Gunman shoots ex-wife, self

Sandy Robinson feared her ex-husband enough to have protection orders issued against him. Tuesday morning, the fear proved valid when he walked into her office, shot her, then turned the gun on himself.

In the early morning hours Tuesday, Sandy Robinson made a frantic call to a Plymouth Township 911 operator from her office at Penske Trucking and Leasing. She told the operator that her former husband, whom she desperately feared, was there with a gun. Moments later the operator heard two gunshots. And then there was silence.

Detroit resident John McGhee, 30, used a .380 caliber handgun to shoot Robinson before turning it on himself.

Plymouth Township police officers were immediately dispatched to the location at the corner of Eckles and Schoolcraft, but it was too late.

Both the man and his wife were dead, each shot once in the head.

The incident, which occurred about 5:30 a.m., was the final act of a turbulent relationship between the two. According to Officer Jamie Senkbeil of the Plymouth Township Police Department, McGhee refused to let go after their brief marriage had ended recently.

Robinson, a 34-year-old Taylor resident and mother of two, had two personal protection orders issued against McGhee, including one for stalking, according to police.

McGhee rented a room Monday night at the Motel 6 on Ford Road near I-275 in Canton Township. When police searched the room Tuesday, they found a letter he penned entitled "Last Words Note," in which he scribbled a few words to family members, apologizing for being a burden.

When McGhee walked into the Penske building and up the stairs to the second-floor office where Robinson worked as a dispatcher, there was no kind of security in place to stop him. Two other employees witnessed him come in, but fled when they saw the

Rain can't dampen Habitat spirit

It's rained much of the past week, but that hasn't dampened the spirits of hundreds of Plymouth community volunteers who are giving their time as part of Habitat for Humanity's Plymouth Blitz Build.

It's the first time an entire community has come forward to build a home for Habitat for Humanity, with more than 450 volunteers giving their time to construct a house from foundation to landscaping.

Work on the home, which is located in Inkster, began last weekend. And, if Mother Nature cooperates, it will be completed in just over two weeks.

"It usually takes about three-and-a-half months to complete a home, but if the weather holds up we'll have this done almost on schedule," said Jim Napiorkowski, a general contractor who works in Habitat for Humanity's western Wayne County office, located on Starkweather in Plymouth. "A lot of people have never done this before, but it doesn't matter. We show them what to do, and the volunteers are eager to learn. Sometimes, when it's raining, it's hard to get them off the ladders because they want to keep

Board OKs more money for paving

BY KURT KUBAN

Plymouth Township officials approved spending an extra $53,000 for the resurfacing project of the parking lot at the Department of Public Services Building.

The additional funding approved Friday at a special Board of Trustees meeting will be used to repair the parking lot's base and drainage. The building is located at 46555 Port Street.

In April, the board accepted a $66,593 bid from Al's Asphalt Paving Inc. to resurface the lot with new asphalt. When work began two weeks ago, however, it was determined much of the base under the asphalt was deteriorated, partially as a result of faulty drainage.

"When we began tearing out some of the existing asphalt, the base was not as good as we anticipated. The rain we've had has only exacerbated the

City takes a look at more Farmer signs

Armed with 75 petition signatures, Plymouth resident Derek Duerr pleaded with city commissioners Monday night to consider posting additional stop signs on Farmer Street to curb speeders "before someone's 2-year-old gets killed."

Residents have been concerned for a long time about motorists exceeding the 25mph speed limit on Farmer, particularly the seven-block stretch between Sheldon and Blunk.

"There is a heavier amount of traffic since last summer, the rates of speed are much higher, and a number of us have witnessed near-misses," said Duerr, who lives at the corner of Farmer and Arthur. "God forbid someone's child gets hit."

City Manager Paul Sincock told commissioners adding stop signs along Farmer "did not meet state requirements and could open the city to liability exposure."

Victim succumbs to injuries from high school fall

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER
tbruscato@oe.hometown.com

One of the two workers injured in a 25-foot fall at the Plymouth High School construction site died from his injuries Monday.

Jeff Copeland, 35, from Sterling Heights, was critically injured when he fell while working on the roof of the new building, which is being constructed at the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park, at Canton Center and Joy roads. Reports indicate he was also hit by a piece of structural steel as he lay on the ground.

A second worker, Paul Webb, 24, of Jackson, was released Sunday from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. He suffered a fractured wrist, as well as facial and hand lacerations, in the mishap.

The incident occurred last Thursday afternoon when a bundle of steel was being placed on the unfinished roof.

"There was a two-man crew on the roof, one on the east end and the other on the west," said Bill McCarthy, vice president of Redford-based McS/EV, the general contractor for the $50 million project. "A bundle of steel was being put on the roof deck when a joist failed."

The men were employed by McGuire Steel Erection Inc. in Green Oak Township. Owner Dan McGuire has been unavailable for comment.

Meanwhile, the Consumer and Industry Services Agency, a division of the Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Administration, continues its investigation, which is expected to take several months.

"We will complete our investigation and discuss the findings with the employer and any union representatives," said Maura Campbell, spokeswoman for the agency. "We'll then take a look at the history of the company and determine any penalties or citations. The company will have a chance to appeal any decision."

According to Campbell, McGuire Steel had 13 citations issued against it for serious safety violations during the past six months.

Ken Jacobs, the executive director of support services for Plymouth-Canton Schools, said MIOSHA investigators "made two suggestions and we've accomplished both of them, including an assessment of the structural integrity of the affected area. The site was turned back over to us Monday."

McCarthy said it's his company's policy to hold weekly safety meetings at the site for the staff of McS/EV, as well as the foremen of the sub-contractors involved in the project.

Graduates ready for senior party

BY TONY BRUSCATO

Graduates of Canton and Salem high schools will have the opportunity to win computers, microwaves, refrigerators, golf outings and jewelry at Sunday's All Night Senior Party.

"The past two years we gave away a car and truck, but the kids said they would rather we spend the money to buy computers," said Joanne Lamar, this year's chairwoman. "A lot of them will be able to use them for college, and they are also a nice prize to use at home."

Graduation ceremonies are Sunday for both schools, with the party to begin at 9 p.m. in Salem High School.

"The party goes until 4 a.m.," said Lamar. "If anyone wants to leave early they have to call their parents. The idea is to keep the kids safe while having an enjoyable evening with their friends."

Parents get into the fun, too. Lamar said about 70 volunteers will begin putting up decorations Saturday morning, with 200 parents volunteering to help with games, entertainment and food the night of the party.

Tickets are $45 per student in advance, which can be purchased Friday during graduation rehearsal at PCEP. Tickets at the door will be $50.

Lamar said each year's budget is based on how many tickets are sold. Last year's committee spent nearly $42,000 on preparations, entertainment and prizes, some of which are donated by area merchants.

Volunteers who want to help put up decorations or chaperone the party can contact Lamar at (734) 459-4539.

Say it with Flowers

FLORAL PSYCHOLOGY

Aside from being beautiful, flowers also have therapeutic qualities. They contribute to a sense of relaxation and security and help make a home a sanctuary from daily stress. In this respect, a bouquet of flowers boosts morale. Flowers are mood elevators in that they have been found to change the mood of a room. For example, according to one study, sitting in the presence of yellow chrysanthemums made people more talkative. When making your color selection, begin with your primary room color and coordinate it with tone-on-tone arrangements. If you are interested in something with a bit more punch, work with sharply contrasting colors. And, don't forget the containers, which serve as "supporting actors" to flower arrangements.

We all know that flowers can brighten up a room, but did you realize that they had such a psychological impact as well? We aren't surprised at HEIDE'S FLOWERS & GIFTS - we want to share our flowers with everyone! Come visit us and see what we mean. We are celebrating over 100 years in business, and 25 years in our current location, so you know you're in good hands when you come to us. We're located at 995 W. ## Youth soccer

The City of Plymouth Recreation Department is taking fall youth soccer registration throughout June at the recreation office from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The recreation office is located in the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer.

All registrations require a birth certificate. The fee for Under-6 through Under-8 divisions is $45 for city residents, $65 for non-residents. For Under-9 and older divisions, the fee is $50 for residents, $80 for non-residents.

For more information, call 455-6620. Check out more information and download registration forms at www.ci.plymouth.mi.us.

Chorale auditions

Open auditions for the Counsellor's Youth Chorale of Plymouth will be conducted during the weeks of June 10 and 18th.

Sponsored by Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish in Plymouth, the chorale welcomes young singers, ages 11-18, of all denominations. Under the direction of Susan Lindquist, the choir has performed in St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York, Epcot Center in Disney World and, most recently, participated in an International Children's Choir Festival in Canterbury and London, England.

The chorale rehearses Mondays (during the school year) from 5 to 6:30 p.m. at OLGC.

For further information or to schedule an audition, call Lindquist, (734) 451-1200.

PLYMOUTH PIPELINE

Art winners

The Plymouth Community Arts Council presents awards to the 12 first-place winners in the Isbister/Rotary Student Art Competition at 7 p.m. tonight (Thursday) at the Joanne Winkelman Hulce Center for the Arts, 774 N. Sheldon.

All of the entrants' work will be on display. The award is made possible by the support of the Rotary Foundation, the school art teachers of the Plymouth-Canton community and the PCAC.

For further information, call Jo Hulce through the PCAC, (734) 416-4ART.

Ombudsman legislation

State Rep. John Stewart, R-Plymouth Township, introduced a bill to create the Michigan Guardianship Ombudsman Office.

House Bill 4916 would provide oversight for guardians and conservators to help prevent abuse and misuse of monies from people who are under a guardianship or conservatorship.

Stewart said the bill will provide protection for senior citizens and the elderly.

"Members of several organizations, including the AARP, have spoken to me about the need for someone to look after the needs of people depending on conservators and guardians," Stewart said. "I will continue to work with these organizations to ensure their voice is heard."

Stewart said he received bipartisan support from more than 20 members to co-sponsor the bill, which has been endorsed by members of the Michigan Supreme Court.

Annual run

The Plymouth YMCA's 22nd annual run will take place on Father's Day, Sunday, June 17 at The Gathering downtown. There will be lots of fun and excitement for all ages. At 7:30 a.m., a Kid's Jog for 4-6 year olds; at 7:45 a.m., a Kid's Trot for 2-3 year olds; at 8 a.m., a One Mile Run/ Walk; at 8:15 a.m., a 5K Run/ Walk; and at 8:45 a.m., a 10K Run. Don't forget the "Triple Race" run for all three races (one mile, 5K and 10K). Also included for the diaper set: the Diaper Dash for Under Twos.

Awards will be handed out, and refreshments will be available. Volunteers to help with the race are also needed. Call the "Y" for registration or volunteer information, (734) 453-2904.

Sunrise sale

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce's downtown merchants present the "Sunrise Sale" from 7 to 10 a.m. Saturday, June 16.

The sale will save shoppers 50 percent off the first item and 20 percent off all other items at many downtown stores.

For more information, call the chamber, 453-1540.

PHYSICAL THERAPY UPDATE

Presented by Hands On Center For Physical Therapy
PREVENTING KNEE INJURIES

An estimated 50 million Americans suffer from knee pain or injuries, or have in the past. Looking to the future, knee injuries can be prevented by strengthening the leg muscles, particularly the quadriceps. This large four-part muscle group at the front of the thigh powers the knee movements along with the hamstrings located at the back of the thigh. If these muscles are weak and/or tight, the knee endures extra pressure. A weakness or imbalance in the quadriceps can contribute to improper tracking of the kneecap and to runner's knee. If you are a runner, your quadriceps are probably much stronger than your hamstrings, and it may be a good idea to alternate cycling (which strengthens the hamstrings) with running.

Though modern medicine has advanced light years in the past few decades, there are still certain conditions that resist accurate diagnosis and treatment. If your doctor is unable to define and treat the source of your pain and reduced range of motion, ask for a referral to the HANDS ON CENTER FOR PHYSICAL THERAPY, located in Plymouth at 470 Forest Avenue, Suite 20. Our Staff of licensed physical and massage therapists utilize the latest manual therapies and modalities to ensure fast recovery. For more information about today's topic, please call 455-8370.

P.S. If you have knee problems, do not kneel or do full squats, which can greatly increase stress on the knee.

When completed, the single-story, four-bedroom, aluminum-sided home will have a full basement, be carpeted throughout, with vinyl kitchen flooring. It will cost $60,000, of which half has already been collected through donations.

Plymouth Township Supervisor Steve Mann, the other co-chair of the Blitz Build, rolled up his sleeves to hammer a few nails.

"It was good to see everyone come together," said Mann. "It was nice to see people give equipment, materials, food, and most of all, their time for such a good project."

Mann said dedication ceremonies are slated for June 17, at which time the keys to the home will be turned over to a needy family.

Plymouths throw support behind Canton's water-park proposal

BY CAROL MARSHALL
STAFF WRITER
cmarshall@oe.hometown.com

Canton Township will continue its quest for a water park — with a little help from the neighbors. Plymouth and Plymouth Township, and Northville and Northville Township have thrown support behind Canton's proposal to Wayne County.

"Together the five communities would like to see that kind of facility in western Wayne County," said Plymouth City Manager Paul Sincok.

Wayne County communities learned recently there may be county recreation money available for the construction of an outdoor aquatic park.

"We have very short notice and had to submit something quickly," said Plymouth Township Supervisor Tom Yack.

Under Canton's proposal, the township would provide the land — park land at Ford and Ridge roads — and would pay up to $5 million, or half, of the construction costs, and would operate the park.

Teaming up

Plymouth and Plymouth Township had supported a plan in which Northville Township would provide land near the Scott Correctional Facility off Five Mile and Beck roads, and operate the facility.

However, after a meeting late last month, the Plymouths and Northvilles decided to back Canton's plan.

"You have to be practical when you look at this," Sincok said. "Canton brought to the table more than the Plymouths and Northvilles could bring. It made sense to support the best proposal."

Sincok said the city's recreation master plan calls for cooperation with neighboring communities and the county.

"That proposal fits exactly with our master plan. We're kind of excited about the county possibly looking at this. There would be a lot of give and take, but hopefully the park will be in our area for our residents to use."

Although Sincok added the location is a bit of a jaunt for Plymouth Township and Northville residents, it's still an easily accessible and attractive location.

"Everybody would like to have this kind of park in their own community, but obviously sometimes you just have to settle for the second-best choice," he said.

The Canton board has included the park in its list of goals as part of the recreation master plan. Without partnering with the county, Canton would pay $9 million to construct the park.

Other communities have also thrown their hats into the ring, though Yack said he doesn't know exactly which cities.

"The county is being very tight-lipped about it," Yack said.

Two communities rumored to have submitted proposals — Taylor and Allen Park — have not done so.

Southgate is submitting a proposal to build the park.

Cops expand phone reporting system

BY KURT KUBAN
STAFF WRITER
kkuban@oe.hometown.com

The Plymouth Township Police Department has expanded the capabilities of its Community Watch telephone notification system. Residents will now be able to call in anonymous crime tips, as well as have documents and forms sent to a fax machine 24-hours a day.

The department set up Community Watch in 1999 largely as a way to reach residents and business owners in emergency situations. For example, if a fugitive was fleeing officers somewhere within the township, the police department could record a message and use the system to instantly contact all the homes and businesses within a certain radius to be aware of the situation.

The notification system has also been used to inform people of important meetings and other issues.

One of the new features added to the system this month is an automated hotline number for residents to call in crime tips anonymously in non-emergency situations. If a person thinks something is suspicious, they can call and leave a recorded message.

According to Officer Jamie Senkbeil, the feature is meant to encourage residents who would rather not leave a name help the department keep the township a safer place.

"There are times people know about criminal activity, but they don't call because they don't want to be involved. They think we will outsmart them into providing information about themselves when they call. With this system, they don't actually speak to anyone. They just leave a message," she said.

Another new feature of Community Watch is called Fax-On-Demand, which allows callers to obtain routine forms, including freedom of information requests, press releases, and gun permit applications, by having them sent to a fax machine.

Senkbeil said one of the more popular forms that can be obtained through Fax-On-Demand is the vacation check form.

"The vacation check form tells us when and for what duration a resident will be away from their home, as well as certain information about the house. During that time one of our officers will drive by and check the house out," she said.

In addition to those features, the department has also expanded the system's mapping system to include homes built within the last several years, as well as added crime prevention tips and home security suggestions.

Community Watch can be contacted by calling (734) 414-7518. From there, a number of automated prompts direct callers to the feature they are searching for. For example, the crime tip feature is accessed by pressing 2.

Two stores ticketed in tobacco sting

BY KURT KUBAN
STAFF WRITER

The Plymouth Township Police Department cited two township stores for allegedly selling tobacco to minors during a sting operation Friday night.

Using a couple of Livonia high school students as decoys, officers issued tickets to clerks at the Hines Park Party Store at 40522 Ann Arbor Trail and Amoco Service Station at 42395 Ann Arbor Road.

In both incidents, officers waited outside while student operatives were sent in and used police-marked money to purchase cigarettes. According to police officials, neither clerk asked for photo identification before making the sale.

Officers waited for the students to exit the store before entering and issuing $50 fines to each of the clerks.

According to Officer Jamie Senkbeil, two 16-year-old male students, who are taking law enforcement classes at the Livonia Skill Center, were used in the sting.

"The students go in the store without any ID and only the money we mark beforehand," she said.

In Michigan, the legal age for purchasing or possessing tobacco is 18.

In all, the police department targeted 17 township stores during the sting.

Despite the two violations, Senkbeil said the department was happy most of the stores complied with the law.

"We are very pleased with the results of our enforcement efforts. The majority of the stores requested photo identification prior to sale. In most of the cases, when the operative had no ID, the stores refused service," Senkbeil said.

November by the Traffic Improvement Association of Oakland County concluded that no additional traffic signs were needed. Furthermore, input from residents who responded to city inquiries indicates most aren't in favor of more stop signs.

In an effort to give the request one last consideration, city commissioners directed the administration to conduct another speed and traffic count study of Farmer Street before making a final decision.

"At the time (of the first study), the roads had some snow and were wet ... people weren't speeding because of the weather," said Commissioner Michele Potter. "When the roads are clear they're probably going faster, and that might get us to the minimum requirement in order to put forth more stop signs."

Acting Police Chief Wayne Carroll said, "We're aware of the concerns and will be making Farmer Street one of our priorities."

problem. We are concerned about just putting down an asphalt cap when we know there are spots that need to be repaired. We need to fix those areas and then do the paving," said Michael Bailey, the township's engineer.

