight already chartered schools and amended the law to provide for supervision by the State Board of Education.

Ingham Circuit Judge William Collette had declared charter schools unconstitutional because they were too free from state supervision. The state is appealing Collette's ruling, but that will take months. Meanwhile, lawmakers acted to save the existing system adopted as part of the Proposal A school reform package.

What's 'public'?

Paul DeWeese, the Lansing physician who is promoting charter schools through two organizations, said "public" schools need not necessarily be owned by the government or be an exclusive governmental franchise.

"They are accessible to all. The student chooses the school. They are publicly funded. They are publicly accountable — professional, qualified teachers, an accredited school with a core curriculum," DeWeese told a meeting of the Society of Professional Journalists in Dearborn. "Nothing requires them to be a government-owned, government-controlled monopoly."

There is nothing to "automatically exclude religious schools" from his definition of "public school," he said, adding that qualified religious schools are entitled to "a fair investment of public education dollars in every child." DeWeese said excluding qualified religious schools from state aid amounted to discrimination against them.

DeWeese in 1990 founded Teach Michigan, which advocates amending the Michigan Constitution's prohibition against "parochialism" and vouchers for non-public schools.

That group has started the Michigan Center for Charter Schools, which promotes the new charter law. It is headed by Barbara Barrett, whose husband is president of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

Raid on taxes

DeWeese was rebutted by a panel of teachers, unionists and a civil libertarian.

"If someone wants a parochial education, they should pay," said Rollie Hoppood, a Michigan Federation of Teachers official and former State Board of Education member. "What if we wanted to hire our own private guards to stand on the steps? Would we ask the public to pay for it?"

Charter schools are "a thinly disguised effort to divert public funds to private education," said Howard Simon, of the American Civil Liberties Union Michigan chapter.

Simon said DeWeese used "intriguing rhetoric" in arguing that the ban on parochialism amounts to denying "parental choice" and is "discrimination based on religion." DeWeese said nothing when Simon predicted DeWeese would begin a petition drive to remove the constitutional ban on aid to religious schools.

Julius Maddox, president of the Michigan Education Association, agreed with Simon that the push for charter schools comes from those who "want to divert public money to private and parochial schools." Maddox recalled that after the U.S. Supreme Court's desegregation ruling of 1954, southern states funded all-white "academies" under the guise of "giving parents a choice."

Charter schools may be organized by public education entities for specialized purposes — like teaching science or, in the case of Casa Maria in Detroit, dealing with delinquents.

Backers like DeWeese say charter schools should "innovate" and be "free from unproductive and restrictive rules." On this point, the panelists clashed.

DeWeese was unable to cite specific examples of "unproductive and restrictive rules" other than "three inches of paperwork."

The teachers' leaders said all schools, not just charter schools, should be free from too many rules. Maddox of the MEA criticized Gov. John Engler's demand for time-consuming paperwork for his "Governor's Report Card" on schools. Maddox said Engler asked about teachers' salaries but not about attendance and parental involvement.

2-day battle

The House of Representatives fought, mostly behind the scenes, for two days before adopting the Senate's bills to patch up the charter laws.

In the House Education Committee, one Republican and all Democrats shot down an effort by Rep. Alan Croosey, R-DeWitt, to extend charter school coverage to the Noah Webster Academy, the Ionia-based home-school network with religious overtones.

All area representatives who were present voted for the funding bill, which passed 87-5.

On the regulatory bill, which won 67-28 approval, here is how area representatives voted:

YES — Lyn Bankes, R-Redford; Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth; and Deborah Whyman, R-Canton.

NO — Justine Barna, D-Westland.

ABSENT — William Keith, D-Garden City; and Richard Young, D-DeWitt.

Airport parking deck cuts rates for holidays

As the parking deck reconstruction project at Metro Airport continues, Wayne County is reducing the daily-rate long-term parking from $9 to $6 for those who enter between now and Jan. 2.

In addition, the airport's parking lot management company, APCOA, will accept coupons from off-airport parking lots until Jan. 2.

Two days before Thanksgiving, Wayne County opened up a new section in the southern half of the deck, providing more than 1,700 new parking spaces.

The pedestrian bridge from the deck to the Smith Terminal, while still under construction, is open to the public.

Not all of the new deck's features are fully operational. For instance, the moving walkways which feed the pedestrian bridges, and the bridge to the hotel, are still under construction.

When the project is complete, the new deck will provide about 7,000 structured parking spaces.

Other features will include a fly-over ramp from upper Rogell Drive and an express exit ramp accessible from every level.

Information on Metro's parking lots is available around the clock by calling the parking hot line at (800) 642-1978.

Motorists approaching Metro can tune their car radio to 920 AM within three or four miles of the airport to receive updates.

Surgical Breakthroughs

Family Reunion.

This morning she was in surgery. Tonight, she's back home with her family. Later this week she'll return to work. And to think that just a few years ago, this same procedure would have meant many days in the hospital and weeks of recovery. Not a "family reunion" the same day.

New techniques like laser and laparoscopic surgery are revolutionizing gallbladder and appendix removal, laser prostatectomy, gynecological procedures and more. The result is less pain and faster recuperation for the patient.

Surgeons at St. Mary Hospital have taken the lead in offering these breakthroughs to our patients. They know how important it is to have the strengths and staffing of a full-service hospital available, should special needs arise. And they understand that the sooner a family member can return home and to work, the better it is for that family's economic and emotional health.

If being reunited with your family the same day you have surgery appeals to you, call us. We'll tell you more about laparoscopy and laser surgery.

This gift list will benefit charities

Last minute shoppers take heart. Although it's getting close to the eleventh hour, your favorite shops still brim with wonderful gift ideas. Why not give something that benefits the recipient's preferred charity? These are the gifts that "keep on giving" and I think you'll discover some unique and imaginative goodies in the following list.

Budding artists and animators will marvel at the sculptures they can create with Claymation Clay Fun Packs ($22). This is the same product used to sculpt the now-famous California Raisins. The one-pound fun pack includes four colors of clay, a storage box, a workmat and two Claymation Clay tools. Parents Choice presented their coveted award to Will Vinton's "pound of imagination" this year and your child can form his own wacky characters while benefitting needy children around the world. A percentage of profits from all Claymation Clay products goes to children's charities. See the entire line at The Print Gallery, 29203 Northwestern Hwy., Southfield.

For a newlywed couple or a single friend in her first home, consider giving a highly collectible Christopher Radko ornament. Radko's old fashioned, Eastern European, individually blown, glass ornament designs are coveted by thousands. An enthusiastic mob gathered at Neiman Marcus recently to have him sign their selections. Many carried baskets full of delicate angels, nursery rhyme characters and merry Santas.

This year Radko introduced new charity ornaments: Frosty Cares to benefit AIDS organizations; A Gifted Santa to benefit pediatric cancer research and treatment; and Rainy Day Friend, a Paddington bear ornament, to help pediatric AIDS research ($25-$27). These are also available at La Belle Provence in Birmingham, The Village Barn in Franklin, and Plain and Fancy in Rochester.

Roz & Sherm's expanded gift department is filled with heart-warming ideas. Included in the store's "boutique corner" are beeswax tapers from "A Candle in the Window," an agency that helps the homeless (4/$12); bath products packaged in palm leaves coconut shells and bamboo by Forest Essentials, a company that dedicates part of its proceeds to rain forest preservation ($10-$28); tribal collection dolls by Chicago-artist Julie Nudd whose folk art creations are actually assembled in handicraft workshops ($52-$92); and Gilda's Club pins ($10), hats ($10) and tees ($15).

You write your check directly to Gilda's Club which provides social and emotional support to cancer patients. Roz & Sherm's is also donating all of its gift wrap proceeds to the Northwest Child Rescue. Roz & Sherm's is in Bloomfield Plaza, Maple at Telegraph.

Spa special
I'm sure you know someone who would deeply appreciate a day at the spa. When you purchase one of Mira Linder's Christmas Spa Packages, she will donate $100 in skin care products and cosmetics to The Haven, Oakland County's comprehensive shelter/counseling program for survivors of domestic violence. Linder's packages are value priced from $225 to $290. Call (810) 356-5810 for details. The Mira Linder Spa in the City is located in Applegate Square, Southfield. "The Greatest Table" is a remarkable collection of art by 16 renowned book illustrators, brought to life by Michael Rosen's poem of grace and thanksgiving. It is a story of children and families who share a feast that is generous in spirit. The 12-foot-long "book banquet" is available at Halfway Down the Stairs in Rochester and area Borders Books ($18.95). All proceeds aid Share Our Strength, a leading hunger relief organization.

— Echoing Rosen's timeless invitation, befitting the season: "So if you're hungry, join us here, pull up another chair. We'll all eat over, make more room; there's always some to spare."

Matching kids' wear means it's time for holiday photos

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Smile. Say Cheese. Watch the Birdie.
It's that time of year again when moms and dads go nuts trying to capture their children's bewitching smiles on film for evermore.

To make sure her holiday pictures were extra special, Vicki Vlasic of Bloomfield Hills bought her three children matching dark blue velvet ensembles from Loretta Lorian's Children's Shop in Bloomfield.

"I wanted them to look elegant in this year's holiday photo," she said. "It will be a treasure in the years ahead."

Parents all around town have the same idea because children's shops in the area report sales of holiday finery to be brisk this season. At some locations, like Parisian at Laurel Park in Livonia, and The Gilded Rabbit in downtown Rochester, much of the dressier, special occasion merchandise was gone by Thanksgiving.

"We still have some lovely outfits in our ready-to-wear lines by Petals, Small Treasures and Rapsallions," said owner Andrea Karp of the Gilded Rabbit. "From our custom clothing lines, Johnny Girl and Johnny B. Good for boys, shoppers can pick from very European-looking coat dresses and fully-lined suits with berets."

"The St. Ange Originals, made by Anita Micalski of Troy, feature heirloom ensembles with French seams and hand-smocking."

The Gilded Rabbit also sells fine jewelry for children from Sydney Krandall Jewelers.

At Parisian Department store, customers looking for matching boy and girl outfits in toddler sizes should check out the Ashton Connor line. Rosey Kids and Patsy Aiken also make charming outfits for holiday parties according to a store spokeswoman.

