Voters to decide local races

Voters in the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township will help decide the fate of a state House race. Township voters will be voting for one of two candidates for treasurer.

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Voter turnout predictions for Tuesday's primary election range from 20 to 25 percent according to greater Plymouth's two municipal clerks.

Once the primary is over, voters will have decided state and local races. They'll determine whether to favor incumbent Gerald Law or former state representative Jerry Vorva for the GOP state House race.

Plymouth Township voters also will decide whether to return incumbent Mary Brooks to the Plymouth Township treasurer job – or opt for challenger Ron Edwards.

City Clerk Linda Langmesser said 14 percent of the city's registered voters voted four years ago. "This time, I'm going to say 20 percent, being as positive as I am," she said.

"Quite a few absentee ballots have been issued and they seem to be coming in pretty good," Langmesser said. By Thursday morning, 663 ballots had been issued and 386 had been returned.

In the city, voters can vote by emergency absentee ballot today at the clerk's office. All absentee ballots must be returned by the time the polls close, 8 p.m. Tuesday. Polls open in both the city and township at 7 a.m.

Plymouth Township Clerk Marilyn Massengill said she hopes 35 percent of registered voters will show for the primary, but added 25 percent could be a more realistic prediction.

In the township, 1,390 absentee ballots had been returned by Thursday morning. "I don't ever remember it being that low," Massengill said. "I'm not sure if its a lack of interest or if people at this point have not made up their mind. This has really surprised me."

There are more than 18,000 registered voters in the township. In the hotly contested 1992 township primary, 5,808 voted. Just 5,664 voted

Fox Hills restores landscape

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

They're not just cutting fairways at Fox Hills Country Club – they're planting a prairie or two.

Club Superintendent Bob Mateja notes that golf courses in recent years have followed a trend toward maintenance along more natural lines by limiting chemical use and keeping long grasses where possible.

But Fox Hills, on North Territorial Road just west of the Plymouth Township border in Salem Township, has been singled out for special attention to environmental concerns.

Last year, the Audubon Society of New York state designated the 45-hole course as a "Certified Audubon Cooperative Sanctuary." Only four courses in Michigan have been so named.

Mateja also received an Environmental Steward Award from the Golf Course Superintendents Association, for outstanding contributions and efforts toward environmental excellence. He is one of 17 regional winners in the United States.

After Fox Hills' owners heard of the Audubon program, Mateja and his fellow course superintendents Eric Niemur and Matt Flower got busy.

"They don't tell you to do anything, they recommend things," Mateja said. And the Fox Hills staff has responded to suggestions, putting up nest boxes for bluebirds, bats and screech owls.

"We've left brush piles for rabbits and squirrels," Niemur said. "You use any resources you have to help the environment."

"They have you manage your fertilizer use, monitor the water quality," Mateja said.

The issue of water quality at golf courses strikes a chord with Mateja and golf course managers around the country. In recent years, some environmentalists have claimed golf courses hurt the environment. They've maintained runoff fertilizer and pesticide chemicals from golf courses are big contributors to pollution monitored in streams and rivers.

Mateja and other golf course managers say golf courses have been blamed unfairly. He said the trend throughout the industry in recent years is to leave some areas in a more natural state, to limit pesticide use and to limit watering to where it's really needed.

Streetscape work put on hold until fall

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Work to finish the downtown streetscape project, once scheduled to happen this spring, could be delayed until fall.

"What's happening right now is we have received bids for the project and where it's at now is the low bidder's been selected," said Downtown Development Director Steve Guile.

That bidder is Basile and Sons, the company that did the work on the main part of the streetscape. What's left is street and sidewalk work on Main Street from the Mayflower Hotel south to Wing Street and on Fralick from Church to Main.

The contract must then be submitted to the state to be certified, and the city commission must also review the contract.

"We're looking probably at a three-week turnaround before beginning construction; that could put us up against the Fall Festival," Guile said.

Because officials don't want to mess with construction during the festival, Guile said it could be decid-

Plymouth father wins custody war

A Plymouth father who the Michigan Court of Appeals determined was wrongly accused of child abuse in a child custody battle has won a favorable ruling from a Wayne County Circuit judge.

The ruling was the latest in an eight-year child custody battle.

Edward Bielaska, 33, was awarded custody of his 7 and 8-year-old daughters by Judge Robert Columbo at the close of a hearing Thursday. The girls were returned to his care on Friday, as per the court order.

"They just arrived here today, they're getting used to us again. I'm sure in a short time they'll be great," Bielaska said Friday.

A three-judge appeals panel had found there was ample evidence that the mother had made up stories of abuse and then coached her daughters. The girls mother, Laura Orley of Northville, 27, has declined comment on the case.

Bielaska and Orley were engaged for a time but didn't marry. Bielaska, who has since married, said he never asked for full custody, but Orley "would frustrate my attempts to see my children."

The Court of Appeals found that the judge who earlier awarded custody to Orley wrongly admitted evidence of sexual abuse. The judge's findings, they ruled, "were against the great weight of the evidence."

Bielaska's attorney Demosthenes Lorandos has termed the case an example of "sex abuse hysteria."

His client "passed all the lie detector tests that he took, all the experts brought in to evaluate him said he was a healthy, happy wonderful man," Lorandos said.

The appeals court also faulted social workers hired by Orley, with the Interdisciplinary Project on Child Abuse and Neglect at the University of Michigan.

School critic seeks finance records

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Ted Bohlen, a newly-appointed member of the Citizens Finance Committee for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, went to the district's administration building to get some financial data last week. To his dismay, he was told that to get it, he'd have to file a written request under the Freedom of Information Act.

"To get started, I wanted to get some data so I could start familiarizing myself with what they are doing financially in the district," said Bohlen, an attorney retired from General Motors. "One of my needs was to get a check register, financial reports the board uses to approve spending for any given month. I wanted to look at it; not get it."

Bohlen said he went to the office of John Birchler, assistant superintendent for business and finance. Birchler wasn't available, and a staffer in his office told Bohlen he'd have to file a Freedom of Information request.

Bohlen, a government watchdog on the local, state and national levels, said it's a contrast to what he's experienced seeking information from the state, or from Ann Arbor Public Schools.

"When I want something from Ann Arbor, I go there and get it, free. If I ask for a picture off the wall, they might give me that, too. Same thing in Lansing. But the way this school district operates, and the way they give out information, it doesn't surprise me. I had to buy the budget book to check out a debt millage increase that cost taxpayers $220,000," he said.

"You try to get educated. You try to participate and try to exercise local control. When you try to, they don't always jump for joy."

As suggested, Bohlen filed a written FoI request the day after he visited the board office. The next day, he made another trip to the board office, where he received the information he wanted from Judy Evola, the district's community relations director.

"I told him I would make it a habit to copy financial reports and make sure he gets them," said Evola. "Any documents individuals want that are not part of the regular board packet, people can have in a timely manner through the FoI Act.

"It's a very simple one-page form. Under the FoI Act, the schools have 10 days. We always give the information, if we're able to compile it, at the individual's earliest request."

Any member of the public requesting information is asked to file under FoI, Evola said.

"That is the general procedure we use for all citizens. We always try to give information out as quickly and promptly as possible. We are here to help citizens. We want citizens to request information. We want people to be informed about their schools."

Evola said she made the information available to Bohlen, and offered to make a copy of the check register at no cost.

"My point is," said Bohlen, "why should I go through this thing – sign a piece of paper, and make a second trip when in fact they should just have it available?

"What bugs the heck out of me is that they're doing this under FoI. The Freedom of Information Act comes into play when you are denied access to information. By doing it this way, they are in fact saying they're not going to give it to me to look at because I have to go through the FoI. They deny you access unless you file under FoI. That is the problem."

School critic: Ted Bohlen claims he shouldn't have to file a Freedom of Information Act request to obtain school financial records.

Bohlen said he raised the issue with school board president Mark Horvath.

"I talked to Horvath, and he said that (check register) should be part of the packet outside (the board's meeting room) every meeting."

Besides wrapping up streetscape construction, Guile this summer has been tending to some fine-tuning of the project work done last summer.

One problem was that paint has been peeling from new light poles. "Basically it was put on too thin, and the nighttime temperature didn't allow the paint to adhere," Guile said.

"We checked with the pole manufacturer and the paint manufacturer they both concluded that was the problem."

Also, 16 honey-locust trees planted around the downtown died over the winter. They haven't been replaced yet.

"We're waiting until we have a little cooler weather, we don't want it to happen again," Guile said.

"We're still looking at some adjustments to the brick that's settling out," he added.

"We're going to require the contractor complete these adjustments prior to the start of the second phase so we don't have to go back in the spring with a two-year-old problem."

Chamber in search of leaders

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

If you're someone who wants to develop leadership potential, make a difference in the quality of life in Plymouth, and learn more about local needs and opportunities, you may be interested in Leadership Plymouth.

Organizers of the program hope it will encourage more people to seek leadership roles in areas including human services, business, government, education, human relations, the criminal justice system and the arts.

Applications for the next session of Leadership Plymouth are due Monday, Aug. 5. They're being accepted at the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, 386 S. Main in downtown Plymouth.

With impetus from former 35th District Judge James Garber, Plymouth kicked off its leadership program last year with great success. "This is one of the most exciting and progressive programs the Plymouth chamber has ever been involved in," said Fran Toney, Plymouth chamber director. "It's a win-win situation for any companies, and the leadership development program."

The National Association of Community Leadership estimates there are between 650-700 community leadership programs currently operating in the U.S., said Linda Shapona, former executive director of the Canton Chamber of Commerce.

Shapona, now director of the Westland Chamber of Commerce, helped launch Canton's leadership program a few years ago. Leadership Canton graduates have run for school board; served on chamber committees; and worked with the township Planning Commission. "They're taking major leadership roles in the community, because they know the community, and know the challenges and opportunities we face," said Shapona.

Toney said the program is designed to help current and potential leaders "increase their awareness of the issues and opportunities in the Plymouth community."

She said candidates will follow "a dual track curriculum of investigating areas of community life, and providing leadership skills training in a classroom setting. Skills training also will include consensus building, negotiating skills, conflict resolution, dealing with difficult people, and problem-solving.

The main elements include human needs and services; business and economic development; government; education; criminal justice; human relations; labor unions; quality of life, and culture.

The eight-month program consists of one daylong session each month. Lectures, site visits, discussion groups, simulations and other leadership development activities are planned.

Participants will gain insight into Plymouth's history, government, judicial system, civic and cultural life, and businesses.

"Our hope is that graduates will use their new knowledge and skills to take a more active role in the community and start a grass-roots effort; become a leader with an existing service organization; or perhaps even run for elective office," said Toney.

Twenty applicants will be accepted. Tuition is $795 and covers meals, facilities, materials, and lodging for an overnight retreat. The retreat, set for Sept. 13-14 at the St. Clair Inn, kicks off the program. October through April, sessions are set for 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. the second Tuesday of the month. A banquet on April 18 will conclude the program.

For more information, call the chamber at (313) 453-1540.

Environmental concern: Fox Hills Golf Course has forged ahead to make the links more in tune with the natural surroundings. Above, Bob Mateja, who has worked on the project, check out at nature trail at the course.

To illustrate the new way of doing things, picture a creek running through a fairway on the course. Before, the fairway would have been mowed right up to and including the bank. Now, areas of long grass are maintained along each side of the bank.

While some older golfers prefer the old way, Mateja said most appreciate the natural beauty of leaving areas to nature, and that they appreciate efforts to support the environment.

■ 'It provides cover for birds and wildlife.'
Bob Mateja

Fairways at Fox Hills are now cut to three-quarters of an inch long, rather than the old one-quarter inch some courses still follow. A longer cut is better for the grass, Mateja explained.

Both Flower and Niemur also oversee wetlands restoration projects on the course, and all have been busy creating and maintaining 15 acres where prairie grass dominates.

"It provides cover for birds and wildlife," Mateja said, adding quail and pheasants have been spotted on the course.

The prairie areas also add to the natural beauty of the course, as switch grass, thistle and other grasses and plants change color during the season.

Teachers push for contract before school starts

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Editor's note: This story is being rerun in its entirety.