According to Bailey, many of the original drainage pipes running beneath the old asphalt are plugged up. In addition, there is clay under the base, so the water has no place to go but to pool up on top of the asphalt.

"We need to dig up the pipes, clear them out and bury them up again with pea gravel. They really need to be repaired," Bailey said.

Bailey said spending $53,000 would be "a worst case scenario." Depending on the amount of damage to the base and drainage pipes, the township could save as much as 30 percent. The money will come out of the Water and Sewer Department budget.

gun, according to police.

Hal Helterhoff, Penske's vice president of corporate security, said even if there had been security, McGhee probably would've gotten in because he was an employee at another Penske facility in Dearborn and was once a driver at the Plymouth facility.

"These are the tragedies you think about all the time, and then it happens and you feel so bad about it. We just feel so bad, and our sympathies go out to all the family members," he said.

According to Helterhoff, Robinson was very well liked by her co-workers, and was in "very good spirits" when she started her shift at 5 a.m. Tuesday. He said the company will bring in a grief counselor to speak with any of Penske's 20 employees.

Helterhoff said the incident wouldn't necessarily make the company add security.

"We will look into all aspects of our operations, from top to bottom. But we live in a free society. You don't want too many badges or barricades to get in the way. But we will definitely take a look at what can be done," he said.

Lt. Robert Smith said the police department is still investigating the incident.

"There are a number of things we are still trying to determine, including ownership of the gun. At this point, we don't believe it was issued to him (McGhee)," he said Tuesday.

All Saints graduates 1st class

BY CAROL MARSHALL
STAFF WRITER
cmarshall@oe.homecomm.net

The opening of All Saints Catholic School four years ago was marked by high expectations and excitement. Last night, in a quiet Mass celebration, the school graduated its first class of eighth-graders.

All Saints' class of 2001 is small - only eight students - but they have proven themselves excellent students, said Principal Jacqui Brown.

The school currently administers to three grades the Iowa Test of basic skills, and Brown said the students score above the 70th percentile.

"We're going to start giving the test to all the grades soon," she said. "I think it would be a wonderful test to see if we're really doing what we hope we're doing and if the skills we teach are lasting skills."

When Brown walked in on a class of third-graders working on Power Point presentations of their favorite lakes and rivers, she suspected the students' skills might be well-ingrained.

But every bit as important as their academic skills is the other lessons they've learned, said Brown.

"Building a school on some principles and values in addition to having great academic education is something of value to us," she said.

The school was the first built by the diocese in 35 years, Brown said. It's unique in that it belongs to no parish, though students must be members of one of the three Canton parishes - Resurrection, Saint Thomas A' Becket and Saint John Neumann - or Saint Kenneth in Plymouth. The parents pay on top of tuition a one-time fee to help fund the building's construction.

"The parishes are certainly supportive, but they are not obligated to give us any amount of dollars," Brown said, adding the churches each agreed to pay the diocese for part of the school during the first five years.

A challenge every bit as great as constructing the building has been forming an identity, a process that continues to evolve.

"Everybody except our youngest students was somewhere else before they came here," Brown said. Not only do the 455 students have different experiences in different schools, but the 25 teachers - most of whom have more than five years of experience - also came together with varying backgrounds.

One part of the school's identity that's already emerged is a strong force of parents who volunteer their time and expertise.

"We have about 100 parents who regularly volunteer their time and are very active in the school," Brown said.

Brown explained the parents have been instrumental in the school's good start on its library, having already gathered more than 5,000 books. They've also organized pretty good volleyball, baseball, soccer and cheerleading teams.

Brown said they help partly for fun, partly for duty and partly because of tradition.

"Catholic schools have always been such a tradition in the church that people want that for their own children," she said.

Students earn scholarships to music camp

Six local students have been awarded scholarships from Marshall Music Co. to attend Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp this summer.

They are: Scott Huddas, son of Jim and Gaye Huddas, Pioneer Middle School, violin;

Christopher Leach, son of Donald Leach, Discovery Middle School, tuba; Jenna Olexsey, daughter of Gerry and Shelly Olexsey, Pioneer Middle School, clarinet; Cameron Scharchburg, Beyer, son of Bruce Beyer and Martha Scharchburg, Canton West Middle School, French horn; and Nicole Widak, daughter of Karl and Suzanne Widak, Discovery Middle School, oboe.

How to Avoid Nine Common Buyer Traps BEFORE Buying a Home

Buying a home is a major investment no matter which way you look at it. For many home buyers, it is an even more expensive process than it needs to be because many fall prey to at least a few of many common and costly mistakes which trap them into either paying too much for the home they want, losing their dream home to another buyer or, worse, buying the wrong home for their needs.

A systemized approach to the home buying process can help you steer clear of these common traps, allowing you not to only cut costs, but also buy the home that is best for you.

An industry report has just been released entitled "Nine Buyer Traps and How to Avoid Them". This important report discusses the nine most common and costly of these home buyer traps, how to identify them, and what you can do to avoid them.

Humane society sponsors cat month

Spring has sprung and litters of kittens are pouring in to the Michigan Humane Society.

Last year, over 21,000 cats and kittens came through the doors of the society's three area shelters.

June is Adopt-a-Cat month and photographer Don Nicholson from Master Photo will be offering a free sitting and a free 5-by-7 photograph for each adopter and his or her new feline friend. Adoptions include sterilization, a health check, age-appropriate vaccinations, a 10-day health plan and an I.D. tag.

The Michigan Humane Society is a private, non-profit organization dedicated to serving the animals since 1877. The MHS operates three full-service shelters and charitable animal hospitals in the metro Detroit area.

Voter participation in forum disappointing

.0001643.
That's the percentage of the 73,000 voters registered in the Plymouth-Canton school district who bothered to show up at a candidates' forum last week at Plymouth City Hall.

All four candidates showed up for the forum, which was sponsored by the Observer Newspapers and the League of Women Voters. Here was a chance for voters to ask any question they wanted of the people who want to be elected to help shape the future of our community's children.

And 12 people showed up.
We'll grant that moving the forum from the Plymouth District Library to City Hall may have affected attendance. The library is more easily accessible to the public, but it's not like City Hall is in the boonies. It's a big building right next door to the library, and it has doors and everything.

And we grant that some people watched the forum on cable television, since Comcast taped it and aired it this week. But was it enough to make a difference?

History suggests not.
■ In June 1998, 2,705 ballots were cast, but 720 of those were absentee votes, meaning only 2,685 actual voters bothered to attend the polls, which are generally open 13 hours for voters' convenience.

■ In June 1999, a banner year around here for school board election attendance, a total of 3,812 ballots (997 of them absentee) were cast.

■ Last June, 2,030 voters actually stepped into the precincts, while another

It's sad, because 3,000 people are making decisions about the education of our children.

876 cast absentee ballots, for a grand total of 2,906 votes.

This is a district facing important issues. There are diversity issues and infrastructure concerns. It's a district whose financial situation is approaching crisis status, whose ability to educate our children may be put at risk.

Why don't people care?

It can't be a lack of information. These elections are an annual rite. Voters are bombarded with information ranging from individual mailings to the kinds of forums conducted last week. The school district peppers voters with information about precincts and schedules, both in their newsletter (mailed to every home in the district) and in newspaper advertising.

Newspapers cover the candidates and the issues. Children, assuming parents are talking at any length with them, are a font of information.

Yet the best turnout in the last three years was the 4 percent or so who bothered in 1999.

"It's sad, because 3,000 people are making decisions about the education of our children," said Liz Adams, the district's elections clerk. "It seems like a lot more people would have an interest."

One would think so, wouldn't one?

■ Township open

To City Commissioner Sean Fitzgerald: let's get it right!

From previous conversations I've had with you, you've impressed me as a level-headed, matter-of-fact type of person.

I find it difficult to believe that you wouldn't check before making erroneous statements. I don't know if you just assumed these details or someone gave them to you; either way you didn't do your homework!

I can personally assure you, having attended the majority of our Plymouth Township board meetings for the last five years, that people in the audience are recognized on any agenda item they wish to address, in addition to the public comment areas at the beginning and at the end of the agenda.

We, the people, have a voice in the township thanks to the courtesy of our board.

■ Supports Broderick

I am writing to express my support for Brian Broderick, a current Schoolcraft College Trustee who is running for re-election on June 11. Mr. Broderick has served the Schoolcraft College community well during his first term. Through his efforts, Schoolcraft has remained an affordable educational experience for many people in our community.

Mr. Broderick's commitment to expanding technology-based learning can only further assist our community in job development and ongoing economic strength.

Please remember to vote on Monday, June 11, and make your vote count by voting for Brian Broderick, Schoolcraft College Trustee.

■ Meeting illegal

This is based on the recent action taken by the Plymouth Township Board at a special meeting held on May 17, 2001, which was called to discuss the selection of a Police Chief.

This meeting was held without an official notice issued to me as a trustee. I personally discussed my availability with the supervisor, the treasurer, the clerk and the trustees and informed them that I would be on vacation. Consequently, to call a special meeting during the time I was unable to attend, and further to add a new item to decide the issue of salary of an elected official at that meeting, is unprofessional, unacceptable and stands just short of breaking the laws of the State of Michigan. I believe the township board acted irresponsibly in this matter.

It is unconscionable that a board member would vote to increase his or her own salary by over 20 percent. When the treasurer, the clerk and the trustees ran for re-election to their position in November, they knew very well what the salary for these positions was. They chose to run an extensive campaign for those positions and they were re-elected. It is deceiving to the taxpayer for them to vote themselves a 20 percent increase in salary so soon after the election.

The issue of salaries is normally discussed in work sessions, as well as in regular meetings, before any decision such as this should be made. It is "dirty politics" and unwise use of the taxpayers money to vote to increase one's salary by over 20 percent, and to do so at a special meeting called for a different matter. These positions have been amply compensated and should not be considered for such a huge increase.

To compare Plymouth Township with surrounding communities is ridiculous. A comparison of the qualifications with treasurers and clerks in other communities is ludicrous as the responsibilities vary drastically.

The action taken by the Plymouth Township board is unworthy of such a board, and is a violation of the public trust.

As to myself, when I ran for this office in November, I promised the taxpayers that I would not accept an increase in the trustees' pay over the four-year life of my term. I consider running for public office is serving the public trust and not taking money from taxpayers' pockets.

I consider serving as a township trustee giving back to the community for what my family and I have received over the years. I will reject any increase in my salary as a trustee, and I will return it to the township for use for other purposes. I challenge the supervisor, the clerk, the treasurers and the other trustees to do the same.

Abe Munfakh
Plymouth Township trustee

■ Empower parents

They have tried everything that gives them more power, why not try the obvious? Everybody agrees when parents are involved the children do good. Why take away parental rights, then ask for parents to help? Only when things go bad for the monopoly they pass the blame to parents when lawmakers are at fault. They took rights away from parents.

How about re-empowering parents, re-energizing parental rights and responsibilities? Put kids first. One of the best examples is our rich history of 220 years of no government involvement in education. Parents educated their kids or found best schools and were able to make them accountable.

Instead of taking parents rights and ability to do anything by using force to take away choices (taxes), we should let parents vote for which schools are best by letting them decide where and if they will send them. Why should we care about who's board certified? Parents and kids should be all that matters.

We need to ask ourselves what does politics have to do with education anyway? Take politics out of education, then lawmakers will have time to work on restoring our liberties and time to work on jailing violent offenders, rapists robbers, etc., ... instead of being sent belt police.

Freedom from politics produces a huge variety of quality products at affordable prices. Nothing can match it. This is just as true for education as it is for clothing, cars, and computers. Reasons to liberate schools from politics:

1. Safety for Your Children — Independent schools are virtually free of the violence that plagues government schools.
2. Consistency for Your Children — Independent schools support your values, rather than undermining them.
3. You Prevail, not Politics — You, not politicians, decide what your children are taught.

4. The Poor Receive Excellent Education — From Marva Collins to local churches, independent schools can provide superior education for the poor at affordable prices. With the removal of government schooling from our society, private scholarships will help the truly needy attend better schools than today.

5. Racial and Religious Peace — By respecting freedom of association, independent schools are virtually free of racial and religious conflict.

6. Innovation and Choice — Instead of "one-size-fits all," educational freedom means innovation and choice in education — from home education to church schools, from high-tech academies to fine-arts schools, from expensive prep schools to store-front academies, plus dozens more: Montessori, Core Knowledge, Trivium, vocational, work-study, apprenticeships, Sudbury, etc.

7. Your Taxes Will Be Slashed — About half of state taxes go for government schools. Educational freedom means these taxes will plummet. The total tax cut can be over $300 billion per year.

8. Smaller, Responsive Schools — With educational freedom, you and your child will no longer feel like a number or a commodity. Most independent schools are already much smaller than government schools, and when not competing with them, most will have fewer than 250 students. While unlikely, if parents want huge schools the size of Columbine, the market will provide them, too.

9. Lots of Schools Near Your Home — With educational freedom, you will have a choice of more schools, many within walking distance of home.

10. Individualized Attention — By using students as teachers' aides, some independent schools will have one instructor for each 3-5 students, giving children the individual attention they need.

Separate school and state is the only thing that will work! It works on Sunday, it will work on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday also.

City must be proactive about Central property

There has been much hullabaloo lately regarding Central Middle School: "Don't close it," "Close it," "It's the hub of the community," "It could generate increased tax revenue for the city of it were developed."

At Monday's city commission meeting, it was proposed that the city government (in the form of its planning commission and city commission) take no action on any rezoning or land use planning as regards the Central Middle School property.

The basis for this position seemed to be that any rezoning or land use plan would send the "wrong message" to the school board and school administration officials, the message being that the City of Plymouth would in fact be anticipating and/or encouraging the sale of the Central Middle School property for development.

Believe me, fellow residents and taxpayers, nothing could be further from the truth, and I believe I speak for all of my city commission and planning commission colleagues.

Your city elected and administrative officials are often criticized for being behind the curve when it comes to being proactive. I for one was accused, not too long ago, of suffering from something akin to benign neglect as regards the Mayflower project.

As a resident quickly approaching 60 years of residency in Plymouth, as a person who spent a portion of his elementary school years, his middle school years, and high school years in what is now called Central Middle School, I for one have a great interest in the future of Central Middle School.

I firmly believe it is incumbent upon city officials to be proactive in the matter of the future of the Central Middle School property. School officials have been sending out a message over the past several years that the Central property may be "on the block" at any given period of time.

One does not have to use too much brain power to understand that if a developer were to purchase the site from the school district, without any predetermined land use program put in place by your city government, that it would be highly probable that the prospective developer would attempt to maximize the utilization of the property. In other words, a very dense type of development perhaps minimizing green and or recreational space.

Clearly the property involved falls under the auspices of the Plymouth-Canton school board, which will have the final determination as to the ultimate fate of the site. Just as clearly the City of Plymouth has a vested interest in the future of the Central site. Whether the site remains a school or perhaps is at some point deemed no longer viable in that capacity will be determined by the School Board and school administration.

Obviously as a long-term resident and graduate of Plymouth High School, I have my own feelings about what happens to the site. Certainly I have emotional ties to the site. I would prefer to have the site remain as it is, but also providing recreational amenities.

If it is intended to be sold then I would want my city government to have the best possible land use program in place related to any possible development.

It is my understanding that one or more forums are planned to be held, seemingly with the intent of turning the disposition of Central Middle School into a political and/or election issue. My general experience with such forums is that they tend to be built around extremes and fraught with emotion.

I believe it is very important for the public to be heard. At least one forum already exists where relevant comments about Central can be made — Plymouth-Canton school board meetings.

I stand firmly in my belief that your city government officials need to be proactive in such matters. I for one don't appreciate being accused of burying my head in the sand and intend to take an active role in pursuing a land use plan for Central which is in keeping with the character of the City of Plymouth and more significantly the neighborhoods within proximity of the Central site.

Sprawl issues affect the details of our lives

My home is along the M-14 corridor that links the suburbs of western Wayne County with the relatively undeveloped areas of Livingston and Washtenaw counties. Once placidly rural, signs of development are cropping up all over.

The rich guy from Oakland County has just moved into his 14,000-square-foot starter home at the end of the road, complete with a gatehouse and a jet d'eau and a pair of mute swans in his pond. A new subdivision — complete with an inviting picture of a country landscape at the entrance — is going in just north of two new and truly hideous big houses, complete with gingerbread on every available surface. And a local family proposes to rezone their 360-acre farm to develop it as a trailer park.

None of this is big news to anybody who has looked around recently. Dirt is being scraped everywhere you look, whether it's for a new subdivision or mall or merely a trophy mansion.

The pressure of development has led to much hand-wringing about "sprawl" and numerous mind-numbing discussions about how to combat it.

On the one hand are the pro-development folks, who never saw a development proposal they didn't like. Trumpeting slogans about private property rights and sneering at tree-huggers, they reflexively support any proposed development, preferably with a rationalized public subsidy "to gain revenue for the local tax base."

On the other side are anti-development folks who never saw a development they didn't hate. Chanting slogans about preserving farmland and green space, they fight losing battle after losing battle as sprawl encroaches daily on diminishing rural areas.

Caught in the middle are local governments, especially zoning authorities, who have master plans and an obligation to follow them but who are terrified of being sued to the breaking point should they deny developers the rezoning or use permits they seek.

Here are three starting points for a commonsense approach to this tangled subject.

Plainly, neither the automatic pro-development nor the reflexive anti-development position can contribute much to useful discussion of this issue. A constructive re-framing might be for everybody to recognize that in many areas growth is inevitable, so the discussion really ought to revolve around how best to manage the growth that is certain to come. For example, my friend, former state Senator Lana Pollock, who runs the Michigan Environmental Council, talks sensibly about "smart growth" — meaning managed growth.

Michigan's Constitution puts a big barrier in the way. We are a "home rule" state, which means in practice that municipalities and, especially, townships, are free to adopt whatever zoning ordinances they wish, regardless of what their immediate neighbors happen to do. That means that a 200-acre shopping mall can be plunked down next to a determinedly rural township, and there's nothing anybody can do about it.

House Speaker Rick Johnson, by background a farmer from northern Michigan, has proposed a series of measures that would coordinate planning among neighboring government units. He deserves a lot of credit for willingness to break loose from a mind-set that places private self-interest over community values. While the Legislature is looking at that suggestion, some attention should also be given to immunizing zoning boards against frivolous lawsuits brought by deep-pocketed developers when things don't go their way.

