ROAD MONEY:

Not enough to do the job, official says

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN STAFF WRITER

You pay county property taxes, and you expect some of the money to be used to fix the roads, right?

What many people don't realize is that county property taxes don't go for road construction projects. Road money comes from federal grants funded by the federal gas tax and state funds from fees such as gas and weight taxes.

County road officials say that funding isn't enough and hasn't been for years.

"In fact, there is just not enough money today," said Russell A. Gronevelt, assistant county executive and director of pub-

A hole in road funding hasn't been filled: "We've been living on a fixed income since 1984," he said.

The state gas tax was capped at 15 cents in 1984. If the original formula had been allowed to work, today the gas tax would be about 20 cents a gallon, and about $1.4 billion of revenue would already be invested in the road system, Gronevelt said.

Gronevelt is among those people who favor an increase in the state gas tax to fund road repairs. "If people had a say they'd make roads a higher priority," he said.

But some officials think the road funding system should be revamped. Wayne County Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, favors rewriting Act 51, which legislates state road funding, to have road

Mayflower project to start

After the Plymouth Ice Spectacular in January, work is scheduled to begin on a renovation project officials say they hope will turn around the fortunes of the Mayflower Hotel, a downtown landmark.

BY KEVIN BROWN

Work on a $2 million project to renovate the Mayflower Hotel downtown is slated to start in January.

Hotel general manager Matt Karmo told city officials last week construction, to begin after the Plymouth Ice Spectacular, will take six to eight months.

Work should be completed by early fall, so a grand opening can happen in time for the Thanksgiving-Christmas season.

Karmo announced he'd seek bank financing for the renovation project more than a year ago. A major renovation was needed, he said, for the hotel to survive.

"It was a big challenge, and really it's a big relief," he said Tuesday.

"I'm very, very excited about the whole thing, I never expected it to take so long," he said. The Mayflower renovation, said Downtown Development Authority Director Steve Guile, "is probably the most exciting thing to happen in the downtown for many years.'

Guile ranked it on a par with the downtown streetscape improvement program.

"The commitment on the part of the owners of the hotel is very encouraging for the continued growth of the downtown area," he said. "The city's put in a lot of money, and now that business owners have a very picturesque down-town they should step up to the plate and make some investments in their areas too, to make downtown the destination spot it can be."

Karmo said it's too early to decide if the hotel restaurant, bar and meeting rooms will remain open during renovation. "Definitely the rooms will be open, the rest will depend on how the contractor likes to approach it."

The hotel project is moving along well," Mayor Ron Loiselle reported at the city commission meeting Mon-

Test scores put Plymouth kids near the top

The numbers are in, and Plymouth-Canton Community Schools officials are pleased with scores on the new high school proficiency test and the Michigan Educational Assessment Program exams.

In metropolitan Detroit, only Bloomfield Hills, Grosse Pointe and Birmingham scored higher than Plymouth-Canton on the proficiency test. The district didn't fare as well on the MEAP, but still surpassed the state average.

On the mathematics portion of the proficiency test, 71.5 percent of last year's juniors at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park achieved a "proficient" rating. Proficient is defined as exceeding cut-off levels set by the state Board of Education and qualifying for a "state-endorsed" diploma.

In reading, 60.7 percent scored in the proficient range. In writing, 55.4 percent of Plymouth-Canton students were proficient. In science, 52.3 percent were proficient. Students taking the brand new test were nervous at the outset, but happy with the outcome.

I was proud to see we did so well," said Salem High School senior Angie Smith. "West Bloomfield and Grosse Pointe scored higher, but look at all the money they get for their schools.'

The test is designed to see whether students are gaining the knowledge and skills needed for success in college or on the job.

Plymouth-Canton scores were well above state averages. In math, 47.7 percent of Michigan's eleventhgraders were rated proficient. In reading, 40.2 of the state's juniors were rated proficient. In writing,

It's been nearly two years since voters approved building a new library, and work will finally begin this fall.

But before the building can start, there's going to be some tearing down.

The very first thing we have to do is demolish the Dunning-Hough Library and three of the properties along Union Street, Farmer Jack stores will contribute "dirt cupcakes" for kids and the Canton Meijer store contributed to the cost of the shovels to be handed out to kids who attend, so they can dig too.

"Since it is not possible to add on to the building yet again, we need to tear it down so we can start fresh on the original site," Khoury said.

Still, the new library facade will be designed to look much like the current one. And library officials say they'll keep the old Dunning-Hough Library — for the new building.

Part of the building plan involves library officials buying five houses just east of the library. They've bought three so far. "We're working on the YMCA and with the owners of a house on the far corner of Church and Union," Thomas said. "We don't have to have them right now because they don't have to be torn down to get started."

Thomas said that once construction begins, it won't stop for winter. "By spring, we're hoping we can have an enclosed shell up, then they can start working inside," she said.

Work this winter involves pouring a building foundation and erecting walls and a roof. In spring, work would continue with windows, brick work and interior work.

Public parking on the south side of the parking lot "shouldn't be disturbed at all," Thomas

"The contractor has given us about a 14-month construction period, that assumes everything's perfect, we'd be done by March or April '98," Thomas

The lease on the temporary library runs through March 1998, but the lease can run four more months.

How do patrons like the temporary library? "They love the brightness, the free parking, the main negative is the noise," Thomas said.

Thomas said the openness of the former supermarket just makes the building noisy. "There's not a whole lot you can do about it, we're encouraging people to be sensitive." Starting in December, the library board will begin levying the nearly 1 mill voters agreed to pay for a new library.

The old Dunning-Hough Library had 13,000 square feet of floor space. The temporary library has 16,000 square feet, and the new two-level library will have 40,000 square feet.

Half of the millage approved by voters is to pay for library materials. "Just prior to moving in we can start beefing up our ordering, we'll have to add some staff," Thomas said.

State-endorsed diplomas not critical to college entry

The state created lots of anxiety for Plymouth-Canton high school students when it introduced the proficiency test and "stateendorsed" diploma last year.

"I'm scared of the proficiency test. If colleges look at it, it can determine your future," said Salem High School junior Evelyn Rahhal.

Students can breathe a little easier knowing that universities and employers aren't requiring state-endorsed diplomas of their applicants. An informal survey of area colleges and companies say other factors are more important.

Ron Hughes, director of admissions at Wayne State University, said, "Our admission requirements are such that we look at four years of work, plus the college prep curriculum a student has followed. We look at the overall grade-point average and how well they do on the ACT or SAT.

"I can't see denying access to a public institution because a student doesn't have a state-endorsed diploma," said Michael O'Connor, Eastern Michigan University associate director of admissions.

What we basically look at is the gradepoint average in all the academic courses," said a University of Michigan-Dearborn admission. officer. "We require students to have a 3.0 GPA in core academic classes; a score of 22 or higher on the ACT, and a 950 or higher on the SAT."

Hughes doesn't foresee WSU requiring a state endorsement. That's for "two basic reasons," said the Livonia resident. We often start admitting students before they have completed their endorsements. We would rather look at how well a student has done for four years following a prescribed curriculum, as opposed to how well they did sitting for one exam.

"Plus the ACT and SAT are nationally-normed exams," added Hughes. "They provide a wealth of statistical data about how well students do over five or 10 years. Endorsements are a real snapshot at that particular moment."

EMU requires that high school seniors graduate with a 2.5 grade point average and score a minimum of 18 on the ACT

O'Connor predicts no policy changes at Eastern. "We more than likely won't change that stance until the state determines what is going to happen to students who don't get the endorsement. Is a graduate proficient or not proficient?"

Currently, students may receive three endorsements in math, science and communications arts. However, they don't need the endorsements to receive a diploma. Seniors may opt to fulfill their reading and math endorsements with MEAP test results. They also are given two opportunities to re-take the proficiency test.

"The proficiency test measures a level that is not a graduation level," said O'Connor. "They can really only test on knowledge through the 10th year, when students have two more years of high school to go."

If a policy change were made, the university would most likely allow students to take remedial classes, he said.

O'Connor supports more rigorous requirements for high school students, however. "Students will be more successful when they come to college if they have a better core curriculum of classes under their belts," he said.

Employers also say they won't shut the door on an applicant who lacks an endorsed

At UNISYS in Plymouth, the situation is similar, according to a human resources representative. "The state-endorsed diploma wouldn't be something that would carry a lot of weight one way or the other," she

Some students say they want tests to provide a challenge

BY M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

State standardized tests aren't that hard, and students welcome the state's recent efforts to make them harder. That was the consensus among a random sampling of students interviewed during lunch at Plymouth Salem High School Monday.

"They've made the MEAP (Michigan Educational Assessment Program) much more difficult," said Brad Reitenga, a ninth-grader at Canton High School. Having the skills to pass a more challenging test means "that when you get into college, you are more prepared," Reitenga said.

Rachel Thompson, a senior at Salem, said she was a little concerned about having to take the new proficiency test "cold" last March. She was glad to find out that "the proficiency test was easi-

Being among the state's "guinea pigs" taking the proficiency test, Salem senior Angie Smith and her friends were nervous.

"At first, I was scared. We had to pass it, or we aren't going to get a state-endorsed diploma," said

Smith. "I got more used to it when I was taking it. I thought I did fairly well."

The ACT test was harder. "With the ACT, I felt like I didn't have enough time. I felt so pressured for time, I never finished it," she said. "I guess it was fair. Maybe I don't know what I should know. There were questions on trigonometry."

Nici Roller, a Salem senior, said that at first, she was nervous about the new test also. "Once you got into it, it wasn't that bad. Sometimes I didn't have time to finish it all, but it was a fair test of what we've been taught."

Roller said questions on the proficiency test dealt with biology and algebra, but "it didn't have hard questions in case people hadn't taken that Salem junior Evelyn Rahhal says she's not looking forward to the proficiency test. "I'm scared to take it. If colleges look at it, it can determine your Salem senior Kristie Giddings said the writing portion of the math test was challenging. "In math, you had to write an essay. It was hard to figure out how to say how you got the answer.'

Writing is the big difference Smith sees between the MEAP and proficiency test.

"One of the many curriculum changes was the hands-on science approach that has been embraced by the district and the integration of, and emphasis on, writing throughout the curriculum."

Plymouth-Canton juniors' composite score was 23.1 on the ACT. That compares with a score of 22.4 in Michigan, and 22.0 nationally. The best possible score is 36.

Clinton makes election stop in area

Student Craig Lindberg got to play teacher Tuesday afternoon when President Bill Clinton visited his class at the William D. Ford Career Technical Center in Westland.

"I've never met anybody very important before," Lindberg, a 31-year-old Livonia resident, said after he showed Clinton how to operate a computer-aided manufacturing machine. "It was definitely an experience I'll never for-

Lindberg, teaching Clinton from a wheelchair because of a spinal cord injury, seemed remarkably calm as he taught his skills to the nation's most prominent student, dressed in goggles

"It was special," Lindberg said, after he made a key chain that he gave to the president.

Clinton, seeking re-election against Republican Bob Dole, focused on 21st century job skills and education as he toured the Ford Center on his way to a rousing political rally on John Glenn High School's football field.

Clinton watched intently and asked questions as Lindberg demonstrated the skills that he hopes will help him earn a decent living. Lindberg uses a special wheelchair that allows him to stand up while he works in the computer-aided manufacturing lab, one of 22 career center programs. The skills are marketable in industries such as aerospace, medical and automotive.

Clinton, underscoring the importance of Lindberg's education, said later that computeraided manufacturing is among the programs that "will tear down the walls between academics and vocational education."

Even though Lindberg was impressed by Clinton, he didn't promise to vote for him in attends Wayne Memorial High, said he won't forget his brush with the president. "It was like a once in a lifetime thing," he said. "It was pretty cool."

Student Deonte Bates, 17, agreed. "I got to shake his hand. I had never shaken a president's hand before," he said. "I didn't even know he was coming to our class until

Bates commended Clinton for visiting the Ford center and showing support for educa-

Clinton was accompanied on his tour by Ford center principal Bill Richardson and U.S. Rep. Lynn Rivers, D-Ann Arbor.

The president arrived by motorcade from Metro Airport shortly before 1 p.m., about three hours after a barrage of reporters began gathering next door at school district headquarters in the Dyer Center.

Ground broken for new catholic grade school

The ground was officially broken Sunday for a new Catholic school in Canton.

The school will be constructed on the property of Resurrection Catholic Church, south of Warren Road between Beck and Ridge roads. It will be the first new school building constructed by the Detroit Archdiocese in 32 years.

Our primary goal and our primary mission is bringing quality Catholic education to young people in this area of western Wayne County," said Cardinal Adam Maida who officiated at the ground breaking. "I'm very excited and very hopeful and it's just so wonderful to see so much excitement about this new endeavor and this new school."

Among those whose sparkling chrome shovels took the first bites of dirt along with Cardinal Maida were the pastors from the four supporting parishes, Rev. Richard Perfetto, Resurrection; Rev. George Charnley, St. John Neumann; Rev. William Petit, St. Kenneth; and Rev. C. Richard Kelly, Jr., St. Thomas A'Becket.

But the real earth moving took place when the multitude of children (many, future students) were invited to come forward with their multi-colored dinal Maida and newly named principal of the school, Mary Rita Allen, didn't hesitate to join the children in the mist of the sand pile melee.

Allen, a 17-year resident of Canton and of St. John Neumann parish, has worked as a teacher and principal in both public and Catholic schools. Since 1995 she has served as associate superintendent of schools for the Detroit Archdiocese Enthusiastic about her new position Allen said, "I'm really excited because this is a wonderful undertaking on the part of the archdiocese. The first goals will be, of course, to address the plastic spades to participate in the festivities. Car- Catholic identity of our school as well as the academic excellence that will be expected. I'm looking forward to the challenge of it.

Allen had been a part of a group in 1982, involved in the effort of opening a Catholic school in Canton. That effort did not succeed, "so I was very excited when I learned this school was starting," she said.

The name of the school was selected from a field of names submitted from the parishioners of the supporting parishes and had been narrowed down funds administered by the local conferences such as the Conference of Western Wayne, rather than by the county.

Funding for the conferences would be based on population and economic development and the conferences would then appropriate the money, he said. "That way we feel we would have more accountability," he said.

McCotter also favors using general fund money for roads. Out of a $343 million county general fund, money could be found to be used for roads, he

But, instead of increasing, the funding the county is receiving for roads decreased in 1996 compared to 1995, according to Alan Richardson, deputy director of the roads division of the county's Department of Public Services. In 1996, $100,359,628 is expected in revenues, down from $108,111,725 in 1995.

Projects are being delayed because of a lack of funding, Richardson said. "We'd like to be able to tell people that we agree a road is bad" and fix it, he said.

The only thing increasing funding is increased fuel consumption, and the fuel efficiency of automobiles works in the opposite direction, Gronevelt 1995.

Money for roads is collected from several areas including:

■ State funds including gas and weight taxes. In 1996, Wayne County is receiving about $74 million to run the county system of roads and maintain state roads in the county, from state-generated funds. That compares to $71 million in 1993, $80 million in 1994, and $76.6 million in 1995.

Federal gas tax dollars. The federal tax on gas is 18.4 cents a gallon, with about 14.4 cents going to roads. Federal grants require a 20 percent match. The county's match money comes from the weight and gas tax. In 1996, the federal funding to Wayne County is almost $12.2 million. That compares to $7.3 million in 1993, $9.68 million in 1994 and almost $18 million in 1995. (The 1995 figure includes about $8 million in federal funding for the Merriman Road railroad track project.)

■ Local match funds. Communities help pay a percentage of road projects and that has increased in recent years. In 1996, $2.3 million in local match money is budgeted, compared to $952,107 in 1993, $1.99 million in 1994 and $1.36 million in

 Other revenue sources. These include service charges for services provided by the Department of Public Services to county departments, $5.5 million in 1996, and miscellaneous items such as rent on buildings and interest earned, $6 million. Expenditures are broken down this way for 1996:

■ $58.5 million for the roads division including maintenance activities, salaries, benefits, materials and equipment; compared to past years of $59.7 million in 1993, $57 million in 1994; and $59 million in 1995. Maintenance activities include cutting the grass along roadways, pothole and pavement repair, ice and snow removal and maintaining safety features such as guardrails.

■ $27.7 million for construction contracts; compared to $18.8 million for 1993; $24.3 million for 1994 and $33.5 million for

■$6 million for debt retirement; compared to $5.6 million for 1993; $5.7 million for 1994 and $6 million for 1995.

■ $1.5 million for lawsuits; compared to $1.3 million for 1993; $1.49 million for 1994 and $1.19 in 1995.

■$6.2 million for administrative costs; compared to $8.96 million in 1993; $7.8 million in 1994 and $6.89 million in 1995.

Outdated system?

Gronevelt questions many gas tax and fee rules already in

■ The diesel discount allows truckers to buy a sticker for $90 a year and receive a 6-cent discount on the gas tax - so instead of 15 cents a gallon it's 9 cents for truckers, he said. If the diesel discount were taken away, $15 million a year would be generated, he said.

Raising driver's license fees $2 a year would raise $45 million, Gronevelt said.

Raising truck registration fees would generate $52 million, he said.

■ Some commercial vehicles pay registration based on weight, rather than on value. About $20 million would be generated if all trucks and vans paid the same, he said.

■ There's no reason diesel fuel and gasoline should be taxed at the same amount, especially when most users of diesel fuel produce more wear and tear with vehicles than 1,000 vehicles, he said

Road money

How to sweeten the pot

It's all in the back rooms - if indeed there is any action at all.

State lawmakers, Gov. John Engler's administration, regional planners, county officials and business interests like truckers and fuel producers are negotiating on how to sweeten the $1.3 billion pot of road money amid wide agreement that Michigan's roads are the worst in the Mid-

Major issues:

■ Which road taxes should be raised?

Since 1982 the state fuel tax has been 15 cents per gallon. Odds are this tax, 45th in the nation, will be increased.

But the petroleum lobby points out the state also levies its 6 percent sales tax on gasoline - roughly 6.4 cents per gallon. That revenue goes mainly for schools, not roads. So Michigan's total fuel tax is 21.4 cents - 10th in the nation.