Despite 11 joint bargaining sessions, negotiators for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and its teachers have several stumbling blocks to hurdle before agreement is reached on a new contract.

The teachers' two-year contract expires Aug. 30.

However, both sides are optimistic that a new contract will be signed by the time school starts Aug. 26.

"I believe there is a distinct possibility of that taking place," said Superintendent Charles Little. "Several sessions have been scheduled in hopes that that will lead to a settlement. There has been, and we continue to have, a good working relationship with the PCEA, and that is encouraging. We haven't gotten to a stand-off in this thing. I still think we can get a settlement."

Chuck Portelli, president of the Plymouth-Canton Education Association, said, "We are bargaining in good faith, and they are bargaining in good faith."

■ 'I'm looking at health care proposals.'

Charles Little
—Superintendent

Portelli said it will be lots easier to predict how things are going after some of the August sessions. "That will tell a lot about where we're headed," he said.

Teachers are "seeking an increase, and a multi-year agreement if possible," Portelli said. "This is my seventh year (as PCEA president) and we've been bargaining every year for six years. I have no problem with bargaining, as long as it's done in good faith and both parties are trying to reach agreement."

Teachers, including a cancer patient, have petitioned the district at recent Board of Education meetings not to cut health benefits. The district, which is self-insured, is considering switching from Blue Cross, its current carrier.

"People are concerned basically because of some of the issues that are on the table. Benefits is the issue," said Portelli.

"We still have some proposals that might be able to address some of those concerns," Little said. "In looking at health care proposals, no one with existing conditions would be penalized.

Little said average teacher pay has gone from fifth-highest in Michigan to 35th highest. "That's a big change in relativity. It's a factor in negotiations, whether people want to accept it or not."

Entry-level teachers, in their first semester, earn $30,997 in Plymouth- Canton. They receive $31,307 second semester.

Top of the scale, for teachers with master's degrees and extra course work, earn $61,448 their first semester and $62,052 second semester.

Tentatively agreed to is the school calendar. For the first time, school will not be in session the Wednesday before Thanksgiving. For students in kindergarten through fifth-grade, there'll be another day off, a Monday in November, for conferences. Again this year, week-long breaks are scheduled for February and at Easter. There'll be no school for two weeks at Christmas time.

The board began meeting to discuss negotiations in closed sessions unusually early — last fall — in an attempt "to bring a young board up to date," Little said. "We needed to familiarize everyone with the details of what we thought we'd propose. It was a combination of education and strategy."

Public Act 112 has changed bargaining game rules. "The district has the right under the act to bid out all insurances on a yearly basis," said Portelli. "But the coverage cannot change without bargaining the coverage.

"If you actually do strike, there are economic penalties amounting to the per-diem rate of pay for each individual, and $5,000 per day to the association," said Portelli. "There is a penalty to the district too if there is a work stoppage."

In the case of an impasse, "Both sides have to agree to go to impasse. If a state mediator comes back with a proposal that's somewhere in between where the two parties are, the teachers' association is bound by that ruling. The school board is not bound by it. They can reject it outright and implement their last best proposal."

Negotiators plan to bargain Aug. 6, 8, 16, 22 and 23 beginning at 9 a.m.

Temporary site OK'd for paving company

COUNTY NEWS

A concrete paving company Thursday won emergency approval to lease a piece of vacant Wayne County property in Westland for four months.

Eastern Concrete Paving Co. of Shelby Township will set up a temporary batch plant at a site at Merriman and Michigan Avenue while it works on road repairs in Garden City. The Wayne County Commission approved the agreement on Thursday.

The company had an agreement for a different site, but the owner of that site canceled the agreement, jeopardizing the company's paving schedules.

The county site is sandwiched between the site of the Inkster Valley Golf Course, which is under construction, and the site of a proposed shopping complex at the corner of Michigan and Merriman.

Eastern Concrete will pay the county $2,000 a month plus any permit fees and water usage and is required to carry public liability insurance.

Also, the agreement requires the company to restore the property to its original condition after the lease period.

More advocates

Contracts were approved for victim advocate and court advocate positions in the Wayne County prosecuting attorney's office.

A contract between the county and the state of Michigan for $114,212 for funding two victim advocates, which includes one new position, and another contract for $126,367 for funding three court advocates, which includes one new position, were approved by the Wayne County Commission on Thursday.

The county's match for the first contract is $28, 553 and for the second is $31,592.

Court advocates go to court with victims of crime, and victim advocates help outside the courtroom with obtaining counseling and making referrals to agencies.

Signal's on

A new four-way left turn signal will be installed at the corner of Eight Mile and Orchard Lake/Merriman, which is on the border of Livonia and Farmington Hills.

The Wayne County Commission approved a contract between Wayne County and the Oakland County Road Commission for $40,000 for the signal.

Wayne County will pay 50 percent or $20,000 of the cost of installation and Oakland County will pay 50 percent or $20,000 of the installation and 100 percent of the operation and maintenance costs.

Temporary station

The Wayne County Commission on Thursday approved a contract between the county and Metro Service Center Inc. for about $35,000 to provide a full-service automobile station at the airport.

The station will have to be demolished for the new South Access Road, but not for at least another year, according to Wilbourne A Kelley III, assistant county executive for airports and major county construction. The road will be constructed along with the construction of a new terminal at Metro Airport.

Metro Service Center will pay the county a monthly concession fee of $2,000 plus 3 percent of monthly gross revenues.

The company has operated at Metro Airport since Jan. 23,1980, and has a new contract through Aug. 31, 1997. After that the company can operate on a monthly basis until notified to vacate.

The airport master plan doesn't call for another service station, but one may be considered later, Kelley said.

The commission also ratified commission Chairman Ricardo Solomon's approval of a contract between Wayne County and Parsons Brinkerhoff Michigan Inc. of Detroit for $68,821.22 for consultant engineering services in connection with the South Access Road.

New group tackles issue of assisted suicide

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

They're called Merian's Friends.

And they are dealing with a subject that's hard for many people to talk about and something most people don't want to think about.

The subject is assisted suicide.

Merian's Friends is organizing volunteers to begin work to get a ballot question to legalize assisted suicide on the November 1998 ballot. The group is named for Merian Frederick, who died with the help of Dr. Jack Kevorkian in 1993, after battling Lou Gehrig's Disease.

Carol Poenisch of Northville, Frederick's daughter, is a co-founder and treasurer of Merian's Friends. Chapters have begun forming as volunteers have become interested, and a small northwest Wayne County chapter has formed with members from Livonia, Plymouth, Garden City and Westland.

Bill McAninch of Plymouth is one of those who has joined Merian's Friends in one of the small local groups. He had attended the same church as Merian Frederick.

He's helping with Merian's Friends because "I believe there are better alternatives than having Kevorkian perform the deed in a cabin or someone else's apartment house with carbon monoxide." He said he is not comfortable with Kevorkian, but feels that people who contribute to change "aren't always lovable."

He called Merian Frederick's approach to the end of her life thoughtful and intelligent and feels people in certain situations should have choices. "Her case is just classic. She was losing the most important things in her life – losing her ability to socialize and communicate," McAninch said.

The Rev. Chuck Sonquist, pastor of St. Matthew's United Methodist Church in Livonia, has also attended Merian's Friends' meetings. He also has invited Ed Pierce, one of the group's organizers, to talk about the issues at his church in August. A meeting was also held this month, which was attended by about 30 people from five different area churches.

Sonquist said he doesn't know yet what his involvement will be with Merian's Friends, but he planned the meetings as a type of forum for people to sort out the issues.

"People get stranded between life and not life," he said. "And families have not sorted it out ahead of time."

The meeting at Sonquist's church is at 7 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 11, at St Matthew's United Methodist Church, 30900 W. Six Mile, between Middlebelt and Merriman in Livonia

The Merian's Friends movement was precipitated by the recent Kevorkian trials, but members of the group don't necessarily support Kevorkian, Poenisch said. "We feel things need to be done through proper channels," she said.

The group is looking at either an amendment to the state constitution or a new law. For a law the group needs 350,000 signatures and for an amendment it needs 400,000 signatures, and the signatures have to be gathered within a six-month period.

Money is also a concern. About $100,000 will be needed for the petition drive and another $1 million for the educational campaign, according to Merian's Friends' literature.

Petition circulation is expected to begin in May 1997 to put the issue on the Nov. 3, 1998, ballot, Poenisch said.

Some of the language the group is considering for the law or amendment, includes that a person must have received a diagnosis by a physician of having only six months left to live, and have two physicians and a psychiatrist give the OK for assisted death, Poenisch said.

A waiting period and counseling will also probably be included in the language, she said.

The legal committee of Merian's Friends, made up of lawyers, doctors and a public health professor, are meeting to formulate the language, with completion expected by the end of August, Poenisch said.

And the group wants safeguards in the language because of the possibility of abuse of the law, Poenisch said. She sees a time when doctors will make the choice of whether they will assist in suicides, and people will choose their doctor based on the doctor's views on the subject.

In the meantime small groups of interested people are meeting all around the state, Poenisch said. Since starting in mid-April, about 850 members have joined statewide. Organizers hope to have 4,000 volunteers by the start of the petition drive.

A Merian's Friends meeting is planned for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 12, at St Paul's Presbyterian Church on 27475 Five Mile in Livonia.

For more information about the group, write Merian's Friends, P.O. Box 272, Northville, MI 48167 or call (810) 349-6364.

COLLEGE BOUND AND CAVITY-PRONE?
As young adults leave for college, their parents ask them not to forget to call home to schedule appointments and visit regularly for exams. All too often, young adults leave concerns about their oral health behind when they leave for college. Gone are the presumably healthy meals prepared by mom, along with scheduled visits to the dentist that parents usually set up for their children. Of course, young adults do not have to leave their good oral habits at home. All it takes is a bit of foresight to schedule dental appointments so that they coincide with visits home during vacations and holidays. If leaving home entails taking responsibility for one's own life, ensuring the health of one's own teeth is part of that responsibility. Unlike college students, teeth never come back once they are gone.
LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES offers the dental health care routine that is just right for you. It is never too early or too late to start a periodic regimen of professional attention to all your dental needs. We believe in early detection and annual checkups. We're located at 19171 Merriman Road, where we provide a friendly, professional atmosphere for the whole family, as well as "twilight sleep," a intravenous sedation. Voters to narrow county races in Tuesday election

PRIMARY ELECTION '96

Tuesday is primary election day, and Wayne County voters will make choices in several races and decide a tax increase for the parks system.

Voters will narrow the field to one Democrat and one Republican in county and congressional races.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Voters must select the party of their choice and only vote for candidates on that party section. If candidates from more than one party are selected, the ballot will be rejected.

Non-partisan sections, such as the parks millage, must be voted separately.

In the race for U.S. Senate, voters will choose between Republicans Jim Nicholson and Ronna Romney to face Democrat Carl Levin, the incumbent, who is unopposed in the primary, in November. Senators serve six-year terms.

Voters will narrow the fields in the races for county elected offices including four-year terms for prosecuting attorney, sheriff, treasurer and register of deeds.

In the race for prosecuting attorney, incumbent Democrat John D. O'Hair of Detroit faces Virgil Clark Smith of Detroit. On the Republican side of the ticket, Thomas D. Esordi of Wyandotte is facing Donald L. Knapp of Livonia. The winner from each party will face off in November.

In the race for sheriff, Republicans Tim Adams of Dearborn Heights, Kenneth Kline Jr. of Canton Township, Edwin V. Nassar of Dearborn, Robert J. Nozicka of Dearborn, Timothy John Olszewski of Livonia, Mike Roberts of Detroit and Daniel Glenn Tackett of Taylor are vying for the chance to face incumbent Democrat Robert A. Ficano of Livonia in November.

In the race for county treasurer, Republican John Kelly Wazney is unopposed in the primary and will face the winner from among the Democrats, incumbent Raymond J. Wojtowicz of Hamtramck, C. Edward Gordon of Detroit, Pat O'Hara of Detroit, Beverly Kindle Walker of Detroit.

