Test run for Ann Arbor Road plan

Sunshine Honda would be first test for concept plan

STAFF WRITER sbuck@oe.homecomm.net

Tom Bohlander, the owner of Sunshine Honda who hopes to rezone property for additional storage and parking, is expected to be the first to redevelop under an amended Plymouth Township master plan. The Ann Arbor Road Corridor Concept Plan, approved in April 1997, will eventually ease truck traffic complaints on local streets in the area, according to township officials. The plan will be done on a business-bybusiness basis as each business chooses to redevelop.

"It will be market driven," said Shirley Barney, Plymouth Township community development director. Streets included in the plan are Ball,

There's a heap of emotion on Northern Street in Plymouth Township, where two weeks ago some residents began displaying homemade signs on their front lawns protesting truck traffic, car haulers and the proposed expansion of Sunshine Honda located on Ann Arbor Road.

A "No Trucks" sign is posted on Northern, which is south of Ann Arbor Road three streets west of South Main

"Township board, what about us?" asks the question on one of Mike and Janice Litwin's lawn signs in front of their Northern Street home. "Stop Honda Expansion," reads another Litwin sign. "Please stop illegal truck

Lately, residents feel their concerns aren't being heard.

Math lovers 2nd in state

BY TONY BRUSCATO STAFF WRITER thruscato@oe.homecomm.net

The four members of the East Middle School math team swear they're not geeks. They just like math.

That interest in numbers helped them finish second in the Math Counts state competition of 48 schools at Western Michigan University this month. The squad missed first place by just three quarters of a point.

I like math as a tool, especially when it's tied to the sciences," said Yuyin Chen of Canton. "I'm not sure I'm really good at it.

Chen is obviously being modest. He had the fourth highest score among 159 participants in the state finals. He and three others will represent Michigan in the national finals May 11-14 in Washington, D.C.

'Math comes easy to me, and it's really helpful in the things I do, like science," added Neil Bochenek of Can-"And besides, you need to know

"It's really important in this day and age that we help all kids understand and succeed in math because all jobs require math," said East math teacher Jenny Melkvik. "In reality, math is made up of patterns, and if a lot more people were taught that way ... like a

LASER HAIR REMOVAL

To fully understand laser hair removal, you must realize that there are three stages of hair growth: anogen (the growth stage), catagen (the regression stage), and telogen (the resting stage). At any point in time, there is hair in all three stages. And, because the laser must be applied to the hair follicle during the anogen (growth) stage to attain long-term hair reduction, a series of laser treatments will likely be required. Having said all that, studies reviewing the results of various laser hairremoval techniques indicate that a 40%-90% reduction of hair can be expected three months after a single treatment. Results vary according to hair color (because laser light is attracted to the pigment in hair) and laser type. My practice takes pride in caring for patients' special needs, including skin rejuvenation with Powerpeel 2000 microdermabrasion, Light Sheer Laser hair removal, treatment of skin cancers, psoriasis, fungal nail and hair loss. For additional information about dermatology care or to make an appointment, phone my office at 734-591-7931; we're conveniently located at 37605 Pembroke in Livonia.

PS. Laser hair removal works through the emission of a beam of light that converts to heat and is absorbed into the hair shaft, thereby altering the follicle's ability to grow hair.

blocked, Litwin said.

Tom Bohlander, the owner of Sunshine Honda, said he seeks an expansion. He's asking to rezone property for additional storage and parking at the township's April 19 planning commission meeting. The public meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the Plymouth Township board meeting room on Ann Arbor and Lilley Roads Bohlander is expected to be the first Ann Arbor Road business owner to redevelop under an amended master plan, "It will create a lane on my property where car carriers can drive through," said Bohlander in a phone call from Florida. "It will alleviate congestion. Truck traffic has been there for 20 years. This has always been a car dealership. Those aren't my trucks. Those are car carriers and trucks that deliver parts to my business. I've told them to turn around, but they don't. It's a public street.

"If I were those neighbors, I would be asking the township to close those streets to Ann Arbor Road. I would be asking them to close Northern."

Bohlander said truck traffic isn't specific to just his business but stems from all the businesses that get deliveries on Ann Arbor Road. Truck cut-through down residential streets increased when the streets were paved about three years ago, he said. He added that he was responsible for getting the "No Trucks" sign posted on Northern.

Bohlander will later request closing Oakview Street, where he owns property on both sides of the road, but can't do the same on Northern where he doesn't own property on both

"I try to be a good neighbor," Bohlander said. "Where there's businesses and residents, there's issues."

If you're eligible for Medicare, you could be hearing this a lot...

Other Northern Street residents also expressed views.

"We're dead against it," said Viola Shisler of Northern Street, referring to Honda's expansion and its delivery trucks. "They hold up traffic.'

The trucks can be a problem two days a week and then not be a problem until two weeks later, she said. Her lawn sign reads, "Please stop heavy trucks."

Dennis Gyorke, who rents a Northern Street home next to a vacant lot, has no lawn sign. "Late at night you will hear them (car delivery trucks) going up and down the street," Gyorke said. "You can tell by the sound that it's a truck, not a car."

The owner of Gyorke's rental house has contacted Sunshine Honda officials, he said.

Meanwhile, according to Jamie Senkbeil, Plymouth Township community resource officer, township police are stepping up traffic enforcement in the area.

Police received complaints about trucks loading and unloading before 7 a.m. That's prohibited between 6 p.m. and 7 a.m., she said.

They have also heard complaints that the trucks are ignoring posted signs. Tickets written on this civil infraction carry $85 fines, she said. Loading and unloading during unspecified times violates a township ordinance and is a misdemeanor punishable by 90 days in jail and/or a $500 fine, Senkbeil

Residents also cite the poor. condition of the easement, she

Elaine Hovey, a Ball Street resident for 18 months, has tried since fall to organize a homeowners association informally called Palmer Meadows. She was surprised to learn there is no homeowners group in the area south of Ann Arbor Road, between South Main Street and Sheldon Road. She was even more surprised when some residents came to her organizational meetings "afraid of regulations."

There have been a lot of obstacles," Hovey said. Hovey, who moved from Livonia's old Rosedale area, saw both social and lobbying benefits from that homeowners association. "It lobbied and stopped a Meijer on Plymouth Road from coming in."

Plymouth Township resident Larry Grow, who has been in the area since 1987, lives near the Salvation Army office on South Main Street. He attended one of Hovey's homeowners association meetings. He said some attending were "rough-tough people" who misunderstood the purpose of a homeowners association. "They said, 'I don't need anybody telling me how to plant flowers," Grow said.

Delivery truck traffic from other Ann Arbor Road businesses create similar problems, Grow said. "I document everything," Grow said.

It's fitting that an elementary school be named after Dodson, considering all of his teaching and principal positions were at elementary schools.

"The young kids are so special. They hunger for knowledge," he said. "I think it's their energy, spontaneity, inquisitiveness, creativity. They're so beautiful. I think they help keep me young.'

Dodson began his teaching career in the Geer School annex, where he had 13 fifth-graders and 12 sixth-graders.

"I think you start out by just liking them, and being around them," he said. "Just wanting to help them by saying 'Hey, let's learn something today."

Dodson was so adamant about being around children, he once turned down a chance to become part of the Plymouth-Canton administration.

"The administration tried to talk me into it," he said. "I told them yes, if I could bring my kindergartners with me. That put an end to that."

His first stint as Gallimore principal almost didn't come to fruition because of Dodson.

"I refused the principal's job because I was a counselor and I loved it," he said. "About a month later, (former Superintendent) Mike Hoben called me to lunch, and when it was over I was principal at Gallimore, and I didn't even apply.

Gallimore is really special, it's here that I found my niche in life," Dodson said while sitting in the Media Center at Gallimore, which was named for him in 1997. "I enjoy the admin-

Dodson still likes to go back to Gallimore, and Smith Elementary where he also served as principal, to read and tell stories to students.

"I used to have a rule ... if a kid runs in the hallway, stop him and tell him not to do it, said Dodson. "If the child is skipping, then let him go because he's happy."

Asked what she was remembers about Mr. Dodson, Gallimore student Jessica Zomermaand, 10, of Canton, said, "He would let us skip in the halls.

Cowles joins House race

BY TONY BRUSCATO STAFF WRITER

The race for the 20th District State House of Representatives seat got a bit more crowded as Matt Cowles of Northville officially announced his bid for the office being vacated by Gerald Law (R-Plymouth). ·

Despite his age, 23, and the fact he's never held an elected position, Cowles feels his work with former Northville Senator Bob Geake and current position working with Senate Majority Leader Dan DeGrow (R-Port Huron) gives him an edge on his competitors.

"In this day of term limits, it's more and more important to send people to Lansing who have a working knowledge of what goes on there," said Cowles.
"I've seen the mistakes of the past and have already learned from them. I can take that experience and apply it to fresh ideas and a fresh approach.

Among Cowles' top priorities are education, lowering taxes and long-term health care.

The best way to fix education in this state and ensure quality education is to support public schools," said Cowles, whose mother is a public school teach-"The system really does work. We need to restore local control, let the individual districts make up their mind as to what is best for their district. The less that Lansing does, the better the individual communities will be.'

Cowles said he "doesn't support vouchers under any circumstances. Paying for private schools with taxpayer dollars is not a way to go."

However, Cowles doesn't mind charter schools, saying "if local communities want charter schools then that's OK."

On long-term health care, Cowles feels the need to look beyond the present. "The Medicaid system and basic health care within the state has grown over the years and done its job," he said. "But, there have to be ways to simplify the system and ensure that the parents of baby boomers have access to quality health care."

Cowles is the fourth person to officially announce a run for the seat being left by Law as a result of term limits.

The others include Plymouth Mayor Dave McDonald. Plymouth attorney John Stewart and Northville resident Teresa

David Katz, who announced his decision Wednesday to resign May 1 as Wayne County airports director, said Friday he feels good about what he's done at Metro Airport and has no regrets about his two-year tenure.

"I sleep well at night," said the 41-year-old Katz, who began his near-16-year political career as an administrative assistant to then-Livonia Mayor Ed McNamara and followed McNamara into county government when the latter became the county's chief executive officer in the mid-

Katz, a Livonia Stevenson High School graduate with a degree from the University of Michigan, was McNamara's chief of staff before the county CEO appointed him airports director two years ago and told him to "clean things up over there."

"I've honored the position and behaved in a professional manner." Katz said of his directorship during a cellphone interview Friday with the Observer as he headed north to visit his ailing grandmother.

Everything I did, I did upfront," he said.

He said he has an idea who will succeed him but deferred to McNamara for the announce-

Critics call for more experience

BY RICHARD PEARL STAFF WRITER rpearl@oe.homecomm.net

David Katz's announcement Wednesday that he is resigning May 1 as Wayne County director of airports evoked surprise plus calls for a more experienced suc-

Katz was appointed airports director two years ago by County Executive Ed McNamara.

State Sen. Glenn Steil, R-Grand Rapids, whose committee is investigating alleged contract irregularities at Metro Airport, was among those expressing sur-

"I like David Katz," Steil said, describing the 41-year-old who grew up in Livonia as "a very bright, energetic young man."

But, noting Katz's statements that issues being investigated preceded his tenure, Steil countered, "It's not all (as) lily-white as he made it out to be

Steil's committee earlier in the week got the first of what are expected to be seven reports on . Metro operations from state auditors

He said the committee's legal counsel is "going over it with a fine-toothed comb" and added that there are "some areas that definitely need" more examining and explaining.

He acknowledged "there's a lot of pressure" in being airports director but expressed surprise at reports of Katz's alleged "moonlighting" at the Mulligan's Golf Learning Centers in Auburn Hills and South Lyon.

"It's amazing to me that with a $131,600-a-year job, he'd need to be moonlighting," Steil said of Katz, who is to become managing partner of the business.

Livonia Mayor Jack Kirksey said it was best Katz resigned now because "it's reaching the time when the whole thing" at Metro Airport - the Midfield Terminal and other related construction projects - "has to be orchestrated.

Right time

"To have waited would have complicated the thing. The complexity of the project is only going to increase day to day. This is the time to do it."

Kirksey described Katz as "a very sharp, very able young man" who "has been in a very difficult assignment. Metro is a very complex operation that's heavily steeped with frustration.

"Dave is a young man with a young child at home and with other interests," Kirksey said. He called Katz's move "a good

Managing partner

Katz said he will "be around until May 1" if his successor so desires and then will go to work as managing partner in Mulligan's Golf Learning Centers in Auburn Hills and South Lyon.

Katz is partners with McNamara, Deputy Detroit Mayor Freman Hendrix and three others in the venture, which offers golf lessons, a driving range and miniature golf.

Serving as airports director has been "a great challenge," he said. "I worked as hard as I possibly knew how to make customer service the core value" at

"It was a tough job," he said of the position. "There are a lot of things out of your control, but you have to soldier on. I felt good about the approach I took, the tasks and the challenges."

Metro, which is building a new, 70-plus gate midfield terminal for its hub airline, Northwest, and will then remodel the existing terminals, "is poised for greatness," Katz said, adding more so for Ed McNamara than for Dave Katz."

"Of 325 construction" projects relating to the midfield terminal,

"285 are completed," he said, mentioning road and bridge construction as well as new runways and the terminal itself.

