For more than 30 years, neighbors who live around the cul-de-sac at the end of Fairground Street in Plymouth took turns mowing the island-looking property While it isn't that big a job, they'll admit no one really wanted to cut it, especially after mowing their own vards

Rosita Smith certainly didn't like cutting the grass, and figured maybe something else could be done with the patch of land in the middle of the

"It was a dreaded chore because everyone mowed their own yard and really didn't want any added grass to mow," said Smith "Why have grass

About five years ago, after consulting with her neighbors, she decided to do something about it Since then, the neighborhood has chipped in with labor, materials and money to turn the small island into a flower garden that also serves as a sanctuary for

'What if we eliminated the grass and planted nectar flowers and larval food plants for butterflies to utilize?" said Smith, who has a Department of Agriculture permit to raise Monarch and other butterflies in her home "It could help replace what is being eliminated by development"

Each year, little by little, neighborhood residents have planted butterfly bushes, coneflowers and butterfly flowers of various colors and sizes And, this summer, the project was finally completed No more mowing, and a place for the butterflies to

Joint DDA idea gains momentum

By Brad Kadrich Staff Writer bkadrich@oe.homecomm.net

With a window of opportunity beginning to tighten and a desire to see something happen along the Ann Arbor Road Corridor, the Plymouth City Commission voted Monday night to continue investigating its options

The idea is for the city and township to join in efforts to spruce up the corridor, which borders both municipalities, from I-275 to Sheldon Among improvements to be made are the burying of utility lines and the planting of streetscapes The CSX crossing

Ann over Arbor Road would also be in line for a facelift of some sort

New state superintendent welcomes PCEP teachers

Watkins said he wants to change the way society perceives the public education system in Michigan

"Public education is the true Statue of Liberty in this great country What you do is so important We need to talk about the greatness that is happening in our public schools each and every day," said Watkins, who addressed hundreds of Plymouth-Canton teachers Friday morning as they prepared to begin classes Monday "We want to create a ladder to lift up public education, to lift up teachers, to lift up students

Watkins, who became the superintendent for public instruction last spring, took issue with the current system of using MEAP scores as the sole criteria for a school's accreditation

"I think MEAP tests are a good tool to help align standards with curriculum, but it's not the only tool," said Watkins to a round of applause by

Watkins said he's also attempting to persuade Gov John Engler to delay the 1-percent income tax reduction, which could reduce education-coffer revenue by nearly $200 million

"Hit the pause button on the income tax reduction (and use the money) to invest in our children during the slowdown in the economy," said Watkins "Let's invest it in early childhood development, reading, after school and summer programs'

Teachers showed their approval with another round of applause However, Watkins admitted it will be a tough sell, noting "the governor isn't particularly thrilled with me"

Auto dealership breaks ground at new site

BY KURT KUBAN STAFF WRITER kkuban@oe homecomm.net

It only seemed fitting On a day marked by rain and gray clouds, the sun peaked out just a bit Thursday afternoon for the official groundbreaking ceremony of the new Sunshine Honda

Sunshine owner Tom Boh lander, along with several Plymouth Township officials including Supervisor Steve Mann and Trustee Kay Arnold, broke the earth with ceremonial This is a much spades and spoke about superior site for us. It's what promises closer to the to be a benefiexpressway, closer to cial development for the other dealers and township there's much more

Actually, construction crews have been busy for more than a month at the site of the former Plymouth Stamping factory on Ann Arbor Road, just west of Lilley The footings have already been laid, and workers will start erecting the walls of the 31,000-road footage.'

square foot building sometime this week

The fact that Sunshine is moving from its current location just down the road at 1205 Ann Arbor Road took some major maneuvering on the part of Bohlander and township officials Initially Bohlander planned to expand on his current site That plan angered nearby residents, so Mann and other officials helped work a deal for him to purchase the Plymouth Stamping property

"Our existing location was no longer acceptable to serve the needs and expectations of today's automotive consumers worked very Tom Bohlander hard to expand -Sunshine Honda owner the existing site, but it just

According to Bohlander, the taminated soil was removed new four-plus acre site is actually more beneficial because it positions him closer to I-275 and competing dealers It will also give him more frontage on Ann Arbor Road, which will help him sell more used cars

"This is a much superior site for us It's closer to the expressway, closer to the other dealerships, and there's much more road footage, which will be most helpful for our used car sales With more road frontage, we will be able to showcase more cars, so the customers will be able to see them when they drive by," he said

One of the main enticements township officials used to motivate Bohlander to buy the property was to designate it a brownfield site, which gives him some tax relief According to Alan Bloom of Bloom Construction, which is building the new facility, more than 1,000 yards of con-

Canton MI 48188 Ph. 734-981-7800 from the site after the old factory was torn down

Bloom said everything is on ashed to and the builting should be completed for a January grand opening

Once Bohlander makes the move, a local developer will begin building townhouses and other residential-friendly development at the current Sunshine location, which Mann feels is a best case scenario for both the auto dealer and township resi dents

"We're looking forward to the opening This development couldn't be more appropriate for everyone involved Mr Bohlander has a better location, and the development at the old site will fit in nicely with the nearby residential area Plus, we got rid of an eyesore by tearing down the old factory In its place, we will have a first-class auto dealership," Mann said

District suspends principal

BY TONY BRUSCATO STAFF WRITER tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

Pioneer Middle School will begin classes Monday without Principal Tom Owens, who has been suspended pending the outcome of a warrant charging Owens with indecent exposure ın Hınes Park

Owens was arrested Aug 15 for reportedly exposing himself to an undercover sheriff's deputy, according to Wayne County Sheriff spokeswoman Nancy Mouradian

"According to the report, Mr Owens was sitting on a picnic table in the Levan Knoll area of Hines Park in Livonia He flagged down an undercover morality officer who was patrolling the area," said Mouradian "After they had a brief conversation concerning the weather and other non-specific topics, Mr Owens walked over to the area near the comfort station where there are trees and bushes and exposed mmsen to me officer

Mouradian said Owens was fingerprinted and booked in Westland before being released A warrant was approved by the Wayne County prosecutor's office last Monday, she said

Owens has yet to be arraigned in 16th District Court in Livonia Mouradian said the misdemeanor charge could result in a fine or up to 90 days in jail

Owens' attorney, John Allen of Detroit, said the charges are only allegations

Whatever is alleged, it was done on his personal time, didn't involve young people and didn't happen at the school," said Allen "It's an allegation, and a lot of times the police are wrong in what they saw "

Owens, 44, has been principal at Pioneer the last five years A statement from the school district said his future will be decided after the outcome of court proceedings

"We are aware of the allegations concerning Pioneer Middle School Principal Tom Owens and understand that a warrant has been issued against him Mr Owens is a long-time, dedicated district employee Without drawing any conclusions as to his guilt or innocence on the charges, the district has temporarily responsibilities pending the outcome of the proceedings," read the statement

Owens, who is suspended with pay, was not at Pioneer on Thursday and Friday, the first two days of work for teachers Assistant Principal Philip Freeman will assume his duties when school begins

Superintendent Kathleen Booher, in a statement issued by the district, said, "I am confident that, during the interim, the educational services and the teaching and learning environment at Pioneer will proceed in the same fine manner as has occurred in he past '

Owens has sought the expertise of the Triangle Foundation, a gay-lesbian advocacy group, according to Jeff Montgomery, executive director of the Foundation, who said he's talked with Owens about the ıncıdent

"The Wayne County sheriff's department is doing what the Detroit police stopped doing, targeting those they presume are gay," Montgomery said

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano disagreed, noting, "The prosecutor has backed the arrest by issuing a warrant '

Owens is the president of the Plymouth-Canton Administraone union Vice precident Fills son Franklin, principal at West Middle School, said the union is supportive of all its members, no matter what the situa-

"We will be following procedure to make sure the contract is being upheld, rights are not violated and there is due process," said Franklin there and seeing the beautiful flowers and butterflies," said Shaun Taft, who's contributed by shoveling and weeding the garden area "When other people come by, they always comment on how beautiful it is And, we're getting an education on butterflies "

Smith said the transformation is truly a neighborhood project "When the neighbors saw the transformation, some contributed money for flowers and others helped work on the garden," said Smith "Others contributed flowers and plants from their own gardens'

Richard Zylka still remembers having to mow the patch of land, having lived in the Fairground Street neighborhood for nearly 40 years

"This is really much better than having to mow it," he said "It's more relaxing to go out there and weed it than to have to cut it'

that department since 1981 and has served as a captain of its three major divisions operations patrol, administrative services and special investigations

Tiderington, who is married with three young sons, grew up in Detroit He said if he were firred, he would be active in the community beyond his duties as chief of police

"At this point, I'm totally convinced this is the job for me This is the place for my family If I was hired, you would be getting more than a police chief, you would be getting a little league coach. My wife is a teacher, and would also be active in the community," he said

"I am familiar with the quality of life here I'm convinced this is where I want to live and work "

Watkins, 60, is the chief of pelice in Eaton Rapids and is a former commander and police chief of staff in Detroit He was named "Law Enforcement Officer of the Year 2000" by the Michigan chapter of the American Legion In Detroit, he served as commander in two precincts, and was in Investigation Operations, the personnel division and the Chief's Staff

Watkins said one of his priorities is working with the community For example, in Eaton Rapids, he said his department had many problems with students at the city's high school To improve relations with the students, he had several of the department s squad cars painted with the school's colors and logo, and initiated programs with the students He also said he makes it a priority to get back with residents who have complaints about the department

"I think it is always important to get back to residents who make complaints I do make it a point to always make contact with them, especially if they have taken the trouble to call,"

Zulinski, 47, is officer-in charge of the Uniform Division of the Dearborn Heights Police Department, which he has served for 28 years He is also the department's incident commander for the Emergency Response Team He was previously heutenant in charge of community services, including the DARE program, community policing, crime prevention, school resources and the Gang

Officer Zulinski said his biggest priority if he were hired would be to become familiar with his officers and the community, as well as the department's operations "My biggest challenge would be getting to know everybody and getting them to know me I don't think I could be effective until people were familiar and trusted me Another challenge would be to know the operations of this department But the basis behind the position is easy You're there to put criminals behind bars and make the community safe That's the same anywhere you go," he said

Zulinski, who has several children attending Plymouth-Canton schools, also said he will be part of the Plymouth community whether or not he is hired for

"This job opening was something I saw and felt very strongly about There have been other openings, but I felt strongly about this one I felt this is for me I'm going to be here a long time whether it is as chief of police or another position I have always been active in my community, and that will be the case here as well," he said

Supervisor Steve Mann said he's satisfied board members got to know each candidate He said he expects to make a recommendation to the board at one of its September meetings The board must approve his selection

"The board got an overwhelm ing amount of information about each candidate They are all great candidates It's going to be a tough choice," he said

Trustee Ron Griffith said he was impressed by each of the candidates The challenge, he said, is finding the one who will fit best with the township "When you get down to three or four candidates in a search like this, they are all good It's not a matter of good or bad It's a matter of fit," he said

On that note, school board member Judy Mardigian asked Watkins to carry a message back to Lansing

'We receive inequitable fund ing compared to our surrounding neighbors (school districts) which typically collect nearly $25 million more a year in Ann Arbor and Livonia for the same number of students," she said "We need a labor market adjustment, or something to reconcile differences in our labor markets so we can be more competitive and do a better job '

Watkins admitted Proposal A, passed in 1994 to shift funding of schools from property taxes to state foundation grants, needs a

"We need to find some areas where we can adjust it, but it will be very difficult because of the tight economic times, and the philosophical thinking that education is fully funded," he

Afterwards, many teachers expressed support of Watkins and his efforts for educational

"I think he'll be a good advo cate for public education at the state level," said Dan Glass, Central Middle School teacher "I think people should spend time with teachers to see what kind of time and effort we put in the classroom "

Diana Jenkins, a speech and language pathologist at Bird Elementary, liked Watkins' straight-forward and positive approach

"The main issues are the loss of funding for reading programs and summer school' she said "Parents want summer school, more learning, more teaching time on task "

Township police nab suspect in rash of auto break-ins

By Kurt Kuban Staff Writer kkuban@oe.homecomm net

Plymouth Township police officers raided a home on Northern Street Thursday evening and arrested a man allegedly responsible for a series of car break ins in the Beacon Hill subdivision

Matthew Hernandez, 18, was arraigned Saturday in 35th District Court on two felony counts of larceny from a motor vehicle over $1,000, and one misde meanor charge of larceny from a motor vehicle less than $1,000 If convicted, he faces up to 11 years in prison and $22,000 in fines

Hernandez pleaded not guilty and was being held on $5,000 bond A preliminary examination is scheduled for Aug 31 in 35th District Court

Nine officers participated in the raid on Hernandez's home in the 9200 block of Northern after the police department secured a search warrant from 35th Dis-

Police investigators believe Hernandez broke into and stole items from at least four vehicles in Beacon Hill during the evening hours of Aug 14 Among the items reported stolen by victims included a set of golf clubs, a laptop computer, two cameras, a cell phone and pager and more than 100 compact discs

"We're able to show probable cause and get the warrant The raid went fine I think we surprised him He was in an upstairs bedroom and we arrested him without incident," said Officer Bryan Rupard, who was involved with the investigation

According to Rupard, the break in the case came after he contacted several local sporting goods stores to see if any had purchased the set of golf clubs, which were brand new and still in the box He found the clubs at Play It Again Sports in Canton Township The victim identified the clubs

Rupard was able to track them to Hernandez because he allegedly filled out his name and address on the sales slip Hernandez allegedly sold the clubs, worth about $2,100, to the store

When officers raided Hernandez's home, they allegedly found case containing the 120 stolen compact discs in his bedroom