In the race for register of deeds, Republican Tony Spearman-Leach is unopposed in the primary. He will face the winner from among the Democrats, Paul G. Citkowski of Canton Township, Ron Cleveland of Detroit, Reginald Fluker of Detroit, incumbent Forest E. Youngblood of Dearborn Heights, and John A. Bernard of Detroit.

Several communities will decide primary races for two-year terms on Wayne County Commission.

In Livonia west of Middlebelt, Plymouth and Plymouth Township, Republican incumbent Thaddeus McCotter of Livonia faces Jeff Schroder of Northville. The winner will face Democrat R. Karl Burnett of Livonia in November.

In Westland and Garden City, voters will decide between Republicans Carol A. Juarez of Garden City and Bhagwan Dashairya of Westland. The winner will face incumbent Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard of Westland, who serves as vice chair of the commission.

Countywide, voters will make a decision on Proposition P, a proposal by Wayne County to raise the tax rate by a quarter-mill (25 cents per $1,000 of taxable valuation) for five years from 1996 to 2001, inclusive, for parks projects. Parks improvements would be made in Hines Park, Elizabeth Park, Chandler Park and Fort Wayne. Wayne County must continue to budget an amount equal to the 1995-96 fiscal year appropriation for parks, according to the proposition language. The levy is estimated to generate more than $7.9 million in 1997. (See related story.)

A primary would have been needed to fill two partial seats on the 3rd Circuit Court in Wayne County, but three candidates were disqualified in June by the secretary of state because of petition signature discrepancies, leaving incumbents Sean F. Cox and Kirsten Frank Kelly unopposed for the two-year terms.

Parks millage on primary ballot

Wayne County voters Tuesday will decide whether to raise their taxes to pay for parks improvements.

A quarter-mill tax increase would run from 1996 to 2001, inclusive, and fund parks projects and upkeep.

The ballot language also includes the caveat that the county will continue to fund the parks budget at the 1995-96 fiscal year level, which is $2.8 million.

A quarter-mill is 25 cents per $1,000 taxable valuation. The increase would cost the owner of a $100,000 house $12.50 a year.

The quarter-mill is expected to generate more than $7.9 million in 1997, $8.10 million in 1998, $8.2 million in 1999, $8.4 million in 2000 and $8.5 million in 2001.

Projects include:

- Renovations and improvements to all parks, $1.5 million;
- Hines Park picnic area improvements, $2 million;
- Nankin Mills Interpretive Center in Westland, $1 million;
- William P. Holliday Forest and Wildlife Preserve in Westland and Canton, $200,000;
- Winter sports area improvements in Redford, Dearborn Heights, Inkster, Livonia, Trenton and Northville, $175,000;
- Bennett Arboretum in Northville Township, $80,000;
- New sports facilities in Redford, Trenton, Inkster, Plymouth, Westland and Dearborn Heights, $850,000;
- Historic Fort Wayne in Detroit, $4.75 million;
- Mariner's Park in Detroit, $2 million;
- Chandler Park Water park in Detroit, $7 million;
- Crosswinds Marsh in Sumpter Township, $1 million;
- Elizabeth Park in Trenton, $4 million;
- Inkster Park picnic area improvement in Inkster, $350,000;
- Colonial Park sports complex in Inkster, $250,000;
- Lola Valley and Bell Creek picnic improvements in Redford Township, $300,000;
- Taylor petting farm in Taylor, $250,000;
- Dingell Park improvements in Ecorse, $250,000;
- Lower Rouge canoe trail in Canton Township, $300,000.

■ The quarter-mill is expected to generate more than $7.9 million in 1997, $8.10 million in 1998, $8.2 million in 1999, $8.4 million in 2000 and $8.5 million in 2001.

Turn on porch lights, turn off crime

Citizens on Aug. 6 will turn on their porch lights to encourage crime prevention awareness, as part of the 13th annual National Night Out.

Nationwide, more than 30 million people in nearly 9,000 communities are expected to participate in activities that promote police/community partnerships, crime-prevention awareness, safety and neighborhood unity.

Detroit Police Chief Isaiah McKinnon, Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano and Larry Garberding, Detroit Edison's chief financial officer, will help kick off this year's event today at Detroit Edison.

The Help Eliminate Auto Thefts (H.E.A.T.) crime prevention group will also participate.

Citizens can contact their local law enforcement agencies for information about National Night Out events in their communities.

The public also can participate in ongoing crime prevention activities such as H.E.A.T. Those with tips on auto theft or carjacking should call (800) 242-HEAT.

O'Hair is fair

Livonia enjoys the reputation of being one of the safest cities in the nation. Many people work together to bring this about, the administration, the judges, our fine police department and our people. One very important component is often overlooked, the prosecutors in our courts.

All criminal prosecutions in our 16th District Court and throughout Wayne County are prosecuted by prosecutors under the direction of Wayne County Prosecutor John D. O'Hair. Without good and fair prosecution, our judges' and juries' hands would be tied. Our police would be frustrated if their arrests were not prosecuted properly.

I know John O'Hair to be a fair and decent man who deserves to be re-elected. Both Livonia Mayor Kirksey and Wayne County Executive McNamara believe his re-election to be important to our city. We need this very important cog in our wheel of justice.

Schroder anti-women?

Over the past couple of weeks I have become more and more angered and disgusted by the vile negative campaign Jeff Schroder has been waging against Thaddeus McCotter.

In his fliers, Schroder not only attacks the candidate himself but he also attacks his mother – for good measure, I suppose. In his most recent flier, he calls Mr. McCotter "Mr. Affirmative Action" and states "Affirmative Action is wrong and should be stopped." Funny you should say that, Mr. Schroder, especially since your white male counterparts have been benefiting from affirmative action for hundreds of years!

Studies show that women are the biggest beneficiaries of affirmative action policies. It is only because of affirmative action that women are doctors, lawyers, engineers, and almost anything else they want to be.

Mr. Schroder, do you think it's wrong for women like your mother, your sister, your wife, or your daughter to hold a job that pays a decent wage and which heretofore was reserved for white men only?

If so, then why should I, a woman, or any woman with any intelligence, vote for you? I urge all women and all men who want their mother, sister, wife or daughter to have a fair chance at a good job, to vote against any candidate who advocates the reversal of affirmative action.

Support for proposition

At our meeting on July 8, it was moved and supported by our commission to support Proposition P for Wayne County Parks.

We have been working hard with the Redford Soccer Club and the Wayne County parks to add soccer fields to Bell Creek Park and other items needed to enhance the county parks to fit the needs of our community. We don't have a lot of park space to add new programs and when counties redesign their parks and we lose valuable space or fields it creates difficulties for Redford clubs or organizations.

We went to county commissioner Michelle Plawecki and Mr. Hurley Coleman, Wayne County parks and recreation director, with our issues, and we believe that they supported our ideas and concerns. Other ideas that we are looking at are the current tennis courts, their present condition, and we feel if they're going to rebuild them that they could add to or replace one of the courts with an in-line skating section for the youth who are desperately looking for safe places to play.

Also, we have worked hard to look into a lighted walking track. We felt that the lights would not only light up the track but provide a safer environment. Also, Lola Valley needs to be redesigned to support the community needs like new picnic areas with new playground equipment for the youth. We have been trying hard just to get the lawn cut to keep it looking presentable.

The funds just are not there to add and meet future changes to these parks, thus we support Proposition P and would look into the changes needed to enhance our parks by working and communicating directly with Mr. Coleman. We also would like to thank Michelle Plawecki for her great support on the Bell Creek Park.

We realize the cost involved in redesigning or upkeeping parks, but we feel the investment in our community would be priceless when you look at the youth of today and the challenges they face tomorrow.

We are also asking our community to support Wayne County parks and also send letter to us or better yet drop in at our meetings to keep us informed on what you would like to see at "Your Parks" and how can we better serve our community.

Literature was racist

This is in response to the Livonia resident who wrote a letter in the Aug. 1 Livonia Observer regarding race not being in an issue in Jeff Schroder's campaign.

After receiving a mailing from Schroder's committee today, I have the following comments:

How can you say that Schroder is not making race an issue after reading his latest piece of literature? The front has the pictures of the seven African-American commissioners from Detroit with the phrase "Every Democrat on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has a friend in western Wayne County ..." When you open up the piece it shows a picture of McCotter and it states "His name is Thaddeus McCotter, our Republican County Commissioner!"

The mailing also contained outdated information from 1993 and 1994.

I have always known Thaddeus McCotter to vote in the best interest of his constituency and not along special interest or racial lines. This type of mailing is a desperate act of a failing campaign.

Reopening Anderson file

I would like to set straight many statements that Brad Emons, sports editor, made in an article June 13.

Ryan Anderson, a 16-year-old high school junior, made the statement to Tom Markowski in a Detroit News interview that the reason he transferred from Livonia Franklin was because of the lack of coaching.

This indeed is the truth. Our family made up our minds that we would transfer the night Ryan was brought up from JV to play varsity basketball in districts at Novi High School March 1995.

Ryan played a great game, scoring six points and three blocked shots. The lack of play and plays from our team was very evident compared to Canton, Novi and Northville that night.

Recognizing the natural talent and the hopes and dreams of our son, we knew we had to get better then what we were getting.

Being a public school teacher in Farmington Hills, transferring to a private school was considered a last resort. We tried to transfer to Livonia Stevenson only to find out they were overcrowded.

At this point we started looking into private schools. Dearborn Divine Child was Ryan's school of choice.

When we were made aware that Divine Child would not be admitting any transfer students until August we applied to and were accepted at Catholic Central.

Yes, Mr. Emons, we did apply for financial aid at CC as do the majority of all private school students when there might be a reason for receiving it. Mr. Anderson is retired so that was our reason. Never has our family expected preferential treatment.

When DC called and accepted Ryan in July 1995, we accepted. Informing CC of our decision, we lost our deposit. If we weren't so interested in our first choice, we would have stayed at CC and not lost our deposit.

The Anderson family spent two years trying to turn around the athletic program as well as the outside maintenance at Livonia Franklin. We had meetings, many letters were sent and countless discussions with coaches, the principal, and the superintendent for secondary education.

My husband was also responsible for acquiring the block for the new baseball dugouts.

When baseball practice started for the 1995 season JV coach Dave Felker told Ryan to report to the varsity baseball team. When Ryan walked into coach Karoub's meeting his statement to Ryan was "Anderson, what the hell are you doing here? Get back to JV."

Ryan was 9-0 and batted over 600 that season and was throwing 84-86 mph. We were asked on several occasions by umpires why he wasn't playing varsity ball.

Mr. Karoub occasionally called Ryan up to varsity. On several occasions, Karoub would tell coach Felker he wanted Ryan up on varsity and then not take him. This happened several times until Ryan finally said he would not go to varsity if Karoub couldn't stop being so fickle.

Ryan had a bowling banquet to attend during the evening of the day he was brought up to play against Canton. He was being honored at the Detroit City Bowling banquet. This was arranged a month prior to the Canton game. Ryan had already been taken out of the game for its entirety before leaving the field.

Mr. Emons, you also made reference to Ryan being knocked around in two late season outings. Ryan lost the game he pitched to Brother Rice 0-7. Brother Rice was ranked No. 1 in the state and No. 6 in the nation. He also lost a closer game to Redford Thurston in the Districts 7-8.

I invite Mr. Emons to visit Franklin's gym and notice how many division, conference, and state championship flags are hanging then compare that number to all other Lakes and Western Lakes schools.

Also check the Franklin yearbooks for 1994 1995 and 1996 and take note as to how many varsity sports, both boys and girls, had zero wins or one win for their entire season. The numbers will knock your socks off.

I would suggest that Mr. Emons and coach Karoub stop taking offense to a 16-year-old stating that he left Livonia Franklin because of the lack of coaching and do something about keeping the talented athlete in the public school and drawing more students to trying out for school sports.

Not building up a good athletic program at Franklin is stealing from our young adults. One student in a million may go to the pros, many students want to play college athletics and an even greater amount just want a good high school experience.

The Anderson family thanks coach Dave Felker for recognizing talent, being honest and helping Ryan to develop the best pick-off move in baseball.

