Fire destroys courthouse

BY RENEE M. SKOGLUND

What began as a fist-sized arc of fire sparking from the fallen wires turned into a raging fire that left the 35th District Court building a smoldering ruin.

The call came in at 6:10 p.m. last night—the wires were down in front of the courthouse. The Plymouth Community Fire Department responded within minutes.

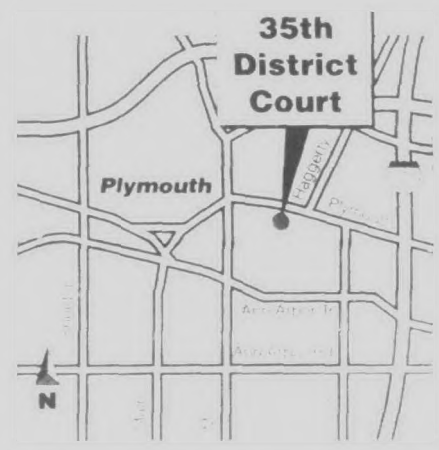
"The courthouse was energized, all the steel, the aluminum. At that point we had to keep people away," said Fire Chief Larry Groth. It is estimated that the building was charged by 20,000 volts.

"It took Detroit Edison an awful long time to get here. They did send a supervisor out one or one and a half hours after we arrived. He could just access the situation. He couldn't do anything about the wires across the building," said Groth.

The real action began shortly after 9 p.m.

"Once the fire broke through, it spread in a southerly direction. We felt it was burning for some time," said Groth.

The fire department responded with an arsenal of equipment. On site were three aerial ladders, three pumper trucks and three rescue units. Groth said his department had requested "mutual aid" from Canton and Northville. In total, 50 to 60 firefighters fought the blaze.



Edison cut the power around 11:30 p.m., enabling firefighters to safely approach the building. "We assumed they (the wires) were charged, and they were charged," said Groth.

Within a short time, the roof soon caved in and buried everything within. "The worst thing is a buried fire," said Groth. "We'll be here all night, most of the day Friday, probably Friday night."

Groth said the courthouse had a smoke and heat detector system, but no sprinkler system. The building's square footage did not require a sprinkler system.

Observer parent adopts new name

Suburban Communications Corporation, publishers of community newspapers, shoppers, telephone directories, specialty publications and Web and Internet products, has changed its corporate name to HomeTown Communications Network Inc., effective immediately.

Philip H. Power, chairman and owner of the company, whose publications are distributed in Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio, said the corporate name was changed in order to reflect the company's evolution into a provider of multimedia local information networks.

"Our core business is community newspapers," Power said, "but to serve the needs of our reader customers and our advertisers, we need to link them with our local telephone directories, niche publications and Internet services in order to put them in touch with their world, whether it's their own hometown or the entire global village.

"That's the strategic vision of our company," Power added, "to create a network of local information sources. That's what lies behind our name, HomeTown Communications Network."

"We won't change the names of our newspapers, some of which are more than 100 years old, but we will develop ways to show how our various information products are linked together into

Community picnic

Celebrate Independence Day

Getting ready: Mark and Matthew Edwards will be fishing at the Fourth of July picnic in Plymouth Township Park July 4.

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Fourth of July will be celebrated in a big way in Plymouth Friday with a parade, community picnic and fireworks.

For starters, there is the "Good Morning USA" parade, which begins at 7:30 a.m. That's right. Get up early or you'll miss the start of a daylong celebration.

If you can get up just a bit earlier, three skydivers, bearing American flags, will descend from the sky at 7:15 a.m. into downtown to really set the day off.

Even before that, WSDP 88.1 will play patriotic music and parade interviews beginning at 6:30 a.m. Spectators are asked to bring their own radios. At 8:15 a.m., the sound of sirens will signal the parade to stop and to go silent. The sirens are also a signal for everyone to stand and sing the National Anthem as it is played over WSDP. When the sirens sound again, the parade begins again.

The interactive bleacher sections will be full of Bleacher Creatures – parade-goers who have paid for a bleacher seat – using items in their Parade Pak to interact with the parade.

Spectators will be given a final lineup at the parade to see just who and what will be marching for a mile down Main Street.

Among the parade units will be the 1st Michigan Colonial Fife and Drum Corps, the Dogmatics, a

Construction supervisor retained for new public schools

BY RENEE SKOGLUND
STAFF WRITER

While the March 22 bond election results linger in Wayne County Circuit Court, Plymouth-Canton school board members are moving forward with plans to build new schools.

Board member June 24 unanimously awarded a $195,000 three-year contract to Charles Bisel of FOCUS/Facility Consulting Services of West Bloomfield as construction supervisor for the 1997 bond construction projects.

The projects include several separate facility remodeling projects plus construction of a new high school and elementary school.

Bisel will act as key liaison among the board, administration, and design and construction personnel. The contract, which calls for a commitment of 20 hours a week, would go in effect when the $80 million bond sale begins, according John Birchler, executive director of business and operation.

"I think it's important to have this individual in place and ready to go when we get this out of court," said Superintendent Chuck Little." At this time, plaintiffs in the bond suit plan to file an amendment to their complaint. A summary conference is scheduled in Wayne County Circuit Court on July 18.

■ 'The construction supervisor works between the three parties, representing our interests between the architect and construction manager.'

-John Birchler
Finance director

Until the bond sale begins, Bisel will be paid an hourly consulting rate of $65. Board member Dave Artley said the motion to approve the contract needed to have a "not to exceed" amendment. After a brief discussion, board members agreed to put a $2,000 cap on Bisel's services until the full contract goes into effect.

Birchler said the selection committee – Diane Barnes, Dan Menghini, Joyce Deren and Tom Owens – reached a consensus "that Chuck Bisel was the most qualified" of applicants. The board had received seven proposals in response to a public notice in early May. Three firms were chosen for personal interviews on June 17.

Errol Goldman, assistant superintendent of employee relations and personnel, said the district "needs to have assistance as soon as we interview for architects." The district has received six proposals from architectural firms and will schedule interviews in July.

To clarify Bisel's role, Birchler asked board members to visualize a triangle with the owner, the district, on top and construction manager with all the tradespeople in one corner and the architect in the other.

"The construction supervisor works between the three parties, representing our interests between the architect and construction manager," he said.

Little reiterated Birchler's explanation. "Chuck Bisel will be responsible to the owner, no one else." He added: "Even if he saves us 1 percent in costs or improves quality 1 percent, he's worth it."

Bisel, who was at the board meeting, said: "My goal is certainly to save you money. Thank you. I won't disappoint you."

Court administrator Kerry Erdman will never forget the night the courthouse burned down. "The gutters were glowing red and sparking. All of sudden it started arcing. You could see a flame the size of a fist climbing. You could see the shingles turning white."

Judge Ron Lowe also was on site with nothing but praise for the firefighters. "We have a firefighter from Canton who has a tree in his living room. He's here."

Lowe also said court will be in session at 1 p.m. today in the Plymouth City Commission Chambers at city hall. "You have people who are incarcerated and they can't wait. We have 37,000 cases a year. We have to first and foremost get back to business."

Other court districts, including Westland and Romulus, have offered their services, according to Lowe. "I'm sure there'll be more on the phone lines."

Groth said the decision to hold fireworks at Don Massey Park will have been made by 8 a.m. today. As of last night, his main concern was extinguishing the fire.

"The building is a total loss."

a network," Power concluded.

Overall, HomeTown Communications Network publishes 67 community newspapers including the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers in suburban Detroit, HomeTown Newspapers in western Oakland and Livingston counties and Community Newspapers in the Lansing, Mich., suburbs. The Community Press publishes 28 newspapers in the Cincinnati region and Northern Kentucky, while Michigan Directory Company publishes 20 community telephone directories in several Michigan communities. Other publications include a golf guide, entertainment/travel tabloids and senior, health, new homes and horse magazines.

Richard D. Aginian, president, said, "HomeTown Communications Network also provides a full range of Internet services which includes site design and maintenance, display advertising and AdVillage, one of the first comprehensive stand-alone Internet classified sites."

"Our community newspapers have consistently been recognized for outstanding quality by professional and trade awards," Aginian said, "but it is our readers and advertisers who set the standards we value the most."

Power, who started Observer Newspapers Inc., the predecessor company in 1965, is also a founder of Suburban Newspapers of America and is a recipient of the Lesher Award for outstanding services to the community newspaper industry. Aginian is a past president of SNA.

canine drill team, the Red Garter Band, 30-foot teddy bear parade balloon, the Plymouth Township Police Honor Guard, an antique school bus and the Cabar Feidh Pipe Band. Of course, the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park Marching Band, Plymouth Community Band and the Fred Hill Briefcase Drill Team also will perform.

Also on tap are four A-10 Thunderbolts from Battle Creek that will fly overhead, as will a B-17, Flying Fortress.

Twelve floats depicting the theme "America the Beautiful" will also parade down Main Street.

At 11 a.m., take your family over to Plymouth Township Park on Ann Arbor Trail, east of Beck, and get ready for an old-fashioned community picnic.

You can bring your own picnic basket filled with goodies or you can partake in an assortment of hot dogs, popcorn and cotton candy.

The picnic runs until 5 p.m. and is designed to give families a chance to have some fun outdoors.

At 12:15-2:30 p.m., games will be available for the kids, followed by a fishing contest noon to 1 p.m. for kids 16 years and younger. Kids will fish in the pond and get whatever is in there, organizers say.

■ As of Wednesday night, organizers were uncertain whether the Plymouth-Canton Jaycees annual fireworks show would go on in Don Massey Park, next to the burned out 35th District Court.

At 2 p.m., a bicycle-tricycle decorating contest is on tap. Kids should bring their transportation decorated for prizes. The contest is limited to kids up to 12 years of age.

Families are encouraged to bring their own blankets and chairs because picnic tables are limited.

The picnic also will feature a tug-of-war, and demonstrations by the fire department and police, who will feature their bicycle and motorcycle patrols.

The community picnic was a resident's idea and a way of bringing everyone together. Township Clerk Marilyn Massengill and Treasurer Ron Edwards, as well as township employees, have worked together to make the picnic happen.

As of Wednesday night, organizers were uncertain whether the Plymouth-Canton Jaycees annual fireworks show would go on in Don Massey Park, next to the burned out 35th District Court.

"The best viewing would be in the Unisys parking lot," said Tim Fedewa, Jaycees president. "We anticipate the show should last about 30 minutes."

A professional fireworks company will do the honors for the Jaycees, who have been putting on the Independence Day show for at least 25 years.

"It's always a challenge. Fortunately, we have many generous individuals and businesses. Without their support we wouldn't be able to put on this show," Fedewa said. "Whatever is donated we shoot off in the air in the way of fireworks."

E & E Engineering of Plymouth donated $3,500 toward the Jaycees' fireworks.

"It is our hope this will be the biggest show the club has had yet as far as quality and length of the show," Fedewa added.

Concessions of hot dogs and cotton candy will available for show visitors. The Jaycees also will sell ice cream and glow rings.

Hello...

Radio operators make contact

BBy Joanne Maliszewski
STAFF WRITER

It's too easy to say that amateur radio operators were hamming it up all weekend.

But that's exactly what they were doing.

"We try to make as many contacts as possible," said Earl Erickson, president of the Stu Rockafellow Amateur Radio Society.

Beginning at 1 p.m. last Saturday through 1 p.m. Sunday, amateur radio operators from Plymouth, Canton, Northville and Livonia worked around the clock to call as many other radio operators in America and Canada, for annual American Radio Relay League's Field Day.

The special event gives Hams the chance to practice communication skills under primitive conditions, with generator and battery-powered equipment and portable antennas.

"We bring everything we think we will need, including portable power. It shows our emergency readiness in case of disaster," Erickson said. "Primarily ham radios are for fun but this has vaster implications where we can assist."

Since Erickson got into amateur radio, he rarely uses his car radio anymore. Instead, he talks to other Hams from his car. "We talk on the radio going back and forth," Erickson said.

On a more serious note, ham radio operators stepped in to help when a commuter plane crashed earlier this year outside of Monroe as it was on its way to land at Detroit Metro Airport, Erickson said.

"We can provide help when disaster strikes and all power is out," he said.

When Ham operators contact another operator it is called a QSO. So when operators got together this past weekend, it was cause to call it "eyeball QSOs," Erickson said.

When the Hams contact each other, they don't have long conversations. "It's contesting. It's kind of fun. We don't talk a lot. We just make contact."

And the whole idea is to make as many contacts as possible.

"We don't know yet if we won," Erickson said. "It will probably take 30-60 days. We tabulate our scores and send them to the American Radio Relay League," Erickson continued.

For anyone interested in amateur radio, the Stu Rockafellow Amateur Radio Society provides classes starting in September in the Plymouth Township clerk's office. Radio operators must be licensed. Call Erickson, 453-8864 for more information.

Storm rips through area

BY RENEE M. SKOGLUND

■ 'We've had thousands of calls. Trees down, wires down and some minor flooding. And every construction site in town is falling down.'

Lt. Wayne Carroll
—Plymouth police

Last night's storm, with its lashing wind and rain, proved too much for trees throughout Plymouth and Canton. Limbs dangled and lay askew everywhere in the aftermath.

"The biggest tree is at Farmer and Holbrook," said Lt. Wayne Carroll of the Plymouth Police Department at about 6:45 p.m. "We've had thousands of calls. Trees down, wires down and some minor flooding. And every construction site in town is falling down."

Lt. Jim Davison of the Canton Fire Department echoed Carroll's words. "It almost looks like a tornado," he said of his patrol through the township.

Davison was pulling guard duty near a roped- off triangular area bordered by Sheldon Road, Canton Center Road and Canton Center Connector. A damaged telephone pole stood further down Canton Center, its upper third bowed toward the road.

"The wires aren't down, but the pole is busted. If we get any more wind, it will come down."

Davison said by 8:30 p.m., the department had been on about 45 runs involving broken tree limbs, damaged roofs, flooded streets and downed wired and transformers. He said the areas hardest hit included Hanford and Sheldon, Lilly and Palmer, and Sheldon and Palmer. Even his own home wasn't spared.

"We've been all through the township with trees. My house has a tree through the roof. I went by my house between runs and put up a few shingles."

The Oakwood Health Care Center of Canton, contacted at 10:30 p.m., reported no storm-related emergency visits.

When called late last night, the dispatcher at the Plymouth Police Department said. "It's been a very busy, busy night."

Ta-ta! Middle school principal heads to London

BY RENEE M. SKOGLUND
STAFF WRITER

East Middle School principal Ellison Franklin will bring greetings and goodwill from the colonies when she arrives in London July 4.

Franklin is one of five principals selected nationally to join an international team developing a cross-cultural exchange program for school leaders in Great Britain and the United States. The program is sponsored by Ambassadors in Education Program, based in Bethesda, Md.

East assistant principal Jerome Sullivan, a former Christa McAuliffe fellow, urged Franklin to apply to the program. He even sent for an application. Franklin applied last February. "I thought 'I'm not going to get picked in the whole United States'."

Franklin believes her extensive background in curriculum development was a key in getting an interview. "As curriculum coordinator, I had worked in integrating national standards, state benchmarks and local curriculum," she also was knowledgeable about learning assessment and alternative authentic standards.

Soon after her acceptance into the program, Franklin was "partnered" with John Hayes, the head teacher, or "principal," at Henry Compton School in Fulham, London. The school is for students 8 to 11 years old. Hayes and Franklin also shared similar personal backgrounds.

Hayes arrived in the United States on April 2 and work-shadowed Franklin for 10 days. He also was a guest in her home. "He was the easiest person to have in your home. I learned a lot about drinking tea," Franklin joked.

Besides some humorous exchanges, serious myths about American schools were dismissed. According to Franklin, Hayes expected to see "disrespectful children, mediocre-to-poor teaching, graffiti and trash, and confusion and chaos." It didn't happen.

"The first day he came, all the children were getting off the bus, saying, 'Good morning, Mr. Hayes. How was your weekend?'" said Franklin. Hayes also was impressed by East's physical environment, the clean, bright halls. "He was very impressed with the community concern for the building. He said this building was better than his."

As for the teaching? Franklin and Hayes paid half-hour surprise visits to each room. "He was absolutely pleased with the quality of teaching."

Hayes thought the students had too much time "off task." The English approach is more authoritative. "He was not used to children talking in groups. I said if we put children in rows and talked for an hour, we'd have another revolt," said Franklin.

Hayes noted that East's sixth-graders were more advanced than their counterparts in England, who are still in the elementary program. Hayes was impressed by the students' responses to questions on England in social studies class, Franklin said.

A visit to Plymouth-Canton Educational Park was equally as positive. Hayes found the students he met to be polite and the class exchange between the two schools to be orderly, Franklin said.

"He was enthralled with the opportunities for students at the Park. In many ways, it was like a junior college setting," said Franklin.

Differences were apparent in the two principals' management styles. "He thought I did too many things a principal shouldn't do. He's more like a superintendent of schools," said Franklin. Hayes doesn't do hall or lunch duty.

Hayes' position within his school district, or "borough," is much more autocratic. According to Franklin, Hayes can suspend and expel unilaterally, hire and fire teachers, use his £4 million budget at his discretion. Franklin said Hayes has a lot more authority, but "it's his neck on the line."

Hayes did manage a 15-minute stint of recess duty, and it produced a memorable story, said Franklin. A young girl approached Hayes and asked him if he ate crumpets and tea. Hayes purchased the ingredients and planned a tea party for her and her classmates.

Franklin said Hayes adjusted to the school's regimen quickly. "By the third day, it was like having a third principal in the building. He just took off."

Franklin is looking forward to her 10-day stay with Hayes in London. "I'm not done learning, and I'm always looking for a better way to do a good job."

On her way: Ellison Franklin, East Middle School principal, leaves for London July 4 on a teacher exchange program.

HOMEOWNER ASSOCIATION RULES

Many subdivisions are governed by homeowners' association rules which place restraints on what you may do with your property. Such restrictions can range from the types of vehicles that can be parked in front of the property to the color of paint that can be used on the exterior of the building. Many jurisdictions require that sellers provide a copy of these rules or covenants to prospective buyers and allow them time to study and approve them before finalizing the purchase agreement.

Most restrictions are intended to keep owners from doing things that could depress property values, and the regulations are generally enforceable in a court of law. Some buyers will find such strict rules reassuring. But a rugged individualist should think twice about buying in a highly restricted area. Whatever your feelings about such regulations, be sure that you understand any homeowner rules and can live happily with them before committing to a purchase.

County offers MEAP help to districts

The Wayne County Regional Educational Service Agency has started a program to create assessments school districts can use to gauge how students are doing in years leading up to the Michigan Educational Assessment Program tests.

The program, the Benchmark Project, will help districts determine where districts need to make changes in their curriculum and instruction methods.

"This is one of the most innovative and exciting things we have ever done," said RESA Superintendent Mike Flanagan. "When we first shared this concept with local superintendents in Wayne County back in April, they immediately responded that this type of test would be very useful for them."

Currently districts and teachers have no way to measure student preparedness or progress in the years leading up to the MEAP tests. Few products exist and of those available, none focus on the state objectives of each content area or are available in all the areas tested (reading, writing, science, math and social studies).

RESA has recruited a group of 72 master teachers from throughout Wayne County to develop the tests. They include Julie Karrick, Richard Benson, Diane Worthington and Andrea Grace, who teach in Livonia schools; Krista Jewett, Peter Puzzuol, Barbara Pastalaniec, Pattee Rupert and Cynthia Morningstar, from Plymouth-Canton School District; and Donna Keller, Becky Ingersoll, Rosalyn Pollard and Sharon Mayernik from Wayne-Westland schools.

The teachers will work at RESA this summer to write 25 tests. They also will receive training to expand their knowledge and expertise in the areas of evaluation and assessment.

Once the tests are created, a random sample of Wayne County schools can try them this fall in their classrooms. Following this trial period, the tests will be modified as necessary so they are ready for distribution to all county districts next spring.

RESA is a regional educational service agency that provides services to children, families and communities. Its mission is "Leading Learning for All." The agency coordinates many of its programs with the 34 public school districts in Wayne County. RESA also services the county's 21 public school academies and 212 private schools.

RESA directly operates special education programs for students aged 3 to 26 with severe mental and physical impairments, and a program for students ages 5 to 18, with severe emotional impairments. Head Start is another program that RESA provides for children and families. More than 3,700 youngsters are served through the Head Start program each year at 23 buildings.

RESA has a $193 million budget and employs 440 full-time and 600 part-time staff members at 36 sites.

SC seminar tells how to get government contracts

The U.S. Government is the single largest purchaser of goods and services in the country, spending billions of dollars each year.

You can learn the necessary steps to navigate through the bureaucratic requirements and win government contracts at the one-day Government Contracting Seminar offered by the Business Development Center at Schoolcraft College. The $25 seminar is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Thursday, July 24.

Topics include the philosophy behind government buying, contractor requirements, how to win small businesses contracts and technological advances that streamline doing business with the government.

People can register by calling (313) 462-4438.

Learning center registers for fall classes

The Learning Center at Madonna University is accepting applications for its fall term, which begins Monday, Sept. 15.

The tutorial sessions are designed for children from the first through 12th grades who are experiencing difficulty in reading and its related skills. Individual or group instruction is available.

Prior to admission, each student will be informally assessed, and a tailored remedial plan will be designed. Instruction is designed to enable the student to be a more successful and independent learner and will include strategies for reading fiction and non-fiction text, process writing and study skills.

