PIPELINE Swearings-in

$1.00

The Plymouth area's new representatives in Lansing will be sworn in locally in separate public ceremonies.

Patrick Colbeck of Canton Township, the new Republican state senator in the 7th District, will be sworn in Monday during a 7 p.m. ceremony at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer, Plymouth. Michigan Supreme Court Justice Robert Young will administer the oath of office and address the crowd. Refreshments will be served.

Plymouth Township's Kurt Heise, a Republican newly elected to the Michigan House of Representatives in the 20th District, will be sworn in at 7 p.m. Monday, Jan. 11, at Plymouth Township Hall before the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees meeting. Judge Ronald Lowe of the 35th District Court will administer the oath of office, and refreshments will be served.

Colbeck, an aerospace engineer and independent management consultant, succeeds Republican Bruce Patterson, also of Canton, who was barred by term limits from seeking re-election.

Heise, an attorney and the former director of the Wayne County Department of Environment, succeeds Democrat Marc Corriveau of Northville, who did not seek re-election after two terms in Red Kettle drive ends, but need doesn't

BY MATT JACHMAN OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Salvation Army's Red Kettle drive in the Plymouth area ended Tuesday, but the service organization is still accepting Christmas contributions through the end of January.

As of Dec. 23, the Plymouth Corps of the Salvation Army had raised more than $269,000 during its holiday fund-raiser, the biggest of the year, officials at the Plymouth Corps say. That included nearly $188,000 brought in through the Red Kettle drive, which featured hundreds of bell-ringing volunteers at downtown Plymouth businesses and area strip malls.

The overall total represented more than 85 percent of the seasonal goal of $315,000.

The Plymouth Corps' holiday fundraising effort helps pay for year-round Salvation Army programs, from summer day camp to the Corps' preschool to the emergency food pantry to financial assistance, like emergency utility payments, for those in need. The Plymouth Corps serves Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township, Northville and Belleville.

As of Dec. 17, the Red Kettle drive was only halfway to its goal of $225,000. Slated to end on Christmas Eve, the campaign was extended through Tuesday.

Meanwhile, the Plymouth Corps has been brightening the holidays for hundreds of financially struggling families.

Some 520 families received food, toys and gifts, while some 1,178 children were given winter clothing, toys and stocking-stuffers through the generosity of area donors, according to a Plymouth Corps press release. In addition, many adults without children, including senior citizens, were given the makings of a Christmas dinner, including a turkey or ham.

The Plymouth Corps will be accepting donations to its overall holiday fund-raiser through Monday, Jan. 31. Donations can be dropped off at, or mailed to, the Plymouth Corps headquarters, 9451 S. Main St., Plymouth, MI 48170.

It's break time. Before long, the halls of North Farmington High School fill with laughter as members of the Metropolitan Youth Symphony rush to the snack area.

Welcome to Saturday morning rehearsal where students have the opportunity to play with the Junior Strings or advance ensembles including the String, Concert and Symphony orchestras.

The MYS program is designed to complement school music programs and provides rehearsal as well as performance opportunities. Now in its 28th season, MYS draws 212 students from nearly four dozen metro Detroit communities including Redford, Livonia, the state House.

Colbeck to committees

Colbeck will chair the Senate appropriations subcommittee on state police and military affairs during his first term, which officially began Saturday.

He has also been appointed by Randy Richardville, the new Senate majority leader, as vice chairman of the Senate Reforms, Restructuring and Reinventing Committee.

"The Senate appropriations subcommittee plays an important role in supporting our state police, military and veterans, and I am honored to serve as committee chair," Colbeck said in a press release.

Colbeck said he was also pleased with his appointment as vice chairman of the Senate Reforms, Restructuring and Reinventing Committee, given that one of his key messages in the 2010 campaign was a call for a leaner, more efficient government.

Colbeck was also named vice chairman of the Senate appropriations subcommittee on transportation.

Holiday hours

Plymouth City Hall will reopen at 8 a.m. Monday after the New Year's holiday. In Plymouth Township, Township Hall will remain closed for the holiday on Monday and will reopen at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 4. In both communities, Christmas trees will be picked up at the curb during this

WHY THEY JOIN

Students join for a variety of reasons. Kiana Spiller is home schooled so MYS is the only opportunity the 11year-old Redford girl has to perform viola with orchestra.

Olivia Qui attends Livonia's Coolidge Elementary where there is no string program. Qui plays violin with the Junior Strings.

"They help me a lot," said Qui. "I like playing the music and they're helping me."

Yunseo Cho enjoys the camaraderie of the other student musicians. The Canton girl plays cello.

"I get to see my friends, make new friends and I like the doughnuts. They're awesome," said Cho, $9\frac{1}{2}$.

Many of the students study privately as well as play in school bands and orchestras. Chrissy Hart, 12, also plays cello with the East Middle School Orchestra in Farmington Hills. She picked up her first violin at age 3.

Claire Petrak never had the opportunity to play music in school and applauds MYS for providing an ensemble experience for student musicians. She signed up her daughter, Victoria, with MYS in seventh grade. Today, the 15-year-old North Farmington sophomore still enjoys rehearsing and performing. She told her mom it makes her "so happy to come here every Saturday."

Ficano stock rising in Democratic Party

BY PAT MURPHY OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

In a recent interview, Wayne County Executive Robert Ficano was asked if he might be considered Michigan's foremost Democrat.

It probably wasn't the first time he thought of himself in that context, but Ficano chuckled. "I'm just the last Democrat standing," he said.

In November when many Democrats were taking a shellacking, Ficano easily won reelection as the leader of Michigan's largest county — and 11th largest in the U.S. — with almost two million people and an annual budget of $2.1 billion. As the GOP was trouncing or scaring other entrenched Democrats, Ficano pulled 75 percent of the votes cast. Other stalwarts were mentioned, including Virg Bernero, remains a force although he lost decidedly in his bid for governor. So is outgoing Gov. Jennifer Granholm, along with Michigan's representatives in Congress, particularly Sens. Carl Levin and Debbie Stabenow and U.S. Reps. John Dingell and Gary Peters.

"I'm not sure there is one top Democrat," said Bill Ballenger, publisher of Inside Michigan Politics. Depending on who is asked, he said, picking the state's top Democrat is a matter of opinion, and answers will vary — particularly in the context of someone who might run for governor in four years or can rebuild the party before the 2012 presidential election.

QUALITY EXPERIENCE

"I felt I missed out," said Claire Petrak, MYS president and one of its biggest supporters. "After seeing the first concert I was hooked as to what these kids could do. We had five auditions this morning. First and foremost, MYS is quality, but there's a maturity issue as well. If they're not ready socially they're not ready to make friends and communicate to be able to play music together."

Julian Mueller wanted to play with MYS after his sister joined.

"I like playing with other groups of people. I think it's nice so I do it," said Mueller, 7, of Farmington Hills.

John Robertson loved playing with MYS so much he's back as conductor of the Symphony Orchestra after playing with MYS from 1987 to 1991. He earned a master's degree in orchestral conducting from Oakland University and is director of Orchestras for Berkley High School and Norup International School. He also is conductor of the Royal Oak Symphony.

"MYS was largely responsible for making me want to pursue a career in music, gave me the love of playing, the first taste of playing in an orchestra," said Robertson of Madison Heights. "It combines a high level of instruction with a warm student environment. I want to provide that for other students and I love the environment of meeting other people interested in music."

PROFESSIONAL CONDUCTORS

The conductors are all professional musicians. Their experience adds another dimension to teaching students how to play with an ensemble. Victoria Haltom conducts the String Orchestra. She was concertmaster with the Livonia Symphony Orchestra in the 1990s and held the positions with the Michigan Opera Theater Orchestra and as director in the Berkley Schools and Lahser High School in Bloomfield Hills. She regularly performs with the Birmingham-Bloomfield Symphony Orchestra and LaCorda Ensemble.

ductor for the newly formed Junior Strings in January 2009. The group is a steppingstone for children ages 7-13. She plays with MOT and is principal viola with the Ann Arbor Symphony.

"I was the kid who would have fallen through the cracks if music hadn't been offered free in Ann Arbor Schools," said Grimes of Ypsilanti. "Being a professional musician adds a real world perspective."

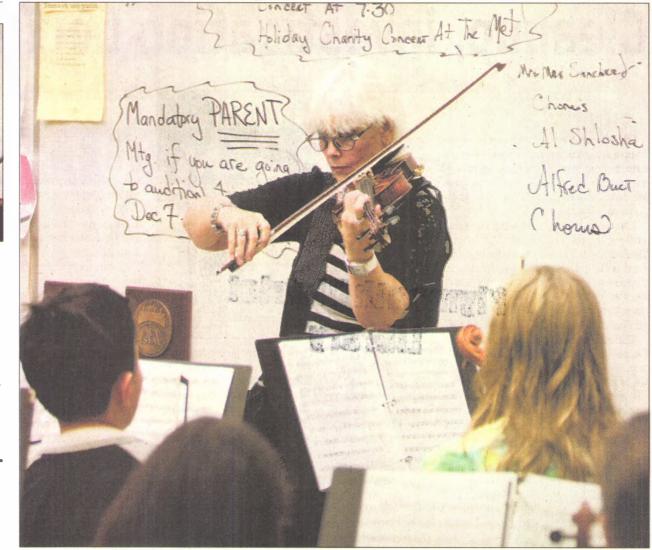

Carly Burke, 16, plays tennis at North Farmington High School. Not all of the students plan to pursue careers in music. Burke wants to go to medical school.