In round numbers, here are the major revenue streams flowing into the transportation lake: gasoline (15 cents/gal.), $700 million; diesel (15 cents/gal.

minus a 6-cents discount for commercial vehicles), $100 million; motor vehicle weight tax (increased 92 percent in the last decade), $500 million.

Which taxes should be

Clearly the sales tax on fuel will be a target, but school interests will resist giving it up. Road interests argue, however, that all road-oriented taxes should be dedicated to transportation.

And if the fuel tax is raised, business groups argue other taxes should be cut - preferably the single business tax.

■Who should get the bulk of the new money?

Currently, the Michigan Department of Transportation by law gets 39.1 percent, the counties 39.1 percent, and cities and villages 21.8 percent.

Computerized traffic control, for years part of Oakland County's traffic mix, is coming to Wayne County.

During the holiday shopping season, traffic around Southland Mall in Taylor will be controlled by a computer. The computer on a small number of traffic sigwill take in data at set intersections and sort out who gets a green light and how long they need a green light, according to Victoria J. Holland, assistant engineer of traffic operations.

"It won't be as high-tech as Oakland County," Holland said. The project is an experiment nals in a high-traffic area. A computer in the roads office can interact with the computer in the field, she said.

Then county engineers will evaluate the information. Officials probably won't know until a year after the system is installed how successful it is, she said.

But the county is just looking at the high-traffic area in Taylor for now. "We're pretty happy with our timed corridors," she said. Timed corridors are areas where signals on a stretch of road are set on a timer to ease traffic flow

But at Southland Mall, no matter how the traffic signals are timed, there's a traffic problem, she said.

Eureka Road during the Christmas holidays has such an influx of traffic that it's a constant bottleneck," she said.

"As an engineer, there's nothing I can do to move the cars through there," she said.

The decision to start the project is based on traffic counts and that is part of Holland's responsibilities. Traffic is counted on primary roads once every three years and is part of how the county studies roads.

Congestion is determined by how many lanes the road is compared to how much traffic. On a

Officials probably won't know until a year

Timed-traffic

To help ease congestion, the department works with timedtraffic signal corridors in which long segments of road are targeted to have all the signals replaced and set to allow traffic traveling at the speed limit to hit green lights:

cars a day is considered congest-

The beauty of the new controlling devices is that you can set a relationship between a whole slew of signals, and they will stay that way unless something goes really wrong," she

The corridors are paid for under a federal program which provides 80 percent federal funding, 10 percent is then matched by the county and 10 percent by the cities involved:

The corridors are qualified for federal money because they allow increased traffic movement and cut down on increased stopping and starting and therefore on noxious fumes

There are 25 corridors scattered throughout the county. Farmington Road and Wayne Road are being completed this year while Newburgh Road from Plymouth Road to Six Mile is scheduled later this year.

(for interstate), U.S. and M-numbers. As former MDOT director Pat Nowak said, "Which wound does the doctor treat - a severed artery or a scratched finger?"

County road associations say local roads need a piece of the pie, too, pointing to other states where the transportation department takes a smaller share than MDOT. Their favorite argument: The state has only 8 percent of the total road system - 9,700 of the 118,000 miles.

The counties also argue that MDOT soaks up 75 percent of all federal aid coming into Michi-

Engler precipitated a political crisis late in 1995 when he unilaterally decreed that MDOT should take three years' worth of federal aid from counties and cities. The Southeast Michigan Council of Governments engineered a compromise under which MDOT took a lion's share for one year but reverted to the old formula in the second and Which part of the state should benefit most?

Money is parceled out on a mind-boggling formula that considers miles of "primary" and 'secondary" roads in each unit. Urban and suburban communities argue their roads are like craters on the moon while farm roads are like velvet.

No urban attempt to shift more money to Oakland and Wayne counties' mile roads, however, has succeeded in the past. And with Grand Rapids-Holland politicos in charge of both chambers of the Legislature, a shift is unlikely this year.

Cooper wants high court to retain independence

RENEE SKOGLUND

Jessica Cooper, who is running as an independent for Michigan Supreme Court judge, sat in the conference room of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Livonia last Thursday. She was the noon-time guest speaker. But there was no audience.

"I think somebody running for the Michigan Supreme Court doesn't get much attention. It's not a media event," said Thomas Eggebeen, pastor at St. Paul's. "I would dare say that most folks don't know what the Michigan Supreme Court does. much more than an occasional ruling, myself included."

Cooper, currently an Oakland County Circuit Court judge, took her lack of an audience in stride. A minister and a reporter would have to

She has a single campaign goal for election to the Michigan Supreme Court: "Getting the word out about maintaining the independence of the Court and maintaining it by integrity.'

Cooper is running as an independent — minus a base of political power. That suits her just fine. She is following in the footsteps of retiring Justice Charles Levin, the first to run for the high court as an indeELECTION '96 pendent.

"We have a perception of partisanship. It comes from the fact that there is a partisan nomination. After that nomination, judges are expected to turn around and become non-partisan," said Cooper, who is facing two Democrats, two Republicans and two libertarians for the Supreme Court seat.

Without the financial help from big party coffers, Cooper has mounted a grassroots campaign. On a projected budget hovering around $100,000, she has hand-delivered literature, sent out mailings, scheduled interviews, done a few public radio and public television spots, and given speeches "anywhere there are two or three people."

"Whether that is strong enough in the face of the hundreds of thousands of dollars others have. I don't know. I've never lost before. Getting on the ballot is and of itself a win.'

Cooper has been a goal-setter all her life. After graduating from Wayne State University Law School in 1973, she worked as an assistant defender in the State Appellate Defender's office. In 1975, she opened her own general law practice in Bloomfield Township with a special emphasis in civil rights litiga-haven't wanted to see.

Judge Jessica Cooper, Independent Candidate received her teaching certification from the National Institute for Tri l Advocacy. She also is a founding member of the National Association of Women Judges. Besides serving on several community service boards, Cooper is the first woman president of Temple Shir Shalom in Orchard Lake. Cooper said judges should be accountable for their w rk ethic, fairness and academics, not their politics or personal beliefs. "That does not belong on the bench," she

Cooper is a firm believer in the academic application of law. "I have the desire to go back to the academic roots. I would like to see the concentration go back to academics in the appellate court."

At the appellate level, the academic approach is defined by "stare decisis," the concept that all appellate law is based on the law the went before. It's a slow process.

"It's meant to be a slow process because that is the check and bal-

Cooper said a trial is composed of two basic components: the law and the facts. "At a trial, you take the facts as you find them to be and apply the law. On an appellate level, you apply the law to the facts as they are established on the record, and you have to have that record. You have to make decisions based on a record."

High-profile trials

But some decisions are difficult and clear precedents are few. Cooper presided over the highly publicized and controversial trial of retired pathologist Jack Kevorkian earlier this year. At the end of this month, she must determine sentencing for Itsumi Koga, the Japanese woman from Farmington Hills who pleaded "guilty but mentally ill" to voluntary manslaughter in the death of her infant son.

Other decisions, while less complicated, are painful. "There are people I have seen who have no humanity. There are 16-year-olds who are killers. They are immoral. Even though you can't understand this, you have to take them off the street. You don't see any humanity in their eyes and it's scary," said Cooper.

An idealist

In spite of having dealt with a criminal system, Cooper describes herself as an idealist. "My best characteristic is my worst characteristic." She believes that most of human nature is good. "I believe we take our strengths from all people. Our personal strengths come from our unity."

The election is just seven weeks away. Cooper stands on her record. I have seen things I haven't wanted to see, made decisions I haven't wanted to make, but that's my job. I am not a politician. That's the issue. I talk solely about the court system. I'm a judge and that's what we want on bench judges.'

Westland teen charged in Canton traffic accident

BY VALERIE OLANDER STAFF WRITER

A 15-year-old Westland teen is facing drunken driving charges under Michigan's zero tolerance law for a one-car rollover accident that occurred about 1 a.m. Saturday on Denton, north of Proctor, in rural Canton Township.

Two teens, 14 and 17, were taken to Annapolis Hospital by ambulance. Both are expected to fully recover from their injuries, although the 14-yearold, was transferred to Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn for reconstructive plastic surgery.

Detective Ed Tanner said the teens, all from Westland, were lucky to survive the accident since four of the seven occupants were riding in the bed of a 1986 Dodge pickup.

The underage driver told police the accident occurred when another vehicle was coming at them in the center of the road. He swerved to avoid the car, hit a tree and lost control.

However, Canton's accident investigation team headed up by Detective Bill Keppen, revealed that there were no signs of evasive maneuvering or braking in the roadway.

According to the tracks on Denton, the pickup apparently left the road south of the bridge over the lower Rouge River, glanced off one tree and struck a second tree, causing the truck to flip over, according to Keppen's report.

Officers on patrol were flagged down by two of the injured teens at Cherry Hill and Denton, about a mile from the accident. An ambulance was sent to the location while police went ahead to the crash site. The pickup was upside down in the middle of the gravel road, they reported. The five other occupants at the crash site suffered from minor

The teens reported having to lift the truck to free the 14-year-old, whose head was pinned under the

A breathalyzer test of the 15-year-old driver at the scene indicated he had a .077 percent blood alcohol level. Two other breathalyzers conducted later at the police station showed .04.

In Michigan .10 is considered too drunk to drive, although Michigan's zero tolerance law applies to those under the age of 21. Any drinking offense is an automatic suspension of a driver's license and probation even if not legally intoxicated.

The driver is scheduled to appear in 35th District Court on Friday. All seven teens were ticketed for violating the curfew ordinance.

In July, the city commission granted the hotel owners a $36,000 tax break. It was less than the $50,000 break they sought on back taxes, interest and penalties, but more than some residents and business people said the hotel should get.

Renovation plans were put together last year by Birmingham design firm Saroki and Associates. Roger Sherman Partners Inc. will do the interior

A general renovation theme is to make dining areas more open and brighter.

A new 250-capacity banquet room is planned, along with a 175-capacity restaurant along Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street with windows overlooking Kellogg Park and downtown.

Plans also call for outdoor seating along Ann Arbor Trail in fair weather months.

Other renovation plans call for a bakery and cafe west of the current Ann Arbor Trail entrance.

Planned facade improvements include a wood cornice along the roof area, replacement of outdoor wood shutters with awnings and sandblasting the hotel exterior.

The theme would be continued along the facade of the Mayflower II just south of the hotel, to unify it visually with the main

Historic barn dedication set for Sunday

Area residents are invited to the Canton Historical Society's dedication of a new barn in the Cherry Hill Historic District at 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 22.

The barn is behind the historic Bartlett-Travis House on Ridge Road, north of Cherry Hill.

The barn is used to house antique farm equipment and implements.

COUNTY NEWS

Consortium forms commitee to examine secession issues

RENEE SKOGLUND STAFF WRITER

The issue of secession won't go away - at least quietly.

Municipal officials attending the Sept. 13 meeting of the Conference of Western Wayne passed a resolution to set up a committee to formally study the issues of secession.

"I've been asked to come back next month having a plan of action on how to formally and responsibly look into the issue," said Daniel Gilmartin, executive director of the Conference. The Conference's 18 members will meet in Northville on Friday, Oct. 11.

Gilmartin said he will present an outline on the proposed study that will address the financial and legal issues of secession, as well as changes in the county charter regarding voting ratios.

"It will be a priority issue for the Conference and its members," Gilmartin said. He added that outlining the pros and cons of secession at this point would be premature.

Kay Beard, vice chair of the Wayne County Commission, advocates a cautious approach to secession. "There has to be a lot of research. There are constitutional restrictions that apply." She said the communities must consider issues of division of property and community debt, location, and the building new seats of government.

"I think it would be difficult to have happen. Before I took a position I would want to see the legal and financial ramifications. There are too many unanswered questions. I can understand the frustrations."

Wayne County Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, who district includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville, Northville Township and most of Livonia, said secession is not a

■ 'This is not a race issue. It's an unfair taxation issue. We are all charged with being good community leaders and we must look at all issues.'

Mayor Bob Thomas, Westland

"As far as secession itself, we've had discussions for two years in the conference. It usually happens after the county does something unjust, like the park tax."

Sparking the discussion was a recent letter from Westland Mayor Robert Thomas to Gilmartin expressing resentment for perceived unfair taxation in countywide millages. Thomas's viewpoint is shared by many western suburban mayors and supervisors.

"The recent parks millage is a perfect example of this problem," Thomas wrote. "Westland voters turned down the proposal two-to-one, yet it passed countywide. Westland voters will send over $300,000 to the County Parks Department with no guarantee of any direct benefit from that money.

The county parks millage was passed in August, with only Highland Park, Trenton and Detroit voters in favor of the tax. "All of our communities have parks and recreations programs. They know where their money should be spent," Gilmartin.

Gilmartin cited the 1988 1mill jail tax as another example of a countywide tax without a majority benefit. He said the cost of transporting prisoners from the suburbs to the Hamtramck facility is too costly. "It costs Canton less to take prisoners to other sites in Michigan."

McCotter said a viable option to forming a new county might be to consolidate with an existing county, like Oakland or Washtenaw. "It would spare the expense of building an infrastructure," he said.

According to McCotter, the political tone of the suburbs is becoming more Republican Eventually, the 15-member county commission will reflect this. Presently, only three members are Republican.

"The Republicans have consistently voted against tax increases." said McCotter Cotter. "Within 10 years, you'll have a majority of Republicans.'

Bill O'Neil, county commissioner from Allen Park, said the Downriver Community Conference wanted to be included in future talks on secession. Some of the southernmost communities in the Downriver area had considered forming an Erie County in the past.

"I've never been in favor of an Erie County because it wasn't inclusive enough. I believe it was racist," he said.

"This is not a race issue," said Thomas. "It's an unfair taxation issue. We are all charged with being good community leaders and we must look at all issues." Mike Duggan, deputy county executive, responded by saying, There is little in the letter (Thomas's) I disagree with and I strongly support our amending the charter to reflect a super majority on tax issues."

The board of commissioners presently passes tax issues on a simple majority, eight out of 15. "I prefer 15 out of 15, but a twothirds or four-fifths would be acceptable," said McCotter.

State House passes bill to raise minimum wage

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

The state House of Representatives has passed and sent to the Senate a minimum wage hike bill that a critic said should be called the "Youth Unemployment Act.".

The vote was an overwhelming 94-12. But the Sept. 10 vote belied the flurry of amendments aimed either giving it more teeth or filing them down.

This bill takes care of hourly workers who do not fall under the federal minimum wage laws," said Republican Sandra Hill of Montrose. "It is the only fair thing to do, and it needed to be done quickly."

This amendment, like the one before it, should be titled the Youth Unemployment Act," Rep. Greg Kaza, R-Rochester Hills, said at one point in the debate.

"Young people, predominantly teenagers working part-time, will have a harder time finding a job if these amendments are enacted into law in Lansing. Numerous economic studies have shown that jobs have been eliminated when amendments such as these have been enacted in the past. These amendments are job killers."

Kaza voted no on final passage as did 11 other Republicans, including Penny Crissman of Rochester, Gerald Law of Plymouth and Dan Gustafson of Williamston.

Opposing the bill was the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB). Lobbyist Charles Owens said its members tend to be familyowned businesses

Gov. John Engler indicated he would sign this version if it reaches his desk.

"Most businesses in the state already pay above the minimum wage in order to attract and retain quality workers," Owens said. "NFIB and its more than 23,000 Michigan members believe the marketplace, not the government, should determine the wage and prices of business and com-

House Bill 6180:

■ Increases the state minimum wage from $3.35 per hour to $4.75 beginning Oct. 1. It's the first state increase since 1981, said sponsor Bob Emerson, D-Flint, who chided Republicans for waiting 20 months to act on his bill.

■ Increases the wage to $5.15 an hour on Sept. 1, 1997.

■ Sets the "tip-credit" wage at 75 percent of the minimum wage. Thus, the service-industips rises to $3.56 an hour Oct. 1 and $3.86 an hour on Sept. 1,

1997. ■ Applies to an estimated

130,000 workers. ■ Boosts the "training wage" for workers under age 20 from $3.35 to $4.25 for the first 90 days of employment.

Allows employees who work overtime to choose between a pay rate of 1.5 times the wage or to take off compensatory time of 1.5 hours for each hour over overtime.

■ Applies to businesses not covered by the federal overtime act _ those with gross receipts of less than $500,000 a year that aren't engaged in interstate commerce.

The new bill brings Michigan's wage law in line with a recently passed federal law. The federal rate, however, was increased to $4.25 in 1991.

The House softened the bill for businesses that employ seasonal summer help. The new rates become effective at the end of the summers and set the training wage period 90 days, the length of the summer sea-

New library

It ensures access to freedom

Test results raise questions

The ground breaking for a new Plymouth library on Sunday will ensure that residents of this community will have free access to information well into the 21st century.

Libraries in our country have long played an important part in education, politics and social change.

Everybody, no matter what their economic circumstances, has free access to information. It's essential to a free society.

Unfortunately that is being threatened by the computer age. Not everyone has the money to buy a computer and hook up to the Internet.

Large public libraries that offer not only books on shelves, but computers to the public are needed to preserve our traditions of open debate and the free flow of ideas.

By March 1998 a new building will be completed at the same site, with the same look of the current Dunning-Hough Library.

The efforts of the Plymouth Library Board should be recognized. The board was able to sell the project to the public and get it under construction despite numerous obstacles.

The first step was a property tax increase. The library board was able to persuade voters in 1994 to approve a 1 mill property tax increase to raise money for construction of the $8 million building.

This effort came in the midst of anti-tax sentiment that defeated school millages and a similar library millage in Canton Township.

This is not to say library board members didn't make mistakes. They did. There was talk of moving the library to a different loca-

There was an outcry and board members listened to the public. For better or worse, the public likes the look and location of the current building.

Also, planning a library is a difficult task in the midst of changes in the way people receive information.

Computers are changing how people obtain information and there are serious questions about how much space a library will actually need in the future.

Questions about the need for a larger library will probably always linger.

But action was needed. The Plymouth library is crowded. And more space is needed.

Another troublesome issue faced head on by the library board was the need to buy and demolish five homes along Union Street.

There were complaints the homes were historic and should be preserved. The board offered the homes to any one from the public who wanted to move and preserve the structures. The cost was $1. There were no takers.

