Amanda Gaedtke, a high school semor from Canton Township, spent part of her school day Thursday looking for insects and bugs in and around the creek that flows through Plymouth Canton Educational Park - in the rain

'We picked through the muck to find bugs, and collect ed them to see which ones are the most common and which ones aren't," said Gaedtke If there are some like mayflies, in there that means there's not a lot of pollution in the water because they are sensitive to pollution The creek isn't that polluted'

Students conducted chemical tests examined aquatic life and surveyed the creek at The Park as part of the Rouge Education Project coordinated by the Friends of the Rouge

The good news 1s that the creek a tributary of the Rouge River, doesn t appear to be polluted

It appears the original portion of the old windmill and Daisy BB Gun factory, constructed on Union Street in 1882, will be saved from the wreckıng ball

Developers who want to construct a 159-unit housing project on the 10 47-acre property told planning commissioners Wednesday night they've changed their minds, and now will use the original historic building as a cornerstone to the $30 million project, which has been named Daisy Square

We want to get it to the condition where it was at the original windmill building, with its third story addition, architect Mark Hopkins told commissioners 'We want to use it to create two row home units, and sell those as our most upscale units on the site

Former Detroit Police chief like McKinnon talks with Discovery Middle School Assistant Principal Clint Smiley and Student Council President Jennifer Nowak before his presentation to the sixth-graders McKinnon urged students to "make good choices" during his visit to the Canton middle school

'Choices can change lives'

McKinnon urges students to make good decisions BY TONY BRUSCATO STAFF WRITER

Everyone has choices to make in life "You have to make good decisions,' said Corrine Olsen, an eighth-grader at Discovery Middle School 'Things can change the rest of your life Helping people can change their lives' That's the lesson Olsen and her classmates learned from former Detroit Police Chief Ike McKinnon, who spoke to students at the Canton Township school Wednesday

"They can stand tall, in spite of any obstacles that may come their way," said McKinnon of the students he was about to address "We all have obstacles, and we have choices, and we need to make the best choice Don't let anything stand in your way'

After giving away copies of his best-selling book Stand Tall, and his musical CD, McKinnon divulged to students some reallife lessons he learned, and how they affected his life

'At your age, I was this kid who decided I was going to steal something, said the eventual law enforcement official 'Thank God I was caught, because once you get away with something, you think it's easier and easier It turned me around

You re not too young to think about what you want to do with your life" McKinnon said to the sixth, seventh- and eighthgraders McKinnon told of being an Air Force pilot, being involved in a plane crash, and realizing how great it was to be alive

"What happens when you are faced with life-altering situations?' McKinnon asked students 'It's going to happen to you, and you will make decisions within yourself There will be people who tempt you with drugs and alcohol, and you will have to make decisions '

And, McKinnon told of the Canadian boy with leukemia he befriended, who is now 17 and in remission

"He told me I gave him the will to live," said the former chief 'We don't realize the impact we have on people's lives

"There are people--from friends, people you see on the street, from teachers to your parents--who will have an impact on your lives," he said "You won't know it now, but it's going to happen"

McKinnon, now chief security officer of global operations for Compuware, surprised students at the end by calling several teachers on stage to sing with him

"You have to stand up for what you believe in, no matter what people say," is the lesson Attia Qureshi, 14, of Canton learned "You can't let people put you down when you believe in something'

Jui Shah, 14, of Canton, was moved by McKinnon's presentation

'It doesn t matter what race you are, what color you are, what gender you are, you can always help someone and impact someone's life," she said

Symphony excited about season as 'early bird' ticket time opens

BY BRAD KADRICH Staff Writer

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra had barely closed out its successful 57th season when Nan Washburn started tingling with excitement about the 58th

Washburn, for four years the conductor/music director for the symphony, believes the lineup of guest musicians and composers lined up for the upcoming season, which starts with the opening night concert Oct 11, is reason enough for the symphony, and concert-goers, to be excited The season starts with guest composer Libby Larsen for the Oct 11 "Inspiration & Metamorphoses" concert at Our Lady of Good Counsel

Larsen has just accepted the prestigious Harioisos Papamarkou chair appointment at the Library of Congress in Washington, D C

"She is one of my favorite composers," Washburn said "She's one of the first who took a stand about connecting with her audience So many of her colleagues are too worried about impressing their peers" The symphony is hoping to convince local residents and concert-goers the 58th season is a bargain, offering an "early bird" special good through June 15 Early purchase gives the buyer five concerts for $75 ($65 for seniors)

The second concert of the season features accordion player Peter Soave, a popular guest in Washburn's first season Soave will perform the Michigan premier of Tres Tangos Para Bandoneon Y Orquesta by Astor Piazzolla. He'll also do his own version of Bellstedt's Napoli Variations for Accordion & Orchestra

'Everyone was raving about him," Washburn said of Soave's first performance "I wanted to get him back before this, but he's very difficult to get because hes in Europe quite a lot"

The season will also feature a couple of the symphony's Youth Artist winners Saxophonist Zachary Shemon, last year's winner, is featured in the Jan 17-18 "Instrumental Miniatures" concert with the Canton Chamber Orchestra, while Elizabeth Schellhase, this year's winner, is at the Feb 14 "Winter Dreams and Valentine Memories' concert "There aren't that many opportunities for young musicians to play solo," said Linda Alvarado, president of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra League 'There are opportunities to play in groups, but this gives them a chance to play solo "The fifth concert, set for March 13, will feature University of Michigan professor and jazz planist Ellen Rowe in 'A Taste of Jazz "

The lineup of performers, according to Alvarado, is a testament to Washburn's leadership

"Nan has such great connections that she can bring in great composers,' Alvarado said "It's not every orchestra that can do that It's a great opportunity for the community to interact with these kinds of artists"

The season also includes the annual performance of The Nutcracker, set for Dec 6-7, and the symphony's annual dinner/auction "Best of Broadway," slated for April 23

Accident sends driver to hospital

BY HEATHER NEEDHAM STAFF WRITER

Canton police are investigating a four-vehicle chain-reaction accident at Canton Center and Warren that sent one person to the hospital, a semi-truck skidding into a back yard, and closed the intersection for hours The accident reportedly started at 10 a.m Friday, May 16, when a Nıssan Pathfinder, drıven by a 59-year-old Plymouth woman, was traveling east on Warren and turned right on a red light into the path of the Pepsi truck, which was traveling south on Canton Center

The accident, which drew nearby residents and shoppers to watch, closed down southbound Canton Center into the afternoon as police and fire personnel cleared the scene A semi-tow truck was on the scene Friday afternoon attempting to move the Pepsi truck

"Probably the best way to sum up this accident is with a semi involved, you tie up the road all day," said Canton police Officer Bruce Roderick

The Nissan was struck by the Pepsi semi-truck as it traveled south on Canton Center and wound up knocking down two fences, a child's swingset and landed on its side in a back yard Driving the truck was a 41-year-old Monroe man who was reportedly uninjured The

Nissan driver was transported to St Joseph Mercy Hospital for injuries that did not appear lifethreatening Also struck in the collision were a Ford Taurus heading south on Canton Center, driven by a 34-year-old Muskegon man, and an Olds Toronado, struck by the Taurus after it swerved over the center line The Toronado passengers were a 35-year-old Plymouth husband and wife, and their two 2-week old twin boys None reported serious injuries, though the woman complained of neck and back pain, according to Roderick, who was working the scene deserve from their parents, calling the level of unpaid child support "an epidemic in our state"

'(Some) 650,000 children woke up this morning not knowing if they'd get any child support," said Cox, who is pushing to put pressure on what he called "deadbeat" parents 'Of those, 400,000 will never get a dime in our 'state of plenty'

In an effort to collect what Cox says is some $7 billion owed in back child support in this state, the attorney general has opened a child support division with 10 staffers working with the Family Independence Agency

"When you have a situation with a deadbeat parent, the parent left behind has to pick up the slack, sometimes get a second job," Cox said "The pattern shows that kids in that situation turn to drugs or to crime, and then we end up seeing them in a criminal situation"

It was an all-too-frequent scenario when Cox was a prosecutor, he said

"I encountered young folks who came from backgrounds of drugs and alcohol and no education," Cox said 'As a prosecutor, I got to see life in ways not many people do In my professional career, I've had a special place for parents and children"

The children he encountered, Cox said, 80 percent of the time came from a home where one parent had disappeared The youngsters, he said, grew up poor financially and poor in spirit"

"I can't make a parent be a parent,' Cox said "But I can certainly try to make a parent be responsible"

