Downtown parking addressed

City officials could be getting close to reaching agreement with downtown lot owners on a plan to guarantee there will be plenty of parking space in the future downtown.

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

If people think parking downtown is a problem now, what might they think in five years if the number of businesses keeps growing?

For the last three years, city officials have been trying to head off potential problems for downtown parking. Now, they could be close to negotiating a solution.

"At this point it's way too sensitive to say anything about," said Mayor Ron Loiselle.

The issue isn't just sensitive _ it's complicated.

First, it involves city officials talking with downtown lot owners about selling their lots to the city. That way, if the business climate remains good downtown, businesses will be prevented from building on their parking lots and eliminating more parking spaces.

"We felt it was imperative for the city to have control of sites to prevent too much build-out on parking lots," Loiselle said. "We're trying to avoid the parking problem Royal Oak is dealing with now."

Second, city officials during the negotiation period have tried to ease parking requirements for restaurants seeking to locate downtown.

That's because business leaders agree that more restaurants downtown would bring more business to other shops. And when downtown shops thrive, they pay more in taxes and that eases the burden on resident taxpayers.

So as negotiations continue with downtown lot owners, Plymouth city commissioners also face a June 30 deadline. That's the day a parking credit moratorium ends for those seeking to establish restaurants downtown.

After June 30, new restaurant developers will be required to provide on-site parking or pay the city so many thousands of dollars for parking credits.

Since reverting to this former sys-

Observer office moving to Main Street

The Plymouth Observer is moving.

On Monday, July 1, we'll be at a new location at 794 S. Main St. in the city of Plymouth.

Our new office is in a home that has been converted for office use. Parking is located in the rear. Our office hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The Plymouth Observer is staffed by Jeff Counts, community editor; Kevin Brown, who covers the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township; Marybeth Dillon, who handles the Plymouth-Canton schools; and Bridget Lucas, who coordinates wedding and engagement news, military and Campus Notes.

Parking for the new office is located in the rear of the building, and the entrance is through the front door.

"Our move to a Main Street address shows our continued commitment to making sure that the Plymouth Observer is a local newspaper with its ear to Plymouth's main street," said Banks Dishmon, publisher of the Observer Newspapers.

American Pie ice cream shop to open near park

The American Pie ice cream shop is slated to open off of Kellogg Park in time for the Fourth of July.

Shop owner and Realtor Joe Van Esley has turned his former real estate office into an ice cream shop-restaurant just east of the Box Bar. He plans to open sometime next week.

Van Esley named the restaurant after the early-1970s Don McLean hit, "American Pie," as the restaurant theme celebrates American nostalgia.

The walls of the restaurant will be plastered with autographs Van Esley has collected, along with antique Coca-Cola signs, historic newspaper headlines and more. Many of the items will be for sale.

"All the stuff I have will look better on people's walls than in my basement and in my closet," he said.

What would he not sell? "I've got a old Coca-Cola sign that was in a speakeasy, it's a Coca-Cola sign on one side and has baseball scores on the other," Van Esley said.

Another that's not for sale is the Purple Gang's fingerprints. "My dad worked at the police department and he gave me that one," Van Esley said.

He's also collected plenty of auto-

School board hikes superintendent pay

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth-Canton Superintendent Charles Little was evaluated by the Board of Education and given a pay increase Monday night.

On a scale of one (unsatisfactory) to five (outstanding), Little was evaluated on a series of performance objectives and ongoing responsibilities. He received scores ranging from 2.4 to 4.1, with a median score of 3.6.

Little was granted a 3.5-percent raise, bringing his salary to $113,751. His compensation package also was increased by 3.5 percent, raising his retirement package to $16,047 and annuity to $5,688. His total compensation package, including fringe benefits and FICA, totals $149,684.

Not included is the superintendent's mileage and auto reimbursement.

The superintendent is working under an existing four-year contract with three years remaining.

Little was evaluated in a closed session. The results were shared in open session at Monday's meeting.

Board Treasurer Mike Maloney said, "We are very proud we have Charles Little as superintendent. He has worked tirelessly for kids in our district. We are very often tough on each other, but we are fortunate to have someone with such a positive attitude and his willingness to work so hard."

Little's annual goals were to:

A) complete the long-range planning process by June, 1996

B) complete a two-year housing plan by June, 1996, and

C) develop a district wide staff needs survey to support teaching and learning, K-12, by May, 1996.

"The members of the Board of Education believe that Dr. Little did achieve progress toward the three strategic goals of 1995-96. These goals were ambitious, with many months of activity, and involving many different stakeholders," the board wrote.

"The end results of goals A and B were especially notable. The two-year housing plan was excellent. His steadfast commitment towards this achievement was very commendable. Although the long-range planning process kept with committed time lines, some of the interim tasks contained in this goal hit unplanned barriers.

"The general consensus of the board is that Dr. Little did a very good job of managing, participating in, and completing goals A and B. However, goal C was not complete and is only in initial stages. This goal needs to be carried over into 1996-97."

Little was ranked highest in his dealings with the board and other government officials. He received a rating of 4 in "initiating and maintaining a healthy working relationship with the board."

He was ranked 3.6 in "providing leadership to ensure district-wide consistency in instructional delivery and high standards for student performance."

He received a 3.5 in "promoting positive and productive employee relations."

Little was given a 3.9 in "demonstrating good fiscal management."

He received his lowest rating, 2.4, in "managing the efficient and safe use of physical facilities of the district."

In "establishing and maintaining effective intergovernmental relations," Little was rated 4.1. He was ranked at 3.4 in "promoting community involvement in activities and decision-making at the district and building levels."

Chipmunk invades office, police called

Police responded at 10:46 a.m. June 20 to reports of a loose chipmunk in a Plymouth office.

Officers traveled to 1382 S. Main and spoke with a man who was bit by the rodent.

The 26-year-old Ypsilanti resident said he was in the office when female employees became upset because the animal was running loose.

The victim said he tried to grab the chipmunk, and in the process, the chipmunk bit him on the right index finger.

Eventually, the chipmunk was secured under a waste basket. Critter Control picked it up and transported it to the Humane Society in Westland.

The victim was treated at Mission Health Center. The animal wasn't a carrier of rabies.

The chipmunk was released by the Humane Society at approximately 11:40 a.m., police said.

Assault and battery

A 30-year-old Plymouth man called 911 to say he was hurt in a dispute with his wife at their Liberty Street apartment shortly after 9 p.m. June 20. While officers were there, the couple began fighting and were separated. Police arrested the woman.

PLYMOUTH BRIEFS

Members reappointed

Reappointed to the planning commission for three-year terms ending June 30, 1999 were Dennis Campbell, Dennis Cebulski and David Nick. Don Sprogell was reappointed to a zoning board term ending June 30, 1998.

Olympic athlete speaks

Sheila Taormina, a woman swimmer with the U.S. Olympic Team who will compete in Atlanta, will speak in a program at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth.

Patriotic music themes will also be highlighted at the free event co-sponsored by the Canton Community Church and New Focus Community Church of Plymouth.

Music show

Guy Sflerezza's Chautauqua Express returns to Kellogg park for a performance at noon Wednesday as part of the Music in the park summer concert series sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

Is being a psychic for real? Just ask for a reading.

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

The scary part about being a successful psychic isn't what you'd expect.

Carla Gardner isn't spooked by communicating with people on "the other side" _ those who have passed on.

But after her first appearance on local TV show Kelly and Company, the studio audience stormed the stage, and people demanded some psychic insight into their lives.

"It was terrifying," Gardner said.

The station also got 200 phone calls as soon as the program was over.

So how does one become a psychic? Gardner said it was taken for granted in her family that they could guess who'd be on the other end of a ringing phone, or who would soon drop in to visit.

But Gardner, 49, didn't really think about her psychic ability until about eight years ago. At Digital Equipment Corp. in Novi, she would tell co-workers "all kinds of things about themselves." Soon, her co-workers were routinely crowding around her cubicle with questions, which can be tiring.

Gardner left the firm six years ago and began offering readings for a price, as well as teaching psychic development at the Holistic Health Center in Livonia.

She's also started a book, and is seeking to place it with a major publisher.

After two appearances on "Kelly and Company," Gardner was tabbed to be the show's house psychic, but the show was soon canceled. She's had contact with "Unsolved Mysteries" producer Katherine Kavich who said Gardner "is so good she's in a class by herself."

So how does a psychic get in touch with her psychic insights? "I have to shut it off to be able to talk to you," Gardner said.

"I do a lot of consultations with people who have lost children," she said.

Gardner said people who have died don't like to be referred to as such; she describes them as being on the other side. While doing a psychic reading for someone, people they've known who have died will try to contact them.

"When they go over, a lot of the time they'll show me the clothes they're wearing, so the person can see who they are. One time a man showed me the tux he was wearing, that way his wife knew it was him because he had been a musician," she said.

Does Gardner deal much in past lives? "I will get something about a past life if it's significant to this life, if it's holding them back," she said.

Gardner said she enjoys health readings the most, "because they're the easiest."

In her psychic development classes, she encourages people to read themselves. This is possible by raising one's energy vibration, and therefore understand "what you came here to do."

In reading a person, Gardner said she becomes aware of a person's energy. "It's not just your physical body, it's vibrating little dots of energy," she said.

Gardner is quick to laugh about some of the limitations of her psychic ability. "Someone asked me if I knew the lottery numbers, I thought, 'If I knew them would I be talking to you?'"

A grandmother, Gardner is married to Scott Gardner, who she met when she took an astrology class from him.

For a reading, call her at 416-5491. To register for her classes "Psychic Development" or "Death Is an Illusion," call 416-5491.

Graham steps down after eight years on school board

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

After eight years on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education, Barbara Graham is moving on. The Plymouth resident attended her last school meeting Monday.

She was saluted by her colleagues, and given a standing ovation by a packed board room.

Reminiscing about his 13 years on the board, Board President David Artley said, "Sometimes someone comes along, and you don't agree with that person. I didn't always agree with Barbara, but she caused me to think. We've been through a lot of wars together. Barbara has been a good conscience for the board."

Graham excelled at communicating, Artley said. "That's something a lot of elected officials never do. There's not a person in eight years that ever came before this board that felt Barbara Graham hadn't listened to them.

"She brought a point of view to the board that will be difficult to replace. People on the board now listen to each other. That wasn't always the case."

Artley presented her with a certificate from the Michigan Association of School Boards; an engraved key chain; and a copy of Sam Hudson's book, "Plymouth-Canton Community Schools: Michigan's 10th Largest School District."

The schools that "adopted" Graham were lucky, because "when you adopted Barbara, you got good cookies," added the board president. "She has spent countless hours reading to kids. She's been forthright, fair, honest and consistent."

Graham said, "After being involved in two different school districts and having had the opportunity to watch children grow, I've had my rewards early in life. I've always tried to make decisions thinking 'Those are my kids.'

"Someone asked me if I would do this again. In a heartbeat. Do I feel bad about leaving? Certainly. I've spent years trying to get a message across."

Without husband Lloyd – a Plymouth-Canton graduate who served as "secretary" and never complained about burned or cold meals – "I couldn't have done it," Graham said, asking her husband to stand up.

"I would encourage everyone to be involved somehow, some way in schools in the community you live in. If you can't be on the school board, there's the PTO and a thousand things you can do.

Bird principal to join Troy schools

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth-Canton school board members regretfully accepted the resignation Monday night of Bird Elementary School Principal Claudia Kulnis.

Kulnis is leaving after 19 years in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. A West Bloomfield resident, Kulnis will be principal of Hill Elementary School in the Troy School District.

"It's with regret that we accept the resignation of Claudia Kulnis," said board member Jack Farrow. "She's done a wonderful job at Bird School. I know, because my son attended Bird. I want to wish her the best. We are very disappointed she is moving, but we understand the issues and wish her the best. Let the minutes reflect we appreciate her contributions."

Bird parents, staff and students planted a maple tree in front of the school to honor Kulnis. They hosted a goodbye party for her at the Box Bar Tuesday night.

"I've really been touched by the community and outpouring of well wishes," said Kulnis. "It was a difficult decision to make, but I have always been a proponent of change with students and staff alike. We have to continue to be lifelong learners and one must stretch oneself and grow continuously."

"This opportunity just came my way, and I decided to take it and to put into practice what I've been teaching. After 19 years, this was a major decision. I feel as if Plymouth is really my home, and my heart is still there. I don't know how long it will be there; probably always.

"It was such a difficult decision. They wanted me to make the decision quickly; it happened within just a few days."

Kulnis joined the district in 1977 as a teacher at Eriksson Elementary. She also served as a special education resource teacher; Tanger assistant principal; assistant principal at Isbister Elementary; and principal at Smith Elementary and Bird, where she worked for five years.

"I will never replace the children or the parents or staff at Bird. They've just been wonderful," she said.

Twice, Bird has received state accreditation and been awarded exemplary summary status.

"I think the strength at Bird lies in the fact that we have an exemplary staff, a very supportive parent group and a community that supports education. With those three components, I was able to set high expectations. Many staff members have come to me and said they feel professionalism has increased since I've been there. They met and exceeded the standards I set for them.

"A unique thing that happened," added Kulnis, "was the support of the parents. It's just the neighborhood, and the Bird School attendance area. The parents had such fabulous ideas, expertise, connections and backgrounds that we really did form a partnership and were able to accomplish great things."

Bird also profited from its business partnerships. "We have seven of them," said Kulnis. "They've changed the culture of the school. Just having business people in our school has enlightened us to look at things a little differently, whether it is the approach we use with the curriculum, or even with the budgeting process."

Kulnis said she'd like to see all Plymouth-Canton elementaries accredited.

"I think the expectations and the vision have to be out there and shared with the entire school population, including students, staff and the community."

Leaving is difficult, she said. "I will miss the friends I have made and the expertise of the colleagues I've been able to work with over the years. "I feel the students, staff and parents have really helped me to become successful. That's why I can take on new professional challenges at this time. Their support is what enabled us to accomplish fine things together."

Kulnis will still be around now and then. "I'll be on the Systematic Change Council in the area of elementary science. We are looking at forming a consortium for Plymouth-Canton, Wayne-Westland and Troy" and seeking $10 million over five years.

"And I'll always have to come back and look at the maple tree that the parents and children have planted in my honor on front lawn."

Kulnis replaces Kathy Davisson, who after 12 years is moving to another position within the Troy school district.

Pet store to host Great Dane fund-raiser

Great Dane Rescue, Inc., a non-profit volunteer group dedicated to the rescue and appropriate placement of unwanted, neglected and abused Great Danes, will hold a fund-raiser on Sunday, June 30, at Specialty Pet Supplies in Plymouth.

The goals are to educate the public regarding responsible pet care and to promote rescue activities, hopefully resulting in more adoptions through rescue groups and shelters. They will have before and after pictures, showing rescue danes when they came to them and how great they look after much needed food, love and attention. They will also have rescued Danes accompanied by their proud and loving adoptive families.

A variety of items will be on sale, including rescue shirts and caps, a book by Bob Christenson "How to choose and Care For a Shelter Dog," strong and great looking leads from Prorein for small, medium and large dogs, baked items for dogs and people, and various hand-crafted items.

Also to be raffled are coupons for free veterinary exams by Dr. Brad Jeffrey of Farmington Hills, grooming care by Kristen Lamb and a night of free dogsitting from Jill Wells.

Golf course recognized

Links Magazine in conjunction with Audubon International presented Fox Hills Country Club with the 1996 Best of Golf Award in recognition of outstanding achievement in the category of Golf and the Environment.

Fox Hills was one of 40 courses across the country and one of four in Michigan to receive the award. Awards were presented June 11 at Oakland Hills during the U.S. Open.

Accepting the award on behalf of Fox Hills were owners, Kathy Aznavorian, Sandy Mily and Estelle Dul, as well as Director of Grounds and Facilities, Robert Mateja.

"We were thrilled to receive the award," said Aznavorian. "We have done a great deal to manage the course in a way that respects wildlife, improves water quality and minimizes chemical use. We have recently begun working with Salem Elementary School to teach children about the environment. It's wonderful to be recognized."

tem could discourage restaurant owners from locating here, city commissioners on July 1 have the option to continue the parking credit moratorium for restaurants.

That will be one of the options presented by City Manager Steve Walters to city commissioners at their July 1 meeting, as the issue is scheduled to come before them.

Walters said no restaurants are seeking to locate in the city currently, which means city commissioners could have time to decide whether or not to extend the moratorium.

"I would doubt it would be extended another year," Walters said, adding the moratorium has already been extended for one year, yet negotiations with downtown lot owners couldn't be wrapped up during the extension period.

Loiselle said there are no plans at present to extend the moratorium.

graphs. "I just picked up Babe Ruth's, Joe Louis, Susan B. Anthony, Ulysses Grant," Van Esley said.

The featured ice cream will be Guernsey soft swirl and there will be ice cream cakes and pies, hamburgers, hot dogs, French fries, onion rings, pop and Coke slushes for sale.

"I've got a lot of old Coca-Cola signs for sale, an old Vernors dispenser, political buttons – all American stuff," he said. Among framed and matted newspaper pages on the restaurant's walls will be items on Thomas Edison's death, Amelia Earhart's fateful flight, Lou Gehrig and Knute Rockne.

"I've got the Indians' version of Custer's last stand, the Omaha Republican had a headline 'Seven Sioux Savages Tell the Tale,'" he said.

Van Esley got the idea to open the Plymouth shop one afternoon in the Detroit Antique Mall where he has a booth. "It was just to kind of learn the antique business. I was looking out my window watching people sitting by the fountain eating ice cream, I thought, 'I know where I can do that.'"

Van Esley had planned to open the restaurant last fall. "It just took a lot of time getting the approvals, putting on the new roof, the electrical, plumbing, then I had to move the (real estate) office," he said.

American Pie will be managed by John Lis and will employ five.

"What I learned at the Detroit Antique Mall is you've got to give the people what they want," Van Esley said.

Plymouth man named president of archeology group

Plymouth resident Daniel Hershberger has been elected as President of the Society for Commercial Archeology.

The SCA is the oldest national organization devoted to the commercial-built environment, recognizing the unique historical significance of the artifacts, structures, signs and symbols of the 20th century commercial process, with a emphasis on the impact the automobile had on the shaping of our culture.

The organization has over 900 members from all 50 states, Canada and England. Hershberger first became involved with the organization in 1988, and in 1994 was elected to the SCA's Board of Directors. He has served on the group's Membership Committee, and in addition to his current duties as President, he continues to serve as chair of that organization's latest membership recruitment brochure.

Hersberger's interest in roadside history centers around the industries of gas, food, and lodging and their use of design as a function of advertising and marketing.

Leno attracts crowd for auto parade

STAFF PHOTOS BY TOM HAWLEY

Eight Mile Road was packed with spectators Sunday to watch as 1,400 vehicles rolled along a 3.5 mile stretch from Ryan Road to the Michigan State Fairgrounds at Woodward Avenue. The Auto 100 Parade was held in honor of the 100th anniversary of the automobile industry.

Serving as grand marshal was the Tonight Show's Jay Leno, a known car enthusiast, Leno led the parade, driving in a 1929 convertible Duesenberg owned by Bill Chorkey of Farmington Hills.

A birthday celebration was held at the fairgrounds after the parade. Car exhibits, entertainment and birthday cake were available. John Hertel, general manager of the Michigan State Fairgrounds, declined to comment on attendance figures other than saying the event was very successful, according to Debbie Salem, public relations manager from the Berline Group.

Although Detroit has taken the helm as the Motor City, the Duryea brothers of Massachusetts made the first 13 identical cars in 1896.

Automobile celebration continues

All kinds of activities are planned this summer to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the automobile. Here's a sampling:

- June 27: Great American Auto Race - Overnight stop in Southfield by expensive and exotic pre-WWII cars. Finish line in Canada. (800) DETROIT.
- Aug. 4: Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance - Display of classic cars at Meadow Brook Hall, Rochester. (810) 370-3140.
- Sept. 7-8: Old Car Festival - Autos of the 1930s to 1950s. Dancing, singing, and food. Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village. (313) 271-1620.
- Ongoing: Auto Baron Home Tours - Henry Ford Estate, Fair Lane, (313) 593-5590. Edsel and Eleanor Ford House, (313) 884-4222.

Educators ask state to keep certification for administrators

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Michigan is about to become the only state in the country that doesn't certify school administrators or require continuing education for those who run public schools, three educators warned the State Board of Education.

"We are tearing up the state mandate," said Dr. John B. Poster, dean of the University of Michigan-Dearborn school of education. "If people aren't given that credential in Michigan, they can't be eligible for jobs in other states."

Scheduled to end

State certification of superintendents, principals and their assistants is scheduled to end July 1, both by law and State Board rule. Result: More uncertified people will be able to run schools.

Meanwhile, under the charter school law, more private schools can get in line for state money as "public school academies." And the state already has ended its mandated core curriculum, substituting suggested standards.

"Management of schools should be in the hands of those who are prepared," said Kelvie Comer, dean of education at Central Michigan University, which has 900 students enrolled in certification programs. "If we eliminate certification, Michigan would be the only state in the U.S. that did not offer administrative certification."

"School accreditation requires certified administrators. We urge you to reconsider the matter of administrator certification," said Larry Smiley, chair of CMU's education department.

But the State Board didn't reconsider. Without comment, it yanked from its June 19 agenda a proposal that it continue to certify superintendents, principals, assistant principals, chief business officers and other central office administrators.

■ 'If we eliminate certification, Michigan would be the only state in the U.S. that did not offer administrative certification.'

Kelvie Comer
Central Michigan University

It also removed a second proposal to issue five-year renewals for those already certified.

The proposals came from Superintendent of Public Instruction Arthur Ellis. His memo said 12,000 administrators have been issued certificates, renewable if they take six hours of continuing education. Ellis said Michigan has signed a reciprocity agreement with 30 other states to honor each other's licenses.

No reply

As a matter of procedure, the State Board of Education doesn't comment on audience remarks, which are required to be heard under the Open Meetings Act. Ellis didn't attend the meeting, which was chaired by board president Clark Durant, R-Grosse Pointe. So there was no reply to the university officials.

The university officials liken continuing education for school administrators to similar requirements for medical doctors.

"The State Board established certification rules for various professions," Poster said during a break in the meeting. "It decided to remove school administrators.

"There used to be a field of study for future administrations. There were standards from assistant principal to school superintendent. Without standards, it's not clear what they are supposed to study.

"The idea we heard was that a Lee Iacocca (retired chairman of Chrysler Corp.) would be barred from public school administration (by the standards). But Iacocca is not interested," Poster said, implying that lesser lights from the business world may try to get into school administration.

"The State Board used to require that every five years, an administrator had to take six credits, at either the graduate or undergraduate level."

Board must act

Ellis' memo said PA 335 of 1993, part of the Proposal A package, eliminated certification as a condition for being a Michigan school administrator but kept the renewal section. But PA 289 of 1995, which takes effect July 1, eliminates renewal certificates. And unless the State Board renews certificates under its rule-making powers, there is no certification.

"It's not clear whether we can issue licenses," said Poster. "We talked to Bryant (Rep. William Bryant, R-Grosse Pointe, chair of the House Education Committee). He's sympathetic.

"But the governor's office is opposed. Still (Sen. Leon Stille, R-Spring Lake, chair of the Senate Education Committee) has not agreed to go along. So we're asking the State Board of Education to include certification in its rules. But they're with Stille.

"This (lack of certification) helps people who want to start their own schools."

We have a mobile society," added Donna Schmidt, superintendent of Melvindale-North Allen Park schools. "We're putting all (administrators) at risk. If they move, they're at a tremendous disadvantage in getting new jobs."

YWCA seeking nominations for 1996 achievement awards

Nominations are being accepted for the 1996 Women of Achievement Awards, sponsored by the YWCA of Western Wayne County.

The awards recognize women who live or work in western Wayne County and have demonstrated qualities of outstanding leadership and excellence in both their professional and personal endeavors for the betterment of western Wayne County.

A winner will be chosen in the following categories: arts/communications; business/ industry; government/law; professions; volunteer service; and young women.

The award, Ivy titles created by Pewabic Pottery of Detroit, will be presented at the YWCA's Women of Achievement Awards luncheon on Friday, Nov. 1, at the Fairlane Club in Dearborn.

Florine Mark, president and chief executive of the W.W. Group Inc., the largest franchise of Weight Watchers International, will be the keynote speaker.

Nomination forms are available at the administration building of the YWCA of Western Wayne County, 26279 Michigan Ave., Inkster 48141, or by calling (313) 561-4110.

Anti-carjacking efforts pay off, says HEAT director

The number of carjackings in April 1996 was down 30 percent from last year.

That's according to Inspector Dennis Richardson of the Detroit Police Department's Carjacking Task Force. The number of arrest warrants are up from April 1995, and the department solved more than 40 percent of carjacking cases in April 1996, Richardson said.

Last September H.E.A.T. (Help Eliminate Auto Thefts) joined with The Alliance to create an anti-carjacking initiative. The coalition – the first of its kind in a major metropolitan U.S. area – was to be a model for metropolitan areas across the nation dealing with the issue of carjacking. Since the anti-carjacking initiative kickoff, the number of carjackings in southeast Michigan has steadily declined.

The anti-carjacking initiative includes the participating of a southeastern Michigan multi-jurisdictional law enforcement task force, U.S. Attorney's office, FBI, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, the U.S. Secret Service and initiatives by private businesses and the H.E.A.T. program.

"Carjacking is no longer a crime that someone can commit and get off easily," Richardson said.

"There's a very likely chance that a carjacker will be caught and the minimum penalty is one year in prison."

The minimum punishment for convicted carjackers who use a handgun is three years in prison, with a maximum penalty of life in prison, Richardson said.

The task force, funded by a $500,000 Byrne Grant and coordinated by the Detroit Police Department, includes three investigative teams. These teams have multi-jurisdictional authority, allowing them to cross city, township, county and even state lines in the pursuit of carjacking suspects and criminals. Participating law enforcement agencies include the Michigan State Police, Wayne, Oakland and Macomb County Sheriffs Departments and Southfield and Warren police.

In a cooperative effort, Ford Motor Co. and AAA of Michigan stepped forward last fall to raise awareness about carjacking and educate citizens on how to protect themselves. AAA printed 90,000 anti-carjacking brochures and plans to print 60,000 more by fall 1996.

A television public service announcement – offering anti-carjacking tips and information on the H.E.A.T. tip-reward line (1-800-242-HEAT) – was produced by H.E.A.T. and The Alliance.

"That kind private sector initiative, supporting the efforts of the multi-jurisdictional task force is what has made the anti-carjacking initiative successful this year," Bill Liddane, director of the H.E.A.T. program, said.

"This task force has essentially become a brain center with multi-jurisdictional carjacking data coming in from all areas of southeastern Michigan," Liddane said.

The H.E.A.T. program has been a critical element in solving many auto theft and carjacking cases, Lt. Hilton Napolean, the officer in charge of the Detroit Carjacking Task Force, said.

H.E.A.T. is Michigan's statewide auto theft prevention program that coordinates citizen action with law enforcement agencies through a toll-free tip line for reporting information on stolen vehicles and suspected auto theft activities, including chop shops, theft rings, insurance fraud and carjackings.

The H.E.A.T. confidential tip line and $2,000 carjacking reward have played an important role in the year's 30 percent decrease in carjacking, Liddane said.

"The $2,000 reward attracts a lot of people who have knowledge about carjackings but are unsure about sharing that information," Liddane said. "H.E.A.T. tips give the anti-carjacking task force the ability to target suspects and use more aggressive, proactive investigative techniques."

H.E.A.T. is funded by the Michigan auto insurance industry through the Michigan Auto Insurance Placement Facility. The Michigan State Police Criminal Investigation Section monitors the H.E.A.T. tip line and directs tip information to the appropriate police agency in the state. If the H.E.A.T. tip provides law enforcement officials with information that leads to the issuance of a warrant and arrest of a carjacking suspect, H.E.A.T. awards the tip line called $2,000. If the tip leads to the arrest and prosecution of a suspected car thief, H.E.A.T. awards the tip line caller up to $1,000. Up to $10,000 is rewarded if the tip results in the arrest and binding over for trial of suspected theft ring members and/or chop shop owners.

Fall semester registration continues at Madonna

Madonna University's fall term on-campus registration for new and returning students has begun and will continue until Wednesday, July 31.

Office hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Late registration will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 1 through Friday, Aug. 30. The office will be closed from 8-9 a.m. on Aug. 9 and hours will be extended to 7 p.m. on Aug. 26 and 29. Classes begin the week of Sept. 3.