The public relations move was a good tactic to still complaints about preservation.

The library board deserves thanks for its perseverance.

A good way to recognize their work and sacrifices is by attending the ground breaking. It's scheduled for 2 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 29 in front of the old library building at 223 S. Main, next to city hall.

Orchestra needed in schools

C an someone explain to me how a school system in a community of this size and diversity cannot find a way to include a substantial string program and a fine orchestra?

I read with interest the history of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. Fifty years ago this group started with the interest of a few citizens and a high school music teacher. People in this small town thought it was important to have an orchestra then and many community people think it is still important 50 years later.

These people must be heartbroken to find out that the same community has not continued to nurture this art in the public schools. If you cut off the roots what will happen to the tree?

How can a lop-sided music program continue to be acceptable to us? A grand marching band is a very small part of what a fine music program should include. I've heard all the excuses. Stringed instruments are difficult, they are not as popular as other instruments and, the program costs money.

This is true. But, what are our children los-

It is true that stringed instruments are difficult which simply means that it's important to introduce the violin to very young children.

Violins and cellos are not in demand because children are not being exposed to symphonies, string quartets and all the music unique to string players.

Plymouth Library help

he Plymouth District Library Board would like to thank the following individuals, businesses, and organizations for their donations and assistance during our move to our temporary south Main Street location.

The Canton Public Library donated its old carpet, which was damaged during the repair of their parking lot, necessitating its replacement. As a result of their generosity, the Plymouth Library did not need to purchase carpet.

Frank Palmer of Palmer Paving provided labor and equipment to assist the Colonial Kiwanis Club in applying the seal-coating material to the parking lot. In addition, the Kiwanis Club donated the material for the project. All of these volunteers gave up a beautiful

Saturday morning to do this task. We are trying to conserve our resources so that we can build the best new library building we can afford, and by their generous donation of their time, labor and money, our contributors have helped greatly.

Of course, our generous taxpayers help us provide them with a good library, but our donors and volunteers go beyond that — they help make our library great.

A. Many friends and colleagues asked. Both conventions were fun — lots of nice parties and conversation. More seriously:

• There was nothing of substance for delegates to decide. The presidential candidates were picked five months ago or longer. They hand-picked the vice-presidential candidates. Nobody paid much attention to the platforms.

• Delegates paid $2,000 or $3,000 apiece to be a television audience. Twice GOP chieftain Betsy DeVos warned Michiganians against dozing off when the cameras were on.

• The conventions were run as TV shows, but commercial TV turned its back because ratings were abysmal. Both halls were too small. Both parties systematically squeezed down the print medium, the only one to do thorough reporting.

• Both parties' speeches were stage-managed — particularly the Republicans, who shut out big state governors. With one or two exceptions, Republican speakers said, "Negative media, Bobdole, Bobdole, Bobdole (15 times), Godbless America."

• The utilities and big companies — particularly Ameritech — fed delegates at both conventions. Especially Ameritech. It's no wonder the two parties platforms agree on only one thing — communications technology.

I have been saying for 12 years that the national conventions are obsolete. They could be run in a half-day with delegates meeting in their home states, viewing by closed-circuit TV, and voting electronically. Delegates would have $2,000 more to donate to their parties, making them less dependent on lobbyists.

Finally, some national columnists are catching on, predicting these will be the last four-day conventions.

TIM RICHARD

Q. What about the differences?

A. Just one. Republicans do things as a state delegation. Democrats split off into cross-state interest groups — Israel, Arabs, women, labor, teachers, etc. Democratic delegates were somewhat tougher to track down.

As a kid, I was taught to respect volunteers who work for causes they believe in. I still do, and they still do. Both parties.

Q. What about the state conventions?

A. Actually, no one asked about them. Too bad. They are far more important than the nationals, because Supreme Court and education board candidates are nominated there.

Detroit TV almost totally ignored them in its brainless passion for murders, fires and canned medical features. The Free Press passed up the GOP's Saturday convention because it doesn't publish a main news section on Sunday. Democrats shut out both the News and Freep on Sunday because of the 14-month strike.

Q. Any differences between the two state conventions?

A. Yes, the rhetoric.

Republicans have picked up the South's line about parents overruling school officials. They see the parents as prime consumers of education. Their speeches are clones of the plaintiffs' briefs in the Tennessee, Alabama and Louisiana fundamentalist cases challenging the literature and science curricula of public schools. (The fundamentalists lost in court, but are the dominant voice in the Republican Party.)

Democratic rhetoric was epitomized when the head of the Michigan Federation of Teachers nominated a university board candidate, saying she looked out for "students, faculty members and employees" — in other words, the unions.

Phil Power has been writing, and I concur, that the ultimate consumers of education are job-hunting graduates and the employers. I'll let the boss speak for himself on how he liked the state conventions.

Myself, I thought both parties missed the mark, wildly. Too bad we don't have another George Romney, who said government shouldn't be run by "company interests or union interests but for the public interest."

Tim Richard covered both national and both state conventions from gavel to gavel and reports on the local implications of state and regional events.

Family issues

As a teacher in the Plymouth-Canton School District, I would like to share with the community actions that have been taken by the school administration that are adversely affecting our families.

They may seem to be minor offenses, but they have very profound effects on family life.

The family issues involved range from maternity leaves and medical emergencies to preparing for a daughter's wedding or attending parent orientation at a son's college.

Staff members are subjected to inconsistencies in the application of the maternity leave process.

Recently a staff member was denied permission to be with a family member in a medical emergency.

There have been initial refusals of personal business days to prepare for a daughter's wedding or to attend parent orientation at a college that is hundreds of miles from the staff member's home. Ultimately, after confrontations and much stress, the issues may have been resolved.

However, the truth of the matter is that teachers in this district have to struggle with the administration when family considerations or emergencies arise.

Not only should the bargaining process not include these kinds of arbitrary acts that hurt the family unit, but the permanent policy of the administration needs to be fair and consistent in the way it treats the teachers with regard to their personal lives.

Please contact the board and the administration and express your concerns that even teachers deserve to be treated with dignity and respect.

Board support have been reading the articles and letters in the Observer about the contract talks between the Plymouth-Canton School Board and the Plymouth-Canton teachers and I have a few comments.

It appears that the teachers are balking at a change from traditional Blue Cross medical coverage to a managed care plan.

I would like to remind the teachers that the whole country is changing to managed care plans because it is the fiscally responsible and sensible thing to do.

The managed care plans in Michigan have been rated very highly on a national level and the teachers should not experience any decrease in quality of care

The reason Blue Cross coverage is more expensive is because it is inefficient and not because it is better. I strongly support the board in this case.

A few articles pointed out that the teachers behaved worse than some second graders at meetings between them and the board. Loud hissing at the school board negotiator is out of place for teachers that are asking to be treated like professionals.

Some of the teachers speaking before the board relayed how important and difficult their jobs are.

I think everyone can agree on that, but we also know that these teaches were not forced into this profession but chose it freely. They knew beforehand what this job entailed and what rate of pay they should expect — so why the martyr role?

The bottom line is that we have an excellent school system and excellent teachers and we would like to maintain that.

Our problem is limited funds. Either change the way schools are funded or work within our budgetary framework in a fair and realistic manner. We need this issue resolved.

Janusz M. Syszko, Canton

ake it from me. I've been there. The best known cure for a political swelled head is to run for one of the education posts that are elected statewide every two years.

It makes no difference whether you're running for the University of Michigan Board of Regents, Michigan State University Board of Trustees, Wayne State University Board of Governors or a seat on the State Board of Education. The reaction always is the same: "You're who? You're running for what?

The system is bizarre. Nobody knows who you are or what office you're running for, let alone what your credentials might be or what your views on education might be.

With the Nov. 5 ballot crowded with sexier and, to be sure, more important races, media coverage of the educational races is meager. Radio and TV ignore the contests entirely. Excepting endorsements in the Detroit papers and the Booth Newspapers, editorial analysis is perfunctory.

This year, the only news coverage given the nomination of candidates for education posts concerned a quarrel at the Republican convention over whether a hitherto unknown lawyer with impeccable anti-abortion credentials should displace a distinguished woman from Grand Rapids who happens to be pro-choice. (He did. Please help me, somebody, by explaining what on earth one's views on abortion have to do with higher education policy.)

With the candidates and their views so little known, it's not surprising that few people bother to vote for educational posts. The usual falloff from the vote for governor to the vote for university boards is more than 20 percent.

This is too bad, because people on state education boards make a big difference. University boards deal with things like college tuition and whether a new football coach is more important than recruiting a new physics professor. The current State Board of Education is busy boosting charter schools and trying to bust the constitutional prohibition against public funds being spent on religious schools.

Over the years, I've tried to change things. I even wrote to my colleagues at the Michigan Press Association, suggesting that MPA sponsor a candidates night to make it convenient for reporters to listen to the candidates. "After much discussion," the turndown letter read, "the board determined that providing such a forum for statewide candidates would not serve the interest of all our members and is more properly the responsibility of the candidates and their parties."

So much for the news media.

Now comes the Livonia branch of the American Association of University Women trying to make things better. On Thursday, Sept. 26, in Livonia City Hall, the AAUW is holding a bipartisan, issues-based candidates forum. Beginning at 6 p.m., they will interview successively candidates for U-M, State Board of Education, MSU and Wayne State.

More important, they've arranged with Time-Warner Cable, the outfit that has the Livonia cable TV franchise, to videotape the entire program. These tapes will be made available, for free, to all multiple systems cable TV operators in Michigan after Oct. 1.

So if you want a unique opportunity to learn about the various candidates for state education offices, call your local cable system and ask them to get the tapes and show 'em. And while you're at it, call this newspaper and ask it to publicize the show with date, time and channel.

Then, if you're anything like me, you'll give a big cheer for Time-Warner, the Livonia AAUW, together with coordinators Yvonne Constas and Carol Dubuque, for their valuable public service. This program is something that should become a regular part of every election year.

In addition to being chairman of the company that owns this newspaper, Phil Power is also an elected regent of the University of Michigan. Time-Warner Cable in Livonia can be reached at (313) 422-2819. Ms. Constas can be reached at (313) 261-7717 and Ms. Dubuque at (810) 477-0399.

Marching band captures awards at meet

BY DIANE HANSON SPECIAL WRITER

In spite of an all-day rain, the Huron Valley Invitational marching band competition held at Lakeland High School in White Lake Saturday, was far from a complete washout.

The Plymouth-Canton Marching Band sailed away with cap-tion awards for Best Winds and Best Percussion along with first place for Flight I. Additionally, for the fifth year in a row, Plymouth-Canton seized the Ruth Hughes Memorial Trophy awarded to the band with the highest overall score from Flights I, II, III and IV. (Flights are determined by the number of students enrolled at the high school. Flight I schools are the largest.)

"It's nice," said Afia Ofori-Mensa of winning the awards as she held one of the trophies. "I've never held one of these before." A former marching tuba player, now a junior, this is Ofori-Mensa's first year and her first competition as a field com-She shares that responsibility with seniors and veteran field commanders, Chris Blossom and Heather Shaft.

Because of the steady precipitation and a football field turned slippery sea of mud, all 13 competing bands and the two exhibition host bands, Milford and Lakeland, were forced to perform standstill shows void of the fancy foot work and maneuvering of bands and color guards. That resulted in a maximum possible score of 60 only on music effect, field, ensemble and percussion with no visual scoring or auxil-

"It's hard when you do a standstill," said Plymouth-Canton band director, David McGrath. "You gear yourselves up for doing the drill and it's a little disappointing but I think it was probably as great a day as we could have had from the standpoint that we got just a ton

The band started their daylong practice at 8:30 a.m. Saturday morning and continued until show time at Lakeland. "They worked really hard," said McGrath. "We were out in the rain all day long."

Senior saxophonist, Eric Riddering, said the band was "ready to march." He added, "We practiced all day. It was one of our best rehearsals. The band was together.'

Assistant band director, Pat Ruddy, agreed. "We had a great day," he said. "We talked to them last night that we had a big job to do today and they rose to the occasion and it paid off."

Plymouth-Canton scored 47.5 out of a possible 60 points. First place in other flights were taken by Walled Lake Central, 32.3 points for Flight II; Hudsonville, 43.55 points for Flight III; and Durand, 38.6 points for Flight

McGrath pointed out that Plymouth-Canton was assessed penalty points because they completed only six and a half minutes of their show, "The Road to Oz," a combination of music from

Student radio station will celebrate 25th

WSDP, 88.1FM, will celebrate its 25th anniversary in 1997 and plans are under way for a reunion celebration.

Since 1972, the station has had over 500 students involved in the program. WSDP was the dream of John Hoben, former superintendent of the Plymouth-

Canton Community Schools. A committee of former students is being formed to plan the reunion. This week a mailing was sent to former staff members seeking their support.

"Reaching former staff members is a monumental task because our records are incomplete. We need the help of everyone we contact to get up-to-date addresses for friends they've kept touch with," said Bill Keith, station manager.

The station has received support from Twila Graller-Smith, a former assistant manager and staff member. Graller-Smith has spent many hours compiling a data base of addresses and updating them from alumni directories.

and one half minutes.

McGrath emphasized, however, the band received 18.7 points out of a possible 20 for General Effect, Music.

Sewer workers unsung heroes

Earlier this month, America recognized her workers and honored them with a day off. And that's good. But there are workers out there who didn't receive much recognition and they certainly didn't get a day off. If they had, we'd all have noticed. Big time.

I saw these workers just this summer and believe you me, they deserve recognition and praise. And it wouldn't be out of line to offer them a great big "thank you" for the work they do. We all need these workers, whether we admit it in mixed company or not. The workers I'm talking about are the ones who operate our waste water treatment plant. That's right. Our waste water treatment plant.

Had it not been for my oldest son, Tony, I might never have gained the insight or appreciation or the respect for this group of workers I now have. (Frankly, I'd never given them much thought before.) Tony, turns out, needed to tour the waste water treatment plant in order to fulfill a requirement for one of his Boy Scout Merit Badges, the "soil and water conservation" badge. (I'm telling you, the Boy Scout program is wonderful, for the boys AND their families. We've all learned so much, and all of it valuable and applicable and inspiring!)

Anyway, this waste water treatment plant tour was something I'll never forget, nor should

Gang shares God's word with kids

■ First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth was looking for a way to keep kids in church. God's Gang puppeteers answered the call.

BY SALLY TATO STAFF WRITER

God's Gang puppeteers are getting in their annual dose of puppet aerobics this month

To the beat and instruction of a puppet aerobic instructor, 13 kids from First Presbyterian Church, 701 W. Church St., Plymouth, hold their hands above their heads and exercise their puppeteering skills to get them back in shape for this year's season which kicks off Oct. 25 with a Halloween show at the church. For ticket information, call (313) 453-6464.

"We have puppet aerobics to strengthen their arms," said God's Gang assistant director Lynne Porter of Northville. "You can't believe how hard it is to hold your hand up above your head for a long period of time."

But the kids behind the scenes do.
Matthew Dobos is proud that he can hold his hand up for 10 minutes and that's still 110 minutes less than the record holder.

A one-year veteran of God's Gang, Dobos didn't know if he'd enjoy becoming a puppeteer for the church's puppet ministry.

But the 13-year-old Livonia resident hit it off with the hand-held puppets. His favorite is a boy puppet named P.K., short for Peter King

"It's fun," Dobos said. "I like going to performances and I like doing this because it's something to do so I don't have to get started on homework right away."

ork right away."
Using hand-held puppets and rod puppets, similar to a "Sesame Street" puppet, the God's Gang puppeteers crouch behind a two-tier stage and spread religious messages to songs that parody popular tunes.

Instead of dancing to Michael Jackson's "Beat It," for example, the puppets rock to "Read It" – the Bible, that is. And instead of moving to the groove of Three Dog Night's lyric "Jeremiah was a bullfrog," the puppets lip sync "Jeremiah was a prophet."

Porter said puppeteering gives the kids an opportunity to use their talent, without showing their faces.

"These kids are wonderful and great, but they'd just as soon stay behind the curtain," she said of the group's fourth-through 12th-graders. "I think it's wonderful that these young kids are doing something like this."

It also helps keep them in church. Six years ago, the church's Christian education director was looking for a way to keep the children involved. So the puppet ministry was created, Porter said.

Since then the group has developed its talent, performing 13 shows last year at local churches and senior citizen homes. They won a gold medal at a puppeteering competition in Battle Creek.

And they definitely had some help from the puppets. The puppets have personalities of their own, said Porter who makes the puppets using felt, velour, padding, and fake fur or yarn for hair.

Among the stage showstoppers are: Violet, a purple puppet; Mrs. San Martino, an older woman with frosted hair; Marguerite, a Mexican woman; and Wilbur, a bald-headed puppet with big ears and big green

Donations from the 1,200-member church keeps the puppet ministry

"We have wonderful support from them," Porter said.

Now I have to say, the three of us felt a bit sheepish about having such an exclusive, professionally guided tour. I mean there were only the three of us. And the tour took an hour. But this didn't seem to annoy our guide. He seemed enthusiastic for the interested audience. Even though during the hour tour I saw the route the stuff made within the facility and the work that was done along the way, I was astounded by the crystal clearness of the

The workers we encountered on the tour were very friendly and welcomed the three of us with enthusiasm. And they all had enthusiasm for their jobs. One woman who worked, if you will, in the bowels of the operation, said to Tony, "I'm very proud of my job. And I'm proud of how well I do it." That spoke volumes to my sons. And me. Especially given the job she was so proud of. You could just see the pride in the way she held her head, the way she swept her hand through the air.

ROAD WORK

Study drives road repair

Engineer rates county roads

ow would you rate the roads? Many people have their own answer to that question, but one man has all the answers Wayne County road engineer Ali El-Hajj who rates all the county roads.

During a two-month span each fall he drives all 733 miles of primary county roads.

"Traffic is like circulation of blood throughout the body - a continuous procedure - and so is the repair," El-Hajj said.

"That's why rating is very important here it puts the best candidate up for repair," he said. And with one person doing it, it can be approached fairly, according to El-Hajj. He uses the same approach for each road, driving 20-25 miles per hour and stopping and putting flashers on, to make his rating. "I drive slow so I can read the road better - sense the pavement better," he said.