Lastly, there are certain areas of the state that simply should be preserved from development. The Michigan Nature Conservancy, at 31,000 members one of the largest conservation organizations in the state, is in the process of unveiling a program that prioritizes threatened eco-systems according to hard scientific analysis. The Conservancy works with landowners who wish to place a "conservation easement" on their property, thereby preventing development for all time. It also helps fund outright land purchases and find conservation buyers who are prepared to buy and protect threatened areas.

Obviously, issues of sprawl are complicated, intensely local and often very difficult to resolve. They deserve higher priority in Michigan's public policy and political circles, if only because they affect so profoundly the intimate details of how we all live our lives.

Never thought horror would kindle gentleness

I never expected to feel this way. Maybe the emotion of Oklahoma City ran too high. Standing in front of the television, watching the anguish and carnage, praying harder and louder than I can ever remember. "Please God, please God, please help them."

I remember the babies, and as I held my tiny daughter, I saw her face in each one of them. Babies lost, babies hurt, babies maimed. I saw the face of my own mother in the women sitting on benches, reeling from shock. I saw my sister and brother and friends.

We all saw that. This country, in all of its anguish, came together. We united in a common ground, a bond of love and sympathy and compassion. We wept tears as a nation that we have never wept before, united in the futility of such a devastating loss of life.

For what? Revenge?

We wept communal tears at the thought of the anguish, at the loss of such innocence in Waco. A comedy of errors, resulting in the ultimate horror. Babies condemned to an undeserved hell fire, brought about by the stubborn resolve of a man who fancied himself God, and the stubborn resolve of a posse of cowboys.

We watched in horror, and we prayed as we saw those fires burning. "Please God, please God, please help them."

I never expected to feel this way. When they found the man who drove the truck to that horrific end in Oklahoma City, I felt rage, anger, confusion. Why? Why? Why?

Timothy McVeigh, a man who felt a higher mission. His was a mission of rage, anger and confusion. He had seen Waco, and he had asked, "Why? Why? Why?"

He didn't look like the evil incarnate as I watched his image on the television. He looked like a man/boy, lost, scared and without hope. How could such a person commit such an act?

He sits in solitary now awaiting his execution. Around him, in the outside world, our country unites in a collective blood thirst, anxious for this lynching. McVeigh, the unsanctified martyr, sits, awaiting his unholy redemption, carrying with him secrets, upon secrets, upon secrets.

I never thought I would feel this way. Maybe it was the emotion of that day in Oklahoma City. I don't know what justice is, as I embrace the loss of so very many, the heartache, the grief.

I just know that in those flashes of media of Timothy McVeigh, I see a brother, a son. This person so black of heart, seems to have one thing surviving, something that had long escaped Jeffrey Dahmer, John Wayne Gacy, and Richard Speck.

He seems to have a glimmer of a soul. Please God, Please God, help him and help us all.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

National anthem banned?

I wholeheartedly agree with Rosanna Gulotta's commentary on the demise of patriotism in America ("Take a moment and examine reasons for Memorial Day," May 24). I avoid sporting events, as it is too difficult to tune out the indifferent noise that accompanies our National Anthem. Worse yet are the barbaric cheers when it ends.

I join Mrs. Gulotta in praises for those parents and teachers who are reciting the Pledge of Allegiance and singing the Star-Spangled Banner with children. However, while I hate to rain on her Memorial Day parade, it should be pointed out that the National Anthem can no longer be sung in its entirety in public schools! Teachers must go no further than the third stanza, for it is the fourth that declares:

"Oh, thus be it ever when freemen shall stand

Between their loved ones and the war's desolation;
Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven-rescued land

Praise the power that hath made and preserved us a nation!

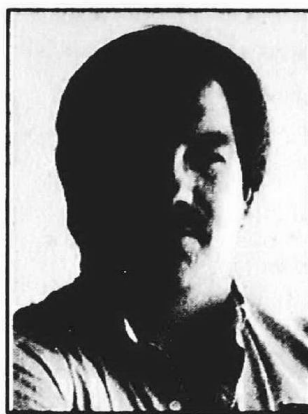

Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just, And this be our motto: 'In God is our trust!'

And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave,

O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave!"

If this isn't a prayer, neither is the Our Father! And as we all know, school-sanctioned prayer is illegal in public schools. What has become of our nation?

In society today, safety is never a certain feeling

The movie Jaws used the catch line, "Just when you thought it was safe to go back into the water."

It's a frame of mind that apparently applies not only in Hollywood, but in real life. Only you'd have to rephrase it to, "Just when you thought you were safe." Period.

Sandy Robinson probably thought she was safe, closed in her dispatch office at Penske Truck Rental. For three years, she'd built a professional life there, getting close to co-workers, apparently trying to work through a troubled marriage.

On Tuesday, the trouble raised its ugly head in the worst way. Her ex-husband, John McGhee of Detroit, walked through the doors at Penske and made his way up the stairs. According to police, Robinson saw him coming and immediately picked up the phone to dial 9-1-1. At the same time, witnesses saw he had a gun and started yelling, to no avail.

The 31-year-old McGhee shot Robinson, then turned the gun on himself. According to police, the sound of the shots could be heard on the 9-1-1 tape. First the shot ending Robinson's life, then the shot that killed McGhee.

Then ... silence. A deadly silence, as it turned out.

As always happens in the aftermath of tragedies like these, details came out rapidly.

■ The couple had divorced. Robinson had reportedly secured two personal protection orders against McGhee, pieces of paper that told him to stay away from his ex-wife, but had no real power. They never do.

■ McGhee was also a Penske employee. According to Tom Racette, Penske's district manager, McGhee had in the last few months been promoted from driver to a position in the logistics division out of Dearborn.

■ According to police, McGhee had rented a room at the Motel 6 at I-275 and Ford Road, where he left a suicide note saying he was tired of "being a burden."

■ Robinson reportedly had two children, one of whom was scheduled to graduate from a Taylor high school the same day her mother died.

■ There was no security system in place at Penske. Not that it would have mattered. According to Hal Helterhoff, vice president of corporate security for the Penske Corp., McGhee probably would have been able to get through the security system because he was also a Penske employee.

Predictably, not many people at Penske wanted to talk much in the wake of the incident. Robinson was described as a "fantastic person," well-liked and popular among co-workers. According to Racette, her personal problems never came up at work, at least not enough to send red flags about a possible attack.

But clearly, if police reports are accurate, Robinson herself felt like something could happen. According to reports, as soon as she saw McGhee coming, she started yelling for him to "go away," while simultaneously dialing 9-1-1.

Murderous intent can't be stopped, not by a barricade and certainly not by a piece of paper foolishly — and deceitfully — labeled as a personal protection order.

In the wake of Robinson's death, security issues will be re-examined, according to Helterhoff. But it didn't sound like too many changes would be forthcoming.

"Any time you have a tragedy like this you look at everything, top to bottom," Helterhoff said. "We live in a free society, so you don't want to see too many badges and barricades."

Unfortunately, in society today, badges and barricades are apparently needed more than ever. Or maybe a case like this proves they're not necessary. If McGhee was bound and determined to kill his ex-wife, depriving her children of their mother in the process, no barricade would have stopped him. He could just as easily have waited outside and shot her getting into her car, or going into her house, or stopped at a red light.

Murderous intent can't be stopped, not by a barricade and certainly not by a piece of paper foolishly — and deceitfully — labeled as a personal protection order.

It's a sad commentary on the times, but perhaps Robinson's death proves one thing, metaphorically speaking:

Rouge Rescue rained out at most sites

BY STACY JENKINS
STAFF WRITER
sjenkins@ee.homedomain.net

Mother Nature wrinkled Saturday's Rouge Rescue river clean-up day with early-morning rain showers, but not all of the scheduled events were a total wash-out.

Volunteers at at least two local sites braved the downpour and persevered until the sun actually peeked through the gray sky about two hours into the clean-up blitz.

More than 100 volunteers planted trees along the banks of Fellow's Creek, a Rouge River tributary cutting through the Sunflower subdivision near Warren and Beck roads in Canton Township. They planted about 175 flowering, canopy and evergreen trees on both sides of a half-mile stretch of the creek.

The stream bank project marked the fourth annual River Day, organized by Canton Township's Public Works Division.

"This year, we're enhancing the creek," said Kelly Kelly, event organizer and Canton assistant township engineer. "It's very important for the whole health of the watershed. Enhanced vegetation helps promote stream quality, stream bank stabilization and enhanced habitat."

Several volunteers were students from Plymouth-Canton High School, who earned community service credits or extra credit for earth science classes. The students said they had more fun than they expected.

Becoming educated is what the Rouge Rescue events are all about, according to Joyce Murphy, from Canton's planning services department.

"This year, we're not so much cleaning up the river, but beautifying it and helping the stream beds while educating people about water quality issues," she said.

Volunteers in Plymouth also braved the elements to make a difference in their neck of the watershed.

About 50 people pulled debris out of the lower branch of Tonquish Creek, a Rouge tributary.

Sponsored by the city of Plymouth, the clean-up event was appreciated by neighbors who live along the creek.

"It's nice when you can really see the difference they've made," said Jean Arlen. The creek runs through her back yard.

Crews in Plymouth, Canton, Redford and one site in Westland accomplished their goal, despite the rain.

Volunteers and municipal crews helped clean up the area near Westland City Hall and a Rouge River site at Lola Valley Park in Redford Township.

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
STAFF WRITER
lchomin@oe.homecomm.net

Leif Asgeirsson doesn't mind growing his bright red hair a little long for the lead role in Oliver. Looking scruffy is never difficult for the 10-year-old West Bloomfield boy especially if it means advancing his career on stage. Already he's two for two, auditioning twice and winning two roles, the most recent for Oliver. The heartwarming musical, presented by TinderBox Productions and directed by Nancy Florkowski of Redford, opens Saturday, June 9 at the Masonic Temple in Detroit.

Even though Oliver was only the second play Asgeirsson auditioned for — that didn't stop him from taking a stage name. He leans over and in a serious tone asks to be called Leif Halston.

Talented family

Talent runs in the family and he's taking advantage of it. Mother Pauline Martin is founder of the St. Clair Trio which recently released its new CD Old Acquaintances on Koch International. As a pianist, Martin concertizes across the U.S. and Canada. Older brother Erik, a cellist with the Detroit Symphony Civic Orchestra, recently placed first in the Birmingham-Bloomfield Symphony Orchestra Junior Concerto Competition.

"I've seen my mom play and consider her a master musician," said Asgeirsson who will soon begin rehearsals for the role of Young Fagin in Mollie's X. The July performance, for which he'll be paid, will be at the Mendelssohn Theatre in Ann Arbor. "She's a good teacher. I took piano lessons from her and she helps with stage presence. I also get tips on being on stage from Erik."

Asgeirsson's acting and modeling studies at John Robert Powers in Southfield, and two years of tap at Cornelia's School of Dance in Keego Harbor, helped prepare him for the role of Oliver, an orphan boy on the road to a life of crime.

"I played the Mad Hatter in Alice in Oz in third grade and had to do imitations of John Wayne and Johnny Carson so the British accent for Oliver wasn't difficult," said Asgeirsson.

Although this is his first production outside of Roosevelt Elementary School in Keego Harbor, Asgeirsson is taking it all in stride.

"I think I was a little nervous but wasn't as nervous as my first audition," he said. "I wouldn't say it's all hard work because acting is fun. What I like about this company is you know everybody. And you learn how you should move on stage."

Role playing

Ruth Sable is enjoying her role as Mrs. Sowerberry, the undertaker's wife, as much as Asgeirsson is Oliver. A 15-year-old freshman at Thurston High School in Redford, Sable is tackling her first major role as well.

"It's really fun," said Sable, who's in her seventh play since sixth grade. "I'm making a big deal out of it so everybody has to come. Mrs. Sowerberry's mean and nasty and doesn't care for kids, the exact opposite of me. I like interacting with the little kids the best. They're so cute."

Acting is only one of Sable's hobbies. During winter, theater takes a back seat to playing basketball and junior varsity soccer as well as writing plays and young adult novels. Sable eventually wants to become an author.

"Acting helps a lot with writing," said Sable. "If I act out

Livonia-Redford Theatre Guild showcases original short plays

BY KEELY KALESKI-WYGONIK

Everybody's got an angle — a reason for doing what they do. Producing an annual festival of original one-act plays is a win-win for the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford.

Audiences get to experience a mind altering night of theater, and the Guild gets the chance to attract new members.

"It's an excellent way of bringing in new talent, and a way of testing people out and recruiting them for larger productions," said Matt Ripper. "There's a lot of talent out there."

One Act-Stravaganza

The Guild's One Act-Stravaganza, which opens Friday, June 15, and runs weekends through Sunday, June 24, will feature four original plays written by local authors.

Glass Slipper, Size 8 1/2 by Jacquelyn Floyd is a romantic fantasy about a girl and her old boyfriend. She's trying to forget him, but he's still in her head.

So Close, written by Ripper, a Guild member, is a play about a storyteller, reason and humor set against the tale of Icarus.

"It's a psychological journey into the way we speak and the way tales are created by reason and humor," said Ripper. "Reason can't exist without being funny because he's trying to make everything rational. Humor is always crashing in, and you need a rational mind to know where the joke is going."

Michaella Dionne of Livonia is directing So Close. She chose it because she thought it would be a challenge.

"It's a romp through mythic arguments between reason, humor and the storyteller," said Dionne. "It will give the actors a chance to play many different characters in one short act. It promises to be a mental, gymnastic theater-going event."

"OK," he says, "How about going to Catholic School and the experience. There are two kinds of people - Catholics and Publics."

I can relate to that - I was a Catholic School dropout.

Then he talks about family, and being one of nine children. "If you want to say something at the table you have to yell it out," he says. "Have you ever been with your family, looked around the room and thought to yourself, if I wasn't related to these people I wouldn't have anything to do with them?"

There are no large families anymore, he explains. People have two children - Brittany and Jason - and a dog with a person's name. "Like my dog George," I answer back. "You got it," he says.

Thomas is familiar to Trinity House Theatre fans, he performed there last year.

That show, he says was more stand-up comedy, this one is storytelling.

Singer-songwriter Christopher Williams will perform a special concert at Trinity House Theatre on 9:45 p.m. Friday, June 8.

Williams third CD "The Silence In Between," features an all-star cast of musicians including Willy Porter, Ellis Paul, David Hidalgo (Los Lobos), bassist Michael Manning, and drummer Jerry Marotta. He has performed on stage with Peter Himmelman, David Wilcox, Patty Larkin, Chris Smither, Dougie MacLean and many others.

The concert will immediately follow a performance from Comedian Bill Thomas. Those who attend Thomas' performance can stay for the concert at no charge.

Tickets for the Christopher Williams concert are $5 and can be reserved by calling (734) 464-6302.

Trinity House Theatre is at 38840 West Six Mile Road, between Haggerty and I-275, in Livonia.

Offbeat

"I love Trinity House Theatre," he says. "I like the location and the fact that the people who run it want to do something different, a little offbeat. They've been very encouraging."

Then he asks me about Hamtramck, and for the name of a good restaurant and coffeehouse. Bill's an offbeat kind of guy.

He tells me that I should always seek offbeat things in my life; that it will make me rich.

He's toured with Jay Leno, Kenny G and others, and makes a living making people laugh even in corporate settings.

It's all perspective, how you look at, and react to things. We ask a lot of the same questions but when Bill Thomas answers, people smile.

Unfortunately, writing doesn't help Sable with acting.

"The biggest challenge is being mean because I'm not that mean in person," said Sable. "And even though the accent isn't difficult, one of my main problems is dancing."

Acting older

Sarah Wiercioch's biggest challenge is playing a character almost twice as old as her 13 years. The Plymouth girl takes on the role of Nancy, a 23-year-old. That's quite a jump from playing one of the Lullaby Girls in "TinderBox Productions' Wizard of Oz" a couple of months ago.

"The challenge is to be older," said Wiercioch who isn't "that worried" about the role. She began acting at age 6 with the Whistle Stop Players at the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

Wiercioch, who recently won a scholarship from the Plymouth Community Chorus to study voice with Linda Venable-Boehk, continues to gain performing experience. She and Oliver cast mate Jerry Reid will sing together at the Liberty Fest noon Sunday, June 24 at Heritage Park in Canton.

The two are "good friends" intent on perfecting their talent.

Reid, a 14-year-old Canton resident, is as busy as Wiercioch trying to resolve his difficulties in portraying the Artful Dodger. Reid's last big part was in The Sound of Music with the Park Players at Plymouth Canton High School.

Reid, who returns to Interlochen arts camp in July to study theater for a second year, is currently a finalist in Ed McMahon's Next Big Star singing competition at www.nextbigstar.com. Once the votes are counted he could be headed for Orlando for the quarter finals at the end of June.

"It's difficult trying to play younger," said Reid who began acting at age 8 with Family Theatres and currently takes voice lessons at Talent Live in Canton. "I try to bring my inner child out of me."

Revelation by David MacGregor of Livonia is a "kind of funny" play about a husband and wife. The husband is the Anti-Christ and doesn't know how to act.

"It's a comedy, but also a little thought-provoking, but not much," said MacGregor. "The husband finds out why he and his wife are getting ready to go to a dinner party. The wife is shocked and sympathetic, but then turns her attention to the dinner party and what dessert to bring. They're just a well intentioned, middle class couple, trying to figure it out."

Glen, Gary, Glen by Tim Jeffrey of Redford, introduces audiences to a really sleazy coffin salesman, and his mark who is shopping for a coffin for his father.

Jeffrey describes his play as a dark comedy - rapid fire nonsense on the order of the Marx Brothers colliding with Saturday Night Live. The play looks at funerals as a kind of entertainment event.

He was inspired by a news clip about a guy scamming elderly people in convalescent homes.

"It was so gruesome that it was laughable," Jeffrey said. "I went into the back room and wrote the play."

His work has been featured at the Purple Rose Theatre. His collection of short stories, Milk Teeth will be published this summer, and a nonfiction work, The Matter with Them, will be finished this fall.

"Encouraging talent is a good thing," said Dionne. "You never know when one of these people could become the next Jeff Daniels."

Backstage Pass celebrates music

BACKSTAGE PASS

ANN DELISI

Over the past several weeks, I've been asking readers of this column and viewers of Detroit Public TV's Backstage Pass to vote for their favorite music acts presented over the first five seasons of the series.

By tallying a surprising number of e-mail messages, phone calls and even a few old-fashioned and fondly received letters, we're ready to announce the winning performances to be reprised in an all-music edition airing 5:30 p.m. Thursday, June 7.

