Abatement cut sparks outcry

A business owner is concerned with township officials' trend toward cutting back on requests for tax breaks. He believes businesses will look elsewhere to do business.

By KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth Township trustees who are scaling down business requests for tax abatements could end up driving business away, says one township business owner.

Tom Mullen, owner of ENT EDM Inc. at 47689 Anchor Court, appeared before trustees June 27, seeking a 50 percent tax break for 12 years on some new machinery he's buying for his business.

After he presented his application to trustees they voted instead to give him a four year abatement.

"It's an insult," Mullen said after the meeting, citing some 12 year abatements recently granted to other businesses.

While trustees under former Supervisor Maurice Breen freely offered the full abatements available under state law to businesses coming to the township or seeking to expand, several new trustees were elected to the board in November 1992.

A majority of trustees put together new criteria for granting tax abatements. In several instances they've opted to grant them for terms less than the maximum 12 years.

After the trustees' vote, Mullen asked why his request was scaled back. Trustee Charles Curmi said firms in Michigan were now helped by a 25 percent cut in taxes due to passage of Proposal A, and that Mullen's four year abatement combined with help from Proposal A added up to an eight year abatement.

"I think it's unfair," Mullen told trustees. "For every tax that goes down there's two that go up," he said.

"I feel like a patient with a pre-existing condition and my insurance just got cut in half," he added.

That hurts

Struck by lightning: Lester Brummett of Plymouth was treated for a burn on his arm Wednesday after he was struck by lightning while washing dishes in his kitchen.

Man stunned when lightning strikes

By KEVIN BROWN

Lightning struck the kitchen of Lester Brummett, 54, of Westland, at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday night.

"I was in the kitchen sink in Woodward Avenue, getting dinner ready through the window screen and took form on the arm," Brummett said.

Lester E. Brummett, a 20-year resident of Plymouth, said it happened just after 10 p.m.

It was at the end of the storm. As Brummett dried dishes and lightning went through the screen and hit me,

I was standing on the side of my arm and went out the other side," Brummett said.

The lightning was from a single bolt that hit the window screen and caused a 10-degree burn.

There was instant agony and it knocked me down. It hurt bad. I was scared, he said.

Present at the house he shares with his sister were his fiancée and a niece they called an ambulance.

The paramedics came, they took me to the hospital. They wanted to do a skin graft to make sure there was no scarring. I refused," he added.

He spent several hours in Westland Hospital.

The doctor said that because of the lightning bolt, he had to cut off his hands. His hands were partially split. The doctor had to cut like a straight edge to get through the body tissue.

I feel like I'm blind, he said.

When Brummett left the hospital, he permanent scar on his arm from the lightning strike. He was too afraid to return to the hill again for fear of another strike.

He was able to make a new one when he got home. He doesn't know if he'll ever be able to use his hands again.

Brummett's wife, Linda, 51, of Plymouth, was shocked when she heard the news.

"I thought he was going to die," she said. "We were so scared. We were so scared."

Brummett's mother, Anna, 78, of Livonia, was also shocked.

"I feel like I'm blind," she said.

Sledders to enjoy park improvements

By KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Here's a cool thought for July: a better, safer sledding hill is being planned for Plymouth Township Park this winter.

Before township trustees June 27, Public Services Director Jim Anulewicz detailed plans for the improved sled hill.

For a spell last winter, township officials banned sledding at the hill citing safety factors.

A group of parents then came forward and volunteered to watch over sledders on weekends, and sledding resumed until unseasonably warm weather melted the snow in February.

Plans to revamp the sledding hill have been shown to residents along with an updated master plan to improve the park.

We did a more definitive analysis of how the design would work, Anulewicz said.

We reached a conclusion to eliminate parking in the southeast corner, and put the sledding hill on a diagonal running from the northwest to the southeast and cap it out, so that it would self-contain the sledders to a greater degree than what was happening before.

Planners are also increasing the initial slope of the sled run, so you would get that quick thrust sensation similar to a slide, then straight out, Anulewicz said.

Sledders will then continue up a slope. That will slow people down so we don't have to depend on artificial snow banks to slow the individuals, he said.

The diagonal gives us a longer run, Anulewicz said, adding, It's much better from a safety standpoint.

The board of trustees authorized engineering firm Dietrich and Bailey to do engineering drawings of the hill and go out for bids.

We'll get that grading done this year, we'll have fall seeding and be ready for next winter, Anulewicz said.

He estimated the cost of the hill grading at $135,000-$140,000.

At least 100 homes and businesses in the area around the intersection of Main Street and Atlantic Avenue in Plymouth were without power for about two hours Tuesday evening.

According to the Michigan Department of Environment, Energy and Natural Resources, the power outage was caused by a tree branch that fell onto a utility line.

The utility company, Consumers Energy, was called to the scene at approximately 7:30 p.m. and had the power restored by 9:30 p.m.

Work included digging up the street, removing the old sewer line and replacing it with a new plastic liner.

Retiree will miss teaching, coaching

Baby boomers find collectibles

By KEVIN BROWN

Old Village's newest antique business emphasizes baby boomer nostalgia and features a small coffee soda counter.

"They want a glass of beer," owner Gary Sudick says as customer on a warm afternoon.

He named the Robin's Nest Antiques Mall, 640 Stark weather for wife Robin. Shop hours are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Several Old Village businesses offered gift certificates used as door prizes in the mall's grand opening June 24. A Dixieland band also greeted customers. 50 door prizes were given away, and some classic cars were featured, including a Ford automobile and Ambassador Joe Kennedy's 1948 Chrysler limo.

include a Beatles "Flip Your Wig" board game, a Patty Duke board game, Gene Autry guitar, an arsenal of cap guns and lots more.

Sudick stresses a personal approach with customers. "A lot of people go into antique stores and they don't get off their butt, they don't let you know what you're buying," he said.

He's finding that people of the baby boomer generation are getting more interested in collecting pieces of their past.

"Baby boomers are buying back their own childhood we've never grown up," he said.

He also plans events for the store, including a book signing July 8 by Timothy O'Callaghan of Plymouth, author of "Henry Ford's Air Port."

Classic cars will also be featured that Saturday.

Tonda Elementary School in Canton has been chosen as one of only five schools in the nation to participate in an environmental education project being funded by the U.S. Department of Education.

The Teacher Enhancement in Environmental Education project will assist teachers and students in their efforts to restore its natural state a Rouge River tributary that flows near Tonda.

Teachers Ron Myers and Marlene Baker are invited this summer to Cambridge, Mass., on the federal grant. They will participate in a two week environmental training program associated with Harvard University. Myers and Baker will then serve as teacher representatives in the district and ultimately at least seven other Plymouth-Canton teachers will be involved. Tonda is requesting in-kind funds from the district.