His rating is divided into two parts. One is the field survey, in which he goes out and drives the roads, filling out a rating sheet for each segment of road. Then he goes back to the office and enters what he collected into the computer.

From this information, a map and a primary road inventory book are produced and used to determine road work priorities. A five-year list is compiled and is updated every year in the fall so the information can be studied during the

All 733 miles of county roads are divided into segments. He rates all that pavement one segment at a time. Segments can be as short as a 10th of a mile or a long as a mile. Segments are defined by variations in the road, such as width changes, ditches or no ditches, curbs or no curbs, type of pavement and condition rating, making about 2,500 segments.

After looking at and driving all those roads, he knows their idiosyncrasies:

Road Report: Road Engineer Ali El-Hajj compiles data on county road conditions.

Roads seem different with variations in the weather - moisture and temperature are factors. Moisture on the roads makes the cracks show more. When it's freezing, cracks and joints show more and the road becomes rougher as moisture tends to freeze in the cracks.

A sunny day makes the road seem different than it does on a dull day. If driving against the sun, cracks tend to show better; if the sun is at the back, cracks don't show as much, El-Hajj said. Roads are rated on a scale of 1 to 5.5 - 1-1.5 is very good, 2-2.5 is good, 3-3.5 is fair, 4-4.5 is poor, 5-5.5 is very poor.

Some of the conditions for rating the road are surface, drainage, hazards and characteristics which include need for improvements and need to widen or patch.

Condition and roughness are also rated ranging from no roughness, to smooth, to light roughness, to moderate roughness to very rough.

You can look at a surface and say it looks good, but drive it and it is very rough, he said. El-Hajj, a native of Lebanon, came to the Technical College (now university). He earned his bachelor's degree there and a master's degree at Wayne State University.

He said he hears complaints about road conditions all the time, but personally feels the county road program is better than it was when-he started eight years ago — work is more fairly scheduled and planned.

Traffic is the primary cause of road deterioration, El-Hajj said, but the numbers show the roads aren't all bad. In 1987, there were 125 miles of very poor roads, and in 1996, 30 miles of very poor roads, he said. In 1987, 80-85 miles of excellent roads, and in 1996, 210-215 miles of excellent roads, he said.

In 1987, 17 percent of the roads were rated very poor, and 12.5 percent were rated very good. In 1996, 4.3 percent are rated very poor and 30 percent are rated very good.

Asphalt can be expected to last 15-20 years with crack sealing and patching, while concrete could last 30 years, depending on traffic, El-Hajj said. Heavy traffic shortens the lifespan greatly, he said. Michigan is also an industrial state, with heavy traffic and heavy weight traffic, he

His explanation for many people's perceptions that most of the roads are bad in Michigan? People with bad roads are more conscious of it,

"If they drive on good roads, they take it for granted," he said.

He also says the public is deceived by the idea that other states have much better roads. When traveling, people mostly use the freeways. They don't go to the regular roads, they don't see the degree of deterioration.

Because they live here they see good and bad

If it's a Wayne County road, call the Central Maintenance Yard at (313) 955-9920, which is a 24-hour hot line and a crew will respond within 24-36 hours.

Wayne County is responsible for most major mile roads, and maintains state roads such as the freeways, Telegraph and Ford roads.

Crews are out every day working on patching potholes on county roads, and also respond to any reports of hazardous road conditions, according to John Roach, public information manager for the county's roads

About 5,000 road complaints came in last year, ranging from complaints about potholes, muddy roads or dusty roads, to requests for signals, Roach said.

Canton winners in singles play were Mai Lam, 6-1, 6-2 over Nicole Robert at No. 2; Jessica Dumas, 6-3, 6-2 over Alison Domzalski at No. 3; and Patty Snook, 6-2, 6-3 at No. 4 over Helen Sowards-Emmera.

Canton travels to Farmington to take on the very tough Falcons at 4 p.m. Friday.

Steelers stun Eagles

The Plymouth-Canton Steelers football club got wins from two of its three teams Sunday against the Ann Arbor Eagles.

The varsity team took full advantage of two touchdown passes from Chris Hardy to Chris Sherfey, and some strong overall defensive play, to record a 12-0 victory.

Hardy hit Sherfey with a 7-yard TD toss in the first half, then connected with him again in the third quarter on a 35-yard scoring toss.

Chris Trott, Marshall Tucker, Nate Halbert, Matt Naar, Brad LaVallee, Hardy and Sherfey led the defensive effort.

The Steelers' junior varsity lost their secondstraight, both by a single touchdown, 6-0 to the Eagles Sunday. Chris Gentry, Larry Mitchell, Mike Tomasitis and Brendan Murphy paced the Steeler defense.

The freshmen Steelers got sizable scoring runs from Joshua Gay and Brandon Mancini in disposing of the Eagle frosh, 21-6 Sunday.

Gay, who gained 98 total yards, scored on a 35yard run while Mancini romped 22 yards to paydirt. Justin Nickles accounted for the final Steeler TD, with Mike Kerul booting the extra point. Brandon Hoard tackled the Ann Arbor quarterback in the end zone for a safety and Matt Rourk recovered a fumble to lead the defense

Ryan Collins, Jeff Lake, Eric Mitchell and

John Showalter were top tacklers.

On Sept. 8 against the Redford Rangers, the Steeler varsity fought to a 6-6 tie; the JV lost 14-6; and the freshmen won 19-6.

Lion freshmen shine

The Canton Lions freshmen football team battled the defending league champion Ypsilanti-Huron Braves to a scoreless tie in a driving rain Saturday in Ypsilanti.

Despite the lack of a score, the game did not lack drama. The Braves drove to the Canton 1yard line in the final moments of the game, but the Lions kept them out of the end zone as time

Defensive standouts were defensive linemen Brandon Kilgore and Rvan Lewis, and linebackers Matt Trublowski and Chris Drabicki.

The Lion junior varsity team suffered a 25-0 loss in the rain to the Braves Saturday.

Salem coach guns for 200th victory

With a bit of good fortune and a lot of good football — something Tom Moshimer has been teaching for 38 years — the Salem coach will collect his 200th career victory this Saturday.

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK

Time has a way of getting by you, like a good running back squirting through the line and going 79 yards for a touchdown.

We got another reminder of that the other day when it was noted the next game Plymouth Salem's football team wins will be the 200th of Coach Tom Moshimer's career.

"As far as the game itself, yes, it's a milestone," Moshimer said. "And its a nice thing to achieve. But the game itself is no more important than any another game.

"Our team goal is to win. The 200th doesn't have any part of it. That shouldn't even enter into it."

Spoken like a true coach. Were it up to Moshimer, acknowlhas learned in eight years of coaching at Dundee and another 30 at Salem, it's not to count a victory until it's won.

It says something when you can last long enough to win 200 games.

"When you think about it, you hope that everything you do is going to benefit kids later in life.

"You never really think about it," Moshimer said, "but it's like my long-time assistant Jim Jarvey says, 'If you really narrow it down, you're coaching for yourself. That's why you're there.

"Everybody says you're in it for the kids -- and I don't want this to sound negative -- it's because you really enjoy doing it.

Chiefs topple state-ranked Regina with tight defense and rebounding

One team had everyone back from its Final Four squad of the previous year. The other lacked size, quickness and -- with injuries bothering several key player -- depth.

The "other" team was Plymouth Canton. Last Saturday, the Chiefs hosted Harper Woods Regina, a team that reached the Class A state girls basketball semifinals in '95

On paper, Canton shouldn't have had a chance. On the court, however, the Chiefs were superior, beating Regina 45-35 at Plymouth Salem (Canton's floor is still being refurbished).

'We had a pretty nice game with them," said Canton coach Bob Blohm, his team now 5-1. "I thought we hung in there pretty good.

"We played some pretty good ball; we were patient on offense, and we hung in there defensively. It was a solid defensive performance. We got some good help 'D' from the kids outside, dropping back to help inside.

It was Regina's size and inside strength that most concerned Blohm -- and anyone else that plays the Saddlelites. But the Chiefs responded, holding their bigger opponents in check while out-rebounding them, 29-21.

The difference was the opening quarter, during which Canton jumped out to an 11-5 lead. Using their superior defense, the Chiefs maintained that advantage throughout the game.

Kristi Fiorenzi paced Canton's scorers with 17 points; she also nabbed five rebounds. Melissa Marzolf added 12 points, five boards and four assists; Nkechi Okwumabua had seven points and a team-high seven rebounds; and Mary Anderson contributed four points, six boards and five

Sarah Judd, a 6-foot front court player, led Regina with 14 points. But the Saddlelites other inside threat, 6-2 Renee LaBelle, to just three

Regina, which trailed 23-17 at the half and 37-29 after three periods, closed to within three with just under five minutes left in the game. But Canton made enough of its free throws (13-of-20 for the game, 65 percent) to thwart any comeback

Typically, Blohm would not dwell on the victory. "Oh, no," he answered. "I told them, 'Let's move on from here. We've got a challenging week

The first invitational of the season for Plymouth Canton's boys cross country team ended just the way the Chiefs wanted it to -and they hope it will continue

Canton traveled to the Ludington Invitational Saturday, facing a total field of 27 teams. Among the eight Class A teams, none was better than the Chiefs; they totaled 27 points when calculated against the 'A' field, outdistancing second-place Cadillac easily

In the overall race, Canton finished fourth with 114 points. Finishing ahead of the Chiefs were Benzie Central, the defending Class C state champs, with 62, and Class B Petoskey (77) and Ludington (78).

Against 'A' competition, Canton's best was Shawn Moore, who was third (17:37). Sanjay Sharma finished fourth (18:12), Jason Vergari was fifth (18:23), Jason Diamond was sixth (18:24), and Adam DeGiorgio was ninth

"It was really a tough course, probably the toughest course we'll run on this year," said Canton coach Mike Spitz. "There was no flat part. It was either up or down the whole

With all five scorers finishing in the top 20, Canton's girls cross country team posted the best score in the 23-team field at the Ludington Invitational Saturday.

The Plymouth Salem girls team made a successful trip south to the New Boston Huron Invitational Saturday at Willow Metropark, placing second in the 14-team

"I was real happy," said Rocks' coach Dave Gerlach. "I told my team I was very impressed with the way they're improving."

Salem's best runner was Nicole Bolton, who was fifth overall (20:16). Kristie Giddings was 11th (20:45), Evelyn Rahhal was 14th (20:57), Ellen Stemmer was 16th (21:04), and Erin Lang finished 41st (22:08).

Other Rock runners were Vanessa Bodnar, 49th (22:25) and Sarah Pratt, 56th (22:53). In the junior varsity race, Mari Disbrow finished first overall (21:22). Other strong runs came from Lisa Jasnowski (21:58), Shae Potocki (22:42), Becky Phelan (22:46), Rachel Moraitis (22:46), Aisha Chappell (22:59) and Miranda White (23:25).

Chiefs get 1st win; Rocks still rolling

Northville won the medalist battle but Plymouth Canton's boys golf team won the war.

The Chiefs carved out a victory Monday in their Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division opener, 216-219, over the Mustangs at Tanglewood Golf Club.

"We're very encouraged about this win," Chiefs' coach Tom Alles said. "It's the first time we've beaten Northville in three years. It's our first division win, we're 1-0, and we're on the right track now." Rob Rankin and Eric Swiet-lik of Northville were co-medalists with scores of 38, but Canton more than made up for it with team depth. "It was a total team effort,"

Alles said. "We're finally finding the right mix of players." Matt Heiss just missed sharing medal honors with a 39 while teammates Adam Allen and Brendan Wheeler each notched 42s. Miles Meibers carded a 44 while Erik Arlen had a 49.

Canton is now 1-2 overall but 1-0 in the division. The Chiefs play Westland John Glenn at Glenn's home course Friday.

Salem 214, Farmington 250: Plymouth Salem's first Lakes Division match of the season wasn't much of a challenge. The Rocks blitzed Farmington at Hilltop to run their overall record to 2-0-1.

Brian Fox led Salem with a 39. Jeff Lear followed with a 40, Mark Runchey had a 42, Ryan Krueger shot 46 and Ryan Deschaw carded a 47.

The Rocks play Walled Lake Western Friday at Hilltop.

Deer hunting can lead to health concern

OUTDOOR

awareness and a few precautionary measures can minimize the potential for contacting the dreaded disease

Lyme Disease is an illness caused by a spirochete bacterium (borrelia burgdorferi) which is transmitted to people and animals through the bite of a deer tick. Lyme Disease can cause serious health problems when not detected in the early stage, such as various degrees of heart block, nervous system abnormalities and chronic arthritis. However, when detected early. antibiotic treatments can minimize complications.

The disease usually progresses through three stages. Early symptoms, which occur three days to 30 days after a bite, include flu-like symptoms such as headache, nausea, fever, fatigue and aching joints and muscles. In bout 75-percent of the cases a reddish, circular rash also appears. The rash often looks like a red ring with a clear center and the outer edges slowly expand in size. Aches may seem to travel from joint to joint, lasting only a short time in one

The second stage, which may occur weeks to months after the initial symptoms, include heart palpitations, paralysis of facial muscles (Bell's palsy) and severe head, joint and muscle aches. Chronic arthritis is the most common symptom of the third stage and may occur from a month to several years after the original symptoms.

Check for ticks

Deer ticks are small, about half the size of a common dog tick. A biting deer tick usually doesn't hurt enough to draw attention to itself. To find one, you'll have to check yourself thoroughly. Since ticks stay close to the ground on small vegetation when not attached to a host, a good place to start checking for a tick is around the feet and ankles. Successful hunters should also be sure to check their hands, arms and any part of their body which comes in contact with the hide of the deer.

It is believed the bacteria is transmitted to a human host through prolonged attachment rather than a simple bite. That's encouraging, because if a hunter is bitten and finds the tick it can be removed before the disease is transmitted.

There are many myths about how to remove a tick such as applying gasoline, butter, Vaseline and even a hot match head. In truth, the only sure way to remove a tick is to pull it off. Tweezers or small forceps work best. Grasp the tick as close to the skin as possible and slowly, but firmly, pull it straight out. Be careful not to twist or jerk the tick as the mouth parts _ shaped like tiny barbs _ may remain in a jar with a moist piece of tissue paper for later identification by an expert.

infection. If bitten, save the tick

Avoid contact

The best way to avoid Lyme Disease is to avoid contact with ticks. Insect repellent containing DEET will keep ticks off the

However, serious deer hunters won't want to enter the woods smelling like a can of insect

In that case, it's wise to tuck pant legs into socks or boots or even tape the bottom of your pant legs. Long-sleeved shirts, buttoned or taped at the cuffs, are also a wise choice.

Once again, there is no need to hit the panic button, there is no epidemic of Lyme Disease in Michigan. However, a little concern and some precaution can go a long way in insuring that you don't become one of the rare few Michiganders to contact Lyme

After Dundee, it was over to Plymouth High School back in the days when the high school was downtown, where Central Middle School is today.

The facility moved to Centennial Educational Park in 1971, and Moshimer remained at Salem when Canton was added the following year.

The glory years followed. "The teams that you always remember are the ones that were undefeated," Moshimer said. "It's hard to find fault with those.

"I was very fortunate. I had three of those at Dundee and in 1974 our Salem team was the mythical state champions."

The Michigan High School Athletic Association began tracking playoff points that season but didn't institute its playoffs until the following year.

"That was a disappointment," Moshimer said. "We didn't get to prove it on the field. We played a great schedule. We were in the Suburban Eight and we played Farmington Hills Harrison and Bloomfield Hills Andover as our two non-league games -- and they both ended up 8-1. In between, we won all seven of our league games."

Then there was the 1977 team, which also went 9-0 but lost to Brighton in a snowstorm during the playoffs.

"We lost our quarterback, Rich Hewlett, who went on to play at Michigan, in our eighth game

"I remember we were 8-1 the next year and that was a real satisfying thing because all we had back was Hewlett, all the other kids were gone. So that was a big thrill." Neither Salem nor rival and next-door neighbor Canton have been state powers for an extended period of time since then.

Losing middle school football really hurt. Both programs now rely on their freshmen and junior varsity programs to funnel players to the varsity.

The Steelers and Lions are all that remain to keen football interest at the middle school level -- and they have weight limits. So the Rocks and Chiefs don't

"We have nothing to offer them in our middle schools for the most ' But Moshimer soldiers on. It helps his staff is a constant. "I've had a great staff of assistants," he said. "Just a super staff. We've got volunteers, but the youngest guy on our staff has been here seven years.

"A lot of former players are on our staff. Jarvey (assistant head coach, defensive coordinator) has been with me 22 years. Tom Garrett (offensive ends, linebackers) has been with me about 20."

Tight ends, defensive line coach Dave Schantz, defensive backs coach Mark Gregor, offensive backs coach Bob Cummings and junior varsity coach Chris Hymes have been with Moshimer more than 10 seasons.

Freshman coach Jay Blaylock played for Moshimer, as did Blaylock's assistant, volunteer Brian Charlefour.

Schantz and Cummings are former Rocks, as is Hymes and his assistants, volunteers Miles Edick. Assistant Bill Kelp is a volunteer.

Moshimer is pleased former players such as Hewlett and Bob Thornblade, another Michigan players, continue to keep in touch.

We see Doug Ward (1974) all the time. Hewlett was at our Northville game, so was Doug Ward. It's nice that they think enough of the program to come back and say hello.

"And Mike Ketchum, off our first team (1967). He still comes to all of our games. We gave him his old number on a jersey one night at a game -- and he wears

"He's proud and that makes us feel good. Every time I look up in the stands, he's there. I'll bet he's at North Farmington on Saturday."

Moshimer had a chance early in his career to go to Eastern Michigan as an assistant. Couldn't afford the pay cut, what with his teacher's salary and all. "I'm glad I didn't. I've really been happy coaching high school football. How much longer Moshimer will be around depends on two things -- whether he wants to and whether they want him.

"I'm going year by year at this point," he said. "Who knows? I might get fired.

"As long as I feel I have the enthusiasm to do the job I think needs to be done, I'll continue. But when I get to the point where I don't want to put the time in, then that's the time I'll get out.

have beaten Salem goalkeeper Andres Lopez with 26:24 left in the game when a header from Berzac dangled on the line, only to be cleared just in time by Salem junior defender Rob Zdrodowski.