Cox made his appearance at the Plymouth Salvation Armys annual dinner, which was held in conjunction with National Salvation Army Week Cox said that, as a young Marine, he frequently encountered Salvation Army services overseas

"I've never been homeless or destitute, but I've been touched by the efforts of the Salvation Army," he said "In a very real and practical way, the Salvation Army was very helpful to me as a young man'

He lauded the efforts of Salvation Army volunteers, who followed the example of William Booth, who founded the Salvation Army as a way to fill a spiritual need as well as physical needs of people

He said those volunteers helped expand the awareness of the Salvation Army, which most people think of in terms of its Christmas bell-ringing campaign But Cox pointed out the Salvation Army's presence at disasters such as the tornadoes that recently struck the Midwest, as well as its presence in Iraq

"The Salvation Army fills a need for people at their most needy, most vulnerable time," Cox said "Through your efforts, you help fulfill the purpose set forth by Gen Booth polluted they wouldn't be there The Rouge River, which runs through 48 communities in southeast Michigan, was once declared a disaster by the federal government However, with cleanup efforts the past 20-plus years, the Rouge is finally at a place where it's a safe place for recreation

'Chemical treatments, oil from the streets fertilizer and geese (droppings), that stuff just washes in the water and it's not good for the stream," said Bob de Bear, Plymouth High School ecology teacher

"When it rains really hard, the water runs into the storm sewers, and all the storm sewers go into these streams and the into the lower Rouge," said de Bear, pointing to a storm sewer outlet along the creek at The Park "If you have high grass, it will stop a lot of the dirt and trap a lot of the chemicals, and keep them from going into the creek"

With that in mind, students and teachers planted trees, bushes and flowers - and put up bird boxes - to help restore the habitat along the creek, which should have an impact on the water quality

The plantings and bird boxes were bought with the help of a $63,000 grant from the US

Rouge River watershed facts listed

The Rouge watershed is approximately 466 square miles in area (A watershed is the area of land that drains into a river system or network of rivers)

(P) A5

All or part of 48 communities are located in the Rouge watershed, which includes parts of Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw counties These 48 communities have a combined population of nearly 2 5 million people

The Rouge River has a total of 126 river miles and consists of four major branches (the Main, Upper, Middle and Lower) and the Main Stem

The Rouge empties into the Detroit River, which is a major source of drinking water for many southeastern Michigan residents just the facade of the building However, commissioners balked at that plan and sent developers packing, searching for another solution After the developers announced the new proposal, planning commissioners voted 6-1 to grant Freed preliminary approval of the planned unit development designation they were seeking 'I appreciate what you've done to try and maintain the historical aspects of the old windmill factory," said planning Commissioner Richard Moyer, who was most vocal about last months change ın plans

"I love the development," said Commissioner Stephen Estey "It's a great plan for downtown Plymouth

The two loft-style units in the windmill factory building will be about 2,500 square feet A building housing 56 condominiums and underground parking will be constructed behind the historic building The remainder of the project will include a neighborhood made up of rowhouses, townhouses and flats The units are expected to sell from between $200,000-$400,000

'We wanted to create a new neighborhood that linked the old with the new, and we wanted to keep some of the history of the site," said Mark Baumgarten. Freed senior vice president of operations 'So, we named the property Daisy Square, so that we are able to take the history of the site and let it live on '

The lone dissenting vote on the planning commission came from Chair Margaret FitzGerald, who isn't totally convinced that once the expansions to the windmill factory on either side are torn down, the project won't still be just a facade of the original building 'I have some concerns about the amount of the historical nature of the site,' said FitzGerald "Much of the original walls on the sides don't exist because of the expansion It's not clear to me how much of the interior structure will be maintained But, I'm glad they're saving something

FitzGerald was also concerned the project will have too much siding, instead of masonry, when completed, despite claims by developers the project will be 30 percent brick.

Despite that, FitzGerald said she's pleased the site is being developed

'It could have been a real problem for the city," she said 'The tax rolls that aren't active, a brownfield site that wasn't being developed and an eyesore for the city.'

Alan Saposnik, vice president David George Granzin of development for Freed, said his company wanted to do whatever it took to get the project moving forward

"The commissioners said they'd like to see that happen, and we wanted to do what the community felt was most appropriate," Saposnik said 'There was clearly strong feedback from the last meeting that they wanted to see that building maintained, so we're going to maintain that building

"It will cost us a little bit more, but thats the cost of doing business," he said Saposnik said if all goes well with final approval from the planning commission and affirmation by the city commission, groundbreaking could occur sometime this fall

Frank Agostini grills all year long, but when summer comes along, it also means it's time to barbecue on a much larger scale The executive chef at E G Nicks in West Bloomfield planned to grill for a party of 150 people this weekend for radio station WYCD at the Downtown Hoedown This year's theme was a Texas-style barbecue When summer unofficially kicks off with the Memorial Day weekend, it also means the grills will be fired up and grates brushed down for another season of outdoors cooking The National Cattleman's Beef Association recommends the following Dress up lean and tender beef top loin steaks (also called strip steaks) with a fullflavored glaze of coarse Dijonstyle mustard, black pepper and garlic complemented by the subtle sweetness of apple juice For Agostini, it was another chance to cook some of his favorites barbecue chicken, ribs and pulled pork. "We do a rub, then a par bake before we put on the sauce," Agostini said Agostini doesn't boil the ribs beforehand, as it draws the flavors out of the meat "You do that when you create a chicken stock for soup, but you don't want that when you're cooking baby back ribs," Agostini said "You're extracting all the flavors from the ribs I like to cover them and bake them with a little hquid smoke and water That Agostim uses E G Nicks dry rub, a formula of which he is not allowed to disclose, but for his own personal use, he likes a paprika base and herbs I like to put the emphasis on the ribs, not the sauce, Agostini said "I like to taste the sauce, but not bury the ribs'

Coriander, garlic and peppers are other ingredients used in the rub before baking in a convection oven at 350° for about 90 minutes The ribs are done when they can be cut with a fork

"Ribs are one of those things people like to experiment with,' Agostini said

For pulled pork, Agostini uses a pork shoulder cooked oh-so-slowly, similar to the ribs Some people bake it with beer, bourbon, mesquite flavoring or hickory flavoring, but Agostini likes a mixture of pork with

Students can help raise hunger awareness

This service-learning project asks Oakland County students and teachers to pack an extra paper bag on June 5, containing either money for a lunch or a lunch comprised of non-perishable food items

Those interested in participating in the Bring a Friend a Lunch project can contact the Food Bank of Oakland County at (248) 332-1473 All money and food items collected will provide meals for children and families served by the FBOC

Many people are not aware that families in their community struggle with hunger About 45 percent of households include at least one employed adult yet they still have to choose between paying for food and paying household bills and 39 9 percent of FBOC

The Food Bank of Oakland County is one of more than 200 America's Second Harvest National Food Banks Last year the FBOC distributed 6 3 million pounds of food throughout Oakland County Their mission is to alleviate hunger and poverty by securing, storing and distributing food, information, personal care items and household products to emergency food pantries, soup kitchens and shelters in Oakland County

Burgers are a grilling staple

Besides the great taste, perhaps the beauty of the burger is its versatility

"If you ask 10 people how they prefer their burger, you re likely to get 10 different answers," says Sara Reddington director, Beef and Veal Culinary Center of the National Cattlemen's Beef Association (NCBA)

From the beloved ketchup and mustard topping a plain grilled burger, to feta cheese and olive tapenade on an oregano and garlic-seasoned burger, the good news is that it all tastes great,' Reddington said

With that in mind, Reddington and her staff created something new and different using summers bounty of fresh ingredients The result Burgers with Red Relish & Herb Aloli - different, delicious and doable in 30 min-

First assemble the relish and aioli and refrigerate them

Roasted red peppers, red onion and fresh red tomato with a splash of red wine vinegar make up the piquant relish The savory aloh is simply a mayonnaise, garlic, fresh basil and Parmesan cheese mixture To serve, spread crusty rolls with the aioli, top with a per-fectly grilled burger, relish and shavings of Paremesan to zee airport on time But first you must see my uzzere boulangerie," said Basil Kamir, bread-baker extraordinare

It was then that I understood the full meaning of his philosophy "Bread is not just a business, it's an obsession!"