Classes run from Monday, Sept. 15 through Thursday, Dec. 4 on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday from 4-5 p.m. or 5-6 p.m.; or Thursday, 3:55-5 p.m. or 4:55-6 p.m. The extra five minutes added to the Thursday classes are to make up for Thanksgiving when there will be no class.

For more information, call (313) 432-5586 or Sister Mary Duane, (313) 432-5585. Madonna University is located at I-96 and Levan Road in Livonia.

Local trio will serve

BY RICHARD PEARL
STAFF WRITER

Three Plymouth Township planning commissioners were reappointed to new three-year terms June 24.

They are Carol Davis, Kay Arnold and Don Skinner, each of whom will serve until June 30, 2000. Their current terms expire June 30.

Skinner, known as an expert on township-area history, has served on the commission 18 years.

Township trustees approved the reappointments in a 6-1 vote. Trustee Charles Curmi objected to grouping the candidates in a single vote.

He also expressed some dissatisfaction with the selection process which has been in place several years. Under it, candidate applications are reviewed and interviewed by the office of Supervisor Kathleen Keen-McCarthy, which then presents its recommendations to the board.

Curmi prefers the trustees have a more active role in the process, he said.

Want to see a faster Internet? Want to see it again? Welcome to the fastest Internet connection to your home. One that's up to 50 times faster than the one you have now. You can only get it through Broadband. So what is Broadband? Simply put, it's a wire with two-way capabilities, a wire with enormous capacity. So things can move down it faster. Faster than anything else out there. Right now, Broadband lets you download from the Internet up to 50 times faster than ordinary telephone wire. This supersonic speed is why we call our Internet service MediaOne Express. ⊙ The networks in your area have already been upgraded with fiber-optics. Once your house is hooked up, you won't have to dial up to use the Net. You won't waste half a day waiting for images to download. Searches that used to take forever will be finished in seconds. Work will get done. Games will be played. ⊙ With Broadband you'll no longer simply receive all the exciting material out there. Because Broadband's unique two-way capabilities give your computer the power to send video as well as receive it. And you'll do it all at a speed you never imagined possible. Adding an entirely new level of meaning to the word "interactivity." ⊙ You'll discover the world's fastest Internet is just the beginning of what Broadband will come to mean to you. With this one single wire, your computer will become as entertaining as your TV. Your TV will become as smart as your computer. And you will be able to communicate in ways you never imagined. Broadband has the power to change the way we work, the way we play, the way we learn. ⊙ As for the present, enjoy your new Internet. Area judges, attorneys to teach legal classes at Madonna

Judges Gene Schnelz and Fred Mester of the Oakland County Circuit Court bench will be among the faculty for 18 legal assistant courses offered this fall by Madonna University,

Classes begin Sept. 2 and registration is under way.

Schnelz will teach two courses in the program, Legal Interviewing and Investigations on Tuesday evenings and Law Office Economics and Management on Monday evenings. Mester will teach a weekend workshop, Special Programs in Law: Motion Practice, on Friday, Oct. 17 and 24, and Nov. 7; and Saturday, Oct. 18 and 25 and Nov. 8.

The workshop Environmental Law: Hazardous Waste Management will focus on the laws governing the regulation of hazardous wastes and will meet on Friday, Sept. 12 and 26; and Saturday, Sept. 13 and 27. Mary Urisko, a local attorney and the assistant director of Madonna University's Legal Assistant Program, is the instructor.

Urisko will also teach Computer-Assisted Legal Research on Friday, Oct. 10, and Saturday, Oct. 11, which covers research techniques for WESTLAW and Lexis. Urisko, co-author of West's Paralegal Today, teaches the Legal Assistant Orientation class on Monday evenings and Legal Research and Writing I on Wednesday evenings.

Detroit attorney Richard Dimanin will teach Torts: An Overview of Negligence on Wednesday evenings and will lead the workshop, Arbitration and Mediation, on Friday, Nov. 14 and 21; and Saturday, Nov. 15 and 22.

Attorney Craig Tarpinian of Farmington Hills will be teaching Legal Research and Writing II on Thursday evenings. Domestic Relations will be taught by Livonia attorney Marty Champine on Tuesday evenings. Champine will teach Litigation on Wednesday evenings.

Other courses include Legal Issues for Older Adults on Wednesday evenings; Using Computers in the Law on Thursday evenings; Constitutional Law also on Thursday evenings; Taxation I on Tuesday evenings; and the Legal Seminar and Practicum on selected Saturdays.

Madonna University's Legal Assistant Program was the first program in Wayne County approved by the American Bar Association and has celebrated over 10 years of approved status. The program offers associate's and bachelor's degrees, as well as a post-baccalaureate certificate.

For more information, call Mary Urisko at (313) 432-5548. Students wishing to enroll for fall term should make an appointment immediately.

Red Cross appeals for area blood donations

The American Red Cross is issuing an emergency appeal to first-time and repeat donors to please give blood.

"As of July 1, the southeastern Michigan community blood supply continues to have less than a one-day inventory of O and B type blood," said Jeff Weathers, director of hospital services.

"Other blood types have also reached dangerously low levels. Our only hope for increasing our blood supply is with a widespread response from our community at large," said Weathers.

Your blood donation could mean a gift of a lifetime. To donate blood, call 1-800-GIVE-LIFE.

"The reality of this emergency situation is that blood cannot be manufactured; volunteer blood donors are the only source for blood," said Dan A. Waxman, M.D., chief executive officer, Southeastern Michigan Blood Services Region. "Although, Red Cross has had response to the recent blood alert, it has just not been enough to keep pace with local patients' needs for blood," Waxman said.

Hospitals in southeastern Michigan provide some of the most advanced medical procedures in the country. As a result, the blood and blood product needs of local patients is greater than our inventory.

"Typically we rely on blood to be imported from other Red Cross regions," Waxman stated. "However, we are experiencing a nationwide appeal and cannot continually rely on having an ample supply of blood from other regions to always help us."

Daily, more than 800 people must donate in order to maintain the community blood supply. Giving blood is safe and easy, and takes less than one hour. To donate blood one must be at least 17 years old, weigh 110 pounds or more and be in general good health.

Through Saturday, July 5, donor centers in Ann Arbor, Livonia, Novi, Bloomfield Hills, Oak Park, Roseville and Southgate will operated under extended hours from 1-7 p.m.

For more information, call 1-800-GIVE-LIFE.

If you know of a group or organization that has 30 or more donors and would like to sponsor a blood drive, call (313) 494-2796.

The American Red Cross supplies 99 percent of the blood used by hospitals in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and St. Clair counties.

"As a mother of a child recovering from leukemia, I have come to depend on the generosity of virtual strangers for the life-saving blood products that Christopher has needed," said Jeanine Toupp of Birmingham.

"I am grateful to those who go our of their way to donate blood on a regular basis."

The need for blood by patients being treated for accidents, transplants, routine surgeries and serious diseases must be met everyday.

S'craft endowment for scholarships grows

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
STAFF WRITER

Schoolcraft College has shown significant growth in everything from endowments to certain areas of enrollment.

Conway Jeffress, vice president of academic instruction at Schoolcraft College, last week gave the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees a progress report for the 1996-97 school year.

Jeffress had several highlights:

■ Most of Schoolcraft's enrollments have enjoyed significant growth. Distance Learning increased 7.1 percent, Community Education classes went up 12 percent in the winter, and business and industry classes were up by 17 percent this winter.

Overall credit enrollment was down by 90 students when the last two fall semesters are compared.

■ The college's foundation has increased its endowment to more than $4.3 million; in June 1996 that amount stood at $3.7 million.

■ Grant revenue doubled in the Business Development Center from $1.4 million to $2.8 million between March 1996 and March 1997. Total grant revenue is up 33.8 percent to $5.8 million.

The business office reported several cost-cutting initiatives, including health insurance, that saved the college $80,000 this fiscal year, and a facilities master plan also was completed this year.

Schoolcraft administrators also outlined goals for the college's various offices and divisions.

"We wanted to emphasize the service aspects, and try to improve the services to the staff and also get a 'service mentality' with the staff," Jeffress said.

"We want to strengthen the relationship between the K-12 districts. We also want to create a master plan for technology to decide on what we want to do with hardware and software."

Students can expect a new identification card program this fall, and improvements in labs, classrooms and bookstores at the Livonia campus and the Radcliff Center in Garden City.

College administrators also hope to continue [illegible] innovative classrooms and [illegible] Distance Learning classrooms.

Other objectives include:

■ Enhancing the finances of the college by increasing the Schoolcraft Foundation endowment to $5 million and improving the college's cost efficiencies through refining purchasing agreements, facility utilization and cost savings in many materials and system modifications.

■ Preparing for and beginning the bargaining process or negotiating four labor agreements.

■ Increase the number and [illegible] tuition for certain [illegible] and grants [illegible]

Dinersty seeks liquor license

BY RICHARD PEARL
STAFF WRITER

The nine member Plymouth Downtown Development Authority has recommended that the city commission approve Dinersty Restaurant's request for an application for a liquor license.

Steve Guile, DDA director, said he expects the city to schedule the public hearing on the request for July 21. If the city approves, the request will be forwarded to the State Liquor Control Commission in Lansing, which will issue the formal application.

The Chinese restaurant at 447 Forest in downtown Plymouth, open since August 1994, said in its request for the application that "it was doing okay, but it could do a lot better if it had a liquor license," Guile said.

Once the completed application is returned to Lansing, the commission begins its various investigations leading to issuance or denial of a license.

Liquor licenses are issued on the basis of one per 1,500 people. All of Plymouth's allotted liquor licenses have been issued, said Guile, but businesses and cities can seek relief under the law by first asking a city and its DDA to approve a request for an application.

There are two kinds of licenses, a tavern license to sell beer and wine, and a Class C restaurant license, which includes beer, wine and hard liquor and provides an establishment more flexibility for future growth, Guile said.

The 4,000-square-foot restaurant, which opened in August, 1994, is owned by Khee Kwok, whose original Dinersty is in Ann Arbor.

ORDINANCE NO. 64 (A)
SUMMARY OF WEED CONTROL

AN ORDINANCE FOR THE PURPOSE OF CONTROLLING AND ERADICATING NOXIOUS WEEDS WITHIN THE TOWNSHIP OF CANTON FOR THE PUBLIC HEALTH AND WELFARE, PROVIDING FOR THE DEFINITION OF NOXIOUS WEEDS AND EXCLUSIONS THEREOF; PROVIDING FOR THE AREAS APPLICABLE WITHIN THE TOWNSHIP OF CANTON; PROVIDING FOR THE DUTY TO CUT AND SPECIFYING UNLAWFUL ACTS; PROVIDING FOR THE AUTHORITY TO DESTROY NOXIOUS WEEDS AND COLLECTION OF COSTS; PROVIDING FOR NOTICE OF VIOLATIONS; PROVIDING FOR THE DESTRUCTION OF NOXIOUS WEEDS; PROVIDING PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION OF SAID ORDINANCE; PROVIDING FOR THE REPEAL OF ALL CONFLICTING ORDINANCES; PROVIDING FOR THE SEVERABILITY OF THIS ORDINANCE AND THE SAVINGS OF ALL PENDING MATTERS; PROVIDING FOR THE EFFECTIVE DATE HEREOF.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF CANTON ORDAINS:

SECTION 1. AMENDMENTS AND ADDITIONS TO THE CODE

Ordinance 64 of the Ordinances of the Charter Township of Canton is hereby amended as follows:

Section 1 (25.710) NOXIOUS WEEDS DEFINED, EXCLUSIONS.

This section amends the definition of noxious weeds and exclusions thereof.

Section 2 (25.720) AREAS TO CUT

This section amends areas to cut and provides for the exclusions thereof.

Section 3 (25.730) UNLAWFUL TO PERMIT

This section provides that it shall be unlawful to permit or allow to grow noxious weeds.

Section 4 (25.740) DUTY TO CUT

This section provides that it is the duty of every owner, occupant or person having charge of any land within the Township to cut down and destroy noxious weeds on certain specified times of the year.

Section 5 (25.750) AUTHORITY TO DESTROY NOXIOUS WEEDS AND THE COSTS THEREOF

This section provides that the Township has the authority upon notice to enter upon certain lands and destroy noxious weeds and to collect the cost of the same from the land owner.

Section 6 (25.760) NOTICE

This section provides for the posting and publishing of certain notices to cut noxious weeds.

Section 7 (25.770) PROSECUTION OF VIOLATORS.

This section provides that the Township should prosecute any person, firm or corporation that violates the terms of this ordinance.

Section 8 (25.780) PENALTIES.

This section provides that a violation of this ordinance shall constitute a civil infraction which may be fined not more than $100.00.

Section 9 (25.790) SEVERABILITY.

This section provides for the severability of this ordinance.

Section 10 (25.800) REPEAL.

This section provides for the repeal of all conflicting ordinances.

Section 11 (25.810) SAVINGS CLAUSE.

This section provides that the repeal should not abrogate or effect any acts done, penalties incurred, or pending prosecution.

Section 12 (25.820) EFFECTIVE DATE.

This section provides that the amended ordinance shall take full force and effect upon publication.

Effective: May 10, 1977

Adopted: June 24, 1997

STATE CAPITOL CAPSULES

Disney survives

The state House of Representatives declined to join the Southern Baptist Church in boycotting the works of Walt Disney.

It rejected 26-70 an amendment to a regulatory bill that would have instructed the Treasury Department not to invest pension and other funds in Walt Disney Corp. or its subsidiaries. Southern Baptists objected to Disney's paying benefits to unmarried household partners and to a lesbian theme in a Disney-owned ABC-TV sitcom.

The amendment was introduced by Rep. Alvin Kukuk, R-Macomb County.

Area supporters included Alan Cropsey, R-DeWitt, Greg Kaza, R-Rochester Hills, Andrew Raczkowski, R-Farmington Hills, and Deborah Whyman, R-Canton.

All other area lawmakers voted no.

Welfare OK'd

House Republicans criticized but in the end gave some support to the $2.9 billion welfare budget bill for the state Family Independence Agency.

The roll call vote was 70 to 36. Here is how area lawmakers voted:

YES – Lyn Bankes, R-Redford, Bob Brown, D-Dearborn Heights, Eileen DeHart, D-Westland, Tom Kelly, D-Wayne.

NO – Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, Deborah Whyman, R-Canton.

Republicans, outnumbered 58-52, failed to amend the bill to exclude prisoners from receiving food stamps, to require that minors live with supervising adults or parents, to provide one-way bus tickets out of Michigan for those who don't want to work, and to allow a lien to be placed on the homes of those who receive weatherization grants.

House Speaker Curtis Hertel, D-Detroit, said the House raised the bill $30 million because Gov. John Engler had asked too little. "In order to receive Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (the federal replacement for AFDC), we must achieve a certain spending level," said Hertel. That level is 75 percent of what the state spent on AFDC in 1994.

Rep. Hubert Price, D-Pontiac, praised the bill for providing a $9.5 million increase for child care and $4 million more for job training.

The Senate rejected House amendments to the bill, sending it to a joint conference committee.

Judicial bill

The House gave 103-2 approval to the judicial appropriations bill with Republicans Shirley Johnson of Royal Oak and David Jaye of Macomb County voting no.

Jaye sought amendments to require the judicial branch to buy through competitive bidding and to prohibit any judge from using gold leaf in stationery. But the House adopted his amendment to require all appellate courts to resolve cases within one year of filing. The bill was returned to the Senate for concurrence in amendments.

In other judicial developments:

■ The Supreme Court appointed four judges to lead the divisions of the new Wayne Circuit Court as it merges Oct. 1 with Detroit Recorder's Court. The civil division will be headed by Judge James J. Rashid; criminal division by Judge Very Massey Jones; family – domestic relations, Judge Kirsten Frank Kelly; and family – juvenile, Judge Freddie G. Burton Jr.

Rashid currently heads the circuit court, Jones heads Recorder's Court, Kelly is a circuit judge and Burton is chief probate judge.

The merger is required by a 1996 law designed to better deploy judicial resources.

Fitzgerald sponsors

Rep. Frank Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge, is sponsoring Gov. John Engler's bills to reduce the number of habitual drunk drivers and unlicensed drivers.

Fitzgerald, an announced candidate for attorney general in 1998, joined Engler, Secretary of State Candice Miller and the State Police director in a Lansing news conference.

Joining them was Ric Morgan, stepfather of Judy Rosin, a 17-year-old Canton Township girl who was killed in November of 1995 by a repeat drunk driver.

Under the Fitzgerald bill:

■ A driver's license would be revoked for conviction of a sec-

Independence Day

Celebrate in Plymouth

There is absolutely no reason to be bored on Friday, July 4 – a day off for just about everyone.

But you have to get out of bed early to enjoy the offerings that Plymouth is serving to celebrate Independence Day.

A day of activity begins literally at the crack of dawn with the debut of the "Good Morning USA" parade along Main Street, starting at Theodore and ending at Hartsough.

So get up good and early because the parade starts at 7:30 a.m. – making it the first parade in Michigan on Independence Day.

It's best, however, to get there long before the starting time, for obvious reasons of finding a good spot to watch the parade. But at 7:15 a.m., three skydivers – with American flag in hand – will kick off festivities by descending from a plane into downtown.

It's sort of ironic that the same week that Britain turned over Hong Kong to the Chinese, that here in Plymouth – named after the well-known city on the southwestern coast of England – our community is putting on what promises to be the snazziest day honoring our break with the Mother Country.

So get ready. More than 70 units will parade past viewers along Main Street. You'll get a chance to see Miss Michigan, the Dogmatics, a canine precision drill team and even a Marilyn Monroe-look-alike blowing kisses from a convertible.

Organizer Fred Hill and the many volunteers who signed on to create a new parade for Plymouth must be congratulated for their planning, innovation and creativity.

Where else can you become a "Bleacher Creature" and participate in a parade with a megaphone, clown's red rubber nose and pompons?

What this parade will do is bring back a sense of patriotism Americans often neglect. Parade-goers are encouraged to wear red, white and blue and to join together for the National Anthem – music to be provided by WSDP radio. The student station also will play patriotic music beginning at 6:30 a.m.

When the parade ends, there's still more.

No need to cook in a hot kitchen July 4 when you can go over to Plymouth Township Park for a community picnic 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Bring the picnic basket and get ready for some good old-fashioned fun and a chance to spend some time with neighbors and friends.

The highlight of the picnic will be a bicycle-tricycle decorating contest for kids up to the age of 12. A fishing contest also is on tap.

And if you don't feel like getting out the picnic basket, hot dogs and popcorn will be available.

Independence Day in Plymouth will come to a close with the annual Plymouth-Canton Jaycees fireworks show at Don Massey Park.

The Jaycees again have worked hard to provide the colorful entertainment. A costly venture, the Jaycees and Plymouth Township Treasurer Ron Edwards have been seeking donations to keep the annual production alive.

Fourth of July will be a long day, starting with the 7:30 a.m. parade and winding up with the fireworks that start at dusk. But it's a day to celebrate.

Remember holiday's meaning

July 4. Independence Day. The Fourth of July.

However you refer to it, it's been called "the most American of holidays," "the Glorious Fourth," "America's Birthday."

It's one of the few national holidays that has not been turned into a three-day weekend. There's no "July 4th Celebrated" label attached. It's just the plain old Fourth of July.

It wasn't always so clear-cut. On June 7, 1776, Richard Henry Lee of Virginia introduced three resolutions at a meeting of the Second Continental Congress. The first declared that "these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states."

Almost a month later, on July 2, the Congress approved Lee's resolution. The next day, John Adams of Massachusetts wrote to his wife: "The Second of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America. I believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival."

But it wasn't until the next day that the actual Declaration of Independence was signed with a flourish by John Hancock. It opened with the words: "In CONGRESS, July 4, 1776." That became the official date for "Independence Day."

Adams may have picked the wrong day to celebrate, but his wish that the occasion "be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games and sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations from one end of this continent to the other" did, indeed, come to pass. The next year, July 4, 1777, communities celebrated with parades, bell-ringing, bonfires and, yes, fireworks.

■ Those early celebrations included much oratory and speech-making on the meaning of the holiday. You don't hear much of that anymore.

The bonfires have been put out and the booming cannons replaced with military flyovers, but the basic celebration has changed little over the past 220 years. There are still plenty of parades, games and sports, picnics and barbecues and spectacular fireworks displays.

Still, we have to wonder if the focus today is not more on the fireworks than on what they represent. Those early celebrations included much oratory and speech-making on the meaning of the holiday. You don't hear much of that anymore.

One area resident observes his own tradition. Every July 4th, he reads the Declaration of Independence – aloud – at his family gathering. He points out that reading the list of grievances makes it clear that the American Revolution was about much more than "taxation without representation."

Even if you don't read the whole document, remember the most quoted part of it:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness."

And that was considered a revolutionary idea.

Rewarding experience

For the past two years, it has been my privilege to be the volunteer assistant track coach at Central Middle School. Thanks to a couple of outstanding teachers, Don Glass and Jean Pritchard, they did everything possible to make it a worthwhile and rewarding experience for the track team and me.

The dual track meets, among our five middle schools, were extremely well run by Betty Smith and starter Gary Balconi. Those two educators offered integrity, organization and valuable help with each of the dual meets.

On June 4, the Middle School League Track Meet was held at the PCEP track. There were over 250 Middle School athletes participating and over 400 spectators in attendance. It was great to see so many coaches helping, including Dan Young, Bob Blohm, Fred Thomann, Geoff Baker, Mark LaPointe, John Venning, Jeremy Reault, Pat Olszewski, Kathryn Ryan, Jay Blaylock, Cindy Grover, Tonya Armstrong, Nancy Smith, Gary Balge, George Smith, Bill Kelp, Gerry Bing and Steve Roth. Also, the Athletic Director Brian Wolcott and Assistant Athletic Director Sue Heinzman were at the track meet and wanted to help in whatever way possible.