Students can enroll in day, evening and weekend classes, and non-admitted students must obtain a permit to register from the admissions office.

A Ray of Hope in the War Against Cancer

By Manuel Valdivieso, M.D., F.A.C.P., F.C.C.P

Over the last 25 years, we have seen an explosion in our understanding and treatment of cancer. Studies have revealed insights leading to new treatment strategies such as providing medical treatments following surgical removal of a cancerous tumor.

Technologic advances such as computerized scanning and magnetic resonant imaging have aided in the evaluation of the spread of cancer in the body. Additionally, monoclonal antibodies and chromosome studies are used to recognize certain forms of cancer, and new discoveries in the fields of chemotherapy, bone marrow transplant, immunotherapy, and radiation therapy assist in the control of early and advanced disease. An appreciation of the virtues and limitations of these advances by physicians has led to the formulation of multidisciplinary team approaches to cancer treatment.

It is encouraging that 50 percent or more of certain cancers can be cured today. Included are the acute leukemias of children, some leukemias of adults, lymphomas, and testicular cancer, and common cancers if detected early such as breast, colon, rectum, uterine, and lung. However, much more work is needed to treat advanced stages of most cancers, particularly those of common sites.

Part of this progress has been possible by enactment of the National Cancer Act championed by Senator Edward Kennedy and signed by President Richard Nixon in 1971. After 25 years, several battles have been won though the war against cancer continues.

Dr. Manuel Valdivieso is the director of Oakwood Healthcare System's Cancer Center of Excellence. He has been a consultant to the National Cancer Institute as a member of several of its study sections, and is nationally known for his work in lung cancer.

Plymouth firm changes name

EVCOR-Detroit, a consulting and engineering firm specializing in systems integration based in Plymouth, has changed its corporate name to Taylor Systems Engineering Corporation.

The announcement was made by Mark A. Taylor, President and CEO.

"While we have been a proud and long-standing member of the EVCOR network, we feel a new name and logo are a logical progression in differentiating our unique staff, services and experience from others," said Taylor.

"In the Detroit area, 95 percent of the companies utilizing integrated systems in their operations, were created by us," he added. We are proud of this statistic, as well as the fact that we offer clients, through our local, degreed, certified engineers, design flexibility and the capability to customize software. We will remain as dedicated as ever to excellence, accountability, integrity, communication and innovation in everything we do from consulting to design and service."

Teacher group elects new officers

Those invested are: Brooke Disbrow, president; Evelyn Marchio and Mickey Edell Cotner, vice presidents; Nancy Malecki, secretary; Donna Sarrach, treasurer; Carolyn Liebau, chaplin; Gloria Foust and Dee Prom, historians.

In addition to providing ongoing support and help for First Step and other altruistic endeavors, members voted to send three children to Diabetic Camp this summer.

Chapter members, who are mostly from Plymouth, Canton, Northville and Livonia, are preparing a cookbook to use in their fund raising activities later this year.

Commission vote OKs park plan

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

The Wayne County Commission voted down the project list for the proposed parks millage June 20, but a second vote in the same meeting resulted in approval.

Wayne County Parks Director Hurley Coleman Jr. watched in horror as the list, a plan for use of the money generated by the proposed quarter-mill tax increase for parks, didn't get enough yes votes, and failed 7-5. Fifteen commissioners make up the commission and eight votes are needed for approval. Two commissioners were absent and two commissioners were out of the room during the first vote.

Wayne County voters will decide the issue in the Aug. 6 primary election. The proposal would cost the owner of a $100,000 house $12.50 a year more in taxes.

As the commission went on with other items before them on the agenda, Coleman worked in the background to get the item brought up for reconsideration.

Commissioner Susan Hubbard of Dearborn, who voted against the item, agreed to bring the plan up for reconsideration.

It was approved on the second vote 8-5 as a commissioner who had been absent during the first vote, added the needed yes vote to approve it.

Commissioner Michelle Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, voted in favor. Vice Chair Kay Beard, D-Westland, was absent. Plawecki also represents Redford Township and Livonia east of Middlebelt. Beard also represents Garden City.

"We can consider this an agreement that the plan to spend the millage is appropriate," a relieved Coleman said after the meeting.

But McCotter is concerned that the plan doesn't include enough benefits for western Wayne County. "We're not getting back what we may pay into it," McCotter said.

Once the parameters to spend the money are set, it's going to be hard to get them changed, he said.

The proposed project list includes plans for spending $26.3 million on parks projects with $13,750,000 to go to three Detroit projects. A water park and improvements at historic Fort Wayne are included.

Also included are improvements at Hines Park and the Holliday Forest Nature Preserve in Westland.

Work under way on juvenile facility

Ground has been broken to mark the start of construction on the new Wayne County Juvenile Detention Facility.

Located on St. Antoine at Clinton Street in Detroit, the new 183,000-square-foot facility will be across the street from the Wayne County Jail and the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice and will provide temporary housing for up to 188 youth offenders ages 17 and under.

The new facility replaces the existing Youth Home at I-75 and Forest, which was built in 1965.

The new facility is expected to cost about $35 million and is expected to be completed by late 1997.

International hospice to meet in Ann Arbor

The 12th annual symposium for the International Hospice Institute will be coming to the Crowne Plaza in Ann Arbor July 17-21. The theme will be on international issues and collaboration.

The conference is expected to attract physicians from around the world, however, the "Mother of Hospice" will not have to travel very far to be in attendance. The founder of the first hospice program at Georgetown University is a resident of Southfield.

Josefino B. Magno, M.D., began her research into palliative care and the terminally ill after becoming appalled with the aggressive treatment cancer patients received when physicians knew that a cure was no longer possible. Mango's husband died of cancer in 1955 and, 20 years later, was treated for breast cancer herself.

During the same period, Magno and her parish friends from Virginia organized their own home care program for the terminally ill. When she learned of a high school closing its doors, she convinced the community to not only give the building to her, but cover the $963,000 cost to renovate it into a hospice inpatient facility.

Magno advocated for the terminally ill and initiated the Blue Cross/Blue Shield hospice benefit and the Medicare/Medicaid hospice care reimbursement. She became the first executive director of the National Hospice Association, and later founded the IHI in 1983.

Born in the Philippines, Magno obtained her degree in medicine, magna cum laude, at the University of Santo Tomas. She married, raised seven children and pursued a career in medicine.

Improvements are needed

The problems of a wheelchair-bound Plymouth man in getting around the city point up several issues that should be addressed by the community.

Herbert Spring recently appeared before the Plymouth City Commission to complain about the state of the city's sidewalks, taking note that: "You find pieces of sidewalk that are heaved at the breaks."

That and other problems force him sometimes to use the streets when going to the bank, the market, or running other errands. When he does take to the streets, there isn't a lot of sympathy for him. Once, when forced onto the street by a snow bank a driver gave him a hand signal to get off the road.

It is a good starting point for us all.

It would make city officials more aware of the obstacles faced by those using wheelchairs, walkers and motorized carts.

There are also parents with baby strollers, walkers and runners who have an interest in keeping the sidewalks in good repair.

The city has responded to Spring and has ordered an inspection of curbs and sidewalks, with an eye toward repairing them.

But there's a second issue. It's the rudeness displayed to Spring when he was forced into the street. There is a mind-set on the part of some motorists that nothing should get in their way while driving. It's one they should lose.

The solution to Spring's problem is twofold. First, the city of Plymouth should do its utmost to make it easy for wheelchair-bound people to get around, and second, streets are to be shared by all, not just drivers.

Help is needed to report spills

A task force has been formed by Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw county officials to look for serial spillers who are dropping off barrels of chemical waste near tributaries to the Rouge River system.

All the incidents, 10, have taken place in Washtenaw County. But that doesn't mean they aren't the problem of western Wayne County residents.

As Wayne County Prosecutor John O'Hair said at a recent press conference: "Millions of dollars of cleanup work on the Rouge can be wiped out in a few minutes."

Barrels of chemicals dumped anywhere in the Rouge drainage basin can be the source of contamination of the river which is starting to regain its heath, even to the point that people can again canoe it.

The illegal dumping is being done by midnight-style contractors, people who drive pickup trucks down back roads at night and kick barrels out the back. Authorities said the people could be unscrupulous contractors or they could be the source of the chemicals.

The material dumped recently was a toxic mixture of phenol and napthalene. Both are often used in degreasing agents. The chemicals are commonly used and could have come from any number of area factories or shops, which makes the source difficult to trace.

Because of that, the task force is offering a $1,500 reward for information leading to the capture of the culprits. Persons with information can call (313) 973-7711.

Washtenaw and Wayne county officials are looking for more donations to the reward fund. That money could come from individuals, groups or private business. To make a donation, call the telephone number.

Another good idea that came out of the formation of the task force is forming a neighborhood watch for the Rouge River system. It's not possible for police to patrol every foot of the river system or its tributaries. They need help from the public.

But while there isn't a formal neighborhood watch, police said residents can start right now by calling 911 when they see suspicious people in trucks carrying barrels near the river system. Police said much of the illegal dumping comes at night.

Although any dumping in the Rouge is tragic, the threat to Johnson Creek is doubly so.

Cleanup: It will cost more than $100,000 to remove three barrels of chemicals from near Johnson Creek.

Johnson Creek has been identified as one of the cleanest portions of the Rouge system. The water is so clean that the state Department of Natural Resources and the Western Wayne Conservation Club have been planting brown trout in the creek.

Trout, unlike other species of fish such as carp and catfish, can't live in polluted waters. Trout need more oxygen in the water than other fish. There's now a certain bit of pride that area residents can feel now that Johnson Creek has become a trout stream.

Western Wayne Conservation Club members are concerned that chemicals from the most recent dumping could harm that trout planting program.

Great strides have been made to improve the state of the Rouge River system. Communities have spent millions of dollars to improve sewers so that the river's water quality is better. Also, volunteers have put sweat equity into the river by pulling trash out of the river.

We all have a stake in making the river system a recreation asset, not a neglected sewer. We can't let a few people destroy what many have worked on so hard and long.

We can all make a contribution by simply watching what's going on in our section of the Rouge and calling 911 when there are suspicious people near the river.

In the matter of Schools of Choice.....

LETTERS

Congressional concern

I am concerned over the recent "alleged" incident between congresswoman Lynn Rivers and Rep. Deborah Whyman of Canton.

It is my understanding that Rep. Whyman was harassed by a Rivers campaign worker at the recent Strawberry Festival Parade and has filed a report with the police for "ethnic intimidation."

I also read that despite several witnesses to the confrontation, Rep. Rivers denied the accusation and dismissed the incident as a "phantom incident."

What is going on here? Can Congresswoman Rivers really be this insensitive? I am appalled over her total lack of concern for this matter. I feel I have to question her commitment to the community if she allows people who work for her to behave in this manner. This is exactly the problem with our government - arrogance. Those in power feel they are somehow above the law.

I think Rep. Rivers needs to get control of her staff. If she can't control the people who work for her, I have serious reservations about her ability to govern in general.

I urge my fellow Plymouth residents to write to Congresswoman Rivers and share your concerns about this manner. We've fought for a long time to end discrimination, let's not let it win now.

Nedra Jenkins

A false cure

I'd like to congratulate Phil Power on his column regarding school of choice.

As usual, Phil has hit the nail on the head in describing accurately what schools of choice are all about.

It will do nothing to improve education. It will do nothing to force the districts to improve education. And the people who will use it will mostly use for athletic or other reasons.

It's a hoax that the politicians in Lansing have given to the public, and unfortunately because some of the public feels that they can take this pony and ride it to aid to parochial schools is very popular now.

Dean Swartzwelter

Big money not the answer

I would like to respond to Mr. Scott Heinzman's editorial of May 30, entitled "Training helps ensure everyone gets access."

In this editorial on "training" I find that Mr. Heinzman takes the opportunity to suggest that only big money donors get access to Republican leaders.

Heinzman may already know that U.S. House Minority Leader David Bonior, and President Bill Clinton also have big money fundraisers.

So Mr. Heinzman lets not suggest that only the Republicans have fundraisers, lest you bias yourself.

It also needs to be pointed out that if one wants to have access to political leaders, one does not have to work real hard.

I have spoken to many political leaders at no cost. Just last week I witnessed a woman ask governor Engler three questions, back to back. She paid nothing for that opportunity.

In his thesis, Mr. Heinzman suggests that the Republicans want to repeal ADA because it is an unfunded mandate. Mr. Heinzman the Republicans feel that broad sweeping regulations lead to absurdities.

I ask that you consider the recent news story about Mother Theresa's efforts to open a homeless shelter and kitchen in Chicago. Her effort failed. Why? Her organization was going to have to make literally hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of upgrades to bring the building up to standard. The effort failed. Thus, the homeless, and the community lost out.

While I applaud Mr. Heinzman's activism, and understand the motivations. I question has logic and bias.

Use precautions when planning holiday fireworks

As the summer holiday season approaches, the Canton Fire Department would like to remind residents about the importance of fireworks safety.

Handled by professionals, fireworks add immense enjoyment to the Fourth of July and other holiday celebrations. But to keep holidays and other joyous occasions from turning into tragedies, remember that improper handling may lead to serious injury.

Many burns, caused by the intense heat of fireworks, leave lifelong, disfiguring scars. Even sparklers - a seemingly harmless firework - cause 75 percent of all fireworks injuries. These injuries are sustained by children under 5 years of age. Fascinated by the bright sparks, small children tend to wrap their hands around the lit fuse, which may be as hot as 1,800 degrees. Another 20 percent of fireworks injuries are eye injuries. Misused fireworks also present a potential fire hazard.

'Without a doubt, the safest way to enjoy fireworks is to attend one of the many public displays to take place this summer. .'

Michigan law defines the types of fireworks that can be sold and used without a permit. They are "Paper Caps," "Toy Trick Noise Makers," "Sparklers," "Fountains," "Toy Snakes," and "Toy Smoke Devices." Although use and purchase of all other types of fireworks require a permit, a recent Wayne County Circuit Court ruling prohibits the police department from enforcing the law. The State Court of Appeals is expected to ultimately resolve the issue.

Should you choose to use fireworks, keep in mind these important safety tips:

- Always read and follow label directions
- Always have adult supervision
- Buy from a reputable retailer
- Ignite fireworks outdoors
- Have water handy
- Light only one device at a time
- Never re-light malfunctioning fireworks
- Never give fireworks to small children
- Store fireworks in a cool, dry place
- Dispose of properly
- Never throw fireworks at another person
- Never carry fireworks in your pocket

Without a doubt, the safest way to enjoy fireworks is to attend one of the many public displays to take place this summer. The highlight of Canton's Liberty Festival beginning on June 21 is always the Saturday night fireworks show. Come early to get a good spot and observe the following tips to make it a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

Obey all officials and respect the safety barriers that have been set up. Resist any temptation to move in too close to the actual firing site. In fact the best view of the fireworks is from a quarter of a mile or more away.

Although it rarely happens, it is possible that a fireworks component might fall to the ground without exploding. Please do not touch these fireworks. Keep people away and contact a firefighter or police officer.

Pets have very sensitive ears and the booms and bangs associated with a fireworks display can be quite uncomfortable — particularly for dogs. In fact, the noises can actually hurt their ears. Please leave pets at home if you are going to a fireworks show.

When you attend a public display, leave your fireworks at home. Sparklers, fountains and other fireworks are not appropriate in the midst of a large crowd. Leave the lighting of fireworks to trained operators. The public display will provide plenty of excitement.

The Fire Department's suggestion is to play it safe and let the professionals handle the fireworks. The Canton Fire Department has specific, detailed information about fireworks and fireworks laws available to residents. Please give us a call at 397-5346 and we will be happy to answer your questions.

Your genetic history is your private business

"The next big issue," said state Rep. Gerald Law, "will be use of genetic tests by insurers."

We chatted on the House floor during a lull in the school aid debate. Law, R-Plymouth, had just seen his bill to license hospices signed by Gov. John Engler. Law is working on pain management bills with Rep. John Jamian, R-Bloomfield Township, in a bipartisan group on the Health Policy Committee.

Clearly, Law was thinking ahead — and he was right.

On June 18, the New York Times reported, the New Jersey Legislature passed a law banning health insurers from denying access, or setting higher rates, to individuals who are genetically predisposed to certain diseases.

Eleven states have such laws. New Jersey's is considered the most comprehensive, said the Times, because it covers both genetic testing and genetic information, such as family history.

A group called Council for Responsible Genetics was quoted as saying it identified more than 200 cases of insurance and job discrimination around the U.S. based on genetic information.

Here is the worker's problem: If you find at 30 that you carry a gene that programs you to get breast cancer or Alzheimer's or cystic fibrosis in your 40s and you apply for a big job, an employer's health insurance carrier won't want you hired because you will cost them a pile of money. Results: You don't get a job, are discarded on an economic scrap heap and can't buy health insurance from anyone who knows about your genes.

A group called Council for Responsible Genetics was quoted as saying it identified more than 200 cases of insurance and job discrimination around the U.S. based on genetic information.

The New Jersey law considers genetic information to be private property. Without it, the insurer has to treat everybody pretty much alike, so everybody has a crack at the job.

An insurer does well when it can weed out bad risks and cream off good ones. Understandably, insurers want to be protected against "self-selection" — a bad risk who knows he carries bad genes for colon cancer, keeps it a secret and tries to buy a ton of life insurance. The statute has some safeguards.

It's the same as if someone could foretell the future. Ladbroke DRC and Northville Downs wouldn't let him near the betting windows.

TIM RICHARD

Genes are the units of heredity. Genetics is the science that showed how Darwin's theory of evolution worked.

Thirty years ago, Dr. Leroy Augenstein began talking about the impact of genetics on human life and moral laws. He campaigned for the U.S. Senate on the issue of the biological revolution. A biophysicist at Michigan State University, Augenstein spoke on who makes decisions, and how, on such questions as:

- "Of three possible patients, who should get one open place on a kidney machine?"
- "If the odds are one in four you and your spouse will have a child so retarded it wouldn't know who or what it is, would you procreate?"
- "Would you deliberately choose to have a child with an IQ of 200?"
- "Should the immediate family be the ones to decide whether a person in a terminal illness should or should not be treated even if there is a fairly large inheritance involved?"
- "Should parents use mind manipulation or behavior manipulation techniques to make sure what values are in their children?"

He raised the questions 200 or 300 times a year before PTAs, Jaycees, Kiwanians, fellow Republicans and anyone else. He put it in a book called Come, Let Us Play God. He was the most sought-after speaker on the MSU faculty.

Augenstein won a seat on the State Board of Education in 1966 and was gearing for a bigger job with this pitch: No one in the U.S. Congress was scientifically prepared to deal with these issues or was even raising the moral questions that genetics was raising.

He was 41 when he died in a 1969 plane crash near Charlotte.

Many of his questions still are with us. Sometimes they pop up in the assisted suicide context; other times, in an insurance context, as Law suggests, or an abortion context. But in today's moron-level campaigns, we are unlikely to see them discussed in a TV debate.

Families offered a choice

GUEST COLUMN

On Wednesday, June 19, Gov. John Engler declared that "Independence Day has come a couple weeks early for Michigan's students and their parents." With the signing of this year's School Aid Act, Michigan abandoned an education system which tied schoolchildren to the land.

Now, just as high school seniors are free to choose what college they will attend — regardless of where they happen to live — families will have more choice in determining where their children will go to elementary, middle, or high school.

The new law, the culmination of indefatigable efforts on the part of the governor, the State Board of Education, and numerous legislators led by Sen. Bill Schuette, allows for parents to choose any public school they wish for their child to attend within their intermediate school district (usually countywide), provided that the district in which the chosen school is located has agreed to accept transferring students.

Since 1982 such choices were permitted, but the district the student was leaving had the ability to reject parents' wishes by refusing to release the students' share of funding. Now, districts cannot hold kids financially hostage.

Critics are fond of calling choice an "experiment." Not so. Choices is a way of life in America, not an experiment. This recent modification to the law simply returns matters to the way they were prior to 1982 when interdistrict choice was more common and less controversial. Moreover, even more expansive forms of school choice have been in place for years (and in some places, decades) around the country and around the world. And the evidence shows that does have marvelous results.

Ask any educator what they would attribute as the single greatest determining factor of a student's success in school. Nine out of 10 times, I expect you would hear "parental involvement" as great as any other outcome; school choice — by its very definition — gets parents involved. Simply the fact that parents select the school they want their child to attend creates an important relationship between a family and a school, and a set of shared expectations.

Choice is a two-way street: Both members of the relationship have influence on the other. Parents influence schools because they have the ability to "vote with their feet," taking their child and the dollars of his or her foundation grant with them. Schools can make certain demands on parents as well because that's a requirement of the program in which parents have chosen for their children to take part.

A point about choice that is evident in extensive sociological research also makes a lot of intuitive sense: People tend to care more about decisions they make than those that are made for them.

This choice legislation is a cautious step toward encouraging and empowering parents to be more involved with their children's education.

Now let us hope that school districts will opt to support such parental opportunity and involvement.

June 1996

Dear Friend:

Oakwood Healthcare System has recently completed the data gathering and planning phase of our transition process, which involved more than 400 people (including 147 physicians and dozens representing communities we serve) during the past six months. We are now moving ahead to ensure a healthier tomorrow for our patients/members and our organization as a whole.

Earlier this month, Oakwood's board adopted recommendations emerging from the process, and approved new strategies for the organization through the year 2000. You will hear more about these from us during the next several months.

Why do we feel new strategies are necessary?

Changes in healthcare are occurring in the Detroit area and in virtually every community in the United States. They are affecting every hospital and healthcare system nationwide. These changes include a decrease in inpatient volume, and increase in the demand for outpatient care and other non-acute services, the future decline of Medicare and Medicaid reimbursement, increased pressure from payers and purchasers to reduce costs and increase efficiencies, and managed-care reimbursement which sets fixed dollars per person and dictates a shift toward wellness.

We need to listen to our customers or we won't be in business long. And, we owe it to you and others to be as healthy and strong as possible — so we can meet and exceed your expectations for years to come.

Like any good business, we need to step up and make the adjustments necessary to meet our customers' long-term needs. Those adjustments will require large investments of time and money. However, we recognize our responsibility to make decisions — as difficult as they may be — keeping tightly focused on the best, long-term interests of all those we serve. We've set the strategies and, as customer demands dictate, we will make specific decisions on ways to follow them.

What will the changes achieve? They will ensure that you benefit from consistent, high-quality care across the Oakwood system; make it easier for you to access Oakwood services; make it easier, effective and more desirable for you to move out of the hospital and into the most appropriate non-hospital settings (such as being treated in doctors' offices or at home); promote wellness by increasing education on prevention; and replace unneeded hospital beds with a network of 24 outpatient centers.

You will learn more about these changes and how they will affect you and your family. In the meantime, a special toll-free phone line has been activated through September 30th to receive your questions and comments on this. Please call 1-800-861-4630 to offer a question or comment that can be considered by us in future communications with you. Also, please feel free to write to any of us with your ideas and thoughts at: A Healthier Tomorrow, Oakwood Healthcare System P.O. Box 2500, Dearborn, Michigan 48123-2500.

We are excited about these changes, and need your support and thoughts as we move forward.

Thank you.

KAREN MEIER

Pioneer spirit saves the day

Pioneers in horse-drawn wagons crossing this great land of ours endured really bad stuff. And survived. And had energy left over to settle territories and clear the way for kith and kin. And they have my respect. Especially after my recent, slight brush with pioneering.

This brush, although slight and cushy, definitely had elements of pioneering: the fair distance traveled, the fair-sized brood traveling, wretched, inescapable heat and supplies – limited and organized. Our family flew on an airplane last Friday – the children's first flight.

We'd readied ourselves for this, packing supplies for the seven of us for three days. One suitcase contained all our clothes which resulted in clothes wafers. They'd be fine by the following day when Aunt Margret and Uncle Bob renewed their 50-year-old wedding vows in an old church on Cape Cod.

At the airport, we went to our plane, which wasn't there – it was delayed an hour. We unladened ourselves in the waiting area. We put the car seat down with Steven in it and the open-topped canvas bag, containing 487 pounds of very essential stuff. We put mild Jack down and my purse crammed full with Joe's blankie, three cameras, directions to the Cape Cod church, a song sheet, and Tylenol.

Time passed. Lunchtime neared. Jack's Jackness intensified. We were hungry. Hot. The Tylenol was lost in Joe's blankie. We were not charming.

Since no snack would be provided on the flight, Dad went on a food gathering mission in the airport terminal. Twenty dollars, seven hot dogs

Hometown visit becomes 'big event'

■ Jack Riggs came up with an idea of heading back to his hometown of Portsmouth, Ohio, with a "few" of his buddies. Little did he know it would turn out to be a "big" event in the Buckeye State.

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

Jack Riggs thought it was a good idea ... taking a few of his buddies and their wives back to his old hometown for a visit.

A native of Portsmouth, Ohio, Riggs left the town of 29,000 in 1960 and came to Michigan in search of work. So why not take "10-12 guys" back to see what's going on there? Maybe the two shoe factories have closed and it's no longer the largest producer of steel in the area, but it's a town steeped in a history that even touches Detroit.

Well, it seems that little visit has turned into something much bigger.

A Mason for 32 years, the Garden City resident will be among 100 Masons from Michigan and another 600-700 Masons from Kentucky and Ohio converging on Portsmouth the weekend of July 12-14.

"I'm not really surprised, I'm elated," said Riggs, a 33rd degree Mason and worshipful master of Garden City Blue Lodge 587. "This is good for Masonry because people don't understand what a Mason is."

"I loved the idea of a visitation," said C.R. Woody, a 14-year Mason and lodge ritualist. "I've already signed up. I lived in Toledo one time, but never been to Portsmouth."

Situated at the confluence of the Ohio and Scioto Rivers along the border with Kentucky, Portsmouth is more than Home Sweet Home for

Deadline draws near for entering Wayne County Fair

It's still not too late to get involved with the golden anniversary edition of the Wayne County Fair as a volunteer or exhibitor.

The fair will celebrate its 50th anniversary Tuesday, July 23, through Sunday, July 28, at the Wayne County Fairgrounds, I-94 and Belleville Road, Belleville.

Entries for the adult open class building cost $2 for each item and can be submitted until the entry drop-off dates – July 13 for non-perishables and July 20 for perishables.

The open class includes culinary arts (breads, cookies, cakes and the like), canning, vegetables, farm crops and flowers, and home economics – clothing, crafts, dolls, needlework, holiday decorations, ceramics and art – and therapeutic hobbicraft.

Non-perishable items – clothing, crafts, dolls, needlework, holiday decorations, ceramics, arts, photography, therapeutic hobbicraft and canning – will be accepted between 1 and 5 p.m. on Saturday, July 13, while perishable items will be accepted between 1 and 5 p.m. Saturday, July 20. Exhibits will be released 5-8 p.m. only Monday, July 29.

There also will be a Wayne County Homemaker Contest. Points will be awarded for gold, first-, second- and third-place ribbons won in any four of the categories of horticulture, floriculture, canned goods, needlecraft (other than sewing), baked goods, fine arts, sewing, hobbies and crafts.

Participants also earn points for volunteering at least four hours at the fair (documentation required), with extra points will be awarded for six or more hours and for answering each of eight questions on the homemaker form.

The winner of the competition will be honored as the Homemaker of the Year at an awards ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, July 25, and will receive a certificate Wednesday, Aug. 28, as part of the Michigan State Fair's County Fair Day County Fair Homemaker competition.

The winner of the state fair competition will receive a $100 premium as well as receive a tiara, sash, plaque and additional prizes.

Applications for the homemaker contest are available by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Karen Slebodnik, superintendent of the open class building at the Wayne County Fair Association, P.O. Box 308, Belleville 48112. The deadline for entering is July 20.

The fair hours will be 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. July 23-28, with the carnival opening at 1 p.m. daily July 24, 26-28 and at 11 a.m. July 25 for Kids Day.

Admission is $6 per person, which includes parking, all entertainment and all-day carnival rides, with a special rate of $3 per car and $5 per bus available on July 23 only.

The entertainment will include The Van-Dels at 8 p.m. July 25, the Wagon Wheel Rodeo at 7:30 p.m. July 26, and the ever-popular fair closer, USA Figure 8 Derby at 7 p.m. July 28.

Volunteers are needed to help with setting up displays, registration, building supervision and oversee games, a raffle and sale of the 1996 County Fair Cookbook that feature 100 pages and costs $5.