Also many thanks to the students, faculty and both present and retired coaches at Divine Child for contributing to the building of self-esteem, character, maturity and talent of our son.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Author spells out spicy differences

Long before people learned to cook, fish, or even hunt, when food was gathered from what grew around them, herbs and spices were prevalent.

Archaeological discoveries have shown that pre-cavemen who wandered the African land survived on a diet of vegetation. They knew what kind of reaction to expect when they ate a certain plant. Consequently, they learned to avoid certain plants that made them sick, and, if they did get sick, knew which plants to eat to feel better again.

Spicy read

"This was heralded as the earliest use of spices," claims Julie Sahni, author of "Savoring Spices and Herbs," (copyright 1996, Morrow Publishers). The author continues to explain that "as man raised livestock, cultivated crops, and formed organized societies, the pleasurable aspects of plants (fragrance, flavor, color and bite) also became important. Thus began the use of spices and herbs as aromatics."

Spices and herbs can best be described as aromatic plants whose qualities are perceived through our sense of smell.

Spices are the dried aromatic parts of woody plants grown primarily in hot and dry climates (eastern Mediterranean) and hot and humid climates (Central America and South Asia).

Herbs, on the other hand, are the highly fragrant leaves and tender stems of plants that never develop hard bark-covered trunks. They grow mostly in temperate climates. In order to bring out their true floral bouquet, herbs should be fresh and added only at the very end of cooking. Heat not only reduces their aroma but also deadens their bright color.

I teach many a cooking class throughout metropolitan Detroit, and it always amazes me that the majority of people in class really don't know the difference between a spice and an herb and even more important, how to use them properly. People are so anxious to learn, and I feel that the inventive use of spices and herbs is one way to create truly imaginative recipes. Even healthy recipes that are nutritionally sound can always benefit from the creative use of herbs and spices that make them taste "gourmet."

In her book, Sahni does an extraordinary job in really identifying and spelling out in plain English everything you ever wanted to know about herbs and spices. This is one book that belongs on the shelf right next to "The Joy of Cooking," especially if the cook has little or no understanding about the rituals of using herbs and spices.

The first thirty pages of the book are devoted exclusively to identifying each and every basic spice and herb common in everyday kitchens. If you ever wondered about the difference between real vanilla, vanilla flavoring and vanilla extract, this is just one spice the book reveals in great detail. The next twenty or so pages delve even further into uncommon (some even exotic) spices and herbs such as juniper, wasabi, cardamom and various types of peppercorns.

Tasty relevations

Just last week, I was lunching with my best friend over a Jerk chicken salad purchased from the deli at Zingerman's in Ann Arbor. My friend was curious about the flavors, and my only knowledge was that jerk was a Caribbean seasoning. Had I known about Sahni's book, I could have easily found that jerk is a blend of allspice, black peppercorns, cinnamon, red pepper, Hungarian paprika, thyme and nutmeg.

I found the first 100 pages great rainy-day reading material (I really learned a few things. i.e: like how celery seed helps round out flavors), and the remainder of the book is stuffed with her own personal collection of recipes that uses all of the herbs and spices mentioned. Sahni works her culinary alchemy into exhilarating, inspired recipes for everything from appetizers to vegetables. Each recipe is a revelation in taste.

I've long been a fan of Rodale's "Illustrated Encyclopedia of Herbs" (the book that I used to call my herb bible), but it's been relegated to the library after reading Sahni's book. I can imagine this book offered as a gift (perhaps a wedding shower or housewarming) along with a small collection of basic herbs and spices. I'll be taking it on vacation and "reading" it like a steamy sultry summer romance novel, if anything, just for the information it shares.

Jazz it up with Juice!

DOLE PACKAGED FOODS COMPANY

Canned pineapple juice makes an intriguing replacement for traditional cooking liquids, as it enhances everything from salad dressings to main dishes and desserts.

When substituted for wine or chicken broth in a savory sauce, pineapple juice adds a subtle nuance of fruit flavor. Far from overpowering, it blends smoothly with savory herbs, sweet spices and meats to impart a light, tangy-sweet quality. In a salad dressing it replaces vinegar to add a refreshing, clean taste. In desserts and sweet sauces, its characteristic tart fruity flavor may be more bold as it tempers very sweet ingredients.

Canned pineapple juice is a pantry staple every cook should have on hand. It's low in calories, full of vitamin C, convenient and ready-to-use, and best of all, it's versatile–as the following array of luscious recipes illustrates. Taste for yourself!

Here are some recipes that put canned pineapple juice in a whole new light as a cooking ingredient.

Rediscover flavorful petite sirah

FOCUS ON WINE — BY RAY & ELEANOR HEALD

American wine drinkers have developed a fondness for red wines. Many of the best merlots and cabernet sauvignons are on allocation in this market. They are hard to come by and the prices are rising due to the law of supply and demand. It's time to discover another flavorful red — petite sirah!

It's not a new varietal. In fact, it has faced some rocky times. Over the last 100 years, its stock with vintners and drinkers has risen and fallen, leading to both booms and busts. In the California wine boom of the 1970s bent on blockbuster reds, petite sirah was sought after and saw vigorous planting — but in many unsuitable areas, some too hot, others too cool. These wines were often brawny, astringent, tannic, overbearing and difficult to drink. By the end of the decade, the variety began an era of decline that has existed until now.

Even in its years of decline, wineries devoted to petite sirah such as Concannon, David Bruce, Foppiano, Stags' Leap and Ridge made magnificent wines, a tradition that continues today. These wineries have older vineyards planted in the correct soils and climate. And, at last, the wine has been rediscovered. Foppiano, celebrating its 100th anniversary this year, has witnessed

TAHINI DIP

- 1/2 cup toasted white sesame seeds
- 1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
- 1 small clove garlic, peeled
- 1/4 cup fresh parsley leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon Kosher salt
- 3 tablespoons water, or as needed

Mix all the ingredients in a food processor or a blender until finely blended, adding enough water to achieve a consistency like thick whipped cream. Cover and refrigerate. Makes 1 cup.

AVOCADO SPREAD WITH TAHINI DIP

- 2 small ripe Haas avocados, peeled and pitted
- 1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon minced garlic
- 1 1/2 tablespoon Tahini Dip
- 1/2 teaspoon curry powder
- fresh ground black pepper and Kosher salt to taste
- 3 scallions, trimmed and chopped

Roughly mash or crush the avocadoes in a medium bowl. Add the lemon juice, Tahini Dip, garlic and curry powder. Mix well. Season to taste with pepper and salt and fold in the scallions. Serve immediately with rye or pita bread. Makes 1 cup.

Curry powder, according to Julie Sahni, is not something you purchase prepared in a jar at the supermarket.

Sahni calls it "an old spice blend of Indian origin, introduced and made famous by early English traders."

A good curry, properly used is a valuable seasoning to any kitchen. If you thought you never liked curry (and I didn't) wait till you taste this one !

CURRY POWDER

- 2 teaspoons cumin seeds
- 2 teaspoons coriander seeds
- 2 teaspoons mustard seeds
- 1 teaspoon fennel seeds
- 1 teaspoon whole cloves
- 1/2 teaspoon dill seed or 1 teaspoon dill weed
- 1/2 stick (1 1/2 inches) cinnamon, crushed
- 1 teaspoon black peppercorns
- 1 teaspoon ground red pepper
- 2 teaspoons ground tumeric

Combine all the spices except the red pepper and tumeric in the container of an electric spice grinder or coffee grinder and grind until finely powdered.

Add the red pepper and tumeric and continue to process until thoroughly blended. Transfer to an airtight container. Can be stored in a cool, dry place for up to three months. Makes 1/4 cup.

CURRY GRILLED SCALLOPS

- 1 1/2 teaspoons curry powder
- 1 teaspoon minced garlic
- 1 teaspoon minced fresh thyme or 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
- 1 1/2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 1/2 pounds large sea scallops
- fresh ground pepper and Kosher salt to taste
- 2 lemons, cut into wedges

Combine the curry powder, garlic, thyme and oil and rub over the scallops in a bowl. Heat a large fry pan over high heat until very hot. Add the scallops and reduce heat to medium high.

Cook the scallops, shaking and tossing until they turn ivory white inside and feel firm to the touch, about 4 minutes.

Season with salt and pepper. Transfer to a serving plate and garnish with lemon wedges. Serves 4 as a main course, 8 as an appetizer.

production increase from 2,000 to 10,000 cases annually.

"Demand for petite sirah is skyrocketing because more consumers are rediscovering this wine as a source of value and as something different from cabernet and merlot," owner Lou Foppiano said.

With this discovery has come another. Recent DNA profiling conducted by Dr. Carole Meredith at the University of California at Davis indicates that this consumer rediscovered wine is not a single grape varietal. Long thought to be durif or a selection of another varietal peloursin, petite sirah, is a collection of different varietals under a catchall name and planted in the same California vineyards early in this century.

While it may be true that petite sirah is on a new track to overcome an identity crisis, Foppiano observes it from a consumer viewpoint.

"Perhaps we don't know the origins, but we do know what the consumer expects from a wine labeled petite sirah — a big, juicy, dark, intense red wine that's affordable and ageable," he noted.

Rob Brittan, winemaker for Stags' Leap Winery pointed out that only 20 years ago there were more than 13,000 acres of petite sirah planted in California. Today, only about 350 acres remain in Napa Valley compared to 10,000 acres each of cabernet sauvignon and chardonnay. Considering himself a caretaker of petite sirah he said, "Once revered only for its color and fruit intensity as a blending grape, very few winemakers learned the secrets of this wine and where it should be grown. At Stags' Leap, we feel a special obligation to nurture a 50-year-old petite sirah tradition. Part of the special care includes monitoring elder vines and their diseases, identifying their differences and propagating these."

According to winemaker Paul Draper, Ridge Vineyards petite sirah sources yield wine with spice characters in the fruit along with intensity and depth. The wine has fullness, viscosity and color, but is not overly extracted. He's sourcing from a number of new plantings in Sonoma County and declared the fruit, even from very young vines, excellent.

In both aroma and flavor profile, petite sirah can be placed between cabernet sauvignon and zinfandel. There's a distinct jammy character and the wine's pepperiness in concert with nutmeg and clove spice is attractive. Foppiano suggested the word lingering.

"No matter how complete a cabernet sauvignon is, it never has the length of petite sirah," he concluded. As petite sirah ages, a cedary bouquet component frequently develops. This occurs independently of oak aging.

David Bruce began making Petite Sirah in the 1970s. He says that among red wines, merlot and pinot noir are the rising stars, but believes that petite sirah will be the next "big red."

■ Petite Sirah's to look for: Bogle Vineyards, David Bruce Winery, Concannon Vineyards, Dry Creek Vineyards, Fetzer Vineyards, Field Stone Winery, Foppiano, La Jota, Granite Springs, Guenoc, Markham Vineyards, Louis M. Martini, Parducci Wine Cellars, Preston, Ridge Vineyards, Rosenblum Cellars and Stags' Leap Winery.

Veggie fajitas great picnic fare

Some people call them the dog days of summer and vow to spend the season (with or without their dog) no more than ten feet away from an air conditioning unit.

Then there are those who handle the heat the natural way — they head for the beach!

Melanie Barnard is one of those beachgoers — even when she isn't anywhere near a large body of water.

This cookbook author, grilling expert and lover of all things summery maintains that the beach is really a state of mind. To Barnard, the beach can simply mean sipping a cool glass of iced tea as you munch on a sugar cookie while chatting with your neighbor on the patio.

The beach can also be your kids running through the sprinkler, or taking a dip in the wading pool. It can even be a castle built in a backyard sandbox.

But the ultimate beach event is, of course, the picnic. Now, it's certainly the best of all world if your picnic can be toted to Kent Lake or even the upper shores of Lake Michigan.

If traveling is not in your plans, there's no reason why you can't have a beach picnic at your local community park, the nearest country meadow, or even in your own backyard.

Barnard suggests setting aside a little space for your picnic equipment. Then, at the drop of a hat, you will be ready to marshall family and friends for a sunset supper. Barnard keeps a hamper filled with these nonperishable items.