At Carousel Kids in downtown Farmington, owner Sandy McClellan said designs from Good Lad, Pretty in Pink, Nicole and Sylvia White are popular with traditionalists. A new line, Cotton Collection, offers some very unusual looks for children.

Lorian said mothers are notorious for wanting to coordinate their children in matching outfits at the holidays.

"When they're small, children really get a kick out of matching their sisters and brothers," Lorian said. "We recently had a customer buy three little outfits for Gov. Engler's new triplets, so they might be wearing coordinating outfits too, for the holidays!"

Lorian carries top quality lines like Hollywood Babe, Lucy & Phoebe and Little LuLu, to name a few. Some clothes mimic adult designs, others have the conservative children's styles with capes, peplum jackets and velvet collars.

Hear Music tunes in

■ Serious shoppers have seen it all. So now it's time to hear it all at a new kind of music store which opened in November at the Somerset Collection in Troy.

"If you're looking for that perfect Louis Armstrong record — great songs, great voice, great sound... This is it. From the very first track you can't help but be awed by the man who sang through his horn and played trumpet with his voice." Excerpt from Hear Music's catalog for the holidays. Louis Armstrong — The Best of the Decca Years, Vol. 1: The Singer. CD $15.99. Tape $10.99.

Coffee ala Canton

Better beans: Enjoy a cup of coffee, a workout, and a tan at Gumbanno Brothers Italiano Cafe in Canton. The new facility brings together a coffee shop, tanning salon, and martial arts training center — all under one roof. Owner Dr. M. Aiello, said the cafe serves Superior-brand coffee and Laurentis espresso drinks. Additionally, the cafe has yogurt, pastries and a variety of shakes. Look for Gumbanno's in the West Gate Plaza, one-half mile north of Ford Road in Canton.

Hear Music, a subsidiary of The Nature Company, which also owns Nordic Track, Smith & Hawken, and Britches of Georgetown, is the third retail record store for the company, the first for Michigan. Hear Music was founded in 1989 as a mail-order music catalog business by East Coast college friends Kevin Sheehan and Don MacKinnon who were looking for a way to find new things to listen to as they outgrew rock radio.

By 1992 sales were good enough to warrant a retail outlet in Berkeley, Calif. By this time Sheehan left the company and MacKinnon was on his own. The company has grown to a corporate staff of 11 with headquarters in Boston. Plans call for six stores in the United States through 1996.

Hear Music's "concept" is simple, customers can listen to any CD in the store before buying it — and CDs in the store virtually cover the entire history of music from medieval to contemporary. Hear Music subtly takes aim at the music lover who doesn't like the crowded CD aisles of stores like Best Buy or Target, or the atmosphere in the typical mall music shops that cater to teens.

While they can't top the prices of these mass marketers, Hear Music can offer ambience and eclectic choices. According to an article in Forbes magazine, last year domestic wholesale revenues from recorded music were $9 billion.

Music clubs and catalogs saw their sales rise, while traditional music stores watched sales falter. It was evident to retailers that something new was needed in the music mart. To this end Borders Books and Barnes and Noble Booksellers added sophisticated music departments to their new superstores, and stores like Hear Music arrived on the scene.

At Hear Music, recordings are uniquely presented in groupings of eight or nine CDs based on category, composer or mood, every three feet around the store. Headphones connect each grouping. Customers put on the headphones, push a button under the CD they want to hear, and then proceed through as much of each track on the CD as they want to hear.

What's your mood? Cajun? Celtic ballad? French cabaret? Hear Music has samples of all. It's the ideal way to introduce music buyers to new sounds, new artists and new presentations of the classics ignored by traditional music retailers according to MacKinnon.

Troy-based Harmony House said it welcomes new music retailers to the scene because they create an awareness level which brings more consumers into everybody's record stores.

"Harmony House's sales are up this year," said Chuck Papke, vice president of retail operations. "And not just holiday music sales. We've been up all year."

To stay competitive, Papke said Harmony House has expanded its selections over the years and instituted the we-will-not-be-undersold policy.

"Our customers know we will match any ad in the city," he said. Somerset store manager Trish Kinsey said business has been "great" since the launching. Customers seem to enjoy trying on music to see if it suits them before buying.

tomers seem to enjoy trying on music to see if it suits them before buying.

"I was attracted to the category heading 'With Your Morning Coffee,'" said Christmas shopper Louise Martin of Southfield. "I listened to some of the selections just for fun and ended up buying two CDs that sounded like they would put me in a good mood every morning."

Sally Victor, marketing director at the Somerset Collection said the mall welcomed the new music store with open arms because it filled a missing merchandise link in the center's collection of unique stores.

"We already had a good working relationship with the owners, The Nature Company, so when space became available, (the Sharper Image store moved to a larger location within the center.) Hear Music came right in."

Hear Music deals almost exclusively in CDs although some cassette tapes are available. Prices start at $15.99. Right now, according to Kinsey, the latest Beatles recording is selling well along with the music of Ann Arbor balladeer Catie Curtis.

Hear Music also publishes a complimentary music guide available at the store. Inside are interviews with famous music makers who pick their favorite selections.

■ SOMERSET NORTH COURT
Although it's a well-kept secret about what retailers besides Nordstrom's and Hudson's will open at the new Somerset North in Troy in 1996, the Observer & Eccentric has learned a food court is one of the attractions planned. Somerset North is at the northeast corner of Coolidge and Big Beaver, across the street from the Somerset Collection. Sources at Somerset confirmed that a food court is in the planning stages for the new mall, however, it will be a food court to end all food courts — not the typical fast food mall eating emporium shoppers have experienced at other centers. Look for something chic, sharp, and utterly yummy.

■ REAL PEOPLE MODEL FOR JAKE'S
Jacobson's Spring '95 Career Collection Catalog will feature 35 local Real Working People not professional models, according to company spokeswoman Janice Hayes. "The 40-page fashion work book is designed to be a guide to what to wear to the real world of work," she said.

Female pols tend to favor regulating assisted suicide

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

If women legislators had their way, Michigan would lift the ban on assisted suicide and regulate it instead.

Women of both parties favored crippling amendments as the House tried in vain to pass a ban on assisted suicide that would be acceptable to the Senate.

The pattern was similar to past years' gender gaps on abortion: Men favored restrictions on abortion 3-1; women opposed them 4-1.

The Legislature adjourned after failing Dec. 14 to pass Senate Bill 1311, which would have made assisted suicide a four-year felony.

A key test came on the so-called "Wallace substitute" — a complete rewrite of the main bill. It would have allowed doctor-assisted suicide after a psychiatrist attested the patient was mentally competent, two physicians examined the patient, and a social worker had counseled the patient. It failed 36-65 with eight absent, but:

- Women favored it 19-6.
- Men voted 17 yes and 59 opposed.

Another key vote was the "Bobier amendment," which would have said removal of nutrition and hydration would not be acts of assisting a suicide. It passed 56-45. The gender breakdown:

- Women voted 22-4 in favor.
- Men voted 33 in favor and 41 against.

Republicans tended to favor banning assisted suicide. They voted 23-30 against the Bobier amendment; Democrats voted 32-15 in favor.

Lawmakers scattered quickly after the session. No one was available to comment on the latest Lansing gender gap.

The clearest indication of where House members stood came on the Wallace substitute because it wasn't cluttered with amendments.

Here is how Observer area members voted:

- YES — Lyn Bankes, R-Redford; Justine Barna, D-Westland;
- NO — William Keith, D-Garden City; Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth; Deborah Whyman, R-Canton; Richard Young, D-Dearborn Heights.

The issue finally was decided not by lawmakers but by the state Supreme Court, which made two key rulings in the middle of the House debate:

- The 1992 ban on assisted suicide was constitutional. It reversed lower courts, which held that the bill was flawed because lawmakers had a dual purpose: setting up a study commission and making assisted suicide a felony for 18 months. (That ban expired in mid-November.)

Common law was interpreted as prohibiting assisted suicide. The common-law punishments were harsher than the ones in the Legislature — five years in prison and a $10,000 fine versus four years and $2,000 in SB 1311.

The high court ruling elated Oakland County Prosecutor Richard Thompson and infuriated Jack Kevorkian's attorney, Geoffrey Fieger.

Fieger said he would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. First he must get the highest court's agreement to hear the case. It may be possible because the Michigan Supreme Court was badly splintered — seven justices wrote four opinions.

TASTE BUDDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Local gourmet shops rescue harried hosts

It never fails to happen at least once during the holidays. Somewhere, somehow, or someone misplaced that incredible recipe or ingredient for a party, and you just don't have time to search for it.

That's why, when placed between the proverbial rock and a hard place, I always remember my secret stores. These are places I can run into and get what I need, when I need it, and not end up paying an arm and a leg.

You know the kind of places I'm talking about - local merchants with plenty of check-outs and cashiers who never ask for a driver's license, two major credit cards and rights to your first born child. Those nifty little neighborhood places that don't mind looking in the back room for some mushrooms, the blue corn chips your friends love, or a long cinnamon stick for your hot buttered rum.

Helpful merchants

In Livonia, there's Chimento's. I'll go in to buy a hunk of Parmesan and walk out with $60 worth of groceries. When I'm up in Birmingham or Bloomfield, I go crazy over the gourmet food selections at the Long Lake Market. I've yet to make a stop at Northland without hopping on Northwestern Highway for a five minute ride to The Merchant of Vino in Southfield.

In Rochester there's another one of my favorite markets, Pappa Joe's. The newly opened Roadside Market in Plymouth gets my business, especially when I'm in need of fresh herbs and flowers. Heck, I've even driven to downtown Milford for a trip to Colasanti's Market and Snook's Meats.

These are independent retailers who will go out of their way to bring in nothing but the finest in produce, meat, gourmet goodies, wine and specialty foods.

If you have yet to discover them in your area, there's never been a better time to see them than now. In addition to keeping those gourmet retailers on the top of my list, I also wouldn't consider it a holiday without a visit to a GFS Marketplace. Tucked away in Westland, Farmington Hills, Rochester Hills and Troy, just to mention a few locations, the GFS Marketplaces are no-membership food service stores that allow folks like you and me to purchase what the restaurants and caterers do. For example, Rumaki lovers know the time involved in wrapping those bacon strips around tiny pieces of water chestnuts and securing it all with a toothpick. GFS Marketplace has these and other nifty hot and cold appetizers already prepared and individually quick frozen at less than what it would cost to make! Last minute entertainers will marvel at their selection of top-of-the-line gourmet desserts.