For more information about entering the fair or serving as a volunteers, call Slebodnik at (313) 722-8969 or assistant superintendent Cheryl Toms at (313) 697-3963.

Portsmouth from page 13A

Riggs. History buffs will recognize it as the home of the westerns' Roy Rogers, baseball's Branch Rickey who signed Jackie Robinson in 1947, and the NFL's Portsmouth Spartans which became the Detroit Lions in 1934.

Portsmouth and its "town within a town" of New Boston are welcoming visitors by making them honorary citizens, a courtesy extended by the city of Garden City to members of the Portsmouth Aurora Lodge 48.

And William Clay Ford, also a 33rd degree Mason and owner of the Detroit Lions, has indicated the Lions organization will provide a gift for lodge member to present to the Portsmouth lodge.

The visitation includes an afterglow on the banks of the river under Grant Bridge, Saturday morning Maize and Blue vs. Buckeyes golf tournament, a banquet and performance of "Rose on the Altar" by the Valley of Cincinnati acting teams.

There also will be time to see the city's flood .3-mile long flood wall, covered with some 40 murals, depicting Portsmouth's history and historical personalities, painted by master of mural art Robert Dafford.

While the men turn out at the Vern Riffe Center for the Performing Arts for a combined Masonic ritual during which Blue Lodge member Doug Louisville of Livonia will become a master Mason, their wives will be treated to a concert at the Masonic Lodge.

"Each state has its own ritual for the master Mason degree, so there will be two portions," Riggs said. "We will do one portion, using a pro-tem candidate, and the Aurora Lodge will do the second section, the Ohio rite."

"We'll have special paper aprons as keepsakes and to wear during the degree work," added Woody.

Three Aurora Lodge members also will be made honorary lifetime members of the Blue Lodge and vice versa, during the weekend.

And closing out the weekend will be a "hillbilly breakfast" at the Aurora Lodge on Sunday morning.

Helping out

The breakfast is nothing new to Blue Lodge which has its own all-you-can-eat-for-$3-per-person "hillbilly breakfast, served 8-11 a.m. the second Saturday of the month. Money from the breakfast fund and the sale of 500 commemorative badges – available at $2 each are – helps pay for the visitation.

"I hope to make it an annual event," Riggs said. "It all depends on how it turns out. There may be a reciprocal agreement that next year, they come up here."

The visitation is just one of the many things the lodge does. Through dues and fund-raisers, the lodge is able to provide community scholarships, help needy families at Christmas time, contribute to the Masonic Home in Alma, and support the Shrine Children's Program for burned and crippled children.

"Nationally, the Masons spend $1 million a day on its Shrine hospitals and philanthropies," Riggs said.

With 402 members, 25 percent of whom live in Florida and have reached lifetime status, so they no longer pay dues, the Blue Lodge is feeling the pinch of an aging society.

Membership is by invitation, and the lodge has opened its doors to all and now counts Muslims, who take their oath on the Koran rather than a Bible, among its members.

Riggs has been active in the Scottish Rite and the Shriners for 20 years before returning to the Blue Lodge five years ago. He also served on the Development Committee for the state Masonic organization, which tapped his talents in membership, earning him, in part, his 33rd degree.

Woody, who served as the lodge's worshipful master in 1984, has been retired for 14 years and admits that his work at the lodge "is all I do."

"Woody puts in 12-14 hours a day here," Riggs said. "He sure is my right-hand man."

But for now, the two men are busy finishing up plans for the visitation.

"I like to feel that this will be great to get the word out about Free Masonry," Riggs said. "It's hard to cover all the areas, so you usually end up hitting the bigger, more active ones.

"This will be a big plug for Masonry in Ohio."

Family Room from page 13A

■ And then in the middle of it, Joe announced he was about to be sick, too. I talked him out of it. But I couldn't talk him out of having to go potty.

and four large Pepsis later, he returned. We ate standing up as airport etiquette dictates. Shortly after, we boarded the aircraft.

With carry-ons in hand, we bumped and lugged and oofed ourselves into the plane, down the narrow aisle and into our seats. The flight was smooth and breathtaking. My first time flyers were awestruck. Even wild Jack. The incredible power, unbelievable speed, and the 31,000 feet between the flying machine and earth – all very humbling. We safely landed in Boston's Logan Airport, located on its own land hunk in the Atlantic Ocean.

It's about 70 miles from Boston to Cape Cod by way of Route 3, an interstate highway [illegible] and many percents according to the map. And the highway goes right through Plymouth, where the pilgrims landed. A fun and historical drive was in store for us.

We picked up our rental vehicle, a seven-passenger van and began our journey to the Cape. We'd never done this before – this rental car thing. It was kind of cool.

Well, not really. We got on the clogged one-way road, leading to the tunnel that gets you to the mainland into the heart of Boston, when the radio told us it [illegible] humidity. We turned the air-conditioning on. Heat came out. We shut the air-conditioning off and opened all windows. But that didn't help because we were in the tunnel clogged and stopped up all the way to the end.

So there we were, under the ocean, the seven of us, in a tunnel, windows open, vehicles pulsing and fuming beside us, behind us, ahead of us. I suggested singing songs from Carmen's song sheet she got at school two days before at her third-grade music program, still stuffed in my purse beside Joe's blankie.

"Keep it stuffed," someone mumbled.

Eleven miles ticked by on the odometer during the next 2 1/2 hours. Jack became the most unglued of us. Near Braintree, Mass., he did his 50th anniversary, I'm in a car, I'm too hot, uncles and airports and a gobbled hotdog trick. There was no place to pull over in that bumper-to-bumper, Friday afternoon, Boston to Cape Cod traffic. So from the 497-pound canvas bag I pulled a paper cup and many baby wipes, and then from nowhere in particular I pulled some pioneer spirit and worked with what I had and did what I had to do.

And then in the middle of it, Joe announced he was about to be sick, too. I talked him out of it. But I couldn't talk him out of having to go potty. Out came another paper cup. And then another for Carmen because her tooth was loose and all the commotion somehow made it looser.

We passed through Plymouth some hours later. I felt a deep kinship with my Mayflower ancestors. And then a bit later, we arrived on Cape Cod.T h e next day, Aunt Margret and Uncle Bob renewed their vows in a very old, white clapboard church with a steeple on top on the village square. All five of their children were present. And their families. And friends and relatives from far and wide. They'd all come. It was fitting. Because through thick and thin, far and wide, the anniversary couple had traveled to stand before the preacher. Inspiring the rest of us, blazing the way, settling territory.

Sure, we endured some bad stuff on Route 3. But it paled in comparison to the endurance of real pioneers and pilgrims and couples in love for 50 years.

Community Hospice holds golfing benefit

The Community Hospice Foundation, in its continuing effort to support the work of Community Hospice Services Inc., will conduct its second annual "Living Every Day" Golf Outing Monday, July 1, at the Dearborn Country Club.

The day will start off with a buffet luncheon, followed by a shotgun start for the foursome scrambles event. Par three holes have a designated prize for a hole-in-one, according to Christopher Ziomek, foundation president.

Refreshments will be available throughout the event, with a New York sirloin dinner and awards presentation slated for 7:30 p.m.

Several sports celebrities are available to play foursomes, including former Detroit Red Wings Bill Gadsby, John Wilson, Lee Norwood and John Orgrodnik. Also on hand will be UPN-50 sportscaster Bob Trembel and WWJ weatherman Sonny Elliot, with former Detroit Lions Tom Watkins and former Miami Dolphins Chris Ziomek among the golfers.

Sponsorship opportunities are available for individuals and businesses. Fees are $1,000 for corporate, $500 for the putting green, $400 for hole-in-one, longest drive and closest to the pin, $300 for an individual hole or driving range. All sponsorships include golfing, advertising in the official program and recognition on the course.

Individual golf tickets are $195 and $65 for dinner only. They are available at the Community Hospice Services offices at 32932 W. Warren Road, Suite 100, Westland, or 217 S. Main St., Plymouth. They also are available by calling the offices at (313) 522-4244 or (313) 459-0548.

Community Hospice Services was established in 1981 to offer compassionate, skilled home care to terminally ill people. Hospice offers supportive care, promotes quality of life and provides comfort and emotional healing for the patient and family members.

"We provide services to patients and their families regardless of financial situation," said Maureen Butrico, CHS executive director. "While some costs for medication, nursing and doctor visits are covered by the patient's medical insurance, many patient expenses must be supplemented in other ways."

Community Hospice Services is available in western Wayne, southern Oakland and eastern Washtenaw counties.

Writer is tolerant and open-minded about others

LORENE GREEN

Dear Ms Green:

I saw your article in the newspaper and wanted to have my handwriting analyzed as I have always been fascinated that graphologists can tell so much about the personality of a person.

What I find so amazing is that some of the characteristics of the person is revealed even though these may not be apparent to others (on the outside).

I used to have a slight backward tilt as a young child, but growing up in England, we were taught to write more straight (upward).

Thank you so much, I hope I get an analysis. My age is 49 and I am right handed.

N.P.,
Royal Oak

Here is the handwriting of a woman who is tolerant and open-minded toward others. She is inclined to accept people as they are and not try to mold them into her pattern. She is probably a good listener also.

I think she would be considered a serious person. She reasons carefully. Problems are solved by accumulating facts in a methodical and orderly manner. Conclusions are based on known and proven facts and her decisions are made slowly and with care.

She needs time to mentally work things though and may feel insecure when she has to rush. If allowed to proceed at her own speed, she can be more effective. If other people place time limits on her, she may feel pressured. While her mind absorbs slowly, she rarely forgets what she has learned.

Close attention is given to all details. And while they may be a tad irritating at times, she also realizes their importance.

The writer is practical and looks before she leaps. She believes in taking precautions and leaves little to chance. Common sense is her key phrase.

This nice woman seems to be experiencing some contradictions in her life at this time. We all have some of them and they can cause difficulty in decision making.

In day-to-day activities, she is rather well-organized. Seemingly, she has a built in sense of order.

There is, however, some procrastination in this handwriting sample. In addition, her energy may sometimes waver before she completes the task. Other times, when the task or decision is completed, she wants to move right on.

The writer wants to communicate with others and form friendships. However, she may be a tad shy and doesn't usually take the first step in a new relationship.

She may also try to avoid new or unfamiliar territory. Presently, she does seem to be taking the time and effort to be more outgoing. This contradictory behavior may cause her to experience butterflies in her tummy.

Authority figures may not be easy for her. She does not want to be dominated and finds competition or taking orders somewhat challenging.

Ostensibly, she is struggling between a need for thrift and a desire for spending. Money, possessions or whatever she equates with love are longed for. And there are things she steadfastly clings to.

At times the writer may feel unappreciated. There is some anxiety regarding herself and possibly concealing her true motives. Feelings of self-esteem may fluctuate, depending on the situation in which she is involved.

This woman has empathy and compassion in her handwriting, but tends to keep her feelings under control. She seems to be about evenly divided between reaching out a helping hand to others and taking care of herself. I realize this is a contradiction, but both needs exist within her.

If you would like your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please write a few paragraphs about yourself, using a full sheet of white, unlined paper and writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and signature are all helpful. Due to the volume of mail, personal replies are not possible. However, objective feedback is welcome.

I saw your article in the newspaper and wanted to have my handwriting analized as I have always been fasinated that graphologists can tell so much about the personality of a person. What I find so amazing is that some of the characteristics of the person is revealed even though these may not be apparent to others (on the outside.)

BOARD PROCEEDINGS
JUNE 18, 1996

A regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Canton was held on Tuesday, June 18, 1996 at 1150 South Canton Center Road. Supervisor Yack called the meeting to order at 7:06 P.M.

ROLL CALL:
Members Present: Bennett, Burdziak, Kirchgatter, Lajoy, McLaughlin, Shefferly and Yack
Members Absent: None
STAFF PRESENT: Voyles, and Wolosiewicz

ITEM 1 DISCUSSION ON THE EXPANSION OF THE DOWNTOWN DEVELOPMENT DISTRICT.

Supervisor Yack opened the discussion of the expansion of the Downtown Development District with some background information and questions brought up from the April 2, 1996 study session. Mr. Yack summarized the present boundaries, and the proposed boundaries. He addressed questions brought up by the Board at the previous study session. Discussion regarding funding and proposed boundaries of the DDA took place. Supervisor Yack indicated that he would further research any concerns and that any recommendations to proceed with the expansion of the DDA would be brought up to the Board as a request for board action.

ITEM 2 DISCUSSION OF CURRENT TAX ABATEMENT POLICY

Supervisor Yack outlined the current tax abatement policy and reviewed the process that other communities use in handling tax abatements. Discussion took place as to the current policy and the benefits of tax abatements both to the community and to the businesses involved.

Treasurer Kirchgatter noted that she understood that there may be a Bill at the State level concerning abatements and whether to do away with them. Treasurer Kirchgatter advised that the Board postpones any further discussions until it is known whether there is any movement at the State level concerning abatements and/or personal property tax.

Clerk Bennett indicated that she can find out if legislation concerning tax abatements is pending at the State level.

OTHER:

General discussions took place regarding a meeting of the Conference of Western Wayne County, and the State proposed cultural tax. Liberty Fest, Hanford Road, Canton Hills, Beck Road, and the business status of the Summit on the Park and Pheasant Run Golf Club we also discussed.

It was also noted that the Bid Specification would soon be published by the U.S. Postal Service for property in Canton Township to purchase as a Post Office site.

Supervisor Yack adjourned the meeting at 8:55 P.M.

The above is a synopsis of discussion that occurred at the Regular Board meeting held on June 18, 1996 The full text of the approved minutes will be available following the next regular meeting of the Board on June 25, 1996

NEW READERS

Plymouth's First Church of Christ Scientist has two newly elected readers. Beginning June 2, Stephen Rea and Marjorie Brown began as first and second readers for a three-year term.

The elected readers carry main responsibility at the Sunday services and the Wednesday evening meetings, both of which include readings from the King James version of the Bible and the Christian Science textbook. There are 26 different topics for weekly Bible lesson-sermons.

The Wednesday evening meeting includes time for members of the congregation to share informally gratitude for healings and spiritual insights gained through the study of Christian Science. The church is at 1100 W. Ann Arbor Trail. Services are 10:30 a.m. Sundays and 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays.

ORGAN SERIES

For the second year in a row, the Summer Organ Series will be presented on Thursday evenings from 7-8 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, 200 East Main Street in downtown Northville. The first concert will be on Thursday, June 27. A free-will offering will be received. Todd Sager, music director at Beautiful Savior Lutheran in Bloomfield Hills will play a program featuring masterpieces of Bach, Dupre and Guilmant.

GUEST SPEAKER

The Rev. Andrew McCabe, who has worked to help India's children for more than 45 years, will be the guest speaker at the at the 6 p.m. service Sunday, June 30, at the Northville Christian Assembly, 41355 Six Mile Road, Northville.

McCabe began his missionary service in India in 1950. Since 1963, he has served in Newabganji as manager for the James Harvey Memorial School, a resident school near the Nepal boarder. In recent years, the school has enrolled 1,000 children from primary grades through high school. Students come from both north India and Nepal.

A Scotsman born and raised in India by missionary parents, he attended the All National Bible College in London and Cliff College in Sheffield, England. After graduation, he entered missionary service in India. In 1991, Rev. McCabe was made a member of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire.

SINGLE POINT

Single Point Ministries of Ward Presbyterian Church will have Terry Lyle discuss "Balancing the Single Life with God's Purpose" at 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 28, in Knox Hall, Free child care will be provided.

Single Point also offers BYOS (Bring Your Own Sneakers) for adults only at 8 p.m. to midnight the second and fourth Saturdays of the month at the Livonia Family YMCA, Stark Road north of Schoolcraft, and volleyball in Knox Hall at 8:30 p.m. Wednesdays. For more information, call the Single Point office at (313) 422-1854.

SUMMER WORSHIP

New Life Lutheran Church, a developing congregation of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, has traditional worship at 8:30 a.m. and alternative worship at 10 a.m., during the summer through Sept. 1. A children's message and supervised activities area for small children are offered at both services. The congregation worships temporarily at the Masonic Temple, 730 Penniman, Plymouth. For more information, call Pastor-Developer Ken Roberts at (313) 459-8181.

HISPANIC CHURCH

The Hispanic Pentecostal Church conducts worships services at 2 p.m. Sundays at 1075 Venoy Road, Garden City. The Rev. G. Diaz officiates. For more information, call (519) 973-8487.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The radio series "What Is This Christian Science and Who Are These Christian Scientists?," a weekly program to answer questions about the religion, is being broadcast 8:30 a.m. Sundays on CKLW-AM 800. Topics include "How do Christian Scientists feel about recreational drugs, such as marijuana, alcohol and tobacco?" on June 30, "How do you know there is a God?" on July 7, "How can a true Christian church be made up of lay members without clergy?" on July 14. "How can any religion be scientific?" on July 21 and "If Christian Science heals, why aren't people flocking to it like they flock to material medicine?" on July 28. The series also can be heard at 1:30 p.m. Sundays on WQBH-AM 1400. It is produced by the Christian Science Committee on Publication for Michigan and sponsored by local Christian Science churches. For more information, call (800) 886-1212.

ORGAN RECITAL

The Cathedral of the Most Blessed Sacrament will host Petr Plany from the Czech Republic in an organ recital at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 30, at the cathedral, 9844 Woodward Avenue at Belmont, Detroit. There is no admission fee. For more information call (313) 865-6300. The organ recital is a part of the Cathedral Culture Series, supported by the Archdiocese of Detroit.

DIVORCE RECOVERY

Come and hear the Rev. Paul Clough, pastor at Single Point Ministries, give instruction and encouragement for those dealing with the difficult issues of divorce in a six-session divorce recover seminar at 7 p.m. Monday through Friday, July 15-19, and at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, July 20, in Knox Hall of the church, 17000 Farmington Road at Six Mile Road, Livonia. Cost is $30 at the door, $25 for preregistration. For more information, call (313) 422-1854.

A.C.T.I.O.N.

A.C.T.I.O.N., an organized support group for people in career transition, holds informal meetings with speakers in the parlor of Orchard United Methodist Church, 30450 Farmington Road, between 13 and 14 Mile roads, Farmington Hills. Anna Russo will speak on "Neural Linguistic Programming" when the group meets at 7:30 p.m. Monday, July 15. There is no charge and no reservations are necessary. For more information, call the church at (810) 626-3620.

SPECIAL SUNDAY SCHOOL

In September, St. Paul's Presbyterian Church will be creating a special education Sunday School class for teens. Any interested teens or volunteers are asked to call Karen Rouhan at (313) 522-2095 or (313) 972-6081. St. Paul's is at 27475 Five Mile Road between Middlebelt and Inkster roads, Livonia.

LITURGY ON TAPE

The Divine Liturgy of St. John Chrysostom is available on videotape for a cost of $15, plus $3 postage, from Holy Transfiguration Orthodox Church, 36075 W. Seven Mile, Livonia 48152. The tapes make a great gift for a shut-in or those unable to attend the liturgy. The tapes also can be given to those people who are either seeking or expressing an interest in the Orthodox faith.

Pagel ordained as minister

For David Pagel, Sunday, June 23, was a very special day.

That day he was ordained into the holy ministry in a special service at 7 p.m. at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Livonia. Present was his mother Lou Pagel and officiating was his father, St. Paul's Pastor Carl Pagel.

A 1992 graduate of Northwestern College, he completed theological studies at the Wisconsin Lutheran Seminary in Mequon, Wis., in 1996.

He has been called by the Pacific-Northwest District of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod to do exploratory mission work in the northwest Portland, Ore., area.

Book challenges reconstructionists' view of Jesus

Jesus is on the cover of the April 8, 1 996 issue of U.S. News & World Report in an article entitled "In Search of Jesus." The cover story's teaser reads: "Some scholars seek answers in history and redefine the meaning of his life and deeds."

Jesus also has been on recent covers of Time and Newsweek, the subject of similar stories.

Calvin College professor of philosophy C. Stephen Evans is not surprised to see the recent spate of cover stories. He says that Jesus, or more specifically the historical Jesus, is a hot commodity these days, pointing to not only those news magazines, but also articles in local religion sections and a score of hot-selling books.

"A project that not many years ago seemed moribund – the project of reconstructing the 'historical Jesus – now is pulsing with life," he said.

The best-known of these projects is The Jesus Seminar, a venture begun in 1985 by a group of about 30 scholars who wanted to "renew the quest of the historical Jesus and to report the results of its research to more than a handful of biblical scholars."

Now into the fray comes Evans. His book, called "The Historical Christ and the Jesus of Faith" has been released in England and the United States by Oxford Press. While the book is a direct rebuttal to The Jesus Seminar, Evans does examine its findings and looks carefully at the work of other Jesus reconstructionists.

And he doesn't like what he sees.

Much of the work of the reconstructionists has become headline material as it sweeps aside tenets that most Christians hold dear. Miracles ascribed to Jesus, such as walking on water and changing water into wine, are denied by The Jesus Seminar. The virgin birth is laughable.

The Last Supper changes from an actual historical event – intended by Jesus as part of the establishment of the early church – to a symbol created by that church for its own devices.

'Calvin regarded the Bible as containing a divinely inspired account of what people needed to know for salvation and he asserted that knowing that truth depends first on the internal witness of the Holy Spirit.'

C. Stephen Evans

Jesus, say such reconstructionists, was not divine, but simply a cynic sage or a social critic.

Criticizes methods

Evans disputes not only the conclusions of such groups, but also criticizes their methods, focusing particularly on what he calls the reconstructionists' philosophical errors.

Evans notes that The Jesus Seminar approached the historical Jesus and the Jesus of faith with great skepticism.

He also notes that the scholars in The Five Gospels said that they assumed the Gospels "to be narratives in which the memory of Jesus is embellished by mythic elements that express the church's faith in him, and by plausible fictions that enhance the telling of the gospel story for first-century listeners who knew about divine men and miracle workers firsthand."

While some Christians might be content to separate the historical Jesus from their belief in Christ who is the way to salvation, Evans believes that both are important and significant to the Christian faith.

In his book, Evans tries to bring what he calls a "Reformed account" to the discussions of the historical Jesus.

"Calvin regarded the Bible as containing a divinely inspired account of what people needed to know for salvation and he asserted that knowing that truth depends first on the internal witness of the Holy Spirit," Evans said.

Evans says that while Calvin's perspective is sometimes dismissed he considers it useful, especially in light of recent controversies surrounding Jesus.

"I argue (in the book) that history matters," he said, "but assert what Calvin asserted – that the knowledge of the truth of the story depends first on the internal witness of the Holy Spirit. I don't reject the idea of evidence; however, both are important and in fact complement each other."

Exploring the works

Evans also believes that when the church looks at the historical Jesus and examines how scholars, who supposedly are objective, have approached their studies, it is important remember that scholars also operate from a belief system and make faith assumptions that color their work.

As evidences of that, Evans points in his book to many of the conflicting interpretations within historical scholarship itself and many of the conflicting conclusions that different historians come to regarding Jesus.

Some say he was a kind of wandering Greek philosopher while others think it's important to look at the Jewishness of Jesus and reject entirely trying to understand him in the supposedly Hellenistic environment of Galilee.

One author argues that Jesus loved to thumb his nose at convention and that passages in the New Testament, which indicate a respect for the law by Jesus ,are creations of a later church that wanted to domesticate the free spirited prophet.

Another author looks at the same issue and says that Jesus' respect for the law is the true Jesus, representative of the attitudes a pious Jesus would have held, and that passages where Jesus seems to dismiss the law are creations of a church intent on not being bound by the old rules.

Evans concludes that "Christians should not think that their own pilgrimage from life to death requires a detour down this particularly scholarly trail."

Sponge waxes ecstatic over new album

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Vinnie Dombroski saunters into Lili's in Hamtramck, quickly surveys the room and breaks into a huge grin revealing his metal-plated front tooth.

He's happy – maybe even a little relieved – about the number of fans who crammed into the paralyzingly hot club to hear Sponge perform songs off its upcoming album "Wax Ecstatic" (Columbia), due in stores Tuesday, July 2.

"I was really pleased with it," Dombroski, the band's singer, said in retrospect. "It wasn't too crazy. You can't tell in those situations. You get different people in the room, people start getting crazy, bouncing off walls. It gets to be a little too much."

Dombroski knows this first hand. In August 1994, the band played a set at Harmony House in Farmington Hills to celebrate the release of its debut album "Rotting Pinata" (Work Group/Sony). Moshing fans took over the store leaving behind broken CD cases and displays. Curiously enough, Harmony House has once again invited the band to perform at 10 p.m. Monday, July 1, on the eve of the album's release, for a radio broadcast that will be heard nationwide, locally on WRIF -FM 101.

"It was wild," Dombroski said about the first Harmony House show. "This one may prove to be a little crazier. ... We're going to perform sometime before midnight and ring in the Sponge new year."

Things aren't about to settle down for the platinum-selling Detroit rock band. On Friday, June 28, Sponge opens for Kiss at Tiger Stadium on what was to be the opening night on the tour. (Kiss played a show in California a few weeks ago.)

"Time will stop," Dombroski said of the show. "Everybody will stop and listen around the world to hear what really goes on at this show. For music, in general, it's bigger than the shot heard around the world. This is a big deal. The remaining Kiss dates are important dates, but this particularly on Kiss show, kicking off in Detroit. It's a monumental occasion."

"It's an invitation to go to the rock and roll mecca."

Dombroski along with guitarists Joey Mazzola and Mike Cross, bassist Tim Cross and drummer Charlie Grover will head into United Sound studios in Detroit Sunday night for an interview and performance for the nationally syndicated radio show "Modern Rock Live," which is heard locally on CIMX-FM 88.7 (89X).

If all this is any indication of Sponge's future, the modern rock world better watch out.

"Wax Ecstatic," recorded at The Loft in Saline with Tim Patalan once again co-producing with the band, will assuredly be one of the big albums of 1995. A marked improvement over the pop personality of "Rotting Pinata," "Wax Ecstatic" is a strong, straightahead rock effort that oozes of soulful slide guitars, grand pianos, saxophones, sultry grooves, and relentlessly hook-laden songs. A host of guest musicians add cellos, trombones and trumpets to create the intimate feel of "Wax Ecstatic." Former Psychedelic Furs vocalist Richard Butler, now of Love Spit Love, lends his vocals to the chorus of "I Am Anastasia."

Dombroski explained that the maturation of the band's music came about through months of touring and the strong will to write new songs.

"We were actually touring (in support of 'Rotting Pinata') in early 1994 and the record wasn't even released until August 1994. We were playing those songs for a long time on the road. At the same time, we were writing a lot of new things so the evolution of the band was really accelerated due to all the constant writing and playing that we were doing," Dombroski said.

"By the time we got off the road in December 1995, we had more than enough material for the record. We had even put together a bunch of new songs that we added to the initial pile of songs. Then we found it the perfect opportunity to redefine what Sponge was all about. I guess people perceive some sudden kind of change, but it really was a natural progression. We ended up where we are now through a natural evolution."

Initially, "Wax Ecstatic" was meant as a concept album about the life of a drag queen, but the band ditched that idea when they found it too limiting.

"We were going to do this whole thing based on the experience of this particular drag queen but decided to scrap the idea. It was too confining for us. We were going to do something like Al Green meets Iggy Stardust and mix it up a bit but it was too confining."

Some of the songs, however, stuck around. "Death of a Drag Queen," "Velveteen," "My Purity," and the title track.

"Wax Ecstatic" follows in the footsteps of "Rotting Pinata" which has sold more than one million copies and is still going strong with the singles "Plowed" and "Molly (Sixteen Candles)" inundating the airwaves thanks to the band's MTV Buzz Bin status. Besides touring the world, Sponge also spent the last few years appearing on David Letterman and Conan O'Brien shows. The track "Speed Racer" appeared on the "Saturday Morning Cartoons" compilation (MCA).

The band's growth musically on "Wax Ecstatic" goes hand in hand with Dombroski's growth as a lyricist. The song "Got To Be A Bore" is the "essence of what it is that we're trying to say on the record," he explained in his deadpan manner.

"When I'm going, 'I hope my head will heal,' that's not me talking, that's me singing as if I was some tortured rock artist. The other person says, 'it's all I've ever wanted, but I'm just so self-destructive.' Then it's me going, 'I can't feel this way, it's got to be a bore.' "

MUSIC UNDER THE STARS

DSO calls Army Band to arms for patriotic salute

You'll have a blast at Greenfield Village celebrating the Fourth of July with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, July 4-6. Thousands of families throughout southeast Michigan have, for the last four years, celebrated the birth of our nation by attending the concerts featuring stirring, patriotic music followed by spectacular fireworks.