- Sturdy paper plates, oversized napkins and plastic-backed wipeable or disposable tablecloths.
- Heavy duty aluminum foil and zipper-style plastic bags for transporting food to the picnic and leftovers home.
- Paper towels and a container of pre-moistened disposable towelettes.
- Heavy-duty large plastic bags for cleaning up the picnic site.
- Inexpensive metal eating utensils (or sturdy plastic forks), a chef's knife, serving spoons, grilling tongs and a spatula.
- A bucket for removing and disposing of used coals, if using a charcoal grill.

Those hamburgers and hot dogs are sometimes on the menu, Barnard loves to liven up the picnic with a few food surprises.

One of her favorite mid-summer recipes is Grilled Vegetable Fajitas.

GRILLED VEGETABLE FAJITAS

- 1 tablespoon chili powder
- 6 tablespoons chopped cilantro
- 1 large yellow bell pepper, seeded and quartered
- 1 large red onion, cut crosswise into 1/2-inch slices
- 1 medium zucchini (about 6 ounces), cut lengthwise into 1/2-inch slices
- 1 large meaty tomato (about 1/2 pound), seeded and cut crosswise into 1/2-inch slices
- 4 large flour tortillas
- 1/2 cup prepared guacamole
- 1 cup (about 4 ounces) shredded Monterey Jack Cheese
- 1/2 cup plain yogurt or sour cream

In a small bowl, combine the Italian dressing, chili powder and 2 tablespoons of the cilantro. Brush all sides of the pepper, onion, zucchini and tomato with the Italian dressing.

Grill the vegetables over medium coals, turning once until softened, about 7 minutes for the bell pepper and onion, 5 to 7 minutes for the zucchini, and 1 to 2 minutes for the tomato.

Wrap the tortillas in foil and warm at the edge of the grill for about 2 minutes.

Remove vegetables from grill and place on cutting board. Cut the peppers, squash and tomato into chunks, and separate the onion into rings.

To serve, spread the tortillas with the guacamole, top with the vegetables, sprinkle the cheese, roll up and dollop with the yogurt.

Bowlers: Ishmael (Randy Quaid - center) and Roy (Woody Harrelson) con a group of aging female bowlers known as "The Foxy Ladies" out of one of their wheelchairs in "Kingpin."

Funny 'Kingpin' will bowl you over

BY AL HARRISON
SPECIAL WRITER

There are a few people who do not bowl. They will enjoy the movie "Kingpin" as much as diehard bowlers. It is basically a very funny movie. That this story revolves around bowling is almost incidental, in that most of the funniest scenes take place away from the lanes.

Though some may consider the humor semi-raunchy, it is almost a sequel to "Dumb and Dumber" except that the characters are more naive than stupid, not a coincidence since the same people produced both movies.

Woody Harrelson plays the part of Roy Munson, a hard luck character who could have been to bowling what Michael Jordan is to basketball. He had the misfortune of defeating Ernie "Big Ern" McCracken, played by Bill Murray who turns out to be a bad sport, and an especially bad influence on Roy.

Seventeen years pass quickly and now a seedy, balding and pot-bellied Munson discovers a protege named Ishmael (Randy Quid) among the Amish of Pennsylvania Dutch Country, and the real fun begins. As they travel along the path of anticipated riches, they hook up with Claudia, a wild and street-smart beauty played by Vanessa Angel.

There are many humorous situations as the movie moves from the 1950s to the "Cosmic Bowling" of the 1990s. Most of the filming took place in Pittsburgh, where they were able to find some old-fashioned bowling alleys, then finishes at the brand new National Bowling Stadium in Reno, Nevada where the story climaxes with a "Million Dollar Winner Take All" tournament.

Some of the humor in this story evolves around some great "sight gags" as Harrelson is wearing the same tacky clothes he wore in the 1970s in the 1990s, and his Olds 442 convertible even survived all the years and hard times.

As for the bowling, most of the main characters were not bowlers, but managed to fake it really well. The Pro bowlers who appeared in the tournament lent credibility to the story, and the ball used by "Big Ern" was clear plastic with a rose in the center, a rare piece in itself. From a bowler's perspective, there was a lot of good stuff, however it seemed to show more of a "pot game" and gambling side of the spot though it exists even today is really less significant in the world of ten pin bowling.

This is a very entertaining film, and had the audience laughing out loud more than you would expect. The story is almost secondary to the humorous situations that develop along the way.

Look for Al Harrison's Ten Pin Alley column in the sports section of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Ameritech's 16,000 service people know every little hole-in-the-wall in Detroit. Will AT&T's?

Our people not only know their way around digital multiplexers and PBXs, they also know their way around Detroit. Something you'll appreciate some night if your lines go down. But there are other good reasons to stick with Ameritech.

1. We were the company that built this network. Who's better qualified to service it than the people who put it all in place?

2. We've been providing local service to this region for over a century. We've put through virtually every call you've ever made to or from Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio, and Indiana. That's a lot of calls.

10. 19,000 service vehicles.

3. 4,900 of our employees are highly efficient operators who use... 4. ...the best database available region-wide and... 5. ...handle the flood of 2.3 million calls that we receive every single working day.

6. Our directory assistance operators handle 1,200 calls a day each.

7. All told, 60,000 Ameritech employees are in the Midwest working to make sure your next call goes through.

8. And 93% of them are Ameritech shareholders—not just employees, but owners. Which means they have a vested interest in seeing that you are a happy customer.

9. 7,300 of them are technicians. All trained to answer the 3.9 million service calls we get every year to hook up new services or make installations. And because they know this town, they probably won't need a map to find your house, just a truck.

10. Which we have 19,000 of, by the way—service vehicles, on the street, ready to go.

11. We maintain 600 permanent service facilities in the five-state region.

9. Our home turf.

12. We provide service for over 18 million access lines to homes and businesses.

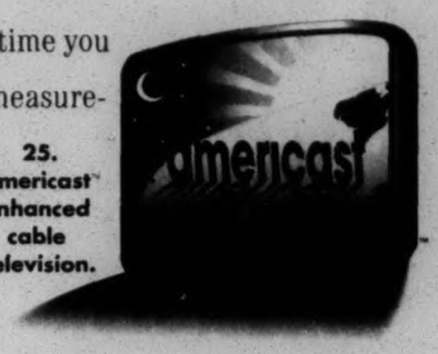
13. We've installed enough copper wire to stretch to the sun and back. (That's 186 million miles. Can we make it all the way to your new house? Probably.)

14. We've put down over a million miles of fiber optic cable.

15. We've installed 242,000 pay phones in the five-state area. So there is always one nearby.

16. We spent $3.5 billion improving the network. (We spent that much to make sure the next 35¢ you drop into a pay phone gets a dial tone.)

17. And you get that tone 99.9% of the time you pick up the phone. That's an independent measurement of the reliability of our network.



25. americast™ enhanced cable television.

18. We provide communications, connectivity and software solutions for more than 3,500 libraries around the world, including the New York Public Library and the Library of Congress.

19. We maintain a Human Factors Department that uses what we call Test Towns, where we test every new Ameritech product and service to make sure it's simple and easy to use before we offer it on the market.

20. We provide distance learning networks serving nearly 400 local schools, colleges, and universities. With distance learning, students and teachers who are miles apart can interact with each other just like they were in the same room.

21. Products like Caller ID With Name, which lets you know who's calling before you answer.

22. Ameritech cellular service for local and long distance calling.

23. Telephones. Yes, Ameritech actually sells phones, some with built-in screens for Caller ID. And you can order them over the phone (1-800-650-LINK) and have it charged to your phone bill.

7. Just one of our 60,000 employees.

24. We have over 1,000 employees who serve small business customers in the Midwest exclusively.

25. americast™ enhanced cable television service, which will soon be available featuring more programming choices and exciting new interactive capabilities.

26. Plus a free listing in the PagesPlus® directory and Yellow Pages.

That's the abbreviated list. There are more reasons for sticking with Ameritech, but they'll have to wait till we can run a bigger ad.

Stick with the one that works.

Cause marketing: Satisfy both your appetite and concern for the environment by purchasing candy bars slated for nature conservancy.

Candy bar buys will save dolphins

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER

Jon Stocking thinks chocolate is a great medium for a message.

That's why he's selling candy to raise money for endangered species.

Initially attracted by his original artwork featuring special animals on the front of the wrappers, customers at Merchant of Vino Marketplace in Troy, now buy the 40-year old entrepeneur's Endangered Species Chocolate Bars to do their part to ensure the existence of the wildlife threatened by pollution, habitat encroachment and illegal poaching.

According to manager Katrina Oestrick, sales are brisk of the six varieties, including the Dolphin and Black Bear Bars, $1.99.

"The packaging catches your eye and the fact that a portion of the proceeds goes to help endangered species makes it popular with our customers," she said.

Each bar is made from a special recipe consisting of different chocolate compounds combined with unusual ingredients such as cracked espresso beans. A former culinary arts student at Schoolcraft College in Livonia, Stocking created the bars to promote awareness of the potentially catastrophic problems facing the world today.

Made with all natural ingredients, the chocolate bars are hand poured and trimmed, then wrapped in recycled paper printed with soy-based inks. Statistics on the back of each wrapper educate as well as urge buyers to action for the sake of future generations.

At least 10 percent of the profits from the sales of the bars goes to various nonprofit animal welfare organizations including the Diane Fosse Gorilla Fund, Wildlife Images, and the American Cetacean Society so that wild animals "remain unfettered and unthreatened in their natural habitats."

Unable for many years to imagine what he could do to help endangered wildlife, Stocking eventually was inspired by a trip to the zoo. Now zoos from San Diego to Pittsburgh and Columbus carry the bars.

"The idea for it all started when I went to work on a tuna boat as a cook in the 1970s," said Stocking by phone from his Oregon office. "The dumpster was overflowing so I asked where I could dump the kitchen scraps. I was told, "in the ocean."

"The decks were littered with carcasses. Fishermen killed thousands of dolphins, pilot whales, sharks and sea turtles in the tuna nets. Years later, during a zoo trip, my daughter asked me why the elephants were tied up. I began telling her about the destruction of their habitats. When I finished, she asked me "Dad. what are you going to do about it?" We all become a little bit more reflective when we have children. I started thinking and came up with the idea for the chocolate bars."

Stocking produced trail mixes for five years under the name of the Rock Creek Nut Co. before creating the bars. The Dolphin Bar, which incorporates dried cherries into the chocolate, was first in the line followed by the Black Rhino, Brown Pelican, Polar Bear, and Manatee.

Stocking encourages schools and organizations to use the bars as tools for fund-raising. He says his career recently peaked when world-renowned researcher Jane Goodall called him from Connecticut to ask him to make a chimpanzee bar for The Jane Goodall Institute.

In addition to producing the bars with the help of 10 employees, Stocking frequently underwrites educational programs in classrooms, He uses the bars to attract attention while speaking to school children about the importance of habitat restoration and preservation as well as anti-poaching themes.

"What I always tell the children is if we save the habitat we save the species," said Stocking.

Seva Restaurant and Marketplace in Ann Arbor began stocking the bars two weeks ago. According to manager Tim Freehan, customers can't keep their hands off the Elephant, Tiger and Manatee Bars.

The bars are also available at the Whole Foods Market in Ann Arbor.

Somerset will be a new downtown

The hype around the new shopping center in Troy continues to grow as the Aug. 16 opening date draws near. Some 80 of 108 stores will be ready to go.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Somerset Collection developer Nathan Forbes addressed the media at a pre-opening hardhat tour last week, pointing out that the North addition, two years in the making, is opening on target Friday, Aug. 16.

He suggested the dual-sided shopping complex could be considered a new downtown, surrounded by businesses, and just one-quarter mile away from I-75.

Forbes said the mall hopes to serve the area's 4 1/2 million residents and "customers from an even wider, broader area."

"We believe the Somerset Collection will be one of the top five malls in the country in terms of exclusivity, architectural design, and sales per square foot," he said. "Forty percent of the stores are exclusive in the state of Michigan. (Compared with 60-percent at Somerset Collection South). The north stores will expand our levels and depths of merchandise. We looked hard at home and houseware stores, there will be three, and hard at health and beauty aid stores, there will be five. We did not want to dilute what we established on the south side."