If the thought of renting serving pieces has you up in arms, you won't believe what they're making nowadays in molded plastic that again would be half the price of rentals. Just one of the many little secrets hiding at GFS Marketplace is their unbaked cookie dough - a boon to harried room moms and dads who would normally spend all night mixing ingredients, rolling and cutting cookie dough.

Choice meats

Searching for the freshest turkey, goose, or duck for that special holiday meal? Did you know that you can still see them live, smell them in all their glory and within 20 minutes, take them home all ready to roast? Al's Poultry & Seafood and Capitol Poultry down at the Eastern Market are just two of those Dickensian places where you can still find live poultry.

While down at the Market, if you ever find yourself in need of a whole suckling pig, or some of the best corned beef brisket in town, check out the helpful folks at Ronnie's Meats in the Gratiot Central Market just across the expressway from the Eastern Market. Exotic oyster and shellfish lovers will certainly appreciate the expertise of Kevin Dean and the folks at Superior Fish in Royal Oak.

I'm doing a small party for some special friends who love fresh oysters. Superior Fish will locate and fly in an assortment of Belona, Chesapeake, Olympias and Hog Island Sweetwaters, just to name a few. Ditto for live lobsters and all the paraphernalia needed to enjoy them.

FAMILY TRADITIONS SHINE BRIGHTLY ON CHRISTMAS EVE

■ Christmas Eve is filled with the magic of anticipation. It's a time for sharing hope, gratitude and good food with those we love.

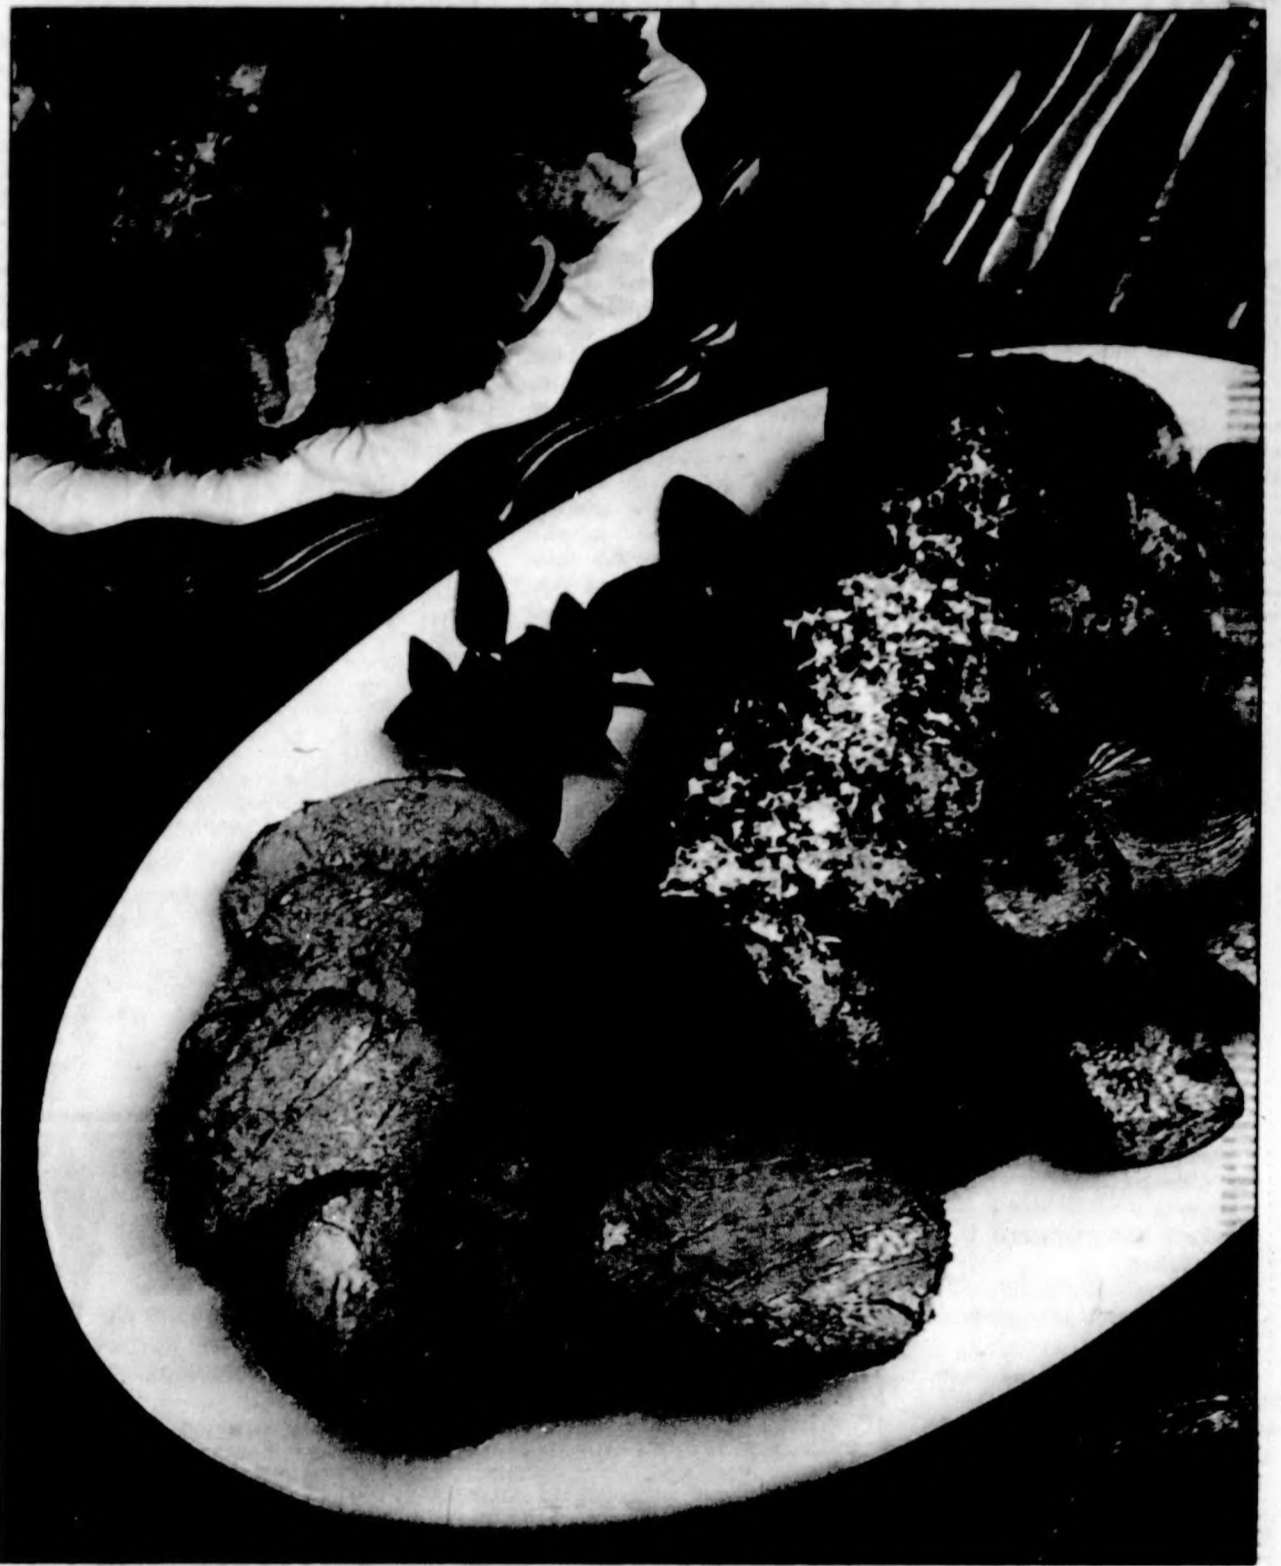

BY RENEE SKOGLUND
SPECIAL WRITER

"Twas the night before Christmas..."

And all through the house, soups are simmering, cakes are baking, and roasts are roasting in preparation for an evening of feasting with family and friends. About the only thing not on the menu are sugar plums, but those are bound to dance in the heads of sleepy children later on.

For many, Christmas Eve is the focal point of the entire holiday season. Whether a cultural or religious tradition, or simply a matter of dividing time between "his" and "her" family, celebrating Christmas Eve is filled with the magic of anticipation. "Everybody waits with hope and new adventure for the new year - a big welcome," said Alice Lozinski of Livonia who works as a nurse at St. Mary Hospital.

Lozinski immigrated from Poland in 1968, bringing with her Christmas customs from the old country. On Christmas Eve, her family, which includes husband Weldemer and children David, 22, and Diana, 26, share "Opatek," unleavened wafers of bread, which symbolize peace, with their guests. Aunts, uncles and in-laws arrive early in the evening to participate in the 12-dish Polish feast.

In keeping with tradition, no meat is served, but it's not missed. No wonder. Mushroom, fruit and poppy seed soups, sladze (herring in vinegar), pierogi made with cabbage, potatoes and poppy seed, apple and cheese cakes fill the table. And, of course there's Lozinski's glorious nut torte. "Very moist, melt-in-your-mouth," she says.

Christmas Eve remains wonderfully predictable in the Lozinski household. "First of all, before dinner you get the holy bread (Opatek) and exchange good wishes among each other. After dinner, especially when there's lots of children, you exchange presents. After that, you relax, talk and then leave the house at 11:30 p.m. for Midnight Mass."

After church, there's sneak previews of the Christmas ham. Lozinski doesn't plan on altering tradition. "My parents have done this, my grandparents, and I have done this for 27 years. My children do this."

Mary Callaghan Lynch, a Bloomfield Village resident who sings with the Michigan Opera Theatre, knows all about tradition. Growing up, she and any number of her 17 brothers and sisters participated in a family Christmas play directed by her mother, Mary Callaghan. And, being a musically inclined family, the Callaghans sang lots of carols.