"What really helped us was the CD case The victim had signed his name on the case, and each CD was marked with his name Obviously we can't pin the actual theft on Hernandez, but he had some kind of involvement," Rupard said

Tax revolt of '70s, '80s left a legacy in Michigan politics

BY MIKE MALOTT HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE mmalott@homecomm net

Passage of Proposal A in 1994 ended a 20 year long "property tax revolt in Michigan, but it left a legacy shaping state poli tics that remains with us to this

While the entire country shift ed right politically in the 1980s Michigan's was more dramatic, has lasted longer and has yet to see a counter swing back

Democrats controlled all three houses in Michigan (House Sen ate and governor's mansion) as recently as 1982, and the state was considered to be traditional ly Democratic

Today, Republicans count all three in their list of possessions They lay siege next year to the state's congressional delegation

The property tax revolt had everything to do with that politi cal shift, according to Earl Ryan, president of the Citizens Research Center a public policy think tank in Livonia

The revolt entered the realm of partisan politics when then-Gov James Blanchard decided in 1983 to raise income taxes, despite campaign promises that he would not

Angered voters took out their wrath on two state senators, Phil Mastin of Waterford and David Serotkin of Macomb County, unprecedented in the history of the state In doing so, voters turned control of the state senate over to Republicans, the first trophy in the GOP's case

Not true according to Bill Ballenger, editor of Inside Michigan Politics

'That's Republicans engaging in rewriting history a bit," Bal lenger said

Remember that in that next election (against Bill Lucas), Blanchard was reelected by 67 percent, that's the largest margin ever in a race for governor

If voters were mad and want ed to punish him, they would have done it that election That would have not waited seven years to punish him That doesnt make sense

Blanchard probably had little choice but to increase the tax, many Republicans now admit, due to budget deficits run up at the end of Gov Bill Milliken's term in office due to a slumping economy

Nonetheless, Republicans have played Blanchard's tax hike to help them gain control of the state, Ballenger said

Matt Resch, spokesman for the Gov Engler's office, agreed the tax revolt had much to do with the Republican take over trated on the issue of tax cuts during the entire length of his time in office, Resch said To date, Engler says the count of tax cuts enacted during his time in office comes to 31

California typically gets the credit for leading the tax revolt nationally, because voters approved the well known Propo sition 13 in 1978

But according to Patrick Anderson, of the Anderson Economic Group Michigan was right at the vanguard

The state put tax reform pro posals on the ballot as early as

Through the 1970s, '80s and early '90s, there were no less than 15 of them, constitutional amendments and ballot initia tives, placed on the ballot by both the legislature and numerous citizen petition drives

Only two of those initiatives passed, Proposal A and the Headlee Amendment to the con stitution back in 1978

Although Headlee is an effec tive tax limitation measure, according to Anderson, it did not have the effect of providing tax relief that voters were looking

Despite that, Ryan does not believe that Proposal A would choice between it and the status quo At the time, lawmakers had scratched laws enabling the property tax system and told voters that they could either approve Proposal A or lawmakers would try to fix the tax system themselves, trading proper ty taxes for an income tax hike

Proposal A has been successful at addressing the worst of the concerns about property taxes, according to Dr David Plank of the Education Policy Center at Michigan State University

But he said, the real legacy of Proposal A isn't its impact on partisan politics It has been the shift in power over education policy from the local districts to the state government, Plank

Power goes to the people who hold the purse strings, according to Plank, so naturally the state has more say in education policy setting now that the funding levels are decided more in the state legislature than at the local bal-

You can see that increase in state influence through its requirement for MEAP testing, the state initiative to increase accreditation standards, adopt ing of a four-day weekend at. Labor Day, and the adoption of students will be disciplined for certain violations of rules

"All of those were decisions that used to be made by the school districts The state now controls it," he said

Analysts say Proposal A has flaws

BY MIKE MALOTT HOMETOWN NEWS SERVICE minalott@homecomm.net

Seven years after the passage of Proposal A. the property tax and school finance reform package from 1994 is "beginning to creak a little," say policy analysts were in the plan are beginning to show now, said Dr. David Plank, director of the Education Policy Center at Michigan State University

Experts on school finance who look at Proposal A from a statewide perspective say that over all it has been effective, providing tax relief while improving funding of school districts

Four areas of concern, according to Plank, however include. High spending school districts cannot raise additional funding and are being pinched by inflationary cost increases Although the gap has closed significantly between the richest and poorest schools, a gap of almost two to one still exists. Proposal A gives all students a foundation allowance, this year at $6,300, but some students are more expensive to educate than oth-

Charter schools for instance have mainly provide alternatives for elementary students, the least expensive set of students to teach. Education of more expensive secondary stu-

Bonding for building of schools was left on the nearest tax so there remains a significant.

gap in what districts can afford for renovation or reconstruction of school buildings.
"Bonding is the unfinished business of Proposal A," Plank said. But the toughest to resolve are the first two items, said Earl Ryan of the Citizens Research Council We are talking about two goods competing, he said "In the end it is a matter of perspective about what is the best way to educate kids. In adopting Proposal A, voters in this state wanted to assure that all kids receive essentially equal educational opportunity. The problem is you can't do both." It would be too expensive to let top spending schools take in additional money and bring all other districts up to the same

BACK TO COLLEGE

On the road: Matt Compton gets a CD ready for his drive to school - atime he uses to get away from everyone and collect his thoughts

Commuting students juggle college, work

Many have found the drive to higher education

Editor's note This is the second and away from final installment in our look at the back to college scene, comparing dorm and commuter students

By Cara Plowman

Although going away to college is a natural transition for a lot of high school graduates, Matt Compton is among those who opt to stay at home and commute to school

Compton's decision to commute to Wayne State University allows him to work in his field of study while taking

At his parent's home in Canton Compton's bedroom is laid out like an apartment complete with an office area for studying, an entertainment system and a recliner He maneuvers the furni ture with ease, even though its crammed into a space not much larger than a dorm room

The life of a commuter

Commuters spend a lot of time in their cars, either driving to school and looking for a parking spot in the endless rows of vehicles or driving to work

Compton, 21, usually starts his day at 7 a m After getting ready, he jumps in his car and prepares himself for the 45 minute drive into Detroit, usually making it to class at 9 a m

"I love my morning drive and my time at the gym or in the student center Compton who is a business major and (reiman

minor then heads to work

For commuters Compton's routine of balancing class and work will sound famılıar

Commuting to school has its disad vantages, but for Compton, a junior, it s the only way to juggle his need to make money while getting an education

While in high school, he started look ing at colleges and realized that money would play a key role in his decision With a 40 high school GPA, Compton could have gone to any school Ultimate ly, he chose WSU because of a full schol arship offer Factors like WSU's down town location, its reputation and cost made it attractive Compton calls the campus a "hidden treasure"

"I'm in the city and I love it Because afternoon drive That's my time to get I'm in the city it means that job oppor tunities are so much greater

On the job

Commuters save money on room and board or other expenses that come with dorm life That was a big factor, said Denise Comp ton, Matt's mother "The fewer loans you have when you graduate, the better off you are "

In addition to wanting to save money on his educa tion, Compton chose to commute so he could earn on the job experience dur-

In the Deloitte & Touche office, Comp ton is lauded by coworkers who go on about the work he has done and his commitment to the company

He s incredibly motivated 'said coworker Nancy Carrara senior inter national human resources consultant "He always says he wishes he could do

Whenever a fellow employee strolls by his roomy cubical, Compton warmly asks how they are or demands a hug

"It's very encouraging to see young people who are motivated, good people He seems like he's very well balanced," Carrara said

At Deloitte & Touche, which handles taxes human resources and payroll for businesses, Compton takes care of payroll for Volkswagen and Rolls-Royce

Gaining work experience while in school is a leading force for commuters students

Paul Tennies, 20, stays busy working on two degrees at two different schools, all while gaining experience in his field as a patrol officer The Canton resident is a junior, behavioral sciences major at the University of Michigan-Dearborn and studies at Schoolcraft College in the Criminal Justice Academy He also works at the U-M-Ann Arbor in the Public Safety Department

Tennies is working for certification to be a police officer

"I'm able to have a full-time job and take classes at the same time I work to be financially secure but also to bring experience into my field along with my degree," Tennies said

Focus is key to Matt Compton's success, something that might have been missing if he had been living on cam-

Living with the folks isn't so bad when you think about it with Nancy Carrara of Deloitte & Touche

Is he really missing out on parts of the college life?

"You always dream about (living on campus) You always think about it You know that you lost something," he said "It's almost envy to see that one person has something you can't have, but it's all in balance

So-called "commuter colleges" like U M Dearborn, Oakland University and Schoolcraft College are sometimes labeled "half-way schools" and "last resorts" Some people consider them a step below Michigan State University or the University of Michigan-Ann Arbor But dramatic increases in enrollment at smaller schools within the past decade may signify a shift in the way students view commuter colleges

Compton said he thinks WSU's repu tation could be better, but still backs his

"Going to Wayne State kind of knocks me down a little bit in my opportunities You take a person from U-M and com pare them to Wayne State and ulti mately it depends on GPA and everything else But if you have that nice school background, it says a lot for you "

Schoolcraft College student Sara Ringer, 19, of Canton didn't want to move away from her family and friends for school

"I didn't have to change anything about my life I can still work and go to cally keep it the same," said Ringer, who is studying elementary education Compton doesn't regret staying home during college His sister Jackie, 19, commutes to Eastern Michigan University, and his brother Scott, 23, used to commute to Schoolcraft College

His parents, Richard and Denise, said they have always supported their son's decision

"Matthew is a real go-getter Things always fall into place for him," said

Compton will finish out his business degree in two and a half to three years After that, he plans to take his time obtaining a master's degree, possibly in law or accounting

"Anywhere you go you're going to find happy people and you're going to find unhappy people It's really a train of .. thought You are what you think you are I'm one of those people who chooses to be happy and thankful for where I am and what God's given me because I'm very, very, very lucky "

Home work: Matt has plenty of room to study in his room can living on campus Since I started college at Oakland University in fall 1998, I haven't really stopped moving From working long hours at the school newspaper, attending basketball games and swimming matches, learning about campus politics and student government and hanging out with people I've met, I have managed to make

Commuters definitely have the reputation of lacking school spirit, but more students are getting involved on campus now For those who still aren't active, remember, you picked the school you wanted to go to Why not show support for sports teams, 101n organizations and hang out in the student center It's the best way to meet people

I picked OU because it was close to home, inexpensive and has a good reputation At first, I dreaded the thought of living with my parents for another four years, but then I realized that I have the rest of my life to pay bills and live on my own What's the big rush?

Besides, college isn't about sharing a 10-foot by 10-foot dorm with someone you barely know, cramming for tests or going crazy at keg parties School is about learning, growing and making potentially lifelong friends If you manage to save a few bucks along the way, more power to you

After I graduate next spring, I'm proud to say I will not have any student loans to pay off Because I stayed at home, applied for scholarships and worked hard, I was able to pay for everything without borrowing money OK, mom and dad did help a lot

One downside that a commuter can't avoid is driving Waking up early for classes, bad weather and rush hour traffic take their toll The good thing about it is the time you get to be alone and think For me, it's home-cooked meals and take showers in peace

The roommate situation was the deciding factor in my decision not to live on campus At OU, about 1,100 students take the plunge each year and move into dorms The small, square rooms resemble those of a cheap motel One window, one closet and one bathroom are not qualities I look for in my living space (so, call me spoiled)

Some people remain close to their college roommates after graduation, but I've heard too many stories to venture down that path As my luck would have it, I'd end up getting the roommate you hear people talk about The one that locks you out of the room every time her boyfriend visits, invites 20 people over to party the night before worth it just to be able to eat your big exam and insists on cranking up the stereo every night at 2 a m

No, thank you So what if I live out of my car, get stuck in rush hour traffic every day and can never find a spot to park

Underclassmen who live on campus have no car, no privacy and no peace and quiet Before picking a school, I weighed the positives and negatives of commuting and living on campus Your decision might be different, but think both options through.

Don't just run out and apply for a dorm without talking to people who have lived in one already Mom and dad are a lot less likely to let you move back home after you've left for a while

Kids take part in youth conference

BY PATTIE FOSTER SPECIAL WRITER

Eight youngsters and three adult leaders from Risen Christ Lutheran Church in Plymouth headed to "Higher Ground" and were among the 35,000 young people at the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod 2001 National Youth Gathering in New Orleans

The Plymouth contingent were among kids from all 50 states and 22 foreign countries at the gathering that ended Aug 1

The National Youth Gathering takes place every three years, the last one in Atlanta, Ga, in 1998 It is designed for highschool-aged children, while college-age youth can participate as young adult volunteers

"Higher Ground" was the gathering's overall theme, based on the opening verses of Colessians 3

"It is absolutely amazing what the church and God can do when they put their heads together," said the Rev Terry Dittmer, director of the Missouri Synod's Board for District and Congrega tional Services Office of Youth Ministry

The gathering involved worship, Bible study with young people portraying events of the early church but in contemporary dress, settings and language, interest center presentations on scores of topics, music by popular contemporary Christian artists, remarks from government, church and sports leaders, a mile-plus parade down Poydas Street, and an outdoor event on the riverfront that included fireworks

During the gathering, youth groups donated 22,000 Bibles for Concordia Gospel Outreach to distribute, along with 10 tons of nonperishable food for the hungry, 804 pints of blood and thousands of pens to be added to 7,500 school kits prepared at the gathering for needy school chil-

"It's been amazing, unbelievable," said Emily Foster, a 16year-old in the Risen Christ group "It's given me more insight and made my faith stronger

The event was a first for Risen Christ The congregation supported the youth with prayers and donations, and the youngsters also earned money with car washes and by selling "unfrequent flyer miles districts seek additional millage money from local voters would "undo the progress we have made evening out the funding levels" between high and low district, Matt Resch, spokesman for Gov John Engler said

That one of the goals of Proposal A, to hold back top spending schools to let poor school districts catch up, so that funding per pupil would even out

And the gap has narrowed, he said, because the state has moved up the low districts from less than $4,200 per student to $6,300 this year

Next year the figure goes up the $6,700

Matthew Broullette, Director of Education Policy at the Mackmac Center, isn't eager to see limitations raised on the millage rate districts can ask of local

"Actually, it make the law worse than it was (before Pro-Proposals to let high spending posal A) because the 6 cent sales tax would not rolled back So instead of a shift, trading a tax increase for a decrease, you would have an increase and an increase'

Brouillette is not sympathetic to school districts that say they are pinched by inflation He believes they are "not doing a very good job of managing their money now "

He argued that in most school districts, significant savings could still be accomplished through outsourcing noninstructional services and reviewing their health benefit programs

Analysts noted that ending the frequent millage requests schools district made of local taxpayers was also one of the goals of Proposal A

Opening the door to enhancement millages would open the door to those frequent requests, they said

Defense, passing game lifts Canton

There wasn't too much that went wrong for Plymouth Canton in its season-opener at Ypsilanti Friday. The Chiefs' defense dominated and two blocked punts by Mike Tolhurst set up scores for the offense.