Jazz category

It came as no surprise that Detroit legend Marcus Belgrave was a favorite in the jazz category. He's made five appearances on the show, each time performing with different artists. For the viewers' choice program, he'll be joined by the Jeff Haas Trio and Israeli violinist Miri Ben-Ari.

A bit unexpected was the pick in the pop/rock genre, with Edwin McCain's performance of his huge hit, I'll Be, selected. Voters reached back a couple of years to pluck this goodie. Also making the list of favorite musical moments were gospel's Angie Smith and Don Maybury and a tremendous recent performance by jazzman Joshua Redman.

Ready for the top vote getter?

The Backstage Pass crew was pleased with the choice because it is an outrageous one. The Original Parliament delivered pure funk along with much spectacle, and it was rewarding to discover that the excitement we were experiencing in the Channel 56 studio had been effectively transmitted to the small screen.

Getting a music performance to sound and look its best on television is an art in itself. Deftly handling the sound on Backstage Pass is music producer Ron Pangborn. Meeting the challenge of capturing the mood of the performance, whether sultry jazz or frenzied funk, is the specialty of director Tim Danielian.

"With a group like Parliament,

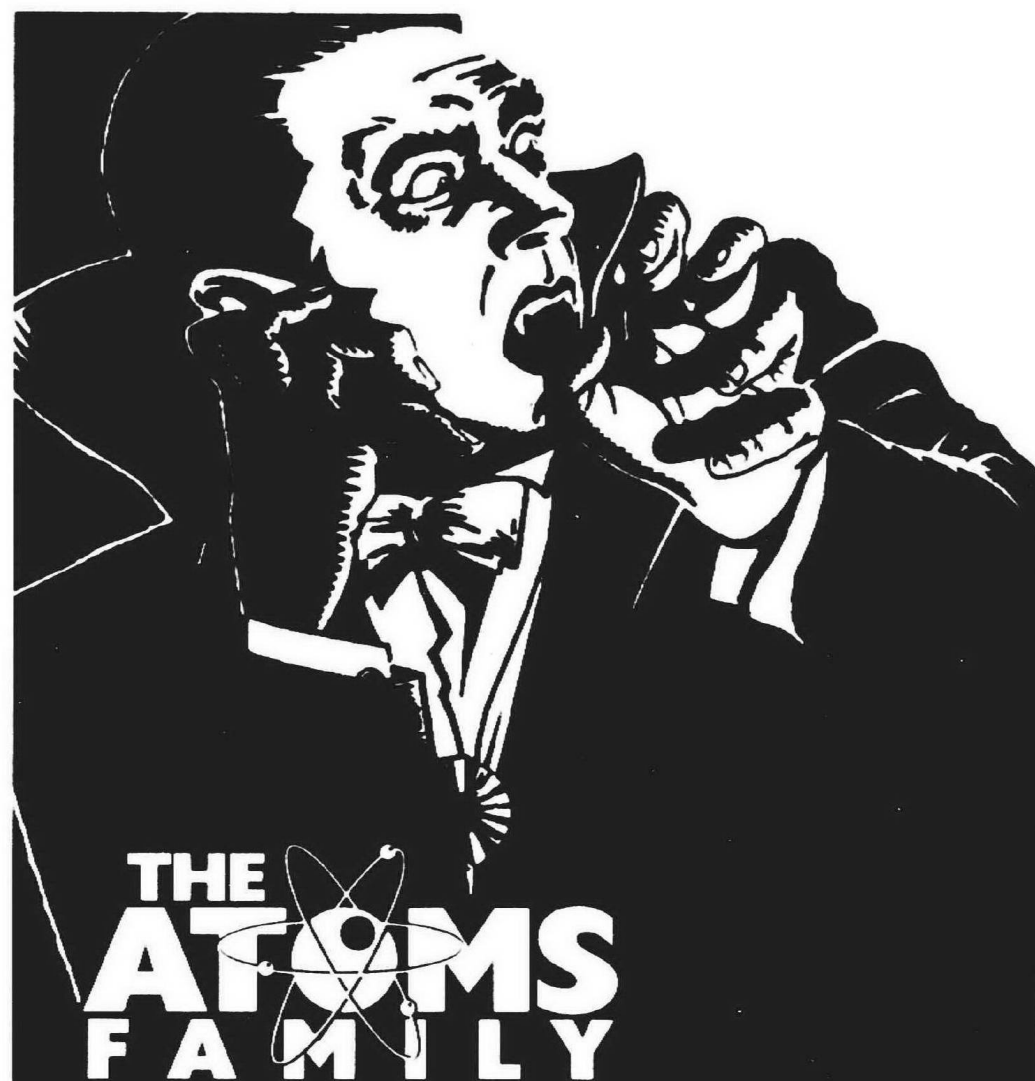

I encourage our camera operators to have a little fun, because that's what I intend to do. Shoot from a weird angle. Zoom in on the wild hat or the flying feet. Because flash is an essential part of the act, when we try something new, it seems to work," says Danielian, who just captured his third Emmy from the Michigan Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences for multi-camera studio direction on Backstage Pass.

Practicing restraint

Part of Tim's expertise is the ability to practice restraint.

"When you have someone like the immensely talented Joshua Redman wowing everyone during rehearsal, you realize that every decision you're going to make in the control room must complement the performance. I'm in constant communication with audio technicians and camera crews to make sure our production enhances the music and doesn't distract."

You can get an earful of outstanding music from both national and local artists, and an eye-ful of Tim's work on the June 7 special edition of Backstage Pass, or by directing yourself to the video vault on www.backstagepass.org.

Coldplay ready for warm welcome

STEPHANIE A. CASOLA

"I've pretty much been interested in music since as long as I can remember," said Guy Barryman, speaking in a leisurely tone from his home in England. The bassist for the latest, greatest Britpop export - Coldplay - has been playing music since he was a teenager.

The difference is, now the whole world can hear him.

Raised on radio

Barryman was born in Scotland, but raised in Kent, England, where he discovered a penchant for record collecting early on. "I guess I started collecting records when I was 14, probably very bad records. I can just remember (that feeling) when you found the (perfect) record. You put a lot into it. It's different when you're a grown up. As (kids), you go out and find it like a treasure."

Now Barryman and his bandmates Jon Buckland (guitar), Chris Martin (vocals) and Will Champion (drums) are making the records for young collectors to treasure. Coldplay's debut Parachutes entered the record charts at number one in their native England - a dream most musicians will never realize. It also spawned the mega-hit radio single, Yellow, which has since boosted the band to the top of Britpop royalty and made Coldplay a household name on either side of the pond. Coldplay shares its throne with the likes of Radiohead and Travis - offering an emotive soundtrack that leaves its mark on anyone willing to listen.

Push play

Coldplay began in 1996, just four college friends. "We were living in the same halls, little rooms with 600 people... in Central London," said Barryman. "There were a lot of musicians. We would jam with guitars in the room. Me, Chris and John got together and started writing songs. We needed to find a drummer. We talked Will into playing drums. He picked them up really quickly."

An accomplished musician who proved talented at guitar, bass and piano, Champion had never played drums before joining the band. He got behind the kit before the first gig - an unsigned band festival in Manchester called In the City - in 1998 and never left. Soon after, Coldplay released its first 6-song EP, Safety on the English label Fierce Panda. Another label, Parlophone snapped up the promising foursome and released a second EP, 1999's The Blue Room, which revealed Coldplay's first single, Shiver. A drifting song of devotion with lyrics like "I'll always be waiting for you," the song made it onto Parachutes as well.

On tour

Though it seems things came together quickly for the young band, it didn't feel that way, said Barryman. "We've worked so hard for 4 years now." He remembers crowds growing from 50 to 700. "It just began escalating, up and up." It hasn't slowed a bit.

Coldplay has embarked on its first headlining U.S. tour - which stops at Detroit's State Theatre today, June 7. The band will be accompanied by Grandaddy, the hand-picked choice to open these shows. "If they had phoned us, we'd be out there in a flash," said Barryman, a fan of their music.

So far, audiences in the United States have been good to Coldplay. "In America people are more up for it, there's a bit more energy," he said. "We always get a warm response from the crowd. Europe is more laid back, like their judging you."

The judgment on Parachutes is in, and it's an undeniable hit. Mixing melancholy with hope are songs with the gentle rush of Spies, the moping piano that trails Martin's apologetic voice on Trouble and the sentimental reassurance of Everything's Not

Coldplay

Lost. The record was completed in nine weeks over a period of six months. The band went into the studio assuming it would only take a couple weeks, but Barryman said, "We didn't want to put something out until we were 100 percent happy with it."

"We were really quite hard on ourselves. When I look back, we worked really hard. We were in the studio until 1-2 o'clock in the morning."

Along for the ride was producer Ken Nelson. "He became a fifth member of the band," said Barryman. "He was mixing stuff up. He's such an easy-going, helpful lad. We're going to continue to work with him."

It wasn't easy to find a producer in the beginning. "We met so many people and they all wanted to put their stamp on it," said Barryman. "A lot of producers are doing it for themselves. We knew what we wanted and what we didn't."

Look how they shine

On Parachutes the band had but one objective. "We just wanted to create atmosphere really," he said. That melancholy essence spills from the record's second single, Yellow. "It was an obvious single. There was no real reason for debate. It was very sort of poppy, catchy."

Barryman remembers the creation of this song clearly: "We were in the studio in Wales, an old converted farm. We went outside and looked up at the sky. I've never seen so many stars in the sky, as far as I could see. Chris went inside with a little idea. We bashed it out really quickly."

Though he plays the songs each night on tour, Parachutes seems like a distant memory to Barryman. He's focused now on new songs. "It's always nice when you have new songs to play. They're a lot more up tempo. It's just getting a lot stronger. It's much more coherent. I'm really excited about it."

Coldplay will return to the studio with Nelson in August to record the follow-up to Parachutes. New songs like Murder, God Put A Smile on Your Face, A Rush of Blood to the Head and Warning Sign are expected to make the cut. "They're really more powerful-sounding songs," said Barryman.

Coldplay fans are waiting patiently.

Coldplay performs with openers Grandaddy, 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 7, State Theatre, Detroit. Tickets for the all ages show are $21.75. Call (248) 645-6666.

'Pearl Harbor' is bloated, soulless account of attack

BY DAVID GERMAIN
AP MOVIE WRITER

The makers of Pearl Harbor have good reason to expect practically every American to turn out for their movie. After all, they took the trouble of listing most of us in the credits.

Hunting for your name in the 10-plus minutes of end credits would be far more productive than watching the nearly three hours of druck that precedes them.

Pearl Harbor may well be the ultimate modern example of Hollywood bloat and bilge. Producer Jerry Bruckheimer and director Michael Bay flung $135 million — $135 million! — at their subject and produced a dumb, soulless behemoth that delivers the cinematic equivalent of shell shock.

For all the 118 actors listed, the movie offers almost no sense of authentic humanity. The faces the filmmakers plaster on their characters are as flat and stereotyped as those on war-recruitment posters.

The Bay-Bruckheimer formula of treating people as secondary to explosions worked just fine in The Rock and Armageddon. Those movies bordered on live-action cartoons.

But Bay and Bruckheimer are now dealing in something bigger than a terrorist siege on Alcatraz or even a planet-killing asteroid. Their subject is real, fresh in the collective memory and vital in recent world history.

You can't tell the story of Pearl Harbor without blowing a lot of things up, but with so much money to burn, the filmmakers could have channeled a little more to script and character development.

Ben Affleck is at his most boring as Rafe McCawley, who trains as a fighter pilot with childhood buddy Danny Walker (Josh Hartnett, going toe-to-toe with Affleck for dullness).

Rafe falls for Navy nurse Evelyn Johnson (Kate Beckinsale, who gives an uncharacteristically numb performance). Their romance is shattered after Rafe is presumed dead in the Battle of Britain, where he'd joined a U.S. squadron.

Both now stationed at Pearl Harbor, Danny and Evelyn commiserate. Next thing you know, Evelyn's friends are telling her to move on with her life, that it's been all of three months and she needs to get back into circulation.

Guess whose arms she circulates into? And guess who turns up alive in Pearl Harbor barely a day before the Japanese attack?

The script by Randall Wallace is forced and foolish, an epic soap opera.

The first half of Pearl Harbor is spent on Rafe and Danny's tedious friendship and their monotonous relationships with Evelyn. There's no spark between Beckinsale and either leading man, while Affleck and Hartnett never muster any kinship, as friends or rivals.

Supporting players include Jon Voight as Franklin Roosevelt, Alec Baldwin as Col. Jimmy Doolittle, and Cuba Gooding Jr., Dan Aykroyd, Mako and Tom Sizemore, all pretty much phoning in roles that have little dimension.

The star of Pearl Harbor is the 40-minute attack sequence, a combination of live explosions and digital effects. There's a handful of gripping images of sailors on sinking ships, but the battle isn't terribly artful or original in capturing the horrors of war.

The violence is sanitized for sake of a PG-13 rating.

Bay and Bruckheimer also had an eye on political correctness. To avoid offending Japanese audiences, Japan's rulers are treated superficially and sympathetically as leaders who feel compelled to attack to preserve their way of life.

For all its feebleness, Pearl Harbor will have audiences lined up around the block.

Disney has marketed the stuffing out of the movie, making it seem like a patriotic duty to see it. That's the real offense.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Scheduled to open Friday, June 8

SWORDFISH

Gabriel Byrne (Travolta), a charismatic and dangerous CIA operative fed up with American bureaucracy, uses a sexy associate, Ginger (Berry), to coerce a computer hacker (Jackman), just released from prison, to steal $9 billion from a DEA slush fund. Stars John Travolta, Hugh Jackman and Halle Berry.

EVOLUTION

The comedy follows the chaos that ensues when a meteor hits the earth carrying alien forms that evolve at an alarming rate, threatening to take over the Earth. The only people standing between their domination are a science professor, an eccentric geologist, a wannabe fireman and a government scientist. Features David Duchovny, Orlando Jones, Seann William Scott and Julianne Moore.

Pick up dinner to go, enjoy the sunset, concert

BY KELLY KALESKI-WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER
kwygolik@sehomecomm.net

Dining out under the stars is one of summer's luxuries. Whether you're planning a sunset supper, or grab and go dinner to enjoy during a concert in the park, local restaurateurs are ready to satisfy your appetite for something simply delicious.

It's best to place your order a couple of days in advance to make sure the foods you want are available.

■ Laurel Market & Deli - 39000 Schoolcraft, Livonia, (734) 779-4525 - has everything you'll need for a memorable summer dining experience - fresh baked Italian bread, desserts, sliced meats and cheeses, sandwiches, subs & pitas, salads, even beer, wine, assorted juices, flavored teas, and sodas.

If you're in a time crunch, this is the place to go. Try Deirdre's Italian Vegetarian Sandwich - Mozzarella cheese, roasted peppers, and sautéed greens served on focaccia bread, or Cathy's Classic Chicken Croissant.

Open 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday-Friday, and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday.

■ At the Sweet Spot Cafe - 37575 Five Mile Road, Livonia, (734) 464-4200 - you can pick up easy to pack and carry "Pita Twist" sandwiches in a variety of combinations from Turkey with Swiss cheese, lettuce, tomatoes, mild pepper, and dressing to Greek, a vegetarian delight of Feta cheese, lettuce, tomatoes, onions, mild pepper, olives and Greek dressing. The Sweet Spot also offers sensational salads to serve as a main course or round out your meal including Garden, Greek, Julianne, Chefs, and Tuna.

But desserts are the real reason you'll want to stop at the Sweet Spot - they're to die for - Key Lime Pie, Tiramisu, cheesecakes, tarts and tortes in a variety of flavors.

They also offer mini, finger-size desserts including tarts and cannolis.

Julia Bou-Maroun, who owns the cafe with her husband Charles, recommends chocolate dipped strawberries for a fun dessert.

The Sweet Spot Cafe is open 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday-Saturday, noon to 10 p.m. Sunday.

■ Mr. Muster's - 37665 Five Mile Road, Livonia, (734) 464-3939 - also offers a variety of fresh salads and roll-up sandwiches. Those with heartier appetites will want to order chicken. Mandarin Chicken - Romaine lettuce, fresh tomato wedges, purple onion slices, chicken breast, chow mein noodles and Mandarin oranges served with poppy seed dressing is an elegant main dish salad that's sure to please. Try Lany's Chicken Caesar salad too.

Boxed lunches, which include choice of a roll-up or deli sandwich, pasta salad or fresh fruit, chips, soda and fresh baked brownie are available for $7.95.

For gatherings of 10 people or more, consider ordering a Lavash Roll-up Sandwich or Mini Croissant Sandwich Tray.

Open 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, 4-9 p.m. Saturday, and by appointment Sunday.

■ Kat's Deli - 36111 Plymouth Road, Livonia, (734) 525-6830 - offers deli sandwiches, desserts, and a variety of salads including garden, chef, chicken breast, Greek, Antipasto and taco.

Three different box lunches are available - deli sandwich with fruit, potato salad and brownie, $7; chicken breast with fruit or pasta salad, chips and muffin, $8.75, or Lite Site - tuna or chicken salad with fruit or pasta salad, chips or cookie, $5.75.

Open 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday-Saturday.

■ Harvey's Old Village Deli - 696 N. Mill St., Plymouth, (734) 453-3705 - offers pita wraps, deli and specialty sandwiches, and main dish salads.

For something elegant order the Grilled Chicken Salad Club Pita Wrap - fresh homemade chicken salad, Provolone cheese, bacon, lettuce and tomato all folded in a grilled pita loaf.

Open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday-Friday, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., closed Sundays and holidays.

■ La Shish - with lots of locations all over metro Detroit is a wonderful place to stop for picnic fare. Order some flavorful dips - hummus or baba ghanoush, or salads, fattoush, tabbouli, finger foods like grape leaves, sandwich, or freshly squeezed juice.

Metro Detroit locations include, Canton, 1699 Canton Center Road at Ford Road, (734) 983-9000, and Livonia, 37367 Newburgh, corner of Six Mile Road, (734) 464-8200. Open 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday-Thursday, and 10 a.m. to midnight Friday-Saturday.

■ Pine Land - in Westland, 8207 Middlebelt Road, between Ann Arbor & Joy Roads, (734) 421-4084; is another good place to stop for Arabic fare.

Open: 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. Monday-Sunday.

■ Penniman Deli - 820 Penniman, Plymouth, (734) 453-3570 - is a great place to stop before attending a concert in Kellogg Park. They offer lots of sandwiches and salads, including the very popular Field Green Salad - Gorgonzola Cheese, shaved almonds, mixed greens, and sun-dried cherries topped with raspberry vinaigrette.