"We'd all sing Silent Night by candlelight and walk upstairs. My father was choir and music director of Holy Name Church in Birmingham, and the older kids would all sing in the choir. When we came back we'd have breakfast at 1:30 or 2 a.m."

Lynch now lives with her husband, Patrick, and two children, Caitlin, 14, and Patrick,

Pop a cork, let the celebration begin!

Elegant, welcoming, celebratory, life-style enhancing, the epitome of holiday celebration and conviviality wrapped in a distinctive bottle. What is it? Champagne of course!

The one and only champagne comes exclusively from the province of the same name in France. Other countries and the United States make sparkling wine using the centuries-old, traditional champagne method (methode champenoise). Many of these products are of high quality, but cannot be considered champagne, even though some producers continue to misuse the term on the label.

Champagnes and sparkling wines come in a variety of styles. Nonvintage (NV) is a blend of wines from one year's harvest with a small percentage of reserve wines from previous harvests. It is generally aged two to three years on yeast in the bottle before being disgorged and readied for market distribution.

Vintage is a blend of wines from one harvest only. Reserve wines are not used and the vintage year can be found on the label. These wines generally age on the yeast in the bottle about four or five years in the producer's cellars.

Prestige cuvee is a special blend (cuvee) of wines from the producer's best vineyards. Generally aged for more than five years, it has top billing from any producer.

Blanc de blancs is made exclusively from chardonnay grapes in the champagne tradition.

Blanc de noirs is a blend of red grapes, pinot noir and/or pinot meunier. As a champagne, it is rarely exported, but several California producers make very good examples.

Rose is pink as the name implies. It obtains its color from the skins of pinot noir or pinot meunier grapes.

Champagne and sparkling wines have degrees of dryness (sweetness if you like). It is established by the amount of dosage (wine and cane sugar added at bottling). From very dry to sweet, the degrees are named Brut, Extra-dry, Sec and Demi-sec. While this may seem confusing, extra-dry is slightly sweet. Brut is the driest.

Champagnes reflect a style chosen by the producer. Often called

DYLANE CHAFFIN

Toast of the holidays: Light and elegant, Champagne is great with festive holiday desserts and appetizers. It's also a great accompaniment to brunch dishes.

Invite friends over for winter warming stew

"I love the seasons," said Floreen Halpern of Amariyllis Catering in Birmingham. "I live differently in each, and entertain differently as well. On Sundays in winter there is something heartening about a big pot of spaghetti sauce simmering on the stove, with enough for friends who might call for an early movie."

Here's one of Halpern's favorite Sunday dishes. She serves it with French bread and a Romaine salad made with dried cherries, walnuts, red onion rings, and raspberry salad dressing.

CHICKEN BOUILLABAISSE

- 8 tomatoes, peeled, cored, seeded and chopped
- 4 large onions, quartered
- 8 garlic cloves, crushed
- 4 fennel bulbs with feathery leaves attached, coarsely chopped, save tops for garnish
- 1/2 cup extra virgin olive oil
- 1/2 cup Pernod or other licorice flavored aperitif
- 1/2 teaspoon saffron threads
- Scant 1/4 cup fresh thyme, destemmed and chopped
- 6 bay leaves
- 8 chicken legs with thighs attached, skin removed
- 4 chicken breasts, skin removed
- 2 pounds boiling potatoes, quartered
- 1 1/2 quarts chicken stock
- Salt and coarsely ground pepper to taste

The day before you plan to serve this dish, combine all ingredients except potatoes and chicken stock in a covered casserole. Refrigerate overnight.

The next day, remove the casserole from refrigerator 1 hour before you begin to prepare the dish. Stew chicken in its marinade covered, over medium heat, for about 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Add potatoes and chicken stock and simmer until the potatoes are cooked, about 45-50 minutes. Taste for seasoning.

Remove chicken from bones, chill and defat stew before reheating and serving. Serve with fronds of fennel in warmed soup bowls. Serves 8.

house styles, they fall into three categories: delicate, medium and full. The more delicate styles generally have a higher proportion of chardonnay, while the fuller wines have a higher percentage of pinot noir and/or pinot meunier. Choosing the correct champagne style and dryness level for a particular holiday occasion can create an unforgettable mood and moment.

■ Champagne Brunch: Brut non-vintage Rose or Blanc de blancs is a great accompaniment to Eggs Benedict, cheese or mushroom omelets, waffles, French toast, lox, smoked fish and blintzes.

■ Champagne and appetizers: Both Brut and Extra-dry work for this occasion. If you're pulling out all the stops, then choose a Prestige Cuvee or Vintage Champagne. Serve with fresh oysters, caviar, shrimp, lobster, sauteed scallops or smoked salmon mousse. Jarlsberg, English farm cheddar, camembert, shaved Parmesan and fresh goat cheese make superior matches.

■ Champagnes can be served throughout a meal. A vintage or non-vintage Rose is incomparable with honey-baked ham, roast turkey or roast goose and all the trimmings from chestnut stuffing to sweet potatoes, yams and mashed potatoes with gravy.

■ For dessert to accompany apple pie, pumpkin pie, a yule log or creme brulee, choose an Extra-dry, Sec or Demi-sec non-vintage.

The year's newest entries into the sparkling wine fray are two winners: 1989 Scharffenberger Brut Rose ($18) and Mumm Cuvee Napa DVX ($25), a delicious, elegant blend of equal parts chardonnay and pinot noir from the winery's best vineyards which is excellent. Additional suggestions are made under the main style categories of delicate, medium, full or dessert.

10 in the original Lynch family estate home. (Patrick's father founded Lynch & Sons Funeral Homes, which recently purchased Schrader Funeral Home in Plymouth.)

As in years past, the entire Lynch clan will gather at the "big Lynch family home" on Christmas Eve.

"There'll be about 35 people here. That's nine children and 25 grandchildren. It's wild here, trust me," says Lynch.

As usual, the family groaning board will be laden with the culinary inspirations of siblings and their spouses. Lynch will cook the turkey. "They joke that Mary would rather sing than cook," she said. "I'm not known for my culinary expertise. Last year the big joke was how good the turkey was even though Mary cooked it." However, Lynch admits with absolute modesty it is her sister-in-law Mary Howell's potato dish that gets the most praise.

For the past several years, Susan Shelton, a Plymouth Township resident for 24 years, has done her celebrating on Christmas day. Not this year. Since she and her husband John, a former police officer, are retiring and moving to Indiana early next year, they decided to resurrect an old tradition — a big Christmas Eve dinner.

"Basically, it's a sentimental gesture since this is our last Christmas we'll spend in Plymouth with other family members. We wanted to recreate the Christmas Eve my parents had when they were alive. They hosted a dinner with the children, spouses and grandchildren. Mom always fixed a turkey and roast beef.

When daughters, Jill, 25, and Cindi, 23, their boyfriends, and a dozen other family members gather around her table on Christmas Eve, Shelton will serve a standing rib roast.

"I'm going to do something a little different. My mother cooked a more traditional standing rib, but I've decided to use a recipe I made years ago. It combined unusual ingredients. It was heavenly. Christmas Eve is a time for letting traditions shine as brightly as ornaments. It's a time for sharing hope, gratitude and good food with those we love.

Mary Callaghan Lynch summed up the reasons for coming together on this special night to eat, drink and be merry when she said, "we're very blessed." See recipes inside.

HERBED BEEF TENDERLOIN

4 pound well-trimmed beef tenderloin roast
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
Salt to taste
Seasoning:
1 teaspoon dried Italian seasoning
½ teaspoon cracked black pepper

Heat oven to 425 degrees F. Combine seasoning ingredients; press evenly into surface of beef roast. Place roast on rack in shallow roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so bulb is centered in thickest part, not resting in fat. Do not add water or cover.

Roast in 425 degree F. oven 45 to 50 minutes for medium-rare to medium doneness.

Remove roast when meat thermometer registers 140 degrees for medium-rare, 155 for medium; sprinkle cheese over top. Let roast stand 15 minutes. (Temperature will continue to rise about 5 degrees for medium-rare, 160 for medium).

Carve roast into ¼-inch to ½-inch thick slices; season with salt as desired. Makes 8 to 10 servings.
Recipe from the National Live Stock & Meat Board test kitchen.

5 or 6 potatoes, peeled and diced
½ teaspoon flour
¼ to ½ cup sour cream

Cover mushrooms with hot water and soak two hours. Drain and reserve water. Place drained mushrooms, carrots, and celery in large pot and add 8 to 10 cups of water (better to add less water at first; you can add more later as soup thickens). Bring to a boil and simmer. Add bay leaf. Cook until mushrooms, carrots and celery are soft. Add potatoes and cook until they soften and soup thickens.

Mix flour with enough water to make paste. Stir into sour cream. Add enough soup into sour cream/flour paste mixture to warm it. Slowly return mixture to soup. Add reserved mushroom water. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Recipe from Alice Lopinski.

LYNCH FAMILY POTATO CASSEROLE

2 pounds frozen hash brown potatoes, thawed
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 cup sour cream
1 can cream of chicken soup
¼ cup chopped onions
1 teaspoon salt
Topping:
1 cup corn flakes and ½ cup

melted butter, mixed
Combine all ingredients and place in greased 1½-quart rectangular casserole. Sprinkle with corn flake topping and bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Serves 6.
Recipe from Mary Howell and Mary Callaghan Lynch

HOLIDAY STANDING RIB ROAST

8 to 10 pound standing rib roast
1 medium onion, sliced thin
1 tablespoon whole cloves
1 clove garlic, cut
Cracked pepper
Burgundy wine
Have butcher remove chine bone and retire roast. Remove roast from refrigerator at least 2 hours before roasting. Preheat oven to 580 degrees. Untie roast and cover chine bone with onions and cloves. Retire roast, making sure contour of meat is maintained to protect eye of the roast during cooking.

Rub surface of meat with garlic and cracked pepper. Place meat flat side up on a rack in a shallow greased roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so that the tip is in the thickest part of the roast and not touching bone. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and roast 18 to 20 minutes per pound for medium-rare.

When done, remove roast from oven and pour two cups Burgundy on top. Let stand approximately 30-45 minutes, frequently basting with wine juices.