The U.S. Army Field Band & Soldiers Chorus join the DSO, led by Resident Conductor Leslie B. Dunner, to perform a program of popular and light classical favorites. Concerts begin each evening at 8:30 p.m.

On a special double-stage erected on the Village Green, the Orchestra and Army Band offer selections from "Showboat," and songs and arrangements including "From Sea to Shining Sea," "The Magic of Motown," "An American Salute," "Pop! Goes the Weasel," "Turkey in the Straw" and the Armed Forces Medley. The program concludes with Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture."

Come early, and bring a picnic super, Village grounds open 7 p.m. Food and beverages will also be offered for sale. While you're waiting for the concert to begin, you'll meet some of Greenfield Village's roaming "costumed interpreters." The U.S. Army Field Band will perform a Prelude Concert 7:30-8 p.m.

Also of note:

• The DSO will make its annual appearance at the Detroit MetroParks with concerts at MetroBeach MetroPark Monday, July 1, and at Kensington MetroPark Tuesday, July 2. Both concerts begin 8 p.m. Dunner will lead the Orchestra in a lively summertime program of classical and popular favorites. These concerts are sponsored by Hudson's and are free.

• The DSO returns to its favorite summer home – Meadow Brook Music Festival – for two weekends of concerts, Aug. 2-4 and Aug. 8-10.

In the first series of concerts, beginning Friday, Aug. 2, Neeme Jarvi will lead the Orchestra, soloists and the Meadow Brook Festival Chorus in a performance of Beethoven's Symphony No. 8 and his "Ninth Symphony." The Saturday, Aug. 3, concert will feature "A Tchaikovsky Spectacular," with the composer's Symphony No. 4, "Romeo and Juliet," and the "1812 Overture." On Sunday, Aug. 4, Jarvi leads the orchestra in "A Salute to Gershwin," with such classics as "An American in Paris," Concerto in F, "Porgy and Bess," "Symphonic Picture," and "Rhapsody in Blue."

A second weekend of concerts at Meadow Brook Music Festival includes a Laser Light Show on Thursday, Aug. 8, with DSO Associate Conductor Lan Shui and the Orchestra performing a program of great scores from Hollywood. On Friday, Aug. 8, Pops conductor Erich Kunzel introduces a "Big Band Spectacular," a program of classics from the Big Band and jazz era.

On Saturday, Aug. 10, Kunzel will present a program of show-stoppers titled "Broadway Today," with vocal soloists Katherine Terrell, Kevin Anderson and Lewis Dahl von Schlanbusch. This concert will feature music from "Les Miserables," "Showboat," "Phantom of the Opera," "Cats," "Jesus Christ Superstar," "Sunset Boulevard," and other modern hits and revivals from Broadway.

FINE ARTS

Livonia artist's abstracts are 'Expressions of Color'

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

A graphic designer working on computer by day, Julie Kachnowski designs quarterly publications. By night, she paints watercolor abstracts with nature themes in her Livonia home.

"Expressions of Color," a one woman show of her paintings, will be featured July 1-31 in the lobby of Livonia City Hall, 33000 Civic Center Drive.

An opening reception to meet the artist takes place 7-9 p.m. Tuesday, July 9.

"I like painting abstract because people see a lot of different things in it. One way this painting looks like a mask, another like a deer. That's what's so nice about abstracts. If you get tired of them, you can just turn them around," said Kachnowski.

Using a variety of techniques including spattering painting like Jackson Pollack of the New York School, Kachnowski manipulates the works into representational Scotch pines, fishes and even the Milky Way. Colors like teal and purple are intense and joyful as Kachnowski herself.

"The whole world gives me ideas from a tree to a swatch of fabric or a mood I'm feeling," said Kachnowski.

And the mood she feels is happy-happy because she landed her first "real" job at Midwest Publishing four months ago after graduating from Eastern Michigan University in 1995, happy because she is making plans to get married later this year.

The fact that her daughter would become an artist comes as no surprise to Rose Kachnowski because she and husband Dan have worked for years as volunteers for community arts organizations including the Livonia Arts Commission and the Livonia Symphony Orchestra.

"Julie has always been multitalented. She worked her way through school decorating cakes and continues to do so on the side" said Rose Kachnowski.

"I'll just be sad to see all these paintings go when she gets married."

Julie Kachnowski, who began painting at Livonia's Steveson High School under the tutelage of Connie Cronenwett and John Wagner, is an artist just beginning life.

It will be interesting to see how her work evolves over the years and life's experiences. One thing's for sure, Kachnowski will continue to utilize her creativity no matter which road her life takes.

What you see: Julie Kachnowski paints trees, the cosmos, and earth in an abstract style to provoke viewers into thought.

Exhibit hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

GET ACQUAINTED WITH POTTERS

The Village Potters Guild will host an open house 5-9 p.m. Friday, June 28 at 340 N. Main, G-4, behind the Plymouth Landing in Plymouth.

"The purpose of the gathering is to show what the Guild is, how we've progressed and to thank people who helped us," said founder Kris Darby.

Founded in May 1995, the Guild is a nonprofit cooperative consisting of 25 potters who exhibit their functional and sculptural works in the front gallery. Adult classes, taught by co-op members, are offered regularly. The next is an eight week class in hand-built and wheel thrown pottery, which starts July 10. Tuition is $115. Class size is limited to 10 so sign up early. Registrations are also being accepted now for fall classes, including tile making, to begin in early September.

For more information call education chair Ruth Price (313) 454-4122 or the Guild (313) 207-8807.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

The Detroit Institute of Arts is looking for docent speakers for its 1996-97 Art to the Schools program. Using slides of the DIA collection, speakers bring the museum to metro Detroit classrooms of fourth, fifth and sixth graders. This year ATS reached nearly 30,000 students in more than 300 schools.

The community outreach program has become so popular the DIA cannot fill all the requests for talks. Applications are now being accepted for July interviews. For more information or an application call Art to the Schools at (313) 833-7886.

Funded by the museum, ATS is a free community service. Plymouth and Livonia students have benefited from these programs in the past.

Clothes help set scene in 'Miss Saigon'

"Miss Saigon" plays at the Masonic Temple Theatre in Detroit through July 27. Tickets range from $16 to $60, call the Masonic Temple Theatre box office, (313) 832-2232 or Ticketmaster (810) 645-6666.

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Back stage, Ricky Kelly, wardrobe supervisor for "Miss Saigon," opening Friday at the Masonic Temple Theatre, has his hands full. There are 43 people in the cast, and 450 costumes in the show. "The challenge is training the 13 dressers who will help the cast," said Kelly whose first professional job was dressing Raphael, the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtle on their national rock concert tour. "We don't treat them like they're just swinging clothes around. We want them to feel like they're part of the show."

"Miss Saigon," which plays at the Masonic through July 27, is the newest musical by Alain Boublil and Claude-Michel Schonberg, the creators of "Les Miserables." Music for "Miss Saigon" is by Schonberg, with lyrics by Boublil and Richard Maltby Jr., adapted from the original French lyrics by Boublil.

PREVIEW

"Miss Saigon" tells a story of love and self-sacrifice between a young Vietnamese girl and an American soldier at the time of the fall of Saigon in 1975. The costumes help set the scene making what the cast does on stage more believable.

Attention to detail, and an effort to be as authentic as possible with costumes, are some of the things th at make "Miss Saigon" a blockbuster musical.

"Originally, the sandals the cast wore were made from the threads of old car tires, and the straps were made from bike tubes, just like they wore in Vietnam.

"But they didn't hold up, so we had to come up with an alternative that looked authentic," explained Kelly.

The Vietnamese wedding dress worn at a small wedding in one of the scenes was made by a Vietnamese dressmaker.

The civilian clothes, circa 1970s, including Polyester bell bottoms, were found in a warehouse in New York. "They were brand new," exclaimed Kelly.

Dressers need to understand what the show is all about so they won't mistakenly mend clothes that are supposed to look tattered.

For example, after Saigon falls, the people are in hiding, and their clothes reflect their anguish.

"It's important that the dressers know that peasant clothing is supposed to be dirty and ripped."

Clothes help the audience distinguish between tourists, vendors, and a gang of hustlers in a scene that takes place in Bangkok's Red Light District in the 1970s. They help define the difference between North and South Vietnamese soldiers too.

"The costumes really help classify people in the show," explains Kelly. "It adds another dimension. It's subtle, but makes a bold statement without knocking you over the head."

LSO announces young artist contest winners

The Livonia Symphony Orchestra has announced the winners of its 1996 Young Artist Competition held in May. The competition was open to high school, college, and conservatory students under the age of 25 for piano and instrumental categories; and under the age of 30 for the voice category.

First place winners in each category were awarded $1,000 each and given the opportunity to perform with the Livonia Symphony Orchestra during its 1996-97 program season. Second place awards were worth $50 each.

First place in the piano competition was awarded to Karl Shymanovitz, 16, a sophomore at Cousino High School in Warren. Second place for piano was awarded to Ayako Okamura of Royal Oak, a student at Oakland University.

In the instrumental category, first place was awarded to violinist, Benjamin Robinson, a student at the Cleveland Institute of Music, and a resident of East Lansing. Second place went to Lee Newton for his alto saxophone performance of the "Concerta Da Camera" by Jacque Ibert. He is in his senior year at Central Michigan University. An honorable mention was given to Carolyn Koebel of Three Oaks for her performance of the Concerto for Marimba and Orchestra by Robert Kurka.

First place in the voice competition went to Kimberly Haynes, 24, a doctoral student at the University of Michigan. Second place was awarded to Amy Elizabeth Smith, of Royal Oak, a sophomore at Oakland University.

Former Livonia Mayor Robert Bennett was chairman of the event, which drew 29 contestants.

The judges were: Frances Brockington, chairperson of Wayne State University's vocal music department; David Booker, band director, Stevenson High School, Livonia; and Volodymyr Schesiuk, music director and conductor of the Livonia Symphony Orchestra.

The two full days of auditions were held at the Kresge Auditorium of Madonna University in Livonia. Support for the cash awards was provided by the Hearts of Livonia who donated $1,500 and by the Livonia Arts Commission Trust Fund, who donated $1,000.

Tap fest features legendary dancers

CHRIISTINA FUOCO

You'd never think that the alternative pop band Garbage would suffer from a self-esteem problem, but drummer Butch Vig said that was definitely the case when the band visited St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit in early November.

"We're definitely better now," Vig said via telephone from New York. "That was our fourth show ever. We've done 140 shows since then. We've rearranged a lot of the songs. We changed the pace of the set. Duke (Erikson, guitarist/bassist/keyboardist) and Steve (Marker, guitarist) are playing midi (computerized) guitars . It's a lot more flexible playing and a lot more interesting."

"The energy level is a lot more intense on stage now and that seems to feed back from the audience a lot more. They're moshing and singing along, it's a lot wilder scene."

Garbage formed in 1993 by friends Erikson, Marker and Vig, a successful producer who worked on albums by Nirvana, Smashing Pumpkins and Sonic Youth. They recruited singer/guitarist Shirley Manson after seeing her in the "Suffocate Me" video from her band Angelfish on MTV's "120 Minutes."

Garbage, who plays with the Smashing Pumpkins Saturday at The Palace and Sunday at the State Theatre in Detroit, is riding high on the success of four singles from its self-titled debut, "Vow," "Only Happy When It Rains," "Queer" and "Stupid Girl." That's not too bad for a band that thought it was going to be a one-time-only project.

"When we first started, we didn't know how far Garbage was going to go. Shirley had never met us before ... Now that we're touring and playing together we feel very much like a band. Garbage is our No. 1 priority. We've had some success with this so far and we're thrilled quite frankly."

Coming up: "The Crow: City of Angels" soundtrack is set for release July 30 with the movie starring Vincent Perez, Mia Kirshner and Iggy Pop hitting theaters Aug. 2. The album features Hole doing Stevie Nicks's "Gold Dust Woman" produced by Ric Ocasek, Bush covering New Order's "In A Lonely Place" produced by Tricky, and White Zombie updating KC and The Sunshine Band's "I'm Your Boogie Man" (!).

If you have any questions or comments for Christina Fuoco, you can write to her in care of The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia.

Readers go for the gold with zany contest

Shawn D. Grimes of Rochester Hills is the grand prize winner of The Second City — Detroit wild and zany Olympic Game contest. Her winning entry, and the three runners-up, were picked by The Second City — Detroit cast.

Grimes won dinner for two at Risata, a pair of tickets to a future performance of The Second City – Detroit's seventh revue, "Slipped a Discus," and two Second City T-shirts.

For information, and/or tickets to "Slipped A Discus," call (313) 965-2222.

Here's the grand prize entry:

• "The Spamathon 500" – With the rattling of the ceremonial Spam can the world opposing teams will sprint in relay around the grassy track in barefoot, all dressed in outfits made of Spandex.

The first pass will be the key that unlocks the can of Spam. The next pass will include the can of Spam where the next runner will open the can and pass the mashed Spam into the final runner's hands. (This is called releasing the Spam) the winners will cross the finish line squeezing the Spam in greasy hands.

In the joy of winning the victor will rub his Spammy hands on his team-mates and in their union they will devour the winning Spam! Gold, silver and bronze keys will be awarded to the Spamers. . . — Shawn D. Grimes, Rochester Hills.

Hugo's 'Hunchback' gets classic Disney treatment

TICKETS PLEASE

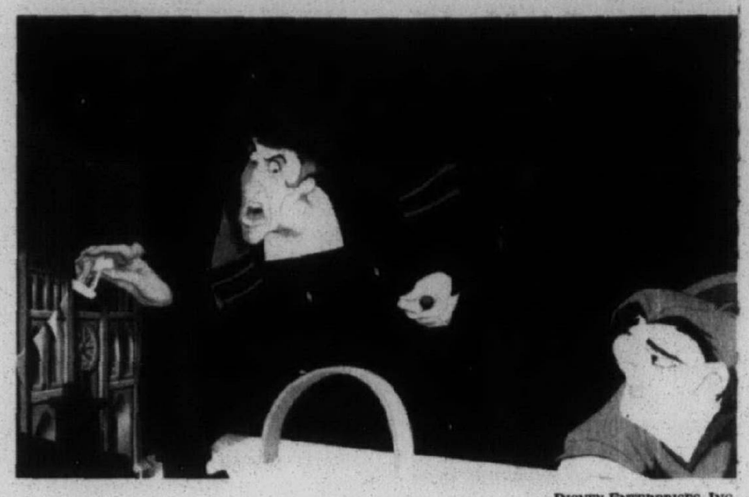
JOHN MONAGHAN

I'm a strong believer that these are truly the golden days of Disney animation. From the Little Mermaid to Beauty and the Beast and even Pocahontas, the last decade has seen some of the studio's more indelible creations come to life on screen.

If "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" disappoints even a little, it's only because of a feeling of Disney deja vu. We have, after all, seen countless animated protagonists who grow into heroes through the urging of little buddies, in this case a trio of talking gargoyle statues. What we haven't experienced before is the darkness that pervades even the happiest scenes in "Hunchback." The buildings and characters that populate 15th century Paris are so oppressive and the music so overwhelmingly operatic that kids and some adults may squirm from the sheer weight of the whole experience.

Quasimodo (voice by Tom Hulce, a native of Plymouth) has spent his 20 years on earth locked behind the walls of Notre Dame cathedral, caring for the bells and gazing longingly on the bustling streets below.

Unlike the Victor Hugo original (and the excellent film versions that preceeded this one), the title character is not deaf and slow-witted, but plucky and quick-witted, definitely more Lion King than Elephant Man. Aside from the "cuteification" of Quasimodo, we also have a militant Esmerelda, the beautiful gypsy girl who nobly defies the authorities and is hunted through much of the movie because of it. She's your classic modern Disney heroine, with a Barbie doll body (voice and physical features supplied by Demi Moore) and a notion that she doesn't want to follow the pattern set out for her by society.



DISNEY ENTERPRISES, INC.

The film does justice to the famous "Feast of Fools" scene where Quasimodo and Esmerelda first meet. Thinking he must be wearing a mask, she participates in crowning him King of Fools until she realizes the cruel joke. Soon she seeks shelter with Quasimodo in the cathedral, claiming literal sanctuary from Paris law.

Every Disney film needs a villain and here we have Judge Frollo (Tony Jay). He has raised Quasimodo in the seclusion of the cathedral as a penance for killing the boy's mother. You'll hear other familiar voices as well. Kevin Kline does Phoebus, the noble captain of the guards who also becomes an outcast when he refuses to follow Frollo's orders. "Seinfeld's" Jason Alexander and "Murphy Brown's" stuffy Charles Kimbrough play two of the three gargoyles that encourage their friend Quasi to appreciate his uniqueness.

Alan Menken and Stephen Schwartz continue to compose hummable songs for "Hunchback," even rhyming "Adonis" and "Croissant is" at one point. It's no coincidence that the score sounds a bit like "Les Miserables," another Hugo story served well by an epic musical.

The animators really show their stuff with the depictions of the world's most famous Gothic cathedral, with its carved stone columns and eerie statuary. Calling this Disney's least colorful feature is actually a compliment to the animators' evocative visual style, though I wish they had gone a step further and made the entire film in black and white. Ultimately, "The Hunchback" falls in the top half of Disney's 34 animated features.

While "Toy Story" and "James and the Giant Peach" have given us a peek into the next century, it's comforting to know that classic animation techniques continue to find sanctuary at the Disney studios.

SCREEN SCENE

DETROIT SCIENCE CENTER

5020 John R at Warren, Detroit. Call (313) 577-8400 for information and show times. (Free with museum admission. $6.50; $4.50 seniors/students).

• "Titanica." An Omnimax screening that takes you inside the portholes and across sunken decks of the world's most famous shipwreck. Also showing: "Destiny in Space," which shows how humans will live in space in the not-too-distant future.

MAGIC BAG THEATRE

• "Rumble in the Bronx" (USA - 1996). 9 p.m. July 3. Martial arts wonder Jackie Chan stars as a Hong Kong policeman who battles the motorcycle gang terrorizing his uncle's inner city grocery. A great introduction for American film fans unfamiliar with one of the world's most popular action stars.

MAIN ART THEATRE

118 N. Main Street (at 11 Mile Road) Royal Oak. Films play through at least Thursday, unless noted otherwise. Call (810) 542-0180 for information and showtimes. ($6.50; $4 students, seniors and matinees; $3 twilight)

• "Welcome to the Dollhouse" (USA - 1996). Middle school can be hell for teenager Dawn Weiner, who dreams of popularity and revenge against the beautiful people around her. Todd Solondz' debut film is notable for its honesty, but it's also an uneven piece of work more horrifying than funny.

• "Moll Flanders" (USA - 1996). Daniel Defoe's classic novel about a woman born on the day her mother was hung. Starring Robin Wright, Morgan Freeman, and Stockard Channing.

• "Stealing Beauty" (Italy - 1996). The story of a 19-year-old American girl whose trip to visit relatives in Italy turns into an eye-opening experience when she meets a variety of odd characters. Directed by Bernardo Bertolucci ("The Last Emperor"). Starts Friday.

MICHIGAN THEATRE

• "Cold Comfort Farm" (USA - 1996). Through June 27 (see Main Art Theatre listing above)

• "301/302" (Korea - 1996). 9 p.m. June 27. A Korean mystery thriller about a pair of adjoining apartments whose denizens lead bizarre and abusive lives.

• "Stealing Beauty" (Italy - 1996). Through July 11 (see Main Art Theatre listing above).

17360 Lahser at Grand River, Detroit. Call (313) 537-2560 for information. ($2.50)

• "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" (USA - 1954). 8 p.m. June 28; 2, 8 p.m. June 29 (organ overture begins a half hour before show time). A big, strapping MGM musical from the '50s in which frontiersman Howard Keel finds a wife and persuades his brothers to do the same. Look for Julie Newmar as one of the bachelorettes.

STATE THEATRE

2115 Woodward, Detroit. Call (313) 961-5450 for information. ($1)

• "Pulp Fiction" (USA - 1994). 9 p.m. July 1. The way dark crime comedy that made Quentin Tarantino a household name kicks off a month-long tribute to Tarantino as both a writer and director. John Travolta, Samuel Jackson, and Uma Thurman star.

UNITED ARTISTS OAKLAND MALL

14 Mile at John R, Madison Heights. Call (810) 585-7041. ($6; $3.50 before 6 p.m.)

• "Mystery Science Theatre 3000 The Movie" (USA - 1996). The big-screen version of the cable TV phenomena about a guy and two robots who provide a running commentary during really bad movies. The turkey this time: "This Island Earth," a 1954 space opera whose alien villains sport huge brains and lobster claws.

Comic-strip 'Phantom' is fun

BY JOHN ROGERS
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

Comic strips are like fast food for the mind.

Read one. And just try to remember afterward what it was aboutthat colorful good guy-bad confrontation in this week's serial that so intrigued you.

"The Phantom," from Paramount Pictures, this year's comic-strip entrant into the big-budget movie sweepstakes, is like that, too.

You can revel in the slam-bang action sequences, marvel at the lushly filmed exotic locales from Thailand to Australia, then you leave the theater feeling, well, not hungry exactly, but not full either.

The story is comic-strip simple. Evil New York City businessman Xander Drax (and with a name like that how he could be anything but evil?) has dispatched his henchmen to the Bengalla jungle. Their mission: to swipe one of the mysterious Skulls of Touganda.

Bengalla, as every comic-strip aficionado knows, is patrolled by the Phantom himself, played here with delightful good-guy innocence and enthusiasm by Billy Zane.

The henchmen make off with the skull, of course, while the Phantom stops to rescue a little boy they've left tied up in atruck that's about to topple off a bridge into a picturesque gorge.

The catch is that Drax needs three skulls before he can harness the mysterious power that will allow him to conquer the world.

The Phantom quickly tails him to New York, loses him, gets back on the trail and eventually confronts him in a fight for Skull No. 3 that takes place on an underground island somewhere under a Bermuda Triangle-like section of ocean.

Along the way, the Phantom gets help from (and must repeatedly rescue) Diana Palmer (Kristy Swanson), who, by lucky coincidence, is the old college flame of the Phantom's alter-ego, Kit Walker.

Well, this being a comic strip, it would seem pretty clear from the get-go which side is going to triumph in a battle of good versus evil.

Thus the fun must be derived in getting to that final showdown, and in wondering whether the Phantom will win over Diana's affections. Or, for that matter, if she'll figure out that the big handsome lug in the purple tights and mask is the same guy who dumped her after college to go riding through the jungle on his white horse fighting bad guys.

In this, "The Phantom" generally delivers. The chemistry between Zane and Swanson is there, and some of the slam-bang special effects scenes directed by Simon Wincer, including one in which the pair escape Drax's men by going from an airplane to horseback, is nothing less than spectacular.

Diana, meantime, is no shrinking violet, but a woman able to deliver a good kick below the belt or a round-house right to the head with about as much gusto as her protector does.

The Phantom, meanwhile, might seem at first to be at a bit of a disadvantage to other comic-strip heroes who have made it to the big screen. He has special powers like Superman, after all, and no dark demons haunting his soul like Batman, who as a child saw his parents slain by criminals and vowed revenge.

But Zane, who was mean as they come in the film "Dead Calm," makes the character work here by being such a nice guy. Also, having a deceased former Phantom father (Patrick McGoohan in a role played so wryly that one wishes there was more to it) showing up at key moments to offer paternal advice doesn't hurt either.

Not that there aren't problems. Screenwriter Jeffrey Boam, whose previous credits include "Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade" and the last two "Lethal Weapon" movies, seems to be trying so hard to give the characters snappy dialogue that they risk self-parody at times.

Treat Williams' evil Drax also isn't quite far enough over the top, as say Jack Nicholson's "Joker" was in Batman.

But, hey, it's a comic strip. It's not supposed to be deep. It's supposed to be fun. And it is.

Sherwin Wine offers advice for 'Staying Sane'

ESTHER LITTMANN

Trendiness isn't limited to designer clothes and haute cuisine. Philosophies also come and go, driven by the prevailing attitudes of the times. Beliefs once embraced in the Middle Ages, for example, became suspect during the 18th century, when reason reigned supreme. Later, Romanticism's return to religious fervor gave way to Realism and the revival of a rational approach to life.

Today, writes Sherwin Wine in his fourth book "Staying Sane in a Crazy World" (Center for New Thinking, 1995, $22), reason lies discredited once again.

"Just when the world is fascinated by the creations of science and technology, the search for religion and spirituality is growing."

But for the founder of Humanistic Judaism and rabbi of the Birmingham Temple in Farmington Hills, reason is not just a passing fancy. It is fundamental to our survival and helps us cope in a world that is frequently at odds with human expectations and desires.

Unfortunately, life does not always correspond with the human agenda, writesWine. The laws of nature fail to distinguish between the virtuous and the wicked among us. Too often, innocent people suffer and the villains of society go unpunished.

Human beings, who hunger for meaning, are trapped in a meaningless universe that some have called absurd, amoral, or just plain "crazy."

But how do we live in a crazy world without becoming crazy ourselves? Rejecting what Wine calls the "false security" of traditional religious solutions, as well as the passivity of scientific determinism, Wine insisits that we have the tools to forge a meaningful life for ourselves and for others. These tools are reason and the freedom of choice that its use implies.

Wine then proceeds to defend a rational way of life against contemporary attacks that claim reason, if it exists at all, is "cold," too analytical, and out of touch with our inner reality, the unconscious. True, counters Wine, reason is not emotional itself.

But it is allied with emotion. It "needs emotion as the motivation to be reasonable, as the driving force to find the truth."

"Staying Sane in a Crazy World" begins with a philosophic framework, an overview of the major religious movements, followed by a discussion of modern ideologies such as secular utopianism and New Age Thinking. Whether religious or secular, all of them share one thing in common, writes Wine. They provide certainty where there is none and answers that cannot be verified. For the author, a realistic secularism devoid of llusions is the most sensible response to life.

In the second half of the book, Wine applies his philosophic principles to the subject of living with dignity and courage. In his "Ten Steps to Sanity" the author helps us answer fundamental questions of life. For example, what is the nature of constructive love, and how do we practice it? Is there a difference between rational and irrational guilt? Can we transform our hostility into "useful anger"? How do we tame fear? All the while, the author provides a variety of anecdotes to illustrate his meaning, drawing from a wealth of personal encounters with clients and colleagues throughout his remarkable career.

With a style that is both lucid and epigrammatic, Wine startles us out of conventional habits of thought, forcing us to reevaluate our traditional assumptions. At the same time, he gives advice that is both universal and timeless. In an era when we can fly half way around the world in less than a day, perform heart and kidney transplants, and communicate through cyberspace, many intellectuals claim that reason is ineffectual as a tool of cognition. A book that affirms the power of reason — as well as the existence of objective reality — makes the world a little less crazy and our behavior a lot more sane.

WHEN DOES A CHILD START TO REMEMBER?

Like spending a day at a magical place. A place with big, fuzzy bears who like to hug. And barnyard animals who like to be petted. A place where small people get to drive their own 4x4 trucks and ride a miniature coaster built just for them.

And who knows? Maybe what your little one will remember best will be watching dolphins dance while sitting on your lap. Walking down a midway while holding your hand. Or giggling at the big splash he made aboard the bumper boat, and seeing you smiling back.

A day at Cedar Point is only $6.95 for kids under 48" tall. Free for kids age 3 and under.

So why not take your child tomorrow? After all, with memories, it's like anything else...always best to start them young.

DINING

Hang out at the Shark Club

When people think of a bar or a pool hall, a good menu isn't usually the first thing that comes to mind.

The Shark Club's Michael Mazza is out to change that.

The Canton Township billiard bar with a wide range of beers, liquors and non-alcoholic drinks also has a menu that includes Southwestern dishes, deli sandwiches, burgers, salads, soups and appetizers.

Tucked into a strip mall on Ford Road between Haggerty and Lilley (next to Builders Square), the Shark Club opened in September and has been attracting good weekend crowds.

"It's a cool place to hang out at night, ..." said Mazza, who co-owns the second Shark Club along with his cousin, Joseph Puertas. (The original, in Waterford, is owned by Puertas). "It's the new wave in bars. That's why these billiard bars are taking off."

But don't worry about lines _ the 12,000-square-foot Shark Club seats 300.