Know this A coach is never all together happy with his team's performance in its season-opening game

With that in mind, it's not all that surprising to hear Plymouth Canton football coach Tim Baechler say, "We've got some things to work on," even after his Chiefs destroyed host Ypsilanti 37-

"We weren't consistent enough on offense," he added "Defensively we played well, but we made some mistakes I was happy with our passing

In the third quarter, Tolhurst — a 5foot-11, 230-pound senior defensive tackle — blocked his second punt of the game and was awarded the safety when the kick rolled out of the end

However, the Braves struck right back, recovering a fumble on the ensuing kickoff and returning it for a touchdown, making it 22-6

"Unbelievable," said Baechler

The Chiefs remained in control, however, scoring a pair of fourth-quarter

Pioneer overpowers Salem in season-opener, 24-0

BY ED WRIGHT STAFF WRITER

Nowhere to run Nowhere to hide No

That sums up Plymouth Salem's season-opening 24-0 thumping Friday night suffered at the hands of Ann Arbor Pioneer, which cashed in on two blocked punts and suffocated the Rocks' inexperienced offensive line with a swarming, no-holds-barred defensive effort

The game marked the debut of Salem coach Bob Cummings, who now has the unenviable task of leading his 0-1 troops onto nationally ranked Farmington Hills Harrison's turf next Friday

'We have a lot of new people up front, and they definitely got a test tonight," Cummings said "It's going to take a while for the offensive line to gel We have two kids up there (on the offensive line) who played fullback last

"Pioneer has a big, tough defensive line and they gave us problems They got penetration when we tried to run and they blitzed us when we tried to pass We have to keep working hard and get improvement out of every one of our players

Of the four first downs Salem com piled (all in the second half) three came as a result of Pioneer penalties

Rock quarterback Scott Hewitt (1for 13 passing) was forced to throw off his back foot most of the night by a huge, hard-charging defensive front five anchored by junior noseguard Brandon Kennedy (6-3, 330 pounds) and senior tackle Joe Rewoldt (6-2, 270 pounds)

Salem's ground game never got rolling as the Rocks managed just 49 yards on 25 carrieds (19 yards a carry)

Looking for help: Salem quarterback Scott Hewitt had trouble finding receivers all night Here, Pioneer's Kevin Simon pressures.

"From midway through the first quarter until halftime, I thought Salem did a good job of controlling the line of scrimmage," said Pioneer coach Chuck White "But in the second half, I thought we came out and took control of things a little better I liked our effort, but our execution needs work "It looked like a first game out there tonight '

After a three-and-out on its opening possession, Salem was forced to punt However, Kevin Schopieray's kick was redirected by the mid-section of Pioneer's leaping Kevin Simon and recovered by Pioneer at the Salem 7-yard

Proneer then scored on its first offensive play of the season when Brad Williams rumbled into the end zone over left tackle

Ann Arbor converted an unconventional two-point conversion when the center snap was mishandled, but holder Dan Calderon scooped the ball up and lofted a pass to tight end Chris Corwin to make it 8-0 "We went seven-straight quarters (at without scoring, so getting that early touchdown was a relief,' White admitted "Any time you can block a punt and score it gives the team a lift Proneer made it 11 0 with 10 14 left the beginning of the season) last year in the first half when Mark Spencer booted a 33 yard field goal

Salem's first possession of the second half mirrored its disastrous game-opening possession After two runs and an incomplete pass netted just three yards, the Rocks were forced to punt from their own 20

However, Pioneer senior defensive back Wade Lehmann, who was lined up wide, blocked Schopieray's punt The ball rolled into the end zone where

Rocks have returnees to challenge for WLAA title

BY C.J. RISAK SPORTS EDITOR cjrisak@oe.homecomm.net

Plymouth Salem is one of the preseason favorites to win the Western Lakes Activities Association girls basketball championship

What a surprise If the Rocks weren't one of the favorites, that would be news. This isn't Because year in and year out, Salem — and Canton, for that matter — is among the league's powerhouses

A year ago, the Rocks waited until the final weeks of the season to assert themselves They ambushed the WLAA champions, Northville, and they did it convincingly, beating the Mustangs three times in a two-week span

But if Salem were the albatross dragging down Northville, then Canton served the same role with the Rocks The Chiefs beat Salem twice last season, including in the state district final

on a change in leading characters

True, Canton is rebuilding But the Chiefs will be bigger this season and Will things be different this season? Salem coach Fred Thomann figures The results might be, but don't count they will still be athletic, although matching last season's all-around ath-

Returning star: An all-WLAA performer, Kelly Jaskot led Plymouth Salem in scoring last season and was the top ball distributor in their offense.

Last season was something well, different

Everybody wanted a piece of the action, and by season's end, a lot of them got some Northville emerged as the champion in the Western Lakes Activities Association, but the Mustangs were ousted from both the WLAA Tournament and the state districts by Plymouth Salem

The Rocks ended up as Lakes Divis sion champs and WLAA Tournament winners, but they couldn't get past Plymouth Canton in the district final

The Chiefs mostly-senior squad won the district title before getting beaten by West Bloomfield in the regional semifinals Seven of those Canton team members — Janine Guastella, Amanda Lentz, Anns Morrell, Christina Kiessel, Angie Neu, Ashley Williams and Meghan Meier — have graduated, which is too bad

New coach has big goals for PCA

BY C.J. RISAK SPORTS EDITOR cjrisak@oe.homecomm.net

Several key players from a team that won 15 games last season have graduated, and that's not an ideal situation to step into for a new coach — which is what Annie Malcolm is at Plymouth Christian Academy

But don't count the Eagles out of the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference girls basketball race too early, either Malcolm knows the sport, and she knows the program

And just as importantly, the players in the program know her

"I coached the JVs last year and the eighth-graders the year before that,' Malcolm explained "Of the 10 players on the varsity, I coached seven of them " And she did it well Malcolm takes BASKETBALL over for Rod Windle, who has moved on to coach at Livonia Churchill Last year, Malcolm guided the PCA junior varsity to a 13-4 record while the varsity was chalking up a 15-8 mark and winning a state district championship

Malcolm has a basketball back ground A graduate of Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard, she went to the University of Notre Dame on a scholarship, graduating in 1990 She served as a graduate assistant at the University of Detroit Mercy for two years before leaving the game to raise her family She decided to return to coaching two years

Despite the loss of four seniors, the cupboard isn't bare at PCA The only

returning starter is 6-foot-1 senior post fastest player on the team," said Mal player Amy Brandt, who averaged nine points and nine rebounds last season We'll be looking for her to do that, and more, this year," said Malcolm

Four others with considerable varsity experience also return Back are the Guilfoyle twins, 5-9 Kim and 5-7 Laura, both junior post players Kim averaged about 7 5 rebounds a game last season on the varsity, while Laura was a good rebounder and defensive specialist for the JV team Malcolm is hoping to get some more offense out of both of them this season

Also back in the post is 5-8 sophomore Erin Young Indeed, interior size is perhaps PCA's greatest attribute

But the Eagles have more Amy Garbacz a 5-3 junior who played some on varsity last season, returns "She's the colm "She can really push the ball up the floor and make things happen'

Also back is 5-8 sophomore Amanda Saagman, a guard/forward who's "an all-around good athlete - I look for her to do a bit of everything for us," said Malcolm

Four other players Malcolm will count on who are up from the JV team are 5-4 junior point guard Megan Roupas, a possible starter ("She's a good ballhandler and very aggressive at driving to the basket"), 5-7 junior guard/forward Melanie Brady ("She's the best outside shooter on the team We're looking for her to score over zones"), 5-7 sophomore shooting guard Shannon Murray ("She had a great pre-season - she's challenging for a starting spot"), and 5-8 sophomore post player Lindsay Pew

("She has a good shot, she just needs to get used to handling the ball")

'Our post play is probably our biggest strength," said Malcolm "That's where most of our experience is " But this team won't rely solely on its size "We are going to try and push the ball more this year than they did last year," she said

As for picking a favorite in the MIAC, that's not too difficult Auburn Hills Oakland Christian has won the title several years in a row "They're always tough," said Malcolm "And they will be again

"A lot of teams have returning play" ers, so we'll have our work cut out for us We have a tough non-league schedule, too '

It begins Monday with the Eagle Invitational, hosted by PCA

the nast few years has holds to the WIAA They also collected fill but could still mount a challenge

However, the team that seems to boast the greatest returning arsenal is Salem

"I certainly wouldn't want to dissuade that," Thomann said when told his team is a favorite "I think we have the ability to do that

"But having said that, this isn't a team that can just show up and win They're going to have to play They're going to have to be ready to play right from the beginning

A year ago, the Rocks overcame an early-season injury to leading scorer Mary Lou Liebau and went on to post a 17-5 record, including a 9-2 mark in the WLAA Tournament championship (again - they've won three in a row)

Three starters are gone from that team center Dawn Allen, guard Katie Kelly and forward Jenna Van Wagoner Allen "was as good an interior defender as we had," Thomann said, while Kelly "played solid defense on the ball" and Van Wagoner "was just great at figuring things out on the court "

Filling those holes won't be easy, but many of those on this season's squad are experienced Indeed, five current Rocks have started at some time in their

It starts with all-WLAA selec tion Kelly Jaskot, a starter for foot-7 senior guard averaged a team-best 10 points a game last season while she was learning to become the team's primary distributor Jaskot's all-around ability makes her one of the conference's best players

"She's a great scorer," Thomann said of Jaskot "We've worked hard with her on her decision-making, and she's doing very well We're looking at a lot of different things with her, trying to figure out what will be best for the team "

Liebau also returns The 5-11 senior forward averaged 10 points a game while playing barely half the season, her ability in slashing to the basket and grabbing offensive rebounds

Other part-time starters a year ago were 5-6 senior guard Amy Szawara, 5-8 senior forward/guard Shannon Miller and 5-8 sophomore forward/guard Marissa Sarkesian

Thomann has two other seniors he can summon 5-8 forward Kelly Holka and 5-3 guard Jenny Schwan There are also three juniors and a pair of sophomores who could see playing

The juniors are 5-11 post player Stephanie Philips, 5-10 forward Laura Baumgart and 5-7 forward/guard Maggie Tudor The sophomores are 5-2 guard Jordan Falcuson, who spent some time on the varsity last

While he believes the offensive firepower is strong, Thomann isn't as certain about his team's defense and rebounding talents "The ability to score is definitely one of our strengths," he said, relishing a lineup with Jaskot and a healthy Liebau in it "And we handle the ball, not as good as we need to, but better than most teams

"We really struggle to rebound the ball at times And we're going to have to defend at the level we did last year That was one of (last year's) team strengths This team is good, it's just not at that level yet

"If we can improve in those areas it will allow this team to season, and 6-1 post player compete at the level I think they our courpos as

Thomann is certain everything will come together for this team He's not as certain predicting

"I don't know when, but I honestly think this team will jell," he said The hope is it happens early — Salem opens with West Bloomfield, the team that eliminated Canton from the state tournament in the regionals last year, on Thursday And the Rocks could play Northville twice in a one-week span early on, the second time in conference action

Other key dates Oct 2 at Canton and Oct 23 at Harrison

If things go well for Salem, it could surpass last year's record and take a longer trip in the state tournament

Because if there was a quality that defined that team, it was a certain orneriness Those seniors (three of them, as well as one junior, were on the state championship-winning soccer team) just didn't like to lose They would have appreciated another shot at West Bloomfield the team Can ton opens its season against Tuesday at home

The Chiefs ended up with a 16-7 record last season despite not having a key player over 5foot-8 Even with that lack of size, they outrebounded their opponents

Thing is, they didn't even shoot that well from the perimeter And they were barely mediocre at the free-throw line

But they won Whatever shortcomings they may have had, they found a way to win

We were lucky to have kids like that athletically," said Canton coach Bob Blohm "Last year our scoring came off transition a lot - cutting, driving They were an excellent rebounding team for their size, and they were tremendous defensively

This season's team is the antithesis The experience that graced the Chiefs for the past couple of years is missing, so is the raw athletic ability

"Now we've got to regroup a little bit and get after it," said Blohm "Experience is going to be the one thing (lacking) You can do all the skill work you want to, but you're going to have to get out there and compete to find out where you are

"It's going to be fun It's been fun already There's a lot of teaching going on "

This season's squad features just two seniors Courtney Jarman, a 5 9 forward, and Leslev Whiting, a 5 10 forward That's right - both are taller than any of the key players from last sea son s squad