Box lunches - sandwich of your choice, small salad, fruit, soda and cookie - can be ordered in advance.

Open: 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday-Wednesday & Saturday, 8-9 p.m. Thursday-Friday, noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

■ N.Y. Deli & Catering - 19215 Newburgh Road, Livonia, (734) 591-DELI, near Greenmead Historical Park - offers lots of delicious salads and sandwiches to go. Customized box lunches can be ordered 24 hours in advance.

Open 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday-Friday, 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday.

How do their gardens grow? Join the tour and find out

BY DIANE GALE ANDREASCH
SPECIAL WRITER

Unexpected treasures and small slices of paradise packed with breathtaking scenery lie in front of, alongside and behind houses on three area garden walks.

East on Seven Mile Road and south of Inkster Road, there's a home on Indian Street that will be displayed during the Redford Garden Walk that will absolutely stun participants.

Redford's best

The home's 1.75 acres include sloping hills overlooking a bubbling creek, raised beds, shade gardens, full-sun beds, a vegetable and herb garden, berry trees and a splash of perennial flowers. The hostess and ferns are stunning.

The owners' bat house on a tall tree near the creek attracts the nocturnal mammals. On the other end of the yard, near the house, two pet bunnies sit in a penned-in area.

The modest neighborhood belies a hidden glorious retreat that includes a patio with a wooden awning overlooking water in a cozy setting that could rival most resort getaways.

In fact, the owners of the home, Kathy LeClaire and Christina Gassner, gave up numerous camping trips to stay in their own backyard. Why go anywhere when you can open your back door and see all of nature's glory unfold including wildlife and lush greenery?

Their home is one of eight on display in the garden walk, sponsored by the Redford Township Beautification Committee.

Livonia's beauty

In Livonia, a hedge of fairy pink rose bushes gives passers-by a hint of the majesty that lies ahead at a home on Myrna, north of Five Mile Road, east of Hubbard.

The front yard presents a rainbow of flower beds carefully planted for more than three decades by Zenobius and Oksana Stelmach. A row of lively pink honeysuckle and white hydrangea welcomes visitors.

When a breeze rustles branches, the aroma from lily-of-the-valley and a multitude of flowering trees is overwhelming. Along the front of the property, Stelmach points to the mounds of perennials he so carefully tends.

A special botanical project is hidden among the white cress, pink and white bleeding heart, snow on the mountain, irises, silver dollars, peonies and an assortment of ferns and hostas.

Stelmach grafted rose branches from the fairy bushes and carefully covered each to protect their roots. Some will take, others won't.

His conversation is fertile with the attributes of what nature does to the garden caretaker.

"After a day's work, a relaxation for me was to transplant something. I just enjoyed it," said Stelmach, who is retired from his job as a professor at Highland Park Community College where he taught chemistry and biology.

On 1.25 acres of land, Stelmach has planted hundreds of trees including a multitude of spruces and pines. White and varying shades of purple lilac bushes decorate the back yard among forsythia, aster, lamb's ear and berries.

Oksana makes jellies from the berries and Stelmach uses them on his bread every morning.

When the Stelmachs bought the house in 1962, there were just eight apple trees on the lot. Four of the eight are still thriving. A pigeon coop, with mostly rollers and one "homer" bird, lies above a two-story shed tucked in the back of the property.

Stelmach's home will be among seven gardens on display during the Livonia garden walk.

Planted in Plymouth

In Plymouth, it's only fitting that Ann Warren should have an English garden, as she was born and raised in England.

Living in the United States for 32 years, Warren has managed to make room for hundreds of old perennial favorites, such as large flowering peonies, wisteria, iris, regular and miniature roses and scores of day lilies showing their blooms among wavy borders.

She has lived in her Plymouth home for 22 years, but she started her garden just 12 years ago. The tall delphiniums are her favorite.

"Some years they're really good, and some years they're not, and we just wait to see what comes up."

If Mother Nature cooperates - and she usually does - Warren has something flowering from late winter into late fall.

"I tend to over-grow," Warren said. "But when the bulbs die down, there's something that comes right up."

A large deck loaded with pots planted with petunias, pansies and assortment of other annuals is a focal point. But it's the decorating nuances, such as a tiny stone patio with a garden swing and the tastefully placed arbors, that make the biggest impression on visitors.

Her advice to new gardeners is to get plants from friends and family who are dividing their overgrown perennials.

"That's a cheap way to get started. I'm always giving stuff away."

Plant flowers that you know are successful, she added.

"Some things just don't do well here," Warren said. "We've got shade along the back, and it's very hard to get things to grow back there. Some things just don't make it and you have to try something else until it will."

Greenmead benefits

All proceeds from the Livonia garden walk will go to the historic village, explained Janet Bennett, chairwoman of the Friends of the Development of Greenmead. The money will be earmarked for renovations to the Judge Blue home so that it can be used as a conference center and reception room.

The homes on the Livonia walk range in style from pristine and manicured to free-flowing and packed with flowers.

Taking pains not to reveal the locations of the homes before the walk, Bennett said: "One is on a ravine lot. She has a nice mix of perennials and annuals with interesting features, such as a patio with a long swing."

"You look down the ravine and creek and she has a little vegetable patch. It's very charming. The woman has a real knack."

Another garden is at a recently built home on a cul-de-sac south of Six Mile Road and east of Middlebelt.

"The lady in the home is a master gardener and she loves to talk about her plants," Bennett said. "She's bubbling over with enthusiasm, and I'm sure everyone will love talking to her and getting their garden questions answered."

Another couple was recommended by their neighbors to be on the walk.

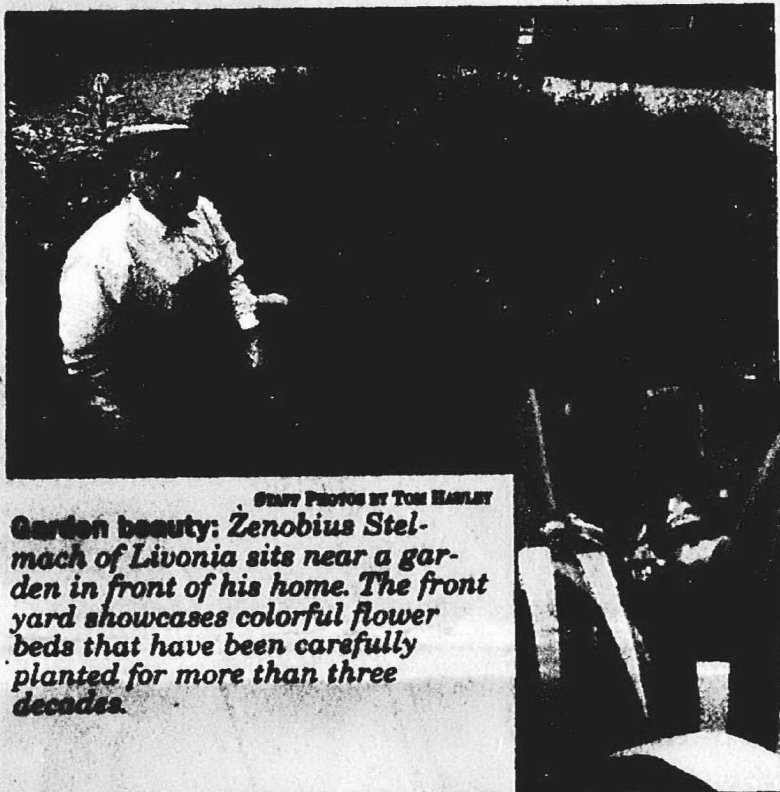

"The lady of the home has pots hanging from the fence all over the yard. The interesting thing here is that interspersed in the beds she has figurines and carousel characters many of which she painted herself."

In Redford, some the yards will take more time than others to walk through, said garden walk chairwoman Janet Watson.

Watson's garden will be on the walk and features a waterfall pond with fantail fish that has earned her the nickname "Grandma Fishy."

The pond is home to frogs, tadpoles, water lilies and other plants to keep the water oxygenated.

Like most gardeners, Watson deals with varying soil and sun conditions.

"I have a lot of shade in my garden," Watson said, explaining that the area that gets the sun is used for perennials and an herb garden with clusters of lavender, sage, rosemary, parsley, thyme and basil that love the light.

In recent years, Watson added grasses. Her color scheme usually leans toward the blues and whites.

Garden varieties

In Plymouth, Georgia Randinitia, president of the Trailwood Garden Club, described five homes featured in the walk as varied as the homeowners themselves.

One home will show how to successfully use potted plants to perk up areas.

Container gardening is becoming a new trend that allows gardeners to move the color where it's most needed depending on the perennials in bloom, she said.

"That's getting to be quite a big thing. Often times you have a yard that you can't have a flower bed in. And people are finding that they don't have time to take care of a major garden."

■ Another gardener on the walk is artistic. Her landscape features a free-form garden with a lot of artifacts that she's created, such as painted signs and furniture.

Gardening newcomers often think that once perennials are planted, there's nothing left to do but watch the color show, she said. They don't realize that the dead flowers need to be removed and that older plants need to be divided among a multitude of other upkeep chores.

She laughed a moment and added that there are some exceptions to that rule, such as peonies, which can be left "alone for about 10 years" and still flourish.

Another gardener on the walk is artistic. Her landscape features a free-form garden with a lot of artifacts that she's created, such as painted signs and furniture, as well as whimsical garden art.

Several gardens at St. John's Golf and Conference Center at Five Mile and Sheldon roads in Plymouth will also be on display.

Garden walk participants will learn about composting from another homeowner.

"She has a lot of knowledge about that for the average homeowner," Randinitia said. Refreshments will be served at one of the homes. Also, coinciding with the garden walk, the Plymouth Arts Council is sponsoring a floral art display by Nancy Walls Smith, a Plymouth artist.

If art feeds the soul, gardens nurture the gardener's nature. Probably the best gardening advice came from Stelmach, with wisdom cultivated from years of working the soil.

"If you get nervous and have high blood pressure, get yourself a garden. But if you're a quarreling person and get mad at the weeds, the garden is probably not for you."

"You've got to like plants. If you don't like plants, nothing will come out of it."

GARDENING CALENDAR

Does your garden club have an upcoming event or meeting you want publicized? Send items for consideration in Gardening Calendar to Ken Abramczyk, Observer Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150 or e-mail kabramczyk@oe.homecomm.net. To send a fax, call (734) 591-7279.

NURSERY SCHOOL

ARRANGEMENTS

Several workshops, including a hand-tied rose bouquet workshop on Saturday, June 9, are scheduled at Keller & Stein Florist and Greenhouse, 42158 Michigan in Canton. Reservations are needed for the workshops. Each workshop costs $10 per person and is nonrefundable. Classes are scheduled at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Workshops also are scheduled on water plants for Saturday, July 21. Call (734) 397-0800.

SAGUARO

Saguaro Nursery and Gardens, 470 W. Five Mile, in Whitmore Lake, has scheduled free 45-minute lectures at 1 p.m. Sundays in June. Please come prepared to walk. On June 10, Gardening in the Shade will be discussed, featuring wonderful woodland plants and how to grow them. Other topics are water gardening, June 17, and Ornamental Grasses and Bamboo for Michigan Gardens, June 24. Call (734) 449-4237 for information.

GREAT LAKES ROSES

Nancy Lindley will discuss history and horticulture in Yesterday's Roses for Today's Garden at 1 p.m. Sunday, June 10 at Great Lakes Roses, 49875 Willow in Belleville. A Rose Propagation Workshop is scheduled for Sunday, June 17. Participants will use a kit to prepare rose cuttings to root at home. (Fee is $20 for the propagation class. Reservations are requested since space is limited in the greenhouse.) Roses for an Empress: The Life and Rose Garden of Napoleon's Josephine features a slide presentation by Lois Wier of Grand Rapids. Call (734) 461-1230.

BACK TO CLASS

MORE GARDENING

The Michigan School of Gardening, 29429 Six Mile, in Livonia offers classes on a variety of subjects. Register in advance. Classes are limited in size. Weekly classes usually are scheduled for 9:30 a.m., while evening courses begin at 6:30 p.m. Classes listed here will be taught at the Livonia facility. Here is a list of some of the classes, some of which require prerequisite courses or experience: Difficult Sites Part I on wet and dry sites, two Thursdays, starting June 7; Difficult Sites Part II, starting Thursday, June 21. Also, the school plans to host Allan Armitage, well-known gardener, author, instructor and professor of horticulture on Friday and Saturday, June 22-23. He will appear at garden tours in Beverly Hills and Bloomfield Hills. Armitage will appear Sunday, June 24, at the Michigan State University Management Education Center in Troy. Tickets are $45 per person, $55 after May 25. Call (248) 4-GARDEN for a brochure and registration on the Armitage visit. For information on spring classes, times and costs or click on www.michigangardening.com for class information or for classes at other locations in Detroit, Pontiac and Macomb Township.

GARDEN WALKS

SOUTH LYON

The 4 Seasons Garden Club of South Lyon will have its third annual garden tour from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, June 23 featuring six landscapes. A Fine Art and Craft Fair will take place the same day at McHattie Park in South Lyon. Mapped tickets are available at Floribunda, 226 Pontiac Trail in South Lyon or at McHattie Park on Pontiac Trail, south of 10 Mile Road. For information, call (248) 437-2464.

FRANKLIN

The Franklin Garden Walk presented by the Franklin Branch, Woman's National Farm & Garden Association, is Wednesday, June 13. Times are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 6-9 p.m. Baked goods and garden crafts will be sold during daytime hours at the Franklin Village Gazebo on the Village Green. A salad buffet lunch will be served 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. at the church. Lunch tickets are $8 (limit 200). Garden walk tickets are $8 presale, $10 the day of the event. ## CREATIVE LIVING

Become streetwise about street life photography

FOCUS ON PHOTOGRAPHY

MONTE

Did you know that one of the most varied and rewarding of photographic subjects is literally right at your doorstep? It's street life! Whether it's the familiarity of your own town or the unexplored streets in a strange place, street life provides tremendous opportunity for you and your camera.

If you look through a photography book or at a collection of old photographs, you'll find some of the most interesting pictures are invariably of street life. This is largely because it is this aspect of our lives that most readily reflects the fashions, trends and lifestyles of a particular period.

Store fronts have an identity of their own. Advertising signs, lampposts, even mailboxes are important features of the street and can be effective elements of a photographic composition.

A street is dynamic. Cars, buses and bicycles are all subjects with strong pictorial potential.

And, of course, there are the people. People walking down the street, people engaging in animated conversation, people standing on the corner — all wonderful opportunities for street life photography.

There is an almost irresistible appeal in people pictures and a subject preoccupied is easy prey to a photographer with a keen eye and a quick response.

A street market can be a treasure house of street life pictures. Market people are extroverts by nature and often have faces and mannerisms that can make great photos.

One of the problems that often occurs in street life photography is confusing and busy backgrounds. Try to avoid this by choosing a camera position that isolates your subject from the surroundings. Use a telephoto lens to frame your picture tightly and by using a wide aperture, distractions in the background will be kept out of focus.

To minimize problems with contrast, photograph subjects that are out of direct sunlight. Better still, an overcast day provides the best lighting for street life people pictures. Bright colors are more saturated and lighting on faces is more flattering.

Use a fast film in the 400ASA range, either color or black and white, depending on your preference. The faster films will enable you to hand hold exposures under most circumstances.

So there you have it! Become streetwise with street life.

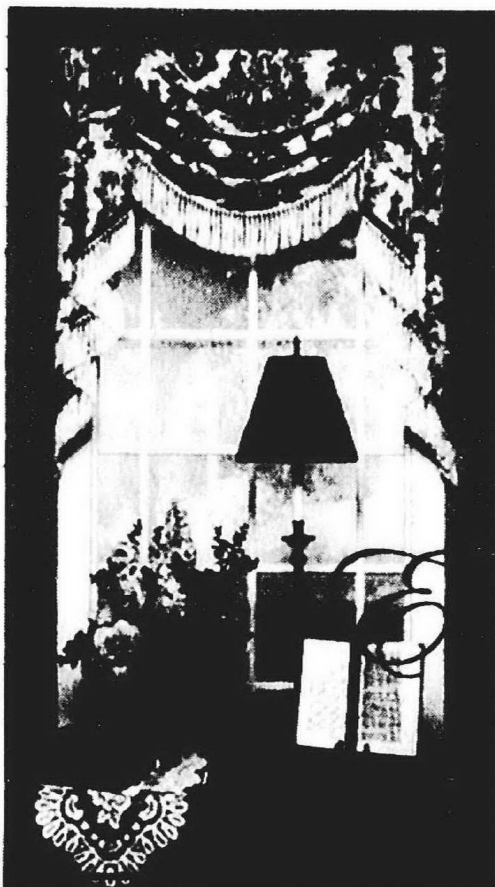

Monte Nagler is a fine art photographer based in Farmington Hills. You can leave him a message by dialing (734) 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone. His fax number is (248) 644-1314.

On the street: The possibilities for street life photography are endless. Monte Nagler came across this "art connoisseur" on Moscow's famed Arbat Street.

ART FAIR

Garden art designer strikes inspiration from antique iron

BY MARY KLEMIC

STAFF WRITER
mklemic@oe.hometown.com

Wendy Lewis' inspiration for her garden art came out of surroundings of antique metal. Now she makes art and furniture for the garden out of antique iron.

About four years ago, Lewis was a volunteer at the Animal Orphanage fund-raising booth at the Royal Oak Farmers Market. She was surrounded by ornamental and antique metal items and noticed how lovely real flowers looked placed next to antique iron.

Lewis had two thoughts, she said: "Why not design iron flowers from old iron?" and then, "Why not design benches for the garden using pieces of antique iron?"

Creative business

The result was her creative business, Wendy Lewis Designs, in which she transforms antique iron into such items as benches, planters, tables, credenzas, trellises and sculptures.

Lewis, who attended Seaholm High School in Birmingham, has displayed her work at the Grosse Pointe Designer Showcase Home 2000, the Antique Home and Garden Show in Southfield in March, the Royal Oak Farmers Market, and art shows such as Art on the Village Green in Franklin.

Lewis will feature more of her pieces Saturday-Sunday, June 16-17, at Art in the Sun, the 13th annual art fair on the streets of Northville.

Lewis' artistry can make gears into flower heads, and add graceful curves like elegant vines to the frame of a chair. The pieces may be painted, or left with the natural rust or patina shade.