"Churchill is a great squad and they didn't give up," McCarthy said. "They really peppered us the last 10 minutes of the game. It hurt when we lost Nick (Szczechowski) 10 minutes because of a yellow card.

We were well tested in the back. They (Churchill) made three or four good rushes and you're susceptible to a quick counter-attack when you're doing a lot of shooting at the other end. It's one of the things we want to address.

"We've definitely made progress, but we have a long way

The Chargers, however, felt the constant pressure throughout the game on the defensive

"It's tough when you have guys shooting left-footed and rightfooted and rocketing the ball from 30 yards out," Campau said. "But I thought our goalie (Skolnik) played well. He made a lot of tough saves."

(all times 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

Garden City at Dearborn, 4 p.m.: Uh. oh, don't look now, but Dearborn has another shutout string going. The Pioneers (2-0) didn't allow a point in their first 10 games a year ago and have outscored two opponents 83-0 this year. The latest win was a 39-0 rout of Taylor Kennedy. The host Cougars (0-2) are coming off a 26-13 loss to Southgate. PICK: The first win will have to wait for Monroe at Wayne, 7 p.m.: Monroe (2-0) looks like the real deal after pummeling Mega-Red favorite Dearborn Fordson, 32-12. But how will the Trojans respond to back-to-back challenges and playing another contender. Wayne (2-0) hones to catch Monroe flat after its big win. Meanwhile, the Zebras look good themselves following a 28-12 win over Lincoln Park. PICK: Emons says the Zebras roll on: It's a temporary setback for Wayne, says O'Meara.

Redford Union at Kennedy: The Panthers (0-2) are looking for their first victory, and they could get it this week. One of their three wins last year was a 20-13 decision over Taylor Kennedy (1-1). The Eagles, who were winless a year ago, atoned for a 35-6 loss to Taylor Center by beating their rivals in the opener, 6-0. Kennedy endured a 39-0 shellacking by Dearborn last week, and RU was beaten 32-0 by Dearborn Edsel Ford. PICK: A flip of the coin; it's RU by

Franklin at Churchill: The Patriots (1-1) can lock up the Livonia city championship in just two weeks. They rebounded from their loss to No. 1 Sterling Heights Stevenson with a convincing, 29-7 win over Livonia Stevenson. Wins this week and next could be a big boost going into consecutive games against Canton, Western and Harrison. The Chargers (0-2) are coming off a 21-0 loss to Farmington in which they had six turnovers. PICK: Is there a trophy for

Stevenson at John Glenn: This has been a close, hard-fought game the last two years. The Spartans (1-1) have won both times, 13-10 in 1994 and 14-7. and gone on to represent the Lakes Division in the WLAA championship game. The state-ranked Rockets (2-0) hope to change that. They passed a big test last week by beating Walled Lake Western. PICK: A victory gives Glenn a clear shot at the Lakes title

Northville at Canton: This much we know after two weeks - Monroe is real good, and Canton is much better than anybody thought. The Chiefs (1-1) played a close game with unbeaten Monroe and beat favored Walled Lake Central 27-20 Friday. The Mustangs (0-2) were smothered by South Lyon in the opener 48-0 and were in the game until the end against Plymouth Salem, losing 17-14 on a late field goal. PICK: Canton puts a deuce in the win column.

Farmington at W.L. Central: Both teams are 1-1, but the Falcons have momentum after a win while the Vikings are coming off the loss to Canton. Farmington will try to get tailback Jon Zomphier, who had a Jake Siskosky-like 133 yards on 32 carries in a 21-0 win over Churchill, outside for long gainers. The Falcons face a big challenge against a Central line that features 6-4, 300-pound Josh Heitsch and 6-6, 290 Dave Cardinal at the tackles. PICK: It's a reversal of fortune as the Vikings win this week.

> SATURDAY GAMES (all times 1 p.m. unless noted)

Salem at N. Farmington: The undefeated Rocks (2-0) are the surprise team in Observerland with wins over Belleville and Northville. The Rocks hopes their success extends beyond teams with ville in their names. Brian James' field goal with :06 left enabled Salem to beat Northville, 17-14. The Raiders (0-2) are reeling after one-sides losses to Hartland and Harrison, and they need a victory to right the ship. PICK: Moshimer reaches a milestone with a Salem win.

W.L. Western at Harrison: The Hawks (2-0) have won the Western Division title 13 times and all but once. That was in 1992 when the Warriors took their only victory over Harrison, won the Western Lakes championship and were runners-up in Class A. It's a tough row to hoe as Western (1-1) tries to rebound from its loss to Glenn. Harrison has outscored its opponents 79-6 and hasn't been tested in easy wins over Oxford and North Farmington (37-0). PICK: The Hawks are tough to beat anywhere but Clarenceville at Cranbrook: The host Cranes are 2-0, the visiting Trojans 0-2. But are the records here deceiving? Cranbrook beat winless Hamtramck last week, 14-7, and routed Lutheran Northwest. The Cranes had only one win last year and have a new coach in Gary Gerson. Clarenceville has been in both games, losing 21-19 to Grosse Pointe Liggett and 14-0 to Macomb Lutheran North. PICK: The Cranes have reason to whoop and holler Hamtramck at Luth. Westland: The host Warriors (1-1) looked like possible Metro Conference contenders when they stomped Liggett 32-12 last week. Halfback Albert Cook and quarterback Luke Horton are a pretty good offensive. combination. The Cosmos (0-2) have slipped a notch this year, losing to Cranbrook and River Rouge (42-0). PICK: Go ahead, plan the victory celebration, War-

St. Agatha at Cardinal Mooney: One team goes home a first-time winner as both enter the game 0-2. The Aggies lost to Pickford of the Upper Peninsula, 26-7; the Cardinals have lost to Morrice and Royal Oak Shrine, 19-0. Mooney, of the Catholic D-Section, beat C-Section St. Agatha twice last year, 14-0 in the regular season and 27-21 in the league playoffs. PICK: Who has more rank, a saint or a cardinal? In this case, it's off the Thurston bandwagon (actually, he went flying) when one of its wheels hit a big rock Friday. The obstacle was a Gibraltar Carlson team that beat the Eagles, 34-7. Thurston (1-1) tries to get back on track against a good Crestwood ballclub. The Chargers have the same record, but their 29-8 loss to Allen Park is understandable. PICK: Crestwood leaves Thurston thirsting for another Redford CC at DeLaSalle, 7:30: The Shamrocks (2-0) escaped with a 19-13 win over Ann Arbor as the Pioneers refused to roll over as they did last year It looks as if CC will have its hands full again versus the Pilots (2-0). DeLaSalle edged Riverview 28-27 in the opener and beat Holt, the school CC defeated in the AA championship last November, 12-6. PICK: It's a hard-earned road win for the Shamrocks.

Bishop Borgess vs. Inkster, 7:30 at Garden City Jr. High: It's another toss-up game for the Class C Spartans (1-1). who drilled Ecorse in the opener, then lost 28-0 to Mount Clemens. Borgess faces another Class B opponent in the Vikings (0-2), who have lost to Detroit Southwestern (20-0) and Detroit Benedictine (26-0). PICK: Borgess makes a comeback this week:

packed house and they rose to the occasion.

Saturday's championship match was against the host team, Florida Tech. The first three sets were somewhat close, with Madonna winning the first two, 15-9, 15-9. Tech won the third game, 15-11, but the Crusaders bounced back to win the fourth with ease, 15-5.

The three all-tournament players were the standouts for Madonna. McCausland pounded Tech with 18 kills; she also collected five digs and three block assists.

Martin had 11 kills, one solo block and seven block assists, and Paris finished with five kills, 39 assists-to-kills and 10 digs.

Abraham also applauded the play of Steinhelper (20 digs, four block assists) and outside hitter Karin Sisung (six kills, 20 digs).

"We got some great hitting, and not just from our middle hitters," he said. "Sisung had a dynamite tournament on the

Before knocking out Tech, which slipped to 8-2 with the loss, Madonna ripped West Georgia College 15-0, 15-7, 15-2 Saturday, with Martin getting 16 kills and six blocks, McCausland adding seven kills and eight digs, and Paris dishing out 27

On Friday, Madonna whipped South Carolina-Aiken 15-9, 15-3, 15-3 (McCausland 12 kills, eight digs and six blocks; Martin nine blocks; Paris 27 assists and six blocks; and Sisung six kills and 15 digs) and Lenoir-Rhyne College (N.C.) 15-5, 14-16, 15-7, 15-11 (McCausland 16 kills, seven blocks, six digs; Martin 10 kills, 14 blocks; Paris 46 assists, eight digs, five blocks; Sisung nine kills, 17 digs, four blocks). Against Hillsdale Tuesday, the play was much the same -- all Madonna. McCausland led the Crusaders with 11 kills; she also had six digs and four blocks. Martin added eight kills and three blocks, Paris had 29 assists and 10 digs, Sisung contributed six kills and nine digs, and Steinhelper finished with five kills and eight digs.

So what does it signify? Is this a team that's peaking too early, or is just hitting its stride?

Abraham's answer: "At this point in the season I am very pleased with where we are.

"I expect nothing but improvement the rest of the way.'

SC loses league opener

It was an inauspicious start for Schoolcraft College's women's volleyball team. Coach Tom Teeters believes this could be one of his best teams. But on Tuesday, in their Eastern Conference opener at Mott CC, the Lady Ocelots weren't quite good enough, losing to Mott in straight sets, 15-12, 16-14, 15-8.

There were some highlights for SC. Michelle MacRae had eight kills and Yvette Sixbey (from Garden City) had six. Amber Wells (Plymouth Canton) collected 13 excite to hill. ed 13 assists-to-kills, and Jamie Clark (Livonia Churchill) had eight assists.

The loss left the Ocelots at 0-1 in the conference, 5-2 overall. Last Saturday at the Muskegon CC Invitational, SC compiled a 1 match record, reaching the tournament final before losing to Henry Ford CC. SC beat Lake County (Ill.), Kalamazoo Valley CC, Elgin CC, Morton (Ill.) CC and Vincennes (Ind.) CC to make it to the finals, where Henry Ford topped the Ocelots, 15-12, 15-10.

SC is now 5-2 overall.

the budget in fund 208 also known as the Community Center Fund as follows: Charter Township of Canton Deficit Elimination Plan

Community Center Fund The Audited Financial Statements dated December 31, 1995 showed a deficit of $237,554. At that same date we had deferred revenue from annual pass sales of $256,944. This deficit existed as a result of timing difference between passes, and the opening of the facility. The revenue in question was collected prior to year end, but the facility did not open until January 8, 1996. Had the facility opened prior to December 31, 1995, we would have shown this revenue as earned, thereby eliminating the deficit. This revenue has now been moved from deferred revenue to revenue eliminating the deficit present on December 31, 1995.

COLLEGE SOCCER ROUNDUP

Schoolcraft rebounds nicely from slow start

Any concern over the season confronting Schoolcraft College's men's soccer team was misplaced, apparently.

After a surprisingly winless start through its first four matches, the Ocelots seemed to be facing a rare situation: a season without any post-season.

That isn't the case any more, not after a five-day stretch in which SC blasted three opponents by a combined score of 16-

The streak improved the Ocelots' record to 3-3-2 overall, 2-1 in the NJCAA's Region 12. With the revised post-season format that includes a Region 12 playoff tournament featuring the top two NJCAA teams in Michigan and the top two in Ohio, SC is almost assured of a berth.

And the Ocelots will host the regional playoff, Oct. 26-27.

"Yes, we do have a league race," admitted SC coach Van Dimitriou. "Lakeland beat us 4-3, but it wasn't because they outplayed us. Our kids didn't know how to relax and enjoy the game.

"They hadn't yet won a game. Against Lakeland, they had the opportunity to put it away but didn't. The kids didn't know how to play as a unit."

That isn't the situation any longer. On Monday in a nonregion match against Michigan Christian College, SC got two goals from Vokopola Igli in rolling to a 5-0 triumph at SC.

The Ocelots built a 3-0 lead by halftime, with two goals coming from Igli (one assist from Livonia Stevenson grad Mike Minicilli, the second from David York) and another from Bill Krips (from Pete Lechowicz).

Minicilli and York got secondhalf goals. Ryan Scheid started and played the first half in goal; Travis Miller (from Redford Catholic Central) played the sec-

On Saturday against regional foe Cuyahoga, the Ocelots dominated from start to finish in posting a 6-1 triumph at SC.

Garrett Maki was a one-man show in the victory, pouring in three goals for the second-consecutive game. Maki and Brian Luck netted first-half goals, with Mike Dean assisting on both. Maki scored twice early in the second half to push SC's lead to 4-0, the second on a penalty kick after being dragged down in the Krips (from York) and Kevin Fritz (on Dean's third assist) drove the Ocelot lead to 6-0 before Cuyahoga scored with 10 minutes left.

Scheid started and again played the first half in goal. Miller relieved to start the second; Joe McCarty finished, going the final 15 minutes. "I wasn't disappointed (losing to Lakeland)," Dimitriou said. "I don't like losing, but this was a very good team we were playing.

"We're very young (11 freshmen start). We went to St. Clair after Lakeland, and they were the same type of team, but you could see we were progressing."

SC tied St. Clair 2-2, then last Wednesday beat first-year team Kellogg 5-0.

"Against Kellogg, the kids put it together and have kept putting it together," Dimitriou said. "The way we're playing right now, we'd love to play (Lakeland) again. I have no doubt by the end of the season, we'll be on top."

Things certainly are looking

· MADONNA 13, ST. MARY'S 0: Madonna University coach Pete Alexander will swear that such a score was not his intent.

But when your team scores four goals in the match's first 10 minutes, what can you do? Tell your players to shoot wide, or not to shoot at all? Alexander said he did just about everything else. That may be evident in the scoring for Monday's match against a first-year program, held at Livonia Ladywood.

Ten players scored in the game for Madonna, three of them getting two goals apiece: Shamus Rustin, Brock Becker and Christian Emert. Jason Stempien added a goal and three Other goal-scorers for the Fighting Crusaders were Scott Emert, John Hazinski (Redford Thurston), Mark Zathey (Livonia Churchill), Cam Grahl and Kent Geistler. One of the goals was put in by a St. Mary's defender.

Mike Schroeder and Dave Hart split time in goal for Madonna, but their opponents managed just one shot on

Last Saturday, Madonna took on another building program - Saginaw Valley State. The Crusaders won, 4-0. thanks to Christian Emert's three goals. Andy Makins (Plymouth Salem) got the

My dad showed me the difference between collecting coins and saving money.

I thought my Dad had been collecting U.S. Savings Bonds. Then I realized that he wasn't just "collecting" but "saving" to help insure our future. Savings Bonds are backed by the full faith and credit of the United States, so they're secure. They earn interest for up to 30 years. And their value is guaranteed to grow at marketbased rates. That's insuring the future.

> Ask your employer or banker about saving with U.S. Savings Bonds. For all the right reasons.

Facing challenges

A new video designed to aid physicians in explaining multiple sclerosis is available through the Multiple Sclerosis Association. The 8-minute video, called "MS Challengers" was created to offer physicians a new tool in explaining MS and how patients cope with its often crippling effects. It focuses on both the medical and personal side of multiple sclerosis.

"Every aspect of the video is based on real-life experiences," said MSAA President John G. Hodson, Jr. "In addition to describing the clinical aspects of MS, the video features five of our patient-members who discuss their personal experiences, struggles and extraordinary courage in adopting their lifestyle to stay productive.

The video recently won the 1996 Telly Award for best video in the field of health and medicine. The national competition drew more than 9,000 entries this year.

Henry Ford Hospital is launching a clinical trial of the first topical gel in advanced clinical studies to treat Kaposi's sarcoma, a form of skin cancer that affects nearly 20 percent of people living with HIV and AIDS. KS is the most common tumor in people with AIDS and is often the first visible manifestation of the disease.

increasing presence on the Internet and that trend has moved into southeastern Michigan where the Internet Broadcasting Company in Rochester is on the air and expanding its broadcasting offerings. The IBC started earlier this summer but used Labor Day as a benchmark from which it would launch expanded programming. Visitors to the site at http://www.theibc.com will find Detroit-area radio personalities broadcasting from this site as well as news, information and entertainment.

The IBC uses Real Audio, the software of choice for almost everyone offering sound on the Internet. Real Audio can be used on both a Mac and a PC, although IBM-based PCs do require Windows. The software, which takes about 2 megabytes on your hardware, can be downloaded free from the IBC site.

IBC is an Internet-only radio station with several formats: news/talk, children's broadcasting and music. Among the offerings are:

■ "Mary Jane and Charlie," the children's broadcasting feature of IBC, has a variety of children stories available that can be chosen and listened to at any time. Thus, children can listen to a new story every day or listen to a favorite story over and over. Children also can sing along to favorite or new songs.

The Wire" is an all news talk audio segment that includes political issues, world events, medical, home improvement and business issues. Users can join talks on these issues at regularly scheduled times each day.

Hot List" promotes new records from a variety of recording artists. Users won't have to wait for a radio station to play a song they heard once and are waiting to hear again.

"Concert Connection" features previously recorded interviews and concerts of local and renowned artists, performing anywhere from Pine Knob to the New Jersey Meadowlands. There also will be scheduled live concerts.

The Cafe" is a live audio station offering selected music from adult alternative artists such as "Hootie & The Blowfish," "Cranberries," "Gin Blossoms and "Sting."

John Bornoty, president of IBC, said the ability of a Web audio site to interact with users, and vice versa, is the most exciting feature of this new medium. "For example, you can E-mail song requests directly to the Internet Jockey or vote for your favorite new and upcoming band."

Another key is flexibility, said Bornoty, as users can switch broadcasts with the click of a mouse and surf from pop-music to news/talk to new bands to the children station with great ease.

Entertainment Jewels

RadioTower at

http://www.radiotower.com is an extensive directory of radio stations broadcasting live over the Internet. Tune into live audio from around the world, featuring news, business, theater, music, sports and church.

■ WorldCam at http://www.ovd.com/ is a collection of live-cams which regularly monitor a hallway at Premiere Radio Networks to a back stage cam from Holland. Personally, I think cams on the Internet is a novelty of limited use. But that's what Internet radio was a year ago so stay tolerant about this technology.