In fact, this year's Canton team features four (count 'em four!) players who stand 5-10, and two others who are 5-9

"This group won't be as athletic as last year's group," said Blohm "But this group is bigger They have the potential to be a great defensive team And they certainly can be a great rebounding team "

Two current team members have varsity experience, and both are juniors Briana Wolcott. a 5-8 guard, and Kristen Lake, a 5-10 center

Other sizable team members are juniors Alana Abdal, a 5-10 center, Christina Redd, a 5-10 forward, and Jessica Johnson, a 5-9 guard

Joining Wolcott and Johnson in the backcourt will be Colleen O'Brien, a 5-5 junior, and Rachele Guastella, a 5-5 sopho-

"This year, we have four kids who are 5-10, so hopefully we can get something done in the paint," said Blohm Jarman. Wolcott and Guastella are solid perimeter shooters, but as the Canton coach noted, "It's different shooting on the varsity than ıt ıs on the JV

"What we want is to get a good shot, get a second shot and get back on defense so we don't give up any easy shots'

That may sound simple enough but learning the Canton system isn't so easy. It helps that this group has come up through the ranks together

The strength of this group is they have decent size, and they have improved defensively, although that takes time to develon" Blohm said "It may take all season before they get it

"They play very well together, and their work ethic is good We just need to see them on the court I've already seen some growth since practice began"

At the top of the list of WLAA opponents to watch is crosscreek rival Salem, which returns Kelly Jaskot and Mary Lou Liebau The Rocks lost just three seniors to graduation

Northville, Walled Lake Central, Walled Lake Western and Farmington Harrison could also be formidable

And where will Canton fit in this mix? "I'm real anxious to see them play," said Blohm "The thing is, we have to be patient, they have to continue to improve, their games We have to have balance, score inside and out-

"Hopefully, we'll improve by game (No) 20

The Chiefs will improve quicker than that - and you can

Roth, head golf professional at Knollwood Golf and Country Club in West Bloomfield and a Plymouth Salem HS graduate, won the 80th Michigan PGA Championship Wednesday by a resounding nine

Roth, who moved to Knollwood in March after 13 years at Flint Golf Club, began the final round at Shanty Creek's Cedar River Golf Club with a six-stroke lead and shot 6-under-par 66 to secure the title and the $10,000

"Inats as good as I can do, said Roth "It just goes to show you what can happen when you combine good ball striking with good putting The greens were in great shape for good scoring"

Roth's win, his ninth major championship title, ties him with Lynn Janson for third on the all time Michigan Major Championship win list Legendary Chick Harbert has 10 major wins and Al Watrous has 13 In total, Roth has won 18 Michigan PGA sanctioned events

"My goal is to win majors," the 43-year-old Roth said "I have a lot of years ahead of me I'm planning on winning more I'm motivated to win more

Roth finished the championship at 18-under-par, and the key for him in the final round was staying out of trouble, as he had during opening rounds of 67

"I didn't want to make a bogey," said Roth, who was mistake-free over the entire 54 hole event "It's probably as good as anyone has done I don't think it's been done before "

Roth had won the Michigan PGA Championship in 1998 and

Jeff Gniewek, of Prestwick Village Golf Club in Highland, was runner-un for the secondstraight year He shot 68-72-67 to finish at 9-under-par and win

"I expected Jeff not to let down Eighteen under is really good and he missed a few today was awesome He putted lights out We were playing for second place," said Gniewek, who battled for the runner-up position with Mike Fay, an assistant professional at Arcadia Bluffs Golf Club who set the course record 63 at Shanty Creek in the second round and finished tied for third place with Oakland Hills Country Club assistant professional Steve Brady at 8-under-par

Other local contenders of ment included Randy Erskine, of Great Oaks Country Club in Rochester, who shot 71-72-69 to finish in fifth place at 4-underpar and win $2,800, and Ken Allard, of the Auburn Hills Golf Center, who shot 72-69-72 to fin-1sh T-6 at 3-under-par and win

Beautiful Hair

Easy. Care

European stylist, Jonće, now based in Birmingham, at Farrell Reis Salon, shares how to achieve a great look without spending a lot of time. "Before I can create anything beautiful with my "structured tm" cut, I must have or create a foundation from which I can work. As with any sturby building there must be a foundation to maintain and support it. What so many people do not realize about creating a look, is that it is more than just a beautiful style. The client must be able to go home and achieve the look that the stylist created, on their own.

To begin with, a stylist should spend an ample amount of time consulting with his/her client to see the quality of hair, face structure, client's wants and lifestyle that they will be working with. I can not even begin to promise a new client I can achieve their goal in one visit, unless all the conditions are perfect, which is very seldom.

First, I look at the quality of the hair, texture, condition, density etc. No one can feel beautiful or look beautiful if their hair is not in a healthy state. This is always my main objective, to achieve healthy, shiny, non frizzed hair. It simply goes back to the basics. Your hair did not become that way over night, so it may take a few months to achieve our end goal. I focus heavily on returning the hair to it's most natural state. Many clients I see to me with over come processed hair from too many improper chemical treatments. I do many color services on clients, but as I state, it is how you go about achieving things to get the best results, and for me that is to work with the best products (I use Wella) and all my knowledge of hair care to not damage the hair.

Second, after consultation and analyzing the clients hair, I do a structured cut. Many of my clients are surprised by the amount of time my cuts take, generally 1 hour to 1 hour and 15 minutes, but it is at this point and every cut after (second cut generally takes 50 minutes) that I create the foundation from which I and my clients will always be able to work from. If you take the time to think about how long your hair cut generally takes, and the time you spend afterwards having to "work" with your hair and make it do what wouldn't you want, investment in time for a quality hair cut make up for the daily effort you put into it? I base my cuts on many things, but my end goal is to have the hair fall where it is designed to. My clients are able to style their hair with very little, if any, use of products, brushes, dryers or irons, and be done in minutes. Why? With precision cutting you can guarantee the look, that is why it is so important to make sure your stylist is giving you a cut you are not having to work against or trim off some pieces at home. This should never happen!

Last, but not least, if I do a chemical process on a client, (color, highlights, marbleizing etc.) it will always be based first on the condition of the hair. If I do not feel the hair can take a certain treatment I will tell the client this and suggest another alternative. It would be very easy for me to sell many additional services to my clients, but I won't. Based on the value I have for my clients and the end result I am after, I would much rather see all my clients walking around with beautiful, healthy hair they are able to work with and love.

n closing, I do not have a problem with "styling products", they are fine, but the product is not there to create the style or make it stay where it is supposed to, products should be used simply to enhance what is already there!

Take care of yourself and your hair.

Westland John Glenn was ready this time for Detroit Kettering

The Rockets opened their football season Friday night in grand style, pouncing on the late-arriving Pioneers for 21 first-quarter points en route to a 28-8 victory

Glenn, a 25-7 loser at Kettering in last year's opener, played a dominating first half, building a 28-0 advantage

"We were more prepared than a year ago, we had a better plan," Glenn coach Chuck Gordon said "Kettering was hit hard by graduation, but it's nice to get off to a good start because being 0-1 is not fun

"We hope we can find something to build on from this game because we know our schedule is for a 7 p m start Officials gave the Pioneers a 20-minute warmup and Glenn elected not to take the ball, but go on defense first after Will Kennedy booted the ball into the end zone

Glenn's defense stopped Kettering on its first series on three downs and quickly went to work offensively after a Pioneer punt traveled just 17 yards

Anthony Davis, Glenn's 5-foot-10, 173-pound tailback, scored with 6 58 left in the quarter on a 7-yard touchdown and Andrew Peiffer added the first of his four

Brent Turner then made a big hit on the Kettering kickoff return and Peiffer recovered at the Pioneers' 14

Three plays later, Davis scored on a 1-yard run to give Glenn a 14-point cushion with 5 09 left in the period

With 3 22 left in the same quarter, De'Anthony Grandberry intercepted a Kettering pass and made a nice return to the Pioneers' 43 Grandberry coughed the ball up just inside the Kettering 50 on the return, but Peiffer pounced on the loose ball

Granberry then ripped off a 32-yard run and added Glenn's third TD in the period on a 2yard jaunt The two junior tailbacks combined for 90 yards on nine carries in the opening quarter "Both for their first varsity starts I thought they ran hard,'

Gordon said "And you've got to have backs who run that hard

"And I thought our offensive line really made a lot of progress in a week We were disappointed with their play in our scrimmage, so we came back and had them concentrate more on their assignments and their techniques "

With 955 left in the second quarter, Glenn scored again as Davis racked up his third TD on 7-yard run to make it 28-0

Meanwhile, the Rockets' defense held Kettering in complete check during the opening half The Pioneers had just 38 total yards

"We were nervous about their speed and we had to make sure we got everybody in the right place as far as pursuit because they can break one at any time," Gordon said

The Proneers never got off any

48-yard TD pass from quarterback Marcus Ford to Howard Gaston in the final minute

Ford was held to three of 10 for 59 yards The Pioneers had only 70 net yards on the ground in 24 attempts

"We didn't play well tonight, we had a ton of errors," said Kettering coach Robert Hunt, who refused to use the late bus arrival as an excuse "We didn't tackle and we didn't play well defensively And our quarterback had some first-game jitters

"It took us the whole first half to find out what was going on We also had poor field position, but the bottom line is that we weren't ready to play'

Glenn finished with 231 total yards and 13 first downs (to Kettering's five) Davis had 108 yards in 17 carries, while Granberry added 50 on just big gains with the exception of a three carries Junior quarterback Brian Ceckiewicz was four of 11 passing for 61 yards

> "Their backs may not be as explosive as Dan Smitherman," said Hunt of the Glenn grad who finished with a school-record 2,225 yards rushing last year "But their back s broke a lot tackles I'm happy Smitherman was not here, but that group out there (Davis and Granberry) is solid

"Glenn blocked well and they got to our quarterback They played fundamental football"

Although things got sloppy, the Rockets were able to maintain control for much of the second half as well despite not scor

"We got some breaks early and we took advantage of them,' Gordon said "And we were able to ride that momentum the

"We were still in the game at halftime," Cummings stressed "But it took a lot out of our team when they scored off the blocked punt early in the third quarter That's definitely something we have to work on

Proneer sealed the deal with 22 seconds left in the third quarter when Williams ran untouched into the end zone from four yards out to make it 24-0 The touchdown capped a 13-play, 55-yard drive that was kept alive by a roughing-thepunter penalty against Salem

The Rocks netted just 39 yards in total offense compared to Pioneer's 225 yards Senior running back Myron Covington was the Rocks' top gainer, picking up 21 yards on 10 carries Hewitt, who

Pioneer was victorious despite getting whistled for 10 penalties totaling 85 yards Salem committed four infractions for 25

TDs Wilcox got the first on a 1yard dive on the first play of the fourth period, capping a 64-yard, 11-play drive The key play in that drive was a 28-yard pass from Murphy to Chris Smilo to the Ypsi 1-yard line

Canton's final points came from its second unit, with Nate Twietmeyer hauling in a 29-yard pass to the Braves' 17 and Dave Nicoloff scoring on the next play The Chiefs converted a two-point conversion when holder Brian Richardson grabbed a bobbled snap and tossed a pass to Smilo

In the final analysis, Canton's defense was dominant and its offense was plenty good enough On Friday, the Chiefs have their home opener in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover against North Farmington, a 42 12 loser to Northville Friday

NATURE NOTES

TIM NOWICKI

$Loons\ lead$ to other discoveries

The marvels of migration make many animals pass by our area Several species of birds in par ticular are only seen as they move north or south in spring and fall

Just the other day my wife and my son were driving past New burgh Lake and saw a common doon This bird was starting its southern journey to the Florida coast along the Atlantic or the Gulf of Mexico Some Michigan birds may winter along the Atlantic farther north than Flori

Back in the late 1800s loons were nesting on many lakes in southeastern Michigan People were able to see them all summer long and note their arrival in late March and early April Their nest would have been along the shore of an undisturbed part of the lake

Loons have to nest on floating mats of vegetation small islands with a gentle slope to the shore or right next to the shore They are unable to walk on land because their feet are set so far back on their body

A lake must be at least 10 acres in size This is important for a cou ple reasons

First there must be enough food to feed their two young plus the adults The se and reas n e that oons need to run along the surf co of the lake before they can tak

They need to run far enough in order to get enough lift for their heavy body. A loon that accidental ly lands on the ground cannot take flight without some help

Loons are designed for diving to catch fish Solid bones unlike the hollow bones of most birds help loons stay underwater

Feet of a loon are positioned far ther back on their body than most diving birds so they can push their entire body forward They are masters at diving and catching fish, but on land they are helpless

Now that lakes in southeastern Michigan are so heavily used and so developed along the shoreline loons are restricted to nesting in the northern two thirds of the state We see them only during migration to and from those nest ing lakes

In the evening I searched for the loon, but did not see it

However while at Newburgh Lake I did see two caspian terns This relatively uncommon bird nests in isolated areas of northern Michigan

Some populations are found along the Saginaw Bay shoreline and islands, other populations are found in the Beaver Island region

These two birds were also head ing to the southern Atlantic Ocean coast line and the Gulf of Mexico to spend the winter Fortunately I got to see them and hear them before they left

I recognized them as caspian terns by their long pointed wings characteristic of terns and their large bill and body

The common tern is the most frequently seen tern in our area It has the same basic coloration as the caspian, light gray to white breast and belly black cap to the head, and a reddish beak

Caspian terns are almost twice as big and the bill is much more

Both caspian terms were wheel ing through the air spinning around each other as they made a primitive call Maybe they were discussing the fishing opportuni ties in the lake and whether they should return next spring to hunt for food Hopefully the loon was successful and will return again

I don't know if loons and caspian terns were seen on Newburg Lake before they cleaned it up but this may be an encouraging sign regarding its recovery

A summer of surfing without getting wet

BY ALICE RHEIN

OK, the gig is up Party's over August is coming to a close, and thus begins the unofficial end of summer Where did it go, you ask?