Many of them can be used in different ways. A towering sculpture makes a good base for climbing plants or hanging baskets. A credenza could be topped with glass or marble, or left open to become a giant planter.

Tower of inspiration: This sculpture by Wendy Lewis could be a base for climbing plants or hanging baskets.

Lewis, who has an assistant, learned to do her own welding. She spends two or three days a week in Beverly Hills, but works mostly at her farm near Saginaw.

Lewis' first passion is animals. She is still an active volunteer with Animal Orphanage, a non-profit group that tries to place homeless cats and dogs in homes after they are spayed or neutered. She donates art work profits to the group.

(Hours for Art in the Sun are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days. Admission is free. For more information, call the Northville Chamber of Commerce at (248) 349-7640. For upcoming show dates or other information about Wendy Lewis Designs, call (248) 647-6734.)

WEDDINGS & ANNIVERSARIES

Rosevear

William and Catherine (Saharchuk) Rosevear of Livonia will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary this week. The couple wed June 9, 1951 at Tabor Lutheran Church in Detroit.

The Rosevears moved to Livonia in 1961 and have lived in the area ever since. They have two sons, David (Sharon) of Commerce Township and Allen (Janet) of Canton.

William and Catherine met while working at Ford Motor Company, where he was an engineer for 36 years. William Rosevear, also a World War II veteran and recipient of the Purple Heart, retired from the company 1983. His wife, Catherine, is a homemaker.

Cosner

John "Jack" and Mildred Hagen Cosner of Livonia are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary this month. The couple wed June 2, 1951 at Holy Cross Lutheran Church in Detroit and moved to Livonia in 1953.

They have three children: Karen Stearnes, Janette Cunningham and Deanna Molnar. They also have 8 grandchildren.

Jack Cosner has worked at Holcroft & Co. for more than 50 years and is semi-retired. His wife, Mildred, is a nurse for Dr. Louis B. Garipey.

The couple remain active members at Hosanna-Tabor Church in Redford. They enjoy traveling, spending time with friends, family, and especially their four grandchildren: Rebecca, Katelyn, William and Amanda.

To celebrate the occasion, the Rosevears will spend special time with family.

Lewallen

Earl and Lorene (Miller) Lewallen of Garden City are celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary this year. The couple met in junior high school in Oklahoma City and graduated from Capital Hill High School. They wed April 19, 1941 in El Reno, Oklahoma and moved to Michigan.

The Lewallens have two sons: Robert Earl Lewallen (Patricia) of Traverse City and Donald Ray Lewallen (Gloria) of Garden City.

The Lewallens celebrated the occasion with a family dinner at Hawthorn Valley on April 28. Also present were their granddaughters, Bethany (and fiancé, Troy Raber) of Fredrika, Delaware and Kristi of Englewood, Colorado, and their grandson, Jamey, who lives in Dearborn Heights.

Earl Lewallen also celebrated his 80th birthday on April 19. Congratulations to The Lewallens.

Phillips-Misfud

Tom and Carol Gourlay announce the marriage of their daughter, Jennifer Lynn Phillips, to Charles George Misfud of Westland.

The bride is a 1990 graduate of Ladywood High School and a 1996 graduate of Madonna University. She is a second grade teacher at Walled Lake Schools.

Her husband, son of Charles and Mary Misfud of Detroit, works as an office manager at Entertainment Express in Dearborn.

The couple wed Feb. 17, 2001 at St. Michael Church before the Rev. Alberto Bondy. The bride was attended by Tina Ellis. The groom was attended by Mark Black. The couple received guests at Warren Valley Golf Course and took a wedding trip to the Bahamas. They made their home in Westland.

COMMON SENSE

JACQUE MARTIN-DOWNS

Survivors aren't just on television

Ashley, a precocious 11-year-old and native of Texas, decided one day that she wanted to write a fan letter to one of the Survivor contestants - Rodger Bingham.

Survivor, a CBS television show, aired this last winter for 12 weeks and had over 28 million weekly viewers rooting for their favorite participant.

Checking the phone directory, Ashley discovered that Rodger had an unlisted address, but she knew that the contestant hailed from Crittenden, Kentucky. The only listing for a Bingham in Crittenden was for a Wilbur Bingham. Armed with Wilbur Bingham's address, she unabashedly drafted a letter to Wilbur with hopes that somehow he would be related to the universally-liked Rodger Bingham, and further, that the letter would be passed onto her hero - Rodger.

This begs the question, why was the show Survivor so popular and what made Rodger Bingham, the 53-year-old farmer from Kentucky so likable with 11-year-olds like Ashley?

Reality television

For those who haven't followed the show, 16 people were picked from a possible 49,000 hopefuls to participate in a "reality-based" program that pits them against one another in grueling athletic and brain-teasing challenges in order to see who can outwit, outlast and outplay the others.

All of the contestants' actions and reactions in the "primitive" outback of Australia were videotaped 24/7. We learned from the show about character vs. ruthlessness; integrity vs. backstabbing. I found the show quite engaging because of the quality of people who participated... like Rodger. I understand that more scoundrels surfaced in the original Survivor series aired last summer.

Wouldn't it be nice to theorize that this group is a microcosm of American society.

Survivors? Reality? What about those who are diagnosed with cancer? They too, are survivors. Suzanne Sommers, a celebrity with cancer, recently commented that cancer isn't for cowards. Isn't she right?

Lately, I have been shaken by the number of people I know who live in Livonia, Westland, Plymouth and other suburban areas who have been diagnosed with cancer. You may know these people. They could be your neighbors, relatives or family. Some are younger, some older, but I've noticed an overriding survivor trait of character and integrity in these friends. This debilitating, life-threatening disease seems to strike good and decent people. It is not the Rodger Bingham or these cancer victims of the world who necessarily win the game, but they are just good people, period.

But let us return to Ashley, the young lady who wanted to express her admiration for Rodger Bingham via Wilbur Bingham of Crittenden, Ky. She, like me, saw these stellar qualities in her favorite Survivor contestant, the senior member of the Kucha Tribe. Not one negative thing was ever said about Rodger because he never bad-mouthed or criticized other players. From talk show hosts to Monday morning pundits, everyone said what a good guy Rodger was.

And what did Wilbur Bingham do with the letter from the Rodger admirer? Well, Ashley made a good guess that her letter would end up in her favorite contestant's hands. Crittenden, Ky., is filled with Bingham who, as you might guess, are related to one another. Ashley would be pleased to know that Wilbur made sure Rodger got the letter.

Surviving a television show is not even comparable to surviving cancer but I've admired the personal qualities exhibited in many of the people from both groups. I am also proud to be married to a person with an equal amount of goodness, character and integrity - and coincidentally, Rodger's cousin.

FRIDAY'S

BY KIMBERLY A. MORTSON
STAFF WRITER
kmortson@oe.homecomm.net

When you list the organizations, causes and service clubs Julie Patterson has been involved in, it's easier to list the ones for which she hasn't volunteered her time.

Patterson, 17, was nominated by her mother, Mara, to be the HomeTown Life section's Friday's Child for June. A junior at Plymouth Salem High School, Patterson has been serving people in and outside of her community since she was in elementary school.

"She was born on a Friday," said Patterson's mom Mara. "The definition of a Friday's Child fits her to a T."

From helping repair homes as part of an Appalachian service project her church sponsors, to delivering food for the Salvation Army and tutoring middle school students after school each week - Patterson says she wishes more people her age got involved in their community.

"I'd love to see more kids actively participate in some form of community service," said Patterson. "They don't know what they are missing. It's very rewarding to see how giving back makes a difference in peoples lives."

Striking a balance

In addition to being involved with the First United Methodist Church youth group, she was treasurer as a sophomore on student council (presently a delegate member), is the current treasurer of Salem Congress (she will be mayor during the 2001-2002 school year) and a member of Youth Empowerment Source.

"She's a teen with total leadership qualities," said George Hunger, director of youth ministries at First United Methodist Church on North Territorial Road. "She's very motivated, she gets very excited about projects and is very upbeat. She'll make a great leader someday."

Quality time: Mara and Julie Patterson spend their laps around the track talking at the Canton Relay for Life event in May.

The difference the Plymouth high school student has made in people's lives is immeasurable, says her mom. While you can add up her volunteer hours and the number activities she's busy with each and every week, Mara says her daughter reaps the benefits of volunteering as much as the people she's helping.

"I'm very proud of her. I think each and every person she meets, whether they are a child or an adult, has some impact on her. You can't be involved with all these different organizations and not have it shape who you are. It amazes me that she can do as much as she can."

As an example of her sincere willingness to give, Mara shared the story of a recent family vacation they took to Brooklyn, Mich. Patterson previously attended a summer camp near their vacation spot and she decided to visit the camp and catch up with any friends that may still be there. During her visit she learned that the camp was now serving hearing impaired children from the Holly Ear Institute. After talking to the gentleman who runs the stables, she volunteered to help out over the course of the next week when they were hosting a camp for children with multiple physical challenges.

"Julie and I went to this tiny little library they have there so she could pick up a book on sign language and teach herself over the weekend to communicate better with the kids," said Mara. "That's why I admire her."

Patterson taught herself the alphabet and a few simple words and phrases before spending the remainder of her vacation at the camp helping the children ride horses.

"It was amazing. I loved it," said Patterson. "The kids taught me even more words during the week."

When asked how she finds time to maintain an above average GPA, swim competitively, baby-sit, teach arts/crafts at Vacation Bible School, coordinate the Plymouth Salem and Canton High School Prom Fashion Show, dance, kickbox, and be involved in fund-raising for Relay for Life, March of Dimes, Cystic Fibrosis and the Muscular Dystrophy Association, Patterson barely pauses.

"I look forward to it. It gets really nuts sometimes but you can always find time for things," said Patterson.

The Salem junior usually spends her summers volunteering on a mission trip through FUMC of Plymouth. This summer an opportunity arose for her to participate in an archaeological dig in Crow Canyon, Colo., with her anthropology class. Although the date conflicts with the Appalachian trip, Patterson has already made plans to go in 2002.

She and her parents, Mara and William Patterson, will be visiting several Michigan and east coast colleges this summer to narrow her choices. She hopes to pursue a career as a teacher or a school counselor.

"She's just that extra-mile kind of person," said Patterson's mom Mara. "I admire that."

Hospice, convalescent center remember loved ones

Prayers and fond memories were shared May 15 during the National Nursing Home Week hospice memorial at Westland Convalescent Center. The annual event is hosted by Community Hospice & Home Care Services and serves to honor individuals who have passed away recently.

According to social worker MaryJo Vella, it gives both staff and residents of facilities, that deal with death on a daily basis, the opportunity to grieve and remember lost loved ones.

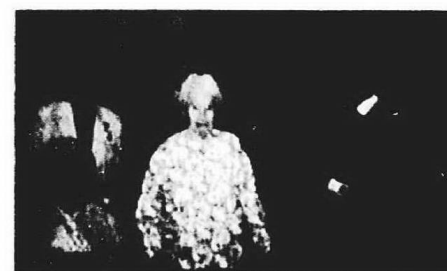

"It's a time for the residents, families and staff to reflect," said Vella. "Many times it isn't until the person's name is read aloud that others take the time to grieve. A lot of times we get caught up in our daily routines and we let the grief compound."

The Westland social worker shared the story of a WCC resident who approached her after the memorial and thanked her for the opportunity to commemorate his friend.

A memorial tree, thanks to a donation by Clyde Smith & Sons Nursery of Westland, was planted on the grounds of the Westland nursing facility. Hearts and ribbons bearing the names of those who died were placed on the tree and their names were read aloud during the "A Remembering Time" ceremony.

"It's very therapeutic. People stand up and tell stories and reminisce," said

Vella. "The idea behind planting a tree is that it's a living thing that goes on living and becomes part of the landscape."

About 60 people attended the spring memorial in the main dining room of the Westland Convalescent Center. The next memorial service will be held July 11 at Whitehall Healthcare Center in Novi (43455 Ten Mile Road). To attend please call (248) 349-2200.

Being Appreciative

When someone does something nice for us, it is only right and proper to express our gratitude and appreciation to them. Oftentimes a sincere "thank you" may be all that is needed to let someone know that you are grateful for their good service or help. Sometimes we have a tendency to take our family and friends for granted, and we may not always express or show our appreciation to our loved ones for their help and support. Having an appreciative spirit is truly a blessing from our Lord, and having a thankful attitude is a blessing to everyone. It is especially important to be appreciative to our Heavenly father for all that He has done and continues to do for us. When we pray and thank God for His goodness, it deepens our love and draws us closer to Him. Being able to recognize our blessings and see God's goodness is beneficial to our well-being.

O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is Good: for His mercy endureth for ever.
K.J.V. Psalm 136:1

Canton blanks Pioneer; Northville next

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR
cjrisk@oe.homecomm.net

Well, the preliminaries are over for Plymouth Canton's soccer team. Now comes the real tests.

The Chiefs advanced to the Division I state regional final with a 2-0 triumph over Ann Arbor Pioneer Tuesday at Novi. Canton improves to 16-3-1 overall; Pioneer bows out at 15-4-2.

It was no easy task, beating Pioneer. But it was expected of the Chiefs, who came into the season as the state's top-ranked team. After losing two conference games, they didn't enter the post-season with such a lofty rating.

And from this point on, they won't be favorites — starting with Friday's match against Northville, the Western Lakes Activities Association champion and a 3-1 winner over Canton early in the se-son. The regional final will be at 7 p.m. Friday at Novi's Meadow Field.

"We're going to have to play tough," said Canton coach Don Smith. "We rise to the occasion when we have to."

"Once we got into the ball game tonight, we played well."

However, as Smith noted, it took the Chiefs nearly 20 minutes to get their game in gear against Pioneer, even though they had complete control of the

No contest:

When a nearby severe-weather siren went off one minute into Saturday's Plymouth Canton-Westland John Glenn Class A district final game at Canton High School, the public address announcer assured the crowd that it was just a test.

The Chiefs (15-3-1) then went out and did their best impersonation of a fast-moving, high-pressure system and stormed the Rockets, 11-0, to advance to the regional bracket of the tournament which began Tuesday in Novi.

The game was called by the referees with 5:13 to play in the second half when lightning was spotted in the area. Since it was the third time the contest was stopped due to poor weather conditions, the game became official, according to Michigan High School Athletic Association rules.

Breaks are not something a team can count on to win a title, and for Plymouth Salem to stop Northville in Saturday's state district girls soccer final, the Rocks would need all the breaks to go their way.

They didn't.

The host Mustangs scored three times in the second half to pull away from a 1-1 halftime deadlock and post a 4-1 triumph. Their victory put them into Tuesday's regional semifinal against Dearborn. The winner of that match meets the winner of the Plymouth Canton-Ann Arbor Pioneer match in Friday's regional final.

Salem, the only team to have defeated Northville this season, took a 1-1 tie into the half of a game stopped twice by lightning. But restarts, both on the field and off, proved to be their undoing.

Three of the Mustangs' four goals came from restarts following fouls or balls over the end line. Lindsay Dunmead had a goal and two assists to lead

At long last: Rocks tip
Lions for district title

It's been a long time coming, so Bonnie Southerland hopes it's also a long time going.

The Plymouth Salem softball team Southerland coaches won the Novi district championship Monday, defeating South Lyon, 2-0, to advance to a Region 8 pairing Saturday with Temperance-Bedford.

The other regional game matches Adrian with Lincoln Park. The winners will meet in a 3 p.m. scrap for a quarterfinal berth.

"The girls played their hearts out," Southerland said. "We haven't won a district in a long time. This was way overdue. It was very sweet."

"We've got five seniors — and there's 16 years' experience there. Two of the girls have been on varsity four years, two of them for three years ... that's a lot of leadership there."

Salem was supposed to play its regional game at 10 a.m. but was appealing to have it pushed back because some of its players were scheduled to take the ACT exam.

Kristen Miller pitched all 14 innings in the district, giving up three hits in the championship contest after yielding four in the

Canton falters in 7th

BY C.J. RISAK
SPORTS EDITOR
cjrisk@oe.homecomm.net

Let's hope sport doesn't teach a lesson in life, for the sake of Plymouth Canton's baseball team.

Because if there was a lesson the Chiefs learned about life over the last couple of seasons, it's that most of what it has to offer is bitter disappointment.

On Monday, Canton started its run in the state district tournament by shutting down South Lyon, 5-0 in a game played at South Lyon. That put the Chiefs into the district final opposite the host team, Novi, which blanked Plymouth Salem 6-0 in the other semifinal.

BASEBALL

For six innings of the final, Canton was in command. It took a 3-1 lead into the bottom of the seventh inning.

Then everything fell apart.

Two singles sandwiched around a walk produced one run for the Wildcats; the Chiefs did the rest with an error that scored the game-tying run and a wild pitch that allowed the winner to score, giving Novi a 4-3 triumph.

The Wildcats, who improved to 24-10, advance to the Division I regional semifinals Saturday at Taylor Kennedy. Canton con-

Chapman scores at state

For Plymouth Canton, the scoring was solidified — and it was all supplied by Jordan Chapman.

The senior standout, who's headed to Princeton University, accounted for all 13 of the Chiefs' points at Saturday's Division I Boys Track Finals, hosted by Rockford HS. His point total gave Canton a tie for 16th place in the team standings.

Chapman finished second in the pole vault, clearing 14-feet, 3-inches. The event was won by And Marzka of Port Huron Northern, who set a new meet record by clearing 14-6.

TRACK

He also placed fourth in the high jump, clearing 6-4.

In the girls track finals, neither Plymouth Salem nor Plymouth Canton scored, although both came close. Canton's Meredith Fox narrowly missed placing in the top eight in the 400-meter run.

Salem's Autumn Hicks was close in the 400 as well, finishing 14th in 1:00.4. Hicks also cleared 4-11 in the high jump.

The Rocks best finish came in the 4x200 relay, with Hicks, Vicky Rozalski, Melissa Drake and Michelle Bonior placing 11th in 1:47.4. Perhaps their best chance at scoring was in the 4x100 relay, but a dropped baton during an exchange ended that hope.

Ashleigh Shear turned in a personal best in the discus for Salem, tossing it 113-5 to place 14th. And Bonior's 34-1 in the shotput placed her 17th.

"We did well — especially where we were seeded," said Salem girls coach Mark Gregor. "The girls competed hard. They had nothing to be ashamed of. They did their best."

No repeat: Farmington ousts Shamrocks

BY PAUL BEAUDRY
STAFF WRITER
pbaudry@oe.homedom.net

A year ago, Redford Catholic Central advanced to the Division 1 state finals in the Cereal City. This year, the Shamrocks couldn't get away from Breakfast Drive.