Architect James Ryan commented on the look of the place.

"We set a tradition here (at the Somerset Collection) and carried it on across the street. The mall's layout follows what we jokingly called the dumbbell plan, simple as it can be, from department store to department store with no confusion to the customer. The catch words were beautiful, spirited, elegant."

Marketing director Sally Victor said the Cranbrook Educational Community in Bloomfield Hills served as the inspiration for many of Somerset's hallmarks – the mankato stone, Cranbrook brick, skylight iron work, sculptures, and Peacock Cafes, whose name was borrowed from the bird's presence at the Saarinen House.

Forbes said the three-level mall was considered to be a risky undertaking by retailers who said busy shoppers can't take the time to visit a second level, yet alone a third.

"But we made the third level our hottest level," Forbes insisted. "Disney's up there with the Warner Bros. Studio Store, the food court, Osh Kosh, Baby Gap, the music and video stores and FAO Schwarz and the Barbie Boutique," he said.

Special effects dazzle at Fash Bash

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Fash Bash '96 will go down in history as "the one when RuPaul was late."

The entertainer's flight was delayed out of LaGuardia and the performance was held for an hour until the star got to town and into "costume", which one insider claimed "takes him a couple of hours."

The 27th annual benefit for the Detroit Art Institute, co-sponsored by the Founder's Junior Council and Hudson's, sold-out. The pre-show auction party at the State Theater produced $136,000 for museum acquisitions, "almost a record," according to Diane Abel, associate director of development.

"Combined with the ticket proceeds, we're up to our goal of $400,000," she said. Museum director Sam Sachs said Fash Bash is the DIA's biggest fund-raiser each year.

The hour-long theatrical presentation is typically the city's first look at the fall/winter fashions from Hudson's. But this year, the production's emphasis was more on theatrics, than fashion. Many ticket holders were left without any sense of the season's styles.

"I don't even remember seeing any fashions," said Roberta Dunaway of Beverly Hills, after the show. "It was all so surreal and artsy. All I can remember is a girl in a blue pantsuit and lots of mannequins in body suits."

PHOTOS BY JERRY ZOLYNSKY

Thomas Peters of Southfield agreed.

"I thought the special effects were fantastic, the people moving through the air, the use of the big screen videos, the multiple stage levels, but I didn't really see any clothing I would want to buy."

Jeannie Dooley of Westland summed it up this way, "It was a wild show. Very cool. Fash Bash enters the Twilight Zone."

Special musical performances included RuPaul singing "Come On In," Cynthia Johnson reinterpreting "Funky Town," Bob Scoggin with his one-man band, and Francine Roche performing a romantic French song. Dance sequences were presented by Ballet of the Dolls of Minneapolis.

Guests appearances included walk-ons by Detroit Police Chief Ike MacKinnon, Piston Joe Dumars and TV2 anchor Sherry Margolis.

Fash Bash '96 consisted of seven scenes in and around a department store, connected by the commentary of a "poet", who tried to teach the confused protagonist Helene, "that things aren't always what they seem."

Scene Three gave the crowd RuPaul, who and the M.A.C. Viva Glam Couture Colour Gowns, a collection in the color of brick. This year RuPaul and singer K.D. Lang co-chair the M.A.C. cosmetics AIDS fund with a goal of $10 million for AIDS education, awareness and support services.

During his curtain call, RuPaul said he was thrilled to perform at the Fox Theatre and be in the home town of his idol, Diana Ross. He urged the crowd to "Go out and give love to somebody."

Some of the more unique auction prizes this year included a photo sitting with Ameen Howrani (complete with a teddy bear made by Gov. John Engler's mother and signed by the governor,) tickets to the taping of Tim Allen's Home Improvement Show, an evening with the Detroit Mayor Archer and his wife at the Rattlesnake Club, and a private suite for 24 at a Tiger's game.

Ponderous Plot

It was a trip to the 13th Floor of a department store most shoppers would never want to make. When the elevator opened, out stepped the fairies with glowing gowns (at left) and RuPaul (below) spokesman (woman) for M.A.C. Cosmetics, a sponsor of the show. The final word: Fall/winter fashions have arrived at Hudson's and anything goes this season!

CARNIVAL CUTS KIDS BENEFIT

All haircuts will be $10 with complete proceeds going to the hospital. Owners, the Dagher Family, urge you to make time to get your family's haircuts while helping out children and their families deal with severe illness. They decided to hold the hair-cut-a-thon in gratitude for the care their infant daughter received, recovering fully from a heart problem, when the diagnosis was grim. The couple stayed at the Ronald McDonald House for two weeks while doctors from Children's Hospital worked to save their daughter. Carnival Cuts welcomes inquires at (810) 380-3030.

STILL PLENTY OF MALL JOBS OPEN

The news is old, but it continues to plague the retailers opening at the Somerset Collection North: a shortage of employees. The Capital Grille manager said his company typically interviews 2,500 people per new steak house opening, but in Troy, he barely interviewed 200. To assist its new tenants, mall owners Forbes/Cohen, hired Amy Katz to head a job bank service. She is collecting resumes and welcomes inquiries at (810) 643-6360.

In August, shoppers are invited to see the work of watercolor artists Peg Felice and Dick Basten at Summit Place, and Constance Cothron and Henryke Olbrot at Great Oaks.

BENEFIT SETS A RECORD

Senior Olympic standouts

It's an Olympic year, so perhaps it comes as no surprise that the Michigan Senior Olympics proved to be the biggest ever.

More than 1,100 athletes, all age 50 or over, competed during the six-day extravaganza (July 9-14) at Macomb Community College in 10 age divisions, ranging in age from 50 to 95. More than 500 qualified for the U.S. National Senior Sports Organization's Senior Sports Classic VI, which will be next May in Tuscon.

Among the local standouts was Jerry Gawura of Canton, who collected five first-place finishes and one third, and Leroy Nelson of Canton, who had three firsts.

Three of Gawura's wins came in individual events: the 75-79 women's shot put (19-feet, 10.5-inches), the 75-79 javelin throw (49-6) and the 75-79 discus (53-11).

In team events, she teammed with Joan Jasin, also from Canton, to place first in the 65 and over division in softball and in the 70 and over division in volleyball. In six-person bounce volleyball, the pair teammed for a third in the 60 and over division.

Nelson's wins came in the men's 55-59 division 50-meter breaststroke (50.63), the 50 butterfly (48.18) and the 50 freestyle (34.41).

Others who performed exceptionally were Dave Thomas of Canton, who was first in the men's 50-54 shuffleboard singles and was second in the long jump (12-4.5); William Hall of Plymouth, who was first in the 70-74 men's 5,000-meter race walk (33:52.00) and was second in the1,500 race walk (9:08.6); John Grigaitis of Plymouth, who was first in the men's 50-54 volleyball, and Joseph Barberio of Canton, who was a winner in the men's 54-59 volleyball; Rose Augugliard of Canton, was finished second in the women's 65-69 10-kilometer cycling (23:22.99), the 20-K cycling (52:48.00), and the 5-K cycling (11:08.40); Ed Andrysiak of Plymouth, who was second in the men's 80-and-over 5-K road race (43:25.00); Kenneth Dersey of Plymouth, Jack Williams of Plymouth and Herman Witt of Canton, who combined for a second in the men's 50-54 basketball; Anne Spencer of Plymouth, who was third in the women's 60-64 1,500 race walk (10:59.00), the 400 run (2:06.90), the 5,000 race walk (38:38.90), and the 100 dash (20.30); Virgil Norgrove of Plymouth, who was third in the men's 55-59 bowling doubles with a 1,204 score; and Arthur Gerish of Plymouth, who took a third in the men's 65-69 basketball.

The Power Rangers, a group of Plymouth/Canton hoopsters, made a successful trip to the Port Huron Gus Macker 3-on-3 Basketball Tournament last weekend (July 26-28).

The Rangers did not lose a game in the boys 15-16 age division to claim top honors. The team members were Andy Power, Matt Mair and Bhavin Patel, all of Plymouth Salem, and Bryan Lake, of Plymouth Canton.

Soccer winners

Mold finish off a perfect league season

SOFTBALL

The Motor City Mold, hardly challenged by anyone throughout the Incredible Girls Fastpitch Softball League, found themselves entangled in a bit of a battle last Thursday when they faced the Livonia Lancers.

Still, it proved to be one of those close-but-not-quite situations, with the Mold managing to subdue the Lancers in the opener of their doubleheader, 4-3.

The nightcap was less of a challenge -- and more of a typical game for the unbeaten Mold, who won easily, 10-2.

Extra-base power and solid pitching carried the Mold in the opener. Gretchen Hudson worked five innings, allowing six hits and six walks while striking out six.

The difference: A two-run triple by Jenny Sikora, a run-scoring double by Kristin Witt, and doubles by Angela Litwin and Sarah Freels.

There was plenty of extra-base power in the second game, too, although it wasn't as necessary. Nikki Kovachevich blasted a two-run home run and Witt unloaded a three-run triple.

Sikora had two hits, including a triple, and both Amber LaGrow and Karen Dougher collected two hits and a run batted in.

The beneficiary of all this firepower was Sarah Carson, who pitched all seven innings, surrendering eight hits but no walks.

The double-triumph improved the Mold's record to 22-0 in the league.

The league will host its two all-star games tonight at City Park in Farmington, located on Shiawasee near Farmington Road.

The younger stars will play at 6 p.m. Those chosen from the Mold will play in the 8 p.m. game.

That list includes: Amy LaGrow, Amber LaGrow, Kovachevich, Sikora, Tara Biro, Litwin and Carson.

Playoff surprises

Lakers knock off 1st-place Falcons

What does a team have to do to dominate in this league? If an answer is found, please present it to the regular-season champs, who never seem to fare well in the playoffs.

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR

The Metro Summer Hockey League playoffs were, as predicted, unpredictable.

On Thursday, that pattern was followed perfectly when the Lakers, who finished third in the Bakes Conference, upended the first-place Falcons, 8-6, at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

In the MSHL's other semifinal Thursday, the Broncos - who had struggled mightily through the last half of the regular season, losing three of their last four games -- scored eight-consecutive goals to best the Bulldogs, 9-6, at Canfield Arena in Dearborn.

Which means the league championship, scheduled for last Sunday at Plymouth, featured the Broncos -- who finished second in the Eagle Conference by a single goal when they beat the Wolverines 11-10 in the last 10 seconds of their final regular-season game -- against the Bakes' third-place team, the Lakers.

The champion has earned the right to travel to Houghton to play that league's champion in a two-game series this weekend (Saturday and Sunday).

Favored Falcons falter

In the Bakes Conference final, the first-place Falcons (10-2 coming into the game) were heavy favorites over the Lakers (3-6-3), on the strength of two regular-season wins -- by scores of 5-4 and 11-4.

But a strong second period was the difference for the Lakers. Goals by Ron Pietila, Vic Decina and Bobby Jones broke a 2-2 tie and allowed the underdogs to carry a 5-2 advantage into the final period.

Another Jones' goal early in the third increased the Laker lead to 6-2. The Falcons did rally, scoring four of the next five goals to narrow the gap to 7-6. Mike Klinger's marker with 1:42 to play gave the Falcons a chance, but a second Decina goal, scored into an empty net with 1:08 remaining, iced it for the Lakers.

Decina finished with two goals and four assists, while Jones had two goals and three assists. Ron Pietila totaled a goal and an assist, with Jim Pietila, Paolo Decina and Steve Jones getting one goal apiece.

The Falcons got two goals and three assists from Jesse Hubenschmidt, one goal and four assists from David Scott, and single goals from Troy Taylor, Brian Calka and Klinger.

Rickey Marnon started in goal for the Lakers, allowing two goals. Shawn Miller played the last half of the game and surrendered four goals.

For the Falcons, Jason Hubenschmidt started in the net, with Thomas Taylor relieving midway through the second period. Each allowed four goals (one empty-netter).

Eagle final turnaround

The Broncos-Bulldogs clash was more a battle for domination, with the 'Dogs owning the first 20 minutes while building a 6-1 lead.