'Out of the ground'

"You can see the steel coming out of the ground finally," Katz said, and, "it is his (McNamara's) vision that we have been following. It's taken three airports directors," he added joking-

The only regret that I have is that I didn't get the chance to finish that for him," Katz said. "It's funny how timing works. But this is a business.'

Asked about Northwest Airlines' dominance as a hindrance to competitive airline service, Katz said "the opportunity is there" for new competition.

Once Northwest switches, there's a lot of capacity for other carriers to come" and either open at Metro or expand existing services, he said.

Noting statistics showing 55 percent of Metro's customers fly into or out of Metro on carriers other than Northwest, Katz said, "The real hope is that other carriers will add" passenger gates.

Leadership Plymouth

Do you know that the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce provides a comprehensive program which aids us in learning more about our community while making contact with many Plymouth movers and shakers?

It all began about 5 years ago when the then current head magistrate of the 35th District Court, Judge James Garber approached the Chamber Director Fran Toney about impending changes in the community. He observed community leaders retiring and the subsequent need to encourage others to step up and get involved. Jim also expressed a desire to ensure that the history of our community was passed along to those not aware of it. A group of others sharing these concerns soon formed a steering committee to explore the feasibility of a formal series of programs to introduce interested individuals to community involvement. This marked the conception of what would become Leadership Plymouth.

Many leadership training groups were contacted both state and nationwide to gather input in order to create the best possible program; and one and one half years later the first class of Leadership Plymouth completed their training! The Chamber recruits participants for each year's Leadership Class and targets businesses through newsletters and via word of mouth from alumni and is attempting to enroll participants from community residents at large.

The program requires monthly attendance at day-long sessions each focusing on a specific facet of our community. This year the class is exploring the following areas: Quality of Life & Culture, Government & Business Development, the Justice System, Education & Learning, Human Relations & Labor Unions, Human Needs & Services. In addition, each season culminates with a

Area hospitals provide emergency shelter for newborns

BY RENEE SKOGLUND STAFF WRITER relogiund@os.homoc

Against the backdrop of the emergency room of the Henry Ford Medical Center-Fairlane in Dearborn, representatives from the prosecutors offices of Wayne, Macomb, Monroe and Washtenaw counties unveiled a new program Wednesday that will allow mothers to leave their unwanted newborns at area emergency rooms without fear of prosecution.

Called "Safe Haven for Newborns," the program aims to save newborns from abandonment and death. Several metro Detroit hespitals - including the Henry Ford Health System, Garden City and the University of Michigan Hospital - will participate in the program.

At the state level, legislation has been introduced to grant immunity from prosecution to mothers who safely abandon their newborns within 72 hours at a hospital in the presence of a health-care or emergency medical services worker. No criminal charges will be filed in cases where the newborn was not deliberately harmed after birth.

However, county prosecutors and participating hospitals are not waiting for the ink to dry on final legislation.

"We've got a problem. The prosecuting attorney's discretion is adequate to start a program for women who are so desperate," said George E. Ward, chief assistant prosecuting attorney for Wayne County. "These women are contemplating the most irresponsible thing possible, to leave your infant to die, and we have an alternative."

Dr. Leland Ropp, an emergency room pediatrician at Henry Ford Medical Center-Fairlane, welcomed the program. "Seldom do you have a program that seems so right from the beginning. In an ideal world our babies would be loved and cared for. Unfortunately, it is not an ideal world '

In the past five months, at least four infants have been abandoned in the metro Detroit she wants to share. The mother area. Just last week, a baby boy was found in a garbage bag outside a Detroit church. The problem may be on the rise.

"A forthcoming report by the U.S. Health and Human Services Department shows that 105 babies of 4 million born in 1998 were found abandoned in the United States, and 33 of those children were dead when discovered or died shortly afterward," said Rep. Patricia Lockwood (D-Fenton), one of the chief sponsors of the legislation, in a recent press release. Rep. Gilda Jacobs (D-Huntington Woods) is another sponsor.

"The report also says authorities are concerned the problem will only get worse. The 1998 figures already show an increase over the 1991 numbers. In 1991, 65 infants were found abandoned, and of those eight were dead or died," Lockwood contin-

The medical staff's approach to the mother is not intrusive. When she hands her newborn to someone in the emergency room, she is asked if there is any medical information about the baby is thanked for leaving the baby in a safe place, and no further information is requested.

After a medical exam, the newborn is admitted to the hospital nursery as John or Jane Doe. An in-house supervisor then notifies a hospital social worker and the Family Independence Agency. which takes official custody and arranges for foster care after the newborn is medically cleared by the hospital.

The 30-day window in which a mother can change her mind is not automatic, said Ward. "It would be case by case." Also, the newborn is treated as a "true fondling" after it is taken into custody by the FIA, and a petition to terminate the rights of the parents is then publicly pub-

But that does not automatically end the story. "Anyone can come in and oppose the petition," said Ward. The baby could end up with blood relatives.

Ward does not believe the program will promote irresponsibility, nor will it create more cases of abandoned babies. "It will help cases that already have been created." He hopes the program will eliminate a mother's fear of prosecution.

"If that's all it takes, we'll say you don't have to be afraid of decision. "I wish him well."

County Commission Vice Chair Kay Beard, D-Westland, and Commissioner Kathleen Husk, R-Redford Township, both said the next airport director should have the proper training for the job.

"We need to have someone who is experienced and can hit the ground running," said Husk.

"Our goal is to make Metro a world-class airport. It should not be training ground at this point," she said.

Beard, noting that Katz "worked very hard to spruce up the airport and make it more user-friendly for the traveling public," hopes his successor will have "the necessary academic and technical training, as well as the actual experience in running an airport.

"It wasn't his fault" he didn't have the credentials for the job, said Beard. "He tried very hard. He made a difference out there, but that was not his field."

Commissioner John J. Sullivan, D-Romulus, said Katz has "been under the gun" and "seems to get attacked (and) blamed for things not his fault.

"The airport kind of runs on its own on a lot of things," he said, and "a lot of it doesn't get down to some levels."

"I could see American Airlines add flights and Southwest Airlines going from 40 flights a day to 70," he said.

The big corporations based in, or having facilities in, metropolitan Detroit make it "very, very enticing and I would predict you will see other carriers grow, and grow incrementally" - potentially by as much as 100 total new flights per day, he said.

As for the problems with the parking lot contracts not having been bid out in over 40 years, Katz said he is "still answering questions about something" done before he became director.

"There's no example of that happening in my watch," he said. "I know what I did the last two years. The record is there."

Katz said his decision to take over the golf operations came while he was writing up a job description and realized "that is the job I wanted."

Now that the Auburn Hills facility is up and running 12 months a year, "It's like a little baby that needs constant attention.

As for the "very emotional" period since his announcement, Katz said he's been "overwhelmed with the kindness" others have shown.

Livonia, who has known Katz since his college days, said that "None of these wrongdoings that everyone is upset about happened under David's watch. And the whole purpose of his being put in to clean up the airport was that McNamara wanted someone he trusted 110 percent."

Sullivan said Steil's report was

'another slap in his (Katz's) face"

A source who spoke on condition of anonymity said it was understandable why McNamara, a top Democratic Party leader in Michigan, would blame Katz's resignation on Republican legislators.

S'craft receives $500,000 gift

BY RICHARD PEARL STAFF WRITER

The Thompson-McCully Foundation has given Schoolcraft College a $500,000 contribution to be used immediately for student scholarships leading to tuition and books.

The half-million-dollar gift from the foundation that was created by Robert and Ellen Thompson of Plymouth was announced at Thursday night's college board of trustees meeting by Norene Thomas, Schoolcraft director of marketing and development

Thomas said the gift is "somewhat unique" in that the foundation specified the gift not be placed in a fund.

"They want to make a contribution to the under-served populations," Thomas said.

Robert Thompson, a longtime friend and supporter of Schoolcraft who will be this year's commencement speaker, is the former owner of Thompson-McCully, which was Michigan's largest asphalt-paving company when he sold it for $461 million in 1999 and then shared $128 million with his employees.

generosity Thompson's grabbed headlines around the world and, according to the ABC program "20-20", made millionaires of 77 employees who had no retirement plans.

Thompson, who founded the company with $3,500 saved by Ellen, his wife of 45 years, paid the taxes on each of the milliondollar gifts by giving each person $1,528,000.

Another 550 individuals were given $2,000 in increments based on years of service. The Thompsons have lived in Plymouth 37 years.

Chiefs have the weapons for a state title run

Two years ago, it was a disapppointment when Plymouth Canton's girls accer team didn't get out of the state district tournament.

But when it happened again last year, once again with a loss to arch-rival Plymouth Salem, it bordered on unbearable.

The 1999 defeat against a team the Chiefs had handled with ease a week earlier - they beat Salem 3-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association Championship match - was especially

Those previous results have led to a simmering determination, with the Chiefs already focused intently on what happens after the regular season

But first things first, and there's plenty of business for Canton to take care of prior to the state playoffs. The talent to handle it is there, to be sure one reason the Chiefs were sixth in the pre-season state rankings.

Of course, motivation can be found there as well. Canton may be sixth, but Salem is fourth and Livonia Stevenson is second.

We didn't end up that well last year," Canton coach Don Smith explained, reflecting on last season's 14-3-3 record. "So I can understand that, why they're ahead of us. And I'm glad it's like that." Certainly, no one will be misled as far as the Chiefs are concerned. As long as Anne Morrell is one of them, they'll be dangerous.

Morrell, now a junior, is still one of the state's premier players. She's already committed to the University of North Carolina, and she's part of the under-18 national team. Last season Morrell scored 32 goals for Canton. But this isn't a one-person team by any interpre-tation. Abi Morrell, Anne's older sister (Abi's a

Counted on to score: Amanda Lentz emerged as a goal-producing threat for Plymouth Canton last season. An all-division selection as a sophomore, Lentz and Anne Morrell give the Chiefs one of the most feared scoring tandems in the state senior), is also extremely adept. A stopper last season, Abi will move to defensive midfielder or perhaps attacking midfielder this season, Smith said. "She hits the ball pretty well," the Chiefs' coach said. "She's a tough ballplayer."

Abi has signed with Western Michigan University for a season.

She's one of four seniors on the current team, and she shares the team captainship with sweeper Jessica Palis, another returnes who figures to solidify

Helping her achieve that will be senior keeper Amy Dorogi, another returning starter. The fourth senior is also a keeper, back-up Katie Schwartz.

One player in particular who should take the heat off Anne Morrell offensively is Amanda Lentz, a junior who scored 16 goals last season and was the Chieff second-leading scorer. Although Canton lost just three seniors who con-

Rocks' foundation solid

Tough to best: That's what Salem figures to be, if Kellee Mullin (left) and her teammates can supply the goal-scoring.

BY C.J. RISAK

It's the beginning of a new era for Plymouth Salem's girls soccer team, and hopes are running high.

The Rocks have a new coach: Joe Nora has been hired as Doug Landefeld's replacement. Landefeld resigned after last season: when his family was relocated to Kansas City (his wife is an Air Force doctor).

In four years, Landefeld had guided the Rocks to a 51-18-7 record, winning the last two state district championships. However, Salem had never survived the state regionals, losing to soon-to-be state champion Livonia Stevenson two years ago and to Ann Arbor Pioneer last season.

Last year, the Rocks upset Canton in the districts 1-0 after losing to the Chiefs 3-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association championship They finished 12-6-2 record and a highlypromising future: only three members of that team were seniors.

Then came the news that their coach was leaving, which quite naturally was accompanied by a bit of uncertainty.

That feeling now seems part of the past. Nora, a 1990 alumnus of Redford Catholic Central who also graduated from St. Bonaventure University in Alleghany, N.Y., was hired in December to succeed Landefeld.

Nora brings an extensive background in soccer — he coached Walled Lake Western's varsity boys team until getting hired at Salem, and he works at Total Soccer as well as coaching clubs from Novi and Northville — to a situa-tion not completely familiar to For one, this is the first time he's been the head coach of a girls high school varsity team. Also, the talent level is more than he's had to work with in similar circumstances. "It's a little different." he said half-in-jest. "It's a nice situation to be in. They're a lot more physical than I thought they would be. These girls are very competitive." And, as Nora was quick to point out, talented. Gone are forward Kristina Seniuch, midfielder Andrea Weinman and defender Danelle Filips.

Returning are nine seniors "which is nice," Nora said. For that reason, state coaches have placed Salem fourth in the Division I pre-season rankings.

Ocelots add 6, key recruits

BY BRAD EMONS SPORTS WRITER

Tom Teeters hopes to parlay a strong recruiting class into more volleyball victories this fall at Schoolcraft Community College.

The Ocelot coach, who has guided Schoolcraft to a National Junior College Athletic Associaton championship (1988), has inked six strong recruits including Observerland standouts Andrea Kmet (Livonia Franklin), Meagan Sheehan (Livonia Churchill), Jessica Tilson (Livonia Ladywood) and Amy Kiefer (Walled Lake Central).

Also in the fold is Francesca Hamilton (South Lyon) and Jana Nitschke (Germany), along with walkon Amy Cadovich (Churchill).

Schoolcraft is coming off a 20-22 season. The Lady Ocelots tied for second in the Eastern Conference of the Michigan Community College Athletic Association and finished first in NJCAA Division I-Region 12.

Kmet, a 5-foot-10 outside hitter and middle blocker, was a first-team All-

Observer pick as a junior. She helped the Patriots to two Class A regional finals, a pair of Western Division titles in the Western Lakes Activities Association and 82 wins in two years.