CC struggled to score in the middle innings, then saw a seventh-inning rally come up short as the host Shamrocks were upset by Farmington in the district semifinal on Monday, 5-4.

"I thought going into this that the team that wins might not be the most talented, but the team who was the toughest," said Farmington coach Pete Finn, whose team will open regional play Saturday at home against Garden City by virtue of a 6-5 win over Livonia Stevenson in the finals.

"We had some success against Stevenson this season. And I thought we could play with CC because we'd beaten Harrison and De La Salle and I knew we could play."

BASEBALL

The Spartans (18-10) had an easy time in the other semi against Redford Union, winning 9-2 in a game suspended from Saturday.

Farmington didn't hit well — scattering five hits against CC. But pitcher Tony Luttman kept the Shamrocks off stride and held them to just six hits, walking four and striking out four.

"He kept us off balance and pitched well," said CC coach John Salter. "We made it close at the end, but we've had to have quite a few comebacks lately and we came up short."

The Falcons broke open a 2-2 game in the bottom of the sixth against the Shamrocks, scoring three times on just one hit, but three walks, a sacrifice and two errors. Kyle Burcar started it off by reaching on an error and was moved to second on a sacrifice by Brian Bosler. Nick Hippler walked, then Pardonnet hit a double to right center to score Burcar. CC pitcher Charlie Haeger (7-2) walked Barenie to load the bases, then Chris Chesney hit a ground ball that was booted, scoring two more runs.

"We had two many walks and too many strikeouts," said Salter. "That was the whole problem right there. We had the bases loaded in the second inning and only scored one run. That doesn't help."

CC wasn't done yet. Dave Tovey reached on a fielder's choice and Kevin Entsminger was hit by a pitch. Luttman balked, to move the runners up a base, then Haeger singled to score Dave Tovey. Mike Wadowski hit a sacrifice fly to score Entsminger and cut the lead to 5-4.

But that's as close as the Shamrocks could get as Finn brought in Bob Houchins to pitch to Jeff Schulz and got him to ground out to second to end the game.

"We were fortunate enough to have opportunities against Haeger," said Finn. "We had a couple of chances and played tough. But Luttman did well. He was high at the beginning and couldn't find his curve ball. But he stayed with it and eventually, the curve came around."

CC opened the scoring in the top of the first as Rogowski singled, stole second, was sacrificed to third by Dave Tovey and scored on Haeger's double off the fence in left-center.

The Falcons answered back in the bottom of the inning. Chesney led off with a walk, moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Picard and went to third when Luttman singled to center. Farmington went for a delayed steal and the throw to second bounded off a glove and trickled into the outfield, allowing Chesney to score and Luttman to go to third. A passed ball moved Luttman up and he scored on a groundout.

CC had its best chance to break the game open in the second inning. Phil Marrone reached on an error, Kyle Crepeau walked and Anthony Coratti singled to load the bases. Tovey hit a sacrifice to score Marrone, but the Shamrocks couldn't push any more runs home.

Both teams missed great opportunities to score. Coratti reached third in the third inning, but couldn't score. And the Falcons poached a golden opportunity in the bottom of the frame with runners at second and third and one out. Haeger threw a wild pitch past Jake Viane and Ian Pardonnet got a late start coming home. Viane flipped to ball to Haeger to make the tag for one out, and Pardonnet struck out on that pitch to end the threat.

FARMINGTON 6, STEVENSON 5: As in the first game, the Falcons came away with enough late-inning runs and played solid defense to hold off later-inning rallies to wind up with the district title.

"(Farmington's) a good team. They've got the horses," said Stevenson coach Harvey Weingarden. "They've beaten us twice this year (3-0 and 11-0) and we hadn't scored on them until today."

The fifth inning proved to be the clincher for the Falcons, as they sent nine batters to the plate and scored four runs to break ahead for good, 6-4.

"We could have had problems if we hadn't scored, but the kids stayed with it," said Finn. "We stayed focused and our chemistry kept getting better."

Brad Barenie paced Farmington (24-9) by going 3-for-4. Houchins was 2-for-4 with an RBI. Luttman had two RBI and Hippler doubled. Shawn Casey and Ronnie Williams were 2-for-3 with doubles for Stevenson, while Marsack had two RBI.

STEVENSON 9, REDFORD UNION 2: The Spartans led 4-2 when the rains came on Saturday and picked up where they left off on Monday — scoring three times in the fifth inning to break out to a 7-2 lead.

"They just hit better than us," said RU coach Rick Berryman. "We just didn't hit their pitching. They brought (Dan Wilson) in on Monday and he threw hard. By the time we figured him out, the game was over."

Rabe took the win for the Spartans, while Chris Rigley (2-5) took the loss for the Panthers, who ended the season at 8-22.

Pete Pinto kicked off the game for Stevenson with a two-run homer in the first inning, while Marsack was 2-for-4 with a triple. Zielke was 2-for-4 with a run scored and Brian Campbell, Wilson, Rabe, Williams and Dan Ross all singled.

Brandon Wiley and Joe Bakos singled and scored a run for RU, while John Hageman, Jason Dunning and Shawn Meyers singled.

PCA reaches regional by stopping Agape

Clay Welton delivered when he had to — and in the bottom of the seventh inning of Monday's Division IV baseball district final played at Concordia College, he had his back to the wall.

Canton Agape Christian had loaded the bases with no one out in the seventh, trailing by two runs. But Welton responded by striking out the next three batters to preserve Plymouth Christian Academy's 6-4 triumph.

The district championship propels PCA into Saturday's Division IV regional hosted by Allen Park Inter-City Baptist. The Eagles, now 15-6, go against Taylor Light and Life, which is 23-1 and which defeated PCA 9-3 late in the season.

"The guys are looking forward to it," said PCA coach Don Shumaker. "They want another shot at 'em."

In the win over Agape, scored twice in the first to take the early lead, but the Wolverines battled back and eventually tied it at 4-4 with a two-run fifth.

The game-winning rally came in the sixth for PCA. Mark Erickson started it with a single; Travis Yonkman followed with a base hit, and Doug Parton then singled in the go-ahead — and game-winning — run. Brian Carnevale's fielder's choice made it 6-4.

Ryan Johnson and Eric Schultz each had three hits for the Eagles, Schultz — making his first start this season at second base — driving in two runs and Johnson one.

Agape got three hits, including a double to start the seventh, from Mike Bommarito and a single and a double from Rob Hough.

Welton allowed four earned runs on seven hits, two walks and two hit batsmen, striking out 11 to get the pitching win. The loss went to Josh Anthony, who surrendered six earned runs on 13 hits, two walks and a hit batter, striking out six.

PCA advanced to the district final with a 15-0 three-inning mercy of Dearborn Heights Academy of Business and Technology. Xander Younce allowed one hit and one walk in his two innings on the mound, with two strikeouts. Mark Erickson pitched one uneventful inning.

Johnson and Erickson each had three hits in the game, Johnson driving in two runs and scoring two. Younce and Carnevale each had a hit and three RBI.

The PCA-vs.-Light and Life game is the second of the day, the first features Southfield Christian against Dearborn St. Alphonsus. The winners of those two regional games will meet in the regional final at approximately 2 p.m. at Inter-City Baptist.

Eagles collect a rain-delayed district crown

Talk about long games.

It took Plymouth Christian Academy and Westland Huron Valley Christian more than 50 hours to complete their Division IV softball district final at Concordia College, and the margin was just a single run.

A two-run single by Michelle Phillips in the top of the sixth inning gave PCA the necessary margin to eke out an 8-7 triumph, pushing the Eagles to the district title and into the state regional tournament Saturday at Allen Park Inter-City Baptist.

PCA, now 12-14 overall, plays Taylor Light and Life at 10 a.m. Saturday. The winner of that regional semifinal faces the winner of the Southfield Christian-Inter-City Baptist game for the regional crown at 2 p.m.

Southfield Christian, ranked No. 3 in Division IV, figures to be the favorite. PCA lost twice to Southfield Christian this season.

The district final started last Saturday but was stopped by inclement weather with one out in the bottom of the first and PCA, which batted first, leading 4-2. The game was suspended until Monday.

The Eagles had a 5-2 lead entering the fourth inning but Huron Valley struck for four runs over the next two innings, knotting the game at 6-6 entering the sixth.

And setting the stage for Phillips' dramatic hit.

Crystal Marti got the pitching win in relief of starter Lauren Terkoski, who worked the first four innings and surrendered four runs. Marti, a senior, allowed three runs but when called upon in the seventh, she responded with a 1-2-3 inning.

"I told her going into the inning, 'You're a senior, you have a one-run lead, this is for the district championship,'" said PCA coach Dan Hammar. "It's time for you to step up."

Huron Valley scored once in the bottom of the sixth and had the game-tying run at third before Marti quelled the uprising.

Terkoski contributed heavily at the plate, collecting three singles and driving in four runs. Amanda Saagman added a double and two singles, scoring three runs, and Phillips had two hits and two RBI.

Rachel Zahn took the loss for Huron Valley; she worked all seven innings, giving up eight runs on 12 hits.

"It was a long weekend," said Hammar, "but it was worth it at the end."

PCA 12, Agape 2: The Eagles struck for 10 runs in the first three innings and rode the pitching of Lauren Terkoski to a five-inning mercy win over Canton Agape Christian in Saturday's district semifinal.

The two teams had split a double-header early in the season, both games decided by a single run. But this time, PCA used an aggressive brand of softball to put the Wolverines away.

"I think we had a tougher schedule," said PCA coach Dan Hammar. "We came out and jumped on them early. We ran a lot and stole a lot, and I think that surprised them."

Terkoski got the pitching win, allowing two runs on three hits and one walk, striking out three in five innings. Amy Henry took the loss for Agape, giving up 12 runs on 14 hits and seven walks, fanning two.

Terkoski was also formidable at the plate, collecting three hits and three RBI and scoring three runs. Andrea Lorion also had three hits, while both Amanda Saagman and Lindsay Pew each had two hits and two RBI. Michelle Phillips contributed a hit and scored three runs.

Agape got singles from Amber Cross, Margie Henry and Lisa Ther.

opener, an 8-1 thumping of host Novi.

She walked two and struck out one against South Lyon as she improved her own record to 16-6 and upped the Rocks to 21-14.

"She's pretty good," Southerland said. "She's not overpowering but she throws the right stuff at the right time and the girls play well behind her."

Katie Kelly went 2-for-2, both singles, in Salem's seven-hit attack.

The Rocks scored both runs in the opening inning, then hung on to win.

Maggie Tudor opened the frame with a single and Kelly sacrificed her to second. She moved to third on a Kelly Jaskot groundout and scored on a passed ball with Dawn Allen batting.

Allen then walked and came around on singles by Amy Szawara and Mandy Bradley.

Rounding out the Salem hitting attack were singles by Jaskot and Jenn Allen.

Miller was handed a 2-0 lead in the first inning of the district semifinal and went on to tame Novi with three walks and a strikeout.

The Rocks pounded out 14 hits led by a 5-for-5 game by Tudor in which she had four singles, a double and an RBI.

Jaskot had a single and a two-run double, Dawn Allen had two singles and an RBI. Szawara also had two singles with an RBI. Jenn Allen doubled and hit a two-run single and Kelly had a single.

Salem scored added to its 2-0 lead with three in the fifth, two in the sixth and one in the seventh. It had runners in every inning.

Jaskot, Dawn Allen and Szawara each singled to start the fifth and all wound up scoring. Szawara drove in the first run and Jenn Allen's two-run single accounted for the others.

Tudor made two nice catches in left, Southerland said, while Jaskot stood out as the center fielder.

Northville, which improved to 17-1-1.

Salem's season ends at 13-5-1.

"It's about time some of that stuff paid off," said Northville coach Ron Meteyer of his team's restart scores. "We've worked a lot on that all season."

The Mustangs, who lost to the Rocks and tied Royal Oak Kimball in the first couple of weeks of the season, started to get their season on track when they beat Plymouth Canton 3-1 April 23.

They followed that with three wins over Livonia Stevenson, the last coming by a 1-0 margin in overtime in the district semifinal last Thursday.

"I think we were an overlooked team at the beginning of the season," Meteyer said. "We weren't rated — and that's fine. That just adds unnecessary pressure."

"We surprised some people but we knew what we had coming back. We were confident. I think the confidence of this team has grown tremendously — especially since beating Livonia Stevenson three times."

The Mustangs, who dethroned Western Lakes Activities Association co-champions Stevenson and Canton, won't sneak up on anybody now. Salem knew what it was up against in the district final; problem was, the Rocks didn't have the guns to fight the battle.

Defenders Maureen Griffith and Stephanie Baron were out with injuries, and all-conference midfielder Marissa Sarkesian was at an ODP national camp. The Rocks did get forward Kellee Mullin, who had missed the first two games of the state tournament due to a leg injury, back.

But Mullin wasn't enough to offset Northville's numerous weapons. Other factors benefitted the Mustangs, too — they had the home-field advantage and the weather seemed to intervene in their favor, too.

"I think what put them over the edge was team speed and they always kept attacking," said Salem coach Joe Nora. "It was a game of finishing. We had just as many opportunities as they did. We just didn't finish them."

The game's first goal belonged to Northville, and it was a well-executed play started in the right corner by Larissa Fill. Her cross to the far post was knocked in by Michelle Manarina and, with 25:47 left in the first half, the Mustangs led 1-0.

The momentum, however, slowly started to switch. The Rocks became far more aggressive, pressuring Northville keeper Alex Katona incessantly. It paid off when Mullin finished a restart by Danielle Portelli; the Northville defenders proved slow to react, but Mullin wasn't, knotting the game at 1-1 with 5:23 to go in the half.

The tide was changing, but the two weather delays followed by halftime robbed Salem of its spark. When the second half ensued, the Mustangs were back in control.

The game-winner came just 4:52 into the second half, with Dunmead's corner kick going to Maggie Ossola for the finishing header to make it 2-1. With 21:34 remaining in the half, Emily Carrott put her restart from just inside the midfield line into the box in front of Salem keeper Jill Dombrowski. Lindsay Miglio bounced it into the goal for a 3-1 lead.

The finisher came with 11:30 to play, again on a restart — this one following a hand ball called against Megan Gourley as she shielded her face. Dunmead put the restart, taken just outside the 18 right in front of the net, into the upper left corner.

"And we worked on (restarts) all week," said Nora. "But they managed to get a player open, and they did a good job of finding that player."

Salem had openings, too. Unfortunately, most of them were in its lineup.

play, with the ball rarely leaving the Pioneer's end.

Such lapses could be more disastrous against a team as capable as Northville, which defeated Dearborn 9-0 in Tuesday's first regional semifinal to improve to 18-1-1.

But Smith was quick to counter: "And they can't afford to have any lapses against us."

Both Canton goals against Pioneer came from plays started — or finished — by Anne Morrell, who played most of the game with a relentless abandon. Morrell had two near misses at the midpoint of the first half; with 15:29 left, the Chiefs finally connected.

Morrell started the scoring play, quickly inbounding the ball with a long throw-in from the corner. The ball reached the near post, where Danielle Shepard headed it toward the net. Pioneer keeper Erica Goethel got her hands on the ball, but it slipped through her grasp and crossed the goal line.

With under four minutes remaining in the half, Canton doubled its lead. That goal started with a counter by Morrell from the Chiefs' end. The senior forward got knocked down and seemingly out of the play, but Erica Aherns regained possession and looped a long shot from the left side that banged off the far post.

The rebound went to Amanda Lentz, positioned about 20 yards out directly in front of the Pioneer goal. Her shot was deflected by Goethel, but not smothered; Morrell pounced on the loose ball and pounded it into the goal for a 2-0 lead.

"She is a force to be reckoned with," said Pioneer's coach Chris Morgan of Morrell. "We didn't really play the game we can play."

The reason: Morrell. "She's so fast, so strong," Morgan added. "If we had to do it all over again I'll tell you this, any team that wants to beat (Canton) has to shut her down."

"Our defense played well. They did exactly what we wanted them to do."

Pioneer's limited offense did get some chances. Twice the Pioneer put shots off the crossbar, yet Canton keeper Briana Wolcott remained unbeatable. It was her third-straight shutout in the playoffs.

"They just finished better than we did," said Morgan.

The Chiefs also had "more scoring opportunities," Smith felt. They'll need them, and they'll need to take advantage of them, to beat Northville.

"We've got to mark tighter," said Smith. Both teams have strong offenses, which means the team that plays better defense will advance.

cludes its season at 16-12.

"I don't know what to say," an obviously distressed Scott Dickey, the Canton coach, said afterward. "We were in complete control and two unearned runs killed us. We had the game."

"We played great defense, we got great pitching. We played 13 great innings of baseball and then unfortunately we gave away the district championship."

The Chiefs led the entire way against Novi, until that final inning. "We've been like that all year long," said Novi coach Rick Green, whose roster included just three seniors. "They play with a lot of heart and mental toughness."

"The guys are just unbelievable."

Canton got a run in the first when lead-off batter James Wisniewski started the game with a single. Jay Sofen was safe on his sacrifice bunt when second baseman Pete Kobylarek's throw was wide, allowing Wisniewski to go to third. Brent Kwiatkowski's sacrifice fly delivered the run.

The Chiefs increased their lead to 2-0 in the third, and again Wisniewski got things started with a one-out base hit. After Sofen struck out, Kwiatkowski and Russ Caid bled singles, Caid's bloop scoring Wisniewski.

Novi got a run back in the bottom of the third on singles by Matt Gorman, Mike Crawford and Adam Haberman. Haberman's coming with two out and scoring the run.

But the 'Cats could do little else against Canton lefthander Mark Hanson, whose breaking ball was working superbly.

The Chiefs made it 3-1 in the fourth, and it could have been much more. Novi starting pitcher Brandon Davis switched positions with Crawford, who was at shortstop, to start the inning, and the Chiefs got to Crawford quickly.

Hanson slapped a one-out double to right; an error by third baseman Eric Zorza put runners at first and third for Joe Kondrathek, and the junior catcher responded with a run-producing double.

But Davis saved a run with a relay throw to the plate that cut down Nick Musselman, who also tried to score on Kondrathek's hit. It was Davis' second solid play of the inning; he opened it by going deep in the hole to retrieve Jon Los' grounder and then throwing him out at first. Without those two plays, Canton would have had three runs in with a runner at second and no one out.