For Basil, it began when he saw bulldozers clearing a section of his beloved Paris in the 1960s A narrow building remained intact amongst the rubble and he discovered that inside was an exquisite bakerya mosaic floor, frescoes on the walls, a beautiful chandelier, cut glass, gold leaf, marble, and the original centuries-old brick ovens He was captivated And the obsession began He bought the building simply to save it from destruction

But he had little idea what to do with it Basil was in the music business and knew nothing about baking bread So, he set about researching how it was made, hundreds of years before He spent untold hours in bread museums and resolved to reinstate Old World methods

Before long, the bakery was brought back to life and magmicent loaves filled the shelves And people came How they came! They lined the streets for several blocks to enter the tiny bakery

Was it Basil's obsession? Maybe Or, more accurately, a passionate tour de force I've found this is a character-

Baker loves craft of artisan bread-making

Already a master baker, he still loved experimenting When I was with him he took a huge 10 pound Pain de Campagne and cut off a hunk of a slice It tasted fresh and full of flavor

I baked it a week ago, he said Incredulous, I peppered him with questions which he patiently answered-explaining his belief in flour milled from wheat which had been harvested at just the perfect stage of the moon's orbit

Obsession or a passionate tour de force?

Perhaps both It was similar to what led Daniel Leader to build his "Bread Alone' bakery in the Catskill Mountains of New York, also in the '60s

He not only imported a master French oven builder to assemble the two ovens, he even imported the bricks from France'

And he traveled to the Dakotas to select the wheat before 1t was harvested and sent to the miller He walked field after field with the farmer to make sure he got what he needed to make great bread

Obsession? Maybe But I think it was more a great love for his craft

That's how I believe successful artisan bakeries are motivated today

It's easy to coalesce the bread-making process down to eight hours, but how much better the result is when time is viewed as an ally and not as something to cut, to save money

Steadfastly, the best artisan bakeries use naturally fermented starters, instead of commercial yeast And then they allow the dough to ferment for some 17-20 hours, in a cold environment, so that wonderfully complex flavors have the time to develop

'Keep on Rollin' Styx, REO & Journey come to Joe Louis Arena

BY LANA MINI STAFF WRITER

REO Speedwagon singer Kevin Cronin is experiencing a lot of personal energy these days

It's not surprising since REO is in the midst of a popularity resurgence Turn on the radio and chances are a REO Speedwagon song will be on soon

If Keep On Lovin' You isn't flowing through the airwaves, songs by Styx or Journey might be instead It's this three-band concert Thursday, June 12, at Joe Louis Arena that's causing the buzz (originally the show was scheduled for DTE)

Prime seats cost as much as a Lollapalooza or Pearl Jam ticket and they're selling steadily

On a break from playing with his young twin sons in California last week, Cronin talked about the tour that he calls an experiment

"We've played with Styx in the past and we're friends with the Journey guys," Cronin said "But when you have all three bands playing one concert - and we are all the headliners - you have a great mixture of competitiveness, friendship and positive energy where everyone just plays better It will be very interesting to hear

Cronin said he's very sincere when he says the Detroit show is a highlıght

"Every show is going to be different, but Detroit? C'mon, it's Detroit Detroit is a rock n' roll town and every band out there knows it It's not a cliche when they say it It's the audience that gives us such great energy and it's the fantastic radio there that helps it all along Detroit is always a city that bands look forward to '

Cronin wouldn't specify if the three bands will all perform togeth-

IN CONCERT

Who: REO Speedwagon Journey and Styx

Where: Joe Louis Arena, 600 Civic Center Dr. Detroit When: 7 p m Thursday June 12 Tickets: $35-$57 at the box office or call Ticketmaster (248) 645 6666 er on stage However he said the stage 1s open to improv Fans of the classics by REO, Styx and Journey should appreciate this tour since it's about the hits

"We're sticking with the big guns, each band only has about 70 minutes to perform, so it needs to be compact We'll be hitting the gas every single night the whole way through," Cronin said

And he isn't tired of singing Ridin' the Storm Out "Beheve it or not, I'm still trying to improve it," he said

Fans will hear songs like Roll with the Changes and That Ain't Love by REO And they can expect Renegade from Styx and Open Arms by Journey With Styx will be band members Tommy Shaw, James JY Young, Glen Burtnik, Lawrence Gowman and Todd Sucherman

Dennis DeYoung won't be there Lead vocalist Steve Perry, won't be with Journey, instead Steve Augeri is the frontman Neil Schon and Ross Valory are the only original members with the band

PERSONAL

Cronin knows REO songs were personal for teenagers who grew up listening the band — those songs personal for him too

'It's embarrassing to admit, but I was more honest in my music than I was in my real relationships. ... Those songs helped me through a lot growing up ... and I hear they impacted others. Some songs are timeless if the lyrics are honest.'

Kevin Cronin REO Speedwagon singer

'It's embarrassing to admit, but I was more honest in my music than I was in my real relationships Those songs helped me through a lot growing up and I hear they impacted others Some songs are timeless if the lyrics are honest" Still, some of the hits might sound different when performed live

"I could do an acoustic version of That Ain't Love if it seems appropriate for the moment We can take a song that everyone knows and discover something brand new, sometimes it can take years for a song to grow up They evolve if you let it happen

As for the future of REO Cronin isn't ready to discuss it

The band has been rolling for 30 years and this tour is taking on its own wild life that will probably be extended beyond the currently 45 scheduled shows

To maintain serenity on the tour, REO travels with a bamboo plant named Lucky, which Cronin says has helped their lives fall into interesting places (Cronin's complex feel

Kevin Cronin, lead singer of REO Speedwagon, said it's not a cliché when musicians praise Detroit as a rock n roll city REO's upcoming show with Styx and Journey is a hot ticket ings about Lucky the Bamboo can be visited on www.speedwagon.com) And at the concert, look hard, because Lucky might even be seen somewhere on REOs stage When the tour 1s over, Cronin will take time to be alone with his family For the moment, however, his family is his bandmates and the crew from Styx and Journey And the wheel in the sky keeps turning and they don't know where they'll be tomorrow

Little book has lots of advice for grads

ON YOUR OWN: ADVICE FOR YOUNG ADULTS LEAVING HOME FOR THE FIRST TIME By Jeffrey Caponigro Barker Books Inc Southfield MI $995

BY KEELY KALESKI STAFF WRITER

Jeffrey Caponigro started making a list of little things he has learned in life and thought it would be kind of neat to put them into a book He did, and gave it to his nieces and nephews who were graduating

Word got around and pretty soon people were asking for copies His list of 15-20 little things I've learned in life' evolved into On Your Own Advice for Young Adults Leaving Home for the First Time

It's a gem, filled with golden nuggets that will help you, and those you care about, shine no matter how old you are good start in business," said Caponigro, a Troy resident and owner of Caponigro Public Relations Inc, with offices in Southfield and downtown Detroit

Own is a collection of things you learn when you're older

I sort of travel a lot on the job and while I'm on the plane I ll think of a topic and ask,

'What lessons did I learn?' Some of the advice is from friends, such as "Don't sleep overnight in a room that you painted the same day"

'Someone I went to high school did that and fainted the next day,' said Caponigro He has some favorites

Write a letter to your favorite elementary school teacher I did that and the letter I got back was amazing," he said

'If some older people seem cranky, it's because they've run out of patience after decades of seeing people like you make dumb mistakes that could have been avoided It would make you cranky too' Wanna bet his sons Nick and Mike have heard that one? Nick will be attending Indiana University this fall and Mike is a high school senior

Trust your parents, "they just want to make sure you don't make the same mistakes they did when they were your age, is another one of Caponigro's favorites

You'll find yourself nodding in agreement and laughing while you read this book It's not preachy, but filled with lots of good advice that will come in handy whether you're graduating or not

Asia is an exotic feast for the camera

ooking for an unusual, exotic place to go full of photographic opportunities and relatively inexpensive to travel through? Well, I recently visited Thailand and it has my strongest endorsement

Asia has always fascinated me and having enjoyed photographic trips to China and Korea, Thailand was a natural choice

We started in the North at Chiang Rai, near the "Golden Triangle" where Burma, Laos and Thailand touch at a common point Photo ops are plentiful here with choices ranging from picturesque long-tail boats to most interesting people living in hilltop tribal villages This is where the "longneck" women, as well as other interesting people, make their homes By the way, the people in Thailand are very friendly and cooperative especially when it comes to having their pictures taken Here you'll want a telephoto lens so you can move in tight and capture all the character in faces An 85mm to 200mm lens will do fine

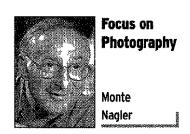

Moving south, we stopped at Chiang Mai, Thailand's second largest city Here great scenery abounds and we began to see rice paddy workers and some amazing Wats (temples)

Further south, we spent some time photographing Sukhothai, a grouping of temples from ancient times Here you'll want a wide-angle lens to get more in the viewfinder and take advantage of the increased depth-offield afforded by wide-angles

Next on the itinerary was Phuket and surroundings, Thailand's southern islands Coastal scenes including palm trees and other tropical subjects await your camera.