"We didn't apply, we were called and asked mainly because of our involvement with the Rouge River cleanup project," said Myers, who with his students has helped rescue the Rouge for the past six years.

"They contacted us and asked if we'd be willing to participate in this grant. We are very enthusiastic about it and we are the people at Tonda."

That goes for students, too, several of whom accompanied Myers to a Great Lakes summit in Buffalo, N.Y., recently. This was the first time from Michigan at the seminar attended by teachers and students from New York, Ohio and Ontario.

Landy "Molasses goes right down to the bottom. If we had bottom feeding fish, they would probably die."

Student Pat Moran said species can become extinct from feeding in polluted waters. "When fish die, plants can't even grow. It really makes the stream die." Students also conducted pH and oxygen tests, and observed the velocity and clarity of their stream.

The journey to Buffalo included a side trip to Niagara Falls and vineyards. "We saw how they grow grapes," said student Ben Brockschmidt.

Closer to home, students took part in the Rouge River cleanup in May. Tonda students removed from the river tires, garbage cans, steel drums, batteries, cans and even carpet and an eight foot nose.

President of the Township's Boyscouts Zestrosa Post 112 of the American Legion recently elected and installed its officers for Legion Year 1995.

Lowell parents file complaint on alleged civil rights violation

Mr. Arley said he asked Stone what the reason for the meeting was. She said, "I'm here to apologize." Arley said, "I wasn't going to accept her apology because she was over there to apologize for something she didn't do anything."

The boys said they were told by Stone that they'd have to wait outside for the meeting to end. When they arrived at Westwood Gym, they asked what happened. Hence, Ross' mother, one of the students, said she asked to speak with Stone.

I tried to get it, I would speak up for them as long as they told me the truth and assured me that they weren't badmouthing, swearing or being obnoxious. I thought it sounded pretty unfair," said Ross, adding that the temperature was 28 degrees that evening.

I asked Mrs. Stone why they had to leave and she said it was because they were being rude and disruptive. She also said they hadn't signed in. I asked if all the visitors in the gym had signed in and she said no but that they wanted the Lowell students to. She threatened to call the police.

The incident prompted a series of letters and meetings.

In a letter to Penman, Tattan said he'd conducted an investigation with Stone and Owens.

They indicated that the decision to remove the students was made because the students involved were found in the hallway in an academic area a second time after being told to remain in the gym for the basketball contest, said Tattan. County planning $80-million building program

BY RALPH R. ECHINAW
STAFF WRITER

Wayne County Executive Ed Ward McNamara plans to borrow up to $80 million for several building projects, including construction of a $30 million juvenile detention facility and the purchase of the county government headquarters building.

Construction of the juvenile hall should begin in the fall, said chief financial officer Tom Naughton. It will replace the dilapidated existing 101,000 square foot detention facility, which was built in 1960 and suffers from overcrowding.

A U.S. Department of Justice investigation of the youth home, located in Detroit, was conducted in 1994. Federal authorities released a report in December with accounts of physical abuse, over crowding and food containing worms, roaches and rocks.

The new youth home will be built because the Justice Department has threatened to sue Wayne County if the problems it discovered are not addressed.

Naughton estimates that the county building at 600 Randolph in Detroit can be purchased for $20 million from the Wayne County Building Limited Partnership. That would save county property owners about $750,000 per year that they are paying to rent the building.

Other planned improvements include:

- $1.4 million for a new elevator in Detroit Recorder's Court.

McCOTTER: "They shouldn't have to borrow $80 million to do these things."

PATTERSON: "This is as offensive as it can be, a very slick means by which you can avoid going to the people."

PLAWECKI: "I wasn't going to put the general fund at risk."

Complex.

■ $6 million to provide matching funds for state and federal grants that could be used to make improvements to county parks.

Naughton said the bonds will probably be issued in two series, one this summer and another in 1996. Naughton expects to get 30-year, 7-percent bonds. Building the new youth home is the highest priority item, he said.

The County Commission voted 8-5 on June 15 to approve a "notice of intention" to bond for up to $80 million.

This means that the bonds may now be sold without putting the proposal to the voters unless someone gets 15,000 signatures on a petition by Aug. 8. Three of the four Observer-area commissioners voted against the notice of intention.

The commissioners are Bruce Patterson, R-Canton Township; Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, who also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township; and Michelle Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, who also represents Redford Township and Livonia east of Middlebelt.

Commission Vice Chair Kay

Beard, D-Westland, who also represents Garden City, voted yes.

Patterson said that bypassing voters in this manner "is as offensive as it can be, a very slick means by which you can avoid going to the people."

McCotter hammered on a theme he has emphasized since 1992, when he was first elected commissioner. "County government has over-extended itself beyond what it can realistically and necessarily accomplish, and all services suffer as a result," he said. And besides, "they shouldn't have to borrow $80 million to do these things."

Plawecki said she opposes the borrowing because no one knows if voters will approve the renewal of a 1-mill property tax next year that pays for the operation of the Hamtramck jail. "I wasn't going to put the general fund at risk," she said. However, she adds, "if I get the right information, then maybe I'll support it."

McNamara was asked if it isn't risky to borrow $80 million when the jail millage is up for renewal next year.

"If the jail mill doesn't go, you just close Hamtramck jail," he said.

S'craft to help debut software

When the Microsoft Corp. introduces the Windows 95 computer operating system July 24, Schoolcraft College will be on display along with the software.

Because Schoolcraft, Walsh College and Macomb Community College have been chosen to take over training in southeast Michigan for the giant software company, the much anticipated Windows 95 will be debuted at the three colleges.

This publicity blitz is scheduled to occur 9-11 a.m. Monday, July 24, in the McDowell Center on the Livonia campus.

Schoolcraft personnel are excited about the Microsoft agreement, said Bruce Sweet, the college's director of business and industrial services.

Ultimately, the three colleges will be the only Microsoft approved software certification centers in southeast Michigan. All certification training for Microsoft products in metro Detroit will occur on the three campuses.

Furthermore, there are plans to offer seminars on various products and topics, technology fairs for faculty, staff and students plus business technology nights and community technology nights where area business persons and residents may see what the latest software can do for them in the office and at home.

Microsoft plans to share its software with the three colleges, said Microsoft spokeswoman Karen Casman, and hopes the colleges can help get the bugs out of new products before they go on the market.

Schoolcraft personnel will be asked to identify the faults in prototype products so that Microsoft engineers may fine tune the software before it goes on the shelves.