Further, Ken Garner, PCEP Security, said that "I am glad to see so many people use the field and parking lot in a safe manner." Special thanks to the meet director George Przygodski for bringing so many people together in the name of athletics.

The bottom line is that "the kids" of the Plymouth-Canton school system have memories of a terrific experience thanks to members of the Athletic Department. Everyone involved in the track program was a winner.

Most importantly, "the kids" had a good learning experience and reminded all of us that track is a lifelong sport.

An honor

This will be our last year serving at the Plymouth Canton Community Clothing Bank. We want to take this opportunity to thank the many groups and individuals who have supported the Clothing Bank with clothing donations and financial assistance.

Your generosity has helped to provide needed items for our clients and has made it possible for us to serve the community successfully all these years.

We will fondly remember the many people who have touched our lives during this time.

It has been an honor to be associated with the Clothing Bank.

A Scout Salute

A Scout salute to Jim Penn, Linda Langmesser and the Friends of Rouge for organizing another successful Plymouth Rough Rescue. The cleanup event on the portion of the Rouge that flows behind Smith School, was a great success - at least no one fell in the creek.

Seriously, it was exhausting work. But everyone agreed, the benefit of a more safe and beautiful nature area, and a cleaner river, was worth the effort.

This year's Rouge Rescue group included the Cub Scouts from Smith School Pack 1532. Active Scouts sure have an appetite when working on achievements and saving the environment. Bravo to the area businesses that donated soft drinks and food for the volunteers.

Also, three cheers to Scott Baker of Plymouth Municipal Services for providing the wood chipper, loader and manpower. The weary adult volunteers said the power equipment saved the day - and their backs.

It's a proven fact. Scouting is excellent training for good citizenship, instills values and develops leadership. Through the Rouge Rescue operation, the young Scouts were able to experience the importance of community service. Thanks again to all the volunteers for helping to improve the Rouge River and the Smith School environment. We look forward to helping again next year - provided our aching muscles have recovered.

Human rights abuses in Turkey hit close to home

GUEST COLUMNIST

STEPHEN RICKARD

It's been more than 20 years since I went to high school in what is now Rep. Joe Knollenberg's congressional district and spent my summers giving swimming lessons for the Livonia Parks and Recreation Department. But much of my family still lives in the area and I've returned every year for Thanksgiving, Christmas and as many summer trips to the region as I could muster.

Two decades haven't changed several important things about the area in which I spent my youth.

That's why I am sure that they would be shocked and appalled to learn that the U.S. is providing the guns, armored personnel carriers and other weapons that are being used to murder other people's kids in Turkey.

Everyone should care about this outrage, but, fortunately, the voters of Livonia, Redford and other parts of the 11th Congressional District can do something about it right how.

That's because their representative, Joe Knollenberg, is a key member of the Foreign Operations Subcommittee – that is, the committee that funds U.S. foreign aid.

Voters in his district should ask him to lead this fight to stop U.S. involvement in these killers. Voters in other districts should also contact their representatives – many of whom, like David Bonior and Sander Levin, are strong human rights supporters and active members of the Congressional Human Rights Caucus – to urge them to protest U.S. weapons transfers to Turkey.

In southeastern Michigan, we treasure the right cultural diversity of our people, with the Detroit Riverfront Festivals and countless other celebrations of origins as varied as Poland, Nigeria, Lebanon, Bolivia and countless other lands. So it is hard to imagine that Turkey's Kurdish population is relentlessly attacked by its own government. That torture is systematically used against Kurds and others who speak out against this brutality and journalists who write about it. That Kurdish members of the Turkish parliament are literally in prison today simply because they dared to use the Kurdish language or to wear to colors of the Kurdish flag.

Consider the words of a father whose 20-year-old son was gunned down in front of him in cold blood by Turkish troops. "We went to police headquarters. They bound the eyes of my wife and daughter. They took us downstairs and shut us into a cell. That a child age 13 should have her eyes bound and be thrown into a cell! In my 33 years as a teacher I had never felt a greater sense of shame."

When the troops later gunned down his son outside their home, he did not die immediately. One of the officers "kicked my son and son, 'What did your family feed you. Have you got nine lives?' Another (soldier) said 'What are you waiting for? Finish him off.' After a few minutes, there was the sound of a single weapon ... The ambulance arrived. They threw Serdar into the back like a piece of rubbish."

Since the Turkish army gets over 80 percent of its arms from the U.S., the odds are roughly 4 to 1 that the guns used to murder this college student in front of his father came from the U.S. and were subsidized by U.S. taxpayer dollars.

Amnesty International USA is urging the Congress to say that the U.S. will not be a party to these outrages and the good news for voters in the 11th Congressional District is that their representative, Joe Knollenberg, is in a critical position to help. He can and should join with colleagues in Congress to demand that the U.S. strictly monitor the use of U.S. weapons sent to Turkey and stop any shipments likely to be used to kill, main and torture.

I know that the people of Michigan would want no less.

Stephen Rickard went to Stevenson High School in Livonia and attended Adrian College. He is the Washington Office director for Amnesty International USA. Interested people can contact Knollenberg at (810) 851-1366 or (313) 425-7557.

School-to-work gets boost from real-life success story

TIM RICHARD

You won't see the Heinz Prechters of this state demonstrating against the school-to-work program that Gov. John Engler – belatedly, but to his credit – has bought to life.

Prechter, 55, is a German immigrant who built the idea of auto sunroofs into multi-industry businesses. He is a product of just the kind of program borrowed by former Rep. Bill Keith, D-Garden City, Rep. Glenn Oxender, R-Sturgis, and lately by the governor.

A school-to-work (STW) program is designed to prepare every high school graduate for working in a real, live company.

I met Prechter during a recent Channel 7 "Spotlight on News" taping during which we concentrated on his plan to build another bridge across the Detroit River from Southgate. But I was more intrigued, frankly, by his schooling.

"At the age of 13, I was an apprentice in an automotive trim, tool-and-die making, and coach and body building company," he said. He studied at Berufs-Obserschule in Nuremberg (the rough equivalent of our high school) and OHM Polytechnic Engineering School (rough equivalent of our college).

Incidentally, English was a mandatory subject.

In 1963, as an exchange student of business at San Francisco State College, Prechter began installing sunroofs. It was a shocking idea to Americans, especially when he went to a Cadillac dealer and suggested cutting a hole in the top of a car.

By 1965, Prechter was the American Sunroof Co. in Los Angeles. In 1967, he was in metro Detroit and becoming ASC Inc. Its divisions mostly supply the auto industry. The one-time teenage apprentice today has 22 facilities and 2,000 employees.

In addition, he has been a big fundraiser for the Republican Party, a member of Engler's Jobs Commission, an adviser to President Bush's administration, a promoter of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), a publisher and general high civic mucky-muck. He drives his own car.

Many Michigan legislators, including Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Redford, have visited Germany's technical schools, where kids spent part of the week on the job as apprentices and part in class. Everyone who has seen it is impressed by the way young people are prepared by local industry for real jobs and the high academic content of their classrooms.

But not "Probe" and its associates, mostly from northern Oakland County. This handful of folks shows up at every educational-type hearing to protest just about everything – outcomes-based education and now school-to-work.

They are from the political and religious right such as American Opinion Bookstore (are the John Birchers still around?), Clonlara Home-Based Education Program, Justice Pro Se, Michigan Christian Coalition, Michigan Eagle Forum, Southfield Reformed Presbyterian Church, lots of Concerned Citizens groups ... and so on. Not exactly your mainstream groups.

On June 17 they protested at Engler's conference in the Lansing Center. Their message: "We Americans are threatened by this assault on individual freedom. The system of school-to-work severely limits career choice and opportunity for our children, in favor of 'what's best for the state.' This STW system effects a planned economy in a socially engineered society."

And: "The purpose of school is to educate – to impart knowledge – not to train the workforce for the sole benefit of business to remain 'globally competitive.' We do not believe it is in the best interest of our children to submit them to continual, lifelong learning, dictated by government/business for its own ends."

Most of the rest consists of the same vague hyperbole, short on facts, capped off by damning standard curriculum and assessments as "un-American."

Tell that to Prechter, who is hardly the kind of servile chunk of human capital that the protesters want to avoid. He's literate, urbane, a credit to the school systems that taught him and the nation he adopted.

Tim Richard reports on local implications of state and regional events.

Election Day not tomorrow

PHILIP POWER

Although the method of announcement (an exclusive interview given by Gov. John Engler's wife, Michelle, with the Detroit Free Press) was a tad unusual, the substance was no big surprise. Big John, the 800-pound gorilla of Michigan politics who was so staunch in support for tight term limits, wants a third term for himself.

His decision ends a long home stand of "Speculation," the favorite spectator sport of Michigan political insiders.

Some figured Engler wouldn't run, citing the traditional difficulties in wining a third term and the Engler family's need to make some serious money in the private sector to put the triplets through college. Others argued running for stuff is what Engler loves (he has never lost an election). Moreover, they said, without a strong governor on top, the Republican Party will tear itself to shreds.

Engler is obviously the heavy favorite for reelection next year, although if I were in charge of the family budget I wouldn't spend a lot of money redecorating the girls' rooms before Nov. 9, 1998. I saw enough of Jim Blanchard's attempt to win a third term in 1990 to know that nothing is ever certain in politics, especially if you answer too quickly to the nickname "Pothole John."

All the same, none of the Democrats now running for nomination should feel all that happy now that the race has come quickly into focus.

A poll published two weeks ago in the newsletter Inside Michigan Politics suggested the Democratic nomination was still wide open, assuming neither Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer or former U.S. Sen. Don Riegle gets in. None of the five likely candidates – James Agee, Jim Berryman, Larry Owen, Doug Ross and Karen Willard – has name recognition numbers above 31 percent.

Owen, so far dubbed the favorite by conventional wisdom, has a very slight and probably meaningless lead in name recognition. He also has a nearly even favorable-unfavorable (7 to 6 percent) rating split, probably stemming from his controversial tenure as a member of the Michigan State University governing board. This rating is now likely to suffer the consequences of his wife, Faylene, being fingered as a source for the rumors about the alleged difficulties in the Engler marriage.

Ross, on the other hand, has a 9-to-1 percent favorable-unfavorable rating, reflecting his experience as a state senator, Blanchard's Commerce director and assistant secretary of Labor for employment and training.

More to the point, I believe, is the impact of Engler's announcement on the dynamics of the Democratic primary.

Owen's strongest suit in winning nomination has always been his presumed support from organized labor, which nearly always picks Democratic nominees. But Engler has already shown that he can whip a weak Democratic candidate with strong union support (Howard Wolpe, in 1994). So, the analysis goes, one wonders just how far a labor-dominated Owen campaign would get against a still formidable Engler.

Ross, on the other hand, is making grassroots, citizen-based politics the core of his strategy. With $500,000 raised and 2,400 volunteers signed on, Ross at his announcement two weeks ago told 800 supporters at Livonia's Burton Manor, "We are sending a signal to the old-style politicians who take their cues from the special interests: Step aside."

"(Cynics) say campaigns are all about special interest money and back-room deals and negative TV ads," Ross continued. "They say there's no place for real people or real ideas in campaigns any more. Do you believe that?" To shouts of "no," Ross said, "I didn't think so."

There's a long way to go till next November, and anything could happen. But my guess as of now is that it'll take an unconventional campaign run by an unconventional, idea-driven politician to make Engler sweat the way he should in a close race.

Rouge fish kill data expected soon

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
STAFF WRITER

State officials are waiting for a report from Wayne County on a rotenone application in Newburgh Lake that accidentally killed fish several miles downstream on the Rouge River before they decide whether fines or penalties will be assessed against Wayne County.

Wayne County received a permit from the state's Department of Environmental Quality for a rotenone application intended to eradicate fish in Newburgh Lake, many of which were contaminated with polychlorinated biphenyls.

Rotenone is a white, odorless, crystalline, natural substance derived from several tropical and subtropical plants. It inhibits on fish a biochemical process that makes it impossible for fish to use oxygen to release energy in body processes.

Rotenone is only fatal to fish and other small amphibians at the concentration levels used on the river.

Rotenone was sprayed June 18 onto the middle branch of the Rouge River downstream from Wilcox Dam, then onto Newburgh Lake to kill the fish. Potassium permanganate was applied as a neutralizer to detoxify the rotenone near Newburgh Dam.

The rotenone was applied June 18 and killed not only the Newburgh Lake fish, but it went downstream through Nankin Lake and killed the fish in that Rouge River impoundment. Dead fish were found as far east as Telegraph Road, state officials said.

Potassium permanganate was applied as a neutralizer to detoxify the rotenone near Newburgh Dam, but it apparently was an inadequate amount for the amount of rotenone, state officials said.

The rotenone application and subsequent overkill constitutes a permit violation, said Mark Oemke, project manager with the state Department of Environmental Quality. Oemke would not comment on any possible punishment or remediation sought by the state against Wayne County.

"We won't do anything until we see the county's report," Oemke said.

Oemke did not have a final tally of fish and species found in Newburgh Lake, but was confident with the discovery of pike and bass in the fish kill that the lake could support a fishery once the PCB-contaminated soil is excavated over the next year. Most of the fish killed and removed were carp and bluegill.

About 12,000 pounds of fish were removed from Newburgh Lake as was planned under the fish kill. About 1,500 pounds were collected from Nankin Lake.

ond offense of drunk driving within seven years of a prior conviction. At the time of arrest, the driver's vehicle plate would be confiscated and a temporary paper plate issued.

■ First-offense drunk driving involving injury or death would result in vehicle immobilization or a restricted late.

Engler said the new bill, if enacted, would affect about one percent of drivers.

Gahan appointed

Engler has reappointed Thomas Gahan to the State Board of Pharmacy. Gahan, of Canton, is vice president of pharmacy purchasing for Arbor Drugs. He will represent professionals from a chain for a term expiring June 30, 2001.

DeHart bill OK'd

A bill by Rep. Eileen DeHart, D-Westland, to expand the prescription drug tax credit for senior citizens has been approved by the House and sent to the Senate.

The bill would allow seniors to claim up to $600 per person for out-of-pocket drug costs. DeHart said the Legislature each year sets aside $20 million to pay for prescription drug credits, but since 1988 the program has never depleted the money.

New bills

■ Elections – Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, has introduced a bill to ban campaigning at voting precincts. It would require that signs be posted at polling places to state what activities are (not) allowed on election day. Campaigning within 100 feet of a polling place entrance is illegal.

These services are valued by some consumers, but there are some telephone scams operating through 900 numbers and other information service numbers.

It doesn't matter who dialed the 900-number – a minor, a guest or someone working in your home – the call will be billed to the telephone number of a call's origination. These 900-number service providers are usually unable to verify authorization or age of the callers.

The rates they charge are not regulated.

The MPSC has the following tips for consumers to protect themselves from unwanted charges when dialing a 900 number:

■ Be aware that charges are always incurred when you participate in a program offered through a 900 number.

Listen to the introductory message and hang up promptly if you decide you are not interested in the service or do not want to pay the charges given. The introductory message must also state that callers under 18 must obtain parental permission.

Also, 900-number call providers are prohibited from advertising or marketing to children under 12 years of age unless the services are educational in nature.

■ Do not confuse 900 numbers with 800, 888 or other toll-free numbers. The 900 numbers are not toll free. There is always a charge.

■ Some advertisements urge consumers to call a 900 number by offering "free" gifts or prizes. Be wary of ads that don't provide much detail about what is being offered or the cost.

■ Consider having your telephone company place a 900-number block on your telephone line if you do not want 900-number calls placed from your telephone. In Michigan there is no charge for 900 blocking. By law blocking must be offered by all telephone service providers in Michigan. Be aware that it may be possible to dial around blocks by dialing a regular long distance phone number, 800 access numbers or an international toll number to another country.

Who can help you with a complaint?

Consumers should attempt to resolve any dispute with the telephone company, information provider or billing entry. Follow up all conversations with the provider in writing and keep a copy for your records.

The 900-number charges are almost never the result of tampering or equipment malfunction and, in any case, proving anything of this nature is extremely difficult, the MPSC said.

Your telephone company is under no obligation to remove charges where tampering or equipment malfunction is only suspected or when it is difficult for you to accept that someone in your family made the call.

The MPSC has no authority to order 900-number charges removed from a telephone bill.

If you are unsuccessful in resolving a 900-number call dispute then contact the Michigan Attorney General's office, Consumer Protection Division, P.O. Box 30213, Lansing 48909 (Describe the problem and send a copy of the bill).

Consumers also can contact the Federal Communications Commission, Consumer Protection Branch, Common Complaints, Mail Stop 1600A2, Washington, DC 20554 (1-888-225-5322) or the Michigan Public Service Commission, Communications/Service Quality Section, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, MI 48909 (1-800-292-9555).

Good things can happen unexpectedly

In the last four months, I've discovered just how much truth there is in those sayings that seem far too corny for the 1990s. You know the ones; they usually start with "You know what they say."

Take the one "when you least expect it." Forget being patient and waiting calmly because what you really want is going to happen ... when you least expect it. Give up hope, and bam, you'll get what you've wanted and it'll be when you least expect it.

In the Mason house, we have a precise date for "when you least expect it" – Feb. 18, 1997. Three years of waiting and hoping and then setting a date to throw in the towel were erased with one phone call. It came when we least expected it, and within two weeks' time, we were on the roller coaster ride of our lives, a ride that got its start in June 1994 in a room in the Northwest Activities Center in Detroit.

We'd dialed this phone number, 259-KIDS, and ended up in an orientation class. We were in the minority there and in classes we took at 2929 Russell St. in Detroit. It wasn't because of our color, it was our goal that set us apart from our classmates. Most were there to become foster care providers for children caught in the dreaded "system." We were there to wrangle one, two, hey, even three away from that "system." We

Storytellers bring passion to art

■ Storytellers Debra Christian and Ron Lowe have an "emotional connection" to their art. They hope that rubs off on their audiences.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

By day, Debra Christian works as a speech pathologist. She sees a lot of children who are so involved in technology that they're missing out on a traditional childhood. Fairy tales and nursery rhymes, she said, have taken a back seat to the Internet, online services and cable television.

"I really realized that when I took out a Robin Hood game and the kids didn't know who he was," she said.

So by night, Christian is hoping to renew interest in stories as a storyteller.

"My main objective is to bring as much of the magic of storytelling to as many people as I can throughout the world," said Christian, a former Garden City resident who now lives in Plymouth with her husband and two children, Brian, 12, and Eric, 13.

As Christian describes it, she "leaped" into storytelling after attending a national convention in 1986 near her mother-in-law's home in Jonesborough, Tenn. It immediately appealed to her as a speech pathology technique, but soon her passion took over.

"People often ask me, 'What hooked you?' I use the word 'passion' or an 'emotional connection,' " she said. "When you have a passion for it, it's like an addicting drug. You can't get enough of it.

"I look at how it impacted my life and it really took me in a different career path. I was totally prepared to become a school principal. I went back to school and got an advanced degree. But when story came into my life there was no turning back."

Varied avenues

The host of the public access television show "Teller of Tales," Christian has performed on WDET public radio, WSDP at Plymouth Salem High School and at the Michigan State Fair, The Ark in Ann Arbor, the Jackson Storyfest and the Detroit Festival of Storytelling. She is the co-founder of the annual "Storytellers Retreat," which has attracted storytellers from around the United States.

Recently, her story "Grandpa's Journey" from her tape "Cherished Tales" earned her a first runner-up prize in the National Storyteller of the Year contest.

Storytelling, she said, brought fullness into her life. The only struggle she has is "there are so many stories to be told and I can't bring all of them to everyone."

One person she brought it to was Judge Ron Lowe of 35th District Court in Plymouth.

"I was attending a storytelling function up in Lexington (in Michigan's Thumb area). While I was sitting in the audience listening to the stories, some lady was walking around introducing herself and it was Debra," Lowe said.

He had been storytelling since the mid-1980s, but didn't consider moving into the professional end of it until he met Christian.

"I kiddingly tell people 'professional' is when, like in sports, you move from doing it as a sport to getting paid for it," he said. "The professional status is moving to having done it just for fun to realizing the power behind the storytelling. You're doing it for the purpose of promoting and encouraging storytelling, not just getting money for it."

He has since performed at a host of places, including Scotts Mill Storytelling Festival, Detroit Festival of Storytelling, the Plymouth Community Arts Council and D.A.R.E. graduation ceremonies. He is the co-creator of the Plymouth Library's Fall Festival Storytelling program and the Plymouth Thanksgiving story-

Advocate: Barbara Cardinal of Westland recently was awarded the Barbara Lipinski Award of Merit professional award from the Autism Society of Michigan.

Advocacy earns Westland woman Lipinski award

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

Barbara Cardinal of Westland has devoted herself to advocacy.

And that devotion has paid off as she recently was awarded the Barbara Lipinski Award of Merit professional award from the Autism Society of Michigan.

As associate executive director of United Cerebral Palsy of Metropolitan Detroit and a member of the board of directors for the Autism Society of Michigan, Cardinal is an advocate who works with individuals and families as well as with legislators.

The Barbara Lipinski Award is given by Lipinski's family. Lipinski, who was killed in an accident, was an advocate and the family wanted an award given to a family member, professional and advocate. Cardinal won the professional award.

She was nominated by her peers at work and by several parents of disabled people she has worked with, she said.