We concluded the trip in Bangkok, Thailand's capitol Its a big city lots of noise and traffic but the Grand Palace alone is worth the chaos of Bangkok. By the way, a side trip to

Monte Nagler took this picture at Bangkok's Grand Palace. It's an awesome place to photograph

Angkorwat in neighboring Cambodia is truly amazing and loaded with photographic potential

As in all travel photography, pack camera equipment lightly, but wisely You'll want lenses from 28mm to 200mm which can easily be accommodated in one good zoom lens 200 ASA film should get you by and remember, NEVER place film in checked luggage it will be runed' Use lead bags, or better still, ask for visual inspections at security stations The new TSA inspectors are very cooperative

Don't leave that tripod home A light-weight, yet sturdy one is easy to pack and you'll be glad you took it

So next time you re deciding where to go overseas, consider Thailand It's a feast for your camera¹

TRAVEL

Eclectic Athens, Georgia is Southern, and more

BY ALICE RHEIN CORRESPONDENT

It wasn't until the family was taking a mid-afternoon stroll around downtown Atlanta, with several greetings from panhandlers, that we realized just what a Goldilocks experience our trip to Georgia had been

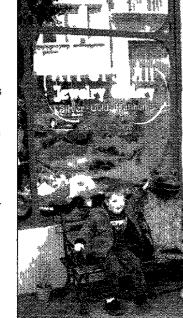

Atlanta was big, but not altogether comfortable Clayton, a bedroom tourist town about 90 minutes northeast of Atlanta, was quaint, but a wee bit small

And Athens, a college community about a hour from Atlanta, was just right

Athens is to Georgia what Ann Arbor is to Michigan Home to the University of Georgia, Athens offers a diverse campus community along with a thriving business and entertainment district Having spawned alternative bands like R E M , the B-52 s and Widespread Panic, Athens remains a musical mecca

Wasn't that Sister Hazel at the table next to us at the Thai Cafe on N Lumpkin? You bet The Georgia Theatre just up the street draws in many nationally known acts And rt's not unusual to find an Anı DiFranco wannabee or two strumming a guitar on a street corner

On warm spring days which are frequent here -

Unique shops and sites are found on the streets of Athens

even music instructors take to the streets, sometimes with the trombone section of the University of Georgias marching band in tow for a spectacular aural treat

Athens is also home to some of the most beautiful gardens in the South If you re lucky enough to visit in early spring, you'll catch the brilliant colors of the azalea trees They make even the most vibrant azalea bush here seem scrawny

One of the smallest but historically significant gardens is on the UGA campus The formal Founders Memorial Garden, which features an ornate fountain, rare flora and brick pathways, is the site of Americas first gar den club

For those who prefer to see a little more red, Sanford Stadium, home to the UGA Bulldogs, 15 just a short walk away

Memorials to Uga I-V, the bulldog mascot made even more famous in Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil, are located on the grounds Don t dis the dog – hes waaay loved around here

In addition to numerous music clubs and bars, Athens also offers numerous dining options, from outdoor coffee shops to steak and wine lunches Retail stores reflect the towns eclectic personality Patchouli-scented clothiers and specialty shops fill the historical Victorian-era buildings downtown, and offer a charming antidote to the identical malls and retail outlets that line the highways

BED AND BREAKFAST

Several adorable bed & breakfasts can be found close to the UGA campus including the Magnolia Terrace, but kids will appreciate the amenities - read, indoor pool - that the Holiday Inn downtown has to offer Opt for the suite and you'll still get a bargain, free continental breakfast, and a door between you and the little ones

Though less so than in some Southern towns, the Civil War still looms large in this city's legacy

Its not atypical to see men in Confederate garb riding horses to who-knows-where to do who-knows-what And an abysmal military artillery failure, the double-barreled cannon, is now a cherished landmark on the grounds of City Hall

It s just another example of Southern ingenuity, and smart marketing It may not have won the war, but the South has certainly won the hearts of history buffs and building preservationists

Some of the finest examples of Federal and Greek Revival architecture can be found on the campus of UGA and in the city of Athens And with several examples of architectural splendor, a thriving music scene, unique shops and tremendous gardens that highlight natural beauty, a trip to Athens means everyone wins

The intangibles favored Livonia Stevenson

The Spartans, ranked No 1 in the state, were undefeated going into Wednesday's key Western Lakes Activities Association match at unranked Canton, a win - even a draw - would put them into the WLAA championship match

That meant almost certainly the Spartans would tie Salem for the Lakes Division crown, bringing the the 300 hurdles (41 5) "I was tremendously pleased," said Richardson "I told the kids, 'Whatever place we came in, it doesn't matter"

In the final analysis, they couldn't have done much better

Canton girls gualify

Perhaps Canton's girls could have done better - but not much

The Chiefs, behind a pair of regional-championship performances, finished fourth at Friday's Division I regional hosted by Ypsilanti Lincoln, scoring 84 points

The title went to Livonia Stevenson with 104 5 points Livonia Churchill was second with 97, with Lincoln third with 93 Salem placed seventh with 275, but the Rocks did not have a state qualifier See statistical summary

For the Chiefs, JQ Williams got them started by winning the pole vault, clearing 9-feet Salem's Allie Vraniak was fifth at 8-6

Canton's other title-earning competition came from Sarah McCormack in the 1,600meter run McCormack outran an impressive field to finish first in 5 18 80 The Rocks' Lauren Kane was fourth in 5 23 6

The Chiefs' 4x200 relay team also qualified for state by placing second to Stevenson, Canton was clocked in 1 48 31, Stevenson in 1 46 42

Jessie Johnson got in as well, placing second in the shot put (37-feet,¹/₂-inch) Salem's Jennifer Early was third (33-3)

The Chiefs' Mary Maloney finished second in the long jump (16-0) to qualify for state, teammate Andrea Nyberg was third (15-11 1/2) And in the high jump, Isabela Paszkowska cleared 5-1, same height as regional champ Megan Kmet of Franklin (who was first on fewer misses) Paszkowska finished third, but she equaled the qualifying height and will make the trip to state The Chiefs' Cindy Rotramel and Katie Cezat tied for fourth, clearing 4-11

The Chiefs' Christina Redd had not lost a race in the 100 since early in the dual-meet season, but her streak was broken at the regional Redd was third in 12 5, which still bettered the state-qualifying standard, earning her a trip to state

Canton had a couple of other third places, its 4x800 relay (10 02 48) and 4x100 relay (5199)

Salem had two scorers in the discus Anna Wilson was fourth (103-8) and Early placed sixth (97-11) Kane, one of Salem's top performers on the day (she scored in two events), also placed fifth in the 3,200 (12 01 20)

"We tried hard," said Salem coach Mark Gregor, "but we didn't get a qualifier, and that's the first time since my first year here

"It's a new experience for us" In an effort to get at least one relay in, Gregor loaded up his 4x400 relay with Cyndi Edwards, Alvsa Johnson, Vraniak and Lynden Gault

"It was our last chance," Gregor said, but it didn't happen, Salem finished fourth in 4 13 60, 1 9 seconds off the qualifying standard It wasn't a good day for the

Rocks, but it was for the Chiefs had their best games, I don't think we could have gotten in (to the state field) as a team,' admitted Salem coach Rick Wilson I told the girls they would have each had to shoot something like six shots better"

Actually, it would have required an eight-shot improvement per player - and the Rocks still would have been a stroke behind Pioneer But Wilson was impressed with the play of Smith

'She played with the No 1 group (of scorers) in the region, he said I don't think she was intimidated at all She was expecting to compete with the top girls and she did'

Canton also did as well as could be anticipated, according to coach Dan Riggs The Chiefs were led by Natalie Slupek with a 94, Beth Treadwell with a 99, Meghan Depp and Heather Hughesian each with a 101, and Michelle Corwin with a 103

The Salem-Canton dual match was close, as expected The difference The Rocks had three golfers break 50 and five scorers at better than 51, Canton had two under 50, four at 51 or better

Not a big difference, but enough for a seven-stroke victory Salem was led by Smith's medalist-earning 45, Kristen Schwan was next at 47, with Powers at 48 and Mitchell and Young at 51 Siedlaczek shot 55