Still, it seemed it would be enough, with the way Hanson was pitching. After giving up seven hits in the first four innings, he did not allow a hit in the next two frames. A sparkling catch in deep right-center field by rightfielder Musselman certainly saved a run for Canton in the sixth.

But the seventh got off to an ominous start, with Ross Hughes singling. Hanson then issued his first walk of the game, to Gorman, putting the tying run aboard with no one out.

He managed to strike out Crawford as he attempted to bunt the runners up a base, but Davis followed with a bloop single to right that scored a run, narrowing Canton's lead to 3-2.

Trey Simpson then hit a grounder that Kwiatkowski cut off at third; he tried to get the runner in a force at second, but his throw eluded Los and allowed the game-tying run to score.

Dickey elected to walk Haberman and brought in Matt Staley to pitch to Zorza with the bases loaded and one out. But Staley's first pitch was in the dirt and skipped past Kondrathek, allowing the district-clinching run to score.

Wisniewski and Kwiatkowski each had two hits for the Chiefs, Wisniewski scoring twice and Kwiatkowski getting a run batted in. Hanson took the loss, but he deserved better; he worked 6 2/3 innings, allowing four runs (two earned) on nine hits and two walks, striking out nine.

Crawford was the winning pitcher; he pitched the last four innings, giving up one run on four hits and one walk, with four strikeouts. Davis was the only Wildcat with two hits; he also had an RBI.

"It's very disappointing," said Dickey. "For three years in a row, I thought we were the better team in the district, and we came away with nothing."

How it happened will eat at the eight Chiefs who are juniors and the two sophomores until next spring.

Canton 5, South Lyon 0: Greg Neino tossed a three-hit shutout, walking three and striking out eight, and James Wisniewski and Nick Musselman each unloaded solo home runs to lead Plymouth Canton past South Lyon in a district semifinal played Monday at South Lyon.

The game's location was switched after Saturday's district, scheduled for Novi, was weathered out. With the possibility of more rain Tuesday, it was decided to play one semifinal at Novi and the other at South Lyon Monday, with the district final at Novi also on Monday.

Wisniewski's homer came as he led off for Canton in the first inning. The Chiefs added three more runs in the second on consecutive singles by Mark Hanson, Jon Los and Musselman to score one run; following a walk to Wisniewski, a single by Jay Sofen delivered two more.

In the fourth inning, Musselman's homer made it 5-0. Neino did the rest after that, plowing through the Lions.

Seller can't hide behind bad report

REAL ESTATE QUERIES

ROBERT M.
MEISNER

After we signed a purchase agreement, we had the house we were interested in buying inspected. The inspector did not find a roof leak. The seller's disclosure statement indicated that there was no problem with the roof - not true. Do we have any recourse?

Possibly. The Michigan Seller Disclosure Act provides that even though a buyer is relying on the opinion of a professional inspector, the seller must disclose known conditions if they contradict the inspector's report. Every disclosure must be made in good faith. If the representation made to you was false or misleading, you may have a claim for silent fraud or negligence against the seller.

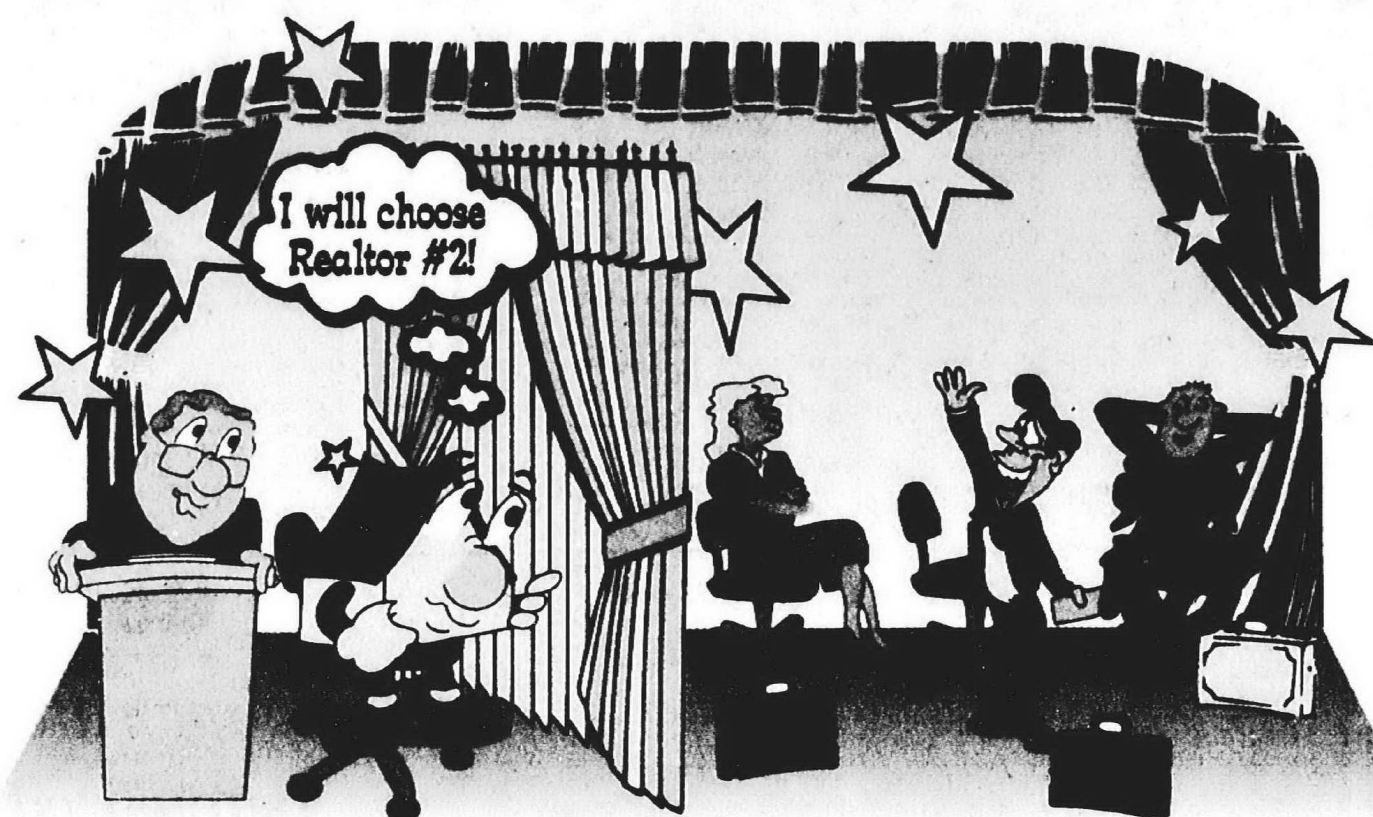

We are interested in buying a home from a family member. Do we have to have a real estate broker?

There is nothing in the law that requires you to have a broker or, for that matter, an attorney to assist you. However, you are well advised to have an attorney review your closing papers to ensure that the legal requirements necessary for the sale are met. It may be that you may need a separate attorney representing each party, as one attorney may be in conflict of interest in representing both parties. The attorney can also prepare a closing statement and other documents necessary. A real estate broker would be typically used if you are looking to find a home to sell or buy.

Robert M. Meisner is an Oakland County area attorney concentrating his practice in the areas of condominiums, real estate, corporate law and litigation. You are invited to submit topics that you would like to see discussed in this column, including questions about condominiums, by writing Robert M. Meisner, 30200 Telegraph, Suite 467, Bingham Farms MI 48025. His e-mail address is bmeisner@meisner-law.com, and his Web site is www.meisner-law.com. ## Who do you call?

Look for these in a Realtor when it comes time to buy or sell your home

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER
dfunke@oe.homecomm.net

It can be done - selling your home by yourself.

But unless you have the expertise and time to set a fair price after doing comparable sales studies, advertise, screen prospective buyers to make sure they're financially qualified, show at all hours and at a moment's notice, and expedite a lot of paperwork, you may want to use a Realtor to help.

While commissions are negotiable (figure on paying 6-7 percent of the sales price here) and considered distasteful by some, it could be money well spent.

So how do you find a good Realtor?

"I'm kind of amazed, myself, at how many people will literally open a phone book and look for the nearest office," said Janice Grupido, broker/owner of Countryside GMAC offices in Troy and Sterling Heights.

Her suggestion: Get recommendations from friends, neighbors, family and co-workers, then interview several candidates.

"You're going to want to know their affiliations, experience level, what services they do and don't supply," Grupido said.

Office support to handle lots of details also is important to know, she added.

Start on the Internet, then do a little legwork locally, advises Judy Walker, broker/owner of Riverpoint Realty in Southfield.

"They should go to crs.com (Certified Residential Specialist). That will show the people ... who have attended workshops and classes beyond just getting licensing. They're absorbing information to keep on top of the game."

"Be aware of neighborhood Realtors who have a sense of what's going on and will do a bang-up job keeping you informed," Walker added.

A personal reference is the best reference, said Glenn Bianchini, broker/owner of Century 21-217 in Oxford. "Probably 99 percent of the time it's word-of-mouth."

"The first thing is look at friends and relatives who have used a Realtor in the immediate area who are happy now," added Chuck Hromek, broker/owner of RE/MAX Crossroads in Canton.

"Who's doing the most business in the subdivision as far as selling homes? Look at the signs. If you see signs, stop and talk to people. Ask what they think of their Realtor."

It makes sense to interview several prospective Realtors before signing a listing agreement or a buyer's representative contract, the pros agree. Interview even if you happen to have a friend or acquaintance in the business.

Interview several Realtors

"It doesn't take a whole lot to get a real estate license," said Pamela Ford, broker/owner with Morgan, Moreno & Milzow in Clarkston. "Interview to see which one closest matches your standards. It (a home) typically is your most valuable asset."

"If you look for a presence in the marketplace - advertising, signs - that with a personal recommendation leads you to at least a number of agents who do it professionally and not recreationally."

"Definitely make sure they have a marketing plan - what's on the market, what the competition is and what they've sold," Bianchini said. "Ask specifically what they're going to do to make the house available on the market."

Realtors at the top of their game will dazzle during a listing interview if they're prepared, Walker said.

"I make myself knowledgeable about the community, and it helps me put together an excellent program," she said. "When you can walk into an interview and bring out pertinent information including a beautiful picture of the house, it always impresses."

Things that a Realtor should be prepared to answer during an interview, Walker said: "How well educated and versed you are, how long you've been practicing your craft, are you adept to a particular area?"

Brokers name names

While brokers will give out the names of their most prolific associates, top-producers may or may not be the best representative for a particular client.

Some top-producers have assistants who deal with various parts of the transaction, so clients may not have as much direct contact with their Realtor throughout, Bianchini said.

Walker said she's a big believer in the "intuitive gut-feeling" that often arises when a would-be client and Realtor click during the interview process.

Temperament does play a part, Grupido agrees.

"It has to be someone you can work with. It's an ongoing relationship, not just putting a sign in the ground ... someone who will keep in touch," she said.

"It doesn't have to be a brotherly relationship, but I would like it to be strongly professional," Grupido said. "We're actually the orchestra. You should be holding the baton."

Cheap isn't always best where commissions are concerned, Hromek added. "Pay a marketable commission," he said. "Pay it and be happy. You only get what you pay for. That's what you have to look at."

Jumbo loan: Do math carefully

MORTGAGE BITS

TIM 'TIMBO'
PHILLIPS

Late last year, the upper loan limit for conforming loans increased to $275,000 - excellent news for borrowers just over the previous limit but below the new limit. Affected borrowers would now be saving roughly $100 on their monthly mortgage bill.

Saving $100 is like making an extra $130-160 per month, depending on your tax bracket. Earning the same $160 residual income monthly requires a return on investment of 6 percent on $32,000. In short, when it comes to large investments like your mortgage, a seemingly trivial change can make a huge difference in a borrower's lifestyle and cashflow.

Again, I must emphasize the importance of making your mortgage decisions within the confines of a larger financial plan. In the case above, it may have been very appropriate for the borrowers to apply a limited amount of personal funds from other sources towards their home purchase to keep their mortgage loan amount below the "jumbo" limit of $275,000.

Very large home loans, especially jumbo mortgages, can be unduly expensive to unaware borrowers. Just as reducing the mortgage amount slightly can save hundreds of dollars, there are many other strategies that will help such borrowers save money in the long term.

One tactic is for jumbo borrowers to stay in the fixed stage of an adjustable rate mortgage. For example, if a borrower needs a $300,000 mortgage, he sees the opportunity to reduce his initial interest rate by one-half of 1 percent by using a 5-year ARM instead of a standard 30-year fixed-rate mortgage. By doing so, he saves over $6,000 in interest charges over the five years which more than covers the cost of his next refinancing. He applies the remainder towards principle or invests it.

The downside of this gambit comes if the interest rates are very high when it is time to refinance. The counter-gambit, however, is to continue with a shorter-term ARM, say of the 3-year variety, to get the deepest discount on interest rates long enough for interest rates to recover.

That monthly savings can be very enticing even for the risk-averse borrower.

Good news

Mortgage rates still 1 percent below last year rates

(AP) — Mortgage rates around the country rose this week but are still more than one percentage point lower than they were last year.

The average interest rate on 30-year fixed-rate mortgages climbed to 7.24 percent, up from 7.20 percent last week, according to a nationwide survey released Thursday by Freddie Mac, the mortgage company.

Fifteen-year mortgages, a popular option for refinancing, went up to 6.78 percent this week, compared with 6.76 percent the previous week.

At the same time last year, rates for 30-year mortgages averaged 8.54 percent and rates for 15-year mortgage averaged 8.24 percent.

On the one-year adjustable-rate mortgages, lenders were asking an average initial rate of 5.89 percent, up from 5.82 percent the week before. Last year, one-year ARMs remained at a nine-year high of 7.25 percent.

These rates do not include add-on fees known as points, which averaged around 1 percent of the loan amount for all three types of mortgages.

"The economy grew slower than expected in the first three months of the year, which seems to have carried over into the housing market in April," said Freddie Mac's chief economist Robert Van Order.

"Both new home sales and existing home sales fell in April from near record levels."

Finding information on how to eliminate PMI

Homeowners have to buy private mortgage insurance when they put down less than 20 percent on a home loan. This insurance protects the mortgage holder against default.

MEYERS ON MORTGAGES

KEEP YOUR DREAM HOME FROM BECOMING A NIGHTMARE

by GARY S. MEYERS

So, you're building a house — the home of your dreams. Here's how to keep that dream from becoming a nightmare.

Start early. Tom Tylutki, division president of Kimball-Hill Construction, one of the Midwest's largest and oldest building companies, suggests you follow a few simple rules.

1) Check with your local home builder's association to find a builder with a good reputation.

2) Carefully look at model homes, then drive around to inspect homes under construction to make sure that the builder is delivering the promise of the models.

3) If you are buying in a development, drive or walk around the neighborhood. Stop homeowners and ask them how they like their houses. Dig a little deeper. Was everything done on time? If something went wrong, how did the builder respond? How well did the builder communicate?

4) Look at the amenities promised. If they are not yet in place, ask the local building inspector about the company's reputation. You might even check out other developments that this builder has done.

5) Call the building department of the municipality. Ask about its inspection process. How often and how thoroughly is construction inspected? Usually municipalities look at the site before the foundation is back filled to make sure that the basement was put in correctly and that drain tiles are in place. Then someone checks the frame, plumbing and electrical. Many require a drain survey before allowing any sod.

6) Once your house is under construction, most of the larger builders will invite you to a pre-dry wall walk-through. Bring your purchase agreement, with options and any changes. At this point the frame and all the mechanicals, such as plumbing and electrical, will be in place. Compare this to your records. If you opted for an island in the kitchen with a cook top, are electrical or gas lines in place to handle that? Look for ceiling light cans, outlets for fans, special cable or phone locations. Ask lots of questions. If you have some concerns, you can ask to come back for a second look after the changes are made.

7) Your next official visit is the pre-conveyance walk through. This is done two to five days before your closing. The builder already will have inspected the house and may have a list of last minute items that need to be done. In any case, bring your paper work with you again, check it against the finished product. Make sure any changes are completed.

This week, The Meyers Report went to some experts to answer readers' questions.

Q: I have been paying private mortgage insurance for 15 years on my 30-year fixed-rate mortgage. I have been told that this monthly charge can be removed. How do I go about having this charged removed?

A: It sounds like you will have no problem removing the private mortgage insurance (PMI) charge, in part because after 15 years you should have paid down the principal to the point where you owe 75 percent or less of the original loan. However, you did not say whether you have a conventional or FHA loan. The PMI charge cannot be removed from an FHA loan.

After 15 years, there is little doubt that the value of your home has risen enough so that you have more than 20 percent equity in your home. Home appreciation alone can get removal of the need for private mortgage insurance coverage. Check with your lender.

Jim Lukas, vice president of Amore Mortgage suggests you follow this simple process. First check your current mortgage balance, and get the appraised value and sales price of the house when you bought it. Next divide the loan amount into the original price or appraised value. This will give you your loan to value ratio.

DELIVER YOUR HOMETOWN NEWSPAPER. EARN MONEY. WIN PRIZES.

The guys and gals you see here are Observer & Eccentric carriers. They're picking out some cool prizes for doing a good job delivering their hometown newspaper.

They all deliver Observer or Eccentric newspapers every Sunday morning and Thursday afternoon to homes in their neighborhoods.

It only takes them a few hours twice each week and throughout the year they have a lot of chances to win—and earn—some really great prizes.

We're looking more young people to join our great carrier team.

So, moms and dads, if you have a son or daughter 10 years or older, who would like a route, just call one of the numbers below.

Your child will learn responsibility, how to manage records, how to meet the public and a number of basic business skills—but don't tell your child that, talk about the cool prizes and let the character-building take care of itself.

And, if you'd like to get out of the house for a few hours each week and join our growing adult carrier force, we'd welcome your call.

Either way, an Observer or Eccentric carrier route can be a fun job at any age.

Today, the best things in life are not only free, they're "E-Z"

Subscribe to an Observer or Eccentric newspaper for just one year and...

■ HERE'S WHAT HAPPENS:

You must use your MasterCard or Visa to subscribe.

We deduct $51.00 once a year or $25.50 twice a year—your choice.

You get your 13th month totally FREE.

We deliver right to your doorstep.

You stay on top of everything that's happening right where you live!

■ HERE'S WHAT DOESN'T HAPPEN:

You don't get a bill.

You don't pay a carrier.

You don't write a check.

■ HERE'S HOW YOU MAKE IT HAPPEN:

Just give us a call at —734-591-0500 or 248-901-4716

Ask for our "E-Z Pay Plan."