If you downloaded Real Audio to listen to the IBC than you are all set to go to http://1212.com/, as Europe's professional music industry directory makes its way online. Here you will find casting files designed for audio, video and film sound producers. Bursting from its seams are singing sessions, voice overs, film composers and equipment for sale.

Net new music at http://www.parnasse.com/netnewmusic.shtml will keep you informed on new MIDI and/or audio files that have been launched online. There is a pretty complete assortment of composer files and specialized collections.

■ John Lennon — Working Class Hero can be accessed with a bit of typing at http://www.hollywoodrec.com/HollywoodReco rds/Musicians/JohnLennon/JohnLennonM.ht ml. This is one of the longest addresses I've seen in some time so type slowly and carefully. When you finally arrive at this Hollywood Records site you will find an all-star tribute entitled "Peace" with such bands as the Red Hot Chili Peppers, Blues Traveler, George Clinton, and Cheap Trick. While its official release date isn't until October 10th, Web audiences can obtain a special sneak preview complete with sound clips and lyrics. There also is a complete collection of John Lennon links.

ake, music, children's games, and behind-the-scene tours: the only element missing from the University of Michigan Museum of Art's 50th Birthday Bash is the elephant. Although Renee was unable to travel from the Toledo Zoo to help celebrate, the African pachyderm sent five of her abstract paintings for the special exhibit "Komar, Melamid, and Renee." It's not that director William J. Hennessey didn't ask.

We tried very hard to get her here, but the zoo asked, would you lend us one of your most expensive paintings to display with the ele-phants at the Toledo Zoo. And by the way, it's harder to move a painting than a 6,000 pound elephant," said William J. Hennessey with a twinkle in his eye

Nonetheless, the birthday bash will go on to celebrate 50 years of fine painting, sculpture, drawing, photography and installations. Among the sponsors are the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association and the Selo Shevel Gallery in Ann Arbor.

"It's an opportunity to get the word out. Our museum is a place where we bring art and people together in a service of understanding. You have the ability to learn about other times and places. It's a window into other civilizations and what we are today," said

Hennessey, museum director for six

Built in 1911 as a memorial to University of Michigan alumni who died in the Spanish-American and Civil Wars, the museum of art moved into part of the building in 1946 with the intent of existing as a resource for art and art history students. Over the years, it has grown to fill the building.

After the Detroit Institute of Arts, the museum houses the second largest art collection in Michigan, and one of the finest university art collections in the U.S. From Han Dynasty tomb figures and Italian Renaissance panel paintings to Central African art, 18th century textiles and a reproduction of an authentic Japanese Tea Room, the museum is a treasure trove of more than 14,000 fine and decorative objects including more than 150 prints and drawings by James McNeil Whistler, contemporary photography, ceramics and sculpture "The University of Michigan's been accumulating works of art since the 1840s. At first keeping them in storage and basements until 1946 when it was moved here," said Hennessey. "Over the years we've shifted our programming to make our museum as much a community resource as an academic, and be intellectual and interesting to a majority of the population. The challenge was how to make all that magic.

"The hardest job we have is to get them to come in the door. I think American museums haven't Related Event: Round table Discussion, "The Possibilities and Limits of Collaboration" 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 25 in the West Gallery. Komar and Melamid will join Renee's trainer, a Toledo Blade art critic, and an animal behaviorist to discuss the exhibit and the processes that led to it. been as user friendly as they could be. We want to be responsive, make it feel like it's their museum starting with the exhibition 'Komar, Melamid, and Renee.'

Featuring the work of Russian emigre painters Vitaly Komar and Alex Melamid in collaboration with the mild-mannered elephant named Renee, the exhibit is a testimony to man's attraction to animals as relayed in art through the centuries. From Egyptian mosaics to paintings by Henri Rousseau, man has celebrated and interpreted his relationship to animals in art. Now, man is making art with animals like Renee who wields a paint brush with her trunk.

Komar and Melamid met in a Moscow morgue in 1963 when they were students at the Stroganov Institute of Art and Design. After graduating, they began collaborating, exploring and creating their commentary on Soviet propaganda in a style they call "Sots," a hybrid of Soviet Realism and Pop Art. They emigrated to the United States in 1978. Since then their work has sparked laughter, insight and controversy. It's no wonder they chose to paint with an elephant.

Born in Africa in 1979, Renee arrived in Toledo in 1992. She has been painting for 10 years under the tutelage of Don RedFox, her trainer and elephant manager for the zoo. In July 1995, Komar and Melamid traveled to the Toledo Zoo to paint for a week with Renee who has a fondness for the color blue. The two will discuss the process and resulting huge, colorful abstract paintings with RedFox, an animal behaviorist and an art critic from the Toledo Blade on Sept. 25 at the museum.

We're the first museum to show this art. The fact that it's funny and a little outrageous led us to schedule the exhibition. The idea was to make visitors smile but also think about serious issues. We've always thought the only species that can make art is human beings. Does this make you want to stop and reconsider?" asked Hennessey. "How about collaboration. They were collaborating with this remarkable animal. If you believe we can communicate and swim with dolphins, why can't we collaborate with an elephant who does gestural abstract painting?"

Hennessey mixed in the elephant paintings with abstract paintings from the museum's permanent collection because he wants visitors to ask could any of these other paintings have been painted by an elephant. Which marks did the elephant make and which did the human beings make? Only one is obvious. A footprint made by Renee becomes the focal point of a large-scale painting.

"Just as Jackson Pollock used to step into his painting, she did too. Jackson Pollock said one of the goals was to transfer a mood to a canvas. He would drip, splatter and walk on his canvas. He used to say it was like a dance and the marks he was making communi-

Theatergoers tired of musicals and revivals of old time favorites will find that something different they're looking for at Meadow Brook.

This year's season plays up works written within the last six years. There is a lot of good modern work that has not seen the light of day in regional theater," said artistic director Geoffrey Sherman. "These are wellwritten, highly entertaining and mov-ing plays. We want to give our audience a chance to see them. Why go all the way to New York when you can see a good play here."

A highlight is "I Am A Man," by University of Michigan professor Oyamo, which is based on events from the 1968 Memphis sanitation workers' strike. It will be co-produced with Detroit's Plowshares Theatre Company.

"Appalachian Strings," a new musical which premiered at the Denver Center Theatre Company last spring, where it played to sold out houses, follows a family as it leaves Ireland during the 1840s and settles in America's Eastern mountains. Through story and song the succeeding generations tell of living off the land, in mines and on the road. An on stage band backs up the cast.

Anyone whose mother calls them everyday — "so I know you're safe and not lying in a gutter somewhere," will enjoy the season opener James Sherman's "Beau Jest."

This long-running New York hit involves Sarah Goldman, a nice Jewish

Since Bob toured in "Fiddler on the Roof" and played a doctor on the TV series "St. Elsewhere," deceiving Sarah's parents should be a piece of kugel. When Sarah and Bob fall in love, things get even more complicated.

Henrietta Hermelin of West Bloomfield portrays Sarah's mother, Miriam. With four children and one grandson, Hermelin said she can identify very closely with her character. "I come from a close family," said Hermelin who is making her Meadow Brook debut in "Beau Jest." These are nice people. They care about each other."

Comedy just bubbles out. When Sarah tells her parents she's stopped dating Chris, her mom starts clipping out ads from the singles column, and puts them on her dinner plate.

"Love will heal all because her parents love her, and want her to be happy," said Hermelin. "My daughter feels I want to see her marry a Jewish man. I'm thrilled she's dating, but she's too frightened to test the

Although it's a story about a Jewish family, playwright James Sherman, a former member of Chicago's Second City, and playwright-in-residence at Chicago's Victory Garden, said "Beau Jest" seems to ascend all levels of eth-

"You don't have to be Jewish to enjoy it," he said. "Years ago I read a story about the new angry playwrights, and I thought, I'm not angry, I had a happy childhood and loved my parents. I wanted to write a play where the parents were the heroes."

"Beau Jest" brought him and his wife Linnea Todd together. "She was cast in the play then we got acquainted," he said. "I wrote the sequel, "Jest a Second!" with her in mind, but she didn't get to play the role because our second son was born.

Todd, Sherman and their two sons are staying on campus in married student housing during the run of the show. "We really like to keep the family together," he said. "I'm working on another romantic comedy."

Family relationships are a reoccurring theme in Sherman's work. "I had a storyline in mind, and it occurred to me that it could be done with the same set of characters," he said.

In "Jest a Second," the story continues. Bob and Sarah are happily married and pregnant. But, Sarah's brother Joel, wants to bring his new love, Randy the pediatrician, to family dinner. Ordinarily, the Goldmans would be happy that a doctor is coming over, but Randy is a guy. Moments before the introduction. Joel loses his nerve, so Bob goes into his closet and pulls out the dress he wore in "La Cage Aux Folles," and impersonates a female Randy.

"It's something that exists," said Sherman. "My best friend is a gay man with children. In grad school I had no idea he was gay. It was interesting to me, it was a surprise, but it didn't have an adverse effect on our friendship. It was educational, a gay man with children is not as rare as you might think. I thought it would be an interesting story to

In "Beau Jest!" Joel mentions he's divorced and has two children, but there's no mention of him being gay. "I didn't know he was gay in 'Beau Jest,' " said Sherman.

"There seems to be an appeal for this play and this family, and 'Jest a Second!' is a chance to spend a little more time with them."

The plays also star David Ellenstein as Joel, Robert Grossman (Abe), Wayne David Parker (Chris), and John Seibert

"Beau Jest" and "Jest A Second!" can be seen on the same day or successive days at Meadow Brook during the week of Oct. 23-27.

THEATER

'Dreamcoat' fits Sam Harris well in Donny's place

BY KEELY WYGONIK

Don't wait until Donny Osmond returns the week of Sept. 25 to see "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat." Sam Harris, who replaced Osmond after he suffered a vocal chord injury during the final weeks of the show's recent Boston engagement, shines as Joseph.

Produced by Livent (US) Inc. and The Really Useful Theatre Company, "Joseph" with lyrics by Tim Rice and music by Andrew Lloyd Webber, was first seen by Detroit audiences last fall at the Masonic Temple Theatre.

Osmond, who has triumphed n the role, and performed to sold-out audiences, is under doctor's orders to refrain from singing Andrew Lloyd Webber's demanding role based on the biblical story of "Joseph" found in Chapters 37-46 of Genesis.

Handsome, and humble, Harris has an innocence that makes him look the part of Joseph, the favored son of Jacob, played by James Harms, who is sold by his 11 envious brothers

Joseph's captors take him to Egypt where he gains his freedom and a position in Pharaoh's court through his interpretation of dreams.

Star of the American touring production of "Joseph and the Technicolor Dreamcoat," Harris works hard to earn the respect of an audience disappointed they're seeing him on stage instead of Osmond, and earned a standing ovation after a recent performance.

Harris, who received raves for his Broadway debut in "Grease" before heading across "America" in "Joseph," proves he's capable his start as the grand champion Joseph."

"Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat"

Where: Fox Theatre, 2211 Woodward Ave. Detroit.

When: Performances 8 p.m. Wednesdays; 1 and 1 p.m. Thursdays; 8 p.m. Fridays; 2 and 8 p.m. Saturdays; 1 and 5:30 p.m. Sundays through Oct. 12. Donny Osmond is expected to return to the role of Joseph during performances the week of Tickets: Range in price from $10 to $57.50 and can be purchased at the Fox Theatre box office, or charged by phone at (810) 433-1515. For information, call (313) 983-6611.

of the challenge of leading the company of 34 actors and a 46member children's choir.

of "Star Search" in its premiere season. Throughout his career he has worn many hats - singer and songwriter, Broadway and TV actor, writer and director. His latest recording is "Standard Time/Different Stages," a double CD of popular and Broadway standards

Although the story is serious, "Joseph," is not. It was intended to be 20 minute entertainment for a school choir for a prize-giving ceremony at a London prep school in 1968, and evolved into a colorful blockbuster musical.

The lyrics are memorable and the tunes humable. After Joseph's envious brothers sell him into slavery, they sing "One More Angel in Heaven," with a action, guiding the audience, humorous country twang.

There are lots of great songs "Any Dream Will Do," "Close A native of Oklahoma, he got Every Door," and "Go, Go, Go

Moods are created on stage with a variety of musical styles, and electrifying dancing - pop, calypso, French chanson, and even rock-and-roll inspired by Elvis Presley. When Jacob and his sons are starving during a famine, the music is somber French chanson. Kelli James Chase co-stars as the narrator who tells the story, and Johnny Seaton portrays Pharoah, ruler of ancient Egypt. Seaton's Pharoah is the "King of Kings," looks and sounds a lot like Elvis down to his blue suede shoes. Pharoah's ancient Egypt resembles Las Vegas complete with a slot machine. As the narrator, Chase blends into the doesn't interrupt it.

Jacob's sons and their wives work together well as an ensemble, and seem to be having fun on stage. No one tries to stand out, they're a team.

"Joseph" is about dreams, and believing in yourself no matter what happens. Children are the original dreamers, and they play a big part appearing in almost

Four children's choirs, including the Redford Youth Theatre Choir, were combined to create the two groups who perform in rotation in each of the shows. Grouped together to reflect the rainbow of colors in Joseph's coat, the children give the show everything they've got, dancing, smiling and looking serious on

Music, and dancing, some of it aerobic, elevate the energy of "Joseph." Harris is hoisted way Harris is hoi above the stage in the finale, to phenomenal heights. Even though the cast is doing all the work you'll be out of breath at

Figuring out who-dunnit is murder in 'Postmortem'

BY BOR WEIBEL SPECIAL WRITER

If you love a good "who-dunnit" - you'll have a good time fingering the murderer in The Dearborn Players Guild's sparkling production of "Postmortem." And no, the butler didn't do it! But this Ken Ludwig play trots out about every other murder mystery device.

For openers, the setting is 1922 at the "Gillette Castle." (Which actually exists in Connecticut, and was built by William Gillette who wrote "Sherlock Holmes" in collaboration with Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. He created and starred in the role of the master detective on stages across America for 30

And "Postmortem" the same Mr. Gillette, played superbly by Thomas Hoagland, invites theatrical friends to a spine-tingling seance to his castle.

Hoagland's commanding stage presence (and his eerie resemblance to the classic image of Sherlock Holmes) provides cohesiveness during the show's spoofy moments. The seance reveals that one of the guests is the sister of Maude Redding, Gillette's former lover, whom we see pictured on a wall. The point of the whole exercise is to learn which of the invited guests killed her one year ago to

Gillette suspects the sister, but after a variety of intrigues, it seems that every guest has a guess what. In motive. Most end up pointing a gun at each other, and Gillette eve gets shot in the arm. With all the false indicators, one even wonders if that too is fake. True to the who dunnit genre, a surprise ending reveals the killer. And the reason is even more startling.

> You have six suspects to choose from. Edward Howell seems to have stepped out of an F. Scott Fitzgerald novel as the fatuous Bobby Carlyle. But is Bobby's charming exterior a false front? Tami Tabacchi is very good as the ingenue sister, May Dison,

"Postmortem" When: Presented by Players

Guild of Dearborn, 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays through Sept. 28; 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 29, 21730 Madison (near the southeast corner of Monroe and Outer Drive).

Tickets: $10; students $8 on Sunday, Sept. 29. Call (313) 561-TKTS.

Why is it that she arrives with Bobby and is soon in Gillette's

Joanne Duckman and Jeff

Bartos score as an acerbic and argumentative couple, Marion and Leo Barrett. Are they capable of something really sinister?

Loretta Wilson is excellent as Gillette's sister, Lilly Warner. She seems to hover over Gillette's every move. Would she kill to get another woman out of Gillette's life?

It couldn't possibly be Louise Paffadine, who helped plan the seance with Gillette, could it?

Why would she shoot Gillette? Jacqueline Turfi Bacus is deliciously theatrical in the role and just might be capable of anything.

Director, Elna J. Johnson, has paced the show well (it runs about two hours including intermission) and the stage setting, costumes and props have an authentic 1920s look.

Special effects are well done, although the cast was required to cover nicely for a balky revolving panel in castle wall.

When he's not writing about plays, Bob Weibel of Westland is performing, or directing them. He's a longtime Observer critic who is active in local community theater groups.

"Pulp Fiction" and "Get MONAGHAN Shorty" will appeal to the kind of viewer that laughs at any violence in the movies, whether it's meant to be funny

The movie was actually held back nearly a year as its releasing company, Fine Line, searched for a desirable window to open it in. Without Keanu Reeves as star, it might have gone straight to video. "Feeling Minnesota" finds a pair of brothers in love with the same woman. Sam (played by Vincent D'Onofrio) starts out the loser, a bookkeeper for a local drug and flesh peddler who gives him a sexy bride (Carmen Diaz) as a bonus. She wants nothing to

His jailbird brother, Jjaks (Reeves), reluctantly shows up to the wedding and is immediately eyeballed by the bride. She lures him into the bathroom for quick sex then begs him to take her with him, which of course he does, tailed by the vengeful groom. The surprises intended for the movie's second half are almost insulting.

First-time writer/director Steven Baigelman has either seen too many movies or not enough, fashioning a mystery that even the most casual moviegoer will successfully secondguess. The movie calls for a strong leading man to negotiate the noirish twists and turns but has Reeves instead. He's such a lousy actor that the few good situations (like Jjaks' masked stickup of a gas station where the attendant immediately identifies him) fall flat.

D'Onofrio, first seen as a private pushed to the limit in "Full Metal Jacket," has made a career out of off-kilter characters. He tries to bring some poignance to the dumb-as-rocks Sam, who is too stupid to be either menacing

The big loser in "Feeling Minnesota" is Cameron Diaz, who opens with this and the misfire Ed Burns comedy "She's the One" within the same month. She's actually sexy and funny in the early scenes, a wild child in a dirty wedding dress looking for a way out. Not every movie has to have a message, but black comedies work best when they do.

From "Dr. Strangelove" to the recent "To Die For," they use death and violence as means to an end, not their whole reason for being. The violence in the movie is numbing, nearly two hours of the brothers chewing each others' ears off and engaging in ritualistic games of Rock, Paper Scissors. (Think of it as The Three Stooges, but with blood). "Feeling Minnesota" hits one note in its view of men as overgrown kids who still pelt rocks at each other. In the end, it's the audience that feels pummeled, by a movie as stupid and pathetic as its main characters.