Canton was paced by Depp with a 48 Corwin shot 49, Slupek had a 50 and Hughesian a 51 Next best was Treadwell with a 54 and Katie Hoeksema at 59 'There happened to be a couple of holes that didn t go our way," said Riggs "Things hke that happen I told the kids they've had a great year and that I'm proud of them

The Chiefs, like Salem 6-2 in the WLAA, have an important dual remaining Monday against Northville Should Canton prevail, it would create a three-way tie for second, with Salem and Northville, in the conference

On Friday at St Johns, Salems top scorers shot well against Northville, but the rest struggled as the Mustangs claimed a 10-stroke victory

"They're a good team, Wilson said of the Mustangs They finished second to (Livonia) Stevenson by a shot at the (Mystic Creek) regional"

Smith again earned medalist honors with a 41, with Siedlaczek right behind at 42 Young came next at 51, with Schwan at 53, Powers at 54 and Mitchell at 56

All six of Northville's scorers shot better than 50, led by Marie Snyder at 42 Layne Scherer and Shannon Lewicki each had a 43, Kelly Harrison shot 44, Andrea Fillipps had a 47 and Therese Juthage had a 49

The win gave the Mustangs a 7-1 record in WLAA duals

The conference champion is determined by a combination of dual wins and performance at the league tournament, which is Tuesday at Brentwood CC season Wednesday against Livonia Franklin in a WLAA game played at Salem

Kellı Szczepanskı allowed just four hits and one walk, striking out four in six innings to get the pitching win

Cortney Edwards, Sue Woodard and Alycia Murawski led the Rocks offense with two hits apiece Edwards led off the fourth inning with a triple and scored Salem's first run on a passed ball, which trimmed the Patriots' lead to 2-1

A Murawski single and stolen base produced the game tying run in the fifth, Murawski scoring on an error

The four-run sixth began with an Edwards single, an Alı Proodian single and a Bradley walk Edwards scored the go-ahead run on Brook Posler's fielders choice, leaving runners at first and second

Woodards single re-loaded the bases, and Murawski's single scored two runs, making it 5-2 Jess Bonnello's fielder's choice delivered the final run

Losing pitcher Amanda Morrill gave up five earned runs on six hits She walked two and struck out two

Morrill had an RBI single, while Ashley Bonsall knocked in a run on a groundout for Franklin, which fell to 12-8

WLAA tiebreaker into play each teams record against the Western Division

When the Rocks lost 2-1 to Canton last Thursday, the door was open for Stevenson Beat or tie Canton and the Spartans would play for the title

If they thought it would be easy, if they thought Canton wouldn't offer much of a challenge because its spot in the WLAA championship was guaranteed, they were wrong The Chiefs scored a goal in each half and shut the door on Stevenson, posting a 2-0 victo-

'It was like it didn't have as much importance as it really did, said Spartans' coach Chris Pinta, his team now 7-1-4 overall, 3-1-1 against the Western Division (Salem was 4-1 against Western teams) 'A good portion of the second half we spent in their end, but that's all we did, spend time in their end We had a sense of urgency in the last five minutes, but you can t wait that long

'It was a matter of heart Canton had it We didn't' Canton coach Don Smith was almost insulted by any suggestion his team, now 11-2-1 overall, might not play as hard as Stevenson since the Spartans had more to play for "Did you ever see any team of mine that didn't play (hard)?"

he replied The Chiefs certainly did in this match They outplayed Stevenson in nearly every facet, with a particularly strong effort on defense Keeper Briana Wolcott got the shutout, with a lot of assistance from sweeper Andrea Johnson and a host of others, including Katie Raker, Katie Esper, Alvssa Lindow, Molly Priebe, Christie Daniels and Beth

Alexander 'We believe in (our defense) now," said Smith "And we're starting to play well offensively, too" The game's first real scoring chance came early, when the Spartans drove a shot off the goalpost

They would do that again with less than three minutes remaining, but in between they had few good scoring opportunities

Erica Ahrens got the only goal Canton would need when she intercepted a Stevenson pass near midfield and took off toward the Spartan net, splitting a pair of defenders en route before beating keeper Mindy Magoulick with 19 29 left in the first half

Five minutes into the second half, a Spartan defender got possession inside their box but instead of clearing the ball out of danger, chipped it back inside toward her own net Canton's Kara Marsh pounced on the error and scored, making it 2-0 with 34 31 left

Asthma and Exercise

It doesn't have to take your breath away

BY JENNIFER KENNEDY CORRESPONDENT

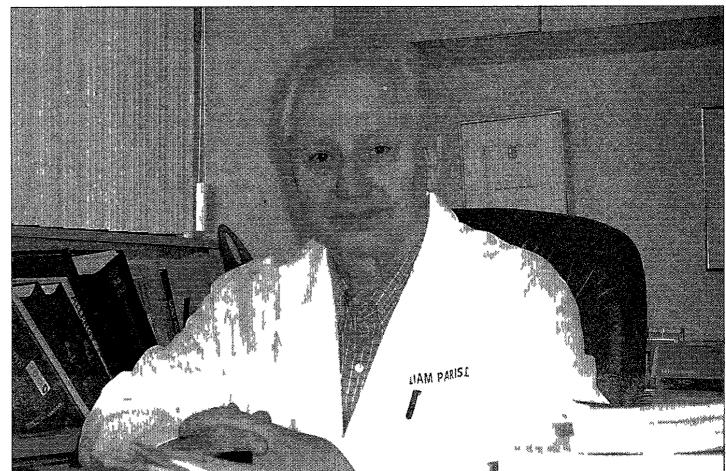

ost people expect to get a little winded when they exercise regardless of their fitness level However for some it can mean shortness of breath tightness in the chest, coughing, and wheezing, which can hinder the continuation of the exercise, or even daily activity

People who experience these symptoms could have chronic or exerciseinduced asthma Does this mean they should avoid exercise altogether? Doctors say no, aside from the most severe cases of asthma

Exercise can be a trigger for asthma, but with proper diagnosis, precautions and treatment, most asthmatics should be able to exercise regularly and safely, said Dr Clyde Flory, board member of the Michigan Chapter of the Allergy and Asthma Foundation of America located ın Southfield

What 1s asthma?

Asthma is an inflammatory lung dis ease in which muscles surrounding the airways tighten become swollen and clogged from membranes secreting extra mucous, blocking air passages The results are often difficulty of breath coughing and wheezing Although there is no cure for asthma, it can be controlled More than 18 million Americans, or approximately 7 percent of the popula tion, are reported to suffer from asthma With strenuous physical exercise, most of these individuals experience asthma symptoms has launched a storewide fund raiser to support the United Service Organizations (USO) through Memorial Day May 26 Farmer Jack will match customer donations (up to $15 000) from its stores in Michigan and Ohio

One dollar donation flyers will be available near check out registers at all Farmer Jack Food Market and Food Emporium stores Customers interested in donating simply must fill out a flyer and give to the cashier The flyers will be displayed prominently at the front of the store to show Farmer Jack and its customers support for the USO

On May 31 at the Detroit Tiger's home game against the New York Yankees Farmer Jack will announce the grand total raised during the fund raiser at a pre game ceremony Farmer Jack will also give away 10 000 Farmer Jack baseball hats to children 14 years old and under

Thousands of American troops remain overseas and Farmer Jack wants to show its support in their continu ing efforts said Mike Carter president of Farmer Jack Food Market The USO pro vides much needed relief to the men and women serving away from home and for that we are proud to help support its mission and pro grams

The USO provides morale boosting programs and serv ices to enhance the quality of life for military personnel and their families stateside and overseas

A private non profit organization the USO relies on donations from individu als and corporations to sup port such programs and services as Operation Phone Home cyber canteens fami ly and community centers mobile canteens and deploy ment centers

What is exercise induced asthma⁹

Exercise can sometimes trigger symptoms in people with asthma However for some individuals, exercise is the main trigger This is called exercise induced asthma (EIA), or exercise induced bronchospasm (EIB) As we exercise, we breathe faster and the bodys natural response is cooling of the airways said Flory

'The airway cooling will cause bron chospasms in some people, said Dr S William Paris of Paris Allergy and Asthma Centers, located in Livonia and Farmington Depending on the time of the year cold dry air or certain allergens can also be the cause

There are two phases of EIA one phase that occurs early on, within 10 minutes of exercising, or a late phase response in which the individual experi ences difficulty of breathing shortly after exercise has stopped, said Paris Either phase can be controlled with medication

What is the treatment for ELA?