She also plays softball for Franklin and carries a 3.8 grade-point average. "We're primarily looking at Andrea as an all-around player and a good leader," Teeters said. "We see a lot of possibilities for her because she's a very smart player."

Kiefer, a 5-10 outside hitter, can play the right or left side. She helped Central (44-8-2) to the state semifinals in Class A and a WLAA title. She also runs track and carries a 3.0 GPA.

"I noticed her speed, quickness and jumping ability," Teeters said. "She'll be a great addition to our defense and she gives us outside hitting."

Hamilton, a 5-10 middle hitter, caught Teeters' eye at the Class A district. Teeters, who coaches Plymouth Salem, believes Hamilton can add athleticism to the squad. She is a state qualifier in track and plays basketball.

Loss finishes regular season

It was a loss, but it didn't mean a whole lot. The London

Knights popped in four first-period goals Friday night and rode the onslaught to a 5-1 victory over the Plymouth Whalers in an Ontario Hockey League game. The Whalers had already assured themselves of having the best record and home-ice advantage throughout the OHL playoffs. Coach Peter DeBoer thus decided to rest his mainstay players for Saturday night's playoff opener. (Results of Plymouth's first three post-season games will appear in Thursday's Observer.)

Abi Morrell moves forward. Two other juniors, Allison Mills and Melanie Dunn, return as starting outside midfielders, and Beth Sandusky, also a junior, will play at stopper and defensive midfield. Sandusky was a forward last season.

Stephanie Johnson is another sophomore (like Lindman) who saw plenty of action as a freshman at attacking midfield and forward. She'll play the same positions this year.

Others who figure to contribute are juniors Sarah Heimerl at midfield, Betsy Huebler and Betsy Radtke on defense, Nicole Schilk in goal and at midfield, and Tara Rhoades at keeper; sophomores Lindsay Lasher (defense), Ashley Rosaen (midfield/forward), Sarah Plymale (midfield) and Shaina Smith (defense); and freshmen Ahrens (outside midfield/forward), Kara Marsh (outside midfield/forward) and Briana Wolcott (keeper/defense).

It all spells success for Canton and trouble for the opposition at least potentially. The Chiefs have loads of experience (many of the current juniors logged plenty of varsity minutes last season) and a lot of talent. And they definitely have goal-scoring capabilities.

"We should be," was Smith's answer when asked if his team would be good. "We've got some good runners.

That's a necessity in Smith's system. But the Chiefs will need more scorers to make a run at the state title, and Smith knows it - especially if Anne Morrell misses significant portions of the season due to her commitments with the national team.

"With Anne and Amanda on top, they're going to be hard to stop," he said. "They're going to score goals.

"But others have to con-tribute," he added, explaining that with everyone concentrating on Lentz and Anne Morrell openings are there for others.

Of course it was like that in '99, but the other Chiefs didn't take full advantage. "We were young last year," explained

Salem and Stevenson will be difficult opponents, to be sure. But Smith is looking forward to

"It's going to be a good season," he said. "We haven't got out of the districts the last two years that's the main thing. Everything else is incidental.

"The girls are determined. I think we'll be in good shape." They certainly should be.

In goal, junior Jill Dombrowski

"This is the strongest defense we can put out there," said Nora. Indeed, it's one of the strongest in the state, with Shull - an allconference defensive ace in the WLAA last season — and Dom-browski, who was all-division in the WLAA, back The midfield consists of seniors Jeannine Edwards and Suzy Towne at the center mid spots, and juniors Rachel Berezak and Danielle Portelli and sophomore Natalie Thomas at the outside positions. Edwards and Towne were all-WLAA a year ago as well.

"She's just a strong player all over the field," said Nora of Towne. "She's a great complement to Jeannine in the middle." The forward line has Kellee Mullin, a junior, and senior Jami Coyle. Coyle; who's signed with Western Michigan, was all-division last season. With such a lineup of returnees, it's not surprising to hear Nora note that his team's biggest problem is getting to know each other.

"Our only weakness going into the season is that we're unfamiliar with each other," he said. "But that seems to be changing rapidly."

Player deployment will be changed. "We'll run a 4-4-2 that shifts into a 3-5-2 with our two outside midfielders pushing forward," explained Nora. "Then it will shift to a 3-3-4."

Pushing players forward into the attack is the key - and, for Salem, was a problem last season. Scoring goals did not come easily to the Rocks.

Speed is of the utmost importance, a quality the Rocks possess. That's why Nora will rotate three midfielders at the center spots and six at the outside posi-

"I figure it will take a couple of games to get things sorted out," he said. "Definitely our strength is our depth. In fact, I may have trouble finding time for every-

"As far as scoring goals, we'll just have to wait and see.'

Nora's position in his first year as coach could not be better, what with the level of ability and senior leadership. "We have set a few team goals," he said. "To be positive, be focused and be intent for each game. If we do that, the wins will come.

"My job is preparing those girls for going on and playing elsewhere, and make sure they develop as people."

It's certainly a team that could challenge for the title as state's best. Then again, so are WLAA rivals Canton (sixth in the preseason poll) and Livonia Stevenson (second in the pre-season).

It's a fun position to be in, if you like going against the best. With perhaps two matches against Canton and Stevenson, and singles against Troy Athens and Troy, the road won't be an easy one for the Rocks.

BEAUDRY

A bunch of us were sitting around the office the other day, shooting breeze, chewing the fat and one staffer wondered out loud why are lefthanded pitch-always termed 'crafty?" Now, for the life of me I couldn't answer her.

Heck, I can think of one lefthander who came out of this area a few years ago who wouldn't have been termed crafty if he co-hosted a show with Carol Duvall on the Home and Garden Network.

I digress. On the heels of that, someone else - OK, it was our real estate reporter Doug Funke chimed in that "we need to get some new sports cliches. The ones we use now are getting boring."

You could have knocked me over with a feather. No, not because Funke came up with an idea, but because it was a good idea.

I mean, here's a guy who is competitive, plays smart, tries to put his pants on one leg at a time like everyone else, works hard, plays hard, and this time, came through in the clutch.

We need some new sports cliches. Now.

How many times can you watch Shaquille O'Neal shoot free throws - oops, go to the charity stripe - thinking that if he laid any more bricks, he'd need a union card? If I hear of a hockey player "lighting the lamp" one more time, I'm going to start looking for Diogenes.

There is one Mega Red basketball coach whose favorite cliche is "we just didn't come to play." Actually, his team usually played over their heads and rose above the level of the coaching, but that's neither here, nor there.

There was one football coach I used to cover who was a wonderful person. Had a great sense of humor. Was witty, engaging and personable — right up until it came time to talk about his team. He then displayed all the flair and flavor of dry, white toast.

My Little League coach once said, after yet another futile attempt to connect with a belt-high lollipop, that I couldn't hit a bull in the butt with a bass fiddle. Considering I was 10, I couldn't have carried a bass fiddle let alone hit with one, but that's not the point.

And don't EVEN get me started about George Blaha.

Maybe we can exchange some with politicians. John Nance Garner - Franklin D. Roosevelt's first vice president - compared his position to a bucket of warm spit. Lyndon Baines Johnson once lamented that Congress couldn't pour a certain bodily fluid out of a boot if the instructions were printed on the heel

Now, I am not advocating the use of bodily fluids in the search for new cliches. The old ones with bodily fluids will do just fine.

But right here and right now, old cliches have to stop. Coaches, it's time to end the madness. It's time to stop giving the other team credit. Players, it's time to quit saying that it's your house and you didn't want to lose. Seniors, it's time to find something else to motivate you other than it's your senior year and you wanted to show some senior leader-

So here's the deal, people. Come up with some new sports cliches. If they're clever enough, we'll run them here in a couple of weeks because, hey, we've got to give you credit. For the best ones, we'll come up with a trinket, bauble or token of our appreciation. In other words, here's a chance to win FREE STUFF! E-mail 'em to me at pbeaudry@oe.homecomm.net or fax 'em to me at 734-591-279 and I'll take it from

But do it quickly. The deadline for this should be obvious - the cliche contest is over when, you guessed it, the fat

ABC

The convention took place last week with more than 1,200 delegates from throughout the USA and Canada taking part.

The ABC is recognized worldwide as the premier sports membership organization. It services almost two million members with a wide variety of benefits.

They include an awards program, standardized rules, bonding protection of league funds, system of bowling, organization and coordination of local associations, new tournaments, education and league materials.

ABC is also on the internet with bowl.com as the window to millions of internet users

Executive Director Roger Dalkin announced a strategic plan to develop and deliver these services to provide more than ever for the members and to guide the ABC.

Included are product changes and services, reworking the volunteer network, a new recognition/awards program and advancing new technologies such as the WinLabs system.

If there are leagues operating without the benefits that the ABC provides, they are missing the boat.

The advantages of membership are even more important for individual bowlers than ever

I came away from Albuquerque with this message to all bowlers:

"How fortunate we all are to have this great organization, the American Bowling Congress, in place and working for us."

ABC is ours, and I am proud to be a member.

•Keynote speaker at the ABC convention was Peter Vidmar, who led the U.S.A. gymnastics team to victory in the 1984 Olympics.

He is a great motivational speaker and demonstrated some of his moves on the pommel horse as he talked about risk. originality and virtuosity, three elements that it takes to rise above the ordinary competitors.

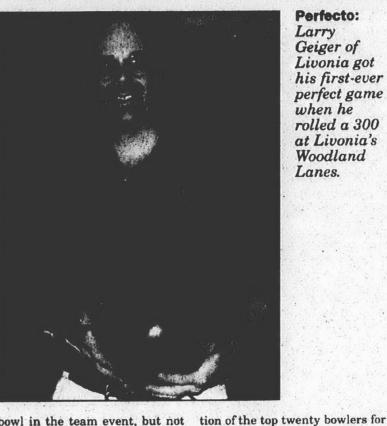

The same principles, he said, can be applied to our daily lives. During Saturday's activities we experienced a massive power failure. Started by a careless smoker, electricity was completely out from El Paso to Las Vegas. The convention had just ended, but there were hundreds of bowlers competing at that time in the convention center.

The power was out for four hours, during which time the tournament was halted. The lights came back on about 8:30 p.m., the competitors then had to resume bowling - with some even bowling into the wee hours of the morning in order to keep the rest of the squads on sched-

Heavy park use under review

Twenty years ago hunters rarely saw other park users in the state parks during the fall hunting seasons.

Since then, our population has grown and wild areas have diminished. Gaining access to hunt private land is often an insurmountable task...hence, state land - parks, recreation areas and game areas - especially here in southern Michigan, receive a tremendous amount of hunter pressure during the fall sea-

In state parks particularly, hikers, bikers, runners, even in-line skaters in some instances are also taking advantage of the parks trail systems, treading and trudging along the same trails hunters use to access their favorite spots.

Certainly, all user groups, including hunters, have the right to enjoy our natural resources. Unfortunately, all this added pressure has caused a conflict or two.

In fact, I was admonished one bright, sunny morning last fall by a woman who was taking her young son on a hike. I was headed back to my car following an enjoyable morning bow hunt when we encountered each other along the trail.

Before I even had a chance to wish her a cheery "Good Morning," which I had every intention of doing, I was werbally assaulted for being a hunter. "Go hunt somewhere else," I was told. "People are using this trail," she said, insinuating I was something less than human.

Controling my urge to get into a verbal sparring match with this ill-advised woman, I said nothing at all as I walked passed her and her unfortunate son. Maybe I should have politely explained the parks were there for

Maybe I should have engaged in a conversation about the reality of nature and food chains and things like that.

Still, the incident left a bitter taste in my mouth. There are too many people out there who aren't tolerant of other park users. There are many who would like to close the parks to hunting, biking, off-trail exploring and other forms of recreation that don't fit in with their ideas. On the other hand, there are hunters who feel the parks should be closed to others during hunting seasons.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources Parks and Recreation Bureau is attempting to address such issues by developing a trails program management plan for state parks in southern Michigan.

The DNR is inviting the public to comment on the plan, which focuses on non-motorized uses of trails in state parks. The plan is the result of a comprehensive study of trail usage throughout the year and combines input from numerous trail user groups and conservation organizations. The DNR now wants to hear from individual trail users.

"The rapidly growing use of trails, especially in heavily populated areas of the state, has created conflicts that raise issues of safety, equal opportunity for recreationists, protection of resources and maintenance," said Rodney Stokes, DNR Parks and Recreation Bureau Chief.

"The DNR's goal is to promote safe use, minimize conflicts and protect the natural resources from erosion and Public Policy Associates, an independent Lansingbased research firm, helped the DNR with the study, and is coordinating the public comment period, which continues through May 1. The DNR intends to release its final trails program management plan for state parks in southern Michigan by July 1.

Copies of the 50-page draft Southern Michigan Trails Program Management Plan may be requested by writing to the DNR Parks and Recreation Bureau, Box 30257, Lansing, MI 48909, or by visiting the DNR Web site at www.dnr.state.mi.us.

Leftover turkey permits

A record 131,000 hunters applied for a spring turkey permit this year and all were not successful in receiving their choice of a permit.

If you were one the the unsuccessful applicants, there are 606 leftover permits that go on sale at 10 a.m. Wednesday at all authorized license dealers across the

The number of leftover licenses and their corresponding hunt numbers are: hunt 168 - 50 leftover licenses available; hunt 172 - 44; hunt 176 - 107; hunt 180 - 11; hunt 189 - 60; hunt 193 - 18; hunt 197 - 6; hunt 206 -173; and hunt 228 - 137.