"As the technology develops, we'll be right on the front edge," Sweet said.

It's expected to take a year or two to get the system running, however. "We're going to learn a lot of new stuff in the next year and a half," Sweet said.

Newburgh Pointe comes on line 12 months late

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

The Wayne County Parks System opened its newest attraction last week on Newburgh Lake in Livonia, more than a year after it was supposed to open.

The Newburgh Pointe project, which cost about $640,000, was originally scheduled to open in spring 1994. "We had a lot of construction delays and water quality problems," said parks Director Hurley Coleman.

Some work had to be done over, Coleman said, and there were problems with the work quality of subcontractors. Great quantities of weeds in Newburgh Lake delayed the project, too, but a weed harvester cut them back considerably two weeks ago.

Yet the project came in under budget, Coleman said, and its fishing pier, paddle boats and boat launch are ready for use.

The paddle boats are available for rent noon to 8 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday. The cost is $3 per half-hour for a two-seater, $5 per half hour for a four-seater. A dozen boats are available.

Newburgh Pointe is located west of Newburgh Road on Edward Hines Drive in Livonia. The chief landmark is a comfort station built more than 50 years ago. It looks suspiciously like a railroad station, said parks design chief Nancy Darga, because the fellow who designed it had previously worked for a railroad.

The comfort station contains restrooms and a few historic photos. A large fishing pier is available outside at no charge. A paved-stone area is adjacent to the 150-acre, man-made lake.

A boat landing is also available for anyone who wants to put a non-motorized boat in Newburgh. For this you need a permit from the parks department, however.

Newburgh Lake was created in 1934 when the Ford Motor Co. dammed the Rouge River to generate hydroelectric power to its Newburgh Village Industry Plant.

Decline in park services noted

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Although Newburgh Pointe brings positive publicity to the Wayne County Parks System, many residents have noticed a decline in service in area parks.

Plymouth resident John Paton notes that many of the Hines Park restrooms have been closed when they should be open. "It's kind of tough on the people who are out there," he said. "You hear complaints from runners, bikers and Rollerbladers about the restrooms."

Parks director Hurley Coleman readily acknowledges the slippage and hopes to counteract it.

Full-time staff has been cut from 55 individuals in 1989 to 28 this year. Seasonal staff dropped from 80 to 40 over the same period. Four full-time-equivalent positions have been cut since last year.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara and the county commission have cut parks spending for the current fiscal year. "We're still about maybe $400,000 short of where we were last year," Coleman said.

We had a really rough start this year with mowing, with staffing, everything," Coleman said. "Every area was a really rough start, but things are going to pick up and you'll see us back to where we ought to be. Our long-term hope is that we'll be able to maintain a status quo operation until we come up with some sources of dedicated revenue that will allow us not to have budget cuts."

For now, Coleman added, "we're intentionally focusing on the high-use areas for mowing and maintenance," while letting other areas "go to meadow lands — high grass where it wasn't high before."

Coleman has negotiated with other county departments and local governments to get additional help.

Coleman bristles when parks funding is characterized as non-essential spending. "What we're doing is even more essential than jails," he said.

Dentistry in the 90s
by Herbert M. Gardner, D.D.S. &
Martha P. Zinderman, R.N., D.D.S.

THE COST OF DENTAL CARE

While the great debate over how to control rising health care costs rages on, it may surprise many to learn that the cost of dental care in this country has largely remained flat since 1979. During the period between 1950 and 1979, the cost of dental care more than doubled, from $49 for the average dental bill per person per year (measured in 1990 dollars) to $121. However, since 1979, the cost of dental care has scarcely risen at all, to $125. According to a study recently published in an issue of Public Health Report, the slower growth in expenditures for dental care saved Americans more than an estimated $19 billion during the decade of the 1980s alone. At the same time, dental health has been improving.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Take small steps toward better health

Summer's here, and I'm celebrating! If you haven't guessed, I've changed my eating habits, and adopted a healthier lifestyle. As of this writing, my weight is the lowest it's been in eight years.

Please note here that there's absolutely no mention of the word "diet." I gave up on diets years ago after realizing all diets work, when you stick to them. But I wasn't happy depriving myself, eating carrot sticks and lettuce salads, and pretending to enjoy plain broiled fish.

I've finally found a program that promotes a healthy eating regimen. Tri-weekly visits to the gym for a stress buster easy workout also help. My waist is shrinking from a 46 to a 38, my cholesterol dropped 20 points, and I've lost over 70 pounds.

I feel good, and I love it! Some readers have been asking about my healthy changes, and with summer in full swing, I thought now is the perfect time to share my successes, and encourage you to adopt some health changes too.

We all know the importance of good eating. As a food writer, I found myself "pigging out" one day and starving the next.

"That's one of the worst things you can do to your body," said Gail Posner a registered dietitian who also offers personalized nutrition counseling. "Those traits are indicative of a person out of control who needs to learn proper eating techniques or they will always have weight problems. If you starve one day, your body will need and crave even more calories to replenish itself."

■ Big lifestyle change number one - begin your day with a good breakfast. On busy days it might be something as basic as an apple cored and filled with peanut butter, but most of the time it's cereal with milk and a big glass of juice.

Lunch usually consists of a sandwich topped to the rim with loads of vegetables, and some fresh fruit. Main dish salads with loads of last night's fish or poultry, and a great tasting fat free salad dressing are good alternatives.

Dinner brings forth the base of the food pyramid and plenty of beans, pasta, legumes and vegetables, usually in the disguise of a stir-fry or something grilled, baked or broiled.

■ Lifestyle change number two has me exchanging my adoration for Diet Coke and Crystal Light for water. Especially during this hot season, I purchased a Britta Water Filtration System (two-gallon size) that sits comfortably on the shelf in refrigerator, and can get icy cold, great tasting water at the flick of a switch.

Posner recommends drinking at least eight eight ounce glasses of water per day because it fills you up, and flushes out toxins. Posner claims the more water her clients drink, the more weight they lose.

Believe it or not this was probably one of the most difficult changes I've ever made. I'm a big diet pop addict, but now my system has become accustomed to water, and I find myself drinking it every chance I get.

■ Lifestyle change number three was making a commitment to exercise. Now anyone who knows me knows that my idea of exercising was driving a golf cart. I do not run, but I do enjoy getting my heart pumping with a three times a week 20 minute aerobic workout. I go mainly because I enjoy my fellow exercisers and the instructors. You don't have to be a marathoner, and I'll never be in the running for a Mr. Universe contest, but just get moving, no matter how slow.