I'm wondering the same thing You see, even though you've seen my smirking face every Sunday throughout the summer, I haven't been at work

No, through the miracles of modern technology, I've been sending in my stories to my trusty copy editors while I've been home nursing my new cutie

Yen, everyone thinks it's been a summer of bon bons and soap operas for me But you moms among us know better

Let's just say that when I wanted to do a phone interview with the former director of the Louvre, and his press agent said he only would do interviews between 8 and 10 in the morning French time, I said, no problem The likelihood that I'd be up at 2 am to soothe a crying baby was high, so why not chat with our allies abroad? Sleep deprived or ot, there is absolutely nothing more special than spending those first precious months with a new baby But I did miss out on a summer vacation, which usually involves large cities and numerous art galleries

Next Best Thing

So I did the next best thing I took a virtual vacation via some pretty great gallery Web sites tute of Arts has one of the most comprehensive visual resources Web sites as it continues to catalog its collection on www diamondial org Many works that you wouldn't

I still think the Detroit Instifind on the walls are shown on the site, including some by local artists including Dirk Bakker and Stephen Goodfellow

Virtual Whitney

But I wanted to be a little more adventuresome on my virtual voyage, so I logged onto www whitney org to see what was up at the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York City I ast summer I spent the afternoon traipsing through the galleries at the biennial, and was most impressed by the work of Joseph Grigely, a deaf artist It is relevant to note his hearing impairment because his work consists of 2,500 handwritten notes on scrapes of paper lining the walls of an oval room The notes chronicle 10 years of conversations he's had, and makes visual we interpret as an aural experience

As I logged onto the site, I found that this year, Grigely is having his largest installation to date at the Whitney restaurant in Detroit, which is also featuring two other blockbuster exhibits, Wayne Thiebaud's retrospective and Mies van der Rohe's North American architectural projects

Another exhibit I found out I missed this summer was at the Dia Center for the Arts in New York Bridget Riley, who abstract op-art paintings I to to replicate in my Barbie hou in the '60s, was featured the this summer, and the Web www.diacenter org gives view a taste of art from her pers

Next, it was off to Chicag see what was happening att Field Museum, www fieldm

No, it's not an art gallery until Nov 4, the natural his museum is featuring sets, ms and costumes by Julie Tayloraward-winning director Broadway's The Lion King fa And at the Terra Museu

American Art on Chicago's Mile, New York Noir Crime h tographs from the Daily New 5 Archive looked a bit interes The photos, taken from 120-1950, capture images of the by underbelly during what's coa ered the golden age of tabi photography At www terranseum org, you can viewh online gallery of the exhibiting

I took a trip to Paris, to to visit the Musee D-Oax (www musee-orsay fr) andhe Louvre (www louvre fr), b it was short-lived My compercrashed about the same in & that my wee one woke up her nap

But for a couple hours the T was strolling through sonof my favorite places in the wid. Internet art doesn't come clito capturing the real thing, but's sure a heck of a lot betteran Jerry Springer

The Final Season Tom Stanton St. Martin's Press

BY CHARLES LASTER

Tiger Stadium has always been an oasis amidst a concrete expanse Within this structure, children were able to dream, adults were able to marvel and the elderly were able to remi-

In his book, The Final Season, Macomb County resident Tom Stanton has captured the aura of one of baseball's landmark stadiums as it hosted the Detroit Tigers in its final season

By linking Tiger Stadium to four generations of his working class family, Stanton has provided an insight of not only the changing American family, but also the changes that have occurred in the city of Detroit and its baseball team

For a person passing through the concourses of the ballpark for the first time, the view was one of astonishment The beautifully manicured field with the green seats as a background was not what one would expect when first encountering the exterior of other ballplayers The game has changed where allegiances are rare and players will follow the money We proba-

Grandmothers sweaters as they kept score of the ballgame Children with baseball gloves in hand would chase down foul balls and home runs in pursuit of the ultimate Tiger Stadium souvenir-the baseball

Amidst all this, Stanton, his father and sons were able to share this experience which has resulted in the book The Final Stanton appears bitter that this link to generations of his family is doomed to end He says a new stadium will never capture the sights, smells and sounds of the old ballpark Who is to say whether he is right or wrong? Most certainly there will never be a Ty Cobb, Hank Greenberg, Charlie Gehringer or Al Kaline gracing the Tigers' new home, Comerica Park, but there will be

Simply the best

Shopping has a price, but affords an experience package: With it's elaborately painted front door and cozy, quaint intertor, Rıbbons gıft store ın downtownBirminghamtook first place for decor and best store exterior and signs in OaklandCounty

By NICOLE STAFFORD STAFF WRITER , nstafford@oe.homecomm.net

Mammoth shopping malls or quaint downtown districts?

A department store, mom-and-pop shop, big box outlet or upscale boutious?

The best place to shop, it seems, largely depends on the type of shopping one has in mind

With a category like best malls and mainstreets for people watching the Observer & Eccentric's retail survey speaks to the reality that shopping transcends mere commerce

The shopping experience

For Jean Chuey, the 45-minute drive from her home in Livonia to the Somerset Collection is well worth the effort

"I don't go there often, but when I do, I always have good experiences," said Chuey, who voted the Troy mall as best for shopping overall She also named it as best for people watching, window shopping and eats

"I usually make a day trip out of it It's more of a leisure type of day, but I always end up buying a few things," she said, adding she feels similarly about spending a day in downtown Birmingham, which she selected as best for shopping overall

Surprisingly, a number of Wayne County residents voted for Oakland County shopping spots – namely Somerset, Birmingham and Great Lakes Crossing in Auburn Hills – in the survey portion devoted to malls and mainstreets

At play is the shopping experience – atmosphere in combination with other elements

But when Chuey has a shopping list in hand and limited time to spare, she heads to Laurel Park Place in Livonia because "for me, it's really close"

Obviously, those who live near Somerset can rely on the mall for both power shopping and leisurely browsing Not surprisingly, Somerset split the vote with Laurel Park Place as best for speedy shopping since the quickest shopping is closest to home (we received an equal number of ballots from readers living in Wayne and Oakland counties)

Big guys, little guys

In today's media-driven culture it's tough for consumers to escape the draw of large national retailers, and plenty of the big guys, from Marshall Field's and Nordstrom, to Sharper Image, Toys-R-Us and Hallmark, fared well in the sur-

But a healthy handful of the little guys showed they can compete Again, sometimes a unique experience outweighs other factors in shopping

Ribbons, a tiny, beautifully decorated gift store in downtown Birmingham known for its elaborately painted front door, won for best store decor and best store exterior in Oakland County Ribbons' closest competitors were Neiman Marcus, Marshall Field's and Saks Fifth Avenue

Other independent retailers selected by Oakland County shoppers were Studio 330 in Bloomfield Township for best gifts and Blossoms in downtown Birmingham for best florist

Likewise, the unique sophistication of Birmingham and quaint hometown character of Plymouth explain why these downtowns were standout winners

Something for everybody

Overall the Somerset Collection took home more than its fair share of accolades in the best mall category

But the fact is the mall houses hun dreds of stores and appeals to a wide range of shoppers A whopping 70 stores there do not have locations elsewhere in Michigan, including Tiffany & Co and Gucci on the higher end of the scale, as well as, more moderately priced stores like BCBG

However, Great Lakes Crossing stole some of the thunder, winning best for bargains and best for kids and family in the malls survey Anyone who's been to the mall knows there's an appealing shopping experience for everybody

While mom shops for designer clothing at Saks Off 5th, dad can play a game of simulated golf at Bass Outdoor World and the kids can get lost at Gameworks Later the whole family can have lunch in the jungle at the Rainforest Cafe

The price is right

Besides, there are thousands of excellent bargains to be had at the outlet stores at Great Lakes Crossing

Today's shoppers not only crave discounts and deals, they develop a loyalty to retailers who provide them

While the bargain factor contradicts the shopping-as-experience idea, don't forget there's an exchange of money involved

Numerous stores well known for discounted prices were favored by readers in the survey

Best Buy won for best for high tech in Wayne County Tapper's Fine Jewelry & Diamonds in West Bloomfield took best jewelry store in Oakland County Thrifty Florist was the preferred florist among Wayne County readers

When it came to buying shoes, readers from both counties favored a good deal, DSW Shoe Warehouse in Oakland County and Payless in Wayne County

But, hey, isn't a great bargain an experience in itself?

Family fun: At Great Lakes Crossing, which won best mall for the family, kids can play at Gameworks while their parents shop.

Best! of Malls and Mainstreets The results are in!!! Here are your favorite shopping areas!

We want to thank all the readers who took the time to participate in our survey of retailers, downtown shopping districts and malls. The votes have been counted and the results follow.

Put-In-Bay's landscape is both picturesque, historic

BY MARY RODRIQUE STAFF WRITER mrodrique@oe.homecomm.net

ruising along Lake Erie on Jet Express ferry boat to Put-In-Bay, Ohio, on a glonous summer day felt like being transported somewhere far from home

But day trippers from the Detroit area can get into quick vacation mode on this tourist island just a short drive from Toledo It's 20 miles this side of Cedar Point - 90-minute ride and a fun day sandwiched in-between

Never having been on this little island jewel in the western part of the smallest Great Lake, I found Put-In-Bay - actually *a village on South Bass Island – to be a charming mix of old and new places

Perry's Victory and International Peace Monument pokes high above the Victorian homes, gift shops and restaurants in town This memorial to a turn- National Monuing-point battle in ment to a War of the War of 1812 is run by the National Park Service and is the most prominent attraction visible on approaching the island It commemorates Commodore Oliver Perry's naval victory over the British in the Battle of Lake

Historic: The

1812 battle.

Historic

Built between 1912 and 1915, the tower features an open air observation deck 317 feet above Lake Erie The monument is also a tribute to nearly two centuries of peace between the US and Canada On a clear day like the day we visited, Ontario's Pelee Island was visible to the east from the observation deck

Put-In Bay has everything from a state park to museums and winery tours - even 18 holes of miniature golf on the theme of the War of 1812 Visitors can rent bicycles motor scooters or golf carts We opted for a golf cart, a handy way to tool around town and see the un-touristy areas as well About 500 residents make their year-round home on the island

Unlike Mackinac Island, cars are allowed here, but discouraged The Jet Express we took from Port Clinton, Ohio, is a passenger-only service Miller Boat Line from Catawba, Ohio, has auto-passenger fermes Cars are definitely not needed

A Lake Erre island is described as a small continent with its own weather We toured the Heme there, 90 minutes back home man Winery, a small family owned operation established in

Put-In-Bay has several caves, but only two are open to the public The larger, Perry's Cave, features an underground stream and a year-round temperature of 42 degrees Crystal Cave is real ly the world's largest known geode, with 10-sided crystals poking out on all sides

There's something for every taste at Put-In-Bay Shoppers can browse dozens of gift shops Nature lovers can visit the Alaskan Birdhouse Wildlife Museum with more than 100 species of North American wildlife in their natural habitat

Have kids with you? Visit the Aquatic Visitors Čenter run by the Ohio Division of Wildlife See live fish exhibits, hands-on displays, and a chance for kids to fish for free - fishing gear and bait provided An old fashioned wooden horse carousel in the center of town offers rides for Pristine: A view of Put-In-Bay from the national monument (above) Swimmers (right) enjoy the beach at the state park in Put-In-Bay.

Driving around in the golf cart, we stumbled upon a small airport Sightseeing and air tours are available Kayaking and para-sailing are other ways to get unusual views of the ısland

There are motels and bed andbreakfast inns on the island for those who wish a longer stay

Summer is fading fast But Put-In-Bay is open through autumn with bird watching opportunities, fall festivals and island celebrations chicken liver were the highlights of my lunch and one I thoroughly enjoyed

But I was some what fascinated by these little green guys so I decided to read up more on the sub ject of okra

Okra is believed to have been brought to the United States nearly 300 years ago by African slaves Grown in tropical and warm temperature cli mates it is in the same family as the hibiscus and cot ton plants Since it is grown in many subtropical nations Indian cooking also features okra prominently

Southerners enjoy it breaded with cornmeal and fried, similar to the infamous fried green tomatoes, but okra probably tastes more like egg plant Okra also releases a thickening substance when it is cut making it useful for soups and stews In Swahili okra is referred to as 'gumbo" and lends that name to that dish

Okra can be served with tomatoes. onions, various peppers and eggplant It is an excellent source of fiber, and a half-cup has nearly 10 percent of the daily requirement of vitamin B6 and folic acid

Start it from seed

You should grow it from seed as it doesn't transplant well, and you must wait until about 10 days after the last frost After it grows for about the next six or seven weeks, the pods usually form about 4 days after flowers appear and they must be harvested when young, at about 2 inches long

If a knife doesn't enter the pod easi ly, then it has overripened and proba bly is woody and tough The pods ripen rapidly, so they need to be harvested quickly Seeds can be saved for next year's crop Some species of the okra plant can grow tall and it is a nice ornamental plant for a garden, as evidenced in gardens we visited in Old Salem in Winston Salem, N.C., an old Moravian settlement preserved for the public to enjoy

Southerners enjoy okra year-round Here it is often available from May to October, but even then, it isn't always easy to locate Your best bet is to just ask at your favorite produce market when they may have it

So go ahead and fry it up or saute it with some garden fresh tomatoes this harvest season And if you can't find any okra, enjoy zucchini or eggplant for your own sauteed vegetable med ley instead