Successful and unsuccessful applicants were notified on March 17. If you applied and were not notified call (517) 373-3904.

Drawing results also are available on the DNR web site at www.dnr.state.mi.us.

Unsuccessful applicants are also eligible to purchase a permit for the special late hunt (No. 234), May 16-31. The entire area open to turkey hunting is open during the late hunt, except public lands in Zone 3.

Don't sell this opportunity short. I've hunted the late hunt twice and killed a gobbler both times. True, the weather is warmer, bugs are out and mushroom pickers are plentiful, but the hens are nesting, leaving the gobblers lonely and callable.

(Bill Parker writes a weekly outdoor column for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. Hunters and anglers are urged to report their success. Questions and comments are also encouraged. Send information to: Outdoors, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 E, Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009.)

20 YEARS OF DANCE

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN STAFF WRITER Ichomin@oe.ho

When the lights go down on the Music Hall stage in a little less than two weeks, Barbara Selinger and Paula Kramer will be celebrating in the wings. The co-founders of the Detroit Dance Collective have seen their share of ups and downs over the last 20 years but now they've reached the pinnacle of their careers. Their ensemble of nine gives a Gala Concert Saturday, April 8.

Sharing a dream

Ever since their days as students in the dance department at Wayne State University, Kramer and Selinger, a Farmington Hills resident, shared a dream to form a modern dance company to have a platform for their own choreography. Together with Anita Surma Saganski and Sue Ellen Darr-Moustapha, they established the Detroit Dance Collective. An ambitious company from the beginning, it gave 15 performances in schools and other venues the first year.

"I think the reason why we're so successful is because we're a full teaching company and because we're very persistent," said Kramer, a Huntington Woods resident. "We sense where the pendulums are swinging. We're like sentinels. We're always watching." The company spent the first few years based at the Midwest Dance Center in Oak Park until they were offered a residency at Oakland Community College in Royal Oak where they worked for the next 14 years. After outgrowing the space three years ago, they moved to the Detroit's downtown theater district where they're housed inside Central United Methodist Church on Grand Circus Park.

Vision

"We have a vision that has to do with creativity and communication," said Selinger. "A lot of the works are influenced by visual art. I feel choreographers are like visual artists. We just use a different canvas."

The Gala Concert to celebrate their 20th anniversary, like their vision for dance, includes everything from full-out fun pieces like the 1990 "Zydeco Songs" to deeply introspective works and strong social commentary. Nearing the end of the program, the Detroit Dance Collective will premiere Selinger's newest piece, "Passing Through." Set to the music of J.S. Bach, it features dancers creating . pathways through space and intersecting one another in a continuing journey of intricate dance patterns.

"We wanted to represent ourselves with some of the best pieces we've choreographed," said

A painting by Mel Rosas inspired the first selection on the program back in 1994. Choreographed by Kramer to the music of Peter Gabriel and Steve Reich, "La Puerta" features a set piece designed by the Detroit artist. Kramer thinks Rosas' painting mirrors the Detroit Dance Collective.

"It's drawn directly from Mel Rosas' painting, 'La Puerta,' which means the door," said Kramer. "He frequently features arches in his work. Many of our pieces are about going through passages or doorways. We're always growing and changing, always looking for new doors to step through."

Newer pieces

"Virtual Voices" is one of the newer pieces choreographed by Selinger, who also dances the work with company members Anh Nguyen of Windsor and Karen Leighton, Farmington Hills. The multi-layered composition includes the photography of Anne McCarthy in a video edited by Selinger. The work was made possible by a Creative Artist Grant awarded by Art-Serve through the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs.

"I'd visualized the dance for several years and wanted to coordinate movement on screen and on stage," said Selinger. "It combines virtual movement with the actual movement on stage."

Kramer was inspired to create "Travelers on the Same Road" (1982) after viewing Picasso's "Guernica" and Ernst Barlach's bronze sculpture "The Avenger" at the Detroit Institute of Arts. The title for "Travelers" is from a Hebrew prayer of mourning. The dance serves as a warning - heed the past or "ethnic cleansing" will continue in the future.

"It's a strong anti-war piece," said Kramer, who will receive a Jewish Women in the Arts award from the Jewish Community Center on Sunday, March 26. "It's about more than a Holocaust piece. It's a human rights piece because the killing continues as we've seen Nardin Park has a 14-year history of promoting music with a series of concerts which most recently featured New York baritone Erik Chalfant. So when Miller looked around the church at the art works received as memorial gifts through the years, it sparked the idea to have an art exhibit surrounded by plenty of music.

"Winter of the Wolf Moon," by Steve Hamilton (St. Martin's,

Michigan native Steve Hamilton is a writer who knows how to weave a tale, how to animate it with some convincing players and a touch of comic relief, and how to paint word pictures of a backdrop so chilling we may want to edge just a bit closer to the fireside as we read. Last year, he won the coveted Edgar Award for Best First Crime Novel with "A Cold Day in Paradise." "Winter of the Wolf Moon" is a sequel to that work.

Alex McKnight is an ex-cop who blames himself for his partner's death, which occurred when the two were crimefighters on some of the meanest streets of Detroit 14 years ago. Alex still isn't over it, and maybe he never will be. Now living in a cabin near the Canadian border on some forested land willed to him by his father, McKnight has become something just this side of a recluse.

One night, his just-about-only friend, Vinnie LeBlanc, convinces the 48-year-old Alex to participate in a "slow puck" hockey contest at the local rink for creaky old guys over 30. ("Don't you ever get the urge to do anything, Alex?" Vinnie asks.)

But as soon as Alex is suited up as goalie, he regrets his decision to play. Seems the other team is headed up by a guy named Bruckman, a thuggish type who could make Marty McSorley seem likable on the ice. When Alex robs Bruckman of a couple of goals, the wheels of this story are set in motion. Bruckman, shall we say, does not like to be thwarted, although he will eventually come up as a loser in this story and in one of the most horrendous ways possible (after reading "Winter of the Wolf Moon," you may never look at an ice shanty in quite the same way

After the game, Bruckman's battered Native American girlfriend searches out Alex, asking for protection from the brute and hinting that others may be out to get her, too. The ex-cop puts her up in an adjoining cabin he often rents out to snowmobilers, but the next morning she's gone, and the cabin is ransacked. Alex, already racked with guilt in the matter of his partner's death, blames himself for her disappearance, and sets out - almost frantically - to find her.

Along the way, he acquires a new "partner" of sorts, encounters a couple of not-so-crafty government agents, and finally comes up against some Russians who lend a whole new meaning to the phrase "Cold War." All the while, he's fighting a fierce U.P. winter, of course, and he also manages some dabbling in Native American matters at the local rez near Whitefish Bay. (The Wolf Moon of the title has nothing to do with Indian lore, by the way, but has its origins in Celtic mythology.)

Hamilton's dialogue doesn't always ring true, and his ending may leave many readers slightly confused about how McKnight comes to the handy conclusions he reaches to resolve the story. But, ultimately, these seem rather small matters - and easy to overlook - in a tale that otherwise contains such special appeal, especially for Michigan

Though flawed as a human being, McKnight as a fictional character will impress most readers not just as substantive and credible, but as highly sympathetic.

Here's a guy who has ended up on the fringes of society, in a sense, due to the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune. Yet, when the chips are down, he's out there, still driven to try to do the right thing, and somehow we believe this is exactly what he would do.

Picture a rough-edged hero out of Ed McBain's 87th precinct, crossed with a modicum of Dudley Dooright/John Wayne heroics, throw in just a touch of Woody Allen angst, and you begin to get some of the shadings of the many-faceted Alex McK-

Other well-drawn characters include McKnight's self-appointed, almost cartoonish "partner," Leon Prudell, and Vinnie LeBlanc, blackjack dealer and Ojibwa guide, "with a little bit of French Canadian in him, a little bit of Italian, and a little bit of God knows what else

Love it, or leave it, logo mania has returned

Logos - it's a trend that sprouted in the 70s and 80s and was nurtured by the upper-crust, statusstarved consumer. Considering that designers are borrowing from the noholds-barred, glitzy era, it's not surprising logos are back in style.

So love it or leave it, or just your speed, you're likely to see loads of logos from all the usual suspects - Prada, Christian Dior, Hermes and Louis Vuitton and others.

Once upon a time, exclusive fashion houses like Gucci, Louis Vuitton and Chanel built their reputations on their

For Gucci, an interlocking series of the letter "G." Louis Vuitton's trademark, a brown "LV" is unmistakable. And, could anything be more classy than Chanel's double-linked letter

In recent years, these logos, for one reason or another, were relegated to the backs of consumer's closets.

But, like all that is new again, designers are stepping back in time and taking inspiration from the logos of days-gone-by.

This time around, the rule isn't necessarily all things obvious and loud; logos, too, can be subtle.

Designer Marc Jacobs, who now has influence over the Louis Vuitton monogram logo, has embossed the classic "LV" on pastel-colored, patent leather. It's a totally unexpected move, but one that renders his Kelly bag one of the sexiest and most lady-like looks

For those who want just a touch of the look, a savvy buy might be Louis Vuitton's Pochette Accessory bag, which resembles a cosmetic bag with a strap and zipper.

At $140, it's unpretentious, just the right size to hold the essentials - a cell phone, keys and lipstick - and bears the classic brown and camel

Recently featured as a hot item for spring on both The Today Show and Morning America, the Pochette bag is ideal for modern living, whether for a night out on the town or as a compliment to daytime business

Not surprisingly, Chanel is also going crazy for logos this season.

But forget about the house's simple, gold and padded leather "C" emblem. At the Chanel counter at Neiman Marcus, the vinyl totes were presented in unexpected shades of purple and orange with emblems that literally scream for attention. For $210, "CHANEL" is boldly spelled out across the front of the totes.

Another plentiful source for logos is Gucci. Stroll into their Somerset Collection store in Troy. You can't miss Here, under the direction of designer Tom Ford, the famous "G" is miraculously, yet tastefully, placed everywhere - on ties, shoes, hats, visors. It's even used as an all-over print on trench coats.

Goodbye casual Friday

Dressing up is making a comeback

BY NICOLE STAFFORD SPECIAL EDITOR

nstafford@oe.homecomm.net

Amanda Turner, fashion director at the Somerset Collection opened her spring fashion show at the upscale Troy mall with a surprising prediction. It's all about dressing up," said Turner, who was attired in a soft coral, luncheon suit for the occasion.

And, while many of the outfits featured in the show, held last week for a private audience, were quintessentially casual - one segment was devoted to athletically-inclined attire - it was obvious a more glamorous, pulledtogether elegance is making a comeback.

The show's evening wear segment, designs influenced by Latin culture, seemed to drive home that point; even playful, liberating attire translates into elegance and grace. "I think people are just tired of being casual. I think women want to be more feminine, more elegant. Women want to dress again," explained Turner following the show.

Perhaps we went too far with casual Fridays?

Maybe we've decided to rebel against our quest for comfort and utility? Regardless of the reasons, women have a choice today.

And, having options drives a desire to dress-up, said Turner, who featured not only dressy evening attire but also a series of very feminine, pastel luncheon suits and a run of glamorous beach wear in the Somerset Collection show.

"It's going back to that Hollywood glamour," she said of her pool-side and dramatic sunglasses. Even your weekend wear is getting more polished," said Turner. "You know denim is a big trend, but it, too, has gone dressy with so much bead-

Outside of the decorative beading, sequins, flower appliqué and embroidery we've grown accustomed to seeing on denim and cashmere twin sets, fashion designers have resurrected many other feminine elements for spring and summer use.

Ruffles and pleated skirts, polka dots and gingham check, lace and hosiery, hats and hand-held handbags are just a few that showed up on Turner's runway. Once more, dainty handbags and lady-like slides have been decorated with delicate beading and flower appliqué, rendering even accessories ultra-feminine. Chiffon is also readily available this spring. And, while the sound of the word conjures up images of taffy-colored bridesmaid's dresses and other fussy, formal attire, many better-casual designers with contemporary aesthetics, namely Donna Karan, have incorporated chiffon into their collec-Indeed, the bigger picture suggests we're yearning for a neater, more delicate, if not dressed-up, look. How to achieve it quickly and inexpensively? Turn-r suggested buying these five pieces:

a luncheon suit (dress or skirt with a jacket) on its way to extinction? The notion of comfort and utility a thing of the past? "Elegance and sophistication in our wardrobe is something that we always yearn for," said Cheryl

Hall Lindsay, fashion and special events director at Saks Fifth Avenue. "But will casual wear go away? "No. It will have it's place. The totally casual look, that very relaxed, almost utilitarian way of dressing, has run its course, not that we haven't learned from it. It's just that we know now comfort can be included in elegance."

The show features a series of elaborate gardens by Gerald Salerno, landscape designer and president of the Cranbrook Gardens Auxiliary, and three children's playhouses designed by architect Dominick Tringali.

The show's theme, "Season of Sharing," was chosen as a way to draw attention to related fundraising activities and events:

A black tie gala for the Beaumont Pediatric Cancer Survivor Scholarship Fund and University Cancer Foundation, 7 p.m., Friday, March 31; $125 ticket includes strolling supper auction, raffle and the sounds of the Simon Vitale Band.