"I will continue to play for the rest of my life," said Burke, a violist, "but I always wanted to be a doctor, love science and like to help people."

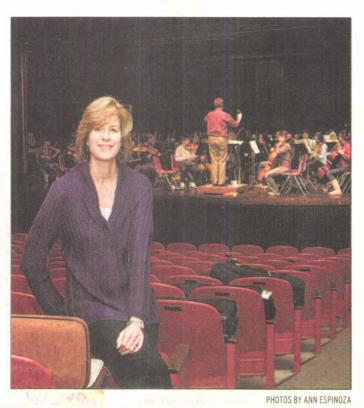

Debbie Tylenda believes the orchestra experience helped her sons excel in math and science. She's one of the volunteer parents who make the nonprofit MYS successful.

"It's a great organization," said Carol Poirier of Farmington Hills. "Other organizations will have college students to play principals. If outside sources are used to fill a position, they sit last chair and only as needed are professionals brought in."

The next concert is Sunday, Feb. 6, at the Ford Community & Performing Arts Center. For more information, visit www.metropolitanyouthsymphony.org.

Cleanup, investigation begin at explosion site

OCAL NEWS

BY LEANNE ROGERS OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The city of Wayne continues to recover from the explosion that rocked the community Wednesday morning, as crews begin to clean up and investigate the cause of the deadly blast at the William C. Franks Furniture Store.

The effort begins, following the searchand-rescue outcome no one had hoped for Wednesday night when two store employees were pulled, deceased, from the debris.

One employee, secretary Leslie Machniak, 54, was found at about 10:45 p.m., more than 12 hours after the Wayne store exploded due to a suspected natural gas leak.

The other employee, salesman James Zell, 64, also of Westland, was recovered about 7 p.m. Wednesday. Store owner Paul Franks, 64, is listed in critical condition at the University of Michigan Hospital's burn unit, according to Shantell Kirkendoll, spokeswoman. He was pulled from the debris shortly after the explosion.

The two employees were found trapped under debris from the collapsed building, said Wayne Fire Chief Mel Moore. At the time of the explosion, Moore said that Franks was at rear of the store, which was why he was found much sooner.

CLEANUP, INVESTIGATION

Now that the victims have been recovered, Moore said the investigation and cleanup will be getting under way. On Thursday morning, only Wayne Road remained closed to traffic. The side streets of Ash, Elm and Chestnut are open to residential traffic only. Glenwood is reopened to through traffic.

"We hope the roadway will be cleared up

Nearby businesses were damaged by the explosion at the William C. Franks Furniture store. Police helped secure the buildings until the windows could be boarded up Wednesday night and Thursday.

this afternoon. The debris is very heavy, which contributed to the difficulty in locating the victims," said Moore. "Everything on the scene has been mitigated except for the cleanup."

The two employees were recovered by members of the Urban Search and Rescue Teams which worked into the night, often removing debris brick by brick.

Police officers provided security near the blast area to allow the firefighters to continue their work, but also to secure nearby businesses damaged by the explosion. It was expected that business owners would be allowed to return to their facilities Thursday afternoon.

Residents of nine homes — all located on Ash, Elm and Chestnut — stayed at a hotel last night but were expected to return home Thursday, accompanied by Consumers Energy employees.

The cause of the explosion is being investigated by Consumers Energy with assistance from local, state and federal agencies. Spokeswoman Debra Dodd said the investigation could take weeks or months to complete. A temporary repair has been made to a 2-inch gas line at the rear of the building and the permanent repair will begin in the days to come.

Consumers Energy was in the area hours before the explosion, on reports of the smell of natural gas, but Dodd could not confirm the incidents were related to the blast.

"We can't speculate," she said. "We've got to be able to do our investigation first. The timing was just very, very unfortunate."

COORDINATED RESPONSE

Wayne Mayor Al Haidous thanked the 30 responding agencies.

"I can't thank (enough) the men and women who rushed to our help," he said. "It showed that public safety in our region is well trained and well equipped."

He also thanked the Salvation Army for its assistance and those who provided food throughout the day.

Moore said the entire response went well. "We appreciate all of the help from all of the communities," he said. "Everything went as well as could be expected."

The City of Wayne declared a state of emergency, in hopes of recouping yet known costs of the response, recovery and investigation which involved agencies from Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw counties.

Staff writer Stacy Jenkins contributed to this report.

Wayne Rotary: 'If you need anything, call us'

Don Nicholson, of Westland, president of Wayne Rotary, was on the scene Wednesday morning shortly after the explosion.

[°]He's a wonderful person in our community," Nicholson said of store owner Paul Franks, who remains hospitalized at the University of Michigan Hospital.

Nicholson put the word out through Wayne Rotary: "Let's find out what they need. We want to be there for them."

"It's horrible," he said of the tragedy, in which two employees died in the blast.

"This could have happened the Saturday before Thanksgiving, when there were 100 kids waiting for Santa," he said. The club holds its annual Christmas Parade that day and passes the intersection where the explosion occurred.

"It could have been a whole lot worse," Nicholson said. Nicholson lives on Farragut in Westland, not too far from the site.

"They sent everybody down our road and our road was solid ice," said Nicholson. He salted part of it to help.

"Wayne does pull together," he said. "I'm sure that the family's getting phone call, after phone call, after phone call." Rotarians went to the Wayne Community Center

Wednesday and found there were already many volunteers. Nicholson was interviewed by CNN mid-afternoon

Wednesday, and his photos appeared on CNN and Fox. He talked to John Zech, outgoing Wayne city manager, and Bob English, the incoming city manager, to let them know the club can help. Wayne Mayor Al Haidous is also a Wayne Rotarian who can help.

"If you need anything, call us," was Nicholson's message. "We'll rally the troops."

ANNUAL HOLIDAY DINNER PRESENTED BY FOUR SEASONS ATTENDED BY 230 GUESTS

Families socialized as they waited to enter the Four Seasons dining room where tables were covered with festive green and red tablecloths. "It's a good idea," said Ronald Bellanger whose mother, Christine, is a resident. "It gives her something to look forward to and she gets to see her family."

L to R: Bob Anderson, June Daly, Bob Anderson Jr., Cheril Hartman, Debra Anderson, Jim Hartman, Derek Anderson, Janis Boyless; seated front: Barbara Anderson, Four Seasons resident This was the first time Carol and Clifford Gannaway of Canton joined Habard Gavin, a seven month resident. "It's great they do something for the residents so they aren't feeling lonely," said Carol Gannaway.

"It's nice to see everybody together and happy to see everyone," said Nancy Boland, Livonia. Boland came with husband Charles to see his Uncle Jerry.

"It's clean. It's great," said Bea Colling of Westland who's happy with her mother's care. Rose Butcher, a Four Seasons resident for two years, celebrated her 100th birthday in September at Four Seasons. "The staff all brought food. We brought food. We had more food than a wedding," said Colling. "Their meals are so good even during the week. The name's Four Seasons, but it should be Four Stars."

"It's great. It's fun," said Pat Lyden, Four Seasons' Administrator and an RN. "It's an opportunity for families and residents to be together for the holidays."

Quality Care Provided with Dignity and Compassion by Outstanding Staff Charlyce Walsh began coming to the dinner a couple of years ago with her husband's mother, Isabel and sister, Kathy. The three traveled from Richmond and Port Huron for the occasion. "They really go all out and do a good job," said Isabel Walsh.

"We were very blessed to find Four Seasons for Danny six years ago," said Charlyce Walsh. "If you pass someone in the hall, they always say, 'Hi'. The new owner is wonderful. In summer they had a picnic that was excellent."

Local leaders hope smoke clears on medical marijuana law in 2011

BY STACY JENKINS OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

If there's one thing for certain, the state's medical marijuana law — and how local communities are dealing with it — remains cloudy.

Local ordinances have been changed to prohibit medical marijuana operations such as growing facilities, distribution centers and compassion clubs. Other communities have adopted a moratorium (a freeze) on all medical marijuana issues until things are clarified.

Several communities are going with the federal law that bans the use of marijuana, medical or otherwise, because it is a controlled substance.

"The law is a total mess," said Bloomfield Township attorney William Hampton. "The Legislature must do something about this. It's such a poorly written law."

It's an issue that needs to be worked out between local municipalities, counties and the state legislature in 2011, said state Rep. Vicki Barnett, D-Farmington Hills.

She said there has been some talk among Oakland County officials and a bipartisan group of Oakland County state legislators, but nothing has been ironed out to clarify the law or the wishes of the voters. She hopes to see the issue addressed in 2011.

Voters in Michigan approved the Michigan Medical Marihuana Act with a 63 percent vote, including majority support in 83 counties statewide. The law went into effect on April 6, 2009, at which time patients could start applying for identity cards from the state health department. The cards are supposed to prevent people from being arrested for using medical marijuana.

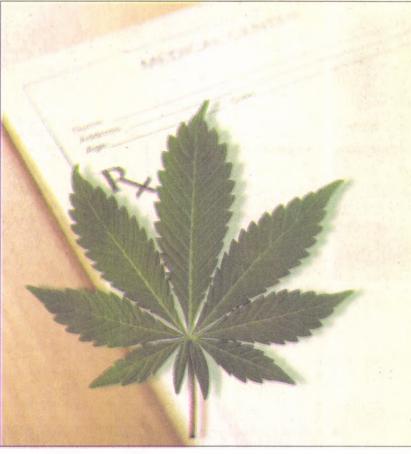

RAIDS, ARRESTS

Medical marijuana cards were irrelevant in August 2010, when police raided a medical marijuana facility in Ferndale and arrested several people.