Ring of the Grill AFTER MEMPHIS BBQ

'At least we can get ourselves a decent meal – de i a the Rendez our Memphis in the Meantime John Hiatt hen RJ Dreyer attended college in Memphis, somebody must have cast a southern spell on him Only sorcery could explain his determination to make barbecued ribs – the right way

"There's the right way and my way, and they're both the same thing," says Dreyer, 38, who lives in Bloomfield Township and grew up ın Mıdland

Actually, the right way in Dreyer's southerneducated opinion is the way barbecued ribs come at the Rendezvous, a landmark Memphis barbeque joint that first opened in 1948 It seats 100 patrons and is tucked away in the basement of a building in an alley That musician John Hiatt refers to the restaurant in a song about Memphis only goes to show how beloved the Rendezvous is to the

Dreyer not only attended college in Memphis, but also worked as a waiter across the street from the restaurant at the Peabody Hotel Before going to work, he and his buddles customarily met there for a slab of the tender ribs and a few beers

"The first time I went to the Rendezvous, I was wondering 'where's the sauce'" he recalls The restaurant makes their ribs with a dry rub and no sauce in the traditional Memphis barbeque style

"Then, your eyes kind of open up and you realize this is pretty good barbeque '

While local restaurants like Memphis Smoke in Royal Oak do a good job representing the style of barbeque ribs, nothing compares to the fare at the Rendezvous, says Dreyer "I want people to be able to experience what I have, what I feel are the best ribs ever made

Love me tender

With that in mind Dreyer has spent the last six years refining his technique for making bar beque ribs The process occurs over the course of three days, yielding ribs with meat that liter ally "falls off the bone"

"Everyone says 'cook 'em slow, cook 'em low." he says in defense of his barbeque process

The cooking odyssey begins with a dry rub -Dreyer uses a bottled one bought from the Rendezvous - and overnight sit in the refrigerator

The following day, he cooks the ribs at a low temperature for four hours, after which he returns them to the refrigerator for another overnight rest Following a second low heat stint in the oven, the ribs are smoked over hickory wood chips on an outdoor grill

While Dreyer admits he's privy to insider tips on southern barbeque and has years worth of experience perfecting his recipe, he insists making them isn't difficult or, for that matter, timeconsuming

It has more to do with an old-fashioned Southern virtue patience

Southern roots

Dreyer can't pinpoint the moment when the urge to duplicate the Rendezvous ribs came over him. He only knows his passion for them set him on a course no less urgent than a religious calling

After finishing his undergraduate work and leaving Memphis, Dreyer frequently visited the city in large part to get what he describes as "your fix" of barbeque

Make your Labor Day aperitif a little unusual

Would you like an aperitif? A very French question Exceedingly charming in Paris Never asked on these shores where cocktail is the term used Call it either, but if you ve not tried Lillet (pro nounced Lee LAY) ditch the white wine or bubbly and try it at a Labor Day celebration next weekend

RAY & ELEANOR The etymology of the French word aperitif, as well as the Italian aperitivo, derives from the Latin aperire meaning to open That fits with the idea of opening up or stimulating the appetite with an aperitif Lillet does that and more

What is Lillet?

Lillet, the only aperitif produced in the Bordeaux region of France, is also the best selling French aperitif in the US and one of the top 10 selling French aperitifs in the world

Unlike other wine based aperitifs such as vermouth, it is produced from quality Bor deaux wines Sufficiently high quality to quali fy it for bottling at petits chateaux. It is not cooked, oxidized, artificially con- in a stemmed Bordeaux wine glass concentrated or flavored with herbs Just like wines from Bor deaux, Lillet, created in 1887, now comes in two colors blanc (white) or rouge (red) It 1s made from a blend of 85 percent Bordeaux wine enhanced by the addition of 15 percent subtle fruit liqueurs sourced around the world About 70 percent of the production is Blanc but Rouge is growing rapidly in popularity Lillet is vinified in cellars built in the 1800s and located some 20 miles south of the city of Bordeaux in the town of Podensac, on the dividing line between the two wine regions of Graves and Sauternes

How to enjoy Lillet

Lillet Blanc $17 has a golden-honey color and floral bouquet with hints of candied orange rind, lime and fresh mint Lillet Rouge $17 has the intense aroma of fresh oranges and red berry fruit Hints of spice and vanilla add

Well chilled, both are enjoyed neatly served taining a flambéed zest of orange, lemon, lime or grapefruit To flambe, squeeze a sliver of citrus peel of your choice over a lighted match held an inch or two above the glass Aromatic oils drop into the glass adding the zest aromas to the drink Actually, the flambé technique is an American innovation, but one that has caught on in France also

For full enjoyment, don't serve Lillet on the rocks because it dilutes the flavors But you can pretend to be James Bond in Ian Fleming's Casino Royal and shake up a James Bond Martini (also known as a Vesper Martını)

Shake three parts gin, one part vodka and one part Lillet Blanc with ice and pour into a frozen martini glass garnished with fresh lemon zest

Once opened, a re-corked bottle of Lallet will keep 10 days to two weeks in a refrigerator

Farmington Hills chef takes grand prize

BY MARY RODRIQUE

It was a grand day for Farmington Hills chef Valerie Boguslawskı

The schoolteacher and recent graduate of Oakland Community College's culinary arts program topped the competition at the final cook-off of the Alize Culinary Mentorship Challenge in New York City on Aug 15

Boguslawski's recipe entry, Alize Triple Grand Terrine, was chosen by a panel of top notch women chefs and restauranteurs as the ultimate winner after being served at a three-course luncheon at Verbena Restaurant and Courtyard Garden

"I still cannot believe it," she said this week "I was competing with two young women who both lyn, NY, and Pamela Neitenhad restaurant experience I'm honored "

Paris bound

She wins a scholarship to the famed culinary school, Le Cordon Bleu, in Paris, France and a month-long apprenticeship to Verbena's owner and executive chef, Diane Forley, in New York City Boguslawski can choose any six-week curriculum at Le Cordon Bleu She's opted for pastry making That will be followed by the apprenticeship at Forley's three-star Manhattan eatery

Kobrand, the makers of Alize, a beverage which combines French cognac with fruit juice, sponsored the competition for women chefs Joining Boguslawskı ın the Bıg Apple were fellow finalists Liz Young of Brookbach of Kahului, Hawaii The three prepared, plated and presented their dishes to the panel of judges for a final tasting

Top culinary judges

Judges included Anne Rozensweig of Inside, Gabriella Hamilton of Prune, Amy Sherber of Amy's Bread, Victoria Burghi of Union Square Cafe, and Heather Carlucci of Veritas The menu began with Neitenbach's Alize Nut Duck Sausage, which was followed by Young's Pan Seared Scallops But it was Boguslawski's complex, decadent terrine dessert that was unanimously chosen the winner after the votes were tallied

Boguslawski made four terrines - each featured ribbon sponge cake encasing layers of vanilla, chocolate and cran-raspberry Bavarian cream The frozen confections were drizzled with raspberry sauce and served with chocolate curls

"There was only half of one cake left over," she said "And the wait staff was digging into it with spoons

She was one of more than 200 chefs to submit original recipes to the competition

Boguslawski, on sabbatical from a 30-year teaching career, is a member of the Herb Society of America, a club whose members prepare gourmet meals each month In the '80s, she won a AAA-sponsored amateur cooks contest for a meal made with all-Michigan ingredients Earlier this year, Boguslawski earned a culinary degree with a pastrybaking certificate from OCC

Mint adds to tabbouleh's freshness

SPECIAL WRITER

Mint is related to basil, thyme, oregano, rosemary and sage It shows up in dishes all over the Mediterranean, where it originated

Carried beyond the Mediterranean region as conquerors advanced and peasants emigrated; mint is now used in kitchens around the world

Because it's such a popular herb in cooking and in making a soothing, refreshing tea, many cooks grow their own Growing a patch is easy, although once established, it has a tendency to take over the garden

In England, mint is used for making a sharp sauce and a sweet jelly Both compliment the flavor of lamb and soothe digestion after eating a rich lamb roast or grilled chops The French use mint mainly with green peas, and Italian cooks add it to their breadcrumb stuffing for artichokes, zucchini and other vegetables

Mint is also popular in Greek and Turkish dishes and adds a bright, unexpected note to tabbouleh Middle Eastern recipes call for it, both fresh and dried In Morocco, mint tea, a sugary blend of the fresh herb and green tea, is ubiquitous Asian countries make other uses of this herb Incendiary mint chutney and cooling raita, the combination of yogurt and cucumber with garlic and mint, are served with curries In Vietnam, mint is part of the table salad at every day's lunch and dinner Mint leaves, along with aromatic, Asian varieties of basil, are a customary addition to pho, the rich beef broth with rice noodles that is Vietnam's national dish. In Thailand, mint is used in some curries

In the New World, Americans think of it mostly for flavoring mint juleps and garnishing berries and desserts In Mexico, yerba buena, a wild spearmint with a taste reminiscent of oregano, is commonly added when cooking beans and other

Spearmint, one of the more than 25 varieties of mint, has broad, pointy, bright green leaves Its mild taste is almost sweet Darker, bitter and pungent peppermint is more suited to making tea When buying mint, fresh or dried, taste it to make sure you are getting a fullflavored product need a wide variety of foods to achieve balanced nutrition and maximum health protection But getting children to eat varied foods is easier said than done With a little creativity, persis-

Desserts should also be varied Many children will eat fruit if they can dip it in yogurt, so add a small container of low-fat, flavored yogurt to the lunchbox Kids also enjoy whole-wheat or carrot muffins, banana bread, or granola bars

Seeking support: Gloria, who has lost most of her hair to trichotillomania, visits with Bobbie Slade of Livonia Slade facilitates a support group for those with compulsive hair pulling

Compulsive hair-pulling disorder is treatable

BY ALICE ASHMORE

aashmore@oe homecomm.net

Ith one quick motion, 25 year old Gloria removed her wig and revealed a secret has kept hidden since age 3 — she pulls her hair out and can't stop

Gloria, suffers from trichotillomania, or compul sive hair pulling, an impulse control disorder that affects between 2 and 4 percent of the general popu lation, according to the Trichotillomania Learning Center, a non-profit organization based in Santa Cruz, Calıf

Even though those statistics make the disorder as common as asthma and diabetes in the general pop ulation, "trich" (as it commonly called) remains a lit tle-known illness

It is the shame and the sense of isolation often associated with "trich" that leaves many who have the disorder living in embarrassment and silence

'My father was very hard on me," Gloria said "He did not understand (the disorder) and it made it very difficult for me to have a relationship with him'

She was often punished by her father for the behavior Gloria also described a great deal of shame she felt as a child for causing stress in her family about her hair pulling

"I remember him (my father) screaming to my mother about me I had all that guilt'

Gloria, an engineer by profession, found informa tion was scarce on her mysterious illness She sought help for the disorder in January of this year "There was a stigma about going to a therapist It just wasn't talked about in my family," Gloria said 'It made it difficult to make that first step' Suzanne, 41, has lived with trich for nearly three decades She hasn't left her home without wearing a bandanna or a wig since she was in junior high school She started pulling her hair out at about age 12, and is nearly bald from the disorder For many years, she felt completely alone "I thought I was absolutely alone, that I the only one who did this I thought there was something very wrong with me — that I was ill," she said "Why would anyone do this to themselves?" Suzanne discovered her problem had a name after reading an article about trich in the National Enquirer "It said something like 'bizarre disorder causes women to pull out their own hair' It was worded in such an unbelievably degrading way," she said Despite the sensational wording, the article made an impact "I saved the article for a long time - just to know I wasn't alone," Suzanne said The disorder was named at the beginning of the 20th century by a French dermatologist named Hal lipeau Literally translated, trichotillomania means

■ 'Clearly there is a biological basis for trich. I really believe people have a biological predisposition for it. It can be triggered by trauma or stress in someone who has the predisposition. Even a major life transition like a move can cause it.'