Posner also recommends that her clients learn to slow down and learn to enjoy the taste of food. It's a proven fact that it takes the stomach 20 minutes to tell the mind that it's full.

■ Last but certainly not least, Posner's final suggestion, and my major lifestyle change number four, is never eat while standing. Most snackers stand in front of the fridge or over the counter and eat far in excess what they really need or want. If you want it, sit down and enjoy it!

Two of my favorite cookbooks are the American Heart Association Cookbook and Steven Raichlen's "High Flavor Low Fat Vegetarian Cooking" (Viking Press $24.95). If you're looking for a more personal approach, Posner heads the Healthy Ways Nutrition Counseling Company with offices in West Bloomfield, and can be reached at (810) 855-4558.

July 4th menu inspires 'oohs and ahs'

MICHIGAN PORK PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION

Sparklers: Red, White and Blue barbecue menu splices up American favorites.

BY KELLY WYONIK
STAFF WRITER

Add some flair to Fourth of July, or any summer celebration this year, with new flavor twists to traditional favorites.

Serve spicy Latin Back Ribs with Rockets' Red Glare Barbecue Sauce, which includes chili sauce, garlic, chili powder, cumin and crushed red pepper.

"Food like potato salad and cole slaw actually have roots in other cultures, but we've claimed them as American classics," said Anne Roberts, a home economist and director of marketing and education for the Michigan Pork Producers Association. "This year, celebrate our rich American culture by adding 'new' ethnic ingredients and flavors."

Spice up deviled eggs with hot peppers to create Double Deviled Eggs. Or add blue cornmeal, reflecting our native foods, to make Blue Heaven Cornbread.

"Changing just one ingredient can change the flavor - and color - of an entire meal," said Roberts. "Put a little bang in your Fourth of July with ethnically inspired restaurant ribs and sparkling side dishes."

The latest ethnic influences being passed from restaurants to kitchens are hot and spicy foods from the Caribbean and Latin America, like ribs with cumin, coriander and chili powder rubbed in.

Sweet tomato-based barbecue sauces are being replaced or combined with spicy dry rubs from around the world.

"Rubs are easy to make and easy to apply," said Roberts. "And you can create your own rubs based on your favorite flavor profiles."

For a taste of the Far East, Roberts suggests rubbing ribs with a mixture of coriander, five-spice, brown sugar and gar-

Pinot noir is a lush, smooth, flavorful, positively delicious red wine. When searching out a bottle, look for more than the grape name on the label. Read the label carefully and choose a pinot noir from the Russian River Valley appellation of California's Sonoma County.

Are we saying that the producer's not that important in this case? Right!

California's Russian River Valley pinot noirs are cohesive with flavors that fit together.

Whether you choose a pinot noir from Davis Bynum, Dehlinger, Gary Farrell, Porter Creek, Rochioli, Rodney Strong, Williams-Selyem or Windsor Vineyards, you will notice characteristic red or black cherries in both aroma and flavor.

"Russian River pinots have a supple, velvety mouth feel," said Rick Sayre, Rodney Strong Winery's winemaker. "This separates Russian River pinots from those of the Carneros region. Frequently, I find Carneros pinots hard." Additional aroma and flavor distinctions run the gamut from fresh strawberry, plum and dried rose petal to sandalwood, leather, toasted oak, and gamey, meaty hints.

"Carneros pinots are very showy, but they lack the mouth weight of Russian River pinots," said Tom Rochioli. "I enjoy Central Coast pinots because they are completely different. In the Russian River, we get full, rich, concentrated flavor and supple wines each year."

At Dehlinger, winemaker Fred Scherrer makes two or three different bottlings each vintage with the same aim as Rochioli. He pointed out that Russian River pinots have a big mouth feel without aggressive astringency. With the various bottlings, blended from about 18 fermentation lots, he strives to reflect the balance and personality of various parts of Dehlinger's estate vineyards.

"There are spectacular pinot noirs produced in other regions in a given year from an individual producer, but Russian River's strength is consistency, year to year, producer to producer," said George Davis, Porter Creek's owner.

Besides wines of elegance and balance, Gary Farrell seeks to make wines with good cellaring potential. "I want the wine to be fruit focused with regional identity, but complexed by wine-making influences," he stressed.

At Windsor Vineyards, winemaker Carol Shelton's stylistic aims are similar. "I strive to show the voluptuous, velvety character of Russian River pinots and all their cherry fruit in a wine that is food complementary and ready to drink young," she said.

As a general rule, Russian River producers are using French oak to age their wines and they are not filtering or fining them. This means that you may find some sediment in the bottom of the bottle, especially if the wine has aged in the bottle for a few years. Before opening, sit the bottle upright for several hours. This will allow you to decant the wine and leave the sediment behind. Over the last few years, many winemakers have chosen to bottle wines unfined and unfiltered because they have learned that these clarification techniques strip wines of subtle flavors that make a wine both unique and agreeable.

Pinot noir is one of those wines that bridges white meats to red meats, poultry and chicken to seafood. We like it especially with salmon. It is sufficiently versatile as a picnic wine, matching well with grilled sausages and roast chicken. With pinot, there's no battling heads with tannins. They're incredibly soft and fruity and pairing with them is a delight.

Gourmet vegetarian pizzas with right-handed use of fresh tomato sauce, that is not cooked or canned, is a superior food match. But artichokes are frequently used in preparing this style pizza and we caution against their use. If there's one vegetable that does not pair with pinot noir, it's artichokes.

SPICY LATIN BACK RIBS

6-8 slabs pork baby back ribs (about 12 pounds total)

Spicy Latin Rub

Pat ribs dry with paper towels. Rub Spicy Latin Rub generously over all surfaces of ribs, cover and refrigerate up to 12 hours or cook immediately. Prepare a banked, medium hot fire in each of 2-3 kettle style grills. Place ribs, not overlapping, over indirect heat on each grill. Cover grills and roast ribs not directly over coals for 1½ hours, until ribs are very tender.

Or: Roast ribs on a rack in a shallow pan in a 350 degree F oven for 1½ hours.

Remove ribs from grill, wrap securely in heavy aluminum foil. Place foil wrapped ribs in brown paper bags, close bags and let ribs rest for up to 1 hour. Unwrap ribs, cut into serving sized portions and serve with Rockets' Red Glare Barbecue Sauce for dipping. Makes 12-16 servings.

Spicy Latin Rub: In a large jar with a tight fitting lid, place ½ cup ground cumin, ½ cup chili powder, 4 tablespoons ground coriander, 2 tablespoons cayenne, 4 tablespoons ground black pepper, 2 tablespoons ground cinnamon, 2 tablespoons brown sugar and 1 tablespoon salt. Place lid on jar and shake until blended thoroughly. Makes 2 cups.