The incident prompted a recent protest rally, in which about 90 medical marijuana supporters arrived in three buses from cities across the state.

LAWSUITS

The American Civil Liberties Union of Michigan filed a lawsuit in November, against the cities of Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and Livonia on behalf of Linda and Robert Lott of Birmingham.

The couple wants to grow marijuana in a Livonia warehouse and they want to be able to smoke it without trouble at their home and at a Bloomfield Hills private social club. Local ordinances in the three communities do not allow it.

Linda, 61, suffers from multiple sclerosis. Robert, 61, was recently diagnosed with glaucoma. Both husband and wife possess state-certified cards qualifying them as medical marijuana patients.

"When Michigan voters passed the medical marijuana ballot initiative, I was relieved," said Linda Lott in a previous statement. "My doctor and I knew that it would help me fight the muscle spasms and painful symptoms of multiple sclerosis. What we didn't realize is that it would be temporary. Instead of relief, I now live in fear that I could be arrested by local officials for following state law."

The lawsuit asks that the city ordinances be declared invalid and unenforceable against medical marijuana patients and caregivers who comply with the state law. "In a democracy, city commissions do not have the power to veto statewide ballot initiatives after they have been approved by the voters and enacted into law," said Kary L. Moss, ACLU of Michigan executive director.

In December, the Law Offices of Thomas M. Loeb of Farmington Hills, and Neil Rockind, P.C. of Southfield, filed a joint lawsuit in Oakland County Circuit Court against Bloomfield Township for itsmedical marijuana ordinance passed in October.

According to the complaint, one of the ordinances requires qualifying patients and caregivers to register with the Bloomfield Township Police Department and provide protected and confidential information, including their name, home address, driver's license number and date of birth.

Rockind said he intends to keep the two clients anonymous.

"That's the whole point," he said. "They shouldn't have to provide their identity just because they're trying to follow state law. We're going to do everything to make sure their right to privacy is protected."

FLAWED LAW

Livonia City Attorney Don Knapp highlighted the law's shortcomings.

"I don't know of any prescribed medication where the patient is allowed to determine the dosage," Knapp said. "You get a physician's certification, which is not a prescription. I think that people like to think it's a prescription, but it's not."

Knapp said there are no provisions regulating the grade of marijuana, whether it is Mexican ditch weed or something that is 30 percent THC.

"There's no regulation on any of it," Knapp said.

Knapp tells the story of case of a man in his early 20s who was ticketed last year for possession of marijuana and paraphernalia. After he had received the citation, the defendant went and received a physician's certificate from Dr. Eric Eisenbud, who is highlighted by The Hemp and Cannabis Foundation in assisting medical marijuana patients.

Knapp said the defendant made an appointment with Eisenbud after he was ticketed, then presented the certificate to the court, indicating he received the certificate for chronic neck and back pain. Eisenbud is listed as an ophthalmologist.

"He travels the circuit," Knapp said of Eisenbud, going from state to state and operating out of various offices. Still the defendant was found guilty.

"Just because you have a Michigan Marijuana card doesn't mean you have a 'get out of jail free' card," Knapp said.

ZONING ISSUE

While the state's medical marijuana law allows for the sale, use and distribution of medical marijuana for qualified people, it's up to each municipality to decide where those activities are allowed.

That's where zoning ordinance amendments and moratoriums are taking place in communities such as Milford, Milford Township.

"We're still in the planning mode," said Don Green, Milford Township supervisor. "What fits best for us? That's the question."

In Milford Village, the moratorium has been extended.

The Plymouth City Commission recently passed an amendment to the city's zoning ordinances that prohibits property from being zoned for a use that would be in violation of federal law. A technicality, Mayor Dan Dwyer admits, but one that prevents anyone from formally opening a dispensary or marijuana-growing operation in the city.

Al Cox, Plymouth's police chief, said he's aware of activity at Dr. Ernest Mullen's office, the only medical marijuana office in Plymouth. However, Cox said, as far as he knows, nothing illegal is taking place.

"It's not a dispensary, he's just providing the recommendation. It's not a prescription," Cox said. "To sell or buy the marijuana — that's the violation."

In Farmington Hills, a moratorium was in place until recent city council action on a zoning ordinance amendment that prohibits land use that's in violation of local, state or federal law.

Farmington Hills City Councilman Barry Brickner said he wanted to make sure the local ordinance didn't go against the state initiative.

"I don't want to establish dispensaries, compassion clubs or have people selling it on the street corners ... I want us to follow the state initiative that says one person can grow up to 12 plants in their home," he said.

In Garden City, a growing operation was approved for a warehouse facility and a second growing facility is on its way to approval. Special land use has been approved for a medical marijuana growing facility in an industrial building near Ford Road and Venoy.

LOBBY CONGRESS

Farmington Hills Councilman Ken Massey said the issue was a topic at a recent National League of Cities meeting.

"This is not just affecting the city of Farmington Hills or the citizens of Michigan," he said. "There are a number of states (dealing with this issue). The federal government has to resolve the conflict (and interpretation). It was unanimously support by the NLC delegates that we need to lobby Congress for this and that maybe we need to revisit the federal law."

Little Stars brighten seniors' holidays

Residents at two nursing homes in Westland were treated to a concert when musicians as part of The Little Stars Foundation's holiday performance season.

The musicians performed at Hope Nursing Center in Westland to more than 50 senior residents on Dec. 12, while residents at Four Season Nursing Center in Westland had a chance to enjoy a TLSF Christmas concert on Dec. 18.

This is the fifth consecutive year TLSF has toured nursing homes and senior centers, playing Christmas carols on their violins and passing out Christmas presents to residents.

This year, the foundation purchased 120 teddy bears, 50 snowman picture frames and 100 stockings to give to seniors at the nursing homes as Christmas presents. They raised more than $2,000 from birthday parties and from Borders Book Store Holiday Book Wrapping to pay for the gifts.

TLSF also performed holiday music at Waltonwood at Cherry Hill and Waltonwood at Carriage Park, both in Canton.

The Little Stars Foundation is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization started in 2006 by Amy Sun and her siblings Alan and Anna of Canton. The foundation consists of members ages 5-16 from Canton, Novi, Livonia, Farmington Hills and Westland, and currently has 25 active members. While they play music and spread joy primarily over the holidays, they also perform for local seniors periodically throughout the year.

Co-op Services Credit Union employee Bryan Feldpausch and the Project 100 team surprises its 50th recipient, Jane Collins of Livonia, with a crisp $100 bill in downtown Detroit. The team has given away $5,000 throughout southeast Michigan this year.

Local woman gets cash surprise

Project 100 hit the halfway point when it gave away its 50th $100 bill to a lucky Jane Collins of Livonia in downtown Detroit Dec. 16.

Created by Co-op Services Credit Union to encourage giving in local communities, the Project 100 team has been randomly handing out $100 bills to recipients all over southeast Michigan with one request: to think about what they can do to give in their community.

"I am so excited. This is a great program!" said a surprised Collins when the Project 100 team handed over a crisp $100 bill. "I love what this program is doing for our area. What a wonderful idea."

"We're amazed to meet so many people who are excited about the concept of giving," said Lisa Fawcett, Marketing Director for Co-op Services Credit Union. "When the team met Jane, she was a bit overwhelmed, but she quickly listed off several ideas about what she might do with the money including possibly giving to local charities." Collins marked Project 100's 50th recipient and the halfway point in the project. So far, Project 100 has delivered $5,000 in $100 bills to residents throughout the Southeast Michigan area with only one request; to think about what you can do to give in your community.

'We love receiving enthusiastic responses like Jane's," says Fawcett. "Because it shows us that people are excited and continuing the giving in their communities, which is exactly what we are all about."

Conceived by Co-op Services Credit Union in 2009, Project 100 is well into its second year as a community initiative designed to encourage giving in southeast Michigan. The team will continue handing out $100 bills until it reaches its goal of $10,000.

Understand implications of Tax Relief Act

Q: Dear Rick: I read that the Bush era tax cuts have been extended for another two years. My understanding is that tax brackets, no matter what your income, will be kept the same. Is that true? In addition, can you tell me if I will be able to make a tax-free distribution from my IRA to a charity? I am over 701/2.

A: You are correct. A couple weeks ago, President Barack Obama did sign new legislation which extends the Bush era tax cuts for another two years. From the standpoint of ordinary income, the brackets will remain at 10, 15, 25, 28, 33 and 35 percent. These rates are scheduled to remain in effect through 2012.

In addition, the capital gain rate and the dividend rate, which are currently taxed at a maximum of 15 percent, have also been extended for another two years.

The 2010 Tax Relief Act also extends, for a two-year period, the ability of an individual taxpayer, who is over the age of 70½ and is required to make a minimum required distribution, to make a tax-free distribution to a charity. The maximum tax-free distribution that is available is $100,000. What is interesting about this new tax law provision is that it is valid in 2010 and 2011. The problem is that by the time the law was passed it was too from an IRA to a charity made in January of 2011 to count as if it was made in 2010. This does create a planning opportunity for many taxpayers. However, to take advantage of this provision you probably want to discuss it with a tax representative.

distribution

There are lots of other changes to the new tax law that will provide some tax benefits. For example, the 3 percent itemized deduction limitation, which had the effect of reducing deductions for many taxpayers, has been eliminated. In addition, the $1,000 child tax credit, which was set to expire, has been extended for another two years.