"There are no epidemiological studies, but we feel that the number of men affected are higher than represented in the medical literature statistics," said Christina Pearson, executive director of the Trichotillomania Learning Center

The TLC was founded by Pearson 10 years ago to increase awareness of trichotillomania, and to help those with compulsive hair pulling find help and support Trich can cause hair pulling from any part of the

"Any hair is fair game for someone," Pearson said

Biological Origins

Laura Nisenson, a clinical psychologist in private practice in Ann Arbor, sees a number of patients with trich and other OCD Spectrum disorders She treats trich with a cognitive therapy called ly believe people have a biological predisposition for it," she said "It can be triggered by trauma or stress in someone who has the predisposition Even a major life transition like a move can cause it "

Nisenson said shame is a major issue for trich sufferers "There is a lot of shame and guilt because people blame themselves when they can't stop pulling They are so relieved when we tell them it is biological That what they are doing is the not their fault

Medication

A group of medications called selective seratonin re uptake inhibitors commonly used to treat depression and anxiety, are also used to treat trich Prozac, Paxil and Zoloft are examples of the drug family

Trich and depression can often go hand in-hand "There is a lot of depression that is involved with trich that needs to be addressed," Gloria said

Although knowledge about trich is increasing, finding a doctor or therapist can be difficult "There are still painfully few doctors and therapists who know about it," Slade said

Children and Trich

Many sufferers find the transition to adolescence is a trigger for trichotillomania

"It is often the age of onset," Nisenson said
"It is devastating for children and adolescents They are so vulnerable with issues of social inclusion," said Antonia Caretto, a clinical psychologist with the Davis Group in Farmington Hills Caretto said she is careful when counseling parents of trich sufferers to tell parents "I explain that this isn't a habit or attention seeking behavior Overall, it is not a pleasant or pleasurable disorder" Gloria said, "There are so many parents who are saying the wrong thing - there are children suffering in silence " She added, "I think the most important thing is getting the word out " Word is slowly spreading that help is available

"It is such a shame-based disorder, Caretto said "It impacts one's self esteem and relationships It raises anxiety and causes horrible self-consciousness "

Suzanne describes her battle with trich as "a long process of humiliation and embarrassment — a lifetime of it "

Internet Support

Many "trichsters," as they call themselves have found a wealth of support and information with the advent of the Internet E-groups, chat rooms and Web sites relating to the disorder are now common

"It was April 1997 when I found my first real help on the Internet," Suzanne said "It was a great relief, a huge relief All of a sudden I realized that I wasn't crazy

Bobbie Slade, an eyelash puller, was 39 and had been pulling for 26 years before she discovered that what she was doing had a name "For the first time in the world I knew someone else did what I did "

Slade said, "The Internet has done so much for the trich community " Slade has been pull-free for 10 years She said

Prozac, and some self-designed visual imagery helped her to overcome the disorder

Red Cross provides communications

Some 300 people across the state suffering from multiple sclerosis will have access to emergency communications and care thanks to an agreement between the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the American Red Cross and the National Multiple Sclerosis Society

The recently approved agreement will provide people suffering from MS with the award-winning LIFELINE system that enables them to communicate with emergency personnel during a crisis The LIFELINE units will enable the patients - many of whom have severe movement limitations - to trip the LIFELINE alarm using special attachments that require very little movement

Technology

For example, a pillow switch that can be pinned to a pillow is activated simply by moving the head to the side A "sip" or "puff" switch can be activated with a slight sip or puff from the mouth It requires only a tiny pressure change, so the user does not need respiratory strength And a sensitive "wobble" switch is activated by gross head or body movements coming from any direction

Once a switch is activated, a signal is sent to a transmitter (about the size of a deck of cards) which, in turn, sends a signal to the LIFELINE Com municator which connects with the staffed LIFELINE Response Center Help can then be dispatched to the home as the result of just a small body movement

"These special attachments enable the Red Cross to provide the life-saving LIFELINE system to people with even the most debilitating injuries and conditions," said Beatrice Bynum of the Red Cross "And it will enable them to live with dignity and independence in their own homes as long as possible "

Those interested in the LIFELINE service can call the Red Cross (313) 576-4118 The American Red Cross of Southeastern Michigan is the organization that turns caring into action by providing disaster relief and helping people prevent, prepare for and respond to emergencies

Nearing retirement? Give yourself a financial check-up assessing your financial situation to determine if you have saved and invested enough to afford STEVEN a comfortable future General-

approach retire ment, you will quite likely be ly, financial professionals advise that to maintain your current lifestyle you will need approximately 70-80 percent of your current annual income each year in retirement, although your own situation may differ based on your person al goals and finances

Taking an in-depth look at your finances and an inventory of your retirement funds approximately five to seven years before retiring will give you time to make adjustments to help you meet your goals when retirement time comes around

Enough income?

Generally, retirees turn to these sources of income Social Security benefits earnings (including part time jobs), per sonal savings and investments including IRA account(s) or addi tional employee savings plans and company retirement plans

Typically, Social Security may only account for about 40 per cent of your income in retire ment Personal investments and savings, company retirement plans and other sources will have to account for the remaining portion of your income about 60 percent

Oct 13, Nov 10 and Dec 9 The seminar is from 8 30 a m to 1

After calculating your projected retirement income, you also need to examine your current expenses and determine which items will increase or decrease, which will be eliminated and which will be added after you

Compare your expense calcula tions with your projected sources of income and determine whether you will have a surplus of a deficiency At the same time, determine at what point in retirement you will need to begin drawing on your retirement plan assets If, after comparing your expenses with income, you have a surplus, you are on the right track to enjoying a comfortable retirement However, if you note a deficiency you can make deci sions now to help ensure that you will have a relatively comfortable retirement later on

Allocation strategy

Having a good understanding of investing becomes more important as you approach retirement Examine all the investments available through your retirement plan and determine into which category stocks, bonds or cash equivalents - each of them falls Next, assess your level of risk As people prepare to retire, they generally want less risk in their investments than in the past Since your income from employment will have stopped or decreased considerably and your assets may be invested over a shorter period, it may be more difficult to recover from loss Therefore you may want a lowerrisk investment strategy than before Whether you intend to use your money over a relatively short period or spread it out through your retirement is another important factor

There is no set allocation strategy that works for everyone Before determining which strategy best fits your personal situation, keep in mind that different people have different financial resources and expectations regarding how long they will be in retirement Therefore, indi viduals have different risk tolerances and investment horizons And remember no matter what asset allocation strategy you choose there is always some level or risk and no guarantee that you will not experience a

Also, keep in mind too that you need to look at your holdings as a whole Consider your personal accounts, retirement accounts and any additional sources of retirement income that you may have By planning the entire picture you will be better able to ensure that you have a portfolio that reflects your immediate and long term goals Your financial adviser an help you determine if your strategies are on the right track toward a secure retirement and help you find ways to maintain your position or work toward your goals

Understand a contractor lien before remodeling your home

FROM HOME SERVICE STORE FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

It's among the worst surprises to confront homeowners- a contractor files a lien to collect unpaid money on a home improvement or remodel-

Whether the claim is valid or not, the resulting court action can add hefty legal bills to home improvement projects that already are stressful enough

The chief legal counsel for the nation's largest home improvement services company describes liens as "a legal and financial minefield," yet homeowners can - and should - take steps to protect themselves and their property

"The homeowner first needs to find a reputable contractor," says attorney Hans Huessy of the Home Service Store, "and second, they should weigh all the options to head off a diaminto hoforo it loads to a lion" Ho says liens are necessary because homeowners often refuse or neglect to pay legitimate invoices Huessy suggests prior to selecting a contractor, pay a personal visit to the candidate's last few jobs followed by a call to the Better Business Bureau to learn if the contractor has any history of customer complaints

Most liens filed in local or county land records against homeowners are mechanics liens, where the contractor pursues money allegedly

The homeowner first needs to find a reputable contractor and, second, he should weigh all the options to head off a dispute before it leads to a

> Hans Huessy attorney

owed for labor or materials

Most liens must be filed within a few weeks or months, or at most a year, after work is completed Once a hen is filed, the contractor has a certain amount of time to bring an action to enforce the lien The amount of time varies widely by jurisdiction and if a court docket is packed, a case can drag on for years

In some instances, Huessy says, "sleazy contractors hold a homeowner hostage by filing spurious liens, a sort of 'low grade extortion'" The problem for homeowners is that unresolved liens might jeopardize a credit rating and can hold up the sale or refinancing of a home They might also put the homeowner's mortgage in default

Issues related to the lien - length of time before it must be filed, where and how it must be filed, paperwork, etc - vary widely from state to state

Liens can also be filed by materials suppliers or subcontractors hired by the general contractor

Huessy says because it's common for contractors to pay suppliers and subcontractors, the homeowner must be diligent in managing project purse strings

It's a mistake, he says, to pay a contractor the full amount in advance of the project, or even before all the work is completed and inspected Often, the contractor won't manage the money appropriately or won't use the funds to pay off suppliers or subcontractors

Jilted workers and suppliers have the legal right to seek payment from the homeowner In the worst-case scenario, a homeowner can be ordered to pay for the same work twice, once to the general contractor and, if the GC fails to pay the subcontractor, again to the sub

Huessy recommends homeowners adopt a pay-as-you-go stance with contractors Once work is completed to the homeowner's satisfaction, funds are then disbursed to the general contractor to pay for materials and subcontractors

A homeowner can avoid most of the worst lien problems by insisting on hen waivers from all contractors involved in the project

Crack down on leaks in your home

(NAPSA) – It can be east to lower your energy bills Experts say a simple test can save the average household hundreds of dollars a year

To the naked eye, most homes look air tight A recent study found however, that this is often not the case The average home has a number of holes, gaps and cracks through which heat can escape in the winter and cool air escapes in the summer These leaks can add up and sealing them is a bright way to cut rising energy costs

In fact, it is estimated that if all the cracks in the average home were combined, the resulting hole would be four feet wide and four feet tall that's similar to having a window wide open in the house, year round

To find the cracks in your castle's armor, heating experts recommend the incense test Starting in the attic, hold a lit incense stick next to windows, doors, electrical boxes, plumbing fixtures, electrical outlets and ceiling fixtures around the home-anywhere that air might be able to escape If the smoke stream travels horizontally, there is a leak

Additionally, check for dirty spots in the insulation This is a clear indication that air is leaking in and out of a home

Once you've located the leaks you'll be able to seal them and start saving money It's a good idea to use a polyurethane foam sealant to block the airflows The sealant is said to be easy to use and such products can help keep homeowners from throwing more money out of leaks, cracks and windows

MEYERS ON MORTGAGES

ARMS TAKE A SHOT IN

WEAKER ECONOMY? One of the best standbys for savvy home buyers has been the adjustable rate mortgage, better known as an ARM, which traditionally rides slightly lower than fixed-rate mortgages (FRMs) However, the recent downturn in economic indicators, along with tweaking of interest rates by the Fed, has caused a shift in the relative advantages between the

The trouble started last year, when the Fed started raising interest rates to counter fears of inflation In the first half of the year, rates went up a full percentage point At the time, ARMs and FRMs rose at about the same rate, with ARM rates staying about 1 5 percentage points below FRM rates, according a report recently released by Freddie Mac The report adds that ARMs held 30 percent of the mortgage market during that

During the last half of the year, however, things started changing The rate increases started being felt in the economy The US Treasury Department started issuing fewer securities and began paying off long-term debt, reducing the supply of securities that many interest rates are tied to

"We entered an inverted bond curve," said Norm Stein, vice president of lending with a major Bancorp "When that hap-pens, long-term debt starts looking better than short-term debt, and fixed rate mortgages start to look better and better against

According to Freddie Mac, as the economy slowed in the second half of 2000, interest rates on FRMs fell over 17 percentage points, while short-term rates stayed at relatively high levels

According to Freddie Mac s 17th Annual ARM Survey, the interest-rate advantage between ARMs and fixed-rate mortgages fell to a record 0 37 percentage points for the traditional oneyear ARM,' said Frank Nothaft, deputy chief economist for Freddie Mac "Consequently, the ARM share fell to 16 percent of loans issued in November, com-industry sources Stein said that in many cases, the effects are temporary, but in this case, the inverted curve had pared to 29 percent at the same time last year, according to some staying power

"This particular situation usually comes right before a recession," Stein said "At first we thought that it was happening because the country was paying down a lot of long-term debt, but then the other indicators started sliding, and it didn't let what does this mean for consumers? In the short run, said Stein, it means don't go running after ARMs They'll be pretty hard to find anyway "We've been seeing this trend for the last six or seven months, as rates have gone down It's not that we're not offering them anymore, it's just that ARMs don't make sense right now You're better off getting a fixed rate, and if rates go down any more, you can always refi-

But if you're already in an ARM, don't just ditch it because they don't look good Take a closer look and determine whether or not it can still benefit you If you're in a one -year

you If you're in a one—year ARM, you may want to see how low it goes Timing, however, is everything
"Many people are getting out of their ARMs because the effects are delayed," said Stein "Even though rates are going down, they're still making monthly payments based on higher rates, and it's going to be higher rates, and it's going to be a year or so before they see the effects If they get into a lower interest fixed-rate, they'll see the effects immediately" In addition, longer-term

by GARY S MEYERS

ARMs may cause some people to miss lower rates completely "If you got in a three-year ARM at the beginning of this cycle and rates start going back up," said Stein, "you could miss all of the benefits, so it's better to lock in a lower rate now"

While the Fed's emergency rate cut earlier this month and the expected rate cut in the next few weeks could take some of the sting out of the economic picture, it may not be enough to reset the ARM/FRM relationship for a while According to Freddie Mac projections, the interest rate easing will have the greatest effect on short-term ARMs tied to the one-year treasury note It adds, however that the ARMs' share of the mortgage origination market will more than likely not break the 25% mark anytime

soon
"In any event," Stein remarked, "it's all relative In these good times, we've gotten greedy for the low rate 1 remember a time in the not-toodistant past when we thought the interest rates would never again go into the single digits Now we're scrambling to scoop up that extra one-half or one percentage point to get the absolute lowest possible rate "
So if you love the thrill of the hunt, it may be time to dis-ARM yourself "If you're in an ARM," said Stein, "especially a long-term one, you may want to get out and lock in the low rate If you're not in one, it doesn't make sense to think about it"

"Use lower interest rates to your advantage and buy what you can reasonably afford That way you'll be able to furnish your without setting yourself up for future debt problems," he said

Almost 10 million mortgages were made last year That number could increase this year because interest rates are pre dicted to drop to new lows

"Too many people are in serious debt trouble because they buy too much house for their income The last thing anyone wants to hear is that they should move into a less-expensive home But in many cases it's necessary for people to downsize their homes to make ends meet," Rhode said

The lower interest rates are expected to trigger a rush of mortgage refinancings

"Some families could free up hundreds of dollars a month by refinancing Be sure to use extra money to build your future by paying down debt and putting money into savings?