UCP, with offices at 23077 Greenfield Road in Southfield, is an organization open to any person who calls the office needing help and the organization works with the Autism Society of Michigan.

Cardinal's work at United Cerebral Palsy involves working with individuals and families in gaining education and employment as well as writing grant proposals for money for training programs.

UCP is taking a new approach in finding employment for people by giving people a choice of where they would like to apply, rather than saying, "go to McDonald's" when the person may not want to work at McDonald's, Cardinal said.

"The person becomes in charge of their life," Cardinal said.

Cardinal also works to change the system by giving her testimony in Congress at the national and state levels. She also writes letters and teaches and encourages other people to write letters.

Her goal is to get people to really pay attention to people's abilities rather than their disabilities.

She uses the slogan, "Don't dis my ability," she said.

And she is encouraged by some of the changes. Just the fact that the Michigan Jobs Commission would partner with UCP is encouraging, she said.

The agency has helped people who have grown up in a very traditional system, she said. Now parents of disabled children are much more able to make choices in education, rather than being forced out of the mainstream as they had been in the '70s, Cardinal said.

Now disabled people can work where they want and live where they want, she said.

"That is extremely important to myself and to the rest of my peers that I work with," she said. "It is very exciting to see someone who was helpless get empowered."

The award is for those people – they are the ones that have made a difference, she said.

Cardinal started at UCP in 1989 after leaving Spectrum Human Services. She was born and raised in the Detroit area and received her degrees at Marygrove and the University of Wyoming. While working on a reservation in Wyoming she gained her love of advocacy. There she worked with people who have no one to be their voice, she said.

But her father's failing health brought her back to the Detroit area.

"It has been a very good move for me," she said. "I've had many opportunities to use my gifts in ways that I've wanted to," she said.

As a member of the Immaculate Heart of Mary congregation and mother houses in Monroe, where she does volunteer work, she does work that sustains her for her work during the day, she said.

Another love of hers is photography, which allows her to go out and be one with nature. Photography gives a whole new perspective to things and that's what advocacy does, it gives a whole new perspective on life, she said.

■ Cardinal would like to see universities become more futuristic in preparing teachers, counselors and social workers by including new technology.

As for the future, she hopes to continue her work at UCP. And her supportive peers have made it easy to carry on with some of things she is doing. She also hopes to continue to work to make things better for all children, not just the disabled.

"I wish that we could work on a closer basis with school systems," she said.

She would also like to see universities become more futuristic in preparing teachers, counselors and social workers by including new technology. Technology increases the ability of people to do things, she said.

She would also like to see a better understanding on the part of representatives, senators and the governor of the needs of people with disabilities in the areas of employment and assistance and not make it a political issue.

She is excited by the changes she's seen and about the future. Every once in a while she gets knocked off her pedestal by a lack of time or money, but then something comes along to restore her faith, she said.

"I feel very blessed and very lucky that the families that I worked with and the people I've worked with have believed I could make a change," she said.

telling festival and sole creator of the Canton Scarecrow Festival of Storytelling and the storytelling program, "Our Christian Heritage."

Variety of topics

Besides focusing on her family, Christian travels throughout Europe to dig up stories for her performances.

"When we were in Germany I didn't speak German, but I wanted to go to the library. There were so many beautiful prints and old books that you had a sense of what was going on.

"In my travels over there, I got the most amazing stories. Europe is the heart of so much of our ancient literature, it's a good place to start."

Naturally, Lowe's forte is stories about the law, but he did use storytelling when he was campaigning for his job. While at a candidates' forum, he noticed the audience's interest starting to wane.

"I stood up and basically said, 'You can tell a lot about people by the types of stories they tell,'" he said. "I went on to tell them a story about early American history. It happened to be a veterans group (he was speaking to) and the story (he told) ends up with a lot of red, white and blue – let's be proud of the country we have and the types of people we are.

"I think they appreciated the message and I know they appreciated the break from the dry 'Here's who I am. This is what I'll do for you.'"

Once a month, Lowe visits Central Middle School as part of the Teachers, Lawyers and Children (TLC) program where he teaches a sixth-grade class about the law.

"I try to incorporate some legal stories to teach them about the law as well as a whole lot of interactive discussion, games and anything I can help to liven it up," he said, adding that storytelling is a "terrific educational tool."

"Because the law is very important to me, I've discovered that I can communicate a lot about the system of law, about right and wrong, with the goal in mind that if I can get them to understand what it's all about maybe they can develop an appreciation for it," he said. "A lot of times people if they don't understand something that's when they get negative about it."

Both storytellers agree that it has taken some time for people to believe that it is a valid art form.

"You need to look at history," Christian explained. "Think about ancient man. After he would come back from his hunt he didn't pop in a video; he reenacted the story of the hunt. It's our truest form of passing down history and information.

"Storytelling is probably one of the greatest learning vehicles of human existence. It's so simple and yet people forget that everyone wants to hear a story."

The fifth annual Storytellers Retreat will be held Sept. 19-21 at Camp Wathana near Holly. For more information about that or Christian's tape, call her at (313) 451-1128 or write her via E-mail at DebraC4@aol.com.

were there in search of a child or children to call our own.

While many go through private adoption agencies, we took a route less traveled. We cast our fate to the Department of Social Services where the costs for adoption were miniscule. We had tried one agency but were rejected because of our less-than-stellar track record in picking mates. We had looked into foreign adoptions but the price tag was too rich for our taste. Yes, we wanted children, but we also wanted to be able to feed and clothe them.

By going through DSS, our cost was the court filing fee and with the MARE (Michigan Adoption Resource Exchange) book, filled with photographs of children from around the state who were in need of families, we knew we could find the child of our dreams.

A sound plan

It was a sound plan, especially considering DSS doesn't discriminate against people who make stupid until-death-do-us-part choices. We just had a feeling the third try at adoption would be our lucky charm, that before we knew it – about a year, we figured – we'd have one, two, or even three of those MARE kids living in our home.

And it was a sound plan that looked like it would work. Within 11 months of that orientation class, we were getting ready to visit a darling little girl. We were making plans, telling anyone who'd listen the good news, when we were stopped cold in our tracks. The foster mother had changed her mind and after all was said and done, we were on the outside looking in.

It was our introduction to what had been said many times in those classes, but never really had sunk in. In the realm of adoption, the foster parents get first dibs. We were devastated, and the loss was felt as deeply as when our infant son Matthew had died almost seven years to the day earlier.

It took several months to revive our enthusiasm, but nothing seemed to go our way. Adoption workers will tell you they are not here to find children for families, they are here to find families for children, and when it comes to the younger ones, you toss your home study into the ring and hope it comes out on top. There's no addendums about how long you've waited, the disappointments you've experienced, just the story of your lives, nothing more and nothing less.

And then you wait and hope for an answer that never comes, leaving you wondering what it was in that jumble of words that kept you from being selected. One month, two months, a year. We would look in the book and inquire. A little boy in Saginaw County – no answer. A sibling group of three in Wayne County – no dice. The agency was looking for an Hispanic family. Just being able to "hablo espanol" didn't count.

Setting a deadline

When January 1997 rolled around, we started doing some serious soul searching. How much longer should we keep at it? When should we throw in the towel? We arbitrarily picked March as the cutoff. Nothing by then, we told ourselves, and we'd accept our fate – two incomes, one dog and plenty of nieces and nephews to spoil rotten.

Well, "when you least expect it" for us was a phone call on Feb. 18. A child named Robert needed a family. Auburn hair, blue gray eyes, he was as adorable in person as he was in his photograph. We met him "unofficially" on March 1, and he has been a part of our lives ever since. We are his Mommy and his Daddy and he is our Bobby.

We are seeing our world through a child's eyes, answering his questions, and refusing every "I want Mommy and Daddy to buy me some of doz tings" requests. Listen, 2 1/2 is just too young for a Harley and a Mustang convertible, don't you think? Our family room looks like a miniature Toys R Us and the back-yard landscaping has taken a backseat to Bobby's swing set.

Bob complains that his waistline is disappearing because of the cookies and such that have materialized to keep this 35-pound speedster fueled, while I search for someplace that sells ketchup in 55-gallon drums. If it's edible and can be dunked, it goes in ketchup, according to Bobby. Eggs, hash browns, french fries, even green beans get dunked, and on occasion, his fingers.

We have learned to decipher 2 1/2-year-old talk, sing silly kid songs, play silly games and cope with the terrible twos. We treasure each and every sticky kiss and hug, every giggle and tearful sob and every chance to stand at his bedroom door and watch him sleep. Our lives have been changed forever and it came when we least expected it. But then again, you know what they say about good things coming to those who wait.

"In 1995, I was diagnosed with cancer.

I FELT ALIENATED. I felt I would no longer look at myself the same way.

And one thing I noticed when I WENT TO ST. JOE'S in ANN ARBOR, was that they were well aware of those emotions. I TRUSTED IN THEM that they were honest and forthright, and cared about me as not just their patient, but as a person. What was so comforting, and still is, is knowing that they're there. It's knowing that they're there."

Cruiser award-winners

The Plymouth-Canton Cruisers Swim Club finished its winter season with its annual awards banquet. Three different awards were presented to male and female swimmers in each age division, beginning with:

•The 4-D Award, given to those whose attitudes reflect desire, determination, dedication and dependability. Winners were, in the 8-and-under division, Colin Smith and Molly Dowd; in 9-10, Kyle Silbernagel and Allison Goldsmith; in 11-12, Mike Horgan and Alex Evans; and in 13-14, Aaron Reeder and Kari Foust.

•The Achievement Award, presented to, in 8-and-under, Stephen Orey and Julie Greeneisen; 9-10, Ben Dzialo, Amy Mertens and Alicia Dotson; 11-12, Eric Lynn, Adam Sonnanstine and Katie Meyer; 13-14, Brian Mertens, Jason Rebarchik and Sarah Rogers; and 15-18, Kyle Petroskey and Yvonne Lynn.

•The Most Improved Swimmer Award, presented to, in 8-and-under, Trevor Silbernagel, Emily Stephens and Stacy Yee; 9-10, Billy Horgan, Joe Le, Ryan Smith and Patricia Ahern; 11-12, Ryan Ahern, Matt Wisniewski and Kirstin Orey; and 13-14, Brad Nilson, Aaron Shelton and Katrina Westbrook.

Whalers release schedule

The Plymouth Whalers released their 1997-98 Ontario Hockey League schedule Tuesday.

Included are 66 games, 33 at Compuware Arena and 33 on the road. Of the 33 home contests, 18 will be at 7:30 p.m. on Saturdays and 11 more will start at 6:30 p.m. on Sundays. All regular-season games will be broadcast live on WSDS-AM, radio 1480.

Opening day will be a home game against the London Knights on Saturday, Sept. 20 at 7:30 p.m. Game No. 2 will be the next day, Sept. 21, at 6:30 p.m. vs. the Windsor Spitfires.

Opening day tickets go on sale Sept. 1. For season ticket information, call (313) 453-8400 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Hawks 2nd at regional

The Michigan Hawks '82 finished second at the under-15 girls soccer regionals, held in Rockford, Ill., June 20-25. The Hawks reached the semifinals with wins over the Iowa Quad-City Strikers, the Ohio North Premier and the Kansas Avellino Pizzazz.

In the semis, the Hawks continued to roll, defeating the Wisconsin Milwaukee Kickers 3-0. But in the finals they were finally derailed, losing 2-0 to the Ohio South FC Kolping Ben-Gals.

Members of the Hawks are: Amy Allen, Susan Bear, Nicole D'Hondt, Laura Grode, Alyson Kehler, Kelly Kraft, Tiffany Laskowski, Michele Lowe, Abby Morrell, Anne Morrell, Brianna Roy, Christen Shull, Andi Sied, Stacey Supanich, Suzi Towne, Michele Vettraino and Kristen Weidle. The team is coached by Tim Ernst.

Silver Bullets 3rd

The Plymouth-Canton Silver Bullets, a 14-and-under girls fast pitch travel softball team, made their trip to the Okemos Softball Classic last weekend a worthwhile one. The Silver Bullets finished third in the tournament, which was part of the Great Lakes State Games, held in the Lansing area June 20-29.

Playing for the Silver Bullets are Jennifer Allen, Kaitlin Anderson, Kristy Barber, Katie Conlon, Theresa Horn, Jennifer Jablonski, Katie Kelly, Christina Kiessel, Lisa Niemiec, Sarah Pack, Jenna Perino, Jennifer Warnick and Danielle Weber.

Playing in the Western Wayne County League as representatives of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League, the Silver Bullets are currently unbeaten in league play.

Aguirre golf outing

The fifth annual Hank Aguirre Memorial Golf Outing, hosted by the Michigan Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, will be Monday, Aug. 11 at Fox Hills Country Club in Plymouth.

The all-day golf package costs $225 per person and includes: 18 holes of golf in a scramble format; a golf cart; continental breakfast; lunch at the turn; dinner and an open bar.

Golfers will also be able to take part in a raffle and auction of all sorts of great sports memorabilia and prizes. Proceeds from the outing contribute to the support of the Hispanic Chamber of Commerce and its efforts to promote Hispanic and small business owners throughout the state, the Hank Aguirre Cancer Awareness Fund, and the Hank Aguirre Scholarship Fund.

To register, or for more information, call the Michigan Hispanic Chamber of Commerce at (248) 577-0730.

Madonna baseball camp

Madonna University's summer baseball camp, for youths 8-18 years old, will be from 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. July 7-11 at Madonna. Fundamentals of hitting, pitching, fielding and throwing will be taught by college coaches, college players and former professional players.

Cost is $180. For further information, contact Madonna assistant coach Sean Maloney at (313) 432-5727.

Fisher pitches Mold to a twinbill sweep

The Motor City Mold, from Plymouth and Canton, got back on track in the Girls Incredible Fastpitch Softball League, beating the Northville Orioles twice Tuesday.

Jenny Fisher got the pitching win in both games, tossing a one-hitter in the opener, a 7-1 victory, and a two-hitter in the nightcap, a 19-3 triumph. Fisher walked four and struck out four in the first game, and walked six and struck out three in the second.

SOFTBALL

Sarah Freels and Melissa Brown led the nine-hit attack in game No. 1, each collecting two; Freels also had one run batted in. Fisher added a triple.

In the second game, Freels went 4-for-4 with an RBI to pace a 13-hit attack. Liz Elsner added two hits and three RBI, Nikki Kovachevich had two hits and two RBI, and Fisher, Amy Seale and Marie Pochron each had a hit and two RBI.

Canton seniors excel

Only two teams of high school players competed at the Blaze Tournament in Grand Rapids last weekend. One was the Motor City Mold, which didn't survive pool play.

The other — Canton Sports, consisting of all Plymouth Canton HS seniors — tied for first place in its pool before losing in the tournament's elimination round.

Canton Sports was 2-1 in pool play, tying with the Grand Rapids Impact for first. Canton beat the Ohio Excels 9-0, behind Sarah Carson's pitching and the hitting of Tara Biro, 2-for-4 with two RBI; and Angela Litwin, Shelly Butske, Nikki Kovachevich and Shana Bidwell, each with two hits and an RBI.

Canton also topped the East Side

Scoring onslaught

Big scorers: The Wildcats' Joey Giambra (right) and the Wolverines' Jay Storm each scored two goals for their respective teams Monday. The difference — Storm's second goal came with 21 seconds left to play, resulting in a 6-5 win for his Wolverine team. Storm also had an assist in the game, which featured two goals by each team in the game's last 2:46.

Falcons' 10-goal 1st period buries Bulldogs

The Falcons made a statement in winning for the first time this season in the Metro Summer Hockey League.

Although no such records are documented, it seems the Falcons set a league record by scoring 10 goals in the first period as they mauled the Bulldogs 17-5 Monday at Plymouth Ice Arena.

The win boosted the Falcons' record to 1-2. The 'Dogs are now the only winless team in the MSHL at 0-3.

The goals came fast and furiously for the Falcons. Pete Mazzoni poured in five in the first period alone, with Jesse Hubenschmidt (from Redford) adding three more as the Falcons built a 10-1 lead after one.

Hubenschmidt finished with four goals and two assists, while Jack McCoy (Farmington Hills) had three goals and six assists. Dan Hunt (Livonia) had two goals and an assist, Ryan LaChance got a goal and four assists, and both Vic DeCina (Canton) and Kris Caster netted a goal and two assists.

Tom McNeil (Plymouth) was in goal all the way for the Falcons.

For the Bulldogs, Chris Smith scored two goals and Dustin Kuk (Livonia), Baron Becker and Mike Noel added one apiece. Shawn Miller started in goal; he was replaced by Bob Harrison in the first period.

Wolverines 6, Wildcats 5: Monday's first game, also played at Plymouth, proved to be a down-to-the-wire affair, with the Wolverines' Jay Storm notching the game-winner, his second goal of the game, with 21 seconds left in the final period.

The Wildcats (now 1-2), trailing 4-2 entering the last period, tied it at 5-5 with 1:17 left on a goal by Jason Asadoorian (Canton). But that just set the stage for Storm's heroics.

Abran Smith (Redford), Tom Kastamo, John Fontana (Livonia) and Tom Balamucki also had goals for the Wolves, with Balamucki scoring with 1:54 left to play.

Asadoorian's first goal of the third period had tied the game at 4-4 with 2:46 left. Balamucki restored the lead to the Wolves, before Asadoorian scored again. Asadoorian also had an assist; Joey Giambra added two goals for the 'Cats.

Storm also had one assist and Keith Pietila had two assists for the Wolves.

Lakers 6, Wildcats 4: A four-goal first period got the Lakers started, and Troy Taylor provided the finishing touch against the Wildcats Tuesday at Plymouth.

The Lakers improved to 2-1; the Wildcats are 1-3.

Two goals by Jason Couture and single scores by Bill Tucker and Brent Wishart pushed the Lakers to a 4-1 advantage after one period, but three straight goals by the 'Cats, scored by Greg George, Patrick Jesue and Jason Durbin, tied it at 4-4 with 7:48 left in the second period.

Taylor broke the tie with 6:03 to go in the second, then got the clincher with 6:20 remaining in the third.

Couture and Tucker also had two assists apiece for the Lakers. Jesue had two goals and Mark Portelli had two assists for the Wildcats.

Rick Marnon (Canton) went the entire way in goal for the Lakers; Brian Gray and Larry Jesue split time in goal for the 'Cats.

Coaching search bottoms out at S'craft

C.J. RISAK

The news you've been anxiously awaiting . . .

It starts at Schoolcraft College, where competition for some pretty high-profile coaching jobs is running amok.

In fact, if it were any more intense, some one might actually wake up and show real interest.

They might even want one of the jobs! Maybe even (dare-I-suggest-such-a-thing?) both!

Hey, I can dream, can't I? As far as qualifications, coaching sports as opposite as women's soccer and men's basketball, at this point does such a thing really matter?

It apparently doesn't to those in charge of intercollegiate athletics at Schoolcraft. After all, it's not as if these openings suddenly appeared. The men's basketball position has been vacant since last summer, the women's soccer since last December.

Greg Thomas, hired as the interim men's basketball coach for the 1996-97 season, wanted the job full time, but the higher-ups decided he wasn't good enough.

In fact, the first round of applications produced such a stellar group that the entire list was purged and the hiring process was reopened.

The same scenario holds true for the women's soccer position.

So now what? Well according to Midge Carleton, assistant dean for physical education, she and athletic director Ed Kavanaugh, with additional input provided by dean of instruction Louis Reibling, are reviewing another list of candidates, with the intention of hiring someone "ASAP" (which presumably stands for as soon as possible).

There were five aspirants for the basketball job and two for the soccer position. But that was last week.

'Course, the way things are currently progressing, whoever does land either of these "golden" coaching opportunities may have it pretty easy.

Why? Well — who will they have to coach?

It's already too late to recruit in either sport. If the new coaches find enough numbers to even field a team for an entire season, it'll be a minor miracle.

Bottom line is, this is a sorry position to be in. And it's so unnecessary.

It doesn't just hurt the two sports in question, but all the intercollegiate sports at Schoolcraft. Because it shows no administrative support for athletics.

If administrators don't care about women's soccer, a sport SC reigned over in the NJCAA not too long ago, winning a national championship in '87, if they don't care about a sport of such prominence, how much do they care about basketball and men's soccer and volleyball and cross country and golf?

If and when someone is found for either of these positions, don't expect much from them or their teams next year. It'll be another in an endless line of rebuilding campaigns for SC in both.

Selects stun Rams with late rally

BASEBALL

Michigan Lake Area Rams' first baseman Eric Pierce turned 19 on Monday and the Windsor Selects did their best to make him miss Last Call.

Talk about party poopers.

The Selects scored six runs methodically with two outs in the bottom of the seventh inning to erase a five-run deficit and beat the Rams 12-11 in an Adray Metro Baseball Association game at Mic-Mac Park in Windsor, where Pierce is legal.

Rickey Miller (Grambling), in relief of starter Tom Willerer, absorbed the loss.

Willerer (Indiana University) scattered nine hits, walked three and struck out six in 6⅓ innings.

Rich Wright singled to drive in the tying and winning runs for the Selects, who used four singles, two walks and a hit batter to account for their comeback.

"You've got to give them credit, they kept their bat on the ball," Rams coach Rick Berryman said. "I told the kids we're not going to talk about this game the rest of our lives."

Despite the loss the Rams remained atop the Livonia Collegiate Division with an 8-7 record for 16 points.

Pierce (North Farmington) celebrated his 19th birthday in grand style, going 3-for-3 with a pair of runs scored.

Leadoff batter Schuyler Doakes (Jackson State) was dangerous again, recording two hits, stealing two bases and scoring a run.