Whether you were for the new legislation or against it, at this point in time it really doesn't matter. The bottom line is that it is the law so take advantage of the changes.

I was listening to a TV commentator discuss the tax law changes. His basic observation was that for the next two years it's good news that we will have some certainty as to what the tax law will be. Although I would like to believe that we will not have any tax changes over the next two years, I do not believe that's realistic. When it comes to taxes, it seems that we're in a phase where every year something changes. As taxpayers, we have an obligation to ourselves to stav current. After all we don't want to be in the position of paying unnecessary taxes.

When I first got involved in this business, talk about longterm tax planning was referring to five-seven years down the road. Today, long-term tax planning at six months seems like a long time. That is one of the reasons I am very cautious about recommending any investment just for tax reasons. After all, who knows what will happen regarding taxes in two years when the Bush era tax cuts expire again. Bottom line is never do anything for tax reasons alone.

As we enter the New Year I want to take this opportunity to wish you and yours the best in 2011.

Good luck!

Forum on Sikh religion follows school ban on kirpan

In hopes of educating the community about the Sikh religion and its customs, Plymouth-Canton Citizens for Diversity and Inclusion will sponsor a public forum 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 6, at St. Thomas a'Beckett Catholic Church, 555. S. Lilley Road, south of Cherry Hill, in Canton.

The forum comes after Plymouth-Canton Community Schools banned the kirpan, a non-violent religious symbol that resembles a dagger, from school property after a Bentley Elementary fourth-grader was found wearing a blunt-edged object to school in December.

Anne Marie Graham-Hudak, who chairs PCCDI, said the forum is intended to educate residents about Sikhism and to push back against misconceptions that have arisen following the incident.

"We are concerned about this being turned from a school policy to an attack on a community, and that's what we want to avoid," she said. "We want to show how Sikhs have contributed to the community and explain more about their culture and customs."

Under their religion, baptized Sikhs often wear the kirpan to represent a commitment to peace and to symbolize the defense of the weak. It is not meant as a weapon for violence.

The Jan. 6 forum is expected to include representation from Sikh gurdwaras, or places of worship, in Canton and Plymouth.

Canton Township Facebook fraud

A woman told Canton police in late December that someone created a Facebook account in her name, put her picture on it, made claims she was starting a business and provided links to pornographic Web sites, according to a police report.

The woman said she was notified of the Facebook account by family and friends who had seen it.

The woman told authorities she and her husband have been going through a divorce. She asked police to investigate. She told police she had never created a Facebook account.

Suspicious pair

Canton police made two arrests after an officer on patrol saw two suspicious people on Northwind, southwest of Cherry Hill and I-275, around 4:30 a.m. Dec. 22.

An officer saw a woman in the driver's seat of a Ford Taurus and noticed a man who was lying down in the passenger seat. The two got out of the car when they saw the police car and said they had just returned from Meijer.

Police ran a background check and learned the woman was wanted on a dangerous drugs warrant out of Wayne and for a traffic offense in Westland. They turned her over to Wayne police.

Canton police turned the man over to Monroe County authorities after learning he was wanted there for a larceny warrant.

Suspicious men

A Canton woman told police she walked out of her home shortly after 8 p.m. Dec. 24 and saw two men between two cars parked in her driveway in the 1700 block of Woodstock, northeast of Palmer and Lilley.

The suspicious men apparently were scared off when they saw the woman, and they ran from the location.

The woman told police the passenger door of her 2001 Honda Accord was ajar but she didn't notice anything missing.

Farmington Hills Larceny

A Farmington Hills woman reported someone stole clothing, Christmas gifts, two iPods, a laptop computer, a GPS unit, three suitcases, dishes, jewelry, a coat and shoes from her vehicle during the night of Dec. 20 while it was parked on the 20000 block of Colwell Street. She had just returned from a road trip and she told police she may have left her vehicle unlocked over night.

Home invasion

A resident on the 29000 block of Shiawassee reported returning home the night of Dec. 23 to find someone had broken in and stole his TV from the wall in his front room. The front door had been forced open. Nothing else was reported missing from the home.

Redford Township Car hits pole

Redford Township police continued to investigate a crash that occurred after a truck twice rammed a vehicle causing it into a utility pole and injuring the two female occupants.

The crash occurred about 11:30 p.m. Monday, when a vehicle traveling north on Beech Daly, south of Plymouth Road, was rammed from behind by an orange truck, according to police.

The driver told police she sped up to elude the truck. But after pulling into a gas station, the truck continued to follow.

A passenger in the vehicle told police the female driver of the truck was a one-time friend, "but they no longer get along."

HEARING

A burglary attempt was foiled early Tuesday when the garage alarm sounded, police said.

The owner of a house in the 17300 block of Five Points told police the alarm sounded about 4 a.m., and he saw a man running from the garage. The suspect apparently fled in a white, four-door Buick or Oldsmobile. Entry was gained, police said, by breaking the garage door. Nothing was reported missing.

Plymouth Township Theft from pickup

A radar detector was reported stolen Monday from the cab of a Ford F-350 pickup truck that was parked outside a house on Risman Drive in the township, a police report said. In addition, the cloth cover on the pickup's bed had been slashed.

The incident occurred between 11 p.m. Sunday and just before 10 a.m. Monday, a police report said. The victim told police he had locked the truck.

Garage break-in

Nothing was reported missing from the garage at a house on Ivywood Lane in the township after a daytime break-in on Dec. 22.

A door to the attached garage had been forced open, a police report said, its frame splintered and its deadbolt lock broken. It did not appear that an attempt to break into the house had been made, police said.

The garage break-in occurred between 7:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Dec. 22.

Livonia Woman arrested on Christmas Eve

A 38-year-old Livonia woman was arrested on a disorderly person charge after she argued with relatives and police officers Christmas Eve. Police arrived to a home on Gary Lane after receiving a call about a disagreement often pretend to understand what people say. Even when my surroundings are quiet, it can be hard to between relatives. Police spoke with a woman who said she was involved in an argument with her mother. Police noticed that she had been drinking. Officers told her that she was not welcome at her mother's home that evening due to her condition. The woman was angry and upset that her children were staying with their grandmother.

Officers tried to talk her into staying with a friend. A friend had agreed, but then as one of the officers was returning to his vehicle, the women walked down the middle of the street after him instead of remaining with the friend. She began to raise her voice again, then ran behind a home. Police then arrested her for disorderly conduct.

Restaurant break-in

A burglar or burglars broke into Zorritos, 32030 Plymouth Road, some time during the evening of Dec. 21 or early Dec. 22 and stole two cases of liquor and removed cash from a register. The managers told police that the back door had been locked the night before, but when one of the managers arrived on Dec. 22 he found that the metal door frame had been pried open on one of the doors. Police were continuing an investigation into the burglary.

Home invasion

A home on the 19000 block of Pollyanna was hit by a burglar who made off with two jewelry boxes.

Livonia police were called shortly before noon Dec. 22 by someone who heard a noise, and looked to see a pickup truck parked in the driveway of a home on Pollyanna. The witness saw a man carrying a pillow case get into a black Ford F-150 with a loud exhaust. The driver of the truck pulled out of the driveway and drove away. Police arrived, and the homeowner was contacted. A door had been kicked in and someone rummaged through a dresser and jewelry box drawers. Two jewelry boxes were missing from the home.

The suspect was described as a white male, about 5-foot-8, in his early 20s, medium build, short dark brown hair and a dark waist-length coat and a dark green shirt.

Trucks stolen

A gray 2004 Dodge Durango was stolen from a parking lot of the Apple Ridge Apartments on the 30000 block of Morelock some time between 10 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 a.m. Monday.

The owner told police he was current on his payments, but that he allowed his insurance on the vehicle to lapse because he needed the money to buy Christmas gifts.

A truck with a snow plow was stolen from the 18000 block of University Park some time between 11:30 a.m. Christmas Day and Sunday morning.

The owner noticed the truck, labeled with "Dunn-Rite Land Services, Northville, MI," was missing shortly before 8 a.m. Sunday. The truck's front end was equipped with an 8-foot yellow plow.

A salt spreader was stolen some time between Dec. 23 and Monday, Dec. 27, from a plow truck at Rainbow Rehab, 38777 Six Mile. Nothing else was missing from the truck.

Westland Stolen vehicle

A Westland man making a delivery for Vizzy's Pizza told police Dec. 26 that someone stole his car, which had been left running. The delivery person told the officer he parked the 2000 Hyundai Elantra in front of 6635 Lakeview in the Landings Apartments and delivered the pizza two addresses away. As he returned, he said he saw the backup lights come on. As he reached inside the vehicle, the man said he saw a man wearing a black ski mask behind the wheel trying to back out of the parking space.

A second man had been standing behind the car and fled over a wooden fence. The delivery man told police the vehicle belongs to his father. Inside the car, he said were his laptop computer, GPS unit, iPod and a leather bag containing more than $1,000 worth of Pokemon cards.

While the officer was at the scene, a Pizza Hut delivery person arrived to make a delivery to an apartment at the same building. It turned out that the apartment number he had been given was a vacant unit.

The officer went to Pizza Hut and was told the first call for delivery gave a non-existent apartment number, which was later changed to the unit which was vacant.

Larceny from vehicle

Items valued at $120 including a DVD player and a hair tool were reported stolen from a vehicle parked in the 33000 block of Belding Court Dec. 25. The owner told police the vehicle had been locked but there was no sign of forced entry.