Just before serving, untie roast and place eye of meat on an oven-proof platter. Put back into oven to reheat. Meanwhile, strain meat juices and skim off fat. Return juices to pan. Over low heat, scrape any particles from bottom of pan to intensify flavor. Add a bit of water or additional wine if necessary. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

You may slightly thicken wine/meat juices with a bit of corn starch dissolved in small amount of cold water. However, this is not necessary.

Recipe from Susan Shelton.

Stuffing dresses up bird

As chestnuts roast on an open fire, more and more Americans are roasting juicy, fresh turkeys in their ovens. The second most popular occasion for turkey gobbling, Christmas is the perfect time to savor the succulent bird.

"Fresh turkey is a very popular menu choice for Christmas," according to Rick Chenoweth, director of sales for Shady Brook Farms, the country's third-largest supplier of fresh turkeys. "As family chefs prepare large meals for relatives and friends, they realize that fresh, whole turkey offers the variety and flavor that's sure to please everyone."

A delicious, whole turkey becomes even more special when dressed with a spectacular stuffing. While traditional bread stuffing is always tasty, why not try a mouth-wateringly distinct Garlic Cornbread and Sage Stuffing? Pleasingly pungent garlic is added to a savory cornbread recipe along with fresh sage and parsley and rich cheddar cheese. Don't be surprised if this supreme stuffing becomes a Christmas meal request year after year.

Sweet-tart and crunchy describes the seasonal and scrumptious Cranberry Apple Stuffing, the ultimate complement to fresh whole turkey. This stuffing combines crisp Granny Smith apples, tangy cranberries, chewy dried apricots and sweet raisins with crunchy pecans and a hint of cinnamon.

CRANBERRY APPLE STUFFING

- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup skim milk
- 1 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup dried apricots, chopped

Christmas turkey: The second most popular occasion for turkey gobbling, Christmas is the perfect time to savor a fresh turkey.

- 1/4 cup pecan halves
- 1/2 cup scallion tops, chopped
- 2 green apples, cored and chopped
- 1 1/2 cups fresh cranberries
- 6 cups (about 1 pound) whole wheat bread, cut into 1/2-inch cubes

In a large bowl, whisk together the eggs, milk, allspice, cinnamon, and salt. Add the remaining ingredients, stirring to mix well. Loosely stuff turkey just before roasting. Place remaining stuffing in a baking pan, cover and cook in 350 degree F oven until cooked through, about 30 minutes. Serves 12.

GARLIC CORNBREAD AND SAGE STUFFING

- 3 eggs

Allow to boil, stirring until all the hard brittle dissolves.

HOMEMADE HAZLENUT LIQUEUR

- 1 pound hazelnuts
- 2 cups vodka
- 1/2 vanilla bean
- 6 tablespoons sugar
- 3 tablespoons water

Chop the hazelnuts and combine the nuts with the vodka and the vanilla bean in a 1 quart Mason jar. Seal the jar, shake to mix and set it aside in a cool dark place for 10 days.

Strain the liquor through a coffee filter. Rinse the jar. Set aside. Combine the sugar and the water in a small saucepan. Bring to a boil, lower the heat to a simmer and stir until the sugar dissolves. Cool to room temperature.

Pour vodka mix and cooled sugar syrup into the Mason jar, seal and shake well to mix. Ready to be transferred to a decanter in about 3 days. This liqueur has a shelf life of 2-3 months. Makes about 2 cups.

HOMEMADE APPLE BUTTER

- 4 pounds McIntosh apples, stems removed and quartered

- 1/2 cup skim milk
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/2 cup fresh flat leaf parsley, chopped
- 1 1/2 teaspoons dry sage, or 1 1/2 tablespoons minced, fresh sage
- Garlic cornbread, cut in 1/2-inch cubes (cornbread recipe follows)
- 8 ounces low-fat cheddar cheese, shredded

In a large bowl, whisk the eggs, milk, garlic, salt, pepper, parsley and sage together in a large bowl. Stir in the corn bread cubes and cheese. Loosely stuff turkey just before roasting. Place remaining stuffing in a baking pan, cover and cook in 350 F oven until cooked through, about 30 minutes. Serves 12.

CASHEW BRITTLE

- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 1/4 cups coarse chopped cashews
- 1 teaspoon baking soda

Butter a cookie sheet and set aside. Combine the sugar, corn syrup and water in a large, heavy bottomed saucepan. Cook over medium low heat for about 35 minutes, stirring constantly with a metal spoon, until the mixture reaches 280 degrees F. on a candy thermometer.

While stirring, slowly add the nuts, taking care not to let the temperature drop. Quickly add the baking soda, stir twice more and pour the mixture onto a prepared cookie sheet. Spread it into a thin layer with a rubber spatula. Let the brittle cool and harden for 20 minutes, then break it into chunks. Will keep 2-3 months in an airtight container. Makes 1 1/4 pounds brittle.

Chef's Secret: Clean the pan and the spoon by returning the pan to the stove and fill with boiling water.

PLYMOUTH SPORTS SCENE

Lady Ocelots stumble

A lackluster effort cost Schoolcraft College's women's basketball team in its nonleague game at Lansing CC Wednesday.

The Lady Ocelots had a 23-21 lead at the half, but Lansing got the better of them in the second half to secure a 49-45 win.

The difference: Free-throw shooting. Lansing was perfect in the second half, converting all nine of its chances; SC was 12-of-23. For the game, Lansing was 14-of-18 at the line to the Ocelots' 18-of-35.

Megan Heslip netted 13 points to lead SC; Dawn Newlin and Amy Pietila had 12 apiece. Lansing got 16 points from Lydia Ford and 10 from Lola Joyce.

On Dec. 10, SC's trip to St. Clair College for an Eastern Conference game was disappointing; it ended in an 87-70 defeat.

The Ocelots trailed 50-35 at the half and never made a serious run at St. Clair in the second half. Megan Heslip's 15 points paced SC; Shawn Krause had nine. St. Clair was led by Alicia Kallmorgen's 21 points; Jill Schneihofer had 17.

The losses left SC at 6-4 overall, 1-1 in the conference.

Salem splits on mat

Plymouth Salem traveled to Redford Catholic Central Thursday for a double-dual meet, and the Rocks returned with a win and a loss.

The win came over Flint Ainsworth, by a 51-24 margin. Salem winners were Eric Coburn at 112-pounds (by void); Greg Mitchell at 119; Justin Viau at 126; Phil Mitchell at 134; Dan Hamblin at 142; Brian Harreld at 151; Dave Popeney at 160; Jeremy Breithaupt at 172; and Nate Morland at 275.

The Rocks weren't as successful against CC, losing 52-21. The split left Salem with a 1-2 dual-meet record.

Salem winners against CC were Greg Mitchell at 119; Viau at 126; and Phil Mitchell at 134. The Shamrocks got wins from Dave O'Hara at 100 (by void); Dario Ianni at 106; Bill Lamb at 112; Dave Gardner at 142; Kevin Griffen at 151; Scott Menoch at 160; Lucian Harbar at 172; Dan Krueger at 185; Andy Short at 215; and John Spolsky at 275.

That win and its 62-3 thrashing of Ainsworth pushed CC's record to 3-0.

Running camp

The 13th annual Buddies and Pals Girls Running Camp will run in two sessions: July 30 to Aug. 5 and Aug. 6-12. To reserve a spot, a $50 deposit is required by Jan. 1, 1995.

The camps, run by Farmington Hills Mercy track and cross country coach Gary Servais, take place at the Brighton Recreation Area. The cost of $150 covers food, room and a T-shirt. The cost is reduced to $130 if paid by March 1. A special two-week rate is offered at $225.

The camp features two workouts a day with an individual race on Saturday. There will also be guest speakers, a 3-to-1 athlete to coach ratio and two movie and pizza nights.

Other coaches working the camp are: Kevin Donner (Central Michigan), Richard Goepf (Dearborn Divine Child), Guy Murray (University of Detroit-Mercy) and Bob O'Brien (Ladywood).

For more information, call 476-2836.

Kallas meets Saban

Nick Kallas, a 1994 Redford Catholic Central graduate and a freshman defensive end on the Michigan State University football team, watched Cleveland Browns' defensive coordinator Nick Saban coach against the Dallas Cowboys on television Saturday afternoon.

On Sunday afternoon, he listened to Saban, the newly appointed MSU football coach, who came to East Lansing to meet his players.

Saban is as impressive in person as his defense was in the Browns' 19-14 victory over the Cowboys, Kallas said.

"I heard he was pretty big on discipline," Kallas said. "He spoke about character, how it's got to change. He's a pretty dominating voice."

The 6-foot-4, 245-pound Kallas was red-shirted last fall and has four years of eligibility remaining. He said one of the things Saban talked about was making improvements by "rearranging the weight room" and hiring a strength coordinator.

"I prefer a defensive-minded coach," Kallas said. "Coach Saban is real excited about what he thinks we need to improve the program."

Holiday sports camp

The Hit and Hoop Holiday Camp for children ages 6 through 15 will be held Dec. 26-29 at The Sports Academy on West 10 Mile Road in Novi. Basketball instruction will be 9 a.m. to noon each day and baseball instruction will be from 1-4 p.m. each day.

Cost for both sessions is $125. Cost for one session is $65. Mail check to The Sports Academy, 42980 West 10 Mile Road, Novi, 48376, or call (810) 390-0800 for more information and registration forms.

Anyone wishing to submit items to Sports Scene may send them to Sports Editor C.J. Risak, 20251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI, 48150, or FAX them to (810) 694-7878.

Salem middle too much for Huron

The middle two quarters spelled doom for Ann Arbor Huron Friday at Plymouth Salem.

After a close first period — the River Rats trailed by just one, 12-11 — the game turned, with the Rocks pouring it on to outpoint their opponents 41-8 in the next two quarters.

The final result: a 66-36 Salem win, boosting the Rocks' record to 3-1. Huron slipped to 1-3.

"It was a good team effort tonight," said Salem coach Bob Brodie. "Everybody who played did a good job for us. And we scored a bunch of points in the paint.

"We played real well in those two quarters, at both ends of the court."

And it was a team effort, with 10 Rocks scoring — all getting at least four points. Dan McKian led Salem with 12, and he didn't play in the second or fourth quarters. James McDonald added 11, and Doug Herriman had five points and seven assists.