A garden party brunch to benefit the Cranbrook Gardens Auxiliary, 11 a.m.-1 p.m. Sunday, April 2, $40 ticket includes buffet brunch by Unique Restaurant Corp.

And, for each sketch submitted, the Somerset Collection will donate $1 to Share Our Strength, After the contest period, three drawings will be selected, and winners will receive a play mini-car from FAO Schwarz. To entice young, budding architects, the cars will be on display outside each of the three children's playhouses.

In keeping with the "Season of Sharing" theme, two of the children's playhouses will be auctioned at the March 31 black tie gala, and the third will be donated to Variety, The Children's Charity.

For car lovers who think on a larger scale, a 2000 Jaguar sedan, courtesy of Troy Ford, will be raffled to benefit the Henry Ford Estate at Fairlane. Only 1000 tickets, at $100 a piece, will be sold.

Traverse City: Spectacular sunsets, shorelines, shopping

By MARY QUINLEY SPECIAL WRITER

s Mother Nature shifts gears, local travelers begin to make plans to savor the warm seasons. For Kris Kowynia and Tom Diaz of Westland, the reservations are already made.

"This summer will be our third year going to Traverse City," said Kowynia, who loves to watch the spectacular beachfront sunsets. "We usually stay in a place on the Grand Traverse Bay.

Tucked into Michigan's northwest Lower Peninsula, Traverse City and her surrounding sister communities, present a lively mix of city life, soothing shorelines and wide stretches of grapevines sprinkled among gentle hills

"We went to the Sleeping Bear Dunes," said Kowynia. "It's amazing! We took the scenic drive and stopped and looked out over the cliffs.'

Blessing of the blossoms

On May 20 and 21, Traverse City, the largest producer of cherries in the world, will celebrate the Blessing of the Blossoms. "It's a family affair," said Jeff Haas, vice president of public relations, Traverse City Convention & Visitors Bureau.

The Old Mission Peninsula, said Haas, is "literally covered with mile-after-mile of cherry blossoms." Activities include wine and sparkling juice tasting, nature hikes and walks through the Old Mission Lighthouse.

Scenic Drive

The Pierce Stocking Scenic Drive, a 7.1-mile route, features panoramic views of the dunes. Glen Lake and Lake Michigan. Once you've completed the drive, park the car and explore the dunes on foot.

'It was exhausting," said Kowynia, describing their trek to the top of the dunes. However, she added, "we ran down the hill. I felt like a kid."

Last year the couple attended the city's National Cherry Festival. Kowynia described the fest's atmosphere as very small town, with local arts and crafts dealers and an assortment of cherry-flavored foods. "I had a piece of cherry pie," she said." "It was awesome.

The week-long celebration features activities ranging from turtle races and parades to cherrypie-eating contests and live entertainment. This summer, the festival is July 1-8.

Grand Traverse Resort

The Latarski family has a suggestion. It's the Grand Traverse Resort and Spa, six miles northeast of Traverse City in Acme.

"While my husband attended a conference, the kids and I found things to do at the resort," said Pat Latarski, a Livonia resident.

Of course, browsing at the Tower Gallery of Shops was on her list. "The shops were wonderful," said the mother of three children. "There were a variety of things. One store had made-in-Michigan products. Other stores carried art works and touristtype items."

A dip in the pools (there are two) and the hot tubs ranked as favorite activities. "I did the indoor hot tub," she said. "It was refreshing."

The Latarskis liked the convenience of everything being under one roof. "In my opinion, it's better to stay in the Towers rather than the condominiums," said Latarski.

Condominium accommodations are located along the fairways of the golf courses and on the shores of the bay.

During the summer months, guests 6-12 years may participate in Cub Camp. The mix of educational and athletic options goes from drama and first aid lessons to international crafts and volleyball games. Advance registration is required.

Bring your clubs. On March 31, the resort's three championship golf courses, including The Bear, a Jack Nicklaus design, and a Gary Playerdesigned course, will open.

Many of the region's courses there are more than 20 - are tournament-tested and host Michigan championships. When

Haute cuisine considered finest in the world

hink of fine food, and undoubtedly the French come to mind. Haute cuisine enjoys the reputation of being considered the finest cuisine in Literally meaning "high cooking," haute cuisine, with the rich sauces, fine ingredients and exquisite taste, typifies classic French cooking.

Through the efforts of the great French chefs, haute cuisine first came to the attention of the rest of the world at the time of the French Revolution.

Before 1789, chefs were employed by the richest families to prepare food similar to what was being served to the royal court. These chefs established a proving ground for the elaborate recipes that formed the basis of haute cuisine. The style at the time was elegant food served in many courses, often with rich sauces to accompany the many meats on the menu.

Restaurants grow

Although the food was unfamiliar to common citizens and beyond their reach, it emerged to popular consumption after the revolution. The fall of the aristocracy meant the great chefs were out of work, which resulted in the opening of numerous restaurants. Before the revolution, there were at least 100 restaurants in Paris, which increased to more than 500 after the social changes. Those who had never tasted a truffle now were able to visit the burgeoning restaurants to sample new delicacies, such as quenelles, tripe cervelle de conut, and foie gras. Restaurants became temples of haute

Today, the French influence remains prevalent in American restaurants. At an elegant restaurant, the "maitre d" leads diners to their table. Back in the kitchen, the "saucier" whisks sauces. In the "garde manger" salads are prepared, while the "chef de cuisine" oversees the cooking operation.

Guests are served "hors d'oeuvres" and presented with the soup "du jour." However, you don't have to dine in the finest restaurant to enjoy one of the easiest and most used French culinary techniques. The literal translation for "sauté" in French is "to jump" (from the verb, sauter). When sautéing items, chefs frequently make the contents in the pan "jump" by shaking the pan. Sautéing is best defined as "cooking in a small amount of hot fat in a shallow sided pan usually over high heat."

Preparation is key

As with stir-fry, most of the work in sauteing is involved in the preparation stage. Once the ingredients are assembled, the cooking is done in a matter of minutes.

These are the basic steps to a quick and delicious sauté meal. First, sear your meat in a hot pan turning only once. When cooking in batches, remove the meat from the pan and place on a warm platter in a medium oven.

Cover lightly with foil. After cooking all the meat, a flavorful liquid such as lemon juice, wine, liquor or stock is then added to the pan and brought to a boil. Stir with a whisk to incorporate any food particles and pan juices - this procedure is known as "de-glazing."

Add any final ingredients and seasonings. Finally, add the meat to the sauté pan to finish cooking a few minutes more

When sauteing, chefs insist that the pans are "smokin' hot." A less than hot pan is a common and serious mistake. Once the pan is hot, add a small amount of fat. When the fat is hot (it will only take a few moments), add your favorite meat, vegetables or seafood and begin preparing your

If you were serving pickerel as a chilled salad, you might place a cracker on the dish as a garnish, or set it nearby to be consumed with the fish.

Joel Vassallo of Canton, a culinary arts student at Schoolcraft College, gives a lot of thought to such matters. Garnishes aren't afterthoughts, they should complement the dish.

A sesame cracker, baked in a spiral shape, is substituted for a buttermilk stick cracker as a garnish for a chilled pickerel salad he created. The sesame cracker was placed on top of the pickerel, like a skyscraper jutting out against a city skyline. Changing the garnish adds an incredibly dramatic dimension to the dish. 'Instead of rolling (the cracker dough) flat, I used a pasta attachment to make it thin, cut it into long strips, then wrapped it around a wood dowel and cooked it," explained Vassallo. Chef Kevin Gawronski, director of culinary arts, Vassallo, and his salon team members from Schoolcraft College in Livonia, hope judges in the two-day regional cooking competition in Kansas City starting Friday, March 31, notice their attention to detail "Last year we lost by five-hundredths of a point to the eventual national champs," Gawronski said. The team from Kansas won the regional competition and advanced to the nationals. But it isn't just garnishes they're concerned about; students have slaved for weeks, making competition dishes, over and over again, tweaking them with herbs, spices and juices.

Vassallo first wanted salmon in his recipe. Then he wanted rainbow trout. After practicing, he soon decided on pickerel for its leanness. His chilled salad of "seviche-style" pickerel is layered with jicama red onion slaw, cucumbers and a cilantro-lime vinaigrette.

The acids from the lime juice and the white wine cook it," said Vassallo, explaining the term "seviche." "The pickerel with jicama and red onion slaw is something nice, light and refreshing. The high acid content opens up the taste buds for the next dish. "Something like that stands out.

That's not all. They and four other students or recent graduates - Sondra Baier, DaJuan Sandifer, Evan Demers and Traci Bahlman - will travel to Singapore April 8 for an international individual salon competition, then to Bangkok for a cooking class.

craft is the only community college from the United States going to Singapore, a competition that features 25 to 36 countries. The trip will cost $26,000 - most of it being paid for with money from fund-raisers.

Baum's first cookbook is "Lenore's Natural Cuisine, Your Essential Guide to Wholesome, Vegetarian Cooking," (Culinary Publications, $21). The cookbook, set to hit bookstores in April, highlights many of those cooking

What motivated to me to write this book," said Baum, "was that I had not yet discovered a down-to-earth, practical cookbook that would guide people toward a healthier diet." Baum designed a user-friendly cookbook that provides simple step-by-step instructions, and more than 260 cook's tips to help you get good results and save time:

She promotes a healthy diet, particularly the vegan (pronounced VEE-gan) diet, which excludes all animal products such as meat, cheese, eggs, milk and honey.

"People become interested in a vegetarian diet for a variety of reasons ranging from compassion for animals to religion to world hunger issues," Baum-writes. "But the most recent trend in eating this way has to do with health. Research has linked lower rates of heart disease, high blood pressure, cancer, diabetes and obesity with a vegetarian diet."

So what's a shopper to do? Instead of drinking milk from cattle (most of which consume pesticides and receive growth hormones), Baum recommends dark leafy greens such as collards, kale, broccoli and bok choy for as a source of daily calcium. The book walks the reader through menu planning, last-minute meals and eating out healthfully, explaining what to order, why and how to eat well.

Baum said many of the more than 100 recipes were fine-tuned in her cooking classes. The recipes contain less than 15 percent fat and are made without refined sugar or dairy products. "The recipes are tasty, nourishing and satisfying, not bland, boring or complex," Baum said.

Baum loves soups, like her hearty bean soup and pressure-cooker pea soup, with a crusty whole wheat bread. Her creamy cauliflower and chickpea soup is high in beta carotene. The cauliflower is pureed, and the chickpeas add a creamy heartiness, Baum said.

She came up with spaghetti with gingered broccoli while visiting a friend and using ingredients found in the refrigerator. Now that recipe is one of her favorites.

The book calls for unusual ingredients that will require trips to specialty and natural food stores for items such as shoyu and tempeh. Shoyu is the Japanese name for naturally fermented soy sauce. Made from soybeans, roasted wheat and salt, it is fermented in wooden kegs for at least 18 months.

Tempeh is a fermented soybean prod-Please see BOOK, D2

PORK MEDALLIONS WITH MUSTARD SHALLOTS AND CAPERS

2 pounds pork tenderloin, trimmed and sliced 1/2-inch thick

2 teaspoons fresh cracked black pepper

1/4 cup olive oil (6 tablespoons)

1/2 pound of shallots, thinly sliced

1-1/2 cups dry white wine 1-1/2 cups Crème Fraiche

2-1/2 tablespoons drained capers

1-1/2 tablespoons whole grain mustard

1-1/2 teaspoons anchovy paste

1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice Salt to taste

Preheat oven to 200°F. Place platter in oven to warm. Rub pork medallions with pepper and set aside for 15 minutes.

Heat 1 tablespoon olive oil. Without crowding the pan with medallions, saute them 1-1/2 to 2 minutes on each side. Transfer the pork to the warmed platter. Repeat with another 2 tablespoons oil and the remaining meat.

Place the pork in the oven. Add the remaining oil to the pan and when it begins to smoke, add the shallots. Sauté until browned (about 3 minutes). Add the wine and de-glaze the pan, scrape up any browned pieces from the bottom. Bring to a boil and reduce by half - about 3 minutes.

Stir in Crème Fraiche, capers, mustard, anchovy paste and lemon juice.

Continue cooking 5-6 minutes on medium heat. Add the pork and any accumulated meat juices to the sauce and stir to coat. Serve at once.

A small baked apple, steamed broccoli and wide egg noodles would complement the tangy pork nicely. Yields four to six servings.

Practice, practice, practice

Valvo of Farmington Hills practiced his recipe - pate brix of mushroom - at least 15 times.

Valvo, his classmates and instructors taste the dishes they prepare, exchange ideas and suggest spices, but in the end, it is the students' work.

"It is supposed to be what we like. There are just so many ideas out there in cooking," Valvo said. "It's an art."

"The more complexity, the more points that are scored," Gawronski said. But practicality also weighs heavily in the judges' eyes and whether that recipe can be served at a gathering of 100 people.

For example, Gawronski said Griffiths worked on his ballotine. of chicken, using veal cheeks and chicken legs to stuff chicken thighs, then truffles and cognac "to elevate" the dish. The chicken ballotine is served over stewed black beluga lentils. Sharon

The more complexity, the more points that are scored.