Break-in Police were called to Benito's Pizza, 8129 N. Middlebelt, Dec. 26 after the owner found someone had broken the glass door and unlocked the door. Approximately $140 was reported missing from the cash register, a charity collection canister and a tip jar.

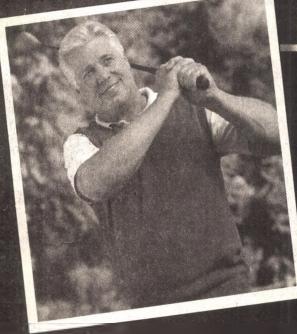

The business owner told police he suspects a former employee is responsible for the break-ins at the store but isn't sure which one since there were several possibilities.

Tires stolen

Eight tires valued at $882 were reported stolen Dec. 27 from Firestone, 6885 N. Wayne Road. Two employees told police the tires were on a display rack that is kept outside the store. At about 7 p.m. when the store was closing, one employee said he went outside and saw a man rolling one of the tires from the display toward the north side of the building.

The employee followed as the man got into a white Ford Windstar minivan occupied by a second man. Both were described as white males about 40 years old. The pair fled and was gone before the employee could get into his vehicle to follow.

'Inside Out' event brings outdoor fun inside

Looking for some family fun close to home this winter?

The City of Farmington Hills is hosting an "Inside Out" special event that's open to residents and non-residents on Friday, Jan. 14 from 6-8 p.m. at the Costick Center.

This new event isn't about your clothes being inside out, (but if you do show up with your shirt inside out, you'll get a prize.) It's an indoor event about having fun in the outdoors.

"Inside Out is about celebrating what nature has to offer, only indoors," said Bryan Farmer, recreation superintendent. "Plus, it will give families a taste of the outdoor activities offered by the Special Services Department."

Participants at "Inside Out" will experience canoeing; learn how to use an archery bow and cast a fishing pole; have a picnic with worm dirt pudding and sandwiches (sponsored by Busch's); go on a nature hike; check out the latest camping equipment; play in tents; make' outdoor crafts and more.

Local Scout troops will be in attendance, as well as community partners such as the Optimist Club, which sponsors the Project Fish Program, and the Safari Club International – Novi Chapter, which donated $2,000 to help fund archery programs at summer camps and other events.

To help promote the outdoors, the city's Nature Center created many new programs this year and has more – planned for 2011 including Coffee & Stroll at 10:30 a.m. every other Thursday starting Jan. 6; Animal Poo, where people can learn about animal tracks, identify scat, and make a shirt; Snowshoe Trek with a guided hike on snowshoes in Heritage Park; and One Starry Night, an earth hour event in partnership with the city's Green Efforts Committee on March 26.

To register by Jan. 10 for "Inside Out," go to www. fhgov.com, stop by the Costick Center, mail in the registration form or call (248) 473-1800. The Costick Center is located at 28600 11 Mile, just east of Middlebelt, next to Mercy High School. The fee for dinner and all activities is $8 for residents and $13 for non-residents for ages 3 and up; kids 2 and under free.

Dementia family support program offered at Botsford Commons

Dementia is a devastating part of aging, both for the person with dementia and their families. There are so many questions and possibilities; it's difficult to know what the right decisions are, or how to cope.

To help navigate these troubled times, Botsford is offering a monthly series on the topic as part of its Botsford University Education Program for Families.

The program, entitled "Developing Meaningful Connections with People Experiencing Dementia," will be offered at 7 p.m. the first Tuesday of every month, beginning Tuesday, Jan. 4 at Botsford Commons in Farmington Hills. Planned topics include: normal aging memory changes vs.

causes of dementia; differences between Alzheimer's disease and dementia; understanding brain changes; person-centered care; building a rapport with people with dementia; understanding and preventing challenging behaviors; and visiting people with dementia. Guest speakers will present periodically throughout the series. The sessions are free of charge, and will be held in the Chapel on the Botsford Commons campus at 21440 Archwood Circle, located between Middlebelt and Orchard Lake roads, north of Eight Mile, south of M-5 and Grand River. For more information on the sessions, call (248) 426-6902.

Cancer support for caregivers, family, offered by Gilda's Club and Botsford Cancer Center

The fight against cancer is certainly not reserved solely for those who have been diagnosed with the disease.

Family members and caregivers of loved ones affected by cancer often find themselves in need of support or emotional uplifting.

Gilda's Club Metro Detroit and Botsford Hospital in Farmington Hills work together to provide the emotional and social support to loved ones and caregivers of those diagnosed with cancer through a weekly support group that meets every Tuesday from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Botsford Cancer Center in Farmington Hills.

"Often times, the person who is diagnosed is fortunate enough to have support from others and have people asking how they can help them through their cancer journey," said Gilda's Club Metro Detroit Program Director Michelle T. Warren, LMSW.

"However, family members and friends are often the forgotten ones affected by the disease as well. They are not only trying to cope with the reality of the diagnosis for their family member or friend, but they are often in the caregiving role as well (which can be physically and emotionally challenging for a person). When cancer happens in a family, it happens to the whole family."

The program is facilitated by staff members of Gilda's Club Metro Detroit. It is open to all adults who have been touched by cancer through the diagnosis of a family member or friend. The program is free of charge. In September 2009, Gilda's Club Metro Detroit teamed up with Botsford Cancer Center to provide emotional and social support for those touched by cancer.

"Cancer is a devastating disease that requires knowledge, support and care from caregivers, professionals and friends," said Nicholle Mehr, director of the Botsford Cancer Center. "The Gilda's Club support groups are extraordinary and the patients and caregivers benefit significantly. These groups are upbeat and full of fun, laughter, encouragement and the exchanging of information. These support groups are a part of our mission here at the Botsford Cancer Center where patient satisfaction is not a goal, but a standard."

Gilda's Club Metro Detroit provides free social and emotional support for men, women and children living with cancer, their families and friends. Each month, Gilda's Club hosts over 125 support and networking groups, education lectures, children and teen activities, workshops, and social activities. In 2009, Gilda's Club welcomed over. 14,000 visits to the clubhouse.

Gilda's Club Metro Detroit is located at 3517 Rochester Rd. in Royal Oak. Anyone interested in joining Gilda's Club may attend a New Member meeting on Mondays at 1 p.m. or Wednesdays at 5:30 p.m. For more information on Gilda's Club and to make a donation, visit www.gildasclubdetroit. org or call (248) 577-0800.

Botsford Cancer Center is located at 27900 Grand River Ave in Farmington Hills. For more information on the Gilda's Club support program at Botsford Cancer. Center, call (248) 442-0482. Participants do not need to be affiliated with Botsford to attend.

FICANO

TOP DEM?

Ballenger's pick for Michigan's top Democrat is Stabenow. But Ficano and Detroit Mayor Dave Bing should also be included on any list of influential Democrats, he said, along with Gretchen Whitmer of East Lansing and Rick Hammel of Genesee County, the minority leaders in the state Senate and House of Representatives, respectively.

Hammell insists there is no "one top Democrat."

"We all have roles to play, he said, and the party has a lot of great people. But leading — or for that matter strengthening the party — is a team effort.

"Ficano is a great asset to the Party," Hammell continued, he's a proven vote-getter with a demonstrated ability to raise money for an affective campaign.

Andy Dillon remains in the mix, according to some observers. His selection as the state's next treasurer — under Republican Gov.-elect Rick Snyder — could strengthen his credentials and his appeal to independent voters in the long run, they insist.

Asked if anybody was rebuilding the Democratic Party, Oakland County Executive L. Brook Patterson responded, "I hope not."

But Democrats — foremost being President Barack Obama — could be in for another "shellacking in 2012," he said, "if they don't get their act together — and soon."

Ficano might be "too wedded to organized labor to be elected to statewide office," said Patterson. "But Ficano is as close to anybody to being the state's top Democrat," he said.

The chair of the Michigan Democratic Party, Mark Brewer, would logically take the lead in rebuilding the party, Patterson said, although he might be too closely associated with November's defeat.

"Mark Brewer can not be responsible for those losses," the Oakland County executive said, "but neither can he be considered blameless."

REGISTER NOW!

Former Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer, who refers to himself as a "recovering politician," said selecting the state's top Democrat (or Republican) is often a game played by the media to generate stories.

"Nobody I know even tries to lay claim to that title," he said, and the most effective Democrats are team players who don't even think in those terms.

When it comes to influence, however, Michigan's members in Congress are decidedly the state's most powerful, with Sens. Levin and Stabenow being the most prominent, he said.

Bing and Ficano are team players, Archer said, and they're definitely power brokers. As the top elected officials in the state's largest city and county, they have to be considered among Michigan's top Democrats. Bing, however, has said he will seek another four-year term as mayor of Motor City. He was elected to a first full term in 2009, and earlier this month said he couldn't fix Detroit's problems in four years.

The businessman and former NBA great with the Detroit Pistons, will still be influential state wide, but he is presumably focusing his attention on Detroit.

Ficano said he too is focused on the job at hand. Unemployment is too high in Wayne County, he said, and balancing the budget is always a challenge.

"But I also like what I'm doing," he said. "Being county executive is a demanding job," he continued, but it's also gratifying.

The executive, however, acknowledged some of his efforts on behalf of Wayne County would benefit Michigan — if replicated state wide by a savvy governor.

As an example, Ficano cited Aerotropolis — the name given his plan to use tax incentives to make Metropolitan and Willow Run Airports an economic development zone.