"I can get a party of 40 eating and drinking within 10 minutes," Mazza said.

Did we mention the 24 pool tables, the three television sets with 10-foot screens (plus many smaller sets), the foosball, the darts and other electronic games? The Shark Club has it all.

The decor is "modernized, contemporary," Mazza said. "We spent a lot of money to make this upscale," he said.

The crowds are mixed _ the pool, beer and burger set on the weekends, the local lunch crowd during the week, even the family stopping in for a midday brunch. After 8 p.m., it's 21 and over.

There are food, drink and entertainment specials _ $1.99 burger plates at lunchtime during the week, a discount on a premium beer of the month, free pool for women on Wednesday nights.

"I think if people walk inside and check it out they'll be pleasantly surprised," Mazza said.

Pool tables are rented by the hour; reservations are not taken. Meal reservations are not necessary.

Mazza said he and Puertas decided to locate the second Shark Club in Canton because it's one of the fastest-growing communities in the region.

Calling the shots: With 24 pool tables and seating for 300, plus a sizeable menu and a large drink selection, Canton's Shark Club is drawing weekend crowds. "I think if people walk inside and check it out they'll be pleasantly surprised," said co-owner Michael Mazza (above).

Sample restaurant specialties at Tastefest, July 3-7, at New Center

You can sample the specialties of some of metro Detroit's finest restaurants, and specialty food providers, July 3-7 at Michigan Tastefest in Detroit's new Center Area – West Grand Boulevard (between Woodward Ave. and the Lodge Freeway, adjacent to the General Motors and Fisher buildings.)

Hours are 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Wednesday, July 3 to Saturday, July 6; and 11:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday, July 7. There is plenty of preferred $2, and free parking adjacent to the festival.

Tastefest offers five days of family fun with great tastes in food and music. More than 45 metro restaurants will sell "tastes" of their most popular dishes.

The free concerts, presented on three stages, will feature national and regional jazz, blues, country, rock and big band music, children's shows and activities, Motown Museum tours and more.

Taste tickets for food and beverage purchases will be sold throughout the festival site – nine tickets for $5.

This year's Tastefest features 15 new restaurants, and dining tents with shaded seating.

Whether you're hungry for crab-stuffed jalapeno peppers, seafood jambalaya, a white chocolate Alpine torte, or such traditional Fourth of July fare as hot dogs, ribs and burgers, you'll find something to please your palate during the five-day event.

A Zech Scrambles

The 16th annual Canton Fathers Day Golf Tournament turned into a Zech-Alcock shootout, and the Zechs were winners.

The three-man team of Steve Zech, Fred Zech and Tim Zech combined to fire a nine-under par 63 to win the scrambles-style tournament, sponsored by Canton Parks and Recreation Services June 16 at Fellows Creek Golf Course.

Second place went to the Alcocks: Fred, Dan and Dennis Alcock, who also shot a 63 but finished second on the tiebreaker (matching scorecards). Third place was captured by the team of Sam Nichols, John Nichols and John Ronan with a 66.

A total of 40 teams competed.

All-conference netter

Mike West, a Plymouth native, was named all-conference in tennis at Principia College, located in Elsah, Ill., 45 minutes north of St. Louis.

A freshman, West was all-St. Louis Intercollegiate Athletic Conference at second doubles. His performance helped the Panthers collect the conference's regular season and tournament championships.

Three-peat champions

The Canton Vipers, an under-13 boys soccer team, won its Michigan Division spring season championship for the third-consecutive season. Their victory was capped with a come-from-behind 4-3 victory over the Taylor Raiders.

The Vipers are 25-1-4 in this division and are unbeaten in their last two spring seasons.

Honor athletes

Onward and upward - that's the direction the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association's Academic Honor Roll continues to travel.

Since its inception in 1990 to recognize students at MIAA-member schools who excel both academically and athletically, the honor roll has grown each year, from 281 that first year to 429 for the 1995-96 year.

Twenty of the students honored this season were recognized for the fourth-straight year - including Mike Jehle of Albion College, a baseball standout who prepped at North Farmington HS.

Omitted

Some names were inadvertantly omitted from a recent article on the Canton Crushers, an under-10 girls soccer team that won their Great Lakes Soccer Division with an 8-1-1 record.

The complete list of players and coaches are: Erica Arndt, Kristen Boylan, Kristine Bridges, Brittany Corney, Cynthia Evon, Taylor Foley, Felicia Ghrist, Amy Gizicki, Ashley Groves, Alicia Hay, Stephanie McGuire, Lauren Obsniuk, Erika Perkovich, Jennifer Porter, Molly Priebe, Katie Raker, Danielle Reinhart and Jessica Wolcott. Coaches are Rich Priebe, Dan Boylan and Joe Foley.

Three Whalers selected

Three players who helped the Detroit Whalers gain three-straight championships in the Ontario Hockey League were chosen last Saturday by National Hockey League teams.

Center Steve Wasylko was picked in the fourth round by the Hartford Whalers. Defenseman Jesse Boulerice was taken in the fifth round by the Philadelphia Flyers, and goalie Robert Esche was selected in the sixth round by the Phoenix Coyotes.

Wasylko totaled 18 goals and 48 points last year for Detroit last season.

The Whalers will open the home portion of their 1996-97 season Oct. 5 against the Kingston Frontenacs in their new 4,300-seat arena in Plymouth Township.

McCarthy named new Salem coach

There were a bunch of candidates to choose from to fill the Salem boys soccer coaching position, but in the end the search didn't have to go any further than their own back yard.

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR

There are all sorts of ways to describe the guy chosen to succeed Ken Johnson as boys soccer coach at Plymouth Salem.

Some might call it the safe pick, the easy choice, selecting someone who's come up through the ranks.

Others could just as easily say naming Ed McCarthy - someone with no previous varsity coaching experience - to lead a state championship-caliber team is rather risky.

Very likely both views have their share of merit. But neither bring out the best reasons McCarthy was named to coach one of the state's premier high school teams.

"I had a chance to watch him this past year, and I was impressed with him," said athletic director Brian Wolcott. "He's the guy whose been molding all those players who have been winning all those games."

McCarthy has done that molding as Salem's junior varsity coach for the past five years. He also worked four years as the Rocks' girls junior varsity coach, taking last season off to concentrate on completing his Master's Degree in science and administration.

So, yes, he has come up through the system. But with the list of candidates who applied for the job, it took much, much more for McCarthy to land it.

Certainly enthusiasm played a role. McCarthy, a 26-year-old graduate of Redford Union (1988) who played on Schoolcraft College's last NJCAA qualifier (1990), doesn't hide his eagerness.

"This is one of the biggest thrills I've ever had," he said of his new position. "It's the final piece. This is

Dana Hardwidge has made quite an impact on the Livonia Churchill softball program in just five years.

In 1996 her Lady Chargers broke new ground, capturing their first-ever Western Division title (9-1) in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

The Chargers finished the year with an impressive 22-7 record, including a first-place finish in the Livonia Public Schools tournament.

"I have been blessed with players who are dedicated and not afraid to work hard to achieve those goals," said Hardwidge, who was named Observerland Coach of the Year for the second time. "It's a coach's dream to be able to work with the great attitudes I had this year. I'll miss the chemistry on this team this year."

"The coaching staff of Lou Kuratko, Lisa Waldock and myself concentrate on fundamentals and strive to develop discipline on and off the field.

"This group of girls supported each other and believed in each other. We had a lot of close games this year, but they rallied behind the seniors and never folded under pressure. Six of our seven losses were by one run, and the other loss was by only two. That's incredible in itself."

Two Churchill players were voted to the first team along with two each from Plymouth Salem and Garden City.

Several Observerland teams enjoyed success this year including Livonia Ladywood, Westland John Glenn, Garden City, Redford St. Agatha and Farmington Hills Mercy, all district champions.

FIRST TEAM

Alicia December, pitcher, Churchill: The four-year varsity starter was the area's most improved hurler, going 22-7 with a 2.13 earned run average.

She pitched in 193 innings, allowing just 25 walks to go along with 129 strikeouts. She also batted .365 en route to team MVP, All-Conference Western Lakes, All-District and second-team All-Region honors.

Among her highlights this season was a perfect game against North Farmington.

"Alicia worked hard during the off-season and certainly deserves all the honors she has received," Churchill coach Dana Hardwidge said. "She is one of the most determined and dedicated athletes I have coached.

"She not only recorded 22 wins, but batted second in the lineup, constantly coming through with key base hits or need RBI. And she contributed defensively with her glove. The team responded to her leadership as captain and played with the same kind of confidence she displayed."

Jenny Clulow, catcher, Churchill: A three-year starter, the senior was the Chargers' lead-off hitter, compiling both an impressive batting average (.410) and on-base percentage (.550).

Clulow had a team-high in runs scored (42), hits (41) and stolen bases (20) to win Churchill's Best Offensive Player award.

She also showed solid defensive skills with 13 putouts

HOCKEY

Hockey!

That's correct, the summer hockey season has begun. The official start was Sunday, when the first three games of the Metro Summer Hockey League were played at the Plymouth Ice Arena.

And as in the past, offense ruled - at least to start the season. Sunday's three games featured 34 goals.

Wolverines 5, Spartans 4: In the MSHL's first game of the season, the Wolverines built a three-goal lead by the midpoint of the third period, then had to hold on to beat the Spartans Sunday.

Paul Goleniak's second goal of the game with 8:28 left, on an assist from Andrew Perry, boosted the Wolves' lead to 5-2.

But the Spartans weren't through. Brady Priest scored eight seconds later (assists to John Fontana and Chris Frescoln) to narrow the gap to 5-3, and Jacob Heikkinen made it a one-goal game with a score with 2:43 left (Jake and Josh Wiegand assisting).

However, the Wolves held on to win their opener. Other goal-scorers for the winners were Matt Dialak, Adrian Straka and Perry. Matt Megregian and Scott Goleniak also had assists.

Both Josh and Jake Wiegand also had goals for the Spartans, who trailed 4-2 after two periods. Assists went to Priest and Heikkinen.

Broncos 8, Bulldogs 5: The Broncos scored the game's first four goals, then cruised to a win over the Bulldogs Sunday.

Jason Szynkowski, Bill Trainor, Jeramie Murray and Dan Trainor each had a goal as the Broncos jumped out to a 3-0 lead after one period and a 4-0 advantage with 5:03 left in the second period. Darren Hands scored twice after that for the winners to offset the Bulldogs' late rally. Brian Consolino and Dan Trainor also added goals.

SOFTBALL ROUNDUP

Finesse wins crown

Six straight victories carried Finesse, a 14-and-under girls slo-pitch softball team, to the National Invitational title last weekend at Candon Softball Center.

Managed by Bob Bako, Finesse downed Clinton Valley, 10-8, in the championship final as Andrea Spencer keyed a five-run seventh inning comeback with a bases loaded single.

Jillian Minjoe was the winning pitcher.

Finesse advanced to the final with a 6-5 victory over the Oregon (Ohio) Bombers, 6-5, as Samantha Crews had three hits and two RBI.

Crews was the team's top tournament hitter, going 13 for 18 for a .722 average. Kilburn led Finesse with 12 RBI.

Other victories came against the Inter-Lakes Flames, 16-0; Garden City, 16-0; Downriver Destroyers, 27-2; and Mount Vernon (Ohio) Wazie, 12-4.

Incredible Fast-pitch

•On Tuesday, Cathy Hermann pitched a one-hitter, striking out 11 over six innings as the Livonia Knights beat the Farmington Hills Hornets in the opener of the Incredible Girls Fast-pitch Softball League double-header at Shiawasse Park.

Hermann, who just completed her junior year at Ladywood High School, also helped her own cause with two hits and two RBI. Shannon Misiak also had two hits and knocked in a run.

The Hornets came back to win the nightcap, 13-7, as Knights starter Raegan Tisher took the loss.

Tina Naif had a three-run triple in the sixth inning and Hermann contributed two hits for the Knights.

•In another Incredible League twinbill Tuesday, the Livonia Ladybugs and the Northville Bullodogs split.

The Ladybugs won the opener, 16-4, as Heather Yanka took the win. She struck out five and walked seven. Livonia took advantage of 16 walks.

The Ladybugs did not collect a hit in the nightcap as the Bulldogs prevailed, 15-7.

ALL-STARS

Though they were on the losing team Monday, the high school all-star baseball game was still a winning experience for two area players.

Farmington's Joe Kalczynski (Brother Rice) and Mike Daguanno (Catholic Central) couldn't stop the East from losing 3-0 to the West but enjoyed playing in the annual event at Tiger Stadium.

It was the first time on the Major League diamond for Daguanno but the third visit for Kalczynski, who played there in the last two Catholic League championship games.

Kalczynski, a catcher who signed with Michigan State, helped the Warriors win the league title over Orchard Lake St. Mary's this year after a runner-up finish as a junior.

"It's just fun going out there," he said. " You have the best players in the state there. You get to see best players from the West, too. You never hear about them, but obviously they can play."

"It would have been great to win the league championship (on the same field), but it was nice to play in Tiger Stadium," Daguanno said. "When I heard I was picked to play in this game, I was really happy."

"The game wasn't boring, but there weren't many hits, and it was real hot and humid. I think I was sorta in awe most of the time."

Daguanno, a good-hitting first baseman who has signed with the University of Detroit, went 0-for-2 but hit the ball hard each time to center field. Kalczynski was 0-for-1 with a walk.

"I was just excited; I was kinda nervous the first time up," Kalczynski said. "I went out for five innings and came back; I was more relaxed and ended up walking. It's always fun, getting to hit in Tiger Stadium."

Ironically, neither player started the game at his usual position. Daguanno entered in the second inning as a left fielder, and the 6-foot-5 Kalczynski was the first baseman.

"I made a nice grab in left field; I was pretty happy with myself," Daguanno said. "I haven't played that position in 3 1/2 years, probably since I was a freshman.

"They told me the day before they were going to put me in left field to get me some innings, because they wanted someone else to play first. I didn't have a problem with that, because I'll probably play some outfield in college."

Daguanno had three putouts in three (4-5-6) innings in left field and moved to first base for the last three.

"It felt kinda weird, not starting," he said. "It's been awhile since I haven't played an inning. But I'd rather finish a game than start it and not be there at the end."

Kalczynski, who played CYO baseball along with Daguanno at Our Lady of Sorrows and was on the same summer team as him until last year, was impressed by his former teammate's outfield play.

"I was happy to see him do well," Kalczynski said. "He stole a double from the kid; it was unbelievable. He doesn't even play left field, and he made it look easy."

Kalczynski played the first two innings at first base and returned as the catcher for the seventh and eighth

"They had five catchers. When I saw the roster I knew it would be tough to get more than two innings in," he said. "I know the other four. They're all very talented, and you have to give everybody else a chance."

Kalczynski was drafted in the 32nd round by the Detroit Tigers in the Major League draft this month, but a decision has been put on hold until August. As of now, his plans are to attend MSU in the fall.

"(Tigers scout Glenn Murdock) said they already had five catchers down in Florida, and I might not get a fair shot," Kalczynski said. "He suggested I stay here and play summer ball, and they'll re-evaluate me Aug. 12. They're bringing all of their draft picks to Tiger Stadium for a try-out that day.

"They drafted a catcher in the fifth round from Cal State-Fullerton who is supposed to be real good, and I'm not sure where he is."

In August, the Tigers will either offer Kalczynski a contract at that time or decline to sign him. He said he plans to go to State, "but I still have to see what they offer."

CONDENSED READING

The advent of warm weather should prompt a trial run of your car's air conditioner to assure that it will work properly when hot weather strikes. If it is noticed that the system is not cooling properly, a simple fix may remedy the problem. It may be that the condenser is clogged with leaves, bugs or road debris to the point that its ability to cool the refrigerant is seriously compromised. The condenser works in a manner similar to the car's radiator in that it removes heat from the refrigerant. The result is a dirty condenser is lower cooling capacity, higher pressure inside the air conditioner, and greater wear on the compressor. To avert such problems, look for the condenser in its position mounted in front of the radiator and clean it with compressed air or pressurized water. If problems persist, they are likely caused by something that can only be diagnosed and corrected by a trained automobile technician.

Another problem you may run into with your air-conditioning can be a leak in the system which will prevent you from receiving the cool air you want. At HOLIDAY CHEVROLET, INC., we're here to please you! When you wonder whom to trust, ask the automotive experts who guarantee you'll receive the careful attention and thorough car care that will merit your investment in us. # Pitching pivotal in DCI's weekend sweep

BASEBALL

Thanks to some solid pitching, Decision Consultants, Inc. went three-for-three during weekend action in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League at Ford Field.

Second-place DCI improved to 9-4-1 by trimming Michigan Honig's on Friday, 12-1, in five innings (10-run mercy rule).

Mike Cervenak's, who just completed his freshman year at Michigan, belted a grand slam in the bottom of the fifth to end the game.

Pete Quinn, the Redford Thurston High product now playing for Madonna University, added a double, triple and two RBI. E.J. Roman also had two hits for the winners.

Pitcher Mitch Jabczynski, who allowed just three hits over five innings, raised his LBCL record to 3-0. He struck out four and walked one.

On Sunday, DCI swept Little Caesars in a double-header, 4-2 and 6-2.

DCI won the nightcap by scoring four runs in the fourth inning.

Quinn and Greg Ryan (Eastern Michigan) walked and singled, respectively, to start the inning. Darrell Rocho then reached base on an error, one of six on the day by Caesars (5-11), sending both runners home. Delano Voletti and Matt Mylnarek then each followed with RBI singles.

DCI tallied its other two runs in the first when Ryan came around on three Caesars errors. Cervenak then homered.

Losing pitcher Kevin Uzarski, who went 3-for-3 along with teammate Aaron Racey (Livonia Stevenson/Hillsdale College), had an inside-the-park homer for Caesars in the third inning. Alex Oresette added a solo shot over the left field fence in the fifth.

Steve Williams, who worked the first six innings before giving way to Jason Carter (Livonia Churchill/Madonna) in the seventh, earned the victory. Williams scattered seven hits, walked three and fanned 10.

Uzarski, who worked six innings, allowed only one earned run. He struck out six and walked two.

In the opener, DCI used another big four-run inning to score the victory.

The four-run fourth was a result of Voletti opening with a single. He advanced to second on a wild pitch. Eric Marcotte (Plymouth Canton/Madonna) then walked.

Ryan reached base on an error to send Voletti home before Cervenak (groundout), Quinn (single) and Rocho (single) each delivered RBI at-bats.

Caesars tallied one in the first when Brian Cotner reached base on an error and scored on Adrian Williams' double. In the fifth, Orsette double and eventually scored on Racey's RBI sacrifice fly.

Cotner led Caesars with two hits.

Alex Wozniak, the losing pitcher, gave up four hits and three walks over six innings.

Joel Hillebrand, the winning pitcher, tossed a six-hitter over seven inings. He struck out seven and walked two.

•HINES PARK 6, CAESARS 1: Mark Fleming fired a three-hitter Friday, leading first-place Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury (15-0-1) to the LCBL victory over Little Caesars.

Fleming struck out eight and walked only two.

Jay Harrington, who pitched 6 2/3 innings for Caesars, striking out 11, took the loss. He walked four, but was the victim of four errors. All six runs were unearned.

Hines Park got a run in the third when Dave Kapla came around after a Caesars pick-off play went awry.

In the sixth, Stacy McCollum doubled home Brian Kalczynski.

Caesars got its lone run in the bottom of the seventh on singles by Uzarski and Aaron Babicz, followed by a Scott Carden groundout.

On Sunday, Hines Park won a pair as Honig's (0-14) forfeitted.

•RAMS 10, WINDSOR SELECTS 8: Redford Union High product Jason Mitchell, who just completed his freshman year at Eastern Michigan, came through in the clutch with a key two-run single Sunday, leading the Michigan-Area Rams to an Adray Metro Baseball Association win over the host Windsor Selects at Mic Mac Park.

The Rams, now 5-5 overall, rallied from an 8-3 deficit by scoring three runs in the seventh, keyed by Mitchell's two-run single. He spearheaded the comeback by slamming a two-run homer in the sixth.

Jason Horn, in relief of starter Brian Berryman (RU/Michigan), pitched five strong innings, allowing just three hits. He struck out seven and walked one. Horn also hit a solo homer.

On Friday, the Class A Windsor Stars swept the Rams in a twinbill, 4-3 and 3-2, at Henry Ford Community College.

Horn, who pitched the final 1 2/3 innings in relief of starter Jake Lawson (Farmington Hills Harrison/Oakland University), suffered the loss.

In the opener, lefty Dave Susalla (Redford Catholic Central/U-D Mercy) gave up two earned runs and four walks in taking the loss.

DeAndre Cooper had two hits and an RBI in a losing cause, while Greg Rogers (CC/OU) and Mitchell also knocked in runs.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Macker winners

When boys high school basketball season opens in November, there are going to be a few Plymouth Salem players whose skills have been sharpened over the summer.

Bhavin Patel, Jeff McKian, Matt Mair and Andy Power combined to win the 15-16 year-old boys division at the Gus Macker 3-on-3 Tournament in Lapeer.

The team played five games and won them all, closing out their championship run with a 15-4 victory in the division final.

Soccer winners

two assists apiece from Dave Bavol and Dustin Sventy. Brian Tarsin also had a goal.

Wildcats 8, Huskies 4: Four third-period goals enabled the Wildcats to pull away from the Huskies Sunday.

Antoli Buliga scored one of the goals and assisted on two others in the third-period rally. He finished the game with two goals and four assists.

Craig Judd contributed two goals and three assists for the Cats, with Bobby Davis adding two goals and an assist. Ed Monks also scored a goal, and Bob Nagy chipped in with two assists.

For the Huskies, Jason Schoenberg scored three goals. Brian Hannigan got one.

Schoenberg's third goal gave the Huskies a 4-3 lead with 3:47 left in the second period, but Judd tied it for the Wildcats with 1:56 remaining, setting the stage for their third-period rally.

Falcons 5, Lakers 4: Goals by David Scott and Jesse Hubenschmidt (from Redford Catholic Central) in the final 1:47 allowed the Falcons to come-from-behind and beat the Lakers Monday at Plymouth.

Hubenschmidt finished the game with two goals and an assist to lead the Falcons. Mike Klinger and Dave Hunt also had goals, while Scott collected two assists.

The Lakers were led by Paola Decina, with a goal and an assist. Vic Decina, Mike Harris and Aaron Daavettila also had goals.

Spartans 8, Bulldogs 6: Josh Wiegand scored three goals and Jacob Heikkinen added two to spark the Spartans to victory over the Bulldogs Monday at Plymouth.

Dane Esterline contributed three assists and David Girard had a goal and two assists for the winners. Brady Priest had a goal and an assist, Mike Schmidt had a pair of assists, and John Fontana had a goal.

For the Bulldogs, John Brodhun and Kyle McNeilance each scored twice. Jack McCoy added a goal and ana assist, Dustin Sventy had two assists, and Brent Thomas scored a goal.

Falcons 13, Huskies 4: David Scott riddled the Huskies' defense for five goals and two assists as the Falcons romped to a lopsided win Tuesday at Plymouth.

The Falcons led 4-1 after one period and 9-3 after two. Scott wasn't their only offensive weapon, either; Jesse Hubenschmidt had two goals and three assists, Brian Calka had two goals and an assist, Mike Klinger had a goal and three assists, Ralph Humphlett scored two goals, Dan Hunt and Eric Laho picked up two assists apiece, and Troy Taylor scored a goal.

The Huskies got two goals and an assist apiece from Dominic Catanzarite and Ben Blackwood. Kyle Kosior chipped in with three assists and Ryan LaChance had two.

Soccer coach from page1C

what I've been working for for the last five, six years."

That kind of attitude wasn't lost on Wolcott. "I think he's worked real hard to prepare himself for this position. As far as I can tell, this has been a goal of his for a number of years."

But there was even more than that for Wolcott to base his decision on. "I saw that he runs a great practice, he's very well organized," he said. "It was very impressive."

That term - well-organized - may best describe McCarthy's style. He's known what he's wanted, and mapped out his path on how to achieve it, since he first started coaching.

Small in size by most player standards, he also attended a high school (Redford Union) hardly noted for soccer prowess. Still, he went on to play at Siena Heights and at Schoolcraft College.

After earning his undergraduate degree from the University of Michigan-Dearborn, he stuck with the game. McCarthy's been coaching since '89, and was a referee for several years prior to that. He also earned his B license as a coach.

Taking over for the only coach in Salem soccer history won't be easy. McCarthy knows it. He also knows, with the caliber of talent available to him, he'll be expected to put a contender on the field every year.

To clarify, that should read both league and state contender.

"We had somewhat similar philosophies," McCarthy said. "I think I'm a little more defensive-minded than coach Johnson.

"We lose nine starters and 11 seniors (from last season's state championship team). That's not to say it's going to be a tough year. Hopefully, we'll have guys from the junior varsity that will step up."

That's an area McCarthy is familiar with, for certain. But before judging his selection as Salem's coach, first examine how he utilizes the talent available to him. Then take note of his organizational ability and knowledge of the game, and how efficiently he relates that to the players.

The Churchill backstop was voted the WLAA's top catcher to go along with All-District and second-team All-Region honors.

"Because of her tremendous speed, we made Jenny into a left-handed slapper who made things happen when she was on base," Hardwidge said. "Jenny was also the stabilizing force defensively, always maintaining her poise and concentration, regardless of the situation."

Angela Montagano, catcher, Thurston: The junior batted .523 (23 for 44) and had an on-base percentage of .649 in 14 division games en route to All-Mega Blue honors.

She scored 21 runs, with seven doubles, two triples and one homer.

"Angela was a hitter all year long," Thurston coach Al Nagy said. "She caught every inning of every game and never complained. She just does her job. I wish I had more like her."

Montagano, who led the Eagles to the Mega-Blue Division title, was voted team MVP and made Class B All-District.

Stefanie Volpe, catcher, Salem: What Volpe did to opposing pitchers was merciless. And yet, as bad as it was, there's worse news - Volpe is just a sophomore.

Which means opponents must endure two more seasons of this: a .573 batting average;10 doubles, five triples, seven home runs and 48 runs batted in; 43 runs scored; and just four strikeouts in 82 at-bats.

A lefthanded-hitter, Volpe led Salem in each of those offensive categories except doubles. She was an all-WLAA first team selection.

And her defense showed promise, as well. She started at catcher for the first time; last season, she played third base for Salem.

"She's got a real good arm," said her coach, Bonnie Southerland.

Still, it's her offense that draws raves. "She's got great bat speed," Southerland added. "She'll play in college, there's no doubt in my mind.

"You're going to hear a lot about her."

Lauren Wright, infielder, Redford Union: The senior shortstop, a first-team All-Observer pick a year ago, batted .419 with a team-high 39 RBI. She had 36 hits, scored 26 runs and had an on-base percentage of .564 with a slugging percentage of .605.

"Lauren had a quick bat and was hard to strike out," RU coach Gary DeRoche said of the three-year starter, who bounced back after sitting out her sophomore year with knee surgery. "She delivered with people on base. Her eyes would light up and she made some outstanding defensive plays. She could go in the hole and throw people out because she has a great arm. She's one of the top two players I've coached at RU (along with Andrea Roedding)."

Wright, who also stood out in volleyball and basketball, is headed to play hoops at Grand Valley State.

Her two dozen hits included six doubles, four triples and two home runs. Wahl had 18 RBI and scored 14 runs. She also had a .978 fielding percentage with only three errors.

Wahl was named to the All-Catholic and all-district teams and is an academic all-stater.

"Without her leadership, Mercy would not have won the district championship and had the season it did," Mercy coach Jack Falvo said, recalling Wahl batted 10-for-11 and helped the Marlins win their own invitational. "She carried our team by herself; she won the tournament for us.

"The coaches went to Heidi in December and asked her to take control of the team and set an example, and she did that."

Stacey Judd, infielder, Ladywood: The senior second baseman, headed for NCAA College World Series qualifier Michigan, was the Blazers' foundation in the infield.

"Stacey was our best player and one of our captains," Ladywood coach Lisa Parsons said. "She was a big playmaker. She made three unassisted double plays. She was a clutch player, real consistent."

Judd batted .304 (21 for 69) with two doubles, three triples, 15 RBI and 15 runs scored.

Defensively, Judd made 65 putouts and had 55 assists for a .960 fielding percentage (only five errors). She also stole seven of eight bases.

Judd was also voted All-Catholic.