ROCKETS' RED GLARE BARBECUE SAUCE

2 (12 ounce) bottles chili sauce

2 garlic cloves, minced

½ cup ketchup

½ cup cider vinegar

½ cup brown sugar

3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

3 tablespoons sherry

2 tablespoons chili powder

2 teaspoons ground cumin

1 teaspoon crushed red pepper

Stir together all ingredients in medium saucepan, bring to a boil and lower heat to just a simmer.

Simmer for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally, until mixture is thickened and flavors are nicely blended. Remove to medium bowl or quart-size jar, cool slightly, cover and refrigerate until serving. Makes 4 cups.

BLACK AND BLUE COLE SLAW

1 medium head red cabbage, shredded (6 cups)

½ pound seedless grapes, halved

Divide batter equally between the two prepared baking pans. Bake for 20-25 minutes, until tops are nicely browned. Remove from oven and cool for at least 10 minutes before cutting into squares to serve. Makes 12-16 servings.

For dressing: In small bowl, stir together all ingredients.

Pour dressing over potatoes and gently toss. Taste and adjust seasonings; serve immediately or cover and refrigerate until serving. Servers 12-16.

ice powder. For Mediterranean flavor, try oregano, fennel seed, garlic and lemon pepper, or use chili powder with cumin, garlic and oregano for Mexican flair.

When cooking ribs, set gas or electric grill on medium heat. If you're using charcoal, bank coals and cook ribs over indirect heat.

Treat ribs tenderly, and cook with the lid down for at least an hour and a half. To prevent burning, wait until the last 20 minutes before adding tomato or other sugar-based sauces.

Ribs are considered done when you can wiggle the meat from the bone.

1 cup chopped parsley
½ cup mayonnaise
4 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese
4 tablespoons Dijon style mustard
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons cider vinegar

In large bowl, toss together cabbage, grapes and parsley. Stir together remaining ingredients, add to the slaw and toss well. Cover and chill for at least 2 hours before serving. If desired, sprinkle with additional crumbled blue cheese and garnish with red grapes. Serves 12-16.

BLUE HEAVEN CORNBREAD

2 cups flour

2 cups blue cornmeal

2 tablespoons and 2 teaspoons baking powder

6 tablespoons sugar

1 ½ teaspoons salt

2 cups milk

4 eggs, beaten

½ cup vegetable oil

Heat oven to 425 degrees F.

Lightly grease two 8-inch square baking pans. In large bowl, blend well dry ingredients. In medium bowl, beat together milk, eggs and oil. Make a well in dry ingredients, add liquid ingredients and stir together, blending well, but not over-stirring.

Divide batter equally between the two prepared baking pans. Bake for 20-25 minutes, until tops are nicely browned. Remove from oven and cool for at least 10 minutes before cutting into squares to serve. Makes 12-16 servings.

STARS AND STRIPES SPUD SALAD

4 pounds small new red potatoes, cleaned and halved

8 cloves garlic, peeled

½ cup olive oil
1 tablespoon black pepper
1 teaspoon salt
Dressing
½ cup mayonnaise
3 tablespoons Dijon style mustard
3 tablespoons balsamic vinegar

1 tablespoon mustard seed
8 slices bacon, cooked, drained and crumbled
½ cup diced red onion
½ cup minced green pepper
Salt and pepper to taste

Heat oven to 400 degrees F. Combine potatoes, garlic, olive oil, the tablespoon of black pepper and teaspoon of salt in a roasting pan; cover with foil.

Bake 15 minutes, uncover, and continue to roast for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally, until potatoes are tender and slightly golden brown.

Remove from oven, let cool slightly and cut potatoes into quarters, mash the garlic cloves. Place potato quarters and mash garlic in serving bowl.

For dressing: In small bowl, stir together all ingredients.

Pour dressing over potatoes and gently toss. Taste and adjust seasonings; serve immediately or cover and refrigerate until serving. Servers 12-16.

DR. BILL'S BARBECUED BEANS

8 ounces bacon, diced

1 medium sweet onion, diced

1 each red and green bell peppers, seeded and diced

1 cup brown sugar

1 cup purchased barbecue sauce

½ teaspoon liquid smoke

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

2 teaspoons ground black pepper

Cook and stir over medium-high heat until mixture comes to a boil, stir and boil 1 minute. Remove from heat; stir a little cooked custard mixture into 4 beaten eggs; return eggs to saucepan; stir well to blend thoroughly. Stir in ¼ cup sour cream and 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, blend well. Remove custard to medium bowl, cover and refrigerate until serving. Makes 3 cups.

PASTA SALAD DRESSING

1 tablespoon orange juice concentrate

2 teaspoons low sodium soy sauce

2 tablespoons wine vinegar

2 tablespoons lemon juice

1 tablespoon vegetable juice

1 tablespoon fat-free mayonnaise

1 tablespoon water

Fresh ground pepper to taste

Combine all ingredients in a bowl and whisk until smooth. Pour over pasta salad and toss to coat!

Makes enough dressing to serve 4.

Chef's secret: try the pasta salad dressing over a bowl full of drained, canned beans like kidney, garbanzo, pinto and navy. Add a little diced onion and you have a healthy protein alternative!

CREAMY YOGURT POPPYSEED SALAD DRESSING

1/2 cup plain non-fat yogurt
1 tablespoon orange juice concentrate

2 tablespoons non-fat sour cream
1/2 teaspoon poppy seeds

Combine all ingredients in a bowl and whisk until smooth. Makes about 1/4 cup.

LENTIL MUSHROOM BURGERS

2/3 cup lentils, picked through and rinsed

1 medium potato, peeled and diced

1 tablespoon olive oil

1 small onion, finely chopped

2 tablespoons finely chopped red pepper

2 carrots, finely chopped

1 clove garlic, minced

8 ounces fresh mushrooms (2 cups) thinly sliced

Salt and fresh ground pepper to taste
1 egg white
3 tablespoons chopped cilantro or dill
2 cups fresh bread crumbs

Cook the lentils in 5 cups boiling water for 20-30 minutes. Add the potatoes the last 10 minutes of cooking time. Drain the lentils and the potatoes in a colander and allow to cool.

Meanwhile, heat 1 tablespoon of olive oil in a fry pan. Add the oil, pepper and garlic and cook over medium heat until soft, about three minutes. Stir in the mushrooms and cook until most of the mushroom liquid has evaporated, about five minutes.

Season the mixture with salt and pepper. Combine the lentils, potato, mushroom mixture and egg white in a food processor or food mill and coarsely puree.