Like the treatment of chronic asthma the key to treating EIA is proper diagno Dr. William Paris advises that exercise is good for asthma patients

sis and pre-treatment By taking medication before exercising, narrowing of the airways can be avoided For individuals with EIA, a variety of medications may be used Some of the medications most commonly used are bronchodilators, like albuterol or formoterol inhalers They can be used as a preventative measure, or as quick-acting rehef, but it is important to consult your doctor to learn what works best for you

Steroidal medications are typically only prescribed to chronic asthmatics whose asthma is out of control enough, or more severe, said Flory

Are there other truggers?

Asthma can be either physically induced, or allergen-induced, said Paris In this case, immunotherapy (allergy shots) may also be an option for treating allergen induced asthma Some common allergens are pet dander from dogs or cats, ragweed pollen, dust mites and molds

This time of year tree pollen and molds are high, which can trigger wheezing, said Paris An individual can be exposed to allergens, be exercising and start to wheeze The shortness of breath could be due to the allergens or the exercise

Or if an individual has a cold or even a respiratory or sinus infection, shortness of breath can result

Should I stop exercising?

Don't stop exercising, said Flory Many people, including global leaders, famous celebrities and athletes like Greg Louganis (Olympic diver) and Dominique Wilkins (NBA basket ball player) have asthma and exercise regularly

"Exercise of any kind improves the body's oxygen uptake efficiency - lung capacity, or amount of oxygen you can consume - and improves the lungs exertion capability This is true for asthmatics, or anyone," said Flory

What exercise is best?

Swimming, said Flory and Paris Although, any type of exercise should do your body good when your asthma is under control Exercise should be a part of everyday life for all asthmatics

If you think you may have asthma or exercise-induced asthma, by educating yourself about medications and other management strategies, you can control it and live an active life Even if you are not striving for an Olympic medal or a World Championship, you should be able to exercise to your full potential with appropriate diagnosis and treatment from an allergy and asthma specialist

Livonia Rotary hosts 'last polio victim' from Americas

Until now Luis Fermin the last polio victim in the Americas is a child most have only seen through photographs and videos However, that changed a few years ago when Rotarians of District 6400 had the opportunity to meet Luis at the District Conference in Traverse City Luis has been the inspiration behind much of the District's polio eradi cation efforts

Luis visited the Livonia Rotary Club on Monday May 12

Luis was born to poor peasants who lived in abject poverty in the remote Peruvian mountains of Pichanaqui In 1991, at the age of 3, Luis was diagnosed with polio by a visiting Rotarian doctor

Two years later, Luis was spotted by Rotarians in Lima He was unable to attend the local school because of paralysis and other medical conditions Peru's National PolioPlus Committee offered to assist Luis, and with his parents blessings, brought him to live in Lima, which held better prospects for a child with disabilities

Luis is a great symbol of the struggle for polio eradication, said Gustavo Gross past RI director and president of the polio eradication fund-raising campaign (PEFC) effort in Peru and Ecuador

I take care of his education and health program said Gross, who, along with his wife, Dorit, act as surrogate parents to

Luis 'At present, he has teachers in the areas of language and psychological ther apy, pedagogical help, and physical reha bilitation

Part of the cost of Luis treatment and studies is being met with the help of U S and Canadian districts For the Rotary years 2002-2004, District 6400 has adopted Luis

While Rotarians are on the drive to eradicate polio throughout the world Dave Carpenter of the Wayne Rotary Club has volunteered to chair the Luis Fermin Fund

"I dont think we should forget those that Rotary didn t get to in time, he said 'Luis is not only a symbol of the help needed by polio victims, but he is also a real live person in need

District 6400 has committed to support Luis through the next two years Carpenter hopes to raise $24,000 to pay for physical therapy and additional operations A club member or another individual could "sponsor a week of Luis' care for $250 or a month for $1,000, he said

Luis puts a human face on the Rotarians polio eradication program and demonstrates the need to assist those who the Rotary Polio Eradication program was too late to reach For more information, contact Bill Fried of the Livonia Rotary Club, at (734) 421-5055

Hearing aid business opens in Farmington Hills

BY PAUL R PACE STAFF WRITER

The Hughes Hearing Aid Center recently opened for business in Farmington Hills at 30701 W 10 Mile Road, suite 300

Maurice Hughes and his nephew Alex Hughes are partners in the business that is based on family tradition

Maurice Hughes said his father Bob owned hearing aid businesses in the Lansing area and other parts of metro Detroit before he branched out to southern California

Bob Hughes was also active years ago in supporting legislation in Michigan that helped regulate the industry, said Maurice, who added his other siblings are in the business

'We have pretty good referral business,' Maurice said of doctors who have patients requiring hearing aids

Technology has improved greatly over the years to where in-canal hearing devices can hardly be detected by observers, said Alex

Digital circuitry in the devices also allows the user the ability to filter out background noise and lessen harmonic distortion, he said

"Were independent so we don t have just one brand,' noted Maurice

We like to pride ourselves on bringing to the market the highest quality products at the most competitive prices," he said

Alex said selecting Farmington Hills as the newest office location offers an opportunity to serve several sur-

HEALTH

High blood pressure treatment guide co-written by U-M doctor

Last week in Washington, DC, national health officials unveiled a new road map" for finding and treating high blood pressure, and cutting the massive, deadly toll it takes each year on America's health Back in Ann Arbor,

Michigan, a family doctor smiled

Dr Lee Green, a family physician at the University of Michigan Health System, sees patients at the Briarwood Family Practice Center Hes also a member of the ehte committee that compiled and wrote the new national guidelines for elevated blood pressure and its more serious form, hypertension

Green was the only family physician and the only Michigan doctor to serve on both the 10-member executive committee and the entire national committee He lent his expertise as a primary care physician, as well as a clinical epidemiologist and specialist in evidence-based medicine

It was good to bring the family doctor's perspective to this effort, because family practitioners take care of most of the high blood pressure patients in the US, Green says These guidelines give family doctors and general internists a cutting-edge tool for managing patients with elevated blood pressure and full-blown hypertension

A TOOL

The guidelines, which have been published in the Journal of the American Medical Åssociation, are designed to help doctors across America give the best-possible care to people with high blood pressure, including those who still have a chance to stave off the condition through diet and exercise

According to federal government health data, about 90 percent of middle-aged

Americans will develop high blood pressure in their lifetime, and nearly 70 percent of people with high blood pressure do not have it under control Many people with high blood pressure have no idea they have the condition High blood pressure and hypertension are closely linked to heart disease and stroke, the nation's number one and number three most deadly diseases

The new report puts strong emphasis on optimal treatment of high blood pressure with effective lifestyle changes and medications, and prevention of full-blown hypertension in people who have elevated blood pressure or pre-hypertension

Blood pressure is expressed in two numbers, one on top of the other, that measure the pressure of blood traveling in blood vessels, both during and between heartbeats The top number is the 'systolic blood pressure, and the bottom number is the diastolic" blood pressure Pressures are measured in millimeters of mercury, or mm Hg

Pre-hypertensive people are identified as those whose systolic blood pressure is between 120 and 139 mm Hg, or whose diastolic blood pressure is between 80 and 89 mm Hg Hypertension is defined as greater than 140 mm Hg systolic, or 90 mm Hg diastolic

MORE DANGEROUS

The new guidelines point out that in people older than 50 years, systolic blood pressure of more than 140 mm Hg is a much more important risk factor for cardiovascular disease than elevated diastolic blood pressure

The authors also stress that a persons risk of developing cardiovascular disease of any kind doubles each time their systolic blood pressure goes up 20 units or their diastolic pressure

goes up 10 units

The new guidelines are officially called the JNC-7 report, short for the Seventh Report of the Joint National Committee on Prevention, Detection, Evaluation and Treatment of High Blood Pressure The effort to compile and prepare the guidelines was funded by the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute, part of the National Institutes of Health

Green, an associate professor in the Department of Family Medicine at the U-M Medical School, also served on the last joint national committee on this subject, which published its recommendations in 1997 But he notes that a lot has been learned since then about the best way to prevent and

treat hypertension

For example, he cites newly published findings on a class of medicines called thiazide-type diuretics, which have been around for years and are mexpensive A recently published study showed that these drugs are just as effective in lowering blood pressure and preventing heart attacks as more costly and newer drugs, and better than other drugs in preventing stroke and heart failure

"We now have good data comparing one treatment to another, and for almost all patients the thiazide diuretics turn out to be the best choice, Green says Other types of drugs, such as calcium channel blockers (CCBs) and angiotensin-converting enzyme (ACE) inhibitors, may be appropriate for other patients And evidence shows that many patients who need medication to control their blood pressure should take more than one medicine

Other recent findings show that the DASH diet, a sensible and easy-to-follow nutrition plan, can lower blood pressure For information, visit www.nhlbi.nih.gov/health/p ublic/heart/hbp/dash Perhaps most importantly, the guidelines note, doctors can prescribe all the effective treatments and lifestyle changes they can, but if patients aren't motivated to follow those prescriptions, they won t succeed in getting their blood pressure under control

How now, brown cow - bovine condominiums?