Roman Roberson topped Huron

The Rocks outscored Huron 19-2 in the second quarter to take a 31-13 lead into halftime. They didn't let up in the third, bombarding the River Rats with a 22-6 surge. McKian had 10 of his points in the third.

But it was the bench effort that pleased Brodie. David Bol didn't start, but he led the Rocks with six rebounds; he also had six points.

Salem is now idle until Jan. 3, when it visits Riverview. — the Rocks first road game this season.

■ REDFORD CC 66, POWERS 66: Senior forward Mark Ridley scored 23 points and 6-6 junior forward Eric Gilbo had a trio of three-pointers and a career-high 17 points in Redford Catholic Central's victory Friday against visiting Flint Powers.

CC led by as many as eight in the final minutes, but had to settle for the two-point victory when a three-point shot at the buzzer by Powers fell short.

The Shamrocks, 4-0 overall, trailed 33-31 at halftime, but all five of their buckets in the third quarter came from three-point range as they outscored Powers 17-8 for a 47-41 lead.

Ridley, Gilbo and Richard Turk, who added 13 points, grabbed seven rebounds each.

Youth is served Young Chiefs hold on this time for win

■ A team that features just three seniors can be expected to experience growing pains, something Plymouth Canton has been battling through its first four games — with evenly mixed results.

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

Scanning the score sheet after Plymouth Canton's boys basketball game against Ann Arbor Pioneer Thursday supplied the Chiefs' first-year coach, Dan Young, with the kind of information that made him smile.

Of course, the most satisfying stat was the final score: 62-55 Canton, allowing the Chiefs to even their overall record at 2-2. The loss dropped the Pioneers to 1-2.

But there was more. "This," said Young, pointing, "is the key. I told the guys if we can keep our turnovers under 15, well, that's our goal."

They did just that against Pioneer, committing 12 turnovers. In their previous three games, mistakes — particularly down the stretch — had been costly for Canton.

This game followed the usual pattern for the Chiefs, but they were able to overcome some of the errors and sustain their effort longer.

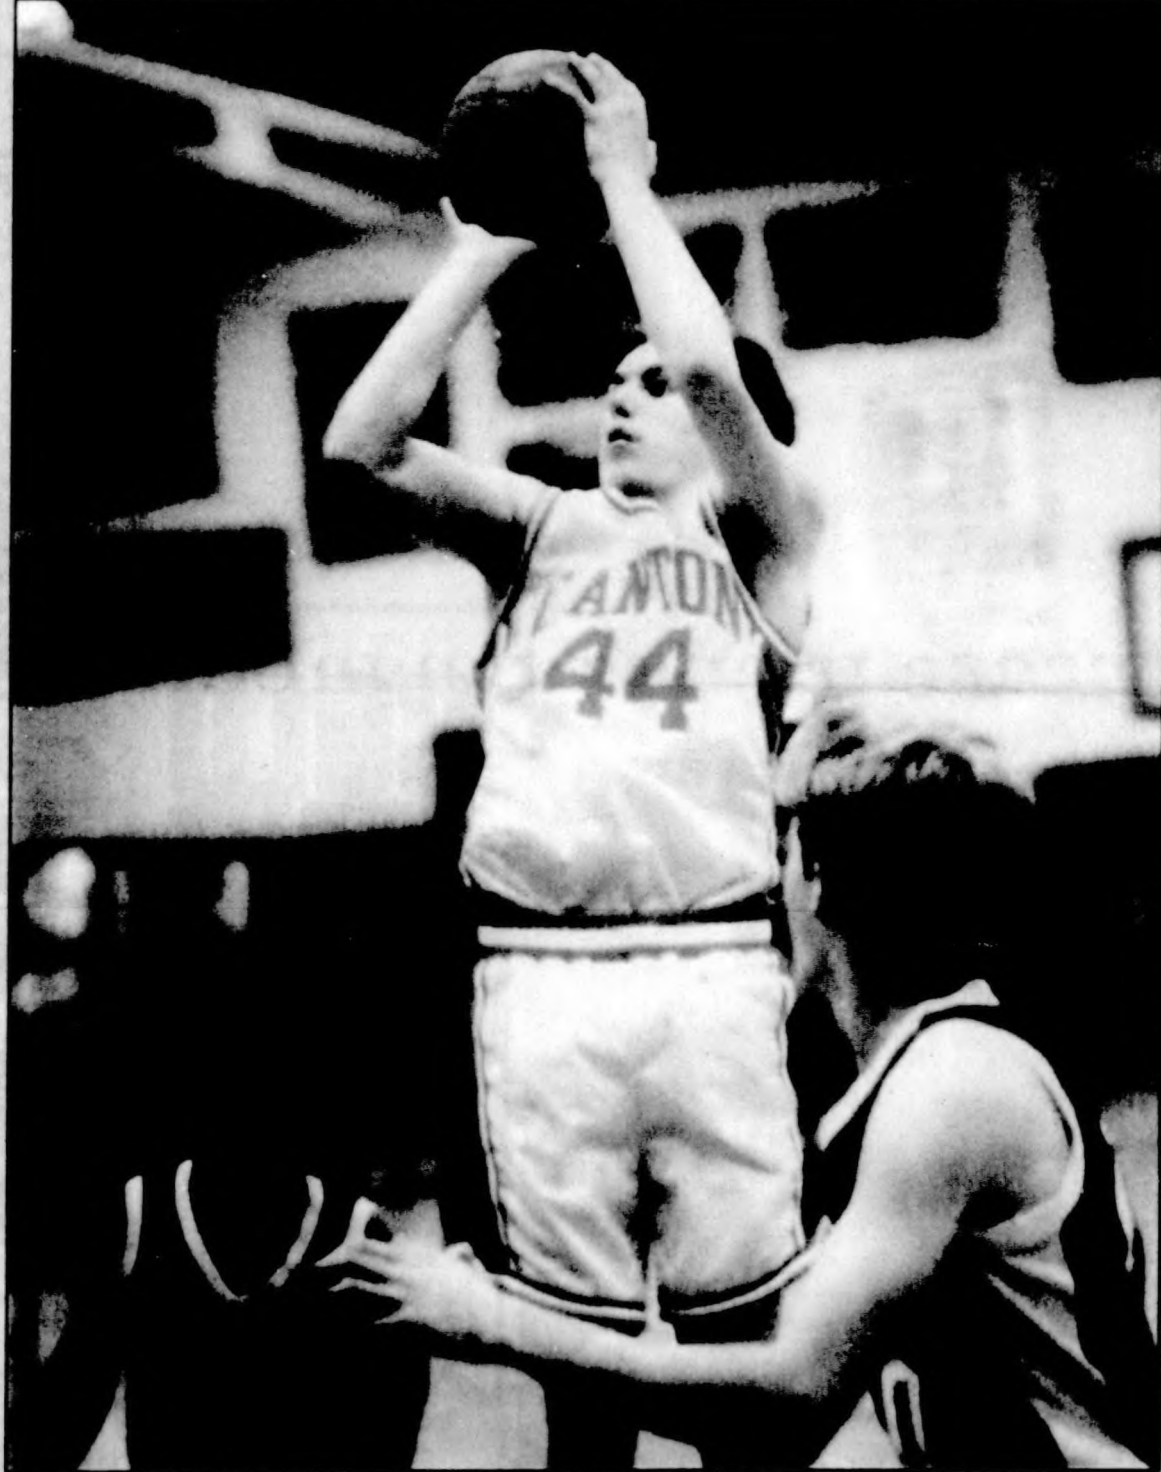

One thing is certain: If an opponent ever has to defend against the kind of ability Canton displayed in the first quarter for an entire game, they will end up feeling very much like a land-slide victim.

The Chiefs connected on nine of their first 10 shots from the floor, allowing them to go ahead 20-9 with 2:43 still left in the first quarter. The only shot they missed, they rebounded and scored. And they had just one turnover in the first quarter.

But, as is their wont, the Chiefs let down defensively. The Pioneers closed the opening quarter with a 7-2 run to narrow the gap to 22-16.

The format was very much the same in the second period — Canton opened with eight-straight points to go up 30-16, then scored just one basket in the final 6:05 of the half as Pioneer pulled to within 32-24.

By the midpoint of the third quarter, Canton had a 40-27 lead. If not for a pair of Brandon Hartke baskets from in the paint in the last 1:10 of the period, Canton's lead would have been within striking distance of the Pioneers entering the fourth.

As it was, the Chiefs carried a 46-35 advantage into the final eight minutes. Pioneer didn't want to slice into that cushion; an 11-2 run following Ron Hunter's quarter-opening basket pulled the Pioneers to within 50-46 with four minutes left.

This was the time of the game that most concerned Young. The Chiefs had a tendency to let down late, which they did in losses to Wayne Memorial and Monroe. Turnovers down the stretch played a big part in both defeats.

But not this time. As soon as the Pioneers came close, Canton answered — with eight consecutive points. In the last four minutes of the game, Hartke scored six of his

It's no psych job: Rocks look very tough

BY C.J. RISAK

The start of the 1994-96 season was an inauspicious one for Plymouth Salem's volleyball team.

But don't take that 3-2 showing at the Madonna University Invitational Dec. 10 as a sign of weakness. The Rocks figure to be the power within Observerland.

What else can one call a team that lost just one player (Jamey Viau) on a 36-7-6 squad? And this is a team that rolled through the Western Lakes Activities Association 11-match schedule last year with nary a loss.

"This is what you work for," said Allie Suffety, Salem's co-coach with Brian Gibbs. "To have a team with a lot of returning players who have come up through your program and who have had some success."

VOLLEYBALL

Certainly Salem will be wearing a bull's eye throughout the season, earned by being the team to beat. The Rocks' strength will still be in the middle, with 5-foot-10 senior Paula Dombrowski and 5-11 junior Shelly Sills at middle blocker.

"That's where our offense is based," said Suffety. "If we have to depend on going to the outside too much, we'll be in trouble."

That's not to say Salem is weak at outside hitter. Not with Karen Gundry, a 5-8 senior co-captain; Kelly Johnston, a 5-7 senior; Courtney Sheldon, a 5-8 senior; Lisa Barce, a 5-6 senior; Kim Shelden, a 5-8 junior; Nicole Van Hoes, a 5-10 junior; Kim Dunn, a 5-8 junior; and Karissa Soela, a 5-8 junior.