Joe Seestadt (Western Michigan) went 2-for-3 and had three RBI. His home run carried more than 400 feet.

Brian Issitt (Central Michigan) was 1-for-3 with two RBI.

Recent acquisition Lance Sigwald was 2-4, scored a run and had three RBI.

Todd Miller (Wayne State) was 1-4 with one RBI. Jason Westphal (Albion College) was 1-4, scoring a run.

On Saturday, Jason Hoorn returned to familiar territory at Oakland University, pitching the Rams to an 11-5 victory over Troy Jet Box.

Hoorn, who pitches at OU, threw a nine-hitter with 10 strikeouts.

Jet Box found a way to keep Doakes off the basepaths, but it wasn't conducive to a successful night. Doakes led off the game with a homer on the first pitch. It was the start of another banner night for Doakes, who finished 3-4 with three stolen bases, three RBI and three runs scored.

All he needed to complete the cycle was a triple. He also walked once.

Rickey Miller was 1-4 with a run scored an one RBI.

Issitt went 2-4, scored two runs and drove in a run. Willerer, in his season debut in the outfield, went 3-3, including a triple, and two RBI. Pierce was 2-2, scored a run and had two RBI. Todd Miller went 1-4 with a run scored.

•Hines Park 9-4, Adray 4-0: Hines Park Lincoln Mercury continued its rise from an early-season slump, sweeping a double-header Sunday against Livonia Adray at Livonia's Ford Field.

Winning pitcher Nick Latra (Farmington/CMU) threw a four-hitter to win the first game. He struck out seven and walked four, his only trouble coming against former sandlot teammate Aaron Cagnon (Wayne Memorial/CMU).

Cagnon hit a solo home run in the sixth inning. He also drove in two runs with a single in the first inning. Justin Ishbia and Chuck Yessaian, who reached base with walks, scored ahead of Cagnon.

Adray's other run came in the fifth when Alex Wozniak (Michigan) singled to score Jason Schnob (Livonia Franklin), who reached base with a walk and moved into scoring position when Aaron Racey (Stevenson) walked.

Adray's losing pitcher was Todd Tobin (Wayne State), who was tagged with six earned runs on six hits through four innings. He struck out four and walked three.

Reliever Sean Harrington allowed three runs on two hits and two walks in one inning of work. David Rossow (Wayne State) had the most success on the mound for Adray, walking one and retiring the other four batters he faced.

The top three batters in Hines Park's lineup were a combined 8-for-12 at the plate.

Chris Karney (Catholic Central/U-D Mercy) and Bill Styles (Plymouth Salem) led Hines Park with three hits each. Karney scored three runs and drove in two. Styles scored a run and had three RBI.

Colvin was 2-4, scoring one run.

Hines Park took a comfortable lead with three runs after two were out in the fourth. Karney, Styles and Colvin loaded the bases with singles. The first run came in on Dave Knight's (Salem) walk and two more runs scored on Ryan Rumberger's (Salem) two-run single.

Karney added some insurance with a two-run double in the fifth.

Cagnon finished 2-3 with three RBI.

Roussey was the winning pitcher in the second game, throwing a complete-game four hitter. He struck out seven and walked four.

Brian Goodell (Henry Ford Community College) was 2-3 for Adray.

Nick Roussey remarkably allowed no runs after Adray loaded the bases with no outs in the third.

Goodell and Ishbia singled and Kish was walked to load the bases. Kevin Uzarski's hard hit ground ball was fielded by Hines Park first baseman Mike Daguanno (Catholic Central/U-D), who threw to Rumberger at home plate to get the first out.

Roussey then struck out the next two batters to end the Adray threat.

Adray put runners on first and second in the second after a walk to Yessaian and a single by Goodell, but again Roussey ended the threat with a strikeout.

Matt Sebring (Grand Rapids Community College) was the losing pitcher, allowing four earned runs on seven hits and a walk.

Rumberger led Hines Park with two hits. Daguanno was 1-3 with an RBI.

Carlos Fernandez drove in two runs in the sixth with a double. Knight and Rumberger, who had reached base with singles, scored the runs.

Hines Park scored one of its runs without the benefit of a hit. Colvin walked, went to second on a wild pitch and third on a fielder's choice. He came home on a wild pitch.

Rams top Seattle draftee

The Rams won an exhibition game on Tuesday against Birmingham Lynch, 3-2, at the University of Detroit Mercy.

Recent Seattle Mariners' first-round draft pick Ryan Anderson of Westland was the losing pitcher. Anderson allowed two hits, both to Doakes, walked four and hit a batter in three innings of work.

Doakes was involved in all the scoring for the Rams.

He doubled off the fence to lead off the game, stole third and came home on a balk by Anderson.

In the second, Pierce and Hoorn walked and Doakes knocked both in with a double down the left field line.

A seattle Mariners' scout was there to watch Anderson, who has yet to sign, and Rams coach Rick Berryman is wondering why the scout isn't also interested in Doakes. The knock on him is he's too short at 5-feet-7.

"He's got everything you want: He can bunt, run, hit for power," Berryman said. "Don't tell me he's too short. Was Kirby Puckett too short?"

Johnny Rogers earned the pitching victory, throwing a six hitter with one strikeout. He gave up one run in the third and another in the seventh.

Lynch was threatening to tie the score with runners on first and second and two outs in the seventh but a long fly by Jeff Lance was caught near the fency by (who else?) Doakes to end the game.

"I was thinking of going to the car, I didn't want to watch," Berryman said, reflecting on the heart-wrenching loss to the Selects a night earlier.

Doakes made eight catches on fly balls.

"These weren't standing there, they were running and catching the ball," Berryman said.

Lynch, which beat the Rams 11-1 a week earlier, has a lineup that features former U-D stars Mike Pesci (Farmington Harrison) and Ed Gundry (Plymouth Salem), Michigan State' Joe Kalczynski and Lance (formerly of Redford Thurston and Henry Ford Community College) batting fourth through seventh, respectively.

Add the ageless Auggie Garrett in the third spot in the order and it's a feared lineup.

Garrett was 2-3 against Rogers.

"We kept him in the park tonight and that's the first time he didn't hit one out against us," Berryman said.

Johnston adds Open to resume

GOLF

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Claud Johnston got a relatively late start as a competitive golfer, but the 60-year-old Westland resident is making up for lost time.

Johnston shot 78-78 Thursday and Friday in his first U.S. Senior Open appearance at the Olympia Fields (Ill.) Country Club, a suburb of Chicago.

Although he missed the cut by five shots, Johnston added another item to his already impressive resume.

He has now played in one U.S. Amateur, one U.S. Mid-Amatuer and three U.S. Senior Amateur tournaments.

This, however, was his first taste against the touring Senior PGA pros — Jack, Arnie, Hale, Chi Chi and Raymond.

"It was a thrill, but I'd have to say I was not real nervous," Johnston said. "It was nice to be there and something like this doesn't come along often. It was enjoyable for my family. My son (Erik) really got excited about it. But I told him it's just a game and to settle down."

Johnston settled down after an excruciating first hole when he suffered a double-bogey.

On his opening tee shot, after Johnston felt the club turn in his hand. His drive struck a nearby tree, only 40 or 50 yards away.

He had to take a drop when he couldn't locate his ball.

"On the first tee I was shaking hands with one of the officials and somebody had on some suntan oil and it made my right-hand grip really slick and it was too late before I realized it," Johnston said. "I've never had anything like that happen before. It hit it directly to the left."

Johnston was able to regroup, but the Olympia Fields layout, where he had practiced the previous three days (including a practice round with Tommy Aaron), was a bit more than he could chew.

"It was a tough course, you could double-bogey easy anywhere down the line," he said. "I'd say the severity of the greens, at least three or four holes, was really tough. And the rough was really tough. If you miss a fairway, it was hard to get it on the green.

"You could see by the way the scores were going that even-par (champion Graham Marsh's four-round total) was going to be right in there."

Johnston was among 15 amateurs who earned qualifying spots in the U.S. Senior Open. He had to pay his own travel and lodging expenses, but was given the use of a courtesy car (a Cadillac) for the week and had access to the club each day for breakfast and lunch.

Johnston, who recently retired from United Airlines after 38 years, plans to remain on the amateur circuit where he has earned Golf Association of Michigan (GAM) Senior Amateur Player of the Year honors three of the past four years.

He graduated from Wayne Memorial High School where he became the first freshman in the school's history to letter in track (in 1955). He also played basketball and later played sandlot baseball, along with fast- and slow-pitch softball in the Ypsilanti area.

"I played golf in the early '50s and caddied at Meadowbrook (Country Club) when I was running track," Johnston said. "I didn't start competing until I was in my mid-40s. I started out in Publinx team play.

"In 1989 my wife passed away. Then I started concentrating a lot more golf. That year I made the Mid-Amateur and in 1990 I qualified for the U.S. Amateur."

Johnston is self-taught.

"I've really never had any lessons, I just do things by trial and error," he said. "I've tried to develop my own technique and I've studied a lot."

Johnston has a busy golf schedule this summer.

In addition to last weekend's U.S. Senior Open (and qualifying), he played in the Michigan Amateur. In May, he helped Team Michigan capture the Great Lakes Amateur Tournament in Minnesota (where he was the low senior individual scorer).

On tap during the next two months is the Frank Syron in Pontiac, U.S. Mid-Amateur, Senior GAM and U.S. Senior Amateur.

"I'm not as consistent as I was," Johnston said. "In my early 50s I had a more consistent game. Now it comes and goes. It fluctuates. It's harder to maintain concentration."

And Johnston was back home Tuesday practicing at a nearby driving range.

"I'm not a long hitter, I'm short off the tee compared to a lot of the good golfers," he said. "I'm usually 235- to 240 yards off the tee. I use a 6-iron from about 150. The new equipment has helped. I use a longer driver and graphite shafts. I've picked up 10 to 15 yards."

Johnston, however, has a simple tip which keeps him competitive.

"One of the secret things to the game of golf is patience," he said.

And that's sound advice for a player of any age.

OUTDOOR INSIGHTS

BILL PARKER

August 1 is the deadline to apply for an antlerless deer permit for the 1997 deer season.

Of the many new rules and regulations surrounding this year's deer season this change is the one most likely to catch the most hunters off guard. In the past, hunters traditionally had until Sept. 24 to apply for an antlerless permit. Since antlerless permits this year will be valid during the early archery season, the early application deadline was established so the permits would be allocated in time for the October 1 archery season opener. Your first archery license is still valid for an antlered or an antlerless deer, but you can now use an antlerless permit during both the early and late archery seasons.

Some of the most radical changes in years to Michigan's deer hunting regulations were adopted for the upcoming season by the state Natural Resource Commission. The NRC is the agency that sets policy and regulations for the Department of Natural Resources.

The majority of the changes deal with antlerless deer permits and harvest quotas. An antlerless permit is required to shoot an antlerless deer or a deer with antlers three inches or less.

The state is divided into nearly 150 Deer Management Units. These DMU's allow wildlife biologists to manage the population in specific areas, rather than by peninsula, zone or even county. A limited number of antlerless permits are allocated for each DMU and hunters must apply for a permit for a specific DMU. Permits are not transferable and are not valid in any other DMU's.

The DNR will issue 456,000 antlerless permits this fall, up some 50,000 over last year.

"We still have quite a few deer management units with more deer than what we want, particularly in the southern part of the state and the south-central area if the Upper Peninsula. Despite the rough winters up there the last couple of years, areas around Menominee and Delta counties still have more deer than desired," said John Urbain, big game specialist with the DNR.

Urbain estimates Michigan's preseason whitetail population to be near 1.6 million statewide. The desired population is around 1.3 to 1.4 million.

Here's a quick look at some of the changes in store for hunters this fall. Be sure to check the 1997 Antlerless Deer Hunting Guide, which is available now at license dealers, and the 1997 Michigan Hunting Guide, due out Aug. 10, for detailed information on all the changes.

• The antlerless license is a stand alone license this year. No other hunting licenses are needed to be legally afield as long as you have a valid unused antlerless permit in your possession.

• The traditional antlerless permit lottery will continue. If permits for any DMU are still available after the lottery the leftover permits will go on sale over-the-counter on a first-come first-served basis. General leftover antlerless permits will go on sale at 10 a.m. Sept. 25 while private land leftover permits will go on sale at 10 a.m. Sept. 29.

• The acreage requirements for a private land antlerless permits in southern Michigan has been reduced from 40 acres to 10 acres.

"Our field people in the southern part of the state tell us that a lot of people are buying 10 or 20 acres of land and grouping them together with neighboring property," said Urbain. "The way it was set at a 40 acre minimum, we weren't getting the antlerless haryest we wanted in these areas because a lot of people with smaller acreage weren't getting the private land antlerless permits. We decided to allow people with less acreage apply for a permit to help us control deer populations in these more urban settings."

• Hunters qualifying for private land antlerless permits in 29 DMU's in southern Michigan may purchase one antlerless permit over-the-counter on a first-come, first-served basis between July 1 and Aug. 1.

• Young hunters age 12-16 may bypass the lottery and purchase one antlerless permit over-the-counter for any DMU open to antlerless hunting. Hunters age 12 and 13 are still restricted to archery hunting only.

• A late antlerless season will be held Dec. 20-Jan. 4 on private land open to antlerless hunting throughout the Lower Peninsula with the exception of the northeastern section of the state.

• The two buck per year limit is still in effect. However, your second buck tag must be used on a antlered deer with at least four points on one side. This quality deer management effort is an attempt to not only allow more bucks to live into their second and third year of antler growth, but to promote healthy breeding habits in the herd as well

"Younger deer, just like young turkeys, won't start breeding as early as older deer," explained Urbain. "With more older deer in the herd it will get the does into breeding condition earlier. Subsequently, the fawns will be born earlier and will have more time to grow before they face their first winter."

When applying for an antlerless permit, or any license for that matter, be sure to check your license or receipt before you leave the counter and confirm that all the information is correct. Is your ID number (drivers license, DNR sportcard, state ID) correct. Is your DMU number correct? Is your address correct? Also be sure to keep your receipt until you receive your permit or license.

Anglers and hunters are urged to report their success. Questions and comments are also encouraged. Send information to 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI, 48009. Fax information to (810) 644-1314 or call Bill Parker evenings at (810) 901-2573.

Hockeytown, eh?

THE RED WINGS WIN THE STANLEY CUP!

Hockey fans are running rampant throughout metro Detroit, their red pennants proudly flapping from their car antennas.

Everyone's enthralled with the sport now, alternately thrilled with Detroit's championship and despondent over the severe injuries suffered by defenseman Vladimir Konstantinov and masseur Sergei Mnatsakanov in an auto accident June 13.

So you'd figure people in positions of political power would search for ways to build on this popularity.

Well, in Plymouth and Canton, no such search was necessary. A chance to reel in the sport's blossoming fandom came knocking, right at their door.

What door? At the P-C Community Schools, of course. The knock came from their own local, high-profile team, one that built its own spanking-new arena right in town.

The folks that own this team — the same people who went out of their way to change their name from Detroit Whalers to Plymouth Whalers — wanted to ask the school district a favor.

They wanted to know if some of their high school-aged players, who are living with families in Plymouth and Canton, could attend the hometown schools. They offered assorted trade-offs in exchange, in an effort to get the boys in a school system near their temporary domiciles.

The school board's answer? The door was slammed shut, right in their faces.

The reason: Not enough room.

The two adjoining high schools (Canton and Salem) had a total enrollment of nearly 4,500 students last year. The Whalers were asking to enroll any number of their players the board felt the system could accomodate — certainly fewer than 20.

No, said the school board. We don't care how big a deal it was for the Whalers to bring their business to Plymouth. We don't care how big a deal hockey has become to people in this town.

And we don't care if there is a huge groundswell of support within the school system to add hockey as a high school sport, and the Whalers could offer an awful lot to the of a building a prep team.

Now there's a board that can really feel the pulse of the public, that really understands what the people want.

Congratulations, board members. You deserve what you get.

Girls (Ill.) 10-3, with Jenny Sikora getting the pitching victory. Melanie Mikosz was 3-for-4 with three RBI to lead the offense; Butske added three hits and two RBI, Sikora had three hits and an RBI, Amber LaGrow had three hits and Amy LaGrow had two hits and an RBI.

Once out of pool play, Canton met and defeated Jackson Northwest 8-0, with Carson again tossing the shutout. Karen Dougher and Mikosz each had two hits and an RBI, and Carson had a bunt single that drove in three RBI.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

All-Stars qualify

The 13-and-under Metro Basketball Association squad has qualified for the 32-team Youth Basketball Association Tournament beginning July 25 in Lakeland, Fla. after third-place finish in the state AAU tourney.

Assistant coaches include Keith Anleitner, head coach at Plymouth Agape Christian, and Kevin Wilkinson, who helped found the MBA program nine years ago.

After finishing fourth a year ago, the MBA cagers rebounded this summer by defeating all comers with the exception of the state champion Motor City Mavericks, a 10-point defeat after a 40-point drubbing a year earlier, and runner-up Southfield.

The MBA squad will spend the next five weeks fund-raising to help defray the $6,000 cost for the trips. The have conducted several bottle and can drives and have begun soliciting corporate sponsorships.

Donations are tax deductible. The MBA is a 501 (c)3 non-profit group.

For more information, call Wilkinson at (313) 981-3000.

Crusaders shine

The Crusader Junior 14-and-under volleyball squad finished with a 5-4 record in the Gold Division and a top-40 finish out a 96-team field in the USA Nationals, held June 21-24 a three different sites in the Chicago, Ill. area including Lewis University, Great Lakes Volleyball Center and Bennett Academy.

Coached by Lee Cagle and Sue Terbrack, the Crusader Juniors consisted of Livonian Desiree Betts, an eight-grader from St. Robert Bellarmine (headed for Livonia Ladywood High School); Canton's Jillian Dombrowski, Pioneer Middle School (Plymouth Salem); Canton's Wendi Donica, sophomore at Salem; Plymouth's Michell Ginther, freshman at Salem; Livonia Franklin's Andrea Kmet, freshman; Novi freshman Colleen Lewis; Livonia Franklin freshman Tera Morrill; Westland's Lyndsay Sopko, freshman at Franklin; Canton's Eric Stein, sophomore at Salem; and Canton's Amanda Suder, freshman at Salem.

Write on horses

The Tout, a Michigan company specializing in thoroughbred racing information located at Ladbroke DRC, is sponsoring a visit on Saturday by racing author Steve Davidowitz.

He will appear from on Ladbroke DRC's track talk radio program beginning at 9:30 a.m. on WDFN (1130-AM).

Davidowitz's "Betting Thoroughbreds, Second Revised Edition" is now available in paperback.

He will be available the rest of the day signing his books and talking to race fans.

Marauders reign

The Redford Marauders won the Under-12 division championship in the Second-Annual Summer Solstice Recreational Soccer Tournament held June 21 and 22 in Traverse City.

The Marauders won five games and lost none.

They opened the tournament with two victories in the rain on Saturday, June 21, by scores of 6-4 and 3-1, respectively.

They won three games on Sunday, June 22, including the championship against San Marino International, 6-4, in overtime. The two earlier games Sunday were won by scores of 3-0 and 1-0, respectively.

A total of 11 teams competed for the championship. Five teams were in the Blue Division, won by the Marauders, and six were in the Red, won by San Marino International.

The Red Division champion met the Blue Division champion in the final.

Members of the Marauders include Nick Aytes, Jason Baity, David Doher, Josh Drost, Jason Dunning and Chris Fink of Farmington Hills; Brandon Oyer and Kevin Forgette (Livonia); Adam Jeziorowski, Jacob Johnson, Shaun LeBeau and Brandon Majors (Detroit); Nick Rosa and Brent Rubin (Farmington Hills); Phil Snyder, Dan Sporer, Vini Stojanowski and Mike Supanich. The Marauders are coached by Bob Durkin who is assisted by Mike Jeziorowski and Dennis Rosa.

Stingers 2nd

The Stingers, an 18-and-under fast-pitch softball team, overcame an 0-for-3 start to finish second in the Second Annual Great Lakes Classic at Young Patriots Park in Riverview.

In a quarterfinal game Sunday, the Stingers toppled undefeated and top-seeded Valley Sting from Youngstown (Ohio), 3-1.

Terri Schroeder (Mercy High School) struck out nine and walked one to earn the pitching victory.

Shayla O'Mara (Mercy) and Stephanie Smith of Henry Ford Community College went 2-for-3 to lead the offense. Allison Luczak (Livonia Stevenson) drove in two runs with her only hit.

The solid defense of Andrea Jarczak (Stevenson) and Katie Homant (Mercy) helped to keep the Sting offense in check.

In the semifinals, the Stingers avenged a 2-0 loss to the Vipers of Cleveland the previous day with a 3-2 win.

Leah Moeller (Mercy), the losing pitcher in the first meeting, evened the score by throwing a four-hit victory in the rematch.

She fanned three and issued just one walk before giving way to relief pitcher and closer Terri Schroeder (Mercy) in the seventh.

Smith hit a two-run double, and Jarczak drove in the team's other run with a sacrifice bunt. Kerry Fitzgerald (Mercy) and Homant also had timely hits.

Chris Giller (Stevenson) and Erin Fitzgerald made key defensive plays to seal the victory.

The Stingers had run out of gas, however, by the time they reached the championship game and lost 11-3 to Detroit Auto Auction of Southgate.

Schroeder pitched the first three innings and was replaced by Stephanie Levine (Birmingham Groves).