Martin's dessert, an orange bavarian and flourless chocolate cake with cigarette paste, tangerine sorbet and blood orange sauce, presents a mix of flavors between juice from tangerines and oranges, few of the winter fruits available at that time of year, and a chocolate cake with chocolate, butter, egg yolks and egg whites. "It is a warm and cold dessert on the same plate, which shows diversity," Gawronski

Sharpening skills

Students also demonstrate their knife skills with five techniques, chopping parsley, garlic and carrots, dicing an onion and potato. Some of the cuts are chal-

The julienne cut means they must cut pieces 1/4-inch by 1/4inch by 2 inches. A tourne cut means a potato must have seven ertect sides, between 1 1/2 to 2 inches. "It cannot exceed two inches," Gawronski said. Another cut is the brunoise (pronounced broonwass), a 1/8-inchby-1/8-inch dice of a potato.

Off to Singapore

The students are looking forward to traveling to Asia. Traci Bahlman of Rochester, who will compete individually, plans to prepare pan-seared Arctic char with white truffle risotto.

Bahlman said the competition hones her skills. "You have to be disciplined to a practice schedule and prioritize your time," she .

Evan Demers of Northville will create an Italian dish with calamari stuffed with shrimp and scallop mousseline, and spinach fettucini with mint pesto sauce. He likes the numerous ideas that students and instructors kick around for the class. "The chefs are always there and give you insight," he said.

DaJuan Sandifer of Detroit will prepare African-American dishes with a contemporary touch. Grilled pork tenderloin with sage, rosemary and thyme vinaigrette marinade and a smoked ham hock timbale are on his menu.

"I just want to learn and experience as much as I can," Sandifer said of his Singapore trip. "I want to go and see and bring back some of that knowledge to my friends."

Sondra Baier of Northville expects to create a Southwestern-based theme: pork tenderloin with a cumin rub, melody of beans and braised chiyote squash, among other dishes.

She, too, is looking forward to the trip because of "all the different kinds of food and the different culture, just to see how it is prepared.

"Food is music. It's passion." See a sample of the winning recipes on D3.

Safe Haven for Newborns

EMERGENCY ROOMS OFFER LOVING

HANDS FOR UNWANTED BABIES

STAFF WRITER rskoglund@oe.l 's an act of desperation as old as time. Mothers - scared, ashamed, or in deep denial - abandon their newborns in garbage cans, in the woods and on the proverbial church doorsteps.

Last Sunday, a newborn boy was found in a garbage bag outside Grace Salvation Church in Detroit. He was taken to Sinai-Grace Hospital where he was diagnosed with having "persistent fetal circulation" - a condition in which a newborn reverts to the circulatory pattern he had in the womb, said spokeswoman Barbara

The newborn, just hours old when abandoned, was transferred to Children's Hospital on Monday evening. He was put on a heartlung machine and remains in critical condition.

Two years ago, near Christmas, a baby boy was brought to Garden City Hospital by the Dearborn Heights police after being left on the steps of St. Mel's convent in Garden City. Fortunately, he was in good condition and was released to the Family Independence Agency within hours.

"It was unbelievable. Those nurses treated that baby as if he was their own. The nurses wouldn't let the media near the baby," said hospital spokesman Terry Carroll.

Earlier this week, a county-wide "Safe Haven for Newborns" program was unveiled by county prosecutors' offices and hospital officials. The program allows mothers to leave their unwanted newborns at area emergency rooms without fear of prosecution.

Would the newest baby John Doe's mother have taken him to the nearest hospital emergency room had she known about the program? That she would be free from prosecution? Maybe. Would he still have developed lifethreatening respiratory problems? Maybe not.

"He was gorgeous, full term. No one knows what caused his problem," said Lewis.

The elements

The fact is all newborns - big ones, little ones, full-term babies and especially premature babies - are subject to extreme health risks when abandoned. The six hours after birth is known as the "transitional period," said Dr. Marie Lozon, director of Children's Emergency Services for the University of Michigan Health System. And the greatest risk is loss of body heat.

"Hypothermia is the most common reason (abandoned) babies die," she said.
For newborns, maintaining a core body temperature is a complex neurological and circulatory process, she said. "In the face of environmental stress cold, heat, even normal room temperatures - infants left lying unclothed could become cold, and that's a big stressor."

If the hostile environment persists, an infant loses the battle to maintain body temperature. A cascade of consequences eventually leads to shock and ultimately death.

Dr. Maria Dorsch, a pediatrician at the Henry Ford Medical Center-Fairlane, had a short answer when asked about an abandoned baby's chances on a cold winter night: "Forget it."A baby doesn't have much fat, she said, and "fat is what conserves heat in the body." To prevent heat loss, newborns are immediately dried off after birth and put into a warm envi-

Quickly and thoroughly drying off the infant is extremely important, Lozon emphasized.

It is the layer of subcutaneous tissue, the fat and fibrous tissue, that allows adults to maintain body temperature in the cold, said Lozon. Conversely, it is the lack of this tissue in infants, along with their body configuration of a large head and small body - more surface area as opposed to mass - that allows heat to evaporate more quickly.

Falling body temperatures affect heart rate. Normally, a newborn's heart rate is 140-160 beats per minutes. But if he becomes too cold, both his heart rate and breathing slows down. "Below 100 beats is dangerous," said Dorsch.

Other risks

Newborns need glucose to survive and are usually fed within four hours of birth. At Garden City Hospital, nurses take a heel-stick glucose reading immediately after birth, then again one and two hours later. If glucose levels are low, "you don't have energy to push oxygen through the blood," said Claudia Westbrook, director of emergency services.

Also, because an infant's metabolic rate is much higher than an adult's, they consume oxygen and glucose at a higher rate, said Lozon. That's why they are fed frequently. If the brain is seriously deprived of glucose, seizures and permanent brain damage may Infection is another problem. "You never know what they cut the cord with," said Dorsch. "If they don't clamp the cord fast enough, the baby can bleed.

Infections also can be picked up as the baby travels through the birth canal. Common bacteria in the birth canal and vaginal infections are routinely picked up during pre-natal care. However, mothers who have abandoned babies most likely have not seen a doctor during pregnancy.

In a suitable birthing setting, an emerging newborn's throat and nose are suctioned before the shoulders and chest are delivered. "The birthing assistant would normally do some suctioning in order that the baby would not take a deep breath before all those fluids are suctioned out," said Lozon. "A young girl delivering at home in a panic would not know to suction that out.

Fortunately, most full-term, healthy babies can sneeze and cough fluids out; however, premature babies don't have this strong reflex response.

There are numerous other problems that put an abandoned newborn at risk, said Lozon, including drug use by the mother, immature lungs, and possible congenital problems, which can involve the heart, airways and body chemistry. Even jaundice, which affects over half of all newborns in the United States, is potentially dangerous. If not treated in a timely manner, high levels of bilirubin can lead to brain damage.

A plastic bag

Plastic bags do not keep a baby warm. They smother it. Plastic garbage bags are nonporous, and as an infant's oxygen supply becomes depleted, the bag fills with exhaled carbon dioxide.

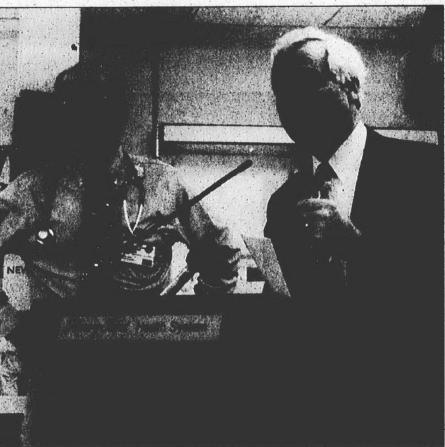

"If you have a carbon dioxide build-up and oxygen is being depleted, carbon dioxide makes you sleepy and unresponsive. The baby may stop breathing," said Lozon.

Births within a hospital emergency room, especially involving mothers who have not had prenatal care or who have been involved in car accidents, can be emotionally trying for medical staff, said Westbrook. The "unknown factor" increases with an abandoned baby. "She may have delivered in the bathroom in a gasstation."

In most cases, the only known factor is that the mother was desperate. "People who do this are so in denial and so horrified of sharing this with their family, they want to wipe it off the face of the earth," said Lozon.

Thanks to Safe Haven for Newborns, hospital emergency rooms can now offer a loving

Listen and dance

Hearing impaired children learn rhythm, pitch

The second annual "Hearing Impaired Listeners' Community Family Dance" will be held 1-3 p.m. Saturday, April 1, at the Pittsfield Union Grange in Ann Arbor. The event is for deaf and hard-of-hearing children of all ages, their friends

The dance is the brainchild of Marcie Brown, an audiologist, teacher of the hearing impaired, therapist and founder of The Hearing Teacher, an Ann Arborbased organization that specializes in auditory-verbal services for infants and

"The idea is for the children and their parents to have fun, while doing what we teach them to do naturally, to listen and respond to speech and music. Appropriate pitch and rhythm is essential to understanding spoken language," said Brown. "When children who are deaf learn to listen to changes in pitch and rhythm by singing and dancing, they develop more natural-sounding speech."

The program, led by Peter Baker, will be based on simple traditional community dancing. It will feature New England-style live dance music provided by popular dance musician Debbie Jackson and friends. The musicians will play a variety of instruments, including piano, tuba, fiddle and the marimba.

During the break, children will have an opportunity to listen to the instruments and to "play" some of them.

The Pittsfield Grange is located at 3337 Ann Arbor-Saline Road off I-94 (first exit west of State Street, 1/2 mile south of I-94), Ann Arbor, (734) 662-8936. For more information about the dance, contact Marcie Brown at (734) 741-8998. The. cost is $4 for an individual and $7 for a family. "Scholarships" to he dance are available. "I don't want to turn anybody away," said Brown.

modem Internet access is becoming commonplace in most communities, many users around the country are beginning to experience what I call cable's dirty little broadband

Cable Internet service is slowing, too. So many people are taking advantage of the cable companies offers to increase surfing speed by up to 100 percent that the system is starting to choke. There are also broadband pigs, people running high volume Web sites off cable modems, even though this is prohibited by most systems. These pigs, who run what cable people call "rogue servers," jam entire systems.

The results of the huge demand and the broadband pigs are massive slowdowns, traffic backups and inadequate service in many places. All around the country, cable companies are adding extra "nodes," or neighborhood distribution centers, so that everyone's not using the same line.

In metropolitan Detroit, the Comcast Online and the AT&T@Home systems have been growing at tremendous rates. And so far, I'm receiving only scattered complaints about service. Most users here seem delighted at the speed of broadband. Let's hope it stays that

But elsewhere, where cable Internet has been around a bit longer, system slowdowns are becoming commonplace.

What's happening is the demand is far outstripping the capacity of some systems. Remember, cable Internet is different than cable TV. TV is basically passive.

The information comes in and that's it. So thousands of users can share the same node. Not so with cable Internet, which is interactive, or two-way, and gobbles up bandwidth. Cable Internet also works just like any other computer network. When everyone is on at the same time, it slows.

Tied closely with the slowdown is inadequate service. Just try calling the service desk of your cable company. It took me three days a while ago just to get a real person to answer when I had some problems with my AT&T service.

From the e-mail I've been getting, it seems as if busy signals and hour-long waits to speak to a technician are now the norm with some cable Internet providers.

This mess is going to get much worse before it gets better. The cable Internet industry needs to redirect thousands of more people into technical support around the country and thousands more in the field to add nodes. I'm already hearing from people fed up with cable in some regions who are switching to DSL.

While DSL service is considerably slower than cable Internet, DSL still beats the fastest modem by about 25 times and because it's a one on one connection, isn't going to degrade as more users come online sharing your same node, as with cable. Wireless phones offer Internet

The wireless phone revolution is in full motion. Though there are still some protocol issues the industry needs to straighten out, this year will see the end of cellular and the total domination of digital wireless phones. Many of us will soon use a wireless phone as our main phone. And they'll replace pagers, too, offering up email retrieval and "web clippings" of stock prices, sports scores and breaking news from the Internet. The technology is already in place. This will be the year it catches on. I'm now testing out the latest offering from AirTouch and I'm impressed. They call the service "Mobile Web" and it offers instant access to Internet content, e-mail, information services, mobile originated messaging and address book and to-do list functions. Oh yeah, it's also a wireless telephone.

Onward and upward

Two new studies released this week indicate the Internet growth rate is showing no signs of slowing down. The Strategis Group says 53 percent of the U.S. population is now regularly online and that women make up nearly half - 49 percent - of all Net users. The study says the Internet has grown by 25 percent since 1998. Another new Internet measurement survey from the Canadian research firm Angus Reid puts the current worldwide Internet population at 300 million users and projects 1 billion users by 2005.

Web attacks The problem with Internet security is most corporations that have been hit by hackers are reluctant to report it because they worry it may hurt their image with consumers or adversely affect their stock prices. But among those 640 banks, corporations and financial sites that did respond to the FBI's latest survey, measurable losses directly attributable to hack attacks or security breaches cost a whopping $265 million last year. That's double the rate of 1998. This year's figures are expected to be staggeringly more. "It's going from bad to worse," said a spokesman for the firm that conducted the FBI

Trying again You got to hand it to Microsoft. It doesn't give up. Even though its cumbersome and klutzy Windows CE handheld computer operating system has been a dismal failure, it keeps coming back for more marketplace beatings. Within two weeks, Microsoft and its partner companies like Casio and Compaq will rename the CE devices as PocketPC's and introduce a slew of new models to consumers. These units will offer color, of course, and multimedia capabilities, as well as an e-book reader. Microsoft's target is Palm Computing, which has about 90 percent of the handheld market. Don't count Microsoft out. They know how to compete;... Remember when Netscape held 90 percent of the Internet browser market? Now Microsoft's Internet Explorer holds the lead.