Stir in the cilantro or dill and just enough bread crumbs to form a paste. Wet hands and form the mixture into eight 3-inch patties. Chill patties for 2 hours. Spray a non-stick fry pan with non-stick cooking spray and cook the burgers over medium heat until crusty and golden brown, about 3-5 minutes per side. Serve burgers as is or in rolls with lettuce and tomatoes.

Makes eight to 10 three-inch burgers, enough to serve 4 to 6.

Total calories 275 per serving with only 5 grams of fat.

Galleries glorify creepy crawlers

What is it about creepy crawlies? We cringe when we see a spider scampers across the floor. We become frantic when a bee buzzes about our heads. We drown beetles, centipedes, and mosquitoes with bug spray. And yet, the sheer artistry of an insect's tiny body is alluring and fascinating. Spindly legs and feathered wings and curled antennae are intricate miracles of nature.

The images of these critters, therefore, are appealing. We don't hesitate to display a bejeweled bug on a shirt collar or a brass grasshopper in the garden.

Insects on parade

At the Ariana Gallery, 119 S. Main in Royal Oak, giant insects spread their metal wings. They are the creations of Michigan artist Rich Branstrom, who fashions found objects into flies, mosquitos, fish and birds. Pots, pans, oil cans, buckets, headlights and colanders combine with wire cable to make these folk art sculptures. Ironically, a restaurant bought one of the enormous flies to display on its dining room wall. Ahh...the charm of art as opposed to the disgust of the real thing! Branstrom's work is priced from $100 to $600.

From the Andy Brinkley studio, Ariana offers brass and copper garden stakes topped with ladybugs and grasshoppers ($45). Also find rusty iron bees and butterflies and metal frogs and lizards to nestle among the impatiens in your flowerbed. Art glass bugs by Tim Jerman add whimsy to a coffee table and Drew Smith's blown glass and metal wall sculptures are eyecatching.

Look for frogs and lizards ($750 to $850). New this month to the gallery are giant freestanding metal insects — guaranteed to keep the squirrels away.

Down the street at Royal Oak's new Clique Gallery, 200 West 5th, Eve and Elaine Redmond sent out feelers and collected all manner of insects for their "Insects Inside" bug show this month. They involved the entire community in the show, inviting school children to draw bugs. Wait until you see the results! Some are real works of art.

Bug benefit

All of the masterpieces are displayed in a special album and five are framed to hang in the gallery. Proceeds from the sale of the children's art will go to their schools. Local jewelers and artists created special pieces for the show and area galleries also sent appropriate creature collectibles.

The jewelry is the show's highlight. Luma Pare's jointed yellow jacket earrings, and ladybug and cricket pins, are incredible with their life-like moving parts. A scarab beetle is eerily authentic. "Lunch At The Ritz" is the name given a glistening golden butterfly embellished with beads, gemstones and enamel. John Hamil's titanium pins and earrings glow in iridescent shades of turquoise and pink. He's partial to dragonflies and mosquitoes.

Other wearable bugs include Venetian glass beetles, scarab clay pieces by Rhea Schaefer and glass caterpillars. Also, don't miss "Beetle Bob's" surprise art pieces.

They're crawlin' with critters at Objects of Art in West Bloomfield this month. In conjunction with its artful garden show, the gallery displays Arthur Higgins' aluminum sculptures of abstract critters ($70-$100), Lloyd Knueck's colorful metal ladybugs, crickets, and salamanders ($30) and Dean Petaja's outdoor wall pieces ($300-$500). Insects also light on ceramic bowls, flowerpots and clocks. Objects of Art is located at 6243 Orchard Lake Road.

Recreation news

The Tigers are hot, so now's the time to take advantage of a special offer.

The Canton Parks and Recreation Services is sponsoring a trip down to the Stadium next Sunday, when the Tigers host the Kansas City Royals. Cost is $14 per person, which includes round-trip bus transportation and a reserved-seat ticket. The bus leaves the Canton Township Administration Building at 11:30 a.m. Sunday.

This offer is for Canton residents only. Call 397-5110 for more information.

A couple of runs are scheduled for Saturday, July 15, at Heritage Park.

The second annual Race Day in the Park will feature the 17th annual 5-mile run, a half-mile fun run for kids and a 5-kilometer walk, all at Heritage. Long-sleeved shirts will be given to the first 150 participants in the 5-mile run and 5K walk; ribbons will be given to all fun run participants.

Plaques and medals will also be presented to the first three finishers in each of the 10 age divisions for both men and women in the 5-mile run, and to the top three in the 5K walk.

Cost for the 5-mile run and the 5K walk is $10 in advance (prior to July 13) and $12 afterward. Cost for the half-mile fun run (for kids 12 and under) is $2.

Call 397-5110 for more information.

Cross country meeting

An informational meeting for any girls interested in running for Salem's cross country team is scheduled 7 p.m. Thursday, July 6, at McClumph Park pavilion, located on Ann Arbor Trail.

The meeting is for any interested girls and/or parents. Call coach Gerlach at 416-7708 or 421-9030 for more information.

GAM qualifying under way

One down, four to go. The first qualifying tournament for the Golf Association of Michigan Championship, scheduled for July 24-26 at Flint Golf Club, was last Thursday at Radrick Farms in Ann Arbor. Four more are scheduled in the next 10 days, with the objective to slice the field of 328 applicants down to 78.

Twenty-one of those 78 spots are already taken by golfers who are exempt from qualifying, including defending champ Doug Davis of Whitmore Lake and past champions Peter Green of Franklin and John Morgan of Novi.

Other qualifiers are scheduled for Lake Doster Golf Club in Plainwell and Monroe Golf and Country Club next Monday, July 10, and at Clio Country Club and Boyne's Moor Course in Harbor Springs Tuesday, July 11.

Those who qualify will compete in a 36-hole stroke play tournament Monday, July 24. The low 30 scorers (including ties) advance to the second and third rounds, which is 18 holes of stroke play each day. A tie for the title will be broken by an immediate hole-by-hole playoff.

The GAM winner will be exempt from qualifying for the 1996 Michigan Amateur and for the next five GAM championships.

The GAM is open to state golfers age 18 and over who are GAM members, and whose USGA Handicap Index does not exceed 6.4.

Metro Beach Biathlon

The Metro Beach Biathlon is scheduled for 9 a.m. Sunday, July 30, at Metro Beach in Harrison Township, near Mount Clemens.

The biathlon is a 1-kilometer swim followed by a 5-kilometer run. Entry fee is $15 in advance, $20 the day of the event. All participants will receive a T-shirt and a medal, with the top two in each age group (a total of 11, ranging from 13-and-under to 60-and-over) receiving trophies or plaques.