A part-time player as a junior, Bauer blossomed into an honorable mention all-state performer. She tied for the team lead in runs batted in with 29 and was second in batting average at .414. She had five doubles, two triples, and scored 29 runs.

She was equally impressive in the field, making just one error at first base. Her performance earned her selection to the all-Mega Red Division team. She was also Garden City's offensive MVP.

"Jenny had an outstanding senior year," said Patterson. "She made a big jump from last year (Bauer hit .273 as a junior), both offensively and defensively."

But her best attribute was her clutch hitting. She led Garden City with nine game-winning RBI.

"She had a lot of really big hits for us," Patterson added. "There was no one she was intimidated against. I was really proud of her improvement over the year."

Carah Best, infielder, Salem: Offensively, Best was second only to Volpe among the Rocks. Defensively, she was second to none among league shortstops.

A three-year starter at short, Best, a junior, had a team-best 11 doubles among her 29 hits. She batted .363, with one triple, two homers and 22 RBI, and she scored 39 runs.

Best was an all-Lakes Division selection last year. This year, she was all-WLAA.

Randi Wolfe, infielder, Franklin: The junior second baseman was voted first-team All-Region, All-District and All-Conference WLAA after leading the Patriots with a .468 average (44 for 94).

She also had six doubles and four triples.

Wolfe led the team in assists with 61 and made only seven errors (.941). She also won two of five games as a pitcher.

"Randi is so aggressive and so quick that she can virtually play the whole right side of the field," Franklin coach Linda Jimenez said. "She was our lead-off hitter. She knows the game and has softball sense."

She was also chosen to the all-state team for the second consecutive year. Both were earned by an athlete with an impressive array of skills.

Wutke, a senior centerfielder, hit .391 with five doubles and three triples, tying Bauer for the team lead in RBI with 29. She also scored 22 runs and stole nine bases.

In the field, Wutke made just one error. She was named to the all-Mega Red Division team once again, too.

"Colleen's just a very talented athlete," said her coach, Barry Patterson. "She's big, powerful, and has good speed - kind of the whole package."

Jenny Sikora, outfielder, Canton: A senior, Sikora is one of three repeaters from the 1995 all-Observer team. The reason for her selection is the number of reasons she should be selected.

In other words, Sikora's biggest strength is her versatility.

"She'll do anything you ask her to do to benefit the team," said her coach, Jim Arnold. "She's an outstanding kid. She can play anywhere, and she's a hard worker, dedicated."

Sikora spent most of the season in right field for Canton, but she also pitched and played at second base. Her .447 batting average led Canton; so did her .591 on-base percentage, her 34 hits and her 23 RBI. She had 15 stolen bases in 19 attempts and made just three errors in the field.

"What's impressive about Jenny Sikora?" Arnold asked rhetorically. "She never struck out this year."

Holly Foster, outfielder, Harrison: Foster was a four-year starter in right field for the Hawks and was known for her excellent defense as well as her ability with the bat.

As a senior, she threw out seven runners at first base and seven at home plate. She didn't make a single error this year. In her career, she assisted on 32 putouts at first base.

Harrison coach Mike Teachman considers the latter a significant statistic, because it denied opposing teams a high number of baserunners and scoring opportunities.

Foster batted .455 this year (30-for-66) with two doubles, three triples and 21 RBI. Her slugging percentage was .576. She also stole 18 bases and scored 18 runs.

Foster tied a school record with 10 career triples. She also had two home runs, 51 stolen bases, 59 RBI and 59 runs scored.

"Holly was the consumate team player who turned out to be a pretty good spotlight player," Teachman said. "She was willing to work as hard on defense as offense."

Cardinal Maida Plans New School in Canton

First Catholic School Built in 30 Years

"We're not just building a school! We're continuing the treasured legacy of Catholic education!" And with those words Detroit's archbishop, Adam Cardinal Maida, announced June 13, that a new Catholic elementary school—sponsored by four suburban parishes in western Wayne County—would be built on the grounds of Resurrection Parish in Canton, Michigan.

The new school will open in the fall of 1997 and initially have the potential to enroll over 200 students in grades K through 4. Sponsoring the school will be Resurrection Parish in Canton, St. John Neumann Parish in Canton, St. Kenneth Parish in Plymouth, and St. Thomas a'Becket Parish in Canton. "This is what collaboration can do," noted Cardinal Maida.

Work will begin immediately on Phase One: 18 classrooms, a lunch room, multipurpose room, library, and computer room. In Phase Two, an additional 16 classrooms will be built along with a gymnasium, art room, science labs, and auxiliary rooms.

The new school will be located on Resurrection Parish property on Warren Road, west of Beck Road, in Canton. The total estimated cost is $7.22 million.

"This is truly an historic moment," noted Cardinal Maida, "it's the first Catholic school to be built in the Archdiocese of Detroit since the mid-1960's. I wish to commend the Catholic families from the four parishes in the area who sought the school and their pastors who responded to the need."

To begin the project, Resurrection Parish will contribute the land and each of the three other parishes will contribute $250,000. The Archdiocese of Detroit will provide $300,000 and secure the remainder of the funding on a schedule to be determined later.

> "This is truly an historic moment, it's the first Catholic school to be built in the Archdiocese of Detroit since the mid-1960's.
> I wish to commend the Catholic families from the four parishes in the area who sought the school and their pastors who responded to the need."
> — Cardinal Maida

Under a new financing plan approved by Cardinal Maida in consultation with the College of Consultors—archdiocesan priests who advise the archbishop on administrative and financial issues—each family wishing to send a child to the school will be required to make a capital equity contribution of $3,500. Projected tuition for the 1997-98 school year is $2,500 per student.

A Steering Committee will be formed immediately. It will establish a governing board, select a name for the school, and form a search committee to identify a principal.

The Steering Committee will consist of the pastors of the four parishes: Fr. Richard Perfetto of Resurrection, Fr. George Charnley of St. John Neumann, Fr. William Pettit of St. Kenneth, and Fr. C. Richard Kelly Jr. of St. Thomas a'Becket; a lay person from each parish; Sr. Frances Nadolny, superintendent of schools for the Archdiocese of Detroit; Mary Rita Allen, associate superintendent of schools for the Archdiocese of Detroit; and a representative of the Department of Finance and Administrative Services of the Archdiocese of Detroit.

"This new school is certainly a dream come true for the Catholic families and children in the area," said Sr. Frances. "I look forward to working with the new school parents to bring this project from the planning stages to completion."

Director of Education for the Archdiocese of Detroit, Msgr. John M. Quinn, saluted Cardinal Maida's courage and leadership throughout the almost year-long decision process.

"The Cardinal kept us on task," said Msgr. Quinn. "When you haven't done something like this for 32-years, it's not easy to come up with a building formula that is acceptable to everyone. Cardinal Maida kept us focused on the children," Msgr. Quinn added, "he is totally committed to securing our Catholic faith and values for the next generation."

In May of this year, Cardinal Maida dedicated the St. John Center for Youth and Family, a retreat and conference center in Plymouth, Michigan.

DOCTOR OBSERVED

Doctors from Australia and New Zealand were in town recently to observe Larry Morawa, M.D. of Oakwood Healthcare System as he performed total knee replacement surgery. The physicians were learning a modified technique to bring back to their native countries. During the past three years, Morawa has successfully performed 100 total knee replacement surgeries using this system.

The procedure known as Total Knee Replacement (TKR) has been used for many years to alleviate arthritic suffering and has been extraordinarily successful in the last decade. An innovative new product called Insight Knee Positioning and Alignment system improves the accuracy, safety, and efficiency of performing knee replacement surgery.

"It offers an exciting alternative to a method that has remained fundamentally unchanged for 15 years," Morawa said.

NEW POST

Mark Eustis, senior vice president, northwest region of the Detroit Medical Center (DMC) will leave his post in late July to join BJC Health System as senior executive officer west/south region and president, Missouri Baptist Medical Center. Eustis joined the DMC in 1989 as president of Huron Valley Hospital in Commerce Township. In October 1992, he was appointed president of Grace Hospital, now the hub of the DMC's northwest metropolitan Detroit region. A native of Minnesota, Eustis obtained a master's degree in Health Care Administration and is a business graduate from the University of Minnesota. Prior to joining the DMC he held various administrative positions at St. John Health System.

PROVIDING SERVICE

NEW HOMES

Condo conversion expert likes Rochester

Michigan Condominium Corp. has converted thousands of apartment units to condominiums over the years.

It's most recent transformation is Oak Hill Apartments to Hills of Rochester Condominium off University a short walk to downtown Rochester.

A one bedroom flat of 610 square feet is priced at $39,990, a two-bedroom flat of 750 square feet at $54,990 and a two-story townhouse with two bedrooms and some 950 square feet at $65,990.

There's a $2,000 premium for flats on the first floor. However, buyers can knock $4,500 to $5,500 off the purchase price if they accept a unit as-is without renovations or new appliances.

The apartments were built in five, two-story buildings between the middle 1960s and early 1970s.

About half of the 71 units have sold, said P. Craig Cubba, vice president with Michigan Condominium.

"We're able to acquire properties at a good price, work hard to control costs in the renovation program and pass that savings along to customers," he said.

"The first thing that attracted us to this development, acquiring this piece of property, was proximity to downtown Rochester. I believe we're a quarter mile from Main Street.

"Second was the mixture of units. We had a variety of townhouses, one-bedroom and two-bedroom flats so we could offer consumers a variety of housing choices," Cubba said.

A small park is a short walk away and you pass Paint Creek, the library and post office between Hills of Rochester and downtown.

Since taking control of the property in April, Michigan Condominium has reshingled all the roofs and refinished the parking lot. Common hallways will be re-carpted, wall-papered and receive a new chandelier-type light.

TAMMIE GRAVES/STAFF ARTIST

Brass kick-plates will be installed on exterior entry doors, new light fixtures outside the doors. Siding and wood will be painted.

Each unit, when reconditioned, will get a new range, refrigerator and dishwasher; new kitchen cabinets, countertop, and faucets; new carpeting in the living area and bedrooms; new bathroom sink, faucets and cabinet; new vinyl floor in the kitchen and all rooms painted.

Each unit will have at least one wall air conditioner. Most of the units will have one parking space in a carport.

The townhouses will have private basements with hook-ups for washers and dryers. The flats will have pay laundry facilities and storage areas in common basements.

Water, sewer, baseboard steam heat and trash removal are included in the monthly maintenance fee, set at $107 for a one bedroom unit, $128 for a two bedroom and $142 for a townhouse.

Brick is the primary exterior material with some aluminum siding and wood.

"We're getting a mixture of buyers, older retirees, younger singles and, with townhouses, younger families," Cubba said. "The price seems to be attractive. To get something in the Rochester area at this price is unusual, I guess.

'The best part is location, the complex itself and improvements we're doing.'

Gloria Phillips
sales rep

"I think the Rochester school district is excellent. You're close to entertainment and night life. It's a growing area.

"The basic idea is what you see is what you get. For some people, it's a good starter home. People are impressed when they come visit about the extensive renovations we have planned and are in process," Cubba said.

A one bedroom model with upgrades has been reconditioned. Prospects also can poke around a two-bedroom and a townhouse to get a sense of floor plan, but those units haven't been spruced up.

The property tax rate for 1996 is estimated at $34.53 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value. That means the owners of a $54,990 condo in the Hills of Rochester would pay about $950 the first year.

"The best part is location, the complex itself and improvements we're doing," said Gloria Phillips, sales rep. "Visitors love the neighborhood, that they can walk right into town. And the price is right."

Tony Burgi bought a townhouse.

"I just moved to Michigan, relocated from Florida. I didn't really want to spend $250,000 for a new house," he said. "It's fairly inexpensive to own it while I check out different areas.

"For a reconditioned townhouse, it's a pretty decent price. Being two blocks off the main street is pretty nice. I think it will have good resale or rent potential," Burgi said.

Robert Patrician said he's buying two units – a townhouse to live in and a two-bedroom to be rented as an investment.

"I'm president of my own property management corporation," he said. "For the money, it seems like a good buy. From what I can tell, they do fairly high-quality work for the money.

"In the next 10 years, Rochester should appreciate close to what Birmingham has done," Patrician said.

House gives empty nesters space

The 2223-square-foot Halo is an ideal house for a young family needing more living space. The versatile Halo will also work well for empty nesters that like to entertain and have accommodations for any overnight guests. This three-bedroom, two-bath, with an attractive wood exterior, is definitely a home you can build with pride.

A wide front porch, which is a great place to sit and enjoy a summer evening, welcomes your visitors. The entry, with a handy closet, leads directly into a generous great room. Here you can regale friends and family while the built-in fireplace keeps everyone cozy. When the weather warms, take the fun out on the broad back deck. Plenty of room here to set up the barbecue for an old-fashioned cookout.

The isolated master suite is quite large. In addition to having a private bathroom, there are twin basins with an overhead skylight, a huge walk-in closet and personal access to the deck. Adjacent to the master suite is a home office big enough for conducting a business or setting up your PC for use in maintaining household accounts and playing computer games.

The secondary sleeping quarters are on the opposite side of the Halo. They consist of two good-sized bedrooms with big windows and adequate closet space. Empty nesters might consider using one as a den or exercise room. A full bathroom is off the hallway.

The walk-in kitchen features a bright breakfast nook, island cooktop, raised dishwasher, garden window, double ovens and a built-in desk. There is also a nice walk-in pantry. The front dining room not only provides a comfortable setting for meals, it allows you to savor the view from a projecting window seat.

The spacious utility room is sure to please. It conveniently opens into the garage, assuring you of a spot to discard soiled clothing before entering the house. It features a sink, room for folding clothes, storage and a built-in ironing board. The 927-square-foot garage has room for storage, a built-in work bench and an area for garbage and recyclable materials.

For a study kit of the Halo (335-020) send $10 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-0E48, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name and number). For a collection of plan books featuring Landmarks most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark or call 1-800-562-1151.

30-year mortgage rates ease

WASHINGTON (AP) _ Thirty-year, fixed-rate mortgages averaged 8.30 percent last week, down from 8.39 percent the previous week, according to a national survey released Thursday by the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp.

It was the lowest since June 6, when rates also averaged 8.30 percent. The 8.39 percent average last week was the highest since rates were 8.41 during the week ended April 6, 1995. Rates have been on an upward trend since they dropped to 6.94 percent during the week ended Feb. 15.

On one-year adjustable rate mortgages, lenders were asking an average initial rate of 5.93 percent, up from 5.91 percent the previous week.

Fifteen-year mortgages, a popular option for those refinancing mortgages, averaged 7.81 percent this week, down from 7.90 percent a week earlier.

Portable circular saw is handy on the job

(AP) – For most household jobs that require a quick straight cut, a portable circular saw is a good alternative to a cumbersome table saw.

A portable circular saw consists of a motor that drives a disc-shaped blade. The motor is enclosed in a case with handles, and blade guards. Locking devices help to make the saw safe, provided that they are always used.

Types of circular saws

The size of a circular saw is determined by the diameter of its blade. The 7 1/4-inch models are by far the most popular and practical. Generally, a 1-horsepower (or 11-ampere) motor drives a 7 1/4-inch blade efficiently for most jobs. Weight also helps a saw cut smoother, but make sure a model is not so heavy that it is fatiguing and hard to control.

Two kinds of circular saw blades work for most jobs, a general-purpose combination blade with 20 to 24 teeth and a fine cutting blade with about 40 teeth. As a rule, it's best to get carbide-tipped blades. They stay sharp longer, but they're expensive and more brittle and can be damaged if improperly handled.

If you plan to cut metal, use a special metal-cutting blade – and brace yourself for a shower of sparks. To ensure safety, wear earplugs and goggles or a full face-mask. Work far away – say 50 feet – from as likely to catch fire. When sawing metal use a metal blade guard; plastic melts.

Preparation

When used carelessly, a circular saw can be dangerous. To avoid kickback, a prime cause of circular saw accidents, make sure the blade is sharp and clean. Clamp the work to a firm surface. Don't saw wet wood. Be especially careful when sawing warped or knotty wood.

A portable circular saw cuts upward. The teeth of the blade often splinter the wood as they emerge. For a neat cut, mark cutting lines on the back of a piece and clamp the piece face down.

To make more accurate cuts with a circular saw, mark the cutting line on the front of the saw's base plate with paint or an indelible felt marker.

Want your saw to glide as it cuts? Heat the surface slightly with a hair dryer, then rub a block of paraffin wax on the underside of the saw's baseplate.

Using the saw

Maintain a firm footing and never reach too far with the saw. Stand to the side so you're out of the way if the saw does kick back. Keep a firm grip on the saw. Start the saw before the blade touches the work. Release the trigger immediately if the saw starts to bind. At the end of the cut, hold the saw firmly to keep it from dropping. Wait for the blade to stop before removing it from the work.

Cutting depth

Always set the blade to the depth needed for a particular job.

Don't just set it to its full depth and leave it there regardless of the depth of cut. Doing so is dangerous because it can cause kickback.

Here's an easy way to measure and set your circular saw's cutting depth without having to pull out a measuring tape every time. Mark one-half-inch, three-fourths-inch and 1 1/2-inch blade depth measurements on the saw's blade guard with a fine-point permanent marker. Then line up the bottom of the saw's soleplate with the appropriate mark.

New housing construction hits 5-month low

By JOHN D. McCLAIN
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

WASHINGTON (AP) – Builders, concerned that rising mortgage rates will choke off sales, trimmed new home and apartment construction in May to the lowest level in five months.

Stocks and bonds initially rose June 18 after the Commerce Department reported housing starts fell 4.7 percent, to a seasonally adjusted 1.43 million annual rate, and erased the 4.6 percent gain in April. However, the market closed lower, with the Dow Jones industrial average down 24.75 points at 5,628.03. Bond prices also retreated by late in the day.

Starts were down in every region except the South.

Analysts said the weaker-than-expected report suggested a moderating economy and eased fears the Federal Reserve would boost interest rates next month to slow growth and cool any inflationary pressures.

"The Fed obviously is looking at this number," said economist David Lereah of the Mortgage Bankers Association. "This gives them cause to pause. A hike at their July 2-3 meeting is unlikely now."

Analysts noted that 30-year, fixed-rate mortgages topped 8 percent in May, more than a percentage point above the January average. The increase means a $70 hike in the monthly payment on a $100,000 mortgage.

"Builders are saying ... there is some impact out there," said David F. Seiders, an economist with the National Association of Home Builders. "When they feel that way, when inventory levels are as high as they are, they cut back on starts."

New construction decelerated in May to the slowest pace since an equal 1.434 million rate last December. As a result, Seiders said, April's 1.505 million rate "probably was the high point for the year."

Meanwhile, the Labor Department said in a separate report June 18 that workplace productivity shot up 2.1 percent at an annual rate in the first quarter to the highest level in more than two years.

Productivity, or output per number of hours worked, is a key to the American standard of living. Greater efficiency means businesses can increase wages without raising prices since workers are producing more with the same amount of work.

The report contained little sign of inflation. It said unit labor costs, typically two-thirds of the price of a product, slowed to a 1.2 percent increase from 3.7 percent the previous three months.

But it also showed that, so far, many businesses are not increasing worker pay. Compensation rose just 0.1 percent at an annual rate from January through March, when adjusted for inflation.

The Commerce Department report did not offer any hope for a housing start rebound in June. It said applications for building permits, often a barometer of future activity, dropped 1.9 percent in May to a 1.43 million rate. It was the first decline in four months.

Still, while many analysts expect starts to fall from recent peaks, they predict new construction will remain above the 1.35 million pace of last year. For the first five months of the year, starts were 13.5 percent above those of the same period in 1995.

Construction of single-family homes, about 80 percent of total starts, fell 5.9 percent to a 1.13 million rate, lowest since last November's 1.13 million pace. The drop was the largest since a 12 percent decline in January 1995.

Apartment and condominium construction, which is often volatile and not as sensitive to interest rate changes, was unchanged at a 304,000 rate. It had jumped 10.1 percent in April.

Regionally, starts rose 0.9 percent in the South, to a 659,000 rate.

But they fell elsewhere.

H.O.T. Coupons has ticket to savings

O&E ONLINE

EMORY DANIELS

Many of us who love "free" things get a charge out of collecting, sorting and using coupons. Well now area shoppers can use the Web to find the best deal on an oil change, a pizza or haircut through H.O.T. Coupons, the newest and largest electronic coupon Web site.

At H.O.T. Coupons, shoppers can find money-saving offers for restaurants, dry cleaning, auto repairs, pet supplies, dentists, podiatrists, and chiropractors.

Go to http://www.hotcoupons.com and find the coupons you want, print them out at home or from the office, and present them to local merchants for dollar savings.

H.O.T. Coupons is the brainchild of Money Mailer Inc., one of the nation's leading direct mail advertising firms operated in this area by Virginia and Len Singer out of Livonia.

By using a network of more than 500 locally-owned franchise offices, Money Mailer launched H.O.T. Coupons with more than 30,000 advertisers on-line. Included in that number are several area businesses that worked with Money Mailer of Livonia.

"While direct-mail advertising is still Money Mailer's bread and butter, we are really excited about H.O.T. Coupons," said Virginia Singer, owner of Money Mailer of Livonia. "We see it as the next generation of service to local businesses and residents.

"The 'H.O.T.' in H.O.T. Coupons stands for Home, Office and Travel — because consumers can print out coupons for use at Home, near the Office, and before Traveling.

"Best of all, we are placing our local clients on the H.O.T. Coupons site free of charge. So, advertisers who typically target areas of 10,000 homes can now reach out to more than 25 million Internet users worldwide — at no additional cost."

Accessing H.O.T. Coupons is convenient and easy. Consumers who visit the site can enter a ZIP Code, city or state to search for products and services throughout the U.S. and Canada.

"With more than 25 million Internet users currently — and 500 million projected by the year 2,000 — we are sure H.O.T. Coupons is going to help stretch our clients' advertising dollars while providing their customers with added value and convenience."

More free stuff

The volume and variety of free useful information on the Internet is expanding daily. The latest is free directory assistance, Yellow Page information, and business credit ratings.

LookupUSA is a free service launched by American Business Information, based in Omaha, Neb. This latest freebie can be accessed via the World Wide Web at http://www.LookupUSA.com.

Upon arrival users will find two very useful search options:

• American Directory Assistance to locate businesses or people by name, within any city or state;

• American Yellow Pages to locate businesses by Yellow Pages headings such as "Bed and Breakfast Accommodations" or "Yacht Marinas."

LookupUSA, which made its debut on April 1, is designed for both personal and business applications. The site's database contains some 88 million households and 10 million businesses. The company also offers its information in other forms, such as mailing lists, CD-ROMs, business directories, and credit reference services.

"We want users to come to our Web site, try our free services and see the value of our information," said Jack Betts, president of Internet Services for American Business Information, Inc. "Once they see how valuable our data can be, we hope they will buy some of our other products or services.

A new mapping feature is being added to LookupUSA that will allow searches by geographic-radius, such as all restaurants within a mile radius of the user's home.

This site, and others like it, have the potential of making directory assistance obsolete, if on-line use increases as fast in the near future as the sale of PCs has in the past couple years. Betts claims LookupUSA is faster and more flexible than directory assistance and provides more information, such as mailing addresses, ZIP Codes, and business credit scores.

O&E Online enhances its customer service

Increased accessibility, ease of use, and enhanced customer service are among the major results of the recently implemented upgrades of O&E Online.

In recent weeks O&E Online, the Observer & Eccentric's Internet Service Provider serving southeast Michigan, has added five Livingston Portmasters, additional lines, added Web servers, introduced search features, enhanced customer support, and is in the process of increasing its bandwidth.

The net result is near elimination of busy signals, more stable connections, increased speed, greater help for users — all at a lower cost. "All of these changes were made to keep our customers satisfied and to grow our business, " said Greg Day, manager of the Strategic Business Unit which operates O&E Online.

A Portmaster is a communications controller added to O&E Online's network. Modems and phone lines are the plugged directly into the Portmaster rather than a Unix server.

The Portmaster handles all of the user name and password authorization, and randomly selects IP (Internet Protocol) addresses for PPP users which drastically speeds up the log-in process.

Another benefit of the Portmaster is that it maintains a more stable and reliable connection so that users are far less apt to lose their connection.

O&E Online also has increased its phone line capacity by 50 percent in response to problems previously encountered by users in receiving busy signals during prime time.

"We have reduced busy signals by 90 percent," said Day. "There may be a time when a user will experience a busy signal during prime, but he or she will now be able to connect immediately or with just a few redials rather than having to keep redialing for 15 minutes or longer."

All new modems added are 28.8 speed. O&E Online now has 140 phone lines connected to its new Portmaster to better serve users.

"We go out of our way to offer better service and customer support to our users," said Day. "We are unique amongst providers in that if we can't resolve a user's problem over the phone than subscribers can bring their PCs into the office and our technicians will work on any configuration or software problem they have and get it fixed."

In keeping with that goal, O&E Online also has enhanced its online customer support with a help page at http://oeonline.com/help.html where software upgrades and fixes can be found along with Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) files and other help. Users now also have the option of using File Transfer Protocol (FTP) to download Internet software and upgrades at ftp.oeonline.com.

An enhanced voice support line is available at 313-953-2266 or users can talk to a real human being if they prefer by dialing 313-953-2278.

Users also can check out the total number of hours they have spent online, an option not offered by most ISPs, by going to the "Your Turn" page at the O&E Website.

Two search engines also have been added to the O&E Website. One engine available for users at http://oeonline.com/news.html will search the archives of all news stories placed online.

The other new search engine will search all user home pages by topic or user.

User home pages are becoming more popular with O&E Online subscribers. Not only are home pages offered free to subscribers but users are given an unlimited amount of file space for their pages.

O&E Online now has three Webservers. One new Webserver handles all the real estate services and features offered via RealNet and the other is dedicated for classifies offered online. RealNet can now be accessed directly at http://news.oeonline.com. and classifieds can be reached at http://class.oeonline.com.

The two new Webservers makes it easier to access and use RealNet and Classifieds and takes the load off the original Webserver which now can be dedicated to handling the other Websites handled by O&E Online.

During the same time that O&E Online increased its phone lines and added the Portmaster and Webservers, the rate was dropped from $19.95 to $15.95 per month.

In addition, all users are allowed up to 100 free hours a month.

Within the next 30 days, O&E Online will increase its bandwidth by 100 percent, allowing users to connect to the Internet faster. Examples are that subscribers using browsers will notice Web pages loading much faster onto their screen and those using FTP will be downloading much faster.

Census Bureau starts CenStats

The Commerce Department's Census Bureau has announced a new Internet subscription service called "CenStats."

CenStats is designed to speed up delivery of the latest Census Bureau information about subjects such as population, housing, income and poverty, manufacturing and business.

The service includes electronic images of all reports published by the Census Bureau since Jan. 1, and selected reports published before that date.

With CenStats' electronic bookstore, customers can access hundreds of reports for less than if they bought them individually.

CenStats will supplement the information that is available for free on the Census Bureau's Internet site.

"This is an important step in an ongoing program to provide greater access to census data," Martha Farnsworth Riche, Census Bureau director, said.

"The basic information that has been available free of charge, will remain free, but we are going to provide the data products we now sell on CD-Rom, printed, and so forth, through the Internet via the CenStats subscription service. In the long run, this will increase the timeliness of product delivery, while reducing cost for our customers."

Fees from CenStats will cover the costs incurred to develop, maintain and improve the system and overall Internet access.

The new service at http//www.census.gov/prod/www/ has opened with a free get-acquainted period that will last a few months.

Other features are planned including the ability to download a single table, enhance data manipulation and use extraction and display tools, similar to some of the current features of the Census Bureau's Internet site.

■ COMPANIES ACQUIRED
Grace & Wild Studios Inc. is acquiring two local companies which will be combined in a new operation division. The companies being acquired are Projections Inc. of Farmington Hills, which specializes in presentation graphics and technical direction for business meetings and events such as new car announcements and trade shows, and Detroit Power & Light of Livonia, which rents, sells and services lighting and support gear to film and video professionals. The two companies will be part of Grace & Wild's new production support services division which will be located in the Studio Center communications park in Farmington Hills by late summer. Studio Center is also the residence of Grace & Wild's post-production facilities and other independent businesses serving the audio, video, film and print industries. Stratton Camera Inc. will be associated with the production support services division as an on-site tenant supplying motion picture film camera rentals and accessories. The companies have worked with Grace & Wild's location video services group on national television commercials, large corporate meetings and events and other projects. Davis Branson, founder and president of Projections Inc. , has been appointed vice president and general manager of the new production support services division. Wil Laneski has been named president and general manager of the Detroit Power & Light Group and will be responsible for the newly expanded rental services being offered by the division. Laneski founded Detroit Power & Light in 1989.