While CE sure hasn't been popular with consumers, eventually Microsoft may just get it right. That's why Palm just added its spectacular color IIIc model and is aggressively signing up designers and programmers, adding new software and forming new partnerships with Internet portal sites. The handheld computer battle is shaping up to be one of the year's best high tech stories.

Assisted Living Residents Come Home To Courtyard Manor

In February, Courtyard Manor, an assistive living facility for memory impaired adults, such as those suffering from Alzheimer's Disease or other type of Dementia, held a Valentine's Day Ball. All patient participants wore tuxedos or evening gowns donated by local businesses and, of course, a king and queen were crowned. This is an unusual activity, when compared to playing cards or bingo, but such widely-varied and creative activities are necessary therapy for patients, according to Bonnie Everett, M.S., regional director for Courtyard Manor.

"Stimulating activities help to slow the progression of the disease, prevent withdrawal and depression and improve quality of life," said Everette. Pet therapy, recreational therapy and other individualized, comprehensive therapy helps enrich patients' minds and lives, she added. Certified Recreational Therapists are on staff at Courtyard Manor and are diligent about incorporating such programs and activities.

Fourteen years ago, Courtyard Manor opened its doors to the families that could no longer care for their loved ones who were suffering from Alzheimer's and Dementia, or those who were physically frail. It is a fully-licensed, full-service facility with a continuum of care in a residential atmosphere: "We are an affordable alternative to other medical care facilities," said Everett. Courtyard Manor has facilities in Farmington Hills, Livonia, Auburn Hills, Sterling Heights and Wixom.

Licensing is not mandated by the State of Michigan, but Courtyard Manor is licensed facility. This means that they are governed by the State of Michigan's regulations and conform to their laws. Each facility is subject to on-site inspections or licensing action if they do not comply with licensing rules. This provides families with the reassurance that their loved one is Courtyard Manor is staffed 24 hours with healthcare assistants and licensed nurses. Attending physicians, physical therapy evaluation and rehabilitation, psychiatry, podiatry, laboratory, x-ray, vision care, dental exam and treatment and a full-service beauty salon mean patients never have to leave the premises. Hospice care is also available to ease patients' suffering as they near the end of their life.

Each campus has four specialized "cottages," which separate patients into four levels of need. Each suite, either private or companion has emergency call buttons in bedroom and bathroom, a bedroom, sitting area and a bathroom with private walkin shower and safety handle bars. Buildings have an open floor plan, with secured exits. The great room resembles a cozy ski lodge with a fireplace, wooden vaulted ceilings and ceiling fans. Gorgeous courtyards are a trademark of Courtyard Manor where residents can sit outside on benches or garden, if they so choose.

Services offered include three home-cooked meals and snacks daily; medication administration; assistance with daily personal care; dressing and bathing; incontinence management; daily housekeeping; linen services; and personal laundry

"Residents are encouraged to bring personal items (i.e., hobbies, photos, furnishings or furniture) from home to make them feel comfortable and to stimulate long-term memory," said Everett. Staff is especially accommodating and flexible. "We treat every situation as unique," said Everett.

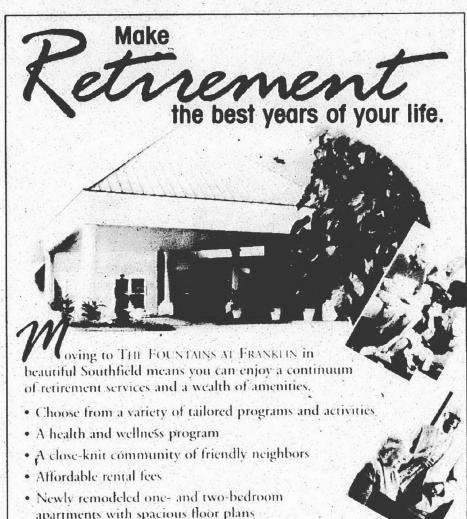

The decision to place a family member or spouse in an assistive living environment can be a difficult one. Some Alzheimer's warning signs include: recent memory loss, difficulty performing familiar tasks, problem with language, disorientation of time or place, misplacing things, changes in mood, behavior or personality and loss of initiative.

A doctor can diagnose the disease, Courtyard Manor can help you live with it. The first call for help when your loved one needs to be safe and can no longer take care of him-or herself is Courtyard Manor. Call today for a personal tour or to ask any questions you might have, (800) 486-9039.

Living La Vida Buena!

Today's seniors have more choices for better living than ever before. Just ask Emma and Fred Leeman, who reside at The Fountains at Franklin. Instead of worrying about shoveling snow and home maintenance this winter, they've been busy living the good life with their many friends and neighbors at this exceptional Southfield retirement community. Here, there are also special new programs to support those needing assistance, and also those living with dementia.

"We are so happy here. We feel very secure because we are well taken care of, especially when we had the flu — the staff waited on us hand and foot. We think this is the best place for us. We feel part of the community here", the Leemans said.

Frank Anderson, a Fountains at Franklin resident since 1997, agrees. "I am a very lucky man," he said. "I have three terrific sons. They made sure I would be taken care of. The staff at The Fountains at Franklin has made me feel at home'

With spacious (up to 1,100 square feet!), newly redecorated apartments and living areas galore, it's no wonder these seniors are so happy to have chosen The Fountains. Emma, Fred and Frank enjoy delicious dining service, transportation when they need it, and plenty of ways to stay active and

"I always like to be busy," says Ida Liberwitz, another happy resident. "I just look at our calendar of events to see what's going on for the day. I may or may not add my two cents, but I always love BINGO and Happy Hour!"

For more and more area seniors, The Fountains at Franklin is shattering stereotypes and raising expectations of what life can be. The Fountains at Franklin is hosting an Open House on Thursday, April 6 from 4to 6 p.m. For more information, please call 248-353-2810.

Classic Golf Apparel For Women

Guylene Martignon, Owner of Front Tee Golf Classics

As a golfer herself, Guylene Martignon, Owner of Front Tee Golf Classics, had the same complaint as many of you, "there seemed to be a shortage of great golf clothiers for women and even fewer places to purchase a nice selection of styles and sizes". "Not everyone can break 90", she said, "but everyone can and should look great". Comfort and classic styling are the key components. Women want to invest in clothing they can wear on and off the fairway; fabrics should travel well and fit into a busy lifestyle.

Guylene has served Rochester and surrounding areas for many years as an interior designer. Her love for color, design, style and quality has inspired a long awaited golf, tennis and resort wear boutique dedicated to women. "The goal is simple", she says, "offer beautifully designed pieces which span the gap from the fairway to dinner after your game and even to the work place".

Responses from first time shoppers is pretty much the same, "you have really great things and they are very different from what I've seen any where locally". The next comment is usually a question, "who is Jamie Sadock?" "I love all my lines, says Guylene, Jamie Sadock is a New York designer who fills her line with fun trims and functional pockets such as her famous "Tee" pocket; Elendale offers a beautifully constructed classic golf look; Sugar Mag has a unique young look for the fairway and Belle Pointe adds to our resort wear with their usual great cotton sweater designs.

You'll discover friendly old fashioned service, the latest in fabrics and designs, custom bags and lots of accessories, all tucked into this quaint little Mackinaw style house.

Arnold Schwarzenegger presents top fitness award to down town developer of World Gym Fitness Centers

Last week, at the Arnold Classic, Fitness Icon and Hollywood top box office draw, Arnold Schwarzenegger, presented Christian Babini, developer of the 4 acre "old A&P" site to the new upscale World Gym Fitness Center, the organization's most prestigious award, The Joe Gold Award of Excellence for his World Gym Fitness Center in Shelby Township. Annually the Joe Gold Award is presented to the top World Gym Fitness Center Club and owner (out of 300 globally.)

Schwarzenegger went on to say "Not only does Christian make money, but also gives money back" referring to Babini's relentless effort in raising money for charity. "Raising $50,000 for Inner-City Games foundation; Multiple Sclerosis as well as several local families with physically challenged children, he is the best." Arnold continued.

Babini's World Gym Fitness Center in Shelby Township also received the award for Best Staff. Amazingly he has had only two employees turnover in close to four years.

During the awards presentation, Schwarzenegger went on to have fun with the 300 plus crowd by saying "Now Christian is moving into my territory." Referring to the movie business. "I had him visit me last year on the set of "End of Days" (Arnold's latest film release which has grossed over 200 million dollars.) "We used him in a scene and you saw Christian for a second just before he blew up in the restaurant explosion!"

Last week, the Eccentric newspaper was able to catch up to Christian Babini and find out about his New World Gym Fitness Center in Downtown Rochester.

Observer/Eccentric - Congratulations on winning the Joe Gold Award. What were your thoughts?

Babini - I was absolutely thrilled. My partner Frank Palazzolo and I brought down 37 staff members and friends and sharing this experience with them was fantastic.

Observer/Eccentric - How does one win the Joe Gold Award?

Babini - Owners are required to submit objective criteria, such as, financial components, member retention numbers, employee retention numbers, member services and programming diversity and community service activities. The Franchise office and Joe Gold himself take it from there.

Observer/Eccentric - Tell me about the status of your Downtown Rochester World Gym Fitness Center. There has been a lot of speculation as to what the final product will be.

Babini - The Downtown World Gym is a dream in the making. I called on that downtown property 10 years ago for the same use, it was financially untouchable for me back then. I was overwhelmed with excitement when we closed on the property last summer and 10 years later.

Yes there is a lot of speculation and misinformation regarding the project and hopefully I can clarify. First, let me say that the City of Rochester has been absolutely supportive, professional and fair with the planning and building process. Ed Alward, Building inspector and Ken Johnson, City Manager were "in the loop" from the start. They gave me very specific direction as to what I could and couldn't do. This cooperative spirit helped the process along as there have been no surprises thus far.

As for the site plan. This property includes 4 acres and all four acres will be developed. Most people see the building and the parking lot in front. What most DON'T know is that we have an additional 2 acres that are also going to be developed for parking and pool. The parking there will be outstanding. The pool will not be developed until we are certain it won't affect parking.

In addition, what makes this downtown location unique is that it's situated on Paint Creek Trail and Rochester Municipal Park. Imagine, any time of year, being able to pick-up cross country skis, snow shoes or bikes right at the club, walk in our backyard and access Paint Creek Trail for a cardiovascular workout then, when your finished, bring the equipment back to the club and finish your workout or enjoy a massage! Moreover, our site plan was approved for an outdoor fresh air exercise patio that overlooks Paint Creek. For 5-7 months of the year one can enjoy exercise outdoors with the same state of the art equipment you will have indoors.

Speaking of the indoor area. We are adding close to 10,000 square feet to the building. When it's all said and done, the club will offer 25,000 square feet of fitness space. We are using the expansion for related tenants. Such as, a vitamin outlet, a full service day spa and we are actively recruiting a national coffee house chain.

The fitness areas will include massive cardiovascular, strength, aerobics and spinning areas. The aerobics room will also be used for special population (osteoporosis, post rehab, limited range of movement, pre and post natal, fibromyalgia) programs. We will also offer an expansive Kids Klub a supervised children's activity area. The huge juice bar will be strategically located for easy access.

Without question, however, the heart of our club, as it is with our World Gym in Shelby Township, is our education with regard to fitness and nutrition. Our nutrition programming staff has expanded to six directors. The programs offered are diverse, from group dynamic to individual programs. But the common thread that binds the success of our members is the ability to teach each participant how to increase their metabolism, so that they're burning calories when they;re not at the gym. The nutrition staff coordinates very well with our certified trainers for a complete program.

I can go on and on. Simply put our goal is to cater to the mature adult. We are proud that our Shelby Township location consists of about 70% women. AND About 70% of that number are women with children. In the mornings, out of every 100 members that come in 98 of them will be moms. Furthermore, we realize that these people can only squeeze in about an hour for exercise. Our goal is to make that experience educational, convenient and fun.

Observer/Eccentric - Wow! That sounds great. Are you concerned about the competition in the area?

Babini - I had the opportunity to play college and professional football. In addition, I ran sales for a billion dollar, fortune 500 surgical device company where our major competitor was ten times larger than us. It's interesting to note that even though they were much bigger, our company commanded 70 to 80 percent market share consistently. From these experiences, I've learned to always take competition seriously. I believe that the reasons for winning the Joe Gold Award of Excellence and Best Staff Awards will be the driving force behind the Main Street World Gym. Let's face it. Anyone can go to any club and find equipment and aerobics. What people want is a positive and motivating experience everytime they walk in. Our goal is to provide them exactly that. It is simply a matter of fact that in any business, employee turnover translates into customer turnover. Our success in retaining employees comes from hiring well and providing an atmosphere where employees and members feel good about themselves. We eliminate pressure. For example, we've never had a sales department. No one gets paid commission for member sign-ups. Think about it. Potential customers are sick and tired of being cornered in a sales room office then being told that if 'you join today your price is this. But if you join orrow it will increase to this." Ca'Mon! This is sophomoric. It's hard to believe but there are still clubs that do this. We pride ourselves on encouraging any potential customer to take information home, review it them make an informed decision. The staff that "sells" the club are the ones that educate and develop relationships long after the member has joined.