Despite a last-inning triple by O'Mara, the Stingers failed to get enough key hits this time and left 10 runners stranded on base.

The Stingers roster also includes Kristin Reetz (Groves), Kendra Dumke (Dearborn) and Kelly McSween (Redford Thurston). The Stingers are coached by Ed Moeller, Trudi Pheeney and Bob Smith.

The Stingers, who are 8-0 in the Waterford Parks and Recreation Fast-Pitch League, finished fourth in the National Invitation Grand Slam Tourney, June 21-22 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Keep chores in mind when gardening

MARTY FIGLEY

July is the time to sit back and enjoy the fruits of our labors in the garden, although there are still some things that need to be considered and chores to be done.

If you have little children playing in the yard, be aware that some plants you may grow could be hazardous to their health (and yours, too). Identify them and try to put some barrier around them to keep kiddies away.

According to American Horticulture magazine they are: Phytolacca americana (pokeweed) – roots, mature leaves, fruit and seed; Gloriosa rothshildiana (glory lily) – stems, leaves, seeds and tubers; Ricinus communis (castor bean) – seeds; Wisteria (wisteria) – pods and seeds; Iris (iris) – underground stem and bulbs; Delphinium (larkspur) – young plants and seeds; Rheum (rhubarb) – leaves; Dicentra cucullaria (Dutchman's breeches) – leaves and roots; Digitalis (foxglove) – leaves and seeds; Rhododendron (rhododendron) – entire plant; Robinia pseudoacacia (black locust) – bark, foliage and young sprouts; Sanguinaria canadensis (bloodroot) – underground stem, roots; Dieffenbachia (dumbcane) – entire plant.

MARTY FIGLEY

Wisteria warning: Although beautiful, the pods and seeds of wisteria are toxic.

If we have a dry spell, be sure to water the soil well before transplanting flowers or planting vegetable seedlings.

Yes, you can put in cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and Brussels sprouts, cole crops that will be welcome in the fall; also spinach and radishes.

In the vegetable garden, keep beans, cucumbers, squash and other vegetables picked before they become too large and lose some of their flavor. If possible try to share some of the bounty with others.

Conserving water

This might be a good year to put in soaker hoses or drip irrigation. Automated sprinkling systems are a good way to water only when necessary and prevent waste of this valuable resource. If you water by hand, concentrate it at the base of each plant so the roots are soaked thoroughly.

The best time to water is between dawn and 11 a.m.; watering in the evening can encourage fungal, pest and other infestations that will affect the plants' performance. Don't let water from an oscillating sprinkler evaporate in the air.

Another way to conserve water is to mulch. A two- to three-inch layer of an organic mulch such as compost, leaves, bark and grass clippings prevents moisture loss and also controls weeds and adds organic matter to the soil as it breaks down. Loose mulches also tend to keep soil temperatures uniformly cooler, which benefits some ornamentals.

Another thought about watering: Water plants according to priority, especially if water is limited. First – vegetable and annual flowers; second – shrubs and larger evergreens with shallow root systems, and recently transplanted shrubs and plants; third – established trees and large shrubs.

A good way for those in the last category is to use a trickle of water at the drip line of the plant, several times each week at least an hour each time.

Another thing to remember is to continue to snip the faded blossoms form daylilies and other perennials. This prevents the plants from using energy to make seeds. That energy can then be used to prepare the plants for next year's growth and flowers.

While you're at it, pull the weeds so that they don't go to seed and multiply.

Increasing stock

This is a good time to increase your stock of pachysandra and save money as well. When new growth snaps like a string bean when bent, it's ready.

Here's how: Water the bed well, or do this after a heavy rain. Cut off the top leaf cluster, with its entire stem, right to the top of the second leaf cluster. This won't hurt the plant; the bed will look neater and new growth will fill in remarkably soon.

Water a shady bed until it's mushy. Plunge a small dowel or pencil into the wet soil to a depth of three inches at a 45-degree angle. Set the new cutting into the hole leaving just a little stem and the top foliage sticking out. Close the hole around the cutting to avoid air pockets.

Set the plants four inches apart – they haven't cost you anything but some time, so you can afford to plant them closely. Keep the bed very wet for the next three to four weeks.

Soon your new stand of pachysandra will be the envy of the neighborhood.

What's cookin'?

When it comes to grills, almost everything.

Ask John Cullen of Canton, whose Sunnyday Barbecue Inc., 543 Seven Mile in Northville (248-449-8062), carries a wide range of durable, stainless steel grills for outdoor cooking. The enterprise has brought flame and fortune.

"It's the grill of your dreams," Cullen said.

"We can do almost anything."

The grills carried by Sunnyday Barbecue are state of the art and can make anyone feel like a champion of the charcoal, a specialist of the sizzle or a pro of the rotisserie. Grills can be freestanding with an optional cart or built in, and custom built for any need. They can be made for the yard, a patio, pool side or a gazebo.

Here's a tantalizing sample of features on various models: a removable front loading smoker tray, side burners to expand the cooking area, porcelain-coated burners, a rear burner for rotisserie cooking, a rolltop lid, woks and wok rings and a stay-cool handle. Rotisseries can handle anything from hens to turkeys.

Cullen invented an unusual model at the store: the "beer-b-q grill," which has a brass beer tap on a side shelf and an insulated cooler that keeps 1/4 keg or 1/2 keg cold with three bags of ice. The beer-b-q comes in three-, four-, five- and six-foot sizes, with prices ranging from $1,975 to $2,650. Its 16-inch wheels allow easy movement, and its options include a patio umbrella holder.

"I've never been to a barbecue where there wasn't beer."

Sunnyday Barbecue offers coal and natural/ propane gas grills for residential and commercial use. Prices start around $875. Sizes run two to six feet. One type with a stainless steel grill insert features stone facing and a ceramic tile top.

"Stainless steel cleans up real nice."

The store rents out four- and six-foot grills, and a pig roaster that cooks a 100-pound pig in seven hours. Rentals include tanks, barbecue tool sets, delivery, pick-up and cleaning. Rental prices range from $125 per day for a four-foot grill to $200 per day for a pig roaster.

Sunnyday Barbecue will tell the customer where to order a pig and how to prepare it for roasting, and suggest easy-to-prepare dishes for an event with a luau theme.

Refreshment on tap: The "beer-b-q grill" has a brass beer tap on a side shelf, as well as an insulated cooler.

The store delivers and installs its grills, and sells a variety of utensils and accessories for barbecuing. Patio heaters are among its offerings.

The grills come from Rainbow Iron Works, Dynamic Cooking Systems and Lazyman, among other companies.

Cullen started Sunnyday Barbecue in April 1996, a month after he was laid off from IBM.

"I had a plan in place."

Cullen has found that many customers have an idea of what they want in a grill.

"They're definitely looking for quality. In the long run the quality (grills)... pay for themselves."

Peter Stuart, owner of Stuart's Federal Fireplace, Southfield Road at 12 Mile, has found that grills are important as people fix up their decks and patios.

"Nowadays people are buying a grill like an outdoor appliance," Stuart said.

"You want to buy (a grill) that's of better quality so you're not looking for replacement parts two or three years later. We say, 'Buy your last grill first.'"

Ducane and MHP make some of the popular grills at Stuart's. Ducane's is all stainless steel.

Pulling the rug out on a customer

JOE GAGNON

I went shopping the other day for carpeting for the three upstairs bedrooms and what a sticker shock I got. I thought carpet sold around $5 to $10 a square yard.

The first store I went to had a young man working alone who had a suit on about six sizes too big and shoes left over from his grandfather. The first carpeting he showed me retailed at $35 per square yard and the second bunch came in at $25. He didn't explain the difference and it was obvious he wasn't going to show me anything cheaper.

Needless to say, I was not impressed with his sales presentation, and I went someplace else. This time I picked one of the big ones, looked for the oldest guy I could find and asked to have him show me carpeting. He asked questions to determine my needs, and we settled on a price range of $15. I wrote him a check for three rooms or carpeting. We settled on an installation date, and he informed me to stay home all day because they couldn't set up a specific time.

A week before the date we had agreed on, I came home and found a note attached to my front door that the installers had been to my home and would have to reschedule the appointment because I wasn't home. I called the carpet store and informed them that the date written on the invoice showed they were a week early and maybe they should call before they come over next week just to be sure I am home. The next week they arrived at 8 in the morning without a phone call because they had the wrong number written on the invoice copy they received. I chalked it all up to human error and felt good that I would at least get to work during the afternoon.

I asked them if they would like a pot of coffee and showed them where the cold pop was located and I got out of their road. I was informed that the old carpet would be placed by the street curb which I didn't appreciate seeing as how trash day was six days later. There would be an additional charge of $30 if I wanted them to haul the old stuff away, which I then selected to pay.

These guys worked their butts off, and by 2 p.m. they were out of the house. I thought the job looked pretty good except for the seam that shows up when you enter the master bedroom. I mean, you can't trip on it, but you sure can see it and feel it. But I'll live with it.

That night when I arrived home from work at about 11 p.m. I noticed that I had left the light on in my upstairs bedroom. When I walked into that bedroom I looked up at the ceiling which was coated with a million little and big bugs. The carpet guys had opened the window, lifted the screen so they could throw their left over pieces onto the lawn and they closed the Venetian blinds over the open window when they left. The blind is probably the only thing that prevented crows, bats and eagles from flying into my bedroom. I had to take four king-size sheets and spread them across everything in the bedroom and vacuum the ceiling to get rid of the bugs. At 1 a.m. I went to sleep on the couch and knew I would wake up to discover that it was just a bad dream. IT WASN'T.

Student wins rug design contest

The Center for Creative Studies-College of Art and Design, along with Hagopian World of Rugs, announces that Jesse Stefani won the $1,000 first-place scholarship in the eighth annual Student Rug Design Competition.

Stefani, a freshman industrial design student from Orchard Lake, also took third place in the contest and a total $1,250 in scholarship money.

Stefani received his award at a special ceremony at CCS during the annual Student Exhibition last month. Hagopian produced a full-size prototype of the winning design that was displayed at the exhibit.

Freshman Michael DaSilva of Upper Marlboro, Md., won second place and a $500 scholarship. Sophomore Michelle Sessions of Lansing won honorable mention and a $100 scholarship.

All submitted designs were required to be Tibetan in nature and were judged on the feasibility of carrying out the design of the rug into a decorative floor-covering, marketing of the rug to consumers, and originality in the creative quality of the design.

What's hot in home remodeling work

Based on the number of questions we receive concerning design trends in renovation projects, here are some facts on what homeowners are currently looking for. "The HomeStyles Report," a Minneapolis-based newsletter, recently brainstormed about what is expected to be the leading home design needs for families in the late '90s.

What will be IN:

- No maintenance; no painted surfaces, lower roof pitches.
- Built-in home security systems.
- Guest or mother-in-law suite.
- Barrier-free designs.
- Home offices.
- Media rooms.
- Laundry room on same floor as bedrooms.
- Energy-efficient and environmentally-friendly products.
- Compartmentalized master suite.
- Unique or unusual storage spaces.
- Open floor plans; nine- or ten-foot ceilings.
- One multi-purpose dining area.

NARI MICHIGAN REMODELING ASSOCIATION

- Special and unique features like bay window seats.
- Boxy floor plans with maximum hallway space.
- Two-story entry foyers.
- Both a formal living and dining room.

The following are also "hot" according to local NARI members:

- Electronics and communications for home offices.
- Modular refrigeration units.
- New trends and designs in ceramic tiles.
- Laminate flooring.
- Maintenance-free PVC decking.

The following are OUT in design:

- Soaring vaulted ceilings.
- Opulent master baths.

For your home improvement questions or a copy of our roster book, call Gayle Walters, executive director of the NARI-Michigan Remodeling Association at 810-478-8215. Questions can be mailed to the association office at PO Box 1531563, Livonia, Mich. 48153.

INTERIOR IDEAS

COUNTRY STYLE

Country-style furnishings are chosen on the basis of their rustic good looks and a lifestyle that is casual, comfortable, and uncomplicated. The functional nature of country-style furniture is usually shown to its best advantage when underlaid with carpeting of subdued luster that is as formal or informal as the interior furnishings. Rooms filled with fairly formal, refined Country French or Country English pieces may be best served by a saxony plush carpet, whereas a room decorated with less formal Early American or southwest-style furnishings may require a textured plush, multi-level loop, or frieze. As for color, country style leads itself to modified traditional earth tones, as well as to muted, dusty tones of blue, peach, or green.

SCOTT SHUPTRINE can provide you with guidance on how to complement and enhance the furniture in your home or commercial space. Our interior designers establish a plan and long-term home fashion buying goals in order to help customers avoid making furniture buying mistakes and wasting valuable time and money. We provide professional drawings, documents, and purchase specifications of all interior elements. Founded in 1927, we are proud to be one of Michigan's most prestigious fine furniture chains offering a wide selection of furniture to suit every taste. Call us 248-616-3585, or visit us at Troy, 977 E. 14 Mile Rd. or Novi, 43606 W. Oaks Dr. Business hours are, M, T, TH. & F 10-9; Wed. & Sat. 10-6; Sun. 12-5:30; and by appointment.

HINT: To lend a homespun, rustic feeling to country interiors, try a carpet with a multicolor tweed, stripe, or plaid.

CELEBRATE WITH A 'SALUTE TO AMERICA'

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY AND KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITERS

Join the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the Jazz Ambassadors of the U.S. Army Field Band at Greenfield Village July 3-5 in a "Salute to America."

Bring a picnic super and blanket to sit on. The symphony and Jazz Ambassadors will perform patriotic and popular works on a special double stage on the Village Green. Fireworks will follow each performance. Historic characters in costume will mingle with audiences each night.

The July 4 concert will be televised on WJBK FOX 2, and simulcast on WQRS-FM 105.1. The broadcast begins 8 p.m. and lasts through the fireworks.

Concert-goers will be treated to a program of patriotic and popular works including "The Star Spangled Banner," "A Motown Tribute," Aaron Copland's "Fanfare for the Common Man," a selection of Glenn Miller arrangements, and the ever popular "1812 Overture."

The 19-piece Jazz Ambassadors of the United States Army Field Band, based in Washington D.C., kicks off festivities each night 7:30-8 p.m. with a prelude concert, which includes the music of Woody Herman, "Toots" Thielkemans, "Riverdance," and "America the Beautiful." Chief Warrant Officer Freddie Vinson, Jr. conducts the band, which features vocals by Staff Sergeant Dana Rogers.

Band member Greg Pascuzzi has composed a piece specially for the concerts at Greenfield Village titled, "Deso Jah."

Leslie B. Dunner, resident conductor of the DSO, leads the orchestra. The DSO begins its summer concert series at Meadow Brook Music Festival on July 11. The season, extended to four weekends this year – July 11-13; Aug. 1-3; Aug. 8-9, and Aug. 15-17, offers something for everyone including classical, choral, pops, and ballet.

Community Events

Besides concerts at Greenfield Village, there are plenty of fun things to do this weekend.

■ Westland – the city's Summer Festival kicks off Wednesday, July 2 with children's games, a parade and the Motor City Brass Band. The fun continues July 3-6 with Vegas Night, Bingo, a pie eating contest and potato sack races just to name a few. The festival will end July 6 with a fireworks display, which starts between 9 and 10 p.m. in Central City Park south of Ford Road between Newburgh and Central City Parkway. Call (313) 722-7620 for information.

■ Plymouth – Music-in-the-Park (Kellogg Park) downtown

FESTIVAL

H.O.R.D.E. of bands: Morphine and Toad the Wet Sprocket are among the 11 bands scheduled to play this year's H.O.R.D.E. (Horizons of Rock Developing Everywhere) Fest.

Musicians push boundaries at H.O.R.D.E. fest

STAFF WRITER

The H.O.R.D.E. festival adheres to the principals of musical creativity and diversity with this year's line-up ranging from the two-string slide bass, saxophone, and drums of Morphine, to the straight-ahead rock of Neil Young and Crazy Horse.

Morphine drummer Billy Conway explained that performing as part of the H.O.R.D.E. fest sticks to their musical goal as well.

"I think it's great that we're pushing the boundaries a little bit. Not just us but lots of bands are pushing the boundaries. Hopefully that forces radio too and listeners force musicians. We all need to be a little more demanding," Conway said.

"We all complain about what's on the radio. Let's do something about this. Give your local radio station a call, send them a fax, drop them a note."

Most of the bands on this year's H.O.R.D.E. fest – Primus, Toad the Wet Sprocket, Medeski, Martin and Wood, Ben Folds Five, Leftover Salmon, Cake-Like, and Michigan's Domestic Problems – have had to fight their way onto the radio.

Medeski, Martin and Wood, and Leftover Salmon tour incessantly but get very little airplay. Primus's single "My Name is Mud" in 1993 pushed the band in the mainstream. The piano-driven Ben Folds Five's self-titled 1995 debut album was critically acclaimed but didn't get the airplay it deserved. Enough music directors listened when the band's "Whatever and Ever Amen" came out this year and helped create Ben Folds Five's first bona fide hit – "Battle of Who Could Care Less."

Morphine's Conway feels fortunate that his band finagled its way onto music directors' lists.

"I'm relative flabbergasted when I hear us on the radio sandwiched

Enjoy an 'Old-Fashioned Summer Evening'

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
STAFF WRITER

Some towns use carnival games, dunk tanks, ethnic foods and even beautycontests to attract people to their summer festivals, but Greenfield Village is taking a different approach.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 10-12 and July 24-26, visitors can enjoy a leisurely stroll through historic Greenfield Village until 9 p.m. The "Old-Fashioned Summer Evenings," part of Greenfield Village's Summer Festival, offer a new perspective of the 68-year-old museum, even for those who have visited during the day.

"This is the first time we've done this in 68 years," said Wendy Metros, publicist for Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn. "We have never kept the village open past five for just a daily program.

"There is something different about being in the village during the night," said Metros, describing the stillness and serenity one usually cannot find in any metropolis area. "It's almost as if the town opens up for the night and transports people back in time," she explained.

"Old-Fashioned Summer Evenings" will feature many of the same activities which occur during the day like: tours of the historic buildings, actors in period costumes and "games on the green."

"We will also have horse-drawn carriages and train rides throughout the village," said Metros, "then there are the workshops. Kids can make and take souvenirs."

According to Metros, Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum draws "a good, steady business of out-of-towners." The goal of "Old-Fashioned Summer Evenings" is to attract the people in Michigan who live in communities surrounding the village.

"We're trying to reach people who haven't been here since they were kids...now they have kids."

"Old-Fashioned Summer Evenings" are one of many activities taking place during Greenfield Village's Summer Festival, which continues through Aug. 17. For more information, call (313) 982-6150.

between Pearl Jam and Metallica. I think we're real fortunate to get some attention."

The H.O.R.D.E. (Horizons of Rock Developing Everywhere) festival comes to the area at 3 p.m. Sunday, July 27, at Pine Knob Music Theatre. In addition to two stages of music, the H.O.R.D.E. festival will house a concourse with food, clothing, and jewelry vendors. This year's Workshop Stage will be hosted by Col. Bruce Hampton and features Native American dance rituals, drum clinics, poetry readings, and artist/fan question and answer periods.

Lionel Trains will debut state-of-the-art model train technology with a massive "switching yard" and accompanying train set. Sony Playstation kiosks, Jobdirect interactive terminals, a state-of-the-art video wall with on-line capabilities will be found in "Futuretent."

Toad the Wet Sprocket has had a string of successful headlining tours since the early 1990s but decided that participating in H.O.R.D.E. would be "really helpful."

"It's a really good opportunity to play to some new people," said drummer Randy Guss, a Detroit native. "We do have successful headlining tours but most people who come to see us have seen us before. It's hard for us to play for people who have never seen us."

Released Tuesday, May 30, Toad's latest album "Coil," is by far its darkest – lyrically and musically.

"The music, the chords and the intervals of the melody are a little bit more twisted. They may sound a little bit meatier but the sort of general feel and tempo is kind of upbeat," Guss explained.

Instead, Guss said, he sees a renewed confidence which was developed when he and lead singer/guitarist Glen Phillips played in local Santa Monica, Calif., bands last year.

"Glenn and I played with a couple of other bands just for fun and we grew to appreciate Toad more. We brought that confidence into the record. We let the emotion really come out instead of being timid. Glenn especially opened up," he said.

At H.O.R.D.E., Toad will concentrate primarily on songs from "Coil."

"Most people know us from our singles so we'll still do a few singles. I think we're going to try to mix it up a little more, get more in-depth with our new record. We're going to try to round out people's perception of us and have a little bit more of a relaxed attitude."

Headlining the second stage, Morphine will show off its stripped-down, guitarless instrumentation including that which is found on its latest album "Like Swimming."

"We use the same elements that we use with the music with the lyrics. Mark (Sandman, vocalist, two-string slide bassist) writes really inconcise lyrics and he's not too verbose. In some ways I guess that mirrors the music which is a bit more of an ode to simplicity."

"Simple," however, couldn't be used to describe its audience.

"Our audience is not all black T-shirts," Conway said. "They come in lots of colored T-shirts."

Dutch band strives for 'pure, simple rock'

CHRISTINA FUOCO

The Dutch rock band Bettie Serveert had one goal in mind while recording its latest release "Dust Bunnies" (Matador).

"We had a goal to make a pure, simple rock record instead of (1995s) 'Lamprey' which had an over dramatic feel to it," bassist Herman Bunskoeke explained.

For that, the quartet – which also includes singer/guitarist Carol van Dijk, guitarist Peter Visser, and drummer Berend Dubbe – did something it had never done before. Bettie Serveert, who opens for the Counting Crows and the Wallflowers on Sunday, July 6, at Pine Knob, used an outside producer, Bryce Goggin (Pavement, Come, Spacehog), and practiced the songs for weeks before recording them.