(AP) - A plan 1s in the works to build the West's largest cow town, a nearly 2,000-acre gated community in the Mojave Desert where 600 dairy farmers and their families would live alongside about 90,000 cattle

The plan being pursued by two successful California businessmen aims to reduce agricultural pollution in the town by turning manure into clean, renewable energy to run the cow complex, with some left over for sale to the electricity grid serving Southern California

Estimated cost of the project is $1 billion

'We re talking cow condos, a complete gated community, sharing all sorts of services It will be good for dairymen and a good way to dispose of anımal waste,' said Henry Orlosky, one of the developers of the proposed cow complex

Orlosky and partner William Buck Johns plan to seek permits for the dairy from San Bernardino County With strong backing from lawmakers and the dairy industry, the first of the cows

New Condominiums in Brighton's Prestigious Pine Creek Ridge

The complex would build 30 dairy farms from scratch with 3,000 cows each on a 1,920-acre former alfalfa field in the Mojave just north of Barstow

The cow condos would include paved floors and covered stalls, complete with solar panels on the roofs A plumbing system would continually flush each dairy like a giant toilet since cows can produce 100 pounds of excrement a day

Cow manure would be piped to a digester that would use bacteria to extract methane for fuel Using this process, a power plant in the cow town could generate 50 megawatts of electricity

The plant would be part of a giant energy complex that also would include a 550acre solar power station and a pair of 400-megawatt natural gas-fired turbines

While digesters aren't new, they have never been used before on such a large scale ın such a remote area

Some dairy farmers question feasibility of the proposal, while some environmentalists fear the cow complex wouldn't be as clean as Orlosky and Johns claim

'I'm not sure how excited the public is going to be on a threatened desert wetland when you have tens of thousands of dairy cows and the associated stench and flies," said Daniel Patterson, biologist for the Southwest Center for Biological Diversity

Even supporters concede putting 90,000 Holsteins in the midst of the desert is unusual

Nevertheless, the project is being propelled by two powerful political currents - the need to reduce agricultural pollution and the need to diversify and expand California's sources of electricity

Under a new state law, California is supposed to get 20 percent of its energy from renewable sources by 2017

Power demand statewide is growing by 2 percent annually, and the state Energy Commission recently granted dairy farmers $8 million to develop alternative sources of energy

In the San Joaquin Valley, emissions from livestock waste are emerging as one of the leading causes of air pollution in one of the smoggiest places in the nation

On the surface it seems crazy, but we have to start thinking outside the box," said Assemblywoman Barbara Matthews, who chairs the Assembly Agriculture Committee

Woodpecker pecks a peck of problems

(AP) - A persistent woodpecker was blamed for a power outage that recently left 6,400 homes and businesses without electricity in the Florida Panhandle community of Santa Rosa Beach

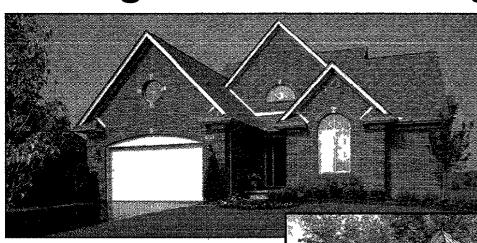

A wooden utility pole, apparently weakened by the bird's long-term hammering, fell over in a wind

The pole crashed taking along a Gulf Power Co trans mission line that carries cur rent to an electric cooperative substation about 65 miles east of Pensacola, said Kathy Morrow, spokeswoman for the cooperative

Gulf Power workers replaced the 115,000-volt line and power was restored to some of the cooperative customers affected by the blackout about four hours later Others were without electricity for nearly 10 hours, Morrow said

There was no sign of the sus pect woodpecker, she added

Voluntary water use rules don't work well, researchers say

(AP) - Voluntary watering restrictions are less effective than mandatory rules, say University of Colorado researchers

Doug Kenney, a researcher at the Natural Resources Law Center and Roberta Klein of the Center for Science and Technology Policy Research, studied the effectiveness of watering restrictions used last year by Front Range cities from Denver to Fort Collins

Water use dropped, by as much as 56 percent, when cities instituted mandatory restrictions, Kenney said 'But voluntary watering restrictions, by and large, aren't very helpful," he said

In Boulder and Thornton, in fact, total water use actually increased when those cities asked residents to conserve voluntarily

Recently, Boulder's City Council enacted voluntary restrictions, with city staff suggesting that could reduce water use by 10 percent over past years

Of six cities that used voluntary restrictions for at least a few weeks last summer, none came near to achieving a 10 percent reduction, according to the new report

Residents of Fort Collins and Westminster cut back by about 3 percent each, but Thornton's total use went up by 7 percent, and Boulder's was up by 2 percent in mid-May, before watering restrictions went mandatory, Kenney said

Communities here have gone to odd/even outdoor watering restrictions in recent summers when drought-like conditions materialized

Ned Williams, director of

utilities for the city of Boulder, said he thinks voluntary restrictions will result in more conservation this year because of increased awareness of this region's drought-prone environment

Moreover, city residents have cut back by more than 10 percent for periods of time in the past, he said In 1998, when a pipeline sprung a leak that disrupted the city's water supplies, Boulder residents cut back by more than 20 percent for several days

'And I think people do understand that if we do not meet our 10 percent goal, then we will be forced to move back into mandatory restrictions," Williams said

Kenney acknowledged that this year is different from last, and people now know, for example, that Kentucky bluegrass lawns don't need daily watering Overall, the new study showed that cities that go to twice-weekly watering schedules (Fort Collins, Boulder and Louisville, last year) can expect to reduce water consumption by about 30 percent

Prisoners assist Habitat for Humanity

(AP) – Almira Enriques knows little about the origin of her Habitat for Humanity home and doesn't seem to care that its walls were built by state prisoners

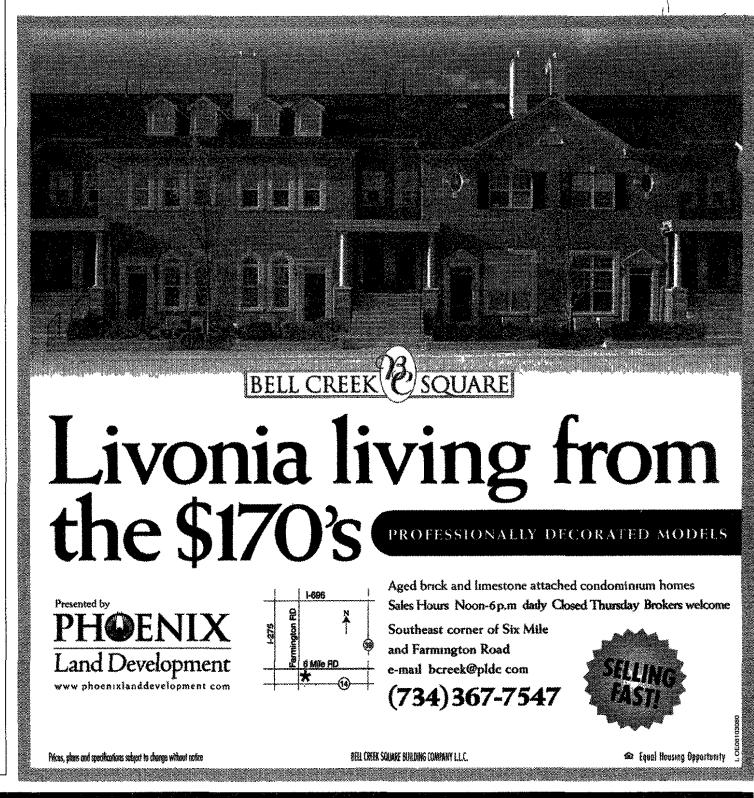

She's just anxiously awaiting the day she can call the home her own "It will be nice to have some room for the kids and a place for them to play at their own house,' said the Holland (Mich) Township woman who currently lives with her husband, children and relatives in a mobile home Habitat for Humanitys program to build homes for low-income families is wellknown Less well-known is a burgeoning relationship the organization has developed with the Michigan