■ COMPANY TO MOVE
Kitchen Glamor is moving its corporate offices, shipping and receiving warehouse, accounts payable offices and advertising offices from Redford Township to Westland as of July 1. The address is 39049 Webb Court, Westland, 48185. Phone (313) 641-1244. Fax (313) 641-1240.

■ NAME CHANGE
The Detroit Bar Association has changed its name to the Detroit Metropolitan Bar Association to reflect the broadened geographic range of the association's service area, according to association president Tony Jenkins. "As the association celebrates its 160th year and expands into new headquarters downtown, the name Detroit Metropolitan Bar Association more accurately reflects that many of our members practice law in communities surrounding the city of Detroit," Jenkins said. "Likewise, the association's lawyer referral and district court mediation services, and our pro bono programs, serve citizens and litigants in the surrounding communities as well as the city." The association is in the process of moving its headquarters from the Penobscot Building, where it has been since August 1984, to 2100 Buhl Building. The new facility will include and expanded Legal Research Center, videoconferencing capabilities, training and mediation facilities, a courtroom, part-time office space and an attorney lounge.

■ FIRM WINS CONTRACT
Business Communications Group has won a contract for a date network cabling plant from St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw. Valued at more than $100,000, the campuswide network includes the design and installation of a network with more than 400 stations, and a fiberoptic backbone. Employee training and routine maintenance services are included. Business Communications Group, established in 1986, is an independent resource for business telecommunications.

■ CAMP JEEP
Chrysler Corp. is holding its second annual Camp Jeep Aug. 9-10 at Camp Hale, 25 miles southeast of Vail, Colo. Camp Jeep is designed to let owners learn more about the off-highway capabilities of their vehicles in a safe and environmentally responsible manner. Other activities include fly-fishing clinics, mountain biking, rock climbing and guided hikes. At the Family Activity Center, children can participate in a mini Jeep 101 course nature activities and photo scavenger hunts. On Saturday evening an outdoor concert will be held. Registration is $195 a vehicle (there is no per person charge). Call (800) 789-JEEP.

■ LEADERSHIP AWARD
The Accounting Aid Society has formed the Jeanne R. Vogt Celebration of Leadership award. The annual award – being established in honor or retiring Accounting Aid Society President Jeanne Vogt – it designed to recognize individuals or organizations that exemplify creative and effective leadership in their service to the community. Recipients of the award may represent the nonprofit, public or private sectors, or a combination. The purpose of the award is two-fold: to commemorate Vogt's career, and to recognize others who demonstrate commitment and effectiveness, according to Aid Society President Cynthia Tanner, who was named as Vogt's successor. "Jeanne made indelible marks throughout Michigan during her 18 years at the Accounting Aid Society," Tanner said. "She has tirelessly shared her expertise in organizational, planning, diversity training and board development, and in advocacy for community-based organizations. The celebration of leadership will acknowledge the highest standards and best practices of service to the community." Nomination applications will be available at the beginning of next year. The first winner will be announced at the 25th anniversary gala of the society in June 1997.

■ EDUCATION FUND
Plante & Moran, an accounting and management consulting firm based in Michigan, has announced the establishment of the Richard E. Czarnecki Accounting Education Fund. The fund was established by Plante & Moran and the University of Michigan Dearborn to commemorate accounting professor Richard Czarnecki's retirement from the School of Management at University of Michigan Dearborn and his 29 years of service at Plante & Moran as a training consultant and adviser. Czarnecki, a certified public accountant, holds bachelors and master's degrees from the University of Detroit and a Ph.D. in accounting from Michigan State University. He began his accounting career with Arthur Andersen in Detroit.

AT HOME

CUTTING THE RUG .....

INVITING IDEAS

Flowers, flowers everywhere - even on pizza

RUTH MOSSOK JOHNSTON

I know spending a lot of time in my garden has its effects on me – it gives me a great sense of communing with nature, a sense of accomplishment, a quiet time for restructuring my priorities, and a challenge to my creativity ... these are all good things – well, except for my creative compulsivity for flowers!!!

There are now flowers afloat in my soups, flowers suspended in my ice cubes, flowers adding color to my butter, flowers embedded in my homemade pasta, flowers (non-edible ones) in my vases – flowers scattered in my salads (the edible ones) and now, flowers on my pizza!

Wait till my zucchini blossoms start popping - for those, I do a tempura batter and fry, or stuff with cheese and serve as an appetizer! So much for the Retro Mania of the '60's, this is my interpretation/expression of a true flower child...where's my beaded headband?

With all flowers for eating – make sure they are edible (check your resources!) – make sure they have not been dipped in dye – make sure they are chemical and pesticide free!! The safest way of utilizing petals and flowers, is to grow them from seed yourself. If growing them is not an option, make sure you find an organic source.

Herb flowers are wonderful to use, they are usually small and delicate, and can be used whole – they all have different flavors. When using different types of herb flowers, I never use more than three types at a time – don't confuse the flavors by adding too many of them. I particularly love the flowers from the rosemary, basil, and thyme plants. If I'm using chives or nasturtiums, I usually don't mix more than two flowers because of their size. Nasturtiums can be used whole, or just use the petals.

BLOOMING PIZZA

Yield: Two large round pizzas

When making this pizza, feel free to add your own favorite ingredients - be creative, and keep in mind your use of color. Have some dried red pepper flakes on hand, or add some fresh herbs to give your pizza more flavor - experiment! Serve this colorful goodie as an appetizer or a main dish - add a crisp light white wine - serve outdoors and enjoy the warm summer air.

- 6 tablespoons light olive oil
- 6 cloves garlic, peeled and minced
- 2-4 teaspoons fresh, chopped basil
- 2 envelopes active dry yeast
- 2 cups warm water (approximately 110 degrees)
- 5 cups unbleached flour, plus more for dusting and adding to dough if necessary
- 2 teaspoons salt
- No-stick cooking spray
- 1/2 cup yellow cornmeal
- 1 cup sun dried tomatoes (packed in olive oil & drained), cut into 1/4" dice
- Mozzarella cheese, shredded
- Fresh mushrooms, washed and sliced
- Pitted black olives, sliced
- Onion (Vidalia if possible), peeled and cut into 1/4" dice
- Edible flowers ( I use rosemary flowers, basil flowers and thyme flowers)

In a small glass bowl, combine the olive oil, minced garlic, and basil - set aside momentarily.

In a large glass bowl, combine the yeast and warm water; stir to completely dissolve. Stir in the flour, about 1/2 cup at a time, stir in the salt and 3 teaspoons of the oil mixture.

Place the dough on a lightly floured surface and knead for approximately 10 minutes, adding small amounts of flour if necessary. Knead the dough until it appears, soft and slightly sticky to the touch.

Add one tablespoon of the oil to a clean large glass bowl and rub the surface completely. Place your kneaded dough in the bowl and turn the dough to gently coat with the oil. Cover the bowl with plastic wrap and set in a warm place free of drafts, to double in size (approximately one hour).

When the dough has doubled, punch down the dough on a lightly floured surface, and divide into two balls. Pat and stretch dough to the approximate size of your pizza pans, spray the pizza pans with no-stick cooking spray and sprinkle on the cornmeal, then transfer you pizza rounds to the pans. Cover the dough with plastic wrap for 30 minutes to let rest.

Preheat your oven to 400 degrees.

On each pizza, brush on a thin layer of the remaining oil on the crust and body. Add the sun dried tomato bits, the desired amount of cheese, mushrooms, olives, and onion. Bake for 7 minutes and re-brush edges of the pizzas with another thin layer of oil. Bake until cheese is almost totally melted - garnish with your colorful herb flowers, and bake for a final couple of minutes. Serve warm.

GARDEN SPOT

Reap garden delights from books

"The Transplanted Gardener," Charles Elliott (Lyons & Buford, $22.95), will delight those readers of Horticulture magazine who have enjoyed Elliott's writings.

He is an American editor in London for Alfred A. Knopf now living in the United Kingdom who writes about any subject concerning gardening there. His essays run the gamut from shovels, bedding out, garden visiting to vegetables.

We meet well-known and not-so-well-known gardeners and learn about their eccentricities, ideas and thoughts in a writing style that is both scintillating and serious. This is an enjoyable "take-to-bed" book as a prelude to a relaxing sleep.

"Step-by-step Gardening Techniques Illustrated," Elaine Sears (Garden Way, $22.95), is long overdue. Since 1984 the step-by-step series has taught readers of Horticulture magazine the correct way to perform many garden chores and now they are here in one volume.

Each subject is clearly illustrated with black and white line drawings by Sears and no-nonsense instructions by experts such as Nancy Bubel, Lee Reich and Janet Sanchez.

Whether you want to take rose cuttings, make manure tea, lay a flagstone path, improve the soil, raise ferns from spores or work on any other of the 86 projects, you will find the correct procedures here. Keep it for reference.

"Morning Glories & Moonflowers," Anne Halpin (Simon & Schuster, $22.50), explains how to use vines in many areas, how to support them and the correct supports needed, where and when to plant them, in the ground or containers.

Halpin has chosen her favorites and includes horticulture requirements from watering, fertilization, rejuvenation training and more. One section is devoted to profiles of her favorite plants, which makes the book complete. If a vine is in your garden plans, this book will give excellent guidance.

"The Garden in Winter," Rosemary Verey (Timber Press, $24.95, paper), beautifully illustrates the importance of structure in the garden from plants to hard structures such as statues or architectural details.

Whether snow-covered or not, plants that are chosen for their form and foliage color will provide their own winter beauty. We can provide a surprising array of color in this type of garden.

Included are lists of chores for maintenance as well as things to do at this time of year for pleasure such as feeding the birds. The plant portraits will open new possibilities for winter interest.

"The Poetry of Roses," Carolyn Parker (Abrams, $19.95), will be appreciated by all lovers of poetry and the beauty of the rose. Parker has photographed roses from her California garden with great care and has captured them exquisitely from a perfect single rose or bud to an armful.

She has chosen poems from long ago, such as "In the garden mystery glows the secret is hidden in the rose" (Farid un-Din Attar, 1119-1230), "Unbent by winds, unchill'd by snows, Far from the winter of the west, By every breeze and season blest, Returns the sweets by nature given In softest incense back to Heaven..." (George Gordon, Lord Byron, 1788-1824), to Dorothy Parker's "One Perfect Rose." A lovely gift.

"The 3,000-mile Garden," Leslie Land and Roger Phillips (Viking, $24.95), is the correspondence between these two gardeners about gardening, food and their everyday lives.

She, a food writer in America, and he, a gardening and nature photographer in England, share their thoughts, hopes and exasperations and their struggles with their gardens in a series of letters. You will laugh and commiserate with them.

Perhaps you saw the TV program with the same name. It was delightful, as is the book.

LET'S REMODEL

Here's what to expect when remodeling

Q: We have just purchased our first home and know that the bathroom needs to be remodeled. We have had no previous experience with any type of remodeling and would like to know what we should expect the project to cover and how long will it take?

A: Many people purchase their first house only to find that once they have moved in, unpacked the boxes, and arranged the furniture that it is time to start making it feel like home. With the creation of indoor plumbing out goes the days when a plain wooden shack with a creaking door, cold wooden seat and lack of proper lighting do we find that one room can require so many choices. Bathrooms come in many sizes and have become the one room in the house that needs to offer its owners and users the widest variety of functions, style and durability. So let's take a look at some of the features and areas that will need to be addressed from determining a practical budget to the finishing touches.

The Budget: This area is that starting point for which all future decisions will be impacted the most. Most total bathroom remodels start at about $6,000 and may go as high as $20,000.

NARI® MICHIGAN REMODELING ASSOCIATION

That means that there are a lot of options to choose from.

The Contractor: Select a contractor who has built a good reputation within the area that he services. Ask how long he has been in business and ask for his referral list. Check to see that they are properly licensed and insured and the time in which the work will be performed and completed. Make sure that the proper permits/inspections will be obtained by the contractor. Take the time to follow up with phone calls to the people on the referral list and understand that this process may take time due to everyone working different schedules. Many problems arise from not taking the time to select a contractor that meets your expectations.

The Fixtures: Ask if there is a showroom available for you to visit and select the specific items for your bathroom. The range of items should not be limited to one manufacturer or color. Don't be afraid to ask what options are available and their impact on your budget. Selecting poor quality items can start you down the path to a poor quality bathroom. If your contractor sends you to the local discount home center for your selections, then that may be the first indication that your contractor may not know the full range of product lines available.

Installation: From the time the old fixtures are removed, to the time that walls, floor structures, electrical and plumbing services are completely checked and ready do we start the rebuilding process. Two inspections will be necessary during the project. One at the completion of the rough-in stage and one at the completion of all work. Any items that fail these inspections should be addressed right away.

Final walkthrough: Go over the entire project with your contractor to insure that all items in the contract have been satisfactorily met. Remember to try to keep a clear line of communication with your contractor throughout the entire project as to avoid any unnecessary or uneasy feeling.

BACKYARD NATURE

Insulation keeps temperature just right

One of the ways a house loses and gains heat is through conduction. Conduction is the movement of heat through solid objects, such as walls, the ground, floors and ceilings.

Heat always moves toward the cold, trying to equalize the temperature, and does move through solid material. Heat inside a warm house will always try to escape and, in the summer, the heat outside tries to get in.

Insulation in floors, ceilings and walls is helpful because it traps tiny pockets of air that retard the transfer of heat. Insulation won't stop heat entirely, but will slow it down.

Insulation's effectiveness is indicated by its "R-value," which is its ability to resist heat flow from warmer to cooler areas. The higher the R-value, the more effective the insulation. It is important to remember that a material's insulating ability is based on R-value, not thickness. In Michigan, the recommended R-value is R-38.

Types of insulation are:

- Batts and blankets — fiberglass. The R-value per inch is 3.1 to 3.5. It is best suited for standard joists, studs or rafter spacing in attics, walls and the underside of floors.
- Loose fill — cellulose, fiberglass and vermiculite. The R-value per inch is 2.2 to 3.7. It is best suited for non-standard spacing, infill of block walls and when spacing between joists that have obstructions.
- Rigid board — polystyrene, polyisocyanurate, urethane and bead board. The R-value per inch is 3.5 to 5.5. It is best suited for basement walls, foundations, exterior walls, interior walls and cathedral ceilings.

When adding insulation in the attic, keep at least 1-1/4 inches of space between the insulation and the sheathing to allow air from the soffit/eave vents to flow to the ridge and/or gable vents.

You can expect to pay 65 cents to $1 per square foot for insulation, including labor and materials. Many homeowners reduce their cost significantly by adding insulation themselves, something that is easy in almost all homes.

In the attic, a contractor will install about nine inches of insulation. If you have a 1,000-square foot attic at an insulation cost of $650 to $1,000, you can expect savings of $125 to $200 per year, depending on the climate. Your payback would occur in five to six years.

Insulating walls can be an economic loser without careful planning. It requires drilling holes, filling walls and using an infrared scanner. Walls also have much more square footage to insulate than the attic. With 4,000 square feet of walls in an average house, the cost may be $3,500 to $4,500 professionally installed. You may not break even on your investment for 15 to 20 years. An even better option is to address the air infiltration and air loss.

Smoothtop ranges are hot in the kitchen

In the 1980s, smoothtop ranges were relatively rare. You were lucky to find more than one of them to choose from in a single appliance store. However, times have changed. These good-looking, easy-to-clean smoothtops have become so popular that appliance dealers now offer dozens of models from every major range and cooktop manufacturer. If you're considering a new range for your home, here is some helpful background information to help you with your search for smoothtop.

First, about the smoothtop material. Though it looks like glass, on the vast majority of smoothtop ranges and cooktops, the material is in fact an extraordinary glass-ceramic material called Ceran. Ceran® glass-ceramic is translucent (you can see the heating elements underneath), is exceedingly strong, can withstand very high temperatures and is unaffected by sudden, extreme changes in temperature, like ice water spilled on red-hot cooking surface.

What's more, it's easy to clean, almost never stains and is highly resistant to scratching. Ceran is the only glass-ceramic material that has been in use in Europe for more than 20 years and has withstood the test of time.

Ceran glass-ceramic panels direct heat upwards into the pan, rather than spreading it to the side. As a result, pots and pans heat evenly and quickly, but the rest of the Ceran panel remains cool under normal cooking conditions.

The basic Ceran material is black, but surface decorations are added to designate the various cooking zones and to help mask smudges and fingerprints. The surface decoration is permanently "baked in" to the glass-ceramic panel during the manufacturing process, so it will no rub, scratch or wear off with age.

The most recent development has been multiple color surface decorations. The Ceran panel can be decorated with up to four different colors, making it a distinct design element in the kitchen.

The other major differences in smoothtops are in the various types of heating elements that are used. Basically, there are three types, but only two are commonly used. Radiant elements use electrical resistance to create and reach maximum temperature in 3 to 10 seconds. Halogen elements use halogen lamps to generate heat. It's sometimes called "cooking with light."

The halogen elements themselves light up and reach their maximum temperatures almost instantly. The third and most expensive type of heating element, called induction, generates a magnetic field which in turn creates heat within a ferromagnetic pot or pan. Induction units provide quick heating and very precise temperature control, but will not work with nonmagnetic materials like stainless steel or aluminum.

Many, but not all, cooktops incorporate hot-surface indicator lights, which are an important safety extra. Hot-surface indicator lights glow while the corresponding cooking zone is hot to the touch. As a safety feature, the heat indicator light stays on even after the unit is turned off and remains on until the Ceran surface is cool to the touch. These indicators combined with the visible glow of heating elements through the Ceran panel, help ensure safe operation of the cooktop.

For more information about smoothtop cooktops and ranges, write to Schott Corp. for a copy of "Your Pocket Guide to Ceran Glass-Ceramic Rangetops," an illustrated, eight-page, four-color booklet with short, direct answers about smooth-surface cooktop systems. Send your request to Schott Corp., Technical Glass Division; 3 Odell Plaza, Yonkers, NY 10701.

COVER STORY

STAFF PHOTOS BY DAN DEAN

RUG MAKER INSPIRED BY GEOMETRY

BY HUGH GALLAGHER
STAFF WRITER

Susan Cobb's brightly colored and unusually shaped area rugs are stacked about two rooms of her West Bloomfield home, suggesting a modernist, Art Deco bazaar in the midst of suburbia. This garden of rugs also conveys the joy that Cobb receives from the art she creates.

"It's such a fun job. It took me until I was 40 to find my passion," she said.

Cobb started out years ago to become a court reporter at a school in California, but the interest in art was already forming.

"I met with a girl who worked at the art museum and that inspired me to take art classes. I did it as a side thing and I always enjoyed it. I write songs, short stories. I've had a few published but nothing much," she said.

Cobb moved to Washington, D.C., got married and moved back to her native Michigan. She gave up court reporting to start a family but took her first steps toward creating art. She started a small business painting clothing. It became popular, but the demands of growing children forced her to give it up.

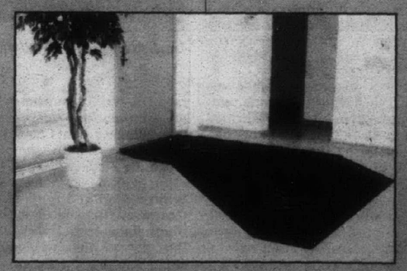
Five years ago, a separation led Cobb to search for ways to support herself and her family with art.

She said a neighbor and friend, Wally DeNike, encouraged her by showing her a notebook of creative ideas that included rug making. Cobb already had some of the basics from her clothing design work.

"When I started painting clothing, I learned a lot about color and design," she said.

Cobb threw herself into every aspect of carpet design. She visited carpet stores and warehouses. She relearned math and the use of a compass and protractor.

"I started out thinking if I could sell just one rug a month I would be the happiest girl around. The first year I did three a month. Last year there were not less than 50 orders on my board at a time," Cobb said.



Cobb's rugs show a jazz age love for geometric designs, unusual shapes and colors and rhythmic juxtapositions.

"I'm a deco person, known for pieces with odd things sticking off the edge or wavy parts," she said.

Cobb creates her rugs from pieces that she cuts, shapes and backs in her own unique way. She buys the carpet from three mills.

"It's nylon, very high quality that can stand abuse. Great for foyer, kitchen, bathroom," she said.

She sold her first piece to a gallery but now sells mainly through word of mouth or art fairs. She works closely with her customers to meet their special needs.

"I go to people's homes, take carpet samples, match colors to windows, walls, art work," she said.

"Whether they want a fun piece or a more sedate piece, I come home and do a rendering, color them in, mail them back and work from that."

"Last year was my first year at the Ann Arbor show," she said. "I sent in an application and I was stunned when I got in. I sold to celebrities and one guy bought five rugs. Last year one lady bought everything I had that was gray."

But it is her local success that has been most gratifying. She has won the support of many neighbors.

"In West Bloomfield your reputation is important. When someone finds something they like, they pass your name around," she said.

Cobb's rugs sell for an average $25 a foot but can range from $13 a foot to $40 a foot based on the complexity of the design.

Sparkle up shots with July 4 fireworks

MONTE NAGLER

This Fourth of July will be a special one, so why not get in on the action? You can add "flare" to your photographs, "sparkle" up your shots with lots of color, and add a new "burst" of excitement to your pictures.

How can you do all this? Shooting the fireworks, of course! Photographing fireworks isn't as difficult as you might think. Follow the advice here and you'll reward yourself with truly memorable holiday shots.

If shooting color, use daylight balanced film. Despite the fact that the color temperature of fireworks is that of tungston films, tungston balanced films will give your pictures too cold a look. We expect fireworks to look warm and "alive" and daylight film will do just this.

For black and white shooters, don't think that the spectacular colors of fireworks will be lost. Not at all! Black and white film will produce truly dramatic effects, too, as shown in the accompanying photograph.

At public displays, it's possible to hand hold your camera using exposures of about 1/60 second at wide open aperture with ASA 100 film. But the faster shutter speeds required for hand holding won't give your photographs that certain mystique and impact that a longer shutter speed will.

Solution: Use a tripod. A tripod will enable you to set your camera on "B," which in turn offers a wide range of options.

First, a long shutter speed will allow light patterns from the fireworks to spread into a more exciting design. Also, with your camera on "B," you'll be able to wait for several bursts to explode, capturing them all on a single frame of film. Remember, in the intervals of darkness, nothing is being recorded on the film.

Try tilting, panning, even wiggling your camera during exposure to exaggerate the spread of fireworks across the frame. Think of the abstract patterns you can produce!

Want to try something exciting at home? Wait until dark, set your camera on a tripod with the shutter on "B" with a small aperture. Have a friend or family member stand in front of the camera and twirl a sparkler in either an abstract pattern or a recognizable word or shape. All of this will be recorded on the film! And if you want the person in the finished picture, snap off your flash at the end of the exposure.

Carpet may be decor's centerpiece

(AP) - Because it provides a unifying focus that ties together walls, window treatments and furnishings, carpet may be the single most important element used in interior decoration.

The most common carpet construction is called tufting. The tufting machine pierces the carpet backing material with loops of yarn which form the carpet pile. If the loops of yarn are uniform in size and height, the carpet is a level-loop pile. Berber styles are level-loop carpets that have tight loops and maximum fiber density. Carpet with loops of uneven height is called multilevel loop. If some of the loops are cut and the carpet height is even, it's called cut loop. If some of the loops are intact and some are cut, but the pile height is uneven, the pile is called random shear.

If all carpet pile loops are cut and form a uniform one-half-inch high pile, the carpet is called Saxony. A Saxony pile that's more than one-half-inch high and less dense may be called velvet, plush or textured plush. A carpet that has a mixture of straight tufts with twisted or curled tufts is called random frieze. Friezes or twists, with their curled tufts, form a resilient textured pile that resists matting, doesn't show footprints and is sometimes referred to as trackless. The most durable carpets are the loop-pile styles – a good choice for high traffic areas.

Density and weight also help determine carpet durability. Density refers to the number of fibers found in 1 square inch of carpet, and is referred to as either stitches per inch (spi) or stitches per 3 inches. The minimum spi for residential carpeting should be 9 to 10. Berbers should have a minimum of 5 to 6 spi and level-loop or commercial carpets should have 10-12 spi.

When selecting carpet, check for tightness of fibers. Bend the carpet sample so it forms a 90 angle and check how much backing material you can see. The less visible the backing, the tighter the fibers and the more durable the carpet.

Also check the carpet's pile yarn weight. Select a carpet that has no less than a 40-ounce pile weight (higher pile weight is better) for Saxonys, plushes or berbers. Note that pile weight refers to the weight of the carpet pile only. The total weight of the carpet, which includes the pile plus the backing, will also be listed.

Carpet yarn may be nylon, olefin, polyester, polypropylene or natural fibers such as wool or cotton. The most durable carpets are made with olefin.

Join fan club for special cool decor

One size, one color, one function. Buying a ceiling fan used to be simple. That was before an explosion of styles, colors and features swept the ceiling fan market.

Home decor wasn't a top priority with John Hunter and his son, James, when they invented the ceiling fan in 1886. They were interested in air circulation, and their invention was a model of efficiency and function. Over the years function was integrated with fashion. Modern ceiling fans are supposed to work hard and look good.

Today, the Hunter Fan Co. alone markets more than 350 models of ceiling fans. What once was a strictly utilitarian machine is now a stylish decor enhancement, and in some cases even a room's focal point. With so many fan choices available, it's important to know what to look for when buying a ceiling fan.

Several factors should be considered before buying a ceiling fan, said Holly Vinson, a lighting design consultant in Memphis, Tenn. Such factors as style, color, size, features and function are part of the selection process.

The first step in selecting a ceiling fan is to determine the fan's function before you start shopping. Is the fan to be a source of cooling, or is it to lend atmosphere? Is it to be used as a light source? Will it play a prominent role in the decorating scheme? Answering these questions will focus your thinking and make the selection process easier.

Fan club: Snoopy's Action Fan™, a 48-inch, low-profile ceiling fan from Hunter Fan Co., has three flame-tempered wood and aluminum blades resembling propellers. The famous Peanuts® character and his plane are a durable, lightweight applique that mounts between the fan and the ceiling.

Next, consider the type of room where you will install the fan. If it's a sunroom, porch or gazebo, you'll need a fan designed specifically for indoor/outdoor use. Vinson suggests Hunter's Original Outdoor fan for two reasons: It's weather-resistant and has cloth blade covers available in four different colors that are machine washable.

Also, consider whether the fan will be used as a light source. A model that can be equipped with a 150-watt halogen light bulb will provide the perfect ambiance for a bright kitchen. However, the same light kit might be inappropriate for the subtle lighting usually found in bedrooms.

"Many customers neglect to measure the room where the ceiling fan will be installed and are surprised to discover that fans come in several different sizes and profiles," Vinson said.

Fans range from 32-inch models designed for rooms of 64 square feet, to 52-inch fans that are suited for rooms up to 400 square feet. Ceiling height is also an important factor to consider. Rooms with tall ceilings require a longer down rod than those rooms with traditional dimensions that require a more low-profile fan.

Determining the fan's prominence in the room will help you narrow down the options when choosing from the myriad of style, design and color choices. Ask yourself what role the fan will play in the overall decorating scheme. Will the fan serve simply to complement the room's decor, or will it be a focal point?

Hunter Fan's 1886 Series fan in burnished brass is a top seller, primarily because it blends with a wide variety of colors, said Vinson. Other fans, however, are attention-grabbers suitable only for certain types of decorating schemes.

"Most of our customers have a feel for the look that they're striving for. We just point them in the right direction."

As with any home improvement, cost is an important factor. Quality ceiling fans range in price from under $100 to several hundred dollars, depending on the size, style and options selected. However, since the higher quality fans offer extended or lifetime warranties, and because the fans can make a noticeable dent in energy bills, the payoff is usually well worth the investment.

Check heat at your door

(NAPS)—What do thermal cups, Gortex™ and insulation all have in common? The ability to keep items cool under certain conditions and warm under others. And with the warmer months upon us, keeping cool becomes a major priority — whether it is a cool drink or a cool home. If you think your home could feel more appealing, temperature-wise, during the warmer seasons, follow this checklist for greater indoor comfort:

■ Look in your attic and inspect your insulation level. If it is less than R-38 or your home was constructed before 1980, chances are you need more insulation. Call an insulation contractor to upgrade your insulation.