"He made us very aware of what we were doing. He simplified some bass lines and some guitar lines. We went over all the drum parts also. It was a good thing. After pre-production we did two shows and people really could hear the difference," Bunskoeke said.

With its gentle melodies and abrasive guitars, Bettie Serveert admits that its kind of nervous about touring the United States with the Counting Crows and the Wallflowers.

"We're not a very extrovert, out-going loud band at all. We're into making more intimate emotional music. It's hard for us to perform for a big audience but it's a major opportunity to reach a lot of people," Bunskoeke said.

• The Missouri-based trio Stir has a simple theory for its building success.

"We're working one fan at a time," said vocalist/guitarist Andy Schmidt.

"It's been a long, slow build. That's what we were shooting for. We wanted to play in front of as many people as we could before radio takes over."

The plan has paid off. The band's first singles, the anthemic "Looking For," and "Stale" placed in the top five and 10 respectively on Billboard's mainstream rock chart. Stir's latest single "One Angel" hits radio on Tuesday, July 8.

It's a busy time for Stir which also includes drummer/vocalist Brad Booker, and bassist/vocalist Kevin Gagnepain. After performing at WRIF fest on Tuesday, July 1, Stir is making an encore appearance opening for 7 Mary 3 on Wednesday, July 9, at the 7th House in Pontiac.

Stir's self-titled debut album was originally released on Aware Records, an indie label known for its compilations which introduced The Verve Pipe, Better Than Ezra and Hootie and the Blowfish to the nation. In October 1996 Captiol Records picked up the album and re-released it.

The striking part of Stir is the versatility of its musicians. Along with their primary instruments, members of Stir play the dulcimer, dobro, guitar and bass, Wurlitzer electric piano and pots and pans.

"We pretty much play everything," Gagnepain said.

Stir opens for 7 Mary 3 at 8 p.m. Wednesday, July 9, at the 7th House, 7 N. Saginaw, Pontiac. Tickets are $10 in advance for the all-ages show. For more information, call (248) 335-8100

• Weezer fans who need proof that the band is just as goofy in person as they are on CD, read on:

"Are you Italian," singer Rivers Cuomo started his phone conversation.

"Yes," I replied.

"Is your dad Italian? My dad's Italian," he said giggling incessantly. "Do you know that if you changed two letters in your last name we'd have the same last name?" Cuomo said.

OK.

Cuomo and his band came to town Sunday to open for No Doubt at The Palace of Auburn Hills while he's on summer break from attending Harvard.

Still promoting the album "Pinkerton," Cuomo admits that he offended a few people with the reference to his attraction to "half-Japanese girls."

"I remember a radio station in San Francisco wouldn't play it because somehow I'm racist because I say 'half-Japanese girls.' "

"I like it when people get upset. I've said outrageous things since we started. I'm just a harmless little nerdy guy."

"Come on. Give me a break. It was released in September."

Nothing like motivation.

• Random notes ... UB40 has cancelled its tour including its Meadow Brook Music Festival date on Aug. 26. Refunds are available at the point of purchase ... Blues wunderkid Jonny Lang has been added as the opener for Aerosmith's show at The Palace of Auburn Hills on Thursday, Aug. 21.

Coming to town: The Dutch rock band Bettie Serveert opens a sold-out show at Pine Knob.

Michigan stuffs a lot into its short summer season

BACKSTAGE PASS

ANN DELISI

We Michiganders love our summers. Forget the calendars, spring's an option here; it can jump from ice storms to steam bath humidity, usually sometime in June, And in a September flash, you can go from beachwear to sweaters. Michigan summers are short. They're tentative. They're subject to cancellation without notice. So we devour summer ravenously, like it's a plate of chocolate cake that might be arbitrarily snatched away from under our fork. We cram a ton of events into this fleeting season. If you can't have fun in a Michigan summer, it's time to run toward the light.

On tonight's Backstage Pass Detroit Public Television, we sample the fun of some of the Metro area's summertime fixtures. Starting us off, Dave Wagner – DJ at WQRS and our crack correspondent for the classical music scene – will host a performance by a duo from the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in the Channel 56 studio. Bassist Rick Robinson and violinist Laurie Landers will give us the scoop on the annual summer concert at Greenfield Village, as well as a preview of the DSO's summer concert series at Meadow Brook.

Dave told me how the annual event at Greenfield Village showcases the symphony to a whole new audience. "The show's a lot of fun. The whole focus is on pops-oriented American music, usually with a particular theme covering many different styles. There's really something for everyone. And it's a casual even. There are food and refreshments. A lot of young people and young families attend."

The casual approach of outdoor concerts opens them up to sampling by folks who might be reluctant to enter the rarefied atmosphere of Orchestra Hall. They can spread a blanket and enjoy the music in a relaxed setting. Says Dave, "It's not a formal concert atmosphere – there's a sort of constant, respectful hum, people moving around, people picnicking. Symphony concerts don't always have to be black tie and tails. It's a great way to introduce people to symphonic music."

And once they're introduced, many are hooked for life. "When people hear the symphony for the first time, they're blown away. There's nothing like hearing 100 musicians playing acoustically, no mic or amps, creating this ball of sound that pours over you. They discover that Detroit has a world-class symphony that travels the world and has made about 14 recordings in the last seven or eight years. They're a hometown gem that we sometimes take for granted."

Also on the show, David Rau – one of our art contributors and the curator of education at Cranbrook – will take us to another fun summer event happening at the Center Gallery, the official gallery for Detroit's Center for Creative Studies. The exhibition is called "The Clothes Show: Objects For and About Clothing." But don't be fooled, it is not a fashion show. David explained why clothing makes a good subject for making art. "It's accessible because everybody wears clothes, so they all have a point of reference. Yet setting The Clothes Show isn't like going to a boutique where you see outlandish fashion. It's more about the idea of clothes in our culture."

David says folks at the Center Gallery have put the exhibition together in the spirit of summertime fun. "For their summer show, CCS purposely does a bigger call for artists to get as many as possible. And in doing that, you create a context of fun. There's an element of freedom in the show. It's a bit more playful."

But the show is also thought-provoking. "One piece is a wedding dress completely made out of wedding paper. The meaning seems to be that the bride is a gift. We wrap her up and present her. It's beautiful, but it's also a little subversive." Catch Backstage Pass tonight to see works displayed only at the show's recent opening, plus some presented exclusively for the Channel 56 cameras, such as a local performance artist in some truly unusual outfits.

Also on tonight's show, Gary Graff talks with local band Hoarse as they brace themselves for their first major label CD release with RCA. They'll also rock the joint with a couple of numbers. Elliot Wilhelm will tell us about the Arab Film Festival he's presenting at the Detroit Film Theatre which ties in with the soon-to-open Splendors of Ancient Egypt exhibition at the DIA. That's tonight on Backstage Pass on Channel 56 at 7:30, rebroadcast Friday at 11:30 p.m. Now get out there!

Dance artist likes keeping busy

STAFF WRITER

Robin S. doesn't know what day or date it is, and that's the way she likes it.

"I am so turned around now I don't know what day it is. I'd rather be that way than not busy," she said with a laugh.

The dance artist has been keeping busy promoting her sophomore effort "From Now On" (Big Beat/ Atlantic). Part of her schedule includes performing as part of the "Dance Across America" tour, which hits Pine Knob on Saturday, July 5.

Robin S. – no last name, just S. – said that all this comes at a perfect time since the Grammy committee just set aside a category for dance music.

"I am very excited, ecstatic. It's long overdue. I'm feeling good about it. I'm hoping I win. That's all that's on my mind," Robin S. said so quickly that she barely had time to breathe.

It's about time that dance artists got some respect, she added. A lot of dance artists are being pushed aside by R&B singers who are doing dance remixes.

"A lot of R&B singers are leaning that way. They don't use regular remixes. They're using notable dance producers to do their remixes, which certifies them as a club artist for the time that they're out. That's wonderful, I don't have a problem with that," she said.

"(But) people like us who really sing – Jocelyn Brown, Martha Wash – they never get any bonafide credit for it."

Robin S. has had to prove to her audience that she can sing.

"I've even had to stop singing in the middle of a track and ask the audience 'Do you hear any vocals? See I really do sing. Now you can really party.' I don't mind having to do that."

The key to being successful in the genre, she said, is to have meaning to the lyrics even though the music is timed at 110-120 beats per minute.

"There has to be a beginning, a middle and an end. It can't be 'Ooh, baby baby, Oh baby' all through the record. It has to be something that you can take home and listen to and say 'OK. I know how she feels.' "

"Dance Across America Tour" featuring La Bouche, Quad City DJs, Jocelyn Enriquez, Robin S., Amber and Crush, is at 7 p.m. Saturday, July 5, at Pine Knob Music Theatre, I-75 and Sashabaw Road, Independence Township. Tickets are $22.50 pavilion, $12.50 lawn. For more information, call (248) 377-0100.

Dancing in the Streets: Michigan TasteFest organizers are serving up heaping portions of food and free live entertainment including jazz, blues, a sprinkle of Zydeco, a pinch of Motown, a dash of rock and roll, and kids shows through July 6 in Detroit's New Center Area.

Celebrate summer at TasteFest

There's lots to do this weekend at The Michigan TasteFest. The festival in Detroit's New Center Area offers entertainment and fun for people of all ages. Thirty-six of metro Detroit's most popular restaurants will be selling "tastes" of their favorite fare. Here are the details:

The Michigan TasteFest

When: 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Thursday, July 3-Saturday, July 5, and 11:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday, July 6.

Where: Detroit's New Center Area, a business and residential district about four miles north of the Detroit River. Most of the events take place outdoors on West Grand Boulevard between Woodward Avenue and the Lodge Freeway (M-10).

Cost: There is no admission fee, but there is a cost for food and beverages, as well as some of the children's activities.

Taste Tickets can be purchased and exchanged for food and beverages at the TasteFest booths, which do not accept cash. Visitors to the festival can purchase nine Taste Tickets for $5 at ticket booths throughout the festival.

Parking: Free parking is offered after 6 p.m. Wednesday and Thursdays, and all day and evening Friday through Sunday. A $2 preferred parking lot is available on the same schedule in the Fisher Building parking deck. Cars enter from Lothrop, between Second and Third streets. Proceeds benefit the New Center Foundation.

Information: call (313) 927-1000 or visit the TasteFest web site at http://comnet.org/tastefest.

Woo displays his action artistry in 'Face/Off'

TICKETS PLEASE

JOHN MONAGHAN

Other summer movies have amazing special effects, rousing action scenes, and even some solid performances. John Woo's "Face/Off" offers all this and more: a well-conceived story that makes you really care about the characters on screen.

Follow me here: John Travolta plays FBI agent Sean Archer, whose 5-year-old son got in the path of an assassin's bullet. Once bad guy Castor Troy (Nicolas Cage) is captured, Archer must literally wear the killer's face and check himself into prison to extract information from Troy's younger brother.

It gets even more complicated. When the faceless Troy wakes from a coma, he tries Archer's mug on for size. His first order of business: keep his nemesis under lock and key. Second: infiltrate Archer's high-security job and his pretty wife. Aside from the requisite gunplay, much of the fun in "Face/Off" derives from watching two of America's most interesting actors play off of each other. Cage, playing Archer playing Troy, must force a psychotic swagger while Travolta, adopting Troy's persona, can barely hold a straight face because he's having so darned much fun.

The movie is directed by John Woo, who has spent the last decade as Hong Kong's reigning king of action movies. Though his Asian imports haven't screened much in Detroit, you've seen their influence in movies by Quentin Tarantino, Robert Rodriguez, and even the recent "Grosse Pointe Blank."

With Hong Kong reverting to Chinese rule this summer, Woo and other Hong Kong filmmakers have started emigrating to America. Woo's first two American productions, "Hard Target" and "Broken Arrow," were just warmups for this, the first stateside movie where he has a fairly free hand.

American movies are tame compared to Hong Kong-style violence, but here Woo's bullet ballet remains more-or-less intact. While new releases (think of "Batman and Robin" or even "Volcano") have tried to keep the body count down, "Face/Off" shoots everything in sight, mostly government agents, and often at very close range.

As usual, Woo's gunfights are precisely choreographed, with one bloody montage backed by a lilting rendition of "Somewhere Over the Rainbow."

The finale, which begins in a chapel, should remind you of 1989's "The Killer," with doves, slow-motion bullets and church pews turned to splinters by a million rounds of ammunition. At least this time Woo gives his actors a chance to reload their clips, rarely a consideration in the Hong Kong version.

The movie grows downright perverse when it gets to the romantic relationships, especially Troy's seduction of Archer's wife. To make matters worse, he starts hitting on Archer's teenage daughter and feeding her bizarre fatherly advice.

Woo has often been criticized for lack of substantial female roles in his testosterone-filled actioners. He makes a wise choice by casting Joan Allen, the Oscar-nominated actress, as Archer's doctor wife.

"Face/Off" has an almost otherworldly quality, employing slow- and fast-motion cinematography (sometimes in the same shot), stunning compositions and constant movement within the frame. Deep blood reds share screen time with washed-out monochromatic blues, the latter used in the painful flashback that sets the story in motion.

With what promises to be his biggest hit yet, Woo proves again what the critics have been saying all along. With "Face/Off" he has saved summer moviegoing with his unique blend of over-the-top action and art film aesthetics.

John Monaghan welcomes your calls and comments. You can listen to him on Dave Dixon's Radio Show AM 1270, 8 p.m. to midnight Saturdays. To leave John a voice mail message, dial (313)953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, mailbox 1866.

Share your 'wild' animal stories

Jonathan Taylor Thomas, Devon Sawa and Scott Bairstow star as the daredevil Stouffer brothers in "Wild America," an outdoor action/adventure tale that follows the brothers as they travel cross country with their camera in 1967 to film America's vanishing wildlife.

The film, which opened Wednesday, July 2, is based on a true story, and filmed on location in some of North America's most scenic natural settings.

Tell us about your personal "wild life" adventures to receive a "Wild America" prize package, which includes a small poster, large t-shirt, and "Wild America" disposable Kodak camera. Your story could be as simple as seeing a pheasant in your back yard, having your dog discover a shunk, or a raccoon in your garage. Please send pictures, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope if you would like your picture returned to you.

We'll share reader stories and photos in an upcoming issue. Twenty-five prize packages will be awarded.

Send your stories and photos to Keely Wygonik, Entertainment Editor, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Inc., 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150, or fax (313) 591-7279. For more information, call (313) 953-2105. Only one entry per family.

"Wild America" is inspired by the true adventure story of the adventurous Stouffer brothers whose own documentary series of the same name has revealed the mystery, majesty and charm of some of nature's most elusive and endangered creatures to audiences around the world.

Warner Bros distributes "Wild America," a Morgan Creek Production, directed by William Dear. The film is rated PG.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Opened Wednesday, July 2

"MEN IN BLACK"
They are the best kept secret in the universe. Working for a highly-funded yet unofficial government agency, the Men in Black are providers of immigration services and regulators of all things alien on earth. They are our best, last and only line of defense. Stars Tommy Lee Jones.

"OUT TO SEA"
Walter Matthau and Jack Lemmon are teamed up again on screen, this time as uneasy brothers-in-law who wind up as "dance hosts" aboard a cruise ship in the Caribbean. The comedy also stars Dyan Cannon, Gloria DeHaven, Hal Linden.

"WILD AMERICA"
Based on the true story of the daredevil Stouffer brothers, "Wild America," follows three brothers as they travel cross country with their camera and have a remarkable series of encounters with the animals that inspire them to become wildlife documentarians. Stars Jonathan Taylor Thomas.

Scheduled to open Friday, July 11

"CONTACT"
A visionary drama based on Carl Sagan's novel about humankind's first encounter with extraterrestrial life. Stars Jodie Foster.

"LOVE SERENADE"
Black comedy about two sisters in rural Australia who find themselves in a stormy battle for the affection of the new man in town. Stars Miranda Otto, Rebecca Firth and George Shevtsov.

NOTHING TO LOSE
Martin Lawrence and Tim Robbins star in this action comedy about a desolate corporate executive who kidnaps a would-be carjacker.

A SIMPLE WISH
Martin Short, Kathleen Turner and Maria Wilson star in this fantasy adventure about a 7-year-old girl who wishes for a fairy godmother only to get an inept spellcaster who accidentally turns her father to stone.

"ALL OVER ME"
Drama about three teenagers coming of age – and "coming out" in New York City's Hell's Kitchen. Stars Alison Folland, Tara Subkoff, Cole Hauser.

"A SIMPLE WISH"
Fantasy adventure about a 7-year-old girl who wishes for a fairy godmother only to get an inept spellcaster who accidentally turns her to stone. Stars Martin Short, Kathleen Turner.

Scheduled to open Wednesday, July 16

"GEORGE OF THE JUNGLE"
Brendan Fraser and Leslie Mann star in this live-action feature based on the popular cartoon series about a jungle dweller whose similarities to Tarzan are overshadowed by his ineptitude.

Scheduled to open Friday, July 18

"SHALL WE DANCE"
Exclusively at the Main Art Theatre. An ordinary 42-year-old businessman and a former competitive dancer find each other and together discover the joy of dance.

"OPERATION CONDOR"
Action adventure thriller about a search for hidden gold deep in the African forest. Stars Jackie Chan, Carol Cheng.

Scheduled to open Friday, July 25

"GOOD BURGER"
Kel Mitchell, Kenan Thomson and Sinbad star in this teen comedy based on the character "Ed" from the popular sketch on Nickelodeon's "All That."

"AIR FORCE ONE"
Harrison Ford, Gary Oldman and Glenn Close star in this action thriller about the First Family being hijacked on Air Force One.

"MRS. BROWN"
Romantic drama that follows one of history's most unusual love stories, the relationship between her Majesty Queen Victoria and John Brown. Stars Judi Dench and Bill Connolly.

Scheduled to open Wednesday, July 30

"187"
Urban drama set among "gangstas" in an inner-city school with Samuel L. Jackson.

Scheduled to open Friday Aug. 1

SPAWN
Action adventure based on comic book character who is a tragic, tormented avenger from beyond the grave with Michael Jai White, John Leguizamo and Martin Sheen.

PICTURE PERFECT
Jennifer Anniston and Kevin Bacon team up for a romantic comedy about a single woman who uses a random photo to invent a fictional boyfriend, before actually meeting the man in the picture.

PAPERBACK ROMANCE

COP LAND
Sylvester Stallone and Robert DeNiro star in this drama about a partially deaf sheriff who discovers a band of racist cops which challenges him to do the right thing.

THIS WORLD, THEN THE FIREWORKS
Crime story based on novelist Jim Thompson's tale of two sibling grifters who are having an incestuous affair.

Scheduled to open Wednesday, Aug. 6

HOW TO BE A PLAYER
Comedy about a smooth operator whose romantic juggling act results in his dating several women at the same time, none of whom know about each other.

Scheduled to open Friday, Aug. 8

"CONSPIRACY THEORY"
A conspiracy-obsessed NY cabbie and a skeptical Justice Department Attorney are thrown together in a search for the truth when one of the cabbie's craziest plot theories turns out to be real. Stars Mel Gibson, Julie Roberts.

"Mamele" (Little Mother) – Yiddish film will be shown at 12:45 p.m. Monday, July 7. "Mamele" is a musical comedy that embraces the gamut of interactive Jewish life in Lodz in all its diversity with tenement and unemployed Jews, nightclubs and gangsters, and religious Jews celebrating Succoth. Molly Picon stars as Khavtshi, a young woman who promises her dying mother that she will take care of her family.

Main Art Theatre, 118 N. Main Street at 11 Mile, Royal Oak. Films play through at least Thursday, unless noted otherwise. Call (248) 542-0180 for information and show times. ($6.50; $4 students, seniors and matinee; $3 twilight).

"Brassed Off" (USA - 1997). Pete Postlethwaite and Tara Fitzgerald star in this offbeat sleeper about a company brass band trying to win a national competition while their local coal mine is being shut down.

"Love! Valour! Compassion!" (USA - 1997). Jason Alexander (George on TV's "Seinfeld") is one of eight gay men who meet over three summer holiday weekends at a beach house. Based on a play by Terrence McNally.

"Ulee's Gold" (USA - 1997). Peter Fonda provides an understated performance as a Florida beekeeper called upon to save a family member from thugs while trying to protect his own life. From Victor Nunez, the writer/director of the surprise independent hit "Ruby in Paradise."

"All Over Me" (USA - 1997). A drama about three teenagers who come of age - and come out sexually - in New York City's Hell's Kitchen.

Magic Bag Theatre 22920 Woodward, Ferndale. Call (248) 544-3030 for information. ($2).

"Romy and Michele's High School Reunion" (USA - 1997). 9:30 p.m. July 9. Mira Sorvino and Lisa Kudrow who end up in some not-so-serious misadventures when they attend their 10-year reunion.

Southfield Public Library, 26000 Evergreen, Southfield. Call (248) 948-0470 for information.

"Kiss Me Kate" (USA - 1953). 7 p.m. July 8. The musical version of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" stars Kathryn Grayson and Howard Keel as stage actors whose roles as the shrewish Kate and her wily suitor translate to their offstage lives. Originally shot in 3-D, but shown here on big-screen video.

DINING

Sand Bar is fine Birmingham neighborhood bistro

BY ELEANOR HEALD
SPECIAL WRITER

In anticipation of an early spring (which never came), Birmingham's Ocean Grille owners Craig and Bobbie Dilworth opened a street level, casual bistro, Sand Bar, with seating indoors and out, under a striped Teal and Kip Rose awning, in late March.