(NAPSA) - The air we breathe inside our homes may be two to five times more polluted than the air outdoors, says the Environmental Protection Agency This can be a major concern for those with respiratory problems - particularly the estimated 36 million Americans who live with allergies and asthma

Dirty indoor air may pose an even greater risk for those living in the midst of

That's because common renovation and remodeling tasks - such as sanding, sawing, painting and putting up drywall often release dust and other tiny particles into the air

Here are several tips from Dr Nathan Yost, former professional contractor and current adviser to the American Lung Association Health House Project, to help you breathe easier during a renovation

■ Isolate work areas from the living space with plastic sheeting or zipper doors

■ Use an exhaust fan in the work area to help prevent contaminants from entering the living space

People with asthma or allergies may want to consider living elsewhere during a major remodeling project This can be especially important for children

■ If you have pets, limit their access to the remodeling area so they don't track contaminants throughout the home

■ Hire a professional to remove asbestos and lead-based paint Remodeling or attempting to remove these materials yourself can increase your exposure

■ Do not occupy a recently painted room until it's been thoroughly ventilated for several days

■ Use a high efficiency furnace filter High efficiency filters contain electrostatically charged fibers that capture up to 30 ris mo o allowgons and other poll tante than the typical fiberglass filter

■ Run the furnace fan continuously regardless of the outdoor temperature This lets the filter capture more dust, allergens and other particles in the air To ensure that the furnace fan is running continuously, set the furnace thermostat to the "on," rather than "auto" position

■ Vacuum every day during the remodeling project Use a high efficiency vacuum or a central vacuum ducted to the outside Be sure to check the warranty of your vacuum before you clean large amounts of construction debris

■ Consider using a respirator to help reduce exposure to dust from sanding wood, drywall or non lead based paints

■ Don't allow contractors to smoke in the home or on the premises

Let's Talk About Real Estate

"TAKING YOUR AGENT'S ADVICE"

Many people hire Realtors, but don't take their advice It is not unusual for a homeowner to list his or her property and spend the entire time working against the person hired to sell the property Here are a few examples

AN UNREALISTIC ASKING PRICE

Most people ask the professional real estate salesperson to conduct an analysis of the current market to ascertain the present value of their home When they hear the facts, however, they don't like what they hear and choose to ignore reality and set a price that discourages buyers from considering their property

PREPARING THE HOUSE FOR SHOWING

A house only has one chance to make a good first impression. If it is not in good repair and well decorated, the word will get around that it should be avoided This often hannens hereuse sellers are relustant to spend money on a home they are leaving It is essential, however, to spend a few wise dollars so that the home will sell for the highest possible price

THE SELLER'S ROLE DURING SHOWINGS

Many sellers scare off interested buyers by their overaggressive behavior while buyers are inspecting the property Buyers don't want to have to deal with a seller and his or her comments. They like any necessary communication with the seller to be conducted through the Realtor Some sellers become concerned that the agent showing the house doesn't know it a s well as the seller does. This is true, but the agent does know his or her buyer and the best way to satisfy the buyer's needs for information

ADVICE: Don't work against your Realtor Listen to his or her advice It is based on years of experience

The Weekly Do-It-Yourselfer Homeowner can't be too diligent

By Kevin Brenner and Kate Kelly Today's Homeowner Online

(AP) The contractor who Phil Smith hired for his addition last year is one of the best in town But every night after the contractor and his crew went home, Smith took out a flashlight, tape measure and the architect's plans to inspect the work

Smith presented any questions at a twice-weekly meeting When something looked really wrong, he called his contractor from work And when Smith's concerns resulted in a change from the original plans, a change order was written

The result? A job that went smoothly for homeowner and contractor Questioning your contractor makes a lot of folks uncomfortable But your nonexpert status can give you the objectivity needed to catch such errors as missing switches, misplaced windows or delivery of the wrong model of an appliance

What to look for

Carry a tape measure, flashlight and notebook for any inspection If you're checking back against an architect's plans, remember that there's a separate plan for each of the following foundation, framing, door and window schedule and finish schedule You'll need to cross-reference the plans to get a full picture of all the work being done

Foundation.

Measure the distances between outside walls to be sure they conform to the foundation plan You'll find distances clearly marked on the plan, along with wall heights, wall thickness and slab thickness It's acceptable if lengths and widths vary by less than an inch But because both walls and slabs are load-bearing, thickness for these components must be to spec

Framing

Check ceiling heights carefully to be sure they're as specified

For example, the framing crew might not have picked up that the ceiling height in the dining room is 9 feet, 6 inches instead of 8 feet Also check the length and width of rooms And if you're building to accommodate a couch, bar unit or pool table, for instance, now is the time to be sure the item will fit

Doors and windows

Center lines of doors and windows are also marked on the plans Check the placement of each by measuring in from a nearby foundation corner to confirm its location As the floor plan takes shape, note the direction of door swings - and make any changes before doors and jambs are installed Also check that windows and doors align as planned to establish sight lines or to allow light and air to flow through the house Doors or windows that are out of line are easy to fix at the framing stage

When windows arrive, check the model and type against what you specified

Structural sheathing

Don't panic if rough window openings are sheathed over, the plywood is cut away later to ensure a snug fit But if you see drywall covering the rough openıng, ıt's probably a mıstake

Heating and plumbing

As the HVAC and plumbing contractors start work, check their plans against yours Then ask some basic questions For ınstance, ın a bedroom, will a bed or bureau block heating and cooling vents? Re-position ducts if need be And be sure water and drain pipes are roughed in at the right locations by checking against the plans

Wiring

An easy way to check the electrical plan is to enter a room as if it were finished Reach for light switches Try to plug in a lamp Are outlets and switches conveniently placed? Also determine whether you need three way switches in rooms with multiple entrances and extra outlets in the kitchen, where several appliances will go

Hardwood floors

When installing this type of flooring, be sure the lumber spends at least two days out of its packaging in the house to prevent shrinkage gaps later Also check that the planks are perpendicular to the floor joists and the installed flooring is covered with plywood or paper to protect it as other work contin-

Insulation

This important material is placed in the walls just before drywalling Make sure it's the Rvalue you asked for by carefully reading the insulation label and checking it against your specifications For exterior walls, check that the insulation paper or foil is facing toward the room Be sure spaces between studs and loists are entirely insulated especially where joists end at exterior walls Pay particular attention to the spaces around windows and doors, leaving even a small section uninsulated can cause drafts and heat loss

Drywalling and paint

Be especially vigilant in these areas Use a bright light held at an angle to pick up imperfections in the wall If the drywall isn't smooth enough, for example, point it out and have it redone While painting and tiling are under way, make sure you're available to approve colors for walls or floors The same goes for

Then double-check grout after it has dried because the color tends to lighten

Fixtures and fittings

If your addition includes a kitchen or bath, walk through the room and pay close attention to fixtures and faucets Are they the right color? Do fixture finishes match? Also be sure metal finishes haven't been scratched by plumbing tools and that everything works without leaking

Be especially careful that custom-tile patterns match the approved layout plan, and that there are no gaps in any trim or molding joints

Nursing is a profession for people who care

BY ROSANNA GULOTTA SPECIAL WRITER

urse, oh nurse is there any one here? I have been waiting for six hours for anyone to check on me and I could really use some water? And perhaps something to eat? Oh, and maybe a fresh bedpan? Hello?

This, fortunately, is not characteristic of hospitals in the United States When patients need help they simply push a button and within a short time, mere minutes, not hours, an attending nurse is ready to help

Many of us take for granted the amount of work and care nurses per form These caregivers tend to the patients needs ranging from the least glamorous to the most endearing Their day consists of whole body care physical emotional and even spiritual They share in the joy of new life and in the corrow of a life that is soon to pass

Patients and their family members con tinually seek the knowledge and com passion of these caring professionals

Unfortunately, the increasing number of patients per nurse challenges the quality of care that nurses wish to give their patients. The nursing shortage is the result of many factors including baby boomers reaching retirement age, nurses leaving the hospital setting for private practice or other careers and the decrease in number of graduates in the nursing field

However, this decrease in number of nurses has opened numerous job opportunities for both nurses and nursing assistants alike

Sherrine Thomas, a registered nurse, is a recent graduate of Madonna Uni versity Because she is a full time wife and mother, job hunting would seem to be one more thing added to her plate But she had little difficulty in finding a job with a metro hospital

Many metro-Detroit hospitals have numerous job positions posted on their web sites that include registered nurses, nurse technicians and nursing assis tants

Thomas is eager to put her knowledge and training to work She was certified in another state to do community and family health education, but found in Michigan that most of the public educating positions was held by registered

"Now I am more marketable and I hope to eventually get back into community nursing or work as a school nurse," said Thomas "My future desire is to do medical missions as a family overseas because there is such a need

There are rewarding aspects within the nursing career other than patients' heartfelt thanks The average starting

Please see NURSING. G2

Job hunting can be lonely at the top

Q. I have an extensive background in my field. Should I downplay my qualifications to get my foot in the door?

A. Recruiters often talk about the air being "thinner at the top" meaning that the number of available positions in any given industry is greatest in the mid-level salary ranges This fact has little strategic value for senior-level job seekers Many accomplished, senior-level candidates would be nappy to take lower level positions, but they simply can't It's not money or ego They don't have equal access to the biggest part of the market Why? Age discrimination I'm not going to launch into another analysis or expose It doesn't do any good, and I'm afraid it has the effect of providing a rationalization for inaction or depression

Next, employers are reluctant to hire. a canon when a BB gun will do

The underlying concern is that a senior level person would be bored or become a threat by second guessing the decisions of her boss

Finally, employers might have some legitimate concerns about a candidate's skills being rusty A sales manager uses different skills than a salesper son A controller is not an accountant times two

There are often unstated concerns about a person's abilities and enthusiasm for tasks that were mastered twenty years ago

So, your easiest access is typically within a band of positions centered not far from the level of your last one Concentrate your efforts on this seg ment of the market However, when interviewing for a lower level position

Express enthusiasm for the tasks State clearly that you are not "above" doing those things and, in fact, would

But what if you're an experienced nurse looking for a change of pace? Here's a solution James Johnson, co-owner and manager of United Nurses Staffing Agency, places contingent nurses into hospitals that are short-handed

Johnson said, "We feel we can provide excellent care for a patient because the hospital politics don't affect our nurses and we provide an extra pair of hands for times when it's truly need-

Upon arrival at the hospital the contingent nurses are fully briefed on what their jobs will entail The hospital will also give the nurses a contact person for any questions they may have later The hospital also ensures the safety of the contingent nurses as if they were employed by the hospital itself

"The hospitals have been very supportive," said Johnson, "and they are very happy to see the extra help'

Although benefits aren't as lengthy as what a hospital has to offer, the pay and flexibility for contingent nurses are great Average pay is $33-$37 an hour and the nurses make their own schedules Nursing agencies do offer malpractice insurance, workman's compensation and health and life insurance plans for their nurs-

For those wanting to get into the medical field but lacking the necessary means to do so, there is an alternative Nikki Fraser, of

Centennial Health Care Inc , has developed an in-depth training program for potential nursing assistants Recruits go through 107 hours of paid training that includes classroom and clinical experience High standards are expected and achieved in this program

"I have immense respect for nursing assistants," said Fraser, a registered nurse and certified nursing assistant herself "I love my job and do it because I want to "Fraser has been in nursing care for 23 years

Fraser and Shela Myrick, the director of the Centennial Career Center, have a mutual goal of graduating caring professionals

"We also want people to stay with us," said Fraser, "We've trained them and know that they are quality caregivers" But wherever the nursing assistants choose to work, average what matters' Tasks that care givers perform go by with hardly any public praise So why are individuals drawn to nursing care, and stay, day after day? Simply because their work is important

find it exciting again

When possible, cite recent responsibilities that were similar to those in question Talk about how up-to-date your skills are and use cliches like "hands-on" liberally

Mask your ego Be quick to point out that being the boss is not your objective In fact, it would be a relief and more fun to be a worker bee for a change Tell an anecdote about some know-it-all who upset the whole department You are obviously not like that

Get the interviewer to articulate concerns You can't deal with an objection until you know what it is Use the ninth-person passive voice and say something like "If the company (not necessarily you) had any reservations - just hypothetically - about hiring a more senior level person - just speculating - what do you thing they might be?" If you hear the word "overqualified" you should cock your head like a hound dog and ask "Overqualified?"

Force the interviewer to define what it means so you can put it to rest antics, and surely would have been admired by every little boy they passed

Today, the technological age keeps those pioneer spirited people indoors with their fancy new mega gigahertz, gigabyte, rip roaring computers with five-foot flat screens hanging on the wall to impress other computer nerds, who also rarely see the light of day I've been one of those computer guys for over 25 years and I love it, but the mystique of the past is somehow more romantic and fun to consider

Some of us still hang onto remnants of the past, and I guess it's time to saddle up and go for a ride in the backcountry, cut a few cords of wood and feel like a man again I'll do that right after I finish mending those fences

Continuing down Memory Lane, I think I'll also miss Olds, when I think back to those days when I d stop to body surf at Laguna on my way back to the San Diego Naval Base in my black 1949 Olds 88 hard top coupe For the life of me I can't see why GM decided to stop building this history-making car line Oh well

This Olds, like other Minivans, is soft riding and comfortable. It has all the power you'll need in this class of utility family car, unless you'll be pulling a boat or have a need to go off-road I can t think of a better vehicle for families and all those Soccer Mom's who have to shuttle the kids to and from

I really felt at home driving this Silhouette — like an old friend But it helps when you feel good about what you spend your hardearned money for This is a very pretty and classy minivan you can drive to any occasion And the fit and finish is as good as they get

As for conveniences, this thing is loaded, and of course the price reflects it The entertainment center is wonderful to keep the kids and grandkids occupied while you listen to the radio, or simply talk about things they don't care about anyway

The power sliding door on the passenger side is indispensable There is no question I'd find a way to justify the extra money to have this option, especially for the children Another nice item is the sensor that audibly lets you know when you're getting close to objects while backing up

A recommendation All minivans cost too much but, relative to the more popular SUVs, you'll get much better gas mileage, and it's all around a better family car Before you spend all the money, think about whether you really need all the gadgets If money is no object, then buy this super-loaded family van I ve driven the Ford Windstar, the Dodge Caravan, and I was very impressed with the Honda

Odyssey But as much as I liked these other minivans, I still have a love