Another one of my pet peeves as a consumer was having to pay an initiation fee. What the heck does that mean and what does it go towards? The public has become conditioned to this nonsense. Since we opened our first club four years ago, we never had an initiation fee. In addition, we have always offered a 30 day money back refund.

fee. In addition, we have always offered a 30 day money back refund.

These are just a couple examples of differences that a customer may recognize. In a more pragmatic sense, the industry is growing incredibly fast. After a stagnant period from the mid 60's to late 80's, the number of members in this country has tripled in the last decade to 29 million. By the year 2010, it is expected to triple again to a staggering 100 million members! That's with only a 10 to 12% market penetration. With that said, even the clubs that do a poor job of servicing customers will benefit from the growth. Indeed, there are enough members to support the current and future area health clubs. The decision the consumer has to make is simple. Where do I enjoy going? Because if they enjoy going, they'll keep coming back to achieve their goals.

Observer/Eccentric - When do you expect to be open?

Babini - We feel it's very realistic to be open in September of this year. Much of the hard work (site plan) is out of the way. Permits are in the works and as we get closer to opening, we will offer a pre-opening customer incentive membership drive where anyone can join and use our Shelby location for work-outs while we put the finishing touches on the Main Street World Gym. Which reminds me, any member that joins either the Shelby Township or Mainstreet World Gym will have membership reciprocity to both. In addition, there are over 300 World Gym Fitness Centers around the globe where you can work out for free every time you travel.

Well there you have it. It only takes seconds before realizing that Christian Babini is passionate about the fitness business and customer service. If you have questions regarding this Award winning World Gym operation, you can call World Gym Shelby Township at 810-566-6275 for more information...

Ann Abrams finalizes color selections and scheduling dates.

For so many of us, the garage is becoming the main entrance to our busy homes, and like so many of us we track in concrete dust and dirt. Imagine a floor that is beautiful to look at, easy to keep clean, lasts a long time and it's affordable. HomePro Flooring can offer all of this and more.

Some of HomePro's customers - painted their garage floors with gray porch and deck paint or one of the do-it-yourself flooring kits, only to find themselves disappointed when it started to peel up only after a few short months. HomePro has a full line of epoxy floor choices, from a simple solid color to their beautiful Royal Flake system.

A professionally installed epoxy floor covering is appealing to homeowners for many reasons. An epoxy floor really makes any garage look terrific. It can even be color coordinated to match the rest of your Epoxy also resists damage from automotive fluids and is easy to clean. Warm soapy water quickly cleans dirt, gasoline, salt, oil and other debris before it can be tracked into your home. Both new and older concrete can be coated, and HomePro can even repair your cracked or damaged concrete.

A SHOWROOM FINISH FOR YOUR GARAGE FLOOR

HomePro Flooring has developed four flooring systems to meet a range. All floor systems come with a warranty against peeling and premature. of customer needs. Homeowners find themselves struggling to make a final selection from the wide range of color combinations. While the basic gray floor with black and white chips is still popular. HomePro finds many homeowners leaning towards the more colorful color combinations such as tan, beige and brown that complement each other and are beautiful to look at.

One important factor that homeowners should consider is that the key to a successful flooring installation is proper preparation of the concrete. HomePro Flooring specializes in surface preparation, they use state-of-the-art shotblasting machines to prepare concrete for coatings. Shotblasting opens up the pores of a floor, allowing the epoxyto penetrate and form a structural bond with the concrete. Shotblasting also removes any contaminates that may be present on your floor. No other surface preparation method guarantees success like shotblasting. In the past HomePro had tried to use a chemical wash to prepare floors, but they found that this did not give a proper surface for the epoxy to bond to, and the epoxy would just lay on top of the concrete, causing it to chip and peel up.

wear, but, Ann Abrams, Manager of Operations from HomePro, said a HomePro epoxy floor will last much longer than it's warranty. "Keep in mind that this is the same epoxy installed in factories and warehouses this epoxy is designed to stand up to heavy forklift traffic, so parking a car on a HomePro floor will pale in comparison", says Abrams.

Urethane topcoats are recommended, as they add to the life of the floor by offering protection form chemicals and scratches. Urethane is harder than epoxy, and the two products work well together to provide homeowners with an attractive, long lasting floor.

Royal Flake System with accent border

Installation takes between two and four days, depending on the type of system chosen. The only thing customers need to do in preparation for the floor coating is completely empty their garage of its' contents. HomePro Flooring does the rest. Their installation teams take all the guesswork out of this complicated process. The floor can be walked on or driven on 24 hours after the job is completed.

HomePro Flooring began installing their specially formulated epoxy flooring systems in 1993, after their parent company, a national installer of industrial flooring systems, found there was a fremendous demand for epoxy floor in the residential market. HomePro was founded to focus on this market niche, and they have been successful because they concentrate solely on residential garage installations. HomePro flooring can also be installed inside the house in rooms that have a concrete floor, such as basements or sunrooms.

HomePro Flooring prides itself on its customer service and quality installation. Ann Abrams reports that seventy percent of their business is from referrals. Here are a few customer comments: "My garage is beautiful! My HomePro floor actually coordinates with the exterior of my home! And it is easy to keep clean. Thank you HomePro Flooring" Lillian Reinert. Shelby Township, "I love to show off my garage!" Dorothy Wilson, West Bloomfield.

The website of HomePro Flooring (www.homeprofloors.com) showcases floor covering choices, offers a brochure with detailed company information and has franchise for employment) opportunities for their rapidly expanding business.

HomePro Flooring services the greater Detroit area and offers free estimates. Customers can call 800-459-2769 or visit their Southfield showroom (by appointment) at 24455 Telegraph. HomePro Flooring also has offices in Charlotte, NC and Scottsdale, AZ.

Sisters Joanna Baratta and Ninfa Crocenzi

Joanna Baratta and Ninfa Crocenzi sisters and business partners are the creators behind a revolutionary new skin-care line, Giovanna Italy. (Introduced in 1996, it was a way for Joanna to help her sister Ninfa, an MS survivor. Ninfa's skin was traumatized by the medication as well as the disease itself and became patchy and dry. This motivated Joanna to utilize her 20 years of experience in the cosmetics industry to create a skin care product that it is now being used to help individuals who have similar reactions.

Giovanna Italy products help repair brown spots, uneven tone, lack of luster, patchiness or dryness associated with medications or diseases such as MS, cancer fibromyalgia and lupas. The cream and moisturizer can also repair or prevent bad skin or premature wrinkling. They have also proven effective in reducing wrinkling and other effects of grieving or stress.

The secret of Giovanna Italy is the unique combination of fresh, extra-virgin olive oil and a specialized delivery system, also referred to as the EU complex exclusive to Giovanna Italy. It is comprised of minerals and botannicals freshly picked and harvested at the Eurfarma Cosmetici in Florence, Italy Ingredients found near the Mediterranean, like mint, aloe and bladder wrack elements, star anise, thyme, licorice, ginseng and many others serve to enhance the therapeutic value of the product line. The facial skin-care products create a regenerative restructuring of new cell formation at the same pace as when your skin was young resulting in skin that is renewed, moisened and soothed, said Joanna.

Giovanna Italy contributes a percentage of its profits to the Michigan chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society for rehabilitation and research. They sponsor yearly fundraisers and women's luncheons and help the MS Society with their fundraisers. "We're supportive of any group in need and regularly contribute product baskets for fundraisers," said

The facial skin-care line for all skin types includes a cleanser, refresher, day cream, night cream, eye moisturizer and anti-age serum. Product lines slated for future development include hair care, men's and whole body and spa products as well as aromatherapy and baby products. Giovanna Italy can be purchased at specialty stores and spas throughout the Detroit area. Orders can also be placed by phone (810) 294-7727 or fax (810)

Your Lifestyle Never Retires, So Why Should Your Hearing??

Hearing aids have been around for a long time, over a century in fact. Presently, there are over 100 different manufacturers of hearing aids across the United States. Cruz Hearing Aid Service has been in business for nine years, and the staff has over twenty years of experience in the hearing aid industry. Felix Cruz and son Joshua, co-owners of Cruz Hearing Aid Service, are here to help you and your leved ones.

Hearing aid users sometimes find diffi-culties when they first get their hearing aid. Whether it be putting the aid in their ear or adjusting it correctly, there just seems to be problems. While these problems occur on a common basis, they can easily be corrected with the proper guidance and knowledge. Unfortunately for too many people the hearing aids only sit in a drawer and collect dust. "You should be as comfortable with your hearing aids as you are tying your shoes," says Joshua Cruz.
Cruz Hearing Aid Service offers in-depth hearing evaluations and discusses the needs of your lifestyle, so that you will get the appropriate hearing aid. Every hearing aid is custom-fit, specifically for the user "All hearing aids are not created equal," states Felix Cruz. "It is actually like comparing apples to kangaroos," adds Joshua. Cruz Hearing Aid Service carries a wide selection of hearing aids. Along with conventional aids, they offer completely-in-thecanal aids (which are almost unnoticeable at any angle) and the newest digital technology (which processes and adjusts 1000 signals per second). Cruz Hearing Aid Service has assisted listening devices such as amplified telephones and TV enhancers in stock, along with all sizes of hearing aid batteries. Customized swim plugs, musician plugs, and noise plugs are also available. Cruz Hearing Aid Service is located at 18899 W. 12 Mile Rd. in Lathrup Village.

They just don't make 'em like this than when you step into Amish Reflections. This is the real thing, no question. This unique store carries only handcrafted items made by an Amish community in Ohio. Lanis and George Swaney, and Mark and Kim Butcher, the store's owners, work very closely with the community that provides the items in their store, and in respect for the community's privacy, will not reveal the exact location of it. The store, though, is much more accessible. It is located in Midland at 704 S. Saginaw.

Unlike any other store, Amish Reflections' 5000 square feet contain absolutely nothing that has been machine wrought. Each and every item was crafted from real wood. Veneer, laminate and plywood have no place here; only solid oak and cherry, and some walnut and maple. Each piece was hand tooled in the Amish tradition and Vankote finished for a very hard, durable finish that can withstand both daily use and the test of time. Mrs. Swaney says of the furnishings that "you can leave something wet on a table for 24 hours without damaging the piece."

WATER QUALITY A TOP PRIORITY FOR KINETICO

You wouldn't willingly drink an ice cold glass of chlorine or benzene. Nor would you drink water that someone told you contained "just a little bit" of lead. Yet. thousands of people every day do just that. The government allows certain levels of these and many more toxins in the public water supply, but many people would rather not take the chance that these chemicals are "safe" at any level.

Kinetico by Village & Country Water Treatment makes water safety and purity their number one concern. Kinetico by Village & Country has been an authorized dealership since 1976, serving Oakland, Livingston, Genesee and Washtenaw counties.

"Kinetico by Village & Country, has a wide. selection of different makes and models of drinking water systems and water conditioners to suit everyone's water quality needs. Kinetico-a manufacturer of water conditioners and purifiers - has a superior product line. It is unique from its competitors in that it produces the only non-electric drinking water systems and water conditioners on the market. The re-generation process (how a unit cleans itself) of both conditioners and purifiers uses the same high quality of water produced, therefore greatly extending the life of the unit. An automatic shut-off feature on Kinetico water purifiers takes the guesswork out of filter replacement. Kinetico is the leader in manufacturer product warranties and is rated a "Best Buy" by Consumer's Digest

Kinetico by Village & Country Water Treatment is located in north Oakland County as well as retail locations in Livingston, Genesee and Washtenaw counties. They service residents and businesses throughout all four counties. They provide three services to both home and business customers; Installation of water conditioners or water purifiers; delivery of bottled water; installation and set-up of water coolers and delivery of salt for conditioners; and a retail storefront where customers can shop for the necessary supplies or accessories for any water treatment system.

Water conditioners are in high demand in many Oakland County communities due to the hard well water many communities draw from. Hard water contains minerals like iron, lime, rust and calcium which leave stains or soap scum around the house. It can also leave a white residue oh cooking pans or coffee pots. Installing a water softener can remove hard minerals so that water not only

"feels" softer but works "better" in your house. For example, soft water extends the life of clothes, saves users money on Soan and cleaning agents (you use less) and causes less wear and tear of household-fixtures.

Hard water also contributes to taste and odor problems for drinking and cooking. For customers who want to remove the salt from their drinking or cooking water, a water purifier can be added to ensure the highest quality of water throughout the entire house (or business). A water purifier improves taste and removes odors and many of the harsh, toxic elements commonly found in drinking water (i.e., chlorine, arsenic, lead, nitrates and turbidity/organic particles and more). Some charcoal cartridge water filter systems that you can purchase at the hardware store only filter taste and odor, not harmful toxins.

Kinetico water purifiers utilize reverse osmosis to ensure the highest water quality.

The retail section of Kinetico by Village & Country stocks a variety of salts and sodium free salts, purifier equipment, bottled water, filters or cartridges for water filter systems and a display of softeners and purifiers. The trained staff answers questions and explains the differences between various models or products to help guide customers in choosing the best product for their home or business.

Kinetico by Village & Country offers rentals, leases and sales of all their systems. They service all makes and models of water softeners. The Oakland County retail store is located in Clarkston at 5926 Ortonville Rd. (M-15); they can be reached by calling (248) 620-5460. Store hours are Mon.-Fri., 9 a.m. - 6 p.m.; and Sat., 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. To schedule a free, in-home water analysis or estimate, with no obligation, please call (248) 888-WATER-10. Customers are welcome to bring a sample of their water to the store for a free, on-site analysis.