Brent Thomas and Ben Blackwood scored twice and assisted on one each in the Bulldog surge, with Dustin Sventy getting one goal and three assists and Jack McCoy adding a goal and two assists.

But in the middle of the second period, the tide turned -- dramatically.

Darren Hands, who had assisted on the Broncos' first-period goal scored by Brent Bessey, got things started with his first of three goals at 7:34 of the second period. Hands finished with three goals and two assists; Bessey collected three goals and four assists, and Brian Consolino had two goals and four assists.

Bill Trainor got the other Bronco goal, to go with two assists, and Daryl Schimmelpfenneg had five assists.

After a shaky start, John Trainor turned in a solid performance in goal for the Broncos. Jordan McCormack and J.J. Weaks divided time in goal for the 'Dogs, allowing nine goals (two empty-netters).

Champs crowned in O&E tourney

TENNIS

BY JIM TOTH
STAFF WRITER

They may not have been the most smashing forehands or backhands ever delivered on the tennis courts, but they were undoubtedly some of the most enjoyable.

With 118 boys and girls giving it their all Monday and Tuesday at the Cranbrook Tennis Club in Bloomfield Hills, this year's Novice Tennis Tournament, co-sponsored by the Cranbrook Tennis Club and The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, was yet another "successful story," according to tournament director Don Brown.

"We didn't have a tourney last year (due to renovations of the Cranbrook courts), so the most satisfying part of this tournament was seeing the improvement in a lot of these kids after two years," said Brown, who in cooperation with the O&E, organized the tournament back in 1988. "It was interesting to see their growth and ability level."

This year's tourney, the eighth overall, crowned a host of champions and runners-up in age divisions from 10 to 16.

Kevin Hurley, David Denzel and Drew Palmer were champions in boys 12 competition and David Szachta, Matt Ahern, Rohan Shetty, Sean Healey, Andrew Dollas, Eric

Atlanta's hot, but our state's got big bass action

OUTDOOR INSIGHTS

BILL PARKER

Bass, bass and more bass. That's what I missed here in Michigan last week while taking in some of the Centennial Olympic action in "Hotlanta," Georgia.

With temperatures hovering in the upper 90s and a heat index of 105 degrees, the climate in Atlanta was as hot as the competition. But judging from the mail and messages I received last week while I was gone, it seems bass were producing the hottest action around here.

Red Man results

David Reault and Ed Dietrich of Livonia and Chuck Economou of Lake Orion all placed in the top 10 of the recent Red Man Michigan Division qualifier on Lake Muskegon.

Reault had the best finish of the trio, placing fifth in the 131-angler field. Fishing grubs, spoons and spinner bait in the main lake Reault landed four bass which tipped the scale at 10-pounds, 12-ounces. He received $394 for his efforts.

Economou earned $306 for a seventh-place finish with five bass, which weighed 10-pounds, 1-ounce. Dietrich finished ninth with four bass, which weighed 8-pounds, 4-ounces. He earned $200.

On top of the cash stipends, Reault, Economou and Dietrich also earned valuable points in the race to qualify for the Red Man Regional. At the conclusion of six Michigan Division qualifiers the top 30 anglers, based on a combination of pounds of fish caught and points accumulated, advance to the regional tournament. At the regional they will compete against the top 30 anglers from three other divisions for a spot in the prestigious Red Man All-American where the winner will receive $100,000.

For information on upcoming Red Man events call (502) 362-8110.

Tri-State results

Kevin Lamb of Bloomfield Hills and Scott Dobson of Port Austin teamed up to place fifth in a Tri-State Tournament Trail bass tournament, July 20 on Lake St. Clair. They earned $500 for their finish.

Despite high winds and rough waters, Lamb and Dobson outfished 134 of the 139 teams competing. Their seven-fish creel tipped the scale at 14.23-pounds.

There are three remaining dates on the Tri-State Tournament Trail including the next stop, Aug. 25 on Muskegon Lake. Tri-State competition concludes Oct. 2-5 with the Classic Tournament of Champions.

"Oakland Bass Masters raised $1,200 last year which was used to purchase toys for children to help them through their difficult time in the hospital," said tournament director Roy Randolph. "We hope we can raise even more for them this year, but initial response has been slow."

Raffle tickets are $1 each. Anyone who donates a toy worth $5 or more (no stuffed animals please) will receive five free raffle tickets. Raffle prizes include a Minn Kota trolling motor, a Humminbird Wide 100 fish finder, Plano tackle boxes with tackle and much more.

CC grad Sabo lacks bat control; Taormina has USOC fuming

BRAD EMONS

Apparently industrial arts wasn't Chris Sabo's strongest class when he attended Redford Catholic Central High during the late 1970s.

Good old "Spuds," the darling of the Cincinnati Reds' 1990 World Series Championship quest, got caught early last week corking his bat after it splintered into pieces during a game against Houston.

No pun intended, but the third baseman got caught Red-handed after it was discovered his lethal weapon, worth about .260 these days, was found to be hollow.

Sabo, who claimed he needs help changing a lightbulb, laughed all the way into the dugout after being ejected by the home plate umpire.

Maybe it's no laughing matter now for the former Michigan standout, who is appealing a seven-game suspension from the National League and stands to lose $25,000 in fines.

And word has it that Reds manager Ray Knight, who was in the hospital that night undergoing tests, thought it wasn't funny either.

The Sabo has enjoyed a productive Major League career, but now he's trying to hang on as a utility player after stops in Baltimore, the White Sox, and St. Louis.

Injuries have also taken its toll on the 34-year-old, who has lost a step or two.

I suggest he audition for a spot on TV sitcom, Home Improvement, maybe let Tim Allen take a night off.

Or maybe he can write a book with Bob Vila, the master craftsman.

Sabo also may be able to extend his career, becoming commissioner of a corkball league.

He can provide the bats, the only thing missing are the balls.

Don't worry Sheila

Reebok or Nike? Speedo or Champion?

Things must have been so simple for the Greeks, but now the Olympics are becoming big business.

It seems major companies can't butt out the personal lives of our beloved Olympians, just as Livonia gold medal swimmer Sheila Taormina learned recently, who caught hell recently from an unidentified U.S.O.C. official.

It was reported that Taormina committed a cardinal sin when she wore the wrong warm-up suit while being interviewed recently by CNN about her winning 800-meter freestyle relay effort.

Donning Speedo instead of the official Champion warm-up, which paid mega bucks to outfit the U.S. squads, Taormina was warned to start dressing properly or have her medaled confiscated.

Platform diver Mary Ellen Clark, a bronze medalist, accidentally wore the wrong warm-up on the medal podium and was threatened by the U.S.O.C. as well to the point that she would have her prize money garnished.

It was certainly an honest mistake, so what's the big deal guys?

Does anybody on TV actually notice what kind of warm-ups everybody is wearing? I couldn't tell you the difference between the two.

Maybe a call to George Steinbrenner is in order.

Anyway, wasn't Nike's Michael Jordan the one who draped an American flag over himself to cover the official Reebok warm-up during the gold medal ceremonies in Barcelona?

So don't feel so bad Sheila, even after that terrible scolding you took that reportedly brought you to tears.

Even God's gift to basketball can't stand up to corporate America.

Anyway, the burning question I'm dying to ask our hometown gold medalist is: Why were you wearing a darker suit than the other three girls?

Was that material Speedo or Champion?

Ice shavings

In case you missed it, Livonia native Mike Donnelly is now a New York Islander, while Westland product Mike Modano signed with Dallas again for a reported $2.95 million covering one year.

If you're keeping track of your local icers, two Livonians are property of the San Jose Sharks, Chris Tancill and Al Iafrate (via Boston).

It's tough keeping up with all the off-season moves in the National Hockey League, particularly when they're overshadowed by the NBA.

Olympic bests

My top 5 highlights of the Olympics:

1. Sheila Taormina's prelim swim.
2. Sheila Taormina's finals swim.
3. Heavyweight wrestler Kurt Angle beating the Iranian on a referee's decision for the gold medal.
4. Dan O'Brien gutting out the 1,500 to win the decathlon.
5. Some guy with gold shoes named Johnson winning the 200.

Top 5 Olympic lowlights.

1. Too much diving and gymnastics and not enough yachting and equestrian.
2. No ocean for beach volleyball.
3. George Steinbrenner petitioning for Cccil Fielder to throw the hammer.
4. Carl Lewis filling that empty 400 relay spot instead of Bob "Bullet" Hayes.
5. Women's Dream Team pressing poor Zaire with a minute left and a 60-point lead.

Tennis from page 1C

Arnold, Brandon Kakos and Kenneth Rodrigues came in runners-up.

Tim Denzel was a winner in boys 16, while David Cavellero and Luciane Gonzalez finished runners-up.

In girls competition, Heidi Dreyfuss and Claudia Acevedo emerged champions in 10-year-old play, Lisa Corbelli took the top spot in the 12-year-old division, Stephanie Springer was No. 1 in the 14-year-old group and Angela Bozzo finished ahead of the pack in 16-year-old play.

Runners-up included Amy Burke, Christian Tara, Haley Dreyfuss and Stephanie Hamilton in 10, Lindsay Rubin and Caroline Hopkins in 12, Kelly Mullkoff and Linda Andrews in 14 and Katie O'Neil in 16.

"It's great to hear the kids say how much they loved it and can't wait to come back and do it again next year," Brown said. "This was another success story, but one that couldn't be possible without great help from a lot of volunteers."

Brown strongly praised the efforts of Mercedes Lichwart, Jan Kriegel, Si Bouyer, Brad Fisher, Paul Yee and daughter Kathy Yee, Vince Morales, Katie Lavoie, Shannon Howell, Nathan Edmunds, Al Must, Darrell Forintos, Art Hiscox and the Bloomfield Surf Club, Steve Horn and the staff at Birmingham Athletic Club, Jim Hunt and son Ryan Hunt of the Birmingham Tennis Club, Jeff Stassen and assistants Troy Thompson, Tracy Slavinsky and James Myrick of the Cranbrook Day Camp and Allen Read and the Academy Racquet Club.

Brown said a special thanks goes out to David Schwartz of The Tennis Company for the donation of tennis balls.

Proceeds from the event go to the Michigan High School Tennis Coaches Association for junior tennis development and the Hall of Fame fund.

Gavie, senior, league meetings highlight card

TEN-PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

What a busy time of year it is for bowling enthusiasts.

Not only will the Bowling Expo visit the Gibraltar Trade Center North Aug. 9-11, but the John Gavie Tournament will celebrate its 60th anniversary at Thunderbowl Lanes in Allen Park Aug. 19, and the PBA Senior Tour rolls into Century Lanes in Waterford Aug. 17-22.

Also this month, the GDBA and DWBA will be conducting league officers clinics, complete with manual, rulebooks and other needed materials.

Various bowling centers will hold league meetings in which representatives of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission will be pesent to explain the situation regarding jackpots and mystery games and how these laws will be enforced.

The National Senior Bowling Association will hold its Labor Day Classic Aug. 30 at Century Bowl and a PBA regional event will be held Aug. 9-11 at Colonial Lanes in Ann Arbor.

■ The big issue affecting many league bowlers is the fact that the Michigan Liquor Control Commission has come on the scene to enforce laws regarding gambling on the premises where alcoholic beverages are sold.

The enforcement division has made it clear that action will be taken to investigate all complaints and take sanctions against licensees who violate or allow patrons to violate the law.

In a letter to the Bowling Centers Association of Michigan, Ms. Ronalee M. Polad, regional supervisor for the MLCC's Enforcement Division, states "any game that meets the three criteria of gambling is illegal in a liquor licensed establishment." The "three criteria" include consideration (something must be paid to participate), chance (there is a random chance associated with winning) and a prize for winning.

Polad further states "any game based on skill is not considered gambling and is legal, such as eliminations, jackpots and league tournaments. Any game that has a random chance of a player being able to use his skill is gambling and considered illegal. An example would be the mystery game, red pin bowling or a card game. In each of these there is an element of chance."

This means that we can no longer have mystery games, progressive mystery games or strike ball where a ticket must be purchased for an opportunity to win.