On Dec. 15, Gov. Jennifer Gov. Jennifer Granholm signed the Next Michigan Development Act (NMDA) into law giving the Aerotropolis Development Corporation (ADC) the ability to move forward. NMDA passed the house and senate on Dec. 3.

"This is about jobs, jobs, jobs, and getting people back to work. This makes things official," said Ficano.

NMDA includes tax incentives throughout the nine communities which have all signed an intergovernmental agreement to be part of the Aerotropolis Development Corporation (ADC).

Ficano has also led trade missions to China, Europe and the Middle East, with the results of those trips beginning to show results. The trade mission to Turin, the home of FIAT, the parent company of Chrysler, included Bob King, president of the UAW.

LABOR, BUSINESS TIES

"I'm proud of my ties to labor," said Ficano, whose father was a member of the Michigan Education Association and whose grandfather belonged to UAW Locals 600 and 182.

General Motors and Chrysler could not have been saved from bankruptcy without the cooperation of President Obama, state Democrats and the UAW, he said. Without that joint effort many of parts suppliers to the Big Three would have gone under too, he said, "Saving GM and Chrysler saved another one million jobs."

Ficano also has strong business ties, according to Sandy Baruah, president and CEO of the Detroit Regional Chamber.

"Bob has been very aggressive in terms of promoting Wayne County and the region," said Baruah, who also went to Italy with the county executive's trade mission to FIAT and its suppliers. "He understands being probusiness is also being pro-jobs."

In recruiting economic development, Baruah said, Ficano is able to present a unified front, with government, business and labor. "That's a very powerful message," he said, "one I'd like to duplicate with Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw counties."

Baruah considers himself to be a "Brooks Patterson kind of guy," meaning he's a pro-business Republican. "But Bob Ficano is as easy to work with (on business development) as Brooks Patterson." Doug Rothwell, Governor-elect Snyder's choice to lead the Michigan Economic Development Authority agrees.

"Bob Ficano is very pro business," said Rothwell who co-chaired Synder's transition team, "and he has developed some good initiatives for economic development." Ficano is proof an elected official can be friendly to business and labor, said Rothwell, who also served as president and CEO of Business Leaders for Michigan.

TOUGH CALLS

As an indication of his ability to lead and govern, Ficano cited some tough decisions he's made — including cutting the county work force by nearly 40 percent. "Nobody is happy about cutting jobs or laying people off," he said. "But it had to be done. I cut the workforce from 5,200 to about 3,200."

Ficano undoubtedly has work to do if he wants to establish a statewide identity. As Wayne County sheriff for 20 years, however, he was a member of the Michigan Sheriffs' Association. Besides helping him learn the intricacies of the state Legislature, membership in the association enabled Ficano to befriend lawmen state wide - a friendship that could translate into the beginnings of a state wide organization. That organization may not be as strong as the machine Ficano has built in southeast Michigan, but it could be a start.

Shortly after front-runner John Cherry took himself out of the race for governor, a poll was taken on perspective Democratic candidates.

"I didn't commission the poll," Ficano said. "But I did well."

Another person who thinks Ficano has the early credentials for a state-wide race is Phil Cavanagh, who worked with the executive as a former Wayne County commissioner and last month was elected state representative.

Ficano is smart and effective, said Cavanagh, "and he already has considerable influence in Lansing," said the son of the late Jerome Cavanagh, one-time mayor of Detroit.

(*) A13

Since Nov. 2, Cavanagh has spent days in Lansing preparing for his state representative job. One mark of Ficano's influence with the legislature, he said, is lawmakers' approving enabling legislation for Aerotropolis, the executive's economic development initiative. "The lame-duck legislature didn't do much," Cavanagh said, "but it passed the Aerotropolis bills."

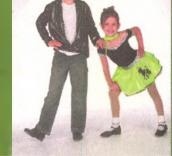

"Aerotropolis is very much on the right on track," said Miles Handy, a senior executive project manager with the county executive who was involved in getting the Aerotropolis bills approved by the legislature.

Handy is foremost among those who considers Ficano as a leading contender for the title of Michigan's top Democrat.

"We've got a lot of good people in the Democratic Party," he said, "and Bob Ficano is one of the best."

State finalists top All-Area football

First team offense

TYLER GOBLE, OL, Plymouth: Whether protecting his quarterback and running backs with strong work on the offensive line or being a defensive menace from linebacker, Goble's efforts were instrumental in the Wildcats' drive to the Division 1 finals at Ford Field.

"His cerebral and physical abilities have allowed him to dominate," coach Mike Sawchuk said. "He is one of the most coachable kids we have ever had in this program."

The 6-1, 220-pound junior was named to the all-conference team and was selected to the All-Metro West teams for The Detroit News and Detroit Free Press.

ADAM CLAY, OL, Franklin: the 6-3, 289-pound junior earned all-KLAA honors as the Patriots finished 7-3 overall and made the state playoffs.

Clay, who started all nine games, also earned Detroit News All-Metro West honors.

"We moved Adam always to our strong side so we could run behind him," Franklin coach Chris Kelbert said. "He's real intelligent. He knew his blocking schemes and picked up things quickly from start of season. He's a quiet, soft-spoken kid, but he made quite a bit of improvement with his intensity from start of the season.'

JON ANEED, OL, Stevenson: The 6-1, 246-pound senior, a three-year starter, was named the team's MVP and earned all-KLAA hon-OTS

Aneed also played defensive tackle.

"Jon was very versatile," outgoing Stevenson coach Tim Gabel said. "He could also play guard. He's an outstanding pass blocker and drive blocker who can get on the edge and lead on the sweep or pitch.

BEN POIRIER, OL, Canton: Most of the time, players of the skill positions garner headlines.

But anybody watching Canton's offense and its ability to take it to the house on any given play knows how integral offensive linemen such as the 5-10, 225pound Poirier are.

Poirier started at offensive tackle during his senior year and also was a key starter on the defensive line, getting in on 52 tackles and four sacks.

Coach Tim Baechler needed to shift him from nose guard to defensive tackle "and by the end of the year he was dominant at times.

Poirier, described by Baechler as a "very quick, powerful athlete," earned All-KLAA honors.

ANDREW LAIRD, OL, John Glenn: The 6-3, 260-pound senior was a three-year starter at offensive tackle and the Rockets' top offensive lineman.

'They don't come any tougher," Glenn coach Tim Hardin said of Laird, an all-KLAA selection. "He had to battle some significant injuries and was still our best offensive lineman. He anchored our offensive line and had a heck of a vear."

Happy holiday for Hawks

Eman Hubbard's basket with :03 on the clock in the second overtime Wednesday night lifted Farmington Harrison's girls basketball team to a thrilling 48-46 victory over host Northville in the finals of the Northville Holiday Tournament.

"It was a real fun game to be a part of," beamed Hawks head coach Tim Micklash, who saw his club improve to 5-2 with the win. "It was back and forth the whole way and what I'm real proud of is how the girls battled for the entire 40 minutes."

Hubbard finished with 18 points, 14 rebounds and four blocks. Teammate Tiera Parker matched Hubbard's offensive prowess by also bagging 18 points.

Spartans win in OT

It took overtime Wednesday night, but Livonia Stevenson was able to prevail, 49-45, in Detroit University Prep in girls basketball holiday play at Pontiac Notre Dame Prep. Junior Jorden York netted five of her team-leading 13 points in the extra session to spark the Spartans who improved to 4-1 with the victory. Freshman Charlesann Roy chipped in with 12 points and junior Molly Knoph twined nine.

Prep (1-4) was paced by Jasmyne Owens with 16 points and April Watson with 14 points.

Free throws proved crucial in the outcome as Stevenson converted 12-of-24 attempts while Prep drained just 7-of-26.

Eagles gain split

Redford Thurston evened its overall ledger at 2-2 heading into 2011 with a hardearned 58-41 boys basketball triumph Wednesday over Adrian (0-4). Will Webster, Mike Flannel and Anthony Barley each scored eight points as the Eagles outscored their opponents in each of the four quarters. Thurston opened up a 13-9 lead after one quarter, increased the margin to 29-23 at the half, and put the game away by out-scoring the Maples 29-18 over the final two frames. The victory came on the heels of a tough loss one night prior to Chelsea (3-0). Tied at 37-all entering the final period of play, the Eagles saw the Bulldogs erupt for 24 fourthquarter points and the 61-54 non-league victory. Zvavier Bowen topped the Eagles with 12 points. He also dished out four assists. Barley registered a doubledouble with 10 points and 14 rebounds. Barley handed out five assists.

Whalers end skid with matinee win

BY TIM SMITH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Nearly 3,000 fans came out Tuesday for the Plymouth Whalers' annual "Kids Day" matinee and players such as goalie Scott Wedgewood and forward Mitchell Heard weren't about to let them go home disappointed.

Wedgewood stopped a penalty shot in the second period and Heard went all out to score a timely goal to spark Plymouth's 4-2 victory over Erie at Compuware Arena.

The victory snapped a fourgame losing streak, which included three road losses in three nights Dec. 16-18.

"I thought we played pretty good for being off six days," Plymouth head coach Mike Vellucci said. "That losing streak, all those games were on the road and we were short five guys again tonight.

"Our team is a young team, and when you're missing that many guys it's very difficult.'

Among those not in Tuesday's lineup were three players competing at the World Junior Championships in Buffalo, forwards Rickard Rakell, Tom Wilson and defenseman Dario Trutmann.

Without them, others such as newcomer Chris Albertini would need to chip in. Albertini, in his fourth Ontario Hockey League game, collected his first point when he assisted on a goal scored by defenseman Max Iafrate (Livonia) at the 7:01 mark. Heard centered the puck and drew the other assist.