■ Take a walk around the outside of your property. Look to see where trees and shrubs are planted. You may want to add more deciduous trees — those that drop their leaves in the fall. Planted in front of sunny windows, they can actually keep your home cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter because of the shade they generate, thereby reducing energy costs.

■ Make sure your fireplace flue is closed. It can draw warmer air from the outside into your home if left open.

■ Caulk and weatherstrip around all windows and doors to prevent cool air leaking out and warm air from entering your home.

■ Keep shades drawn during the day to keep the warmth the sun generates outside of your home.

■ Use minimal unnatural lighting during the day. It will keep your home cooler and keep your electricity costs down, too.

For more tips on keeping your home cooler during the warmer months, write for a free copy of "The Energy Checklist For Keeping Your Home Cooler" from the CertainTeed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482

Ceramic tile is durable but not maintenance-free

Ceramic tile is an attractive and durable material that is especially popular above bathtubs and inside showers. It's so popular that alternative surface materials are often offered in styles that imitate the look of the real thing.

However, tiles aren't maintenance-free. When problems arise, you'll have two simple choices. You can fix them now, for a few dollars, or you can fix them later, for hundreds more. Once water penetrates the tile grout, wall damage can be extensive.

The problems almost always begin with damaged grout joints, and for one of two reasons. In today's housing market, installers need to move through a job quickly. The problem is that tilework resists speed with two obstacles. The first is that tile mastic cures too slowly, the second is that grout cures too quickly.

The mastic used to glue tile to walls will set in a day, but takes days longer to cure. If the spaces between the tiles are grouted too soon, the gases that must escape in curing create tiny pinholes in the grout.

As for curing the grout, the best approach is a wet cure, where the normal drying rate is prolonged. When cured properly, the grout becomes hard and water resistant. If allowed to dry too quickly, the grout will have a soft, chalky surface that absorbs water. As the water is absorbed, the grout swells, fractures and falls away.

In either case, water reaches the drywall behind the tiles and destroys it.

How do you know when your ceramic tiles need help? To begin, look for discoloration in the grout. Dark spots in grout suggest that water is penetrating because the grout is loose.

As water penetrates these gaps, molds grow in them, holding more water and further weakening the grout in those areas. Where water mineral levels are high, the dark spots will be surrounded by lighter, yellow-orange discolorations. Of course, if small strips of grout have already fallen out, you'll have little time to waste.

You should also closely examine the caulked seams in the corners and where tiles meet the tub. Where you find spots of dark discoloration or cracks, a repair is in order.

Before you can regrout and recaulk, you must properly prepare the tiles. Use a carpet knife to remove any loose or degraded grout and caulk. Dig out grout a few inches on either side of a discoloration, and extended openings where grout may have already fallen out. Remove discolored and cracked caulk with a sharp knife or razor-type scraper. Simply cut along each edge of the caulk seam. This will loosen the caulk so that you can pull it away in strips.

With the damaged grout and caulk removed, clean the entire surface thoroughly so that new grout, caulk and sealer can adhere properly. Any of the tub and tile cleaners on the market will work.

If you prefer a home one-half cup of household ammonia, one-half cup of white vinegar and one-fourth cup of baking soda. Use a toothbrush and tile cleaner or diluted household bleach to scrub persistent stains.

Rinse, allow to dry and wipe away any cleanser residue with a dry cloth.

Busy summer planned for miniaturists

Summer classes for children and a second 1996 visit from well-known miniaturist Bill Lankford highlight the schedule at Miniature Makers' Workshop July 20 through Oct. 5.

A flyer with details is available by calling (810) 549-0633 between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, said Criss Goad of Birmingham, owner of the Workshop at 4515 N. Woodward, Royal Oak.

A children's class Saturday, July 27, covers the making of doll house pots, pans and kitchen utensils with paper, to be taught by Gail Braman of Farmington Hills.

Area rugs will be the subject of a children's class taught by Braman Thursday, Aug. 8.

Adults are welcome at both children's classes, and children are invited to an adult session on teddy bears Saturday, Aug. 3. Instructor Nancy VanCamp of Pontiac will show students how to mold a teddy bear of Fimo clay.

Lankford, an artisan whose work is displayed in important miniature museums, returns from Schererville, Ind., to teach a two-day class Wednesday-Thursday, Aug. 14-15. He will cover the creation of a Venetian street scene of shops or houses along a canal.

Sue Jaques of Farmington Hills will teach students to make a wicker porch swing and a Victorian garden structure called a strombella.

The making of a small house from a walnut shell will be covered by Braman Saturday, Sept. 14.

Other subjects include a patio setting with barbecue, interior decorating, a back-to-school brown bag lunch, hot dog and hamburger barbecue, and doll house exteriors.

Keeping feeders clean promotes public health

If you're among the 63 million bird lovers who fill bird feeders, here's some serious advice from the experts – you can help prevent the spread of diseases among your wild birds by giving your bird feeder a good cleaning now and by keeping it sanitary through the year.

When bird feeders get contaminated with bacteria or viruses, they become dangerous contact points in the spread of disease, say the experts at Rubbermaid Specialty Products Inc. They recommend taking your feeder down and giving it a thorough inspection and wash with soap, water and household bleach, followed by a monthly washing schedule. Hummingbird feeders, which are used to dispense a sugar-rich liquid food, need to be washed every two or three days in very hot water and rinsed thoroughly.

Seed hulls that collect under your feeders can be equally dangerous in transmitting an infection among birds; rake up the winter collection of hulls now, and make a point to give the area under your feeder a periodic cleanup.

Rubbermaid, well known for its innovative products for home, farm and garden, is also a leading manufacturer of bird feeders and accessories, ranging from large-capacity, weather-resistant seed dispensers to several liquid feeders for hummingbirds. Rubbermaid bird feeders are designed to make a stylish contribution to their surroundings and to make filling, cleaning and maintenance easy and efficient.

New this year from Rubbermaid are two Stacker™ Tube Style Feeders that offer easy filling and cleaning. Both are designed to eliminate "dead areas," where seeds can collect; the transparent tubes, which make it easy to check the feed level, are top rack dishwasher safe. Lids screw on and off for easy filling and as a deterrent to squirrels. The new tube style feeders come with both small bird and finch style feeding ports and wood perches.

Also new from Rubbermaid and directed toward the serious bird enthusiast are the Deluxe Gazebo Bird Feeder, which holds 10 pounds of seed and offers resistance to rot and rust; a new deck-mount accessory pole, and a new ball-mounted 20-inch squirrel guard, designed to foil the most persistent marauder.

•Take your feeder down for cleaning and give it a critical examination with an eye toward repair or replacement. Look for leaks, rust, rot and spots where seed can be trapped.

•Don't stop feeding your wild birds when the weather turns warm. Birds will continue visiting their accustomed winter feeding spots even after natural foods, such as seeds and insects, become plentiful. In fact, when birds come to depend on the feeder, feeding should continue year-round. Continuing to feed now will also allow you to enjoy watching the songbirds emerge in their colorful summer plumage.

•Always store your bird seed in a sealed rodent-proof container. Mice and rats can carry bird diseases, even if they don't get infected themselves.

•Pesky squirrels are always looking for a handout, and they can be ingenious in reaching a bird feeder unless it's protected by a well-designed squirrel guard.

Rubbermaid Specialty Products manufactures approximately two dozen different models of bird feeders, along with mounting poles and squirrel guards, and large and small pet shelters. Rubbermaid bird feeders and accessories are available nationally at hardware stores, home centers and garden supply stores. Products not available readily in you locale may be purchased directly from the Everything Rubbermaid Store in Wooster, OH (330)-264-7119.

Summer has fine-feathered fun ahead

If you like watching birds in the winter, summer will bring a whole new world of entertainment to your yard.

All year long, birds bring color, sound and activity to a back yard or garden. However, feeding and caring for wild birds in the summer can give you many pleasures that you cannot experience during other times of the year. That's why so many people continue to feed the birds throughout the summer months.

"Summer is a most interesting time to attract birds to your back yard," said Chris Gardner, owner of the Rochester Hills Wild Birds Unlimited.

"Busy parents will stop by your bird feeder for a quick snack in between duties of raising their young. Plus, summer gives you the opportunity to observe fledglings as their parents bring them to the feeder to feed and teach them how to eat from the feeder."

To make a splash with the birds, just add water. By adding water to your back yard, you can dramatically increase the number of birds that will visit your yard and attract species that normally don't feed at your bird feeders, such as warblers, thrushes and flycatchers.

"Most birds come to water to drink or to bathe. And, every species of birds has its own unique behavior around water that is fun to watch.

"There are many ways you can offer birds water. Water can be supplied in a birdbath, a small pool, a recirculating waterfall, a shallow dish or through a dripper or mister."

Feeding and caring for wild birds is an activity your whole family will enjoy. Get your children involved through Wild Birds Unlimited's Kid's Project Days that will help your youngsters learn about how fun it is to provide birds with the four basic elements of a wildlife habitat: food, cover, water and places to raise young.

The Kid's Project Days are:

• Build a Home for the Birds — 1 p.m. Saturday, July 27. The project fee for the one-hour program is $10.

• Build Your Own Bird Feeder — 1 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 10. The project fee for the one-hour program is $10.

For more information, or to register your children for one or both of the Kid's Project Days, call Wild Birds Unlimited at (810) 852-5220. All children must be accompanied by an adult. Each child attending Kid's Project Days will receive a Wild Birds Unlimited Junior Naturalist Certificate.

Redecorating for summer has its fans

BY BARBARA MAYER
FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

To redecorate or not for the summer?

These days, with air conditioning and synthetic carpeting fairly common, the original reasons have faded for taking down heavy curtains, picking up wool rugs and covering sofas with cool-to-the-touch cotton slipcovers.

Keeping the thermometer at 75 degrees F or less minimizes the need to put away heavy rugs and upholstery fabrics. And when the sun is beating down, shrouding the windows in light-darkening draperies insulates the interior against the heat.

Still, many people prefer a change of pace.

"Any home will benefit by a seasonal change of color," says Trudy Dujardin, a decorator in Westport, Conn. "Our grandmothers' practices, such as slipcovering the sofa and chairs, are still a good idea when summer comes."

Dujardin likes to shift from the darker, richer colors that look fine in winter to light-colored solids and summer prints. Her personal favorites are white cotton slipcovers with navy blue welting. Throw cushions in summery prints add to the mood.

Miniature prints and ticking stripes are also fresh, clean and cool fabrics for slipcovers.

Another tradition is to roll up the rugs and store them or send them out to be cleaned, substituting either bare floors or putting down summer rugs.

"Those who have wall-to-wall carpeting probably don't want to pick it up," Dujardin says. "But they can put down a summer rug on top of it for a change of pace."

Houseplants benefit by spending summer outdoors, but moving them leaves a decorative vacuum that can be filled inexpensively and colorfully with flowering annuals such as geraniums and impatiens.

These will bloom indoors if given enough light, water and fertilizer. To carry out the summer theme, straw baskets and terra cotta flowerpots are good containers.

For summer, wicker seating can be added to a sun room or porch for casual gatherings of family and friends. Old cots – made comfortable with cushions and colorful throws – can be used as lounge furniture and can double as beds for overnight guests.

Dujardin does not include a TV set on her sun porch because she says summer is a time "when the family and guests can find as much enjoyment just sitting and talking and listening to the night sounds."

For porch or patio meals, a tall hurricane globe over a large candle is a welcome accessory. "It makes our evening meals festive," she says.

And instead of paper goods, she sets out inexpensive unbreakable glasses, colorful dishes and washable cotton napkins.

Stanley Hura, a decorator in New York, positions fans near the windows of his New York apartment, where they catch and augment whatever breezes that happen to be available. On days when it's too hot and he has to use an air conditioner, Hura still enjoys looking at the fans. "Just to see them makes me feel cool," he says.

And Gail Green, a decorator with homes in New York and in Southampton, on New York's Long Island, says there's "really no reason for a summer change."

She uses year-round the informal home furnishings that once were thought of as purely for summer. These include cotton slipcovers, white-washed pine furniture, skirted tables and whimsical painted tables.

"I am decorating in a seasonless way these days, so that rooms are functional year-round," she says. "I use neutral colors such as peach, light green, white and ivory, as opposed to deep reds and dark blues, which are winter colors."

Tips for operating home equipment

CHARLOTTE (AP) _ Lawn and garden equipment maker HomeLite has compiled 75 safety tips for homeowners and equipment operators.

Lawn Mowers and Mulchers

■ When necessary to unclog the discharge chute, stop the engine (disconnect the spark plug wire for added safety) and use a stick or light piece of wood to remove debris: don't use your hands.

■ Mow across the faces of slopes, not up and down. Use extra caution when changing directions while mowing on slopes. Avoid mowing excessively steep slopes.

Chain Saws

■ Never start cutting with a chain saw until you have a clear work area, secure footing and a planned retreat path from the falling tree.

■ While in a tree or on a ladder, don't cut above shoulder height with a chain saw.

■ Carefully read your owner's manual to learn and guard against "kickback" _ the most dangerous chain saw reaction. Suggestions: Never cut with the tip of the guidebar; always keep your body away from the line of cut; always cut with your left arm straight and with a firm grip (thumbs and fingers encircling the chain saw handles).

Hedge Trimmers

■ When using you hedge trimmer, unstable operating positions should be avoided. For example, standing on stools or ladders increases your chance for accidents.

■ Remember, operating power equipment and wearing loose clothing don't mix: Avoid wearing jewelry, unbuttoned long-sleeve shirts and keep long hair safely secured.

String Trimmers

■ Use your string trimmer only for weeds and grass: It's not designed to trim shrubbery, climbing ivy or other greenery not at ground level.

■ When operating your string trimmer, watch for bystanders, children and pets: Keep them at least 50 feet away for safety.

Agents want more inventory

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

Metro Detroit is still a red-hot sellers market.

Listings of houses and condominiums available for sale through the first five months of this year increased by 11 percent compared to the January-May period of 1995.

Sales volume also was up by 11 percent.

But the number of residential properties available for sale as of June 1 was down by 3 percent.

"Listings are on the market for a much shorter period of time," said Nita Anderson, a broker with Prudential Great Lakes and president of the Birmingham Bloomfield Rochester South Oakland Association of Realtors.

"If it's nice and priced right, it's gone within days," said Marce Cyrowski, broker/owner of Century 21 Cyrowski and president of the North Oakland County Board of Realtors.

"There is less product to sell which means it's wonderful when you go to sell, but tough when you want to buy," said Mary McLeod, an associate broker with Coldwell Banker Schweitzer and president of the Western Wayne Oakland County Association of Realtors.

"Now, you need to make an instant decision and you may still be in competition to buy a house," McLeod said.

Sales prices increased markedly through May in every Observer & Eccentric community – some by more than 20 percent – compared to the first five months of '95.

Numbers were provided by Realcomp II, a giant multilisting service including the Western Wayne/Oakland County, Birmingham-Bloomfield, Rochester, South Oakland, North Oakland, Detroit, Dearborn and Livingston realty boards.

As of June 1, 9,839 houses were available for sale compared to 10,144 on June 1, 1995 and 12,555 on June 1 two years ago.

There were 12,921 sales through May of this year compared to 11,632 through the first five months of 1995 and 11,246 in '94.

Listings through May of this year totalled 24,732 compared to 22,248 in 1995 and 25,179 in '94.

"Real sharp houses in certain price ranges, $100,000 to about $240,000, will have two or three offers on them," McLeod said. "The thing is mint condition – updated, very clean, maybe freshly painted, no clutter.

"I heard one house had nine offers in either Birmingham or Bloomfield," she said.

Houses priced higher than $250,000 tend not to sell as quickly because there are fewer buyers, McLeod said. Starter homes under $100,000 in communities like Redford, Westland and Garden City always are in demand.

"Hook up with an agent active in the market who works in an office with high inventory," McLeod said. "Call and interview people. Check newspaper ads. If they have no listings, they're not advertising."

"They need to be prequalified by a lender and have a certificate that they're ready to buy, guaranteed approval subject to appraisal on the house," Anderson said. "The seller knows they have a winner here as a buyer."

"When they get a phone call that we have a house they might want to look at, they have to drop everything. If you're not available tonight, by tomorrow it may be sold."

Agents also scramble when housing stock shrinks.

"You have to be checking every single day what's available," Anderson said. "It's one of those classic things: if you snooze, you lose."

"I have agents that drive around two or three times a week getting addresses and phone numbers of for sale by owners," Cyrowski said.

Agents figure if they help FSBOs now with information like comparative market studies and seller disclosure forms, the sellers will call on them later if the property languishes.

"We go to the computer a lot more, read newspaper ads, drive around subs looking for signs," McLeod said. "It's a lot more hours on our part."

Both Anderson and McLeod say they spend more time networking with other agents in a hot sellers market like this.

Cumulative listings through the first five months of this year increased substantially in Canton, 756 compared to 601 in 1995, Redford, 798 versus 658, Clarkston, 341-294, West Bloomfield, 813-704, and Southfield, 731-639, Realcomp II reported.

Listings decreased in Rochester Hills by 10 percent, 623-696, and less substantially in Livonia, 930-972, Oxford, 123-129, and Troy, 671-676.

Gains of at least 20 percent in median (half above, half below) sales price January through May of this year compared to last were reported in Clarkston, $171,000-$137,500; Oxford, $155,000-$125,000; and Orion Township, $144,950-$119,000.

Those areas currently are hotbeds for residential construction, which affects price as much as supply and demand. "New construction brings up all values," Cyrowski said.

Median sales price increased by at least 10 percent in Redford, $78,000-$68,850; West Bloomfield, $185,125-$164,750; Birmingham, $188,000-$166,500; Westland, $86,000-$77,000; Livonia, $123,000-$109,500; Canton, $146,000-$130,000; Troy, $163,250-$147,500; and Garden City, $82,250-$74,900.

Does 'no soliciting' sign prohibit petition drive?

REAL ESTATE QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

Q: We have no soliciting signs posted on two entrances to our complex. Recently one of our neighbors walked door to door asking fellow residents if they wanted to sign a petition asking for an item to be placed on the primary ballot for the township. Our association president ordered the person to stop. The question I have is does the vote on an issue such as this have priority over not solicitation signs which I always assumed were to keep door-to-door sellers and charitable fund-raisers out.

A: You have raised an extremely interesting question which, to my knowledge, has not been contested in the courts. I believe that the solicitation of votes may not be within the intent of the drafter of the documents when he/she requested that there be no solicitation signs in the project unless such no solicitation signs were established by the association, in which event it may have a more clear determination of what was its intent.

However, we may get into constitutional questions involved such as the right to petition as opposed to the interests of the association in maintaining the health and safety of the members of the association from door-to-door solicitation.

This is not an easy question which can be answered by a simple yes or no and I would recommend that the association retain counsel to advise it on the legal and constitutional questions involved in implementing the policy of no solicitation by the association.

Q: I was closing on a real estate property and was required to place in escrow a deposit for the water bill as well as the occupancy of the unit which I would continue to occupy after closing. The form that was provided to me provided the signature of the buyer or seller and the money was to be held by the title company in behalf of the escrow agent, although there was no designation on the escrow agreement as to who the escrow agent was. Should there have been?

A: I have seen documents at various closings prepared by the title company where there is a clear indication as to who the escrow agent is or what the terms and conditions of the escrow arrangement are. As in any other contract, all of the parties to the contract should sign to acknowledge their willingness to abide by the terms and conditions of the contract.

Surely, therefore, the escrow agent who was holding the money should sign. If the title company is actually holding the monies on its own behalf, it should sign as the escrow agent.

If, on the other hand, the escrow agent is the real estate firm, then it should sign as the escrow agent. In any event, you should insist upon these documents being thoroughly reviewed by counsel before closing.

State program makes home loans easier to obtain

MORTGAGE SHOPPING

DAVID C. MULLY

The Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) offers a program that makes homeownerhsip possible for low and moderate income households throughout the state. Periodically, MSHDA sells a bond issue to finance single family mortgage loans. The scenario has just occurred with the Series 30 issue (1996 A and B) and makes $52.7 million available for mortgages across the state. This is an excellent opportunity for many new and low-income homebuyers.

How the program works:

The mortgage loan term is 30 years. MSHDA offers below-market fixed rate loans, as well as a "step loan" option, which features a reduced interest rate for the first three years and steps up to a higher rate for the remainder of the 30-year term. Current interest rates in the Series 30 issue are:

1. 30-year fixed rates: 7.05 percent without discount points, 6.75 percent with two discount points.

2. 30-year step loan rates: 6.5 percent (years 1-3)/7.5 percent (years 4-30) with no points, 6.125 percent (years 1-3)/7.125 percent (years 4-30) with two points.

FHA, VA, FmHA and conventional loans are available. I've described each of these loans in my previous columns. Please call me at the number below if you need any clarification. Minimum down payments range from zero with a VA or FmHA loan to 3 percent of the sales price for a FHA loan, 3 percent to 5 percent for conventional loans (except for new, single-section manufactured or mobile homes which require 10 percent).

MSHDA's Single Family Program for home mortgagees has two exciting new features for make buying a home even easier. First, Down Payment Assistance offers up to $5,000 in a zero-interest down payment assistance loan with no monthly payments. Second, the Acquisition/Rehabilitation feature provides a MSHDA mortgage loan that includes funds to make repairs or improvements to the home being purchased. Depending on locations, homebuyers may purchase a home costing up to $80,000 including repairs.

You can apply for a MSHDA loan at a local participating lender. A list is available of the many banks, savings and loans associations and mortgage companies that offer the loans. You may choose a loan with 0-2 points (a point is 1 percent of the mortgage amount) charged at closing. The lender may charge the homebuyers a 1 percent loan origination fee.

Guidelines for borrowers:

As a borrower, you must not exceed the maximum annual family gross income limit of $43,575, including income for all adult members of the household who will be living in the home you buy. There is no adjustment to income for family size. Single individuals and families are eligible to obtain MSHDA mortgage loans.

In addition, you must have acceptable credit and the ability to repay the mortgage loan and occupy the home as your principal residence after the loan is closed. In some areas of Michigan, borrowers must be first-time homebuyers (not having owned a house as your principal residence within the last three years). However, many areas are exempt from this regulation, especially outstate areas and some unincorporated areas of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

The loan may not be used to refinance an existing mortgage or a land contract, finance and type of rental property, or used in conjunction with the Michigan Mortgage Credit Certificate (MCC) program.

Again, the MSHDA mortgage offering is an excellent opportunity which may help many more homebuyers obtain a home of their own. To make an application for a MSHDA loan, take a signed purchase agreement to any participating lender. If you'd like more information about this program, contact MSHDA at 401 S. Washington Sq., Lansing, MI 48933 or call (517)373-6840 or (TDD) 1-800-382-4568.

Interest rates in review:

Here are some recent interest rates that may be helpful to you in tracking the direction of rates. These are just a guide. Be sure to call a lender to get current quotes.

In Freddie Mac's Primary Mortgage Market Survey, the 30-year fixed rate for the North Central area for the week ended June 21, 1996 fell to 8.33 percent (U.S. avg. 8.3 percent). A week ago, the average for the U.S. was 8.39 percent and one year ago it was 7.53 percent. Current 15-year fixed-rate mortgages have fallen to an average 6.11 percent for our area of the country.

Block air leaks to save on heating

BY POPULAR MECHANICS
FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

Q: With the price of home heating oil rising, our monthly fuel bill is really putting a strain on our family budget. We've tightened up our house from an insulation standpoint. We also realize that our old furnace is not as efficient as the newer models, but it's still in good condition. What would you suggest, besides lowering the thermostat, to bring our heating bills under control?

A: One vital key to reducing your home utility bills is to block air leaks with insulation, weatherstripping, or caulk. Whether the air is "conditioned" for winter heating or summer cooling, it is essential that you do not let conditioned air escape to the outside. Contractors and energy inspectors tell us that two of the most commonly overlooked cracks in the house are the crack where the bottom or mud sill of the framing meets the concrete basement wall, and the bottom of the exterior doors where the door meets the threshold.

The crack between the mud sill and concrete basement wall is the longest continuous crack in the house, because it includes the total circumference of the house. Check the crack to see how large it is. If the crack is very large you can fill it with plumber's oakum or twists of fiberglass insulation, then caulk the crack tight. After filling the crack, cut fiberglass insulation bats to fit the space where floor joists, rim joists and mud sill meet.

Advances in door weatherstripping include bottom strips or door sweeps that are made of vinyl, and often have multiple, overlapping layers to ensure a seal between the door bottom and the threshold.

Inspect the door sweep on all exterior doors and install the best sweep you can find at replacement time. Remember, too, that the sweeps keep out summer dust and insects, as well as winter's cold winds.

Q: The water pressure in our tub is good. However, when we turn on the shower, some water continues to come out of the tub faucet, and the water pressure from the shower is reduced. How can we correct this problem?

A: The problem is with the tub-shower diverter valve. When the valve is functioning properly, all the water should be channeled to the tub or shower.

There are two common types of diverters. In the tub spout diverter, a small gate valve is attached to the base of a plunger shaft located in the spout. It is held in the up position for the shower by water pressure. When the water is turned off, the gate drops and opens the tub spout. To remove it for repair, unscrew the tub spout from the threaded water pipe.

The other diverter works by rotating the valve stem so the parts in the valve body open to either the tub spout or the shower pipe.

You can remove the mechanism by unscrewing the stem nut and withdrawing the diverter assembly.

Tub diverter spouts and diverter assemblies cost $10 to $15 at plumbing supply stores. Since there are different types and sizes of tub-shower diverters available, take the old one with you.

Improvements make vertical blinds better

(NAPS)—Once relegated to patio doors and the occasional oversized window, today's vertical blinds are keeping up with the times.

They're showing up on Victorian casements and double-hung windows as well as bending with the curves of Palladian and bow windows, turning the corners of angled windows and keeping on top of skylights — thanks to new innovative tracks from Hunter Douglas Window Fashions.

What's more, the company has designed hardware that helps keep the vanes evenly aligned. This hardware also ensures that the vanes rotate and traverse easily, providing maximum light control and privacy—at the flick of a switch, if the blinds are motorized.

While vertical blinds incorporate the best technology of this century, they are equally at home in the last.

Hunter Douglas vertical blinds can be ordered in laces, jacquards, linens and knits and other traditional and not-so-traditional fabrics to achieve a drapery-like look, without the bulkiness.

Patterns range from bold, feathery swirls to the faint elegance of watermarked silk. Vinyl backings with groovers to insert fabric vanes are available for those who desire added privacy and temperature control.

Ten units, one and two bedrooms, are geared toward people going through neurorehabilitation programs who need short and long-term housing. Monthly rents start at about $500.

RE/MAX Community Associates of Ann Arbor has been accepted as a member of the Historic Real Estate Program of the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

Realtor Jackie Frank has completed a rigorous training program including architectural history, historic interiors, history of preservation, appraisal and marketing of historic properties and legal and regulatory issues.

"Each vintage home is unique and requires a special marketing plan directed at a select market segment," she said.

Frank is involved with the Michigan Historic Preservation Network, Michigan Barn Preservation Network and the Ann Arbor Civil War Round Table.

Historic homes must have been built prior to 1930 to be in the national trust.

■Erb gift

Frederick A. and Barbara M. Erb, Bloomfield Hills residents, have donated $5 million to create a new environmental management institute at the University of Michigan.

The institute will serve as a catalyst for environmental-related work conducted throughout the university in fields such as law, public health, social sciences, biology and engineering.

Erb is a 1947 U-M business graduate. He joined Erb Lumber at that time when the company had annual sales of $170,000. When Erb sold it in 1993, annual revenues were more than $300 million and the company had grown from one to 45 locations.

630 Cards of Thanks

ST. JUDE NOVENA
May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved & preserved throughout the world, now & forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Jude, worker of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude helper of the hopeless, prayer for us. Say prayer 9 times a day for 9 days, publish. Request will be granted.
P.S.K.

THANKSGIVING TO ST. JUDE
O, Holy St. Jude, Apostle & Martyr, great in virtue & rich in the miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special partronage in time of need. To you I have recourse from the depth of my heart & humbly beg whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help in my present & urgent petition. In return, I promise to make your name known & cause you to be invoked. St. Jude pray for us all who invoke your name. Amen. Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys, three Glorias. Publication must be promised. Say this novena for 9 consecutive days. This novena has never been known to fail.
TDO + DFF, May 26, 1973