The 50/50 drawings are also affected. However, the league may conduct a 50/50 as long as the total payout does not exceed $99 in any one league session. Some bowling centers, such as Bowl One in Troy, have designed new types of jackpots where a bowler has to throw a strike in a designated frame in order to win.

According to Bill Strike, Bowl One general manager, the game meets the criteria of the MLCC and considered legal.

■ Let's all go to the "Bowling Expo 96" at the Gibraltar Trade Center North in Mount Clemens. The shows have always been worthwhile with new products on display and bargains in equipment.

Admission is $1.50 per car.

To get there take I-94 east to the North River Road exit and follow the signs about a quarter mile west. Hours Friday are from noon to 9 p.m., Saturday 9 a.m.-9 p.m. and Sunday 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

■ The John Gavie Tournament is the traditional kick-off to the new bowling season. The opening ceremonies for this team event will take place at 7 p.m. and feature top teams from the metro Detroit area. The event has a long and storied past, according to Gavie, 89, longtime "Goodwill Ambassador" of bowling in the Detroit area.

"It all started at old South Eastern Recreation where we staged a dress rehearsal for the All-Stars, Gavie said. "I have been blessed to be around such great stars and great sponsors in the metro Detroit area. Detroit is truly the "Bowling Capital of the World."

There is still time to send in your entry in either Men's, Ladies' or Seniors' events. For more information, call (313) 928-4688.

n If you are in the "Zone," you might want to come in from the "Storm" or just get away from the "Big Bad Wolf," which might be about the same as a "Lion" or getting in a "Quake" or "Tremor" or "Aftershock." These are just some of the names used on the latest batch of bowling balls to hit the market.

The ball you are presently using might be perfectly fine, but if your opponent has better equipment, he or she may have some advantage. The best thing to do is visit your local pro shop and find the latest equipment and that best-suited for your game.

According to Ryan Wilson, proprietor of the Pro Am Bowling & Trophy Sales in Livonia, there are a lot of new balls out there which have more hook potential due to weight block design and surface material.

The latest entry in the market is Ebonite's "Wolf." It is said to hook very hard at the back end, similar to the very popular Brunswick "Danger Zone."

These products are priced beginning at $165. The new "Quantum" balls, including the "Sage" range in price from $220 to $250. It is not necessary to spend that much for a quality ball, though there are many fine pieces in the $105 to $130 range. Those include the Brunswick "Rhino Pro" series, available in urethane or reactive resin models. The "RU" could be the best with its three-piece reactive resin for good hooking potential.

Ebonite has some hot models in the same price range like the "Black Panther" or the "Turbo A." The Omega series is priced higher, but has more hook potential such as the "Lion" model.

Columbia 300 produces a fine array of equipment, all named after geological disasters, for their hitting power. They offer the "Quake," "Tremor" and "Aftershock," all in the $170 to $190 price range.

The Cuda C remains a popular ball for its solid hitting power. Some of the lesser known companies such as Storm Inc. have a fine ball called the "Pacific Storm," which similarly to the "Tremor," is priced around $130.

Track Inc. offers the new "Synergy," a good bet for higher scoring. For the budget conscious bowler, there are still a lot of good performing balls at lower prices such as Ebonite's "Turbo C" and Columbia's "Beast."

Most pro shops include expert fitting and drilling with the purchase of a new ball. Grips are usually extra. There are many more balls to choose from so let your pro shop operator give you his best advice and get you ready for the new season.

■ All sanctioned league officers will have the opportunity to attend the GDBA and DWBA officers workshops this month. All league officers will receive the pre-printed sanction cards, new rule books, a league officer manual, score record-keeping sheets and schedule guides. There will also be a question and answer session.

The workshop schedule for ladies leagues will be Aug. 8 from 2-7 p.m. at Thunderbowl Lanes in Allen Park and Aug. 14 from 2-7 p.m. at Ark Sterling Lanes in Sterling Heights. The men's leagues will hold workshops Aug. 12 from 3-7:30 p.m. at Thunderbowl, Aug. 14 from 3-7:30 p.m. at Troy Lanes and Aug. 22 from 3-7:30 p.m. at Ark Sterling.

Officers of mixed leagues may attend any of the meetings. The new 24-page league Officers Manual, prepared by the ABC and WIBC, is expanded from previous manuals with all information needed for league operations.

While the organizations want leagues to be independent and adopt rules they feel best suit the needs of their operations, a complete list of suggested league rules is included in the manual. Each sanctioned league will receive one of the manuals in its kit to share with other officers. In addition to the rules, responsibilities for all officers on how to conduct elections and meetings managing funds, tax information, sample forms, tips on operation successful leagues, earning and presenting awards and a directory of bowling organizations will be available.

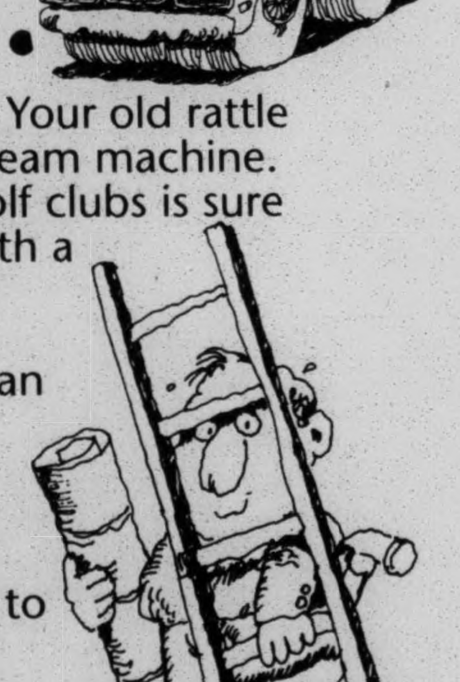
How to make money in three easy steps.

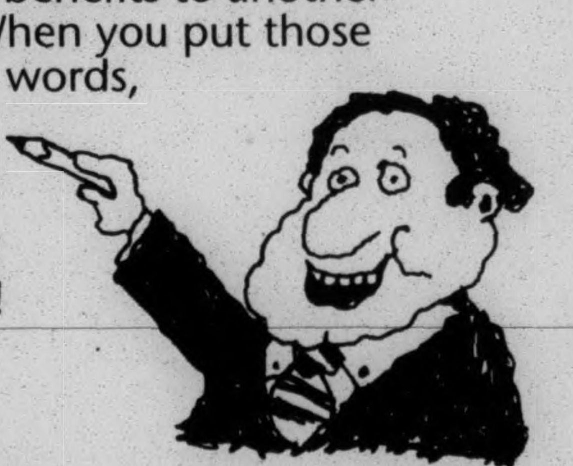
Step 1.

Sell a solution! Your old rattle trap is a teen's dream machine. That old set of golf clubs is sure to be a big hit with a beginner. Here's the point: Your former treasure can bring another pleasure. And if you've got a skill to market or service you'd like to provide–there's someone looking for you in classified.



Step 2.

Aim for an audience. After you've selected a solution for another to seize, bring that person to life. Think about your product or service and its original value to you, then detail its features and benefits to another individual. When you put those benefits into words, other like you will find value too. And that's of value to you!



Step 3.

Contact classified. Give us a call. You'll cash in on the speed and effectiveness of the dynamic classified marketplace. LeSabre gets a new look for 1997

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti NewsFeatures

This car has class. Or, should I say it's classic.

The 1997 Buick LeSabre has a new exterior design and is loaded with improvement on the safety and comfort side.

It's also the first 1997 model available in dealer showrooms right now.

It has been since January, as a matter of fact.

This is a true touring car, one that's perfect for long, cross-country trips. The suspension is remarkable. Run over a chuckhole and it feels like you ran over a pebble.

The redesigned seats have something to do with that, of course. They're really comfortable.

The exterior has that familial Buick look, but almost everything has been changed. This isn't a minor sheetmetal change. This is change that makes sense.

The new grill, which is incorporated right into the hood, looks smart. There are new front and rear fascias with individual "Buick" letters embossed in the rear. There are new headlamps and cornering lamps that feature fixed lenses, aluminum housing and easier-than-usual adjustment mechanism.

ROAD TEST By Anne Fracassa

Even the park, turn and side marker lamps, complete with its sleek wraparound design, are new for the LeSabre.

The LeSabre carries six with ease. Buick outfitted the car with the powerful 3800 Series II sequential port fuel injected V6 engine mated to an electronically controlled 4-speed transmission that nets a comfortable 205 horsepower.

Best news of all is that this engine gets around 19 miles to the gallon in the city and 30 on the highway on regular — not premium — unleaded gas.

Safety has not been put on the back burner in the new LeSabre. Some of the changes are simple, but translate into a lot. Like the safety belt release buttons being relocated to the end of the buckle for ease of use.

Or the fact the LeSabre surpasses the government's dynamic side-impact standards. Dual air bags, anti-lock brakes, air conditioning, power windows, rear-window defogger and the PASS-Key II anti-theft system are all standard equipment on the LeSabre as well.

Like most vehicles, the LeSabre has engine coolant and platinum-tipped spark plugs that don't need changing until you hit 100,000 miles. And the transmission fluid doesn't require changing — under normal operating conditions.

OBD II — the new on-board diagnostic system — is on the new LeSabre. OBD II can reduce exhaust emissions by locating malfunctions before they cause emissions to rise. Don't ignore the "service" light — higher emissions temps can cause you to lose your catalytic converter prematurely.

An option on the LeSabre Custom, but standard on the Limited, is Personal Choice. Activated by the remote keyless entry fob, Personal Choice allows two drivers, with separate fobs, to "set" the car to their preference. You can set memory door locks, delayed locking security feedback and perimeter lighting.

Other features on the LeSabre include delayed entry and exit lighting, theater dimming interior lights, battery rundown protection, lockout protection on power door locks and warning chimes when you leave the parking brake on. Those annoying warning chimes are also activated when you leave the turn signal or headlamps on and for leaving the keys in the ignition when leaving the car.

Buick's added a new exterior color this year: A really pretty Teal. The LeSabre is no longer offered in black, however. It wasn't a popular color.

The LeSabre isn't fancy, it isn't stunning, it isn't even sporty. But it's a practical car that screams comfort and luxury. Maybe that's why it's been the best-selling full-size sedan for the past four years straight.

1997 Buick LeSabre
Vehicle class: Full-size sedan.
Engine: 3800 Series II SFI V6.
Mileage: 19 city / 30 highway.
Where built: Flint, Mich.
Price: $22,015 for the Custom; $25,565 for the Limited. Plus destination charge of $605.

Finding The World's Greatest Wagon

(NAPS) – It's definitely time to buy a larger car. The family is growing right out of your compact car or you've decided now that the kids are all off to college, it's time for that drive around the country that you've always promised yourselves. Or your weekend hobby of buying antique requires more car space to transport those treasures.

But what kind of car should you buy? If a minivan seems a little too large for your needs or may be hard to park in your parking space, you might consider a wagon.

No longer the road warrior that was used by moms in rollers to drive their commuting husband to the train station, wagon designs have been updated for modern families on the move.

Newer wagons are as sleek as sedans and may be the perfect solution for the car buyer seeking space, comfort and style.

Most people think of wagons as roomy, reliable and roadworthy, but the newest wagons like the 1996 Ford Taurus and Mercury Sable wagons are also stylish, luxurious and fitted with the latest safety features.

When buying a wagon, it's wise to carefully research what's available. Here are some features that are now standard to the wagon:

- Advanced V-6 engines. The newest is a high performance, 3.0-liter, 24 valve DOHC V-6 Duratec.
- A three-stage air filtration system that keeps airborne dust, pollen and diesel particles from entering the passenger compartment.
- A safety engineering system made up of a protective impact-absorbing body structure, intregrated 5-mph bumpers, rear door child safety latch and dual air bag supplemental restraint system.
- Optional seating for eight, with a patented center console that converts to a center front seat.

There's no substitute for first-hand experience. When considering a wagon, get behind the wheel and take it for a drive. Try getting into and out of the passenger seats. See what it's like to load in some cargo.

The wagons offer durability, reliability, value, as well as dramatic good looks. Taurus and Sable will complement Ford's segment-leading wagon lineup, which also includes Ford Escort and Mercury Tracer wagons.