The holidays have come and gone for another year for the Shaw family, who recently celebrated Christmas a few days later normal.

That's because Tim Shaw, one of Sharon and John's four sons, was given a 24-hour leave of absence last Tuesday from his job as a special teams player and linebacker for the NFL's Tennessee Titans.

It was a chance for the Shaw family to all be together for at least one day.

His brother Andrew arrived from California, while his fraternal twin Pete was back home from Wisconsin. The oldest brother Steve, band director from the Freeland Schools, was also in for the holidays.

It was a special reunion for Tim, the former Livonia Clarenceville High and Penn State standout, who learned the gift of giving at an early age from his parents.

And another neat reunion took place earlier in the month – at Chucky Cheese of all places - when Sharon and John flew down to Nashville to meet with Tim and the Johnson family. Tim and Teri Johnson have two adopted sons, including 6-year-old Parker Keyshawn, who spent five months as an infant with the Shaws in their Livonia home.

"He was with us for five months and I look at his face and still see him as a baby," Sharon Shaw said. "He seems to be a happy child, very active."

Through Bethany Christian Services in Madison Heights, Sharon and John Shaw have fostered a total of 45 infants since 1991.

Tim Shaw has been around infants his entire life. Even for a hulking 6-foot-1, 240-pound NFL player, holding babies and changing diapers is second nature.

"There was always a baby in the house from the first grade all the way through high school," he said. "That's the way it was. My mom always had one.

Tim Shaw, during his days at Penn State, holds infant Parker Keyshawn Johnson, a foster child of the Shaw family, in 2004.

"My mom, as well as anyone, has that baby touch. She just has a way. It's one of my mom's gifts. She can get them to sleep through the night and get them to behave. She just has that soothing touch that's just amazing."

After Tim was released by the Chicago Bears and signed just prior to the season by the Titans, Tim and Teri Johnson

- ironically, Titans season ticket holders - stopped by the team's practice facility one day and left Tim a message.

The Johnsons had made contact when the Carolina Panthers, Tim's first NFL team as a rookie, played a game in 2007 at Tennessee.

They eventually met for dinner this fall at the Johnson home, and Tim hung out with Parker Keyshawn and his brother Logan, who is 11 months older.

Farmington raised its record to 2-3 Wednesday with a convincing 60-43 boys basketball victory over Dearborn Fordson. Anthony Rutledge and Chris Hare each tossed in 16 points to lead Farmington to its second victory in five starts. Faraj Mohamed scored 16 to pace the Tractors.

BRENNEN BEYER, WR, Plymouth: The 6-4, 215-pound Beyer seemingly carried the Wildcats on his back at times during postseason wins over Saline, Canton, Novi-Detroit Catholic Central and Rockford.

And during the D-1 semifinal against Rockford, Beyer made two incredible catches during the gamewinning touchdown drive - including a spectacular 25-yard TD reception from junior quarterback Shaun Austin with 4.5 seconds remaining.

"I have never coached a kid that has all the tools that Brennen has displayed," Sawchuk said.

The coach added that Beyer's best attribute is that "he is a great person off and on the field. He's a true team player that will make everyone around him a better person."

Beyer, also a crunching linebacker with 47.5 tackles and 11.5 quarterback sacks, garnered all-KLAA honors as well as selection to The Detroit News and Detroit Free Press All-Metro West teams.

AARON BURBRIDGE, WR, Harrison: A repeat member of the all-area team, Burbridge can make the difficult catch look easy. He had a slow start as he recovered from knee surgery, but finished with 36 receptions for 720 yards and nine touchdowns, including two in the state final. Burbridge (6-2, 185) also carried the ball at tailback, and he returned punts and kickoffs. On defense, he had five picks, two TD returns, 13 deflections and 24 tackles

"Aaron is one of the very top athletes in the state," coach John Herrington said. "Everybody who has seen him play is just amazed at his explosiveness. He's an outstanding receiver and defensive back — a big playmaker. And we've got him another year; that's the best part."

JAKE VENTO, WR, Harrison: Vento was a 48-minute player at wide receiver and safety; he returned punts and kickoffs, and he did the punting, too. The 5-8, 160-pound junior caught 42 passes for 903 yards and 12 touchdowns. He returned two kicks for a TD and scored 90 points. Vento had 53 tackles, five interceptions, six deflections and a fumble return for a TD. He averaged 37.3 yards on 24 punts

"Jake was a great threat as a receiver and return man," Herrington said. "He's an outstanding, overall football player, and we're very happy he's coming back. He'll probably be our quarterback next year, so we'll be losing a lot at receiver and gaining a lot at quarterback.

JASON WILSON, WR, Farmington: A repeat member of the team, Wilson (6-0, 180) can do a lot of good things on a football field. Consequently, he has a scholarship to play at CMU.

Wilson caught 38 passes for 613 yards and eight touchdowns. He returned two punts, one kickoff and one interception for touchdowns. As a cornerback, he had four picks and 46 tackles, including 25 solos.

"Jason is an outstanding athlete," coach John Bechtel said. "He's a superb defender and an awesome weapon. He was one of the best return guys in the state. He did it all for us

"Central Michigan has itself a fine athlete and a kid who has a great work ethic. He's going to be a lot of fun to watch the next four years."

TOMMY VENTO, QB, Harrison: Vento (6-1. 180) had one of the singleseason best performances by a Harrison quarterback, leading the Hawks to the OAA championship and the Division 2 state title - their 13th overall. He passed for 2,803 yards and 31 touchdowns while completing 56.5 percent of his throws (156-of-276). He had just 12 interceptions; he also rushed for three touchdowns

"He was the catalyst who made our offense go," Herrington said. "He's very smart; he has a high football IQ. His passing was accurate and he read defenses very well.

"He's right there with the three or four top (quarterbacks) we've had. We played the toughest schedule we've ever played, and he led us to a 14-0 season.

KEVIN BUFORD, RB, Canton: Throughout the regular season, Canton's powerful offense steamrolled over the rest of the KLAA and the talents of Buford had plenty to do with that.

Buford was the Chiefs' leading rusher with 1,106 yards in just 97 carries for an 11.4-yard average.

The junior scored 19 touchdowns and chipped in with strong work in the defensive secondary whenever he squared off with opponents' top receivers

"He is a very elusive, fast back with surprising power," Baechler said. "He is a big play guy any time he touches the ball.

Buford earned all-conference accolades and was chosen to The Detroit News and Detroit Free Press All-Metro West teams.

DAVION STACKHOUSE, RB, Canton: The senior workhorse and co-captain eclipsed 1,000 yards rushing (1,003, second on the team), added 219 yards receiving on eight catches and scored 20 touchdowns.

Besides augmenting Buford in Canton's extremely productive offense, Stackhouse also excelled at safety. He was named to the Detroit Free Press Dream Team at defensive back.

"He was a physical runner and made big plays for us," Baechler said about Stackhouse, another Canton all-conference honoree. The thirdyear, two-way starter also joined Buford on The Detroit News and Much of the team's success running the ball could be attributed to Rodgers' ability to level would-be tacklers.

"He was unblockable pretty much, a relentless player," Herrington said. "He's a true Division I prospect. He can read the offensive line schemes; he gets to the football, and he's mean when he gets there. He was a good offensive tackle, but he's really outstanding on defense.'

DARIUS DAVIS, DL, Farmington: The senior tackle (5-8, 184) was small by the standard for his position, but he countered with quickness and speed off the ball. Davis was one of the leading tacklers with 86, which included 42 solos. He also caused three fumbles.

"He's just a spectacular player," Bechtel said. "I ve never coached a kid that quick, and he wasn't trappable. He read keys perfectly.

"He might have been the most dangerous and best defensive player in the league. If he played exactly the way he did and was 6-5 and 310, he'd be an All-American. He's that good a player."

DYLAN OCHALA, DL, Churchill: The 6foot, 240-pound senior was a threeyear starter for the Chargers.

This season, Ochala recorded 58 tackles, including two sacks and three for losses en route to all-KLAA honors.

"Dylan was a dependable player who played hard every game," Churchill coach John Filiatraut said. "He had a great motor and played well in our toughest games."

GARRETT BRYDEN, LB, Canton: The 6-1, 205-pound senior was Canton's second leading tackler (69) along with three interceptions, two fumble recoveries and a defensive touchdown.

In addition to excelling in his second season as a starting linebacker, Bryden contributed on offense, making five catches from his tight end position, gaining 132 yards and scoring a TD.

Another key element was on-field smarts and leadership, Baechler said, adding that Bryden was the team leader on defense.

"He made all of our checks and calls and was extremely smart," Baechler added.

Bryden was named to the all-KLAA, Detroit News and Detroit Free Press All-Metro West teams for his considerable efforts during Canton's 10-1 season.

WILL WEBSTER, LB, Thurston: This three-year varsity performer epitomized the toughness the Eagles played with throughout the 2010 season, which produced a school-record number of wins and entertaining postseason. A 6-0, 200-pound senior, Webster punished opponents on both sides of the ball as a linebacker and fullback. Webster totaled 132 tackles, including eight for losses and three sacks. He also forced three fumbles, had two interceptions and blocked three kicks. Offensively, he compiled 377 yards rushing, 249 receiving and scored five touchdowns.

"Pound for pound, Will is the best player I have ever coached," Snell said. "He did it all for us — ran the football, blocked, played tremendous defense and was a leader. The kids around him really looked to him to lead."