For more information or to obtain an entry form, call Joe Smetanka at (810) 792-4663 in the evening or Metro Beach at (810) 463-4661 during the day.

Blue Care bike tour

The Blue Care Network Tour de Michigan, an international bicycle race series, opens its 10th year Aug. 10 with a criterium (a short, tactical race) through the streets of Muskegon.

New to the eight-stage series are two mountain bike races, Aug. 19 in Grand Rapids and Aug. 20 in Rochester Hills' Bloomer Park. On Aug. 22, the tour returns to city streets for the final five stages, with the last two in downtown Birmingham Aug. 26 and downtown Rochester Aug. 27.

Competitors will vie for a total of $60,000 in prizes, with the champion winning a 1996 Saturn. More than 600 racers — including some of the top professionals both nationally and internationally, and some of the best U.S. amateurs — will compete in the 10 days of racing.

Hot shot: Bob Nagy had a strong game for the Wolverines, scoring three goals in their seven-goal second period. Nagy also had three assists in the Wolverines' 14-3 rout of the Broncos, a win that kept his team unbeaten and atop the MSHL's Eagle Conference.

Scoring still soaring in fast MSHL start

The numbers continued to climb as the Metro Summer Hockey League completed its first week of play, and all but two teams had at least one victory after the first eight games.

BY C.J. RISAK

It's been offensive, to say the least.

How else can one describe the Metro Summer Hockey League's first week? In the first eight games of the season, five teams had reached double-digits in goals-scored.

Not much of a testimony to defense.

However, there is a certain amount of balance. Through those first eight games, only two teams were winless. And just three teams were unbeaten — and one of those, the Falcons, had played one game

(through Wednesday).

In one of the more "defensive" games of the early stages of the season, the Wildcats used a four-goal third period to upend the Lakers 7-5 Wednesday (all games are played at Plymouth Cultural Center). Tom Larson scored two of those four goals and assisted on another for the Wildcats, who improved to 2-0.

Mark Pietila scored three goals and assisted on a fourth for the Cats. Jeremy Klosowski and Jake Wiegand (from Plymouth) also netted goals, with Jim Pietila and Kevin Pietila adding two assists apiece.

The Lakers (1-1), who led 4-2 with five minutes left in the second period, got a goal and two assists from Chad Thorne, and a goal and an assist from both Richard Rathman and James Wheaton. Other Laker goal-scorers were Mike Kuculain and Kyle McNeilliance (Livonia).

W. Wolverines 14, Huskies 3: The Wolverines joined the Wildcats as the MSHL's first 2-0 winners by scoring a "touchdown" in the second period Wednesday.

The Wolverines' seven-goal second period featured three goals by Bob Nagy. Kevin Mankowski and Jim Nesich (Plymouth) also scored three times each in the game for the Wolverines, with Rob Fleury getting two and Brian Hannigan, Kevin Baier (Livonia) and Dave Baval (Canton) netting one apiece. Nagy added three assists, with Hannigan, Mankowski and Fleury chipping in with two each.

For the winless Broncos (0-3),

Scott Golenik (Westland) netted on all three of their goals. Dave Weaver (Plymouth) had a goal and an assist, and Dave Hale scored.

H. Huskies 14, Bruins 10: On Tuesday, the Huskies (1-1) outscored the Bruins 6-2 in the final period to break an 0-0 tie after two periods.

Dustin Sweny (pound in five goals to score the winner. Tom McGee and Darren Strody each contributed two goals and two assists, with Darren Schmidt (Livonia) adding two goals and an assist and Kevin Bonham getting a goal and two assists.

For the Broncos, Paul Golenik (Westland) connected for four goals and an assist, and Ryan Morris had three goals and an assist. Scott Golenik (Westland) and Dave Weaver (Plymouth) each finished with a goal and three assists, and Matt Brush had a goal and two assists.

Salem, Canton standouts sign with SC

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

Schoolcraft College women's soccer coach Nikki Johnson has extended her recruiting boundaries out in every direction, and by so doing has given the Lady Ocelots something new — depth.

Johnson already has 16 players committed to play in the fall, with a strong possibility of adding two more.

"I have numbers," Johnson, entering her second year as coach (11-7-2 in her first), said of her recruiting class. "And even though people say quality over quantity, it's sure going to be nice to have a bench behind me."

Going beyond the Livonia/Plymouth/Canton/Farmington area has enabled Johnson to add depth, with no perceptible loss of quality. There will be players from Novi, Walled Lake, Southfield, Royal Oak and Garden City on the Ocelots' fall roster.

The team's strength will be in the midfield. Johnson has Holly Kimble (from Livonia Stevenson) and Erin Stacharski (Livonia Churchill) back at that position from last year's team, and Amanda Thomas returns from the '93 SC team.

New midfielders are Sue Parrish (Plymouth Salem), Susan O'Neill (Plymouth Canton) and Nicole Gentry (Westland John Glenn).

The defense will need some rebuilding, particularly with the loss of sweeper Danielle Priebe (Churchill) and keeper Jenny Mansfield (Redford Union) to Eastern Michigan. Jamie Whisner (Garden City) is the lone defensive returnee.

But Johnson has added Misty Heath (Stevenson), Jodee Wilsher (Salem), Rachel Bowser, and Beth Gourlay and Christi Jarvis (both from Novi).

Replacing Mansfield in goal will be Jenifer Audritah (Garden City). Katie Boatman (Southfield), a versatile player capable of filling in at several spots, should back Audritah up.

The offense was SC's greatest weakness in '94, and may still be. The only true forwards Johnson has are returnee Amy Marcos (Stevenson) and recruit Lisa Lawaide (Walled Lake Central).

But: "I think I have a lot of midfielders who are offensive-oriented," she said, "so I'll have the option of moving them up. We didn't have a lot of speed up front (last year). That shouldn't be a problem (this season)."

With so many midfielders who are capable of sliding back on defense or going forward on offense, Johnson should have plenty of choices come fall. If a true goal-scorer emerges from her current roster, or she can add a late recruit with offensive abilities, SC could become a true NJCAA power once again.

Neon's McCaul strives to find spot to scrub forever," said McCaul, a 1989 Redford Catholic Central graduate and Livonia native. "Once I signed the back of some dude's neck. It's kind of tough having to do this after a loss, but these are the people who support us and we have to thank them."

The is the second season for the Neon in the 18-team CISL, which has backing of several NHL and National Basketball Association team owners. The Neon are owned by Pistons' owner Bill Davidson, who also owns the Vipers of the International Hockey League.