Most have experience on the varsity, which not only makes Salem formidable but more than adequate in depth, too.

"We definitely have the ability to go to our bench," said Suffety. "Our depth is good, and that's a real positive."

Erin Koch, a 5-6 senior, returns at setter. "She's worked real hard at being a floor leader, as well," said Suffety.

Senior co-captain Julie McCurrin (5-4) leads the defensive corps. JoEllen Carlucci, a 5-6 senior, and Karen Springsteen, a 5-4 junior, back up Koch at setter.

"This team is only going to get better," said Suffety, providing a major reason why by explaining

Observerland rollers sparkle at Stroh's tourney

TEN-PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

It's no secret the Observer & Eccentric communities contain some of the top bowlers in Michigan.

That became clearly evident over the weekend as many of the "elite" competitors took part in the fifth annual Stroh's Beer Michigan Majors Bowling Association Tournament of Champions.

It all took place at the Thunderbowl Arena, and sixty of the MMBA champions vied against one another for the honors and the cash prizes.

Of the 60 bowlers, 10 were from our cities and they were led by Garden City and Farmington Hills with four each.

The Garden City contingent consisted of hall of famer Larry Walker, who is 9th in MMBA career earnings, has four MMBA championships, twice been named to Team USA and bowled seven perfect games. Troy Stus, who has three MMBA titles, 11 300 games and more than $10,000 in MMBA earnings. Rick Eiermann, with four MMBA titles, 10 300 games, more than $11,000 in MMBA prize monies and Ryan Wilson, who has nine perfect games, one MMBA title and $6,000 in career winnings.

From Farmington Hills were Fred Vitall, a Detroit Association hall of famer with three MMBA titles and numerous other honors including state All-Events, and has bowled five perfect games; Lee Snow, the current MMBA president with more than $15,000 in earnings, two championships, the 1993 title at the Peterson Classic and 14 perfect games to his credit; Lou O'Neal with nine 300 games, one MMBA title and more than $5,000 in career winnings; Jack Treolar Sr., with four MMBA titles, more than $5,000 earned in MMBA competition, three times named Detroit All-City Team and one perfect game; a past President of MMBA.

Redford Township was equally well represented with Tony Stipcak, winner of two titles and over $12,000 in MMBA events. He has had six 300 games. Another Redford resident, Terrell Smith, has one title, three 300 games and $2,400 in MMBA cash. Another from Redford who would have qualified easily was Larry Franz who was recently elected to the MMBA hall-of-fame.

He could not be present for the Championships Tournament.

The City of Westland was well represented by Garrett Nagle who has two championships, two 300 games, earnings of $5,700 and recently was awarded the Bob Garrett Sportsmanship award.

After the first day of qualifying rounds, the field was pared to the top 10 for the televised finals on Sunday. Troy Stus of Garden City was the new champion-of-champions, following in the footsteps of his father, Gene Stus, who won this tournament a year ago.

It was a repeat performance for Troy as he also won the inaugural of this event in 1990.

Of the 516 current members of the MMBA, there are many more from the O&E cities, who are all top notch competitors, such as first Vice President Dan Ottman of Troy, Doug Spicer of West Bloomfield, Paul Hutchinson and D.J. Hochstein of Garden City, Jon Reed of Redford and Ken Kosciak of Canton, among the top 40 money winners.

Walker came in sixth, good for $425.00 to add to his total, raising his total to more than $18,000 for his career.

For those who have PASS cable TV, this event will be aired at 4 p.m. Jan. 1 and again at 4 p.m. Jan. 29. Many of these same bowlers also compete in the Turbo 2 'n 1 Grips All-Star Traveling Classic, which will be holding forth at Wonderland Lanes in Livonia at 9:30 p.m. Thursday, December 22.

To those fans who would like to come on down and watch these players in action, Ken Bashara says, "You are all very welcome to come on in."

Small in stature, Chiefs still figure to be competitive

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

Among the leaders on the List of Coaches' Cliches is: Offense looks good but defense wins.

Plymouth Canton volleyball coach Melinda Cain plans to make that idea functional.

"We've got a very small team, but we've got a lot of girls with heart," Cain said. "We've got a good defensive team, a team that passes real well. If they can get the ball over the net and can keep digging it up and keep the ball in play, they can wear down the other team."

The Chiefs have lost just three players from last season, but they were all major contributors: Ndu Okwumabua, who is part of the University of Michigan's track team; Janet Zabivnik, who started for Schoolcraft College; and Shawn Chaplin.

Still, several experienced players return. Problem is, the tallest is senior Laura Logsdon at 5-foot-10. Next biggest is junior Beth Ostach at 5-9, followed by junior Kristie Drinkhahn and sophomore Jessica Orleman at 5-8.

But the Chiefs will cause opponents more than a few problems. Cain has switched the offense from a 6-2 (with two setters) to a 5-1, with junior Amber Wells serving as the primary setter. Senior Katie Ray, who set with Wells last season, has switched to a defensive specialist.

One vast area of improvement for Canton should benefit the offense. "Our serving will help us out a lot, keeping the other team on the run," said Cain. "We're much improved from last year, much more accurate."

And although Cain admitted her team lacks the "big power hitters" up front, "we're still pretty good."

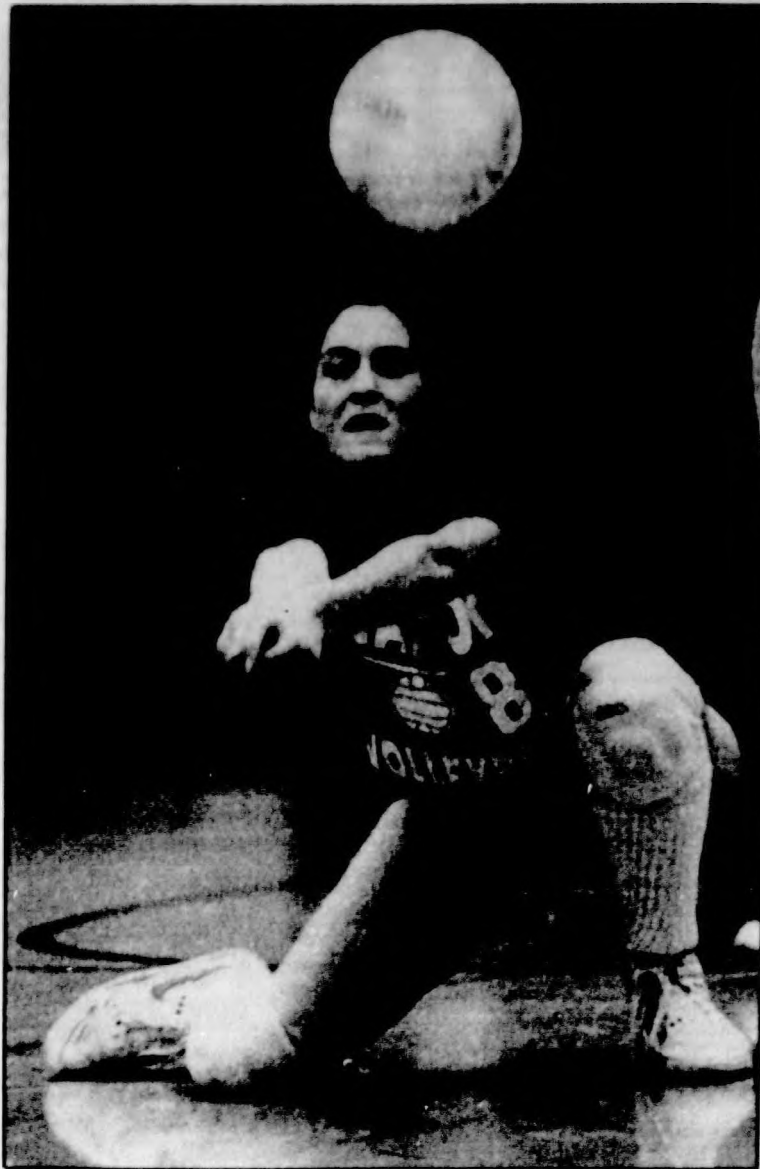

Ostach, Logsdon, Drinkhahn and Orleman will be the primary hitters, and Cain noted that both Ostach and Logsdon are sound blockers. "Laura gets a hand on everything," she said of Logsdon.

Amy Price, a 5-6 senior, will help up front and just about everywhere else. "She's one of our primary passers, a great defensive player, and real quick," said Cain.

The back row, the defense Cain will rely upon to keep her team in the game, will feature Ray, senior Michelle Moreno and sophomores Nicole Kovachevich and Jenny Sikora. Ann Alioto, a junior who missed last season after shoulder surgery, will back up Wells at setter.

The Chiefs put their abilities on display in their opener last Wednesday at Ann Arbor Huron. They won the hard-fought best-of-five match, 15-5, 16-14, 13-15, 15-12.

"We're looking forward to a good year," said Cain. How good? "Right now, our goal is to be .500. "We need to be strong defensively. We can't let the ball hit the ground on our side. We have to keep everything up and hope our serving and hitting comes through for us.

"The key will be our defense and serve reception."

The Chiefs visited the Allen Park Invitational last Saturday and are now idle until mid-January.

his greatest concern. "The key thing is the mental aspect of the game."

"We can't let errors get us down too much," Suffety continued. "We can never be too high and we can never be too low. What we want to avoid is stringing too many errors together."

There were a pair of situations last season when Salem's lack of maturity was evident to Suffety: In the WCAA Tournament, in which the Rocks were eliminated in pool play; and at the state regional tournament, in which they were beaten by Farmington Hills Mercy.

"Those are two situations a more mature team handles," he said. "A mature team won't be peaking all year, but when they want to turn it on they can turn it on."

Suffety believes the Rocks' improved maturity will allow them to stay focused. That, too, was a problem at times last year: Salem would take a lead, let up and lose its focus, and end up losing.

"This team takes winning seriously," he said.

At Madonna, Salem opened the 10-team tournament (five teams in each pool) against the toughest team in the field — Temperance-Bedford. The Rocks lost, 15-8, 15-6.