Taking a 20-year lease on the lower level upscale Ocean Grille and on the main-level suites formerly occupied by Truefaux Jewelry and the Birmingham Bead Store, the Dilworths are providing alternative dining experiences for residents of Birmingham and surrounding communities in addition to Birmingham shoppers, business owners and their employees.

"We wanted a more casual venue for Sand Bar that was not as seafood oriented as our Ocean Grille," Craig Dilworth noted.

While this is true, the design team of Ron Rea has presented a dockside nautical theme in deep, rich colors for Sand Bar. Dark marine blue walls are accented with an eggplant-hued ceiling from which large-diameter hemp ropes hang. A continuous sand sculpture created by local artist Barney Judge of Plymouth creates wall contrast and extends the working harbor concept. Indoor eaters can view preparation of their order in the fully exposed kitchen with its modern grill and stone-hearth pizza oven. Seating for 32 outdoors is warm-weather inviting.

Doubling as both general managers and chefs are Kim Schoenknecht, daytime kitchen guru, and evenings it's Birmingham native Megan Harber. Schoenknecht is a Schoolcraft culinary department grad who worked at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club before joining Sand Bar. Harber graduated from the Culinary Institute of America and spent the last four years of culinary pursuits in Key West, Florida.

Sand Bar

Where: 280 N. Woodward, Birmingham (street level of Ocean Grille), 248.646.7003.
Hours: Monday through Thursday 11:30 a.m. to 11:00 p.m. Friday evening until midnight. Saturday 5:00 p.m. to midnight. Closed Sunday.
Menu: Contemporary, casual neighborhood bistro.
Cost: At Lunch soups $3; salads $4-7.75; sandwiches and burgers $4-7.75; main dishes $7.50-9. Dinner starters $3-8; principal plates $6.50-12; pizzas $8-9.
Reservations: no
Credit cards: all except Discover.

Discovering Sand Bar for the first time at lunch were Connie Landgraff of Bloomfield Hills and Mixie Hochman of Birmingham. Landgraff chose the Grilled Chicken Special sandwich (full $6, half $4). In addition to the chicken, the sour country French bread, which she described as "crunchy," was filled with roasted peppers, chevre, exotic greens and pesto.

"It was perfectly sized with great flavors," she commented. "I'd choose it again."

She also praised her cup of brewed cappuccino. Hochman chose Shrimp Salad, gulf shrimp with a fresh dill mayonnaise over mixed greens with fresh cantaloupe, $7.75. She said the dill mayonnaise was a perfect accent and that her choice "filled the bill for my mood today."

Dilworth noted that among lunch offerings the Grilled Salmon Salad, grilled Atlantic salmon with baby field greens and raspberry vinaigrette $7.75, and Jamaican Jerk Chicken Salad, grilled jerk chicken breast served atop mixed greens $6, are popular selections. From among the sandwiches he cited the seasonal Crispy Fried Soft Shell Crab Sandwich $7.75 on a house-made dill bun with Creole remoulade, served with cole slaw; and Portobello Bite, grilled portobello mushrooms, fresh tomato, fresh mozzarella and exotic greens on 12-grain bread, whole $6, half $4.

A sourdough country French roll can be added to a soup $3 or salad for 50 cents. Pomme frites as a side to complement any sandwich or burger are an extra $1.50.

For unhurried mid-day eaters, there's Fresh Pan-Seared Lemon Pepper Whitefish, finished with white wine and served with rice $7.75 and Grilled Fresh Atlantic Salmon with a fresh cucumber relish, served with rice $9. Sized up, this dish is also served at dinner for $12. Similarly, Landgraff's lunch sandwich gets proportionately larger and offered for $6.95 in the evening.

"But most appealing are Sand Bar Special Pizzas," Dilworth said. They are non-tomato sauce, gourmet-style made with fresh ingredients and cooked in the stone-hearth pizza oven. Included are Jamaican Jerk Chicken Pizza or Shrimp with roasted red bell peppers, fresh herbs and mozzarella cheese. Other pizzas have vegetable toppings, catering to meatless preferences.

Landgraff and Hochman agreed that an eatery such as Sand Bar was needed in Birmingham. They reasoned, if you're in a hurry, you can run in and get out quickly or get speedy counter service or get an order as a take out. For less hectic times, tables invite a leisurely experience.

"For both Sand Bar and Ocean Grille, I depend on loyal, local residents to keep it working," Dilworth said.

STEVE AND ROCKY'S

Chef Steven Allen will end his 15-year tenure at the Golden Mushroom, 18100 W. 10 Mile Road at Southfield Road, Southfield, within a month to open a restaurant with Charles (Rocky) Rachwitz. "It is hard to leave the people whom I have learned from and cared about for so many years," said Allen. "The Golden Mushroom has been a major part of my life through my adulthood. However, I am following a dream and opening a new restaurant of my own this fall. Along with partner Charles (Rocky) Rachwitz, we will open on Grand River, just east of Novi Road, in Novi."

Golden Mushroom owner Reid Ashton has hired Derin Moore to fill Allen's shoes. Ashton said Moore and Allen will be working together to facilitate a smooth transition. Moore is an accomplished chef who has won numerous gold metals in culinary competitions, and a graduate of the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, New York. Moore trained under Brian Polcyn of Five Lakes Grill in Milford, and worked at Pike Street in Pontiac before heading to northern Michigan to work at the Bay Harbor Yacht Club in Petoskey.

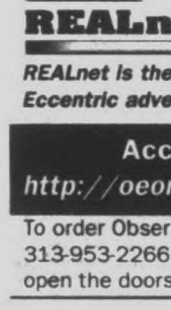
Court rules landlord responsible for rape

REAL ESTATE QUERIES



ROBERT M. MEISNER

Q. I have heard recently about a tenant who was raped in her apartment and was successful in suing her landlord.

Do you have any information concerning that case?

A. In the case that you may be thinking of, the landlord was found liable for providing "inadequate security," even though the only prior crimes in the apartment complex were two burglaries in the two months before the attack.

The Georgia Supreme Court ruled that it was up to the jury to decide if the attack was "foreseeable." The landlord in that case argued that the rape, which took place at night, was not foreseeable because it was aware of just two prior property crimes in vacant apartments and those took place during the day.

The Supreme Court of Georgia disagreed. The court ruled that although the burglaries were committed when the apartments were vacant, it was reasonable to anticipate that an unauthorized entry might occur while an apartment was occupied and personal harm to a tenant could result. The dissenters in that case complained that the ruling makes landowners virtually insurers of those who come on their property. Is is, of course, unclear as to how the Supreme Court of Michigan might rule in a similar situation.

Mr. President: Bill Deacon, long active on the suburban real estate scene, heads the Michigan Association of Realtors.

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

Bill Deacon, an associate broker with Century 21 Town & Country in Birmingham, still loves the real estate business after a 31-year involvement.

He talks eloquently about the American Dream of home ownership and the qualities of a great Realtor.

Maybe that experience and enthusiasm make the 61-year-old Waterford resident such a good choice to serve as president of the Michigan Association of Realtors.

Deacon, midway through his one-year term, represents the professional interests of 24,000 Realtors across the state.

"We are a watchdog for legislative agendas," he said. "We probably look at 150 to 200 pieces a year that deal with property rights, home ownership, taxation and the real estate profession."

The state association has helped craft several disclosure laws in recent years.

Those laws relate to the condition of a property for sale, who exactly an agent represents during the buying/ selling process and revealing, if known, whether lead-based paint, a potential heath hazard, is in the home.

The Realtors association is working to streamline and standardize land use planning/ platting procedures "so builders and developers can get through the process in two or three months rather than two or three years," Deacon said.

The state association also is lobbying at the national level to exempt up to $500,000 appreciated value of a house from capital gains taxes (now it's $125,000) and eliminate age (currently 55) and the once-in-a-lifetime stipulations.

MAR also wants to see the capital gains tax rate reduced from 28 percent to about 19.8 percent.

Deacon is optimistic about the exemption changes passing – "We're hopeful there will be strong, bipartisan support" – less so about the tax rate reduction – "I think it will be the last chip on the table."

Deacon conceded that Realtors haven't always enjoyed the best of reputations.

"I worry about how we're perceived, yet statistics tell me seven or eight out of 10 come to a Realtor when buying or selling a house," Deacon said. "I think we always have to be concerned about image ... strive to maintain and improve that professional image.

"I think a homeowner has the right to expect a Realtor to provide them with service not only in the sale or purchase of a house, but with all other information and data they will need to get through the transaction," he said.

That would include referrals of mortgage lenders, title insurers and home inspectors.

The biggest challenge facing the industry?

"For years, the cornerstone of our industry has been multilist, ownership of information we provide to the general public," Deacon said. "In the future, who will own the information and how it will be presented will change.

"My job as president of the association is to keep the Realtor in the center of the transaction. How that transaction takes place may change," he said.

Real estate, Deacon said, will always be a people business.

"I never sold a house in my life," he said. "I listen to what the dream is and you try to get as close a match as you can."

Ruth Clevers (an associate broker with Weir, Manuel, Snyder & Ranke in Birmingham), Jerry McKeon (an associate broker with Max Broock Realtors in Birmingham) and Bowen Broock, broker/ owner of the company that bears the family name, are all MAR directors this year.

■ Clevers on how Realtors succeed in their work:

"They need to be self motivated, driven and sincere about making a career of it," she said. "Our industry is very detailed, time consuming. You don't automatically succeed.

"You have to be organized and put in the hours to learn the business ... learning how to sell ... learn how to read people, how to listen," Clevers said.

■ McKeon on changes in the business:

"A lot of people are entering the real estate industry from the business world somewhere – the auto industry, IBM, whatever. They know the positive effects of good marketing.

"They're using computers very effectively. If our members don't rise up to that level, they will be out of the business," McKeon said.

■ Broock on why Realtors should get involved in their association:

"There's no way a volunteer can't achieve a measure of personal growth and leadership. There's a networking component that has to be considered. You meet people you're working with and for.

"Number three, and perhaps most important, an organization such as MAR or any other volunteer organization will prosper or wither depending on the level of commitment of members," Broock said.

Adjustable Mortgages

Adjusted rate mortgages are shown below as a percentage of all mortgages issued nationally on a monthly basis. The 30-year fixed rate is the national average, generally taken on the second or third Friday of the month. As the fixed rate increases, more people opt for the ARM.

Month	30-year fixed rate	ARM share of mortgages
April 1997	8.15	26%
March 1997	7.84	24%
February 1997	7.56	26%
January 1997	7.85	26%
December 1996	7.74	26%
November 1996	7.59	29%
October 1996	7.88	33%
September 1996	8.14	33%
August 1996	7.88	31%

30-year fixed-rate still the favorite for refinancing

MORTGAGE SHOPPING

DAVID C. MULLY

For many years, the only choice for most people when it came to a home mortgage was a fixed-rate mortgage, usually for 30 years. Then the adjustable-rate mortgage became popular with homeowners and took a big bite out the market of home mortgages. But fixed-rate mortgages are the mortgage of choice when refinancing a home.

A quarterly refinancing study released by Freddie Mac shows the popularity of 15-year fixed-rate mortgages increased during the first quarter of 1997 from the last quarter of 1996, regardless of what loan type borrowers refinanced. But the 30-year fixed rate was still the favored choice when refinancing.

Freddie Mac (really the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Company) is a private company chartered by congress to buy mortgages from lenders and package those mortgages for investors. Because of its role in keeping the mortgage investment money flowing, Freddie Mac is a good source for information about mortgages.

Among borrowers originally holding 30-year fixed-rate mortgages, 28 percent refinanced into 15-year fixed-rate mortgages. This is an increase from the 24 percent of borrowers who obtained 15-year fixed-rate mortgages in the fourth quarter of 1996.

Homeowners who had 15-year fixed-rate mortgages stayed with them 57 percent of the time this quarter, versus 54 percent in the previous quarter.

Borrowers who originally had adjustable-rate mortgages primarily preferred the 30-year fixed-rate mortgage over 15-year fixed-rate mortgage or one-year adjustable rate mortgages when they refinanced. Of those, 20 percent chose the 15-year fixed-rate mortgage, up from 15 percent in the fourth quarter of 1996.

"Interest rates bottomed out in December 1966, creating a moderate rise in refinancing activity in the first quarter of 1997 and increasing borrowers' interest in the 15-year product," said Vassilis Lekkas, senior economist for Freddie Mac.

"Looking to the future, applications for refinancing of loans were lower in the first quarter of 1997 compared to the last quarter of 1996," he said. This should be reflected in the figures for the second quarter of 1997, he said.

The Freddie Mac study, which looks at loans homeowners choose when refinancing, is based on mortgages for which Freddie Mac purchased both the original and new loans.

Even though the popularity of the 15-year fixed-rate mortgage rose this quarter, the most favored loan product is still the 30-year fixed-rate mortgage. Borrowers with 30-year fixed-rate mortgage chose 30-year fixed-rate mortgage again 62 percent of the time, down slightly from 64 percent in the fourth quarter, Lekkas said.

Author identifies homebuying errors

Almost every one of the estimated 4.8 million home buyers this year will fall into several hidden traps when they shop for their dream home, according to Bob Easter, a 20-year real estate broker.

Easter wants to tell them how to stop making these costly mistakes. He is the author of Home Buying Power ($12.95), and The 14 Home-Selling Secrets ($9.95 in book stores or call 1-800-848-5593).

"The number one mistake is paying too much for a home," Easter says.

"If you pay appraised value, you will lose money, because it will cost you at least 8% to sell the home. If you have to sell in a year or two, how will you make up the loss?"

Easter says the second mistake is when buyers fail to do homework before they start looking.

"Doing your homework means learning who will be trying to empty your pocketbook with unnecessary fees and commissions, what will be the trends in housing, and what type of designs will buyers be willing to pay for in the future."

Easter recommends that you buy a home with selling it in mind.

"Being prepared is not hard work, but you must protect your interest above the seller, mortgage company and real estate agent. Have a written plan and checklist of things to do before you visit your first model home or call a real estate agent," says Easter.

The third mistake is failing to have your loan approved before shopping for a home.

"Learn how to negotiate with your mortgage company. Those quoted interest rates and fees are not chiseled in granite. Watch out for lenders hidden 'junk fees.' Junk fees are expensive, but they can be waived," says Easter.

Your greatest weapon against these charges is "NO."

A common mistake is comparing and buying a home by the square foot.

"Each home should be considered by the quality of construction, amenity packages and future resale ability, not price per square foot," says Easter. The best price per square foot may have inherent problems, such as a leaky basement, structural or mechanical damage, or it could be located on an undesirable site.

Easter is offering two free checklists: 10 Tips Before You Sell, and 10 Tips Before You Buy a Home. Send a self addressed envelope with a 55-cent stamp to: 10 Tips c/o Bob Easter, 4412 Lostridge Dr., Austin, TX 78731-1306.

Buyers advised to have older homes checked

BY COUNTRY LIVING MAGAZINE
FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

Every experienced real-estate agent, builder and restoration specialist advises buyers – especially novice home buyers – to have an aging home examined by a professional home inspector before laying down one penny.

While some aging residences may require no more than fresh paint, John H. Ingersoll wrote in an article in the current issue of Country Living, other, older homes possess flaws serious enough to jettison anyone's purchasing plans.

"A country house, 25 to 30 years old, shouldn't show much deterioration, but a house more than 60 or 70 years old could present a buyer with all kinds of problems," said Jerry Roth, president of G.M. Roth Design Remodeling, Inc. in Hollis, N.H.

The following are a few of the most common structural defects people may encounter, ranging from the most difficult to fix to the least serious.

Professionals who deal with country homes on a daily basis have provided repair-cost estimates based on a hypothetical 2,000-square-foot two-story house with an attic.

Damaged framing. A post-and-beam or balloon-frame house, 90 or more years old, almost surely has gone through structural changes.

"In order to expand a room, a contractor unfamiliar with that kind of construction might have cut the wrong beams and weakened the house," Roth said.

Sinking foundation. Repairing the foundation itself can run up a bill of $500 to $1,500 if stones are missing in one location, or from $10,000 to $20,000 if an entire foundation has settled, according to Dan Bawden, president of Legal Eagle Contractors in Houston.

Termite damage. Termites can rot an old house from the bottom up, so inspecting for their damage is mandatory before buying any older house. Repairs could be as simple as replacing a foundation beam with treated wood, a project in the $200 to $600 range. But the price for a repair could soar into the thousands if the infestation has spread over the years.

Roof leaks. The cost of repair depends on how long the leak continued without attention. The dollar amount can range from less than $100 for closing the leak with roofing mastic to spending many thousands on tearing out siding, walls and floors to reach and replace rolled framing.

Crumbling chimney. "Repairing a central chimney can cost anywhere from $8,000 to $12,000, or more if a lot of repair work is needed," Roth said. "A deteriorating chimney on an outside wall could probably be prepared for a few thousand less, but keep in mind that if the chimney is falling apart, the fireplace usually needs a repair, too," he said.

Wiring. Rewiring calls for snaking new cable from a circuit breaker to a sufficient number of outlets for modern living. The cost could easily run to more than $1,000.

Nonthreatening flaws. Bringing a house up to date and adding creature comforts also raises the cost of repair.

"Even giving a face-lift to an old bath falls in the $1,500 to $6,000 bracket," Bawden said, "but tearing out and beginning again or adding a new bath could range between $25,000 to $35,000."

Roth and Bawden agree that new insulating windows to replace loose-fitting, single pane sashes would range from $250 to $700 per opening, depending on material and insulating sophistication.

The cost of restoring an old house can take a big bite out of the budget, but not all flaws are to be feared, and some even add to the charm of a house.

■ 'A country house, 25 to 30 years old, shouldn't show much deterioration, but a house more than 60 or 70 years old could present a buyer with all kinds of problems.'

fixed-rate mortgage, 36 percent chose a 30-year fixed-rate mortgage product. This percentage is unchanged from the fourth quarter of 1996.

Fifty-six percent of borrowers holding one-year adjustable rate mortgages refinanced into 30-year fixed-rate mortgage, compared to a slightly higher 57 percent in the fourth quarter of 1996.

According to Freddie Mac statistics, approximately 28 percent of the conventional mortgage applications in the first quarter of 1997 were for refinancing, down from nearly 31 percent in the fourth quarter of 1996. This was considerably lower than 43 percent in the first quarter of 1996.

This decrease in the number of people applying for refinancing is due in part to higher interest rates in the first quarter of 1997, in comparison with the first quarter of 1996. The high level of refinancing activity in late 1995 and early 1996 was difficult to match.

Some advice:

Don't let this report necessarily sway you if you're involved in the decision of choosing a fixed- or variable-rate mortgage. Whether you want (and need) an adjustable-rate mortgage or a fixed-rate mortgage depends on your particular set of circumstances. Each type has advantages and disadvantages. However, keeping an open mind and looking at the difficulties and benefits of each type will enable you to receive significant savings with a lower interest rate and a program that suits your needs.

Try a dry well

BY READER'S DIGEST BOOKS
FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

If large puddles of water remain around your home after a hard rain, water may leak into your basement. One solution is to connect your house's main downspout to a dry well – a below-surface basin that collects run-off water and allows it to drain into the soil. Be sure to check local ordinances before going ahead.

Constructing a dry well is straightforward, although it requires some digging. Before you undertake the project, see if you can solve your problem by sloping the ground around your house away from the foundation. Also, you may be able to connect your gutters to a storm sewer or a drainage ditch.

To keep a dry well from contributing to your basement wetness problem, locate it at least 20 feet from foundation walls and make sure the top is lower than the ground surface around the house.

Building

An easy way to build a dry well is with a 55-gallon drum. Have the ends cut off or cut them off yourself with a hammer and cold chisel. Also cut a hole in the top of one side to accept a drainage pipe and punch a few dozen holes in the sides to permit water seepage. Make the holes between one-half-inch and 1-inch in diameter. Bury the drum in a hole 5 to 10 feet deep so that the top is at least 18 inches below the surface, fill it with rocks, broken concrete blocks and other coarse rubble. Cover the well with sturdy planks, treated to resist rot, or a concrete slab to keep out dirt. Pack dirt tightly around all sides.

Instead of a drum, you also can create the sides of a dry well with concrete blocks. Lay the blocks on their sides and separate them a few inches at the joints to form a hollow square in the center. Leave an inlet opening near the top. The central opening of the well should be 16 to 36 square feet in area – that's about 4 to 6 feet on a side. As with a drum, fill the well's central opening with rubble, cover the top with treated planks or a slab and bury it.

Rather than construct a dry well you can install or have installed commercially available cast concrete dry well units.

If you're connecting the dry well to the house gutters, the downspouts into which they feed should be connected to a main downspout. That downspout should feed into the dry well.

Dig a trench from the downspout to the dry well and install drainage pipes or tiles. Locate them about 1 foot below the surface, sloping them downward toward the well about 1 inch for each foot of the trench's length as it runs away from the house.

Dry well disadvantages

A dry well is not a perfect solution. Blockages can develop in the drain pipe feeding the dry well and they may well be the culprit if you find that water is no longer draining away as it should. Before digging up the pipe, check the downspout elbow where it feeds into the drain pipe. It's often where blockage happens.

Over the years a dry well may gradually fill with sediment. If a dry well does become clogged, dig it up, empty out the old fill and add new fill.

In periods of heavy rain, even a new dry well can back up because it can't handle the sudden high volume of water. When the rain stops, drainage will gradually resume.