It was second-year pro Steve McCaul's turn to meet those still left in the crowd of 6,000 following Thursday's 6-5 loss to Monterrey.

Long after most of his teammates had showered and left, McCaul was still standing outside.

Good thing it wasn't a sauna. "Some guys like to sign their arms and I say, 'Well, OK, but you'll have McCaul, currently playing with "turf toe" caused by artificial turf, missed one season with a broken leg and also had ankle and hand surgery before graduating with a degree from MSU in public relations.

McCaul and goalkeeper Colin Jex (who played at Schoolcraft College) were two of several local players who made the Neon's first-year roster in 1994. Among the others who didn't get asked back this year were Derek Williford (Livonia Stevenson), Brian Thiel (Livonia/Redford CC), Tim Richey (Southfield) and Chris McNally (Tray).

"I pretty much told all the young guys this is a chance of a lifetime to break into pro ball, that they'd either

CAR Report

Chrysler minivans keep getting better as 1996s arrive

Ten years have passed since Chrysler Corp revolutionized the automotive industry by inventing the minivan, giving buyers an alternative to the station wagon.

Since that time, every major automaker, both domestic and import, has followed suit and now offers minivan versions of their own. Since 1983, more than 4 million minivans have been sold in the U.S. and abroad.

"Chrysler has maintained a high market share (50 percent) in the minivan segment," said Dave Bostwick, director of minivan marketing and market research at Chrysler. "Right now, we're outselling anyone in corporate sales and with the new model, we're sure to strengthen those sales even further."

Chrysler, hoping the next decade will show even stronger sales, touts changes in safety, interior enhancements, appearance, powertrain, environment and quality in its current crop of minivans.

"Today's Chrysler mini-vans now meet 1998 federal safety standards, including passenger and driver's-side air bags, stronger side-impact door beams, knee bolsters, energy-absorbing steering wheel, a stronger front end structure, and improved seat belts," said Chris Theodore, general manager of minivan platform engineering at Chrysler.

This month, Chrysler dealerships around the country began getting their first taste of the 1996 minivans — their first-ever total remake. The new face isn't cheap. Chrysler spent more than $2 billion to develop these new minivans, code-named NS.

In an effort to make them more functional, the minivans Chrysler has code-named NS come with four doors so kids and older relatives can get in and out easier, according to Chrysler clinic and focus-group organizers.

The interiors grow by 9 inches; the exterior by 5. The vehicles are also slightly longer and taller than their predecessors, but not remarkably so. Horsepower ranges from 141 to 166, depending on which model is chosen.

Mileage expectations for these new products range from 15-20 mpg city to 20-27 mpg highway.

Engine options include a DOHC 2.4-liter 4-cylinder and 3.0-, 3.3- and 3.8-liter SOHC 6 cylinders. The NS vans come in front-wheel-drive and 4-wheel-drive and cost as little as $17,000 and as much as $35,000 with all the goodies.

As these new minivans come into dealer showrooms, they're sharing space with leftover 1995s.

The changes to the Caravan, Voyager, Grand Voyager and Town & Country for 1995 were not only safety enhancements. Rounder corners, enhanced styling, and a host of interior and under-the-hood changes were included.

"We were the first to introduce integrated child safety seats in our minivans."

Theodore said, "This year the child safety seat reclines for the child's sleeping comfort. We're taking care of our younger customers as well."

The most radical change in the 1996 minivans was an all-new instrument panel. Redesigned to accommodate the passenger's-side air bag, instrumentation in those minivans is fully recessed and includes easier-to-read gauges, stereo relocation at the top and fewer buttons to manipulate. Power window and door lock buttons have been moved forward on the interior driver and passenger doors.

"We talked to a lot of our customers who said they wanted cup holders that could accommodate both a Snapple bottle and Big Gulp containers," said Theodore. "So we changed that as well. Believe it or not, some customers asked if we could make the cup holders large enough for those athletic water bottles. We didn't do it this year, but . . . Anti-lock brakes are standard this year on Town & Country minivans. Keyless entry is available on all models.

And all the minivans are best-in-class quiet. Added were nearly a dozen sound deadeners to silence everything from road noise to engine noise, resulting in a 3-decibel difference in interior noise.

A 3.8-liter V-6 engine is available with 162 horsepower, deliver 213 lbs.-feet at 3,600 rpm. Still available is the 3.3-liter V-6 that produces 161 horsepower.

LEASECRETS

by David J. Kalper

Leasing's hot. Not just in metro Detroit but across the nation. CNW Marketing Research of Bandon, OR says, through March, leasing accounted for 31% of car and nearly 22% of truck volume, up from 20% and 16%, respectively.

But lease transactions are complex. Caveat emptor ("buyer beware") never applied more aptly. Experts urge consumers to educate themselves before they talk to a dealer.

According to Carl Fischer of The Fischer Automotive Group in Troy, leasing is popular here due in big part to the presence of the major auto makers in our town. But he also adds that "as leasing evolves and people understand it, it is becoming the affordable way to go for more and more consumers."

Today, we'll focus on what is a lease, how does it work, and why lease.

Leasing is a contract between a lessor (usually a finance company) and a lessee (you, the consumer) for a new or used vehicle to be driven a specified time period for a fixed payment. Total payments generally are equal to the value of the vehicle used up (depreciation) plus leasing charges, or interest. The cost of the vehicle less depreciation equals its estimated value at lease end, or its residual value.

Four parties are involved in a lease. The dealer (1) buys the vehicle from the manufacturer (2). You (3) negotiate the lease with the dealer who sells the vehicle for a profit to the finance company (4). You make payments to the finance company.

People lease because they prefer to own what appreciates but lease what depreciates, which vehicles do, particularly in the first few years. Since they are basically paying for only a portion of the cost, namely the depreciation, plus interest, monthly payments can be lower. Less cash outflow can leave room for leasing a more upscale auto. You can still buy the vehicle at lease end, usually for the residual amount. Little or no down payment is normally required but some down payment will reduce the monthly payment.

Who should not lease? Probably those who drive substantially more miles than allowed in the lease or who intend to keep one vehicle at any reasonable cost for many years. Both make sense, particularly the later since vehicle quality is superior to yester-years.

In negotiating a lease, it is safe to say that a dealer is entitled to a fair price on a lease deal but you, the consumer, are entitled to a fair deal on the lease price. Next time, we'll explore ways to arrive at your fair deal.

For a pamphlet on leasing tips and ways to save money when leasing, send $1.00 plus a stamped, business size self-addressed envelope to Leasecrests, Inc., P.O. Box 3448, Farmington Hills, MI 48333-3448.