Department of Corrections Mike Green, administrator for the correction department's Prison Build Program, said the vocational skills project has taken off since its birth in 1998 Inmates at 18 of the state's 42 prisons have helped build more than 400 homes since then

(*) D3

Besides wall panels, prisoners also build kitchen and bathroom cabinets, sheds and provide an area for horticulture staging, Green said

Eden looks compact, but has lots of space

Columns on the covered porch as well as the multiuse of exterior material on the Eden gives this home a truly unique facade Windows across the face as well as the use of windows in the garage door also spice up the look The Eden has 1,724 square feet of living area along with an unfinished basement of 1,724 square feet

Crossing the covered porch to the front door of the Eden brings guests into a rather isolated entryway There is a coat closet readily available to hang one's outerwear Following the hall to the left brings the guest past the stairs to the basement and into the family room Windows on the side and rear of the room provide a great amount of sunlight making the room light and cheery

Between the family room and the kitchen is the nook It has a door that opens onto a covered porch in the rear The kitchen has counters and cabinets that run along the right wall with an island in the middle containing the eating bar A corner walk-in pantry is incorporated into the counter area More counter and cabinets are mounted against the back of the stairs Just off the kitchen is the utility room that also opens into the two-car garage

The master bedroom is on the right side of the home opposite the other two bedrooms It has a 10foot coffered ceiling and large windows that overlook the backyard An elongated walk-in closet is on the left side of the master bath There are "his and her" sinks, with an oversized tub, a shower, a linen closet, and private stool area

The other two bedrooms are on the left front of the Eden and have long wall closets as well as large windows bathing the rooms in light Adjacent to bedroom 2 is a full bath with a tub and a conveniently located linen closet

The Eden gives the appearance of a compact home from the exterior, however, inside overflows with living space This home would be an ideal retirement home The bedrooms are separated and would be ideal for guests or kids returning to visit For a study plan including scaled floor plan(s) elevations section(s) and an artist render ing send $24 95 to Landmark Designs 33127 Saginaw Road E Cottage Grove OR 97424 Please specify plan name (EDEN) and the number (D8505) A catalog fea turing hundreds of home plans is available for $12 95 or save by ordering both for $29 95 For faster processing call (800) 562 1151 or visit www landmarkde signs com There is a large fireplace in the right front corner of the family room as well as an area that could be used for an entertainment center.

Look to your local contractors for any disaster repair jobs

(AP) - It doesn't take long for home builders and remodelers to surface after a disaster, but some builders are urging people to use caution when selecting a contractor

The emotions involved with losing a home, coupled with the abundance of contractors look ing for business, could cause some to make rash decisions about remodeling and rebuilding, said Jim McWhirter of before people who lost homes have new ones, partly because the construction industry in that metro area was taxed to begin with, McWhirter said

'People who tell you you'll be in a house in six months – they better beware he said McWhirter said people whose homes were destroyed or damaged need to be wary of doing business with anyone who doesn't have an established local repmove on to the next one," he said

He added that some reputable small-volume builders do work out of their homes

The Central Oklahoma Home Builders Association advises people to check credentials before hiring a builder or remodeler, said builder Daryl Campbell of Edmond's Alpha Homes and vice president of the association

He said that means membership in the builders association or in the National Contractors

Association The general number for the Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan is (248) 737-4477, the Better Business Bureau here, (248) 644-9100

'Beware of people from out of town Where are they going to be next week?' Campbell said A lot of people drift in for some quick money But its not just questionable builders and remodelers that prey on storm victims Questionable lenders pop up after a tornado, too, said Donald Hardin, administrator of the Oklahoma Department of Consumer Credit which tries to protect home buyers

Boating season is here now -- finally - and we live in a state where that matters More than 1 million Michigan residents own boats

So this week I wanted to venture off the regular path a bit and address a timely issue for car and truck owners who also own boats how to tow one properly

Towing a trailer or a boat isn't as easy as just installing a hitch. hooking it up, putting the car in drive and making it go Nope There's actually a lot to know before you trailer your boat or trailer - especially if it weighs more than 1 000 pounds

There are three basic things you'll need to know before you start 1 What is the total weight you plan to trailer? 2 Are there any safety requirements? 3 Do you need to drive any differently while towing?

There are several different types of hitches You need to know about those, too A small frame hitch can effectively tow anything up to 1,000 pounds

For large loads, you ll have to get a frame hitch or a weight-distributing hitch

A weight-distributing hitch is the best however, because it has stabilizing weights that distribute the weight of the trailer or boat evenly

Generally, the rule of thumb is that 60 percent of your load should be carried toward the front, the remaining in the back

The same holds true with the type of vehicle you have If you re towing less than 1,000 pounds, nearly any vehicle can do that -including a subcompact like the Dodge Neon

But once you pass that 1,000-pound marker, you re going to need a larger vehicle, and, depending on what you tow, a trailering package on that vehicle Trailering packages can be ordered when you order your car Generally, they include special equipment like a heavy-duty cooling system, engine oil cooler, different axle ratio and heavy-duty suspension components

On a truck, a trailering package can include a heavy hitch platform, wiring harness, heavy-duty shock absorbers, engine oil cooler and auxiliary transmission oil cooler

As you're getting ready to haul your boat, its a good time also to start paying better attention to your car's exterior The easiest way to preserve that original showroom look is to strip off all old wax, dirt and grime that's on it, giving the paint some luster

First, use a rubbing compound or commercial stripper found at most auto parts suppliers to remove existing dirt and grime After

that's been done, be sure to pick out a quality wax, paint sealant or paint protectant to put on your car Most brand names are a sure bet but take care to read all the instructions before doing the initial application But don't stop there

Walk around your car and look carefully for any paint chips or small dents that have caused the paint to be removed Take special care to inspect the front of your vehicle and in back of the wheel wells where road debris and stones could have chipped off small areas of paint

If those small chips aren't taken care of, next year those chips become rust spots You can get most colors of manufacturer paint selections at almost any auto parts store, but the best place to make sure its a perfect match to the manufacturers is to get it from your new car dealership A small investment in that little bottle of touch up paint and a httle bit of your time can prevent the headache of unwanted rust

Speaking of rust, inspect your car thoroughly for any spots of rust and get them repaired as soon as possible Small rust spots turn into large rust spots in a matter of months during inclement weath er, even during spring rainstorms and summer thundershowers

Don't ignore other non-paint surfaces of your car, either Get a good chrome cleaner and polish and apply it liberally to every piece of chrome on your vehicle If you have mag wheels, be sure to purchase a sealer to prevent any minute rust that may have formed during the winter

The interior of your vehicle should also get some heavy-duty attention Clean all upholstery and carpeting by vacuuming it thor oughly, then wash it. Purchase either a can of carpet/upholstery shampoo or rent a carpet machine to clean the interior Use the small upholstery attachment to get into the smaller areas of your vehicle

When cleaning with a carpet machine, don't ignore the headlin-

er especially if you or your passengers smoke in your vehicle Not only does the thorough cleaning restore a fresh, clean smell to your car it also lays the proper groundwork for application of a fabric protectant or sealer Professional application of Scotchgard treatment should also be considered Most auto dealers and reputable car wash establishments charge between $35 and $75 for professional Scotchgard treatment

Of course, the smartest investment anyone can make is a decent set of floor mats - for both the front and rear floors of your vehicle. Nobody wants to lug a vacuum cleaner or carpet machine out on a regular basis and it's much easier to pick up the floor mats and vac uum or clean them inside the house The easiest, quickest and least expensive way to protect your cars exterior, however, is to wash it often

If you wash your car at home, be sure to always work in the shade When soap dries on a vehicles paint surface, its not only harder to remove but also causes spotting and streaking Be sure to pay special attention to the inside of the wheel wells, where rusting often begins If you can take your vehicle to a coin operated spray wash at least once a month, using the pressure wash to clean all slush and snow out of the wheel wells

Avoid any automatic car washes with bristle brushes, which tend to scratch and damage your paint Brushless, or cloth style car washes, are more gentle to the paint surface and tend to clean your car better

That $3 or $4 investment every week to clean the mud and dirt off your car pays off in the long run because it ll be easier to sell your vehicle further down the road First impressions usually sell a prospective buyer Taking care of the exterior of your car will pay you a dividend when you sell it