"Detroit will be the largest show that we have ever headlined. This is leaving aside festivals. The previous one was in Warsaw," guitarist Tom Morello said.

Rage Against the Machine is winding up its tour in support of its sophomore diatribe "Evil Empire," produced by Brendan O'Brien. Like its self-titled debut, Rage Against the Machine mixes hard rock and hip-hop—and doesn't make any bones about its political beliefs.

"We are completely unapologetic about our politics and that while it is the thing that we are most criticized for, it is the thing we are most sure of. Some people say that our politics are extreme and we agree. You don't cure an extreme illness with a moderate medicine. On this record and through the causes we've embraced, we keep pushing the envelope of what it is the rock band can accomplish," Morello explained.

"The band continues to support Leonard Peltier, Mumia Abu-Jamal, the Zapistas fighting for true democracy in Mexico. The video for (the single) 'People of the Sun' addresses that issue. The overall message is that people should rebel and not passively accept oppression. ... Sitting back passively in front of a television set is just not good enough and we hope that through music we can use it as a tool to organize as well as to rock you."

Peltier, a Native American, was convicted on two counts of first-degree murder and sentenced to two consecutive life sentences in a June 26, 1975, shoot-out with FBI agents at Jumping Bull Ranch on the Pine Ridge Reservation in South

If think that it's a message that we don't hide very well. On every song and in every T-shirt, we make our intentions extremely clear. I don't see how you can be a fan and ignore it. Partially, the idea is not just to bring in hard-core activities, but to help people who feel (this way) and let them know that other people feel the same way.'

Tom Morello Rage Against the Machine

Dakota. On its debut album, Rage Against the Machine made Peltier the subject of the video for its song "Freedom." Abu-Jamal, a journalist, sits on death row for shooting a police officer in Philadelphia. Rage Against the Machine and a host of others, believe that both men were wrongly convicted.

Rage Against the Machine has made its intentions clear since its first show in 1991 in an Orange County, California, living room. Besides regularly headlining Rock For Choice benefits, the group created a silent protest against censorship at the Lollapalooza on July 18, 1993, in Philadelphia by standing naked on stage for 25 minutes without singing or playing a note. Each band member had duct tape across his mouth and a letter scrawled on his chest, spelling out "P-M-R-C," which stands for the Parents' Music Resource Coalition, Tipper Gore's organization that helps parents monitor the music their children lis-

Jamal. During an appearance on "Saturday Night Live" on April 13, 1996, the band's performance was cut to one song after the band attempted to hang inverted American flags from their amplifiers.

Morello explained that the band doesn't plan on hiding its beliefs any time soon.

"I think that it's a message that we don't hide very well. On every song and in every T-shirt, we make our intentions extremely clear. I don't see how you can be a fan and ignore it. Partially, the idea is not just to bring in hard-core activities, but to help people who feel (this way) and let them know that other people feel the same way."

Mountain Jack's has new menu and mission

BY KEELY WYGONIK STAFF WRITER

New wall coverings, carpeting, lighting fixtures, upholstery, table settings and art work help create the modern, contemporary look of the newly renovated Mountain Jack Steakhouses.

Jazz and Big Band music plays softly in the dining room, which is decorated in rich browns, burgundy, purple and forest green.

A new menu, and trained staff who can suggest wine and food pairings also await diners.

"People as a rule are unfamiliar with wine, and intimidated by it," said James Anderson, general manager of the Livonia location. "Our staff training addressed that. Now we can describe wines better, and suggest wine and food pairings."

For those remaining undecided about a selection, Mountain Jack's Steakhouse offers the Wine Sampler which consists of a two-ounce sample of any three wines available by the glass for

"We spent a lot of time talking with customers about what they want from a steakhouse in terms of flavor, style, service and overall ambience," said Dan Silverman, vice president of marketing for Paragon Steakhouse Restaurants, Inc. "One of the most valuable realizations on our part was that we need to redefine what we are - a classic American steakhouse - and what we do best - steak and prime rib. By focusing on our heritage, we are now committed to providing the best steakhouse experience for under $20."

The new Jump Start appetizer platter, $4.95 per person, offers an assortment of crab stuffed mushrooms, BBQ baby back ribs, potato skins, onion rings and fried zucchini.

Baked potatoes are still available by request, but the new Potato Trio consisting of scalloped, red roasted and basil mashed potatoes gives diners more options. Potato Trio is served family-style to the entire family in a three-bowl server.

chefs have also developed Half Cut entree selections for those seeking smaller portions. Half Cut entrees include 11 beef, seafood and poultry choices, all served with either a crock of clam chowder or tableside salad bar, and Potato Trio.

"Our Half Cut portions enable guests to enjoy the same experience with all of the extras, at a significantly lower price," said Silverman. "We recognized that we were not offering enough of a price range, which may have led some customers to believe that we were too upscale."

For instance, a top sirloin full cut is $13.95, and a half cut is $9.95 on the dinner menu. A full cut of Citrus Ginger Chicken is $12.95, and a half cut is $9.95. A full cut of Grilled Swordfish with Cilantro Salsa is $15.95 and a half cut is $11.95.

Mouth-watering side dishes include caramelized onions or sauteed mushrooms, Hollandaise or Whiskey Peppercorn Sauce, and Citrus Ginger Vegetable Medley.

New on the dessert menu is The Big Finish for guests who either can't make up their mind, or want to sample a little bit of every dessert. The cost for two or more persons is $3.95.

"Rather than leaving the burden of ordering dessert to one table member, we are trying to make it simple for the entire party to indulge," said Silverman. The Big Finish is a dessert platter featuring an assortment of favorites such as Bailey's Irish Cream mousse, mudd pie, turtle cheesecake and raspberry bread pudding.

Mountain Jack's has also made a commitment to better serve the communities their restaurants serve.

"We recently completed a major renovation to enhance our appearance and ambience, and realized that we wanted to revitalize our image with the community as well," said Judith Herndon, general manager of the Mountain Jack's steakhouse of Bloomfield Hills. "These programs represent a renewed commitment to the people and organizations that have made an effort to add to the great quality of life for everyone."

In an effort to recognize individual efforts and achievements, Moutain Jack's Steakhouse has developed the "Local Heroes" program. The program will honor "Local Hero" every month.

New dining experience: Chef James Miller (left to right) and General Manager, James Anderson in the renovated and revitalized dining room at Mountain Jack's Steakhouse of Livonia. Moutain Jack's Steakhouse is the process of a major renovation project to enhance the appearance and ambiance of their restaurants.

Each "Hero" will have their photograph, along with a brief description of their achievement on display at the restaurant which serves the city they live

Mountain Jacks has formed a Community Action Team, comprised of local leaders and influencers, at each of their metro-Detroit locations, who will donate their time to select future Local Heroes, as well as assist in directing the restaurant's other community efforts.

In addition to recognizing individuals, metro Detroit Mountain Jack's Steakhouse locations are forming partnerships with four non-profit organizations -Habitat For Humanity of South Oakland County, Camp Fire Boys and Girls Detroit Area Council, Ann Arbor Art Center, and Macomb Literacy Project.

During Mountain Jack Steakhouse housewarmings, which will be scheduled this fall, each restaurant will donate a percentage of their profits to partner their charity. Throughout the year they will work to help promote the good works their partner charity does in the community.

Mountain Jack's Steakhouse of Livonia and the Camp Fire Detroit Area Council will work together to promote the opportunities available for boys and girls through Camp Fire involvement and will strive to offer these opportunities to a greater number of youths in the Livonia

In Oakland County, Mountain Jack's Steakhouses in Bloomfield Hills, Troy and Auburn Hills, will work with Habitat for Humanity of South Oakland County to help provide affordable housing for those in need.

Through volunteer labor, management expertise and taxdeductible donations of money and materials, Habitat for Humanity builds and rehabilitates homes with the help of homeowners while creating new relationships and a sense of humanity.

Bring your own design to Green Acres

Green Acres consists of just seven half-acre lots on Five Mile between Middlebelt and Merriman in Livonia.

Privacy, wooded lots, plenty of shopping within walking distance and nearby freeway access will draw buyers who aren't necessarily looking for a lot of neighbors.

Tri-West Development, which has constructed eight houses in scattered locations throughout the metro area in its four years existence, is the developer/builder in Green

"I'm a custom builder. Every house I've done is different," said Sam Baki, who also serves as sales rep. "We try to leave open options for customers."

A spec ranch of 1,850 square feet with three bedrooms and 2-1/2 baths is under construction.

The house features an open great room with a cathedral ceiling, dining room, kitchen with island and dishwasher, first floor laundry, two car attached garage and basement.

The master suite will have a separate whirlpool tub and shower and a walk-in closet. Each of the other two bedrooms will have a sitting ledge around windows.

"This house comes with a fireplace, bay windows, air conditioning - all standard features plus an upgraded 25-year warrantied shingle," Baki said. "We prep basements for a bathroom and don't charge more. We put in all vinyl windows to keep it maintenance free."

Sales price is $209,900 includ-

"With prices of new construction going up, we try to use all of the space we have," Baki said. "There's no dead space. All are good-sized bedrooms. We try to use all the space we can and give people the right house for the

Vinyl siding and brick are the primary exterior materials with some wood accents.

Baki makes the point that Tri-West is flexible and can work off ideas prospective buyers may bring to the site.

"The people who were just in here showed us plans of a house they visited. They like the style, but want something different. We can do everything. If you want a side entry or three-car garage, we can do that at added

Tri-West also plans to build a speculative 2,100-square-foot colonial at Green Acres that will carry a price similar to the ranch, Baki said.

"Everyone tells me we offer more for the money," he said. "Houses aren't too compacted together. There's lots of trees. It's a private setting - seven home sites with a private road."

Green Acres is within the Livonia school boundaries. Riley Middle School is right across the street. Homeowners will be serviced by city water and sewers. There will be no sidewalks.

The property tax rate is $31.31 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value.

scenario: You have just found dream home after a lengthy house search. You need to apply for your mortgage within the next few days. Where do you start to look? In the Yellow Pages? In the newspaper? Maybe, but another good place to start would be with your real estate agent. Agents are a good source because they deal with mortgage lenders on a daily basis and know first hand who is competitive and at the same time who provide good service. Brian Schwartz from Century 21 Today in Livonia says, "I always recommend for my clients to talk with at least two lenders that I know who have competitive rates and have been proven to be VERY efficient with my previous clients." Yet, there are people who will prefer to call several lenders to find the lowest rate possible without regard to the lender's experience or reliability. I believe this to be very short-sighted. These people are taking for granted that, no matter who they pick, the service will be good. You may not discover the truth until it becomes too

There have been numerous

An existing Imagine this times that I have heard or seen people regret their selection of a mortgage lender. Most often, they find out at closing that the rate or closing costs are higher than they were led to believe. Another problem is that the lender or the loan officer will tell the client that they are preapproved (or even fully approved) and, when it comes time to close them mortgage, additional information is requested that should have been requested long before. In most cases, I attribute this to inexperience on the loan officer's

Another reason for the delay in gaining information may be because the lender uses several investors and doesn't know until closing which one they will use. Because investor requirements for documentation vary, they may need to return to the borrower for extra information. To save yourself unnecessary aggravation and disappointment. I suggest you follow the advice of Brian Schwartz and investigate a lender's experience. "I tell them not to be afraid to ask how long they have been in business because experience and knowledge can make a big difference."

A new construction home Let's talk today about the important role a lender plays when building your own home. Lenders commonly refer to this as a "self build." First, you must select a lender who has the proper loan program in place for a self builder.

For people who are building their own home and are not licensed builders, this is important because they need a lender who is experienced in specific needs of new construction. Many self builders are doing so for the first time and need to work with a knowledgeable and experienced lender who can help make the building process as uncomplicated as possible.

One such lender is a company called Marflax Corporation. Marflax has specialized in financing construction loans to individuals acting as their own builders for the past 40 years. Typically, banks and mortgage companies require the construction loan borrower to be a licensed builder or an individual working through a licensed builder. Marflax does not. Marflax only finances construction loans, that is, during the process of construction. They will finance from any stage of construction. When the house is completely built, you will refinance through a bank, mortgage company, etc., of your choice for your long-term mortgage. This gives you the flexibility to choose from the many long-term mortgage options available today.

Construction loan approval time is normally as little as two days, and there is no application fee. Marflax's program allows for unlimited draws at no cost per draw with disbursement the same day. A waiver of lien is provided with each draw. Marflax has offices throughout southeast Michigan. Their direct number is Refinancing your home If you currently have an adjustable rate mortgage (ARM), you may want to think about refinancing to their a fixed rate or another ARM. While refinancing does have costs associated with it, many times it is worth the cost of refinancing.

First, find out your current rate and how much you paid in points and closing costs when you originally took out the mortgage. This information will be on your HUD-1 closing statement. Make a note of your adjustment or anniversary date, the date when your rate can change.

Then call some of the various mortgage lenders and give this information to the loan officer. With some simple calculations. the loan officer should be able to tell you if it would be worth your while to refinance or not. It would also be helpful for the loan officer to know a rough estimate of how much longer you plan on staying in your home.

Before you convert, make sure there is no prepayment penalty on your current loan or the new loan. If you choose a new ARM, I would recommend a convertible program, which means that usually after the first 13 months, your ARM into a fixed-rate mortgage for a $200 fee.

It's nice to work with a lender your loan because, should you you may save some of the closing town guests.

Use electricity efficiently

The following energy saving tips, are simple, low-, or no-cost, and will help you get more control over your home's electric bills according to the Edison Electric Institute, the national association of electric companies. The tips cover the two largest energy using' appliances in your home - heating/cooling and water heating. In becoming more efficient, you'll also improve your home's comfort and convenience. You'll make it kinder to the environment too.

Household heating and cooling

■ Change your air conditioner's or heat pump's filter every month or two, depending on how dirty it is. You should be able to see light clearly through the filter. If not, it needs to be changed.

■ During hot summer days, keep curtains drawn and shades pulled over windows facing east, south, and west.

■ Move furniture away from the air registers, allowing for the free flow of cooled or heated air.

■ Consider a set-back thermostat to control your heating and cooling systems. Most air conditioners can bring your home's temperature down to a set level within a half an hour. This thermostat limits the air conditioner's use to when people are at home.

 Place your thermostat on an inside wall, away from windows and doors. Drafts will cause the thermostat to keep the heating or cooling system running, even if the rest of the house is comfortable.

■ Close cooling vents in unused rooms. Also, when using window air conditioners, don't forget to close doors to unused rooms.

Water heating

In the average house, the water heater is the second largest energy user after space heating.

■ Select the right size water heater for the household. Keeping more hot water on hand than needed wastes electricity. ■ Set the water heater at 120 degrees for normal use; for dishwashers without temperature boosters, set the heater at 140 degrees. (Use a regular thermometer under a faucet to check the temperature.)

■ If the sides of the water heater feel warm to the touch, wrap a water-heater blanket around the water heater, especially if the water heater is located in an unheated area of the

The first thing to decide is whether you want a conifer, a deciduous tree Acer family while Serviceberry is an (one that drops its leaves each fall), a broadleaf evergreen or a flowering shrub. The next question is, "Where will we plant this new addition in our land-

In the conifer category look for Junipers, Juniperus species; American Larch/Tamarack, Larix laricina; Spruces, Picea Abies or P. glauca, P. pungens and others. Pines, Pinus aristata (Bristlecone Pine) or Mugo Pine, P.

Cedar/Arborvitae, Thuja occidentalis, has many varieties and so does the in this unpredictable Canadian Hemlock, Tsuga canadensis.

Many deciduous trees are quite hardy in our northern climate and the selection is great. Maple trees are in the Amelanchier. Ashes are Fraxinus, Flowering Crabapples are the Malus species. Oaks are Quercus, Ash, Sorbus. The Japanese Tree Lilac, Syringa reticula, is one that would fit in any garden.

Hardy flowering shrubs are often a soil requirements (pH, soil structure, focal point in a garden. Many roses, Rosa species, are hardy and carefree and may be worth a try.

A new book, "Hardy Trees and Shrubs: A Guide to Disease-resistant The family of the Eastern White Varieties for the North," Robert Osborne, photographs, Beth Powning (Key Porter Books, $19.95, soft), contains all of this information and more. Many of the plants described in detail in the book are hardy from zones 2 to 5. The author gives beautiful descriptions as well as practical advice.

There are chapters about general care, pruning and nurturing, pests and diseases. The appendix gives all pertinent information at a glance, broken down by species, Latin and common name, hardiness zone and average mature height. This book is very well organized and deserves a place in your

You can visit a furniture store and find many examples that can fit the circumstances. The first consideration is the style of your room. Modern? Keep the selection very simple. LET'S REMODEL determining how much you should spend on remodeling your home?

Firm guidelines make budgeting easier

However, you should spend as much as is necessary to create your dream home if your are staying in the home for a long time and can afford to do so. However, if you are planning on moving, be sure to remodel within the standards for the homes in your particular neighborhood and a reasonable budget.

Once you determine how much you can afford to spend on a remodeling job, lecrease that amount by 10-20 percent. This money should be put in a reserve account to cover any change orders or incidental charges accrued along the way, which will prevent a frantic scramble for additional funds at the end of or Robert Oliverio it was a response to a zoning decision that went against him. For his daughter Amelia, it was a challenge that brought her closer to her father and gave her a home.

The house on Pardo off Ford Road in Garden City had

"We didn't buy it to fix up," said Robert Oliverio, owner of Lona's Pizza in Dearborn Heights and owner of several commercial properties in Garden City. "I own property on the corner (of Ford Road) and I was going to use it as a parking lot. The planning commission said they didn't want to change zoning to parking. We figured we'd just have to fix up the house."

Amelia Oliverio, the new executive director of the Garden City Chamber of Commerce, has a long association with Garden City. She worked for Garden City

When Robert and Amelia entered the house two years ago, they were assaulted by a noxious smell and the sight of a house in advanced stages of deterioration.

"The house was in terrible shape," said Robert. "The basement wasn't draining properly. The sewage system had to be reworked. The walls had to be reinforced with poured concrete. The walls were split and cracked."