They rallied to win the rest of their pool matches, beating Parchment 15-2, 15-11; Livonia Clarenceville, 15-5, 15-10; and Birmingham Groves, 15-10, 15-6, qualifying for the semifinals. Salem was eliminated from the tournament in the semis by Kalamazoo Central, 15-12, 15-9.

Dombrowski led the Rock attackers with 29 kills. Sills had 27, with 15 solo blocks and four block assists. Johnston also had 27 kills, with 17 digs, and McGurrin contributed 20 digs and 15 service aces. Gundry had 20 digs, and Koch had 77 assists-to-kills before leaving in the first game against Central with a shoulder injury. Kim Sheldon also had 19 digs.

It was a good, if not stupendous, start for Salem — just the kind Suffety hoped for. "We want this team to peak at the right time," he said.

game-high 18 points.

"Hartke got some good shots inside," said Young. "We just have to continue to play, to keep moving the ball. We took good shots, I thought."

Canton's shooting was respectable: 28-of-58 (48.3 percent) to Pioneer's 24-of-55 (43.6 percent). The Chiefs also forced six more turnovers than they committed.

Three others joined Hartke in double figures in scoring for Canton: Ron Hunter and Ted Docks, with 14 apiece, and Matt Ammons with 11. Hunter had eight rebounds and Hartke seven, while Docks grabbed five boards and dished out nine assists.

For Pioneer, Caldinji Ethington had 18 points and seven boards and Edgar Burch totaled 13 points, six assists and three steals.

HOROSCOPE

By C. C. Clark

Aries (March 21 - April 20)
Someone very wise will give you good counsel, and you should listen carefully. The results of your hard work will be much better than expected.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)
You are feeling despondent and will tend to turn inward, but this is no time to do so. You have wonderful talents, put them to use.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)
You are satisfied with many aspects of your life but are still searching for purpose. There is a possibility of added income of some kind.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)
Your hard work will finally be rewarded. There is a possibility you may find some type of group or club with interests much like yours.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)
Your plans are not working out quite as expected, and that is unacceptable for the roaring lion. This period of bad luck will soon end.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)
If you are feeling jealous of someone it may be a good idea to take a closer look at why. Are you insecure? You will soon be recognized.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
A very stubborn person may be standing in the way of your success. It is time to find a new and positive way to deal with the situation.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)
See the writing on the wall and do what is necessary. Hanging on to the past will only make everything worse for all involved.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)
You may have to give a little information in order to get some. Don't let stress get you down - get out and have some fun.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)
You must have courage and faith if you wish to succeed. Keep your mind on what is most important. You may have to prioritize.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
It would be wise to contemplate past mistakes and put everything in perspective. All is not lost, just a little misplaced.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)
A clever person may be trying to unload his/her burdens on you. You could be headed in the wrong direction. Stop and take a look around.

HIGHLIGHTS

Shari Lewis and Lamb Chop are profiled in a special Biography, premiering Tuesday, Dec. 20, on A&E.

Lewis, a famous ventriloquist, has had a long and successful career, earning nine Emmy awards along the way. In this special look at her career, family, friends and colleagues share memorable moments and highlight contributions Lewis has made through her puppetry.

Two other cloth friends of Lewis are introduced as well. Charlie Horse and Hush Puppy.

Major Reasons To Clean Your Air Ducts.

- 1 Children are more likely than adults to be affected by polluted indoor air. They breathe faster, inhale more air per unit of body weight and are closer to the ground where concentrations are higher.
- 2 The elderly, asthmatics and people with breathing problems, allergies and lung diseases are likely to be more sensitive to pollutants.
- 3 Indoor air has been found to be up to 70 times more polluted than outdoor air.
- 4 1 out of 6 people who suffer from allergies do so as a direct result of the fungi and bacteria in air duct systems.
- 5 50% of all illnesses are either caused or aggravated by polluted indoor air.
- 6 Legionnaire's Disease was spawned in air conditioning ducts. It killed 20 people in 1976. (ALA, American Lung Association)

David Foster benefit concert packed with popular artists

B AMY HIBBERT

The Christmas season is a time for giving to others, so it is appropriate to schedule a benefit performance during the holidays.

On Thursday, Dec 22, CBC presents David Foster & Friends: For the Children, a telecast of a concert to raise money for the David Foster Foundation.

"(The foundation) is in its ninth year and it is in support of children's organ transplants," producer Carol Reynolds explains.

The holiday benefit concert features performances by Celine Dion, Kenny G and Paul Anka, with Ed McMahon as the master of ceremonies.

"All the major talent is donating its services," Reynolds says. "Celine, David, Kenny G., Paul and Ed McMahon are donating their services and their time to the charity and waiving their fees."

Dion says she is pleased with the opportunity to perform for such an important cause. She not only performs some of her own work, but also gets into the holiday mood through music.

"I'll be singing a Christmas song with David Foster that we recorded together," Dion comments. "It's going to be a great pleasure to be sharing the same stage with him."

Foster started the foundation after a visit with a family whose daughter was having an organ transplant.

He found out the operation was a success, but it had been difficult for the family to be with their daughter during this time, due to costs.

The foundation raises the money to keep the family with the patient throughout the entire procedure.

Reynolds is excited about this fund-raiser for the foundation.

"For nine years, (Foster) has helped more than 70 families be with the children when they are having the transplants," Reynolds says. "He's raised more than a million dollars."

For the first eight years of the foundation's existence, Foster put together the David Foster Foundation Softball Celebrity Tournament. Many celebrities have participated in this event and attended the small dinner concert afterwards.

"This year, he decided instead of having the softball tournament he would go to a 5,000-seat arena called the Memorial Arena in Victoria, open the doors to the general public and stage this incredible performance," Reynolds comments.

Besides staging a different type of fund-raiser, Foster also has decided to film it for television.

"There have been news crews that have come in and taken all of this wonderful news footage shots of the celebrities at the softball tournament," Reynolds says, "but this will be the first time for television."

"We are just lucky enough to be able to go in there and shoot it for television so that we can share it with all of Canada."

Reynolds says she believes this concert will reach many and help the foundation, especially with the airing time of the show.

"We are doing this at a very special time of year, the time of giving," she comments, "so when it goes on the air Dec. 22, people are thinking about giving, and the real spirit of Christmas will be there in the show."

The telecast of the concert is preceded by a three-minute mini-documentary describing and explaining the reason for the foundation.

"This is a very important message that David and we want to get out to the audience, and that is - All of these children are in need and there is a lot of hope there," Reynolds says. "But, we all do not think about something very precious that we have and that we can give. A lot of us don't stop and think about something that we can do to help these kids without actually going to our checkbook and writing a check."

"So the message really is we all can participate and we can all give, and give these children the hope and the second chance at life."

Arete Awards to honor courageous athletes

BY JEFF PLASS

ABC Sports' Jack Whitaker and others honor courageous athletes who have faced adversity in the fifth annual Arete Awards for Courage in Sports Sunday, Dec. 24 on ESPN.

Some of the guests include Chicago White Sox's Frank Thomas, NBC Sports' Ahmad Rashad and former Olympic Dream Team coach Chuck Daly. Henry Aaron and potential Arete Award winner Monica Seles.

Whitaker summarizes the concept behind the program: "The athletes honored have exhibited great courage in pursuit of their goals. They have known no limits, because they refuse to acknowledge limitations. Their triumphs will energize your spirit."

Last year's Arete Awards recipients include Justin Heistein (Junior Division), a 17-year old hockey player who suffered near fatal head injuries, Pittsburgh Penguins' star Mario Lemieux (Professional), who battled Jay Thomas and Annie Potts play a combative couple in Love & War, Mondays on CBS.

Hodgkin's disease, and Hank Dekker (Senior), the first blind person ever to sail from San Francisco to Hawaii.

The special's co-founder and event chairman, CBS Golf analyst Ken Venturi, says award winners reflect the concept of Arete - the ancient Greek term for "the pinnacle of human performance in its purist form, the pursuit of excellence through perseverance, goodness, valor, nobility and virtue."

HIGHLIGHTS

Mickey Mouse, Disney's famous rodent, leads an all-star cast of animated animals in Mickey's Christmas Carol, based on Charles Dickens' acclaimed tale. It airs Thursday, Dec. 22, on CBS.

The well-known tale of Ebenezer Scrooge is seen in a different light through the eyes of Disney. Mickey stars as Bob Cratchit, the overworked and underpaid employee of Scrooge.

Other cartoon favorites featured in this production include Goofy, Jimmy Cricket and Donald Duck.

SOAP WORLD

Ward has new look, enjoys role on B&B

BY CANDACE HAVENS

It's been an interesting year for Maitland Ward, to say the least. She won the role of Jessica on the No. 1 soap in the world, The Bold and the Beautiful, and, thanks to the show, she has a new look from celebrity hairstylist Jose Eber. And it is her senior year in high school.

"Everything is so exciting right now," Ward says. "If I stop and think about it, it all seems kind of crazy, but I love it." She says she is having the time of her life working on the show. "Everyone is so wonderful. It has been great."

Jessica now is involved in a controversial story line with Dylan, played by Dylan Neal. Jessica's aunt and uncle have filed charges against Dylan for statutory rape, which mortifies Jessica because she consented to make love with him.

"I think that Stephanie (Susan Flannery) and Eric (John McCook) have really overreacted," Ward says. "But I also think that Jessica and Dylan have gotten in a little over their heads."

The young actress says she was as surprised as anyone when she first read that Dylan and Jessica were going to make love.

"I was like, 'Wow, where did this come from?' and I was a little nervous. But Dylan (Neal) was really sweet, and he helped me through the love scenes."

B&B is Ward's first TV show, and she says the cast of the show has been great in helping her learn what to do.

"Susan Flannery has helped me so much. From my first day on the show she has shown me the ropes. I can't think of anyone more wonderful to learn from."

While this is her first time to act on a soap opera, Maitland says she was very familiar with the genre. "I started watching As the World Turns and The Young and the Restless when I was about 9. Later on I started watching Days of Our Lives. I had actually seen the first episode of B&B."

Ward says her family helps her keep her feet on the ground.

"My parents are very proud of what I do. My mom is beaming. But at the same time she keeps me grounded."