Power washing preserves paint job

By READER'S DIGEST BOOKS FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

Power washing your house every year with a high-pressure water spray can not only keep it looking good but can cut the need to repaint as often.

Power washing aluminum, steel, vinyl or wood siding removes grit that grinds away the surface like sandpaper when it's agitated by wind or rain. Power washing is also a good way to prepare a house's surface for repainting. If you're lucky, once the siding is clean you may find that you don't need to paint after all

If your house does need repainting, a thorough power washing removes not surface and leaving streaks. Rinse from only dirt, mildew and moss but also peeling, flaking and chalking paint. You can easily wash even a large house in a single day.

Power washers are available for rent, usually by the day, from tool rental stores and some paint specialty stores. Make sure someone demonstrates how the equipment works and answers all your questions before you leave the store with the washer

Power washers are rated by the pressure of their spray, measured in pounds per square inch (psi). For the average house, a rating from 1,200 to 2,500 psi, compared to about 60 psi for a garden hose, is sufficient. Less than 1,200 psi than 2,500 psi could do damage if not handled skillfully.

Power washing with clear water usually does the trick. But to remove chalking, moss or mildew, you'll probably need a general cleaning agent, available where you rent the equipment.

Nozzle design and spray width are important. The recommended nozzle sizes are 15, 25 and 40 degrees with the 15- and 25-degree nozzles the ones that achieve the best results.

Power wash from the bottom up, to prevent dirt and the cleaning agent from running down onto the unwashed the top down to wash away the cleaning agent and dirt thoroughly and avoid leaving streaks on the clean surface.

Here are some more tips:

Always wear safety goggles to protect your eyes from splashback or accidental direct spray.

Make sure all windows are closed

■ Turn off the power to light fixtures and electrical outlets at your home's main service panel. Cover them with plastic hags or film secured with duct

■ Place drop cloths over plants and shrubs. Move lawn furniture away.

■ If it's windy, don't wash.

■ Use extra caution when cleaning aluminum or steel siding. A power washer can bend sections - even blow them right off the house.

■ Windows can break if you spray directly at them.

Don't spray under the laps of horizontal siding; it can lift them. And don't spray directly into crawl spaces of gable-end vents.

■ Don't let children operate a power won't do the job effectively, and more

Keep the nozzle 10 to 12 inches hand near the tip of the wand or aim it from the surface, at about a 45-degree at a person or animal. The water will penetrate and cause severe injury.

■ Keep at least 10 feet from any

You'll be working with a lot of water pressure but with a little practice you should be able to control the wand Keep in mind that a telescoping wand which you'll need to reach higher floors - can kick back 3 to 4 feet each time you depress the handle.

You will probably tire from fighting the water pressure. When you do, take

Dishwasher works better when cleaned

BY POPULAR MECHANICS

Your household appliances will work more efficiently and have an increased useful service life if you perform simple routine maintenance. In the case of your dishwasher, for example, usually all that's needed to keep it in good working order is to keep its door gasket and spray arms clean and fish out the kitchen jetsam from under the heating

While the door gasket may appear clean where it is plainly visible, there's a good chance its bottom section is covered with a slimy dirt that can cause the door to leak. Hold a hand mirror to the bottom of the door to reveal any accumulation of dirt.

Use a strong, nonabrasive household cleaner to remove the dirt from the gasket and door panel. You might also lift the water level float from the base of the cabinet to check for dirt. If the float gets too dirty, it can stick in place, throwing the water level out of whack.

While you're at it, check the openings in the spray arms for small shreds of plastic. Remove these shreds with a pair of tweezers

Also check the drain area regularly for bread sack fasteners, small measuring spoons or other kitchen items. Not only can these items be baked onto the heating element, they may break up and chip the food grinding impellers located in the drain.

Finally, make sure some water remains in the base of the dishwasher. If you seldom use your dishwasher, add water periodically. If left to dry out, the pump seals may leak when the dishwasher is used.

When it comes to maintaining your washer and dryer, the best you can do for these appliances is to keep them level and clean. If they are out of level, their moving parts will wear unevenly and excessively. Any service technician can tell you that most of the laundry appliances he encounters are completely out of level. In some cases, "self-leveling" legs compound the problem, as they don't always level the appliance, but extend to close the gap between themselves and the floor.

Place a small level on the top frame of the appliance to determine where the problem lies. Then, thread the legs up or down accordingly, or in the case of the self-leveling legs, lift the low side of the appliance until that leg extends to the proper height.

To keep the finish on these appliances looking good, wash them regularly with a mild detergent. Clothing dyes can stain the insides of washers and dryers, so clean their drums frequently, especially after washing new clothes. ome components, such as the fabric softener reservoir on a washing machine, can be removed for better cleaning The reservoir is often held in place by a friction ring. Just lift this ring and the reservoir will detach from the agitator.

And, finally, you should fasten the washer discharge hose to the plumbing stand pipe. A washer discharge pump is capable of moving 50 to 60 gallons of water per minute. That much pressure has a tendency to lift the discharge hose right out of its plumbing pipe. There are several devices made for this problem, including a friction-fit gasket.

Lacking a factory-made solution, use wire or duct tape to secure the hose. A loose discharge hose can do hundreds of dollars in water damage.

Because dryers produce so much lint. you'll need to pay particular attention to the lint trap and the dryer vent tube. Remove and clean the lint trap with each load. Failing to clean the lint trap regularly can cause the dryer to overheat and can start a fire. It also affects

Also, check the vent tube twice a year, especially if your dryer vents up, as most dryers located in basements do. Pull the dryer out to get behind it. Then pull the vent from the dryer connection. This will allow you to shake any lint and debris accumulation from

■ Buy storage containers to protect your disks which are susceptible to magnetic fields and can be accidentally erased or damaged if not stored properly. Disk storage cases are available for all types of disks and can be bought at most consumer electronics retailers.

■ To make disks last longer, heed these precautions: Write on the disk label before you

Don't cover any jacket holes when

Don't touch the magnetic surface. Don't bend the disk or attach notes to it with paper clips.

Don't force the disk into the disk

Don't put magnets on the disk and keep disks at least three inches away from magnetic fields such as stereo or TV speakers or transformers, even if the disks are in a storage case.

Don't leave a disk in direct sunlight. Don't smoke around your disks. Don't place anything on top of disks (tools books etc.) Don't expose disks to extreme hot or cold temperatures. If you do, leave them at room temperature at least two hours before using.

■ If chocolate, correction fluid or other non-water-soluble liquids spill on your disk, contact the manufacturer for advice on removing them...

■ To protect disks from the static electricity and other adverse conditions during mailing, use special disk-mailing envelopes lined with foam.

Beyond taking care of your disks, regularly clean your disk drive. Check your computer's instruction manual. The manufacturer may recommend a head cleaning kit which is usually available from retailers.

Chemicals prevent wood-rotting fungus

BY READER'S DIGEST BOOKS FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

Crumbling foundations. Mushy windowsills. Falling fence posts. For years, homeowners were doomed to replace

But the battle may finally be over. Some manufacturers now guarantee not merely claim that their pressuretreated wood products will withstand termites and decay for life.

The basic problem? Wood rots. The source of this destruction? Fungus. Not just one type of fungus, either. There's an entire army of fungus species that thrives on wood. They eat the wood and cause the fiber to dissolve.

But fungi cannot infest wood everywhere. They need air, water and a 50to-90-degree temperature range to thrive. Otherwise, they lie dormant or

Wood for foundation and outdoor use is a prime candidate for rot when it gets wet and doesn't have a chance to

The idea of preserving wood with chemicals began with the natural defenses of rot-resistant wood, notably redwood and cedar. The darker colored heartwood of these trees contains chemicals toxic to most fungus species. The lighter colored sapwood, toward the outside of the tree, is no more resistant than other woods.

Currently, there are three types of chemicals commonly used for preserving wood: pentachlorophenol (called penta), creosote and chromated copper arsenate (CCA). All are applied commercially only and are not available to homeowners. Penta and creosote are used mainly in industrial applications. Most of the treated lumber a homeowner can buy is treated with CCA (or a similar chemical), which can be identified by the distinctively greenish color of the wood. CCA is dissolved in water and forced deep into the wood under pressure. It bonds with the wood fibers as the wood dries. After that, it won't leach out and protects the wood indefi-

The quality of treated wood varies, depending on the species of tree and on how deeply the preservative penetrates. To be effective the preservative should penetrate at least 2 1/2 inches into the wood. If you cut through a 2by-4, the greenish tint should show throughout, although it will become ighter toward the center. An AWPA (American Wood Preservers Association) stamp or tag on the lumber is a sign of quality control. A lifetime guarantee tag is another good quality indi-

Also, note that brushing on a preservative, or soaking or dipping a piece of wood in a preservative, is not as good as pressure treatment. With repeated wetting and drying, such surface-treated wood develops deep cracks, exposing untreated areas where fungus can

Like any other wood, pressure-treated wood will warp, crack and swell from exposure to moisture. But once it's dry, most treated wood can be stained. painted or treated with water repellent to protect it from the elements and

The preservatives in treated wood can be harmful and should be treated with respect. Don't use pressure-treated wood where human or animal food can be exposed to it, such as for countertops, cutting boards and pet dishes. Wash any parts of your skin that come in contact with pressure-treated wood.

Don't use it indoors or where there might be frequent skin contact with it unless it's sealed with at least two coats of polyurethane, epoxy or shellac. For more details, read the consumer information pamphlets available wherever treated wood is sold.

Also, wear a dust mask to avoid inhaling sawdust when cutting treated wood. Don't burn the sawdust or scrap pieces; chemicals in the smoke can be inhaled. Dispose of the scraps in your ordinary trash collection or bury it.

Rents top out in these offices

By Doug Funke staff writer

In Birmingham, the highest office asking rents are Munder Capital Center, 480 Pierce, $22.50 per square foot per year, and 260 Brown Street, $21.50-$24 per square foot annually.

Both buildings were filled to capacity as of June.

In Livonia, the highest asking rents include Powerscourt Executive Office Complex, 17199 Laurel Park Dr. North, $19.75, and Seven Mile Crossing I and II, $19.50.

Vacancy in those three office buildings, each with more than 100,000 square feet of space and close to I-275, is 8 percent or less.

Higher rents and fewer vacancies are typical throughout the suburbs, according to a mid-year review by the Hayman Co., a commercial real estate/property management firm in "The market has tightened up. These asking rates are being sustained," said Peter J. Ulrich, executive vice president for Hayman.

"Location is key, quality of building, quality of service provided to tenants in a buildings," he said. Neighbors also will reflect commercial real estate rates

"Who do you want to be adjacent to a back office banking operation or a Fortune 500 company or a major law firm in the metro market?" Ulrich asked Commercial real estate rates also are very much determined by supply and demand.

"If demand remains constant and supply goes away, the rate goes up. If supply is abundant, the rate goes down," Ulrich said.

"We've seen the market shifting. There's no new supply. That's part of it. The auto industry also has been performing very well. That empowers firms that supply services and prod-

Class A buildings command the most rent.

"Typically, institutional owners like here (Prudential Town Center) will have a higher-quality building," said Bill Pankhurst, vice president of marketing for Premisys Real estate Services. "They will put more money in -

"It's kind of a city concept. You don't have to leave the development to conduct daily business activities," he said.

Covered parking and good freeway access also tend to boost rents, Pankhurst said.

Developers know that executives often want to work near where they live. So Bloomfield Hills offices, for example, will reflect the prestige and affluence of the rest of that communi-

In Southfield (the largest suburban office submarket with 16.5 million square feet), the highest asking rent is One Northwestern Plaza, 28411

Northwestern, at $21 per square foot. That 242,000-square-foot building is 93-percent occupied.

Forest Park Office Center, 31300 Northwestern, has the highest asking rate in Farmington Hills, $20 per square foot. The 45,000-square-foot building was 22-percent vacant.

The four Arboretum buildings totaling nearly 600,000 square feet on W. 12 Mile in Farmington Hills asks $18.95. Occupancy at Arboretum ranged from 100 to 91 percent.

In Troy, the Standard Federal Building, 2600 W. Big Beaver, asks $25 per square foot, Columbia Center, 201 W. Big Beaver, $22.50.

Both are close to I-75 and both, 450,000 and 253,000 square feet, respectively, are full.

Ulrich pointed out several reasons why municipalities would covet a healthy commercial office market.

Tax revenue. If fully occupied, building are fully assessed. A portion of that money goes to community ser-

"It also adds to the sociological mix of a town," he added. "It also tends to be an indicator of how well the economy is doing. It's a piece of the puz-

Bloomfield Centre I, 1533 N. Woodward, and Pinehurst, 1400 N. Woodward, ask $23.50 per square foot in Bloomfield Hills.

Bloomfield Centre, 137,000 square feet, is 98 percent occupied, Pinehurst, 147,000 square feet, nearly 93

In West Bloomfield, Orchard Pointe, 7125 Orchard Lake Road, and Yorktowne Executive Offices, 5777 Maple, ask $18.50 per square foot. Orchard Pointe, twice as large as Yorktowne with 64,000 square feet, has a vacancy rate of 19 percent, Yorktowne, 11 percent.

In Auburn Hills, the Woodcreek Building, 811 South Boulevard, asks $18 and the 28,000-square-foot building is half vacant.

Concorde Office Centre, 691 N. Squirrel, asks $17.50. That building, 147,000 square feet, is only 5 percent

According to Hayman, 14 of the 29 office buildings surveyed in Birmingham, 45 of 103 in Troy, 10 of 26 in Livonia and 19 of 60 in Farmington Hills had no vacancy. Even in Southfield, which has had the highest vacancy rate in the suburbs, 24 of 126 buildings surveyed were full.

Another indication of the tightening office market here is that vacancies are low even in many lower-cost rent buildings - traditionally older, smaller and not as opulent or well located.

South Adams Square in Birmingham asks $14 per square foot and is 98 percent leased. The Stoddard Building and Winthrop Place in Bloomfield Hills ask $16 and are fully occupied.

Other comparable low-rent buildings with no available space include 11878 Hubbard, $6.50, and 29500 Five Mile, $7, both in Livonia, and 165 Kirts, $7.85, and 255 Kirts, $8.75, both in Troy.

Those four buildings encompass about 120,000 square feet combined.

"Tightening of the market is like a rising tide," Ulrich said. "As that goes up, Class B's come up and Class C's come up. "Everyone benefits."

Don't single out kids when setting up pool rules

Q. We are establishing some pool rules and wonder if you have any general suggestions on how we can avoid problems with the Fair Housing Act.

A. This is a growing area of concern for community associations, particularly because of the policy initiated by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in enforcing the Fair Housing Act.

Administrative law judges have held that homeowners associations can impose restriction on children, such as minimum ages to use the pool, only if the rules are motivated by legitimate concerns for the health and safety of the children. A rule that noise that would interfere with adult's quiet enjoyment of the pool is not a health or safety consideration, so the burden of proof is on the associ-

One court has ruled that banning children under a certain age from using the pool was not designed to protect a child since the use of the pool and learning to swim is a life safety skill that children should not be denied, i.e., the best protection against drowning for a child is eye contact, supervision.

Another court has held that, as a general rule, safety judgments are for informed parents to make, not landlords. All such rules must be designed to protect the health, safety and welfare of the child.

Rules should require all users to have swimming skills, not just children. Use restrictions should not give special privileges to any age group.

As an example, one may not be able to arbitrarily set a minimum age for children unless accompanied by a parent or guardian and, again, it must be designed to protect the health, safety and welfare of

Q. We jointly own a house with rights of sur-vivorship. However, I and my joint tenant have had a disagreement and she has threatened to sue me to keep me from using the premises at Do I have anything to worry about?

A. Chances are you do not have a concern regarding your co-tenant's attempt to exclude you from the

As a joint tenant, neither party can recover exclusive possession of the property. They can only recover the right to jointly use the property. In effect, in this situation if the parties cannot agree, the appropriate relief is the sale or partition of the property.

You are best advised to consult an attorney to advise you on your rights.

Michigan ties for house affordability

BY DOUG FUNKE

Michigan and North Dakota were tied right at the top of the national rankings for the lowest percentage of monthly household income needed to buy a house last year, according to a tracking service based in Canton.

Moreover, Michigan was in the top third of national rankings for the lowest average monthly mortgage payment, and Detroit fell right in the middle of 31 metropolitan areas for monthly housing costs.

The report was prepared by U.S. Housing Markets.

they're up a little bit, they're at an affordable level. That affects monthly payment dramatically," Bragg

According to the survey, 16.2 percent of household income was used to pay the principal and interest, property taxes and homeowners insurance on the average purchase, a composite of existing and new houses, last year in Michigan and North Dakota.

BETTER THAN RENTING

Update worn-out shopping for windows was clear: you had to decide between elegant windows with beautiful designs or more practical windows with increased functionality and efficiency."Window manufacturers are responding to cusomers' needs by introducing high-durability, low-maintenance options," says Mark Siegle, owner of Chicago-based Siegle's one of the country's largest window and door distributors. People are looking for windows that not only look great and work well, but are designed to keep care, upkeep and repair to a mini-

One popular low-maintenance option is cladding. Clad windows are wood windows that are covered, or clad, with aluminum or vinyl to help protect against wind, rain or snow. While vinyl cladding provides excellent insulation, aluminum cladding offers greater durability and strength. Window manufacturers say heavy-duty cladding helps windows stand up to just about anything Mother Nature can dish out, including temperature extremes, nitric acid, UV rays, pollutants and salt spray.

"Homeowners are telling us that they don't want to spend their time maintaining windows," says Susan Marvin, president of Marvin Windows and are a great alternative for customers looking for beautiful wood windows with tough, longlasting exteriors." Clad windows are easy to keep clean. Light surface dirt is usually washed off by normal rainfall, with a wash and a rinse with clear water. After rinsing well and drying you can use car wax to add shine. "Exterior finish is an important aspect of cladding," Siegle says. "To reduce fading or chalking, you'll want to look for a commercial-grade finish that meets and exceeds the American Architectural Manufacturing Association's specifications."

Fading is due to UV rays breaking down pigment in the coating. Chalking occurs when the resin in the cladding is damaged over time.