DEONDRE HOGAN, LB, Clarenceville: The 6-1, 230-pound senior captain was a two-way standout for the 5-4 Trojans after not playing his junior year due to a knee injury.

Defensively, the linebacker recorded 72 solo tackles and 49 assists with one sack and one forced fumble. Offensively, Hogan ran for 847 yards on 85 carries (5.4 per attempt) with seven receptions

"He was a mainstay, a central leader, a very good talent offensively and defensively," Clarenceville coach Ken Fry said. "He's got the speed. He can play anywhere offensively or defensively. It took him three or four games because of his knee. He was a little tentative at the start, but after that, he just took off. He really came on toward the end.'

DAN MULLER, LB, Franklin: The 6foot, 190-pound linebacker and running back, an all-KLAA pick played in four varsity seasons for the Patriots.

Defensively, Muller finished with

BRADEN PRICE, LB, Canton: Just 5-10 and 175 pounds, the senior hit with the best of them - leading the KLAA Kensington Conference champion Chiefs in tackles with 105 and also registering 3.5 sacks.

Baechler said Price was a "very smart and fast player with a lot of pop when he hit you. Just a heck of a football player that could have played in the backfield as well."

The coach noted that the two-way starter "volunteered to start at guard on offense to make our team better."

Price was selected to the all-KLAA squad for his excellent performance.

ANTHONY RHODES, LB, Plymouth: The senior linebacker earned high praise from Sawchuk, calling him "the true heart and soul of our football team. He epitomized what a football player should be."

Although just 5-9 and 195 pounds, Rhodes is a hard-nosed player who punishes opponents when he hits. He helped set the tone for a defense that allowed just 196 points in 14 contests.

As resilient as they come, Rhodes missed the victory over Canton in the second round due to an injury. But then he was among the defensive catalysts in Plymouth's 9-7 win over defending D-1 champion Catholic Central in the regional title game.

Rhodes - called a "true student of the game" by his coach — had a part in 37 tackles, including 29 solos, and was named to the all-conference team.

ERIC WILSON, LB, Thurston: Only a junior, Wilson proved to be a stalwart on defense, where he spearheaded the secondary by intercepting three passes and making 59 tackles, and also on offense where he led the team with 445 receiving yards on 34 catches. Wilson's contributions could also be found on special teams, where he totaled 409 return yards to give him 953 all-purpose yards and nine touchdowns.

"Eric is a very gifted athlete," Snell said. "He's strong, fast, has great hands and can play physical football. He did a lot of great things for us. There are some high possibilities in what he can do in football."

DEREK HEAD, LB, Harrison: The senior inside linebacker (5-10, 170) was another asset in the team's smallbut-quick defense. He was the No. 2 tackler with 126, including 62 solos. He had 11 tackles for loss, eight QB hurries and an interception. Head also played fullback and tailback; he was the leading rusher with a 5.9vard average and two TDs.

"He was undersized in body, but not in heart," Herrington said. "He had a motor that went all the time. He never took a play off. He got the award for being our hardest hitter at 165 pounds. He played both ways and never came off the field. He was a joy to coach."

ZACH WASHINGTON, DB, N. Farmington: The senior was a three-year starter at cornerback and quarterback. Washington had three picks (returning one for a TD), five pass breakups and 27 tackles, and he also blocked four kicks. Washington was 85-of-184 passing for 855 yards and five touchdowns; he rushed for 357 yards and seven TDs. "I usually don't let our quarterbacks play defense," coach Todd Schultz said. "Zach was too valuable to keep off the field. There were a handful of games we faced great receivers. He was our left corner and we moved him to shadow their top receiver, because he's that good at that position. With me being the quarterback coach. I was tough on him, but he handled the pressure well and led our team very well. CO-COACHES OF THE YEAR

MIKE SAWCHUK, Plymouth: Sawchuk started with the Plymouth football program when it was on the ground floor, as an assistant coach in 2002. He took over as head coach in '07 and now is enjoying the ride to the prep pinnacle, leader of one of Michigan's elite programs. Hard-hitting Plymouth went 11-3 and finished as Division 1 finalist. The sturdy lead-

Harrison.

"I'm extremely humbled to be recognized with the likes of Coach Herrington for this award," Sawchuk said, demonstrating the it's-all-about-team attitude he expects from everybody on his team.

The Wildcats went 7-2 during the regular season before defeating Saline in the opening round of the postseason for Plymouth's first-ever playoff win. That merely set the stage for a stunning 17-7 victory over No. 1 Canton - the team many thought would reach the finals at Ford Field. The snarling underdogs then defeated Catholic Central and Rockford.

Only in the finals against Lake Orion did the bloom come off the rose. The Dragons broke out early (21-3 at halftime) and hung on late, ultimately outlasting the Wildcats 21-13. Despite that heartbreaking loss, it is pretty evident that Sawchuk's team will be one to be reckoned with for the foreseeable future.

"I've coached my teams with a philosophy of being tough and believing in each other," Sawchuk said. "We teach character accountability and effort in our program and it's starting to pay off. If our kids and parents believe in what we do at Plymouth, we will continue to be successful."

JOHN HERRINGTON, Harrison: The Hawks won a record 13th state title and had their ninth undefeated season (14-0) in Herrington's 41st as the school's only head coach.

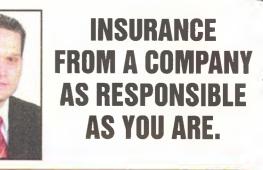

Including the last three games of the regular season, Harrison defeated eight straight playoff teams, including D-1 winner Lake Orion and ending with defending D-2 state champ Lowell.

"We felt, during the spring and summer, we had a lot of talent." Herrington said. "We had the feeling we would be good. We didn't certain games they got up for. They wanted to play their best every game, and they enjoyed playing." Herrington, 70, has a career record of 375-87-1, which includes an 81-14 playoff ledger, and is looking forward to next season.

"Nothing will be given to us, but it does make for a nice winter, thinking about some of the players who will be coming back," he said.

Madonna women cagers knock off ranked opponent

The Madonna University women's basketball team pulled off a major surprise Wednesday when they upended host Southern Nazarene University (Okla.), ranked No. 16 in the latest NAIA Division I poll, 84-79, in overtime.

Sophomore center Kaylee McGrath (Livonia Stevenson) scored a team-high 22 points as the Crusaders improved to 5-7 overall.

Heather Pratt came off the bench to score 17, while senior guard Tabatha Wydryck contributed 15 points, nine rebounds, five assists and seven steals. Erin Bentley also came off the bench to score nine points.

Southern Nazarene (8-2) got a game-high 27 points from Logan Martin, who made 9-of-14 shots from the floor including 6-of-8 three-pointers.

"He's a defenseman playing forward for us," Vellucci noted. "He did some smart things for us tonight and was really happy with his effort."

Plymouth (18-14-1-1) went up 2-0 at 14:18 on a carbon copy goal. Center Robbie Czarnik, just as Iafrate did, wired a one-timer from the slot after receiving a centering pass.

SHORTHANDED TROUBLE

But while on a power play during the middle stanza, the Otters (17-17-1-1) scored one shorthanded goal (by center Phil Varone with 10:51 left) to make it 2-1 and nearly added another within seconds.

Shortly after the Varone goal, Erie center Luke Cairns was hauled down from behind. He was awarded a penalty shot with 10:32 remaining and had a golden opportunity to even the contest.

Enter Wedgewood with his best stop of the contest, at the most-opportune time for Plymouth.

"He kind of went to his backhand coming across and he had nowhere to go and he missed the net," said Wedgewood, who sparkled throughout the game with 29 saves. "He didn't have much of an option and he'd have to take a perfect shot to beat me back where I was coming from."

The Whalers, given that reprieve, padded their lead to 3-1 with 6:43 to play in the second. This time, it was Heard who made a determined play to help maintain the advantage.

Defenseman and captain Beau Schmitz kept the puck in Erie's zone and it caromed behind the Otters' goal. Heard retrieved it, saw goalie Ramis Sadikov looking the wrong way and skated out from behind the net to stuff the puck inside the right post.

"The puck just came to me and I quickly wrapped it around, the goalie wasn't expecting it," Heard said. "But it was a great play by Beau." Also assisting was forward James Livingston, who along with Heard and RJ Mahalak formed a pesky line for Vellucci.

A defensive giveaway led to an unassisted goal by Erie winger Brett Appio with just 1:28 left in the second, to make it 3-2 entering the intermission.

But the Whalers, who outshot Erie 45-31, got that goal right back at 1:17 of the third. Forward Stefan Noesen scored his team-leading 16th goal, going top shelf with a backhander. The lone assist went to defenseman Colin MacDonald.

For the rest of the third, the Whalers and Wedgewood held the fort, keeping the fourgame slide from getting any worse.

"Any opportunity to impact kids, I'll jump at that," said Tim, who has 29 tackles this season for the Titans and is on the NFL Pro Bowl ballot as a special teams player. "They (the Johnsons) reached out and it's just a cool connection. He's (Parker Keyshawn) just a cool little kid, super smart and athletic. He's doing his multiple times tables. He's full of life and has a sharp older brother (Logan). I've played football with him and his brother. I've watched them play soccer and watched them play basketball."

Sharon Shaw applied the same philosophy raising foster children such as Parker Keyshawn as she did with her own four boys.

"We've tried to teach our kids reality, discipline and give them as many experiences you can in life to have options," Sharon Shaw said. "You teach them how to make decisions and you support them. And, of course, there's love through everything. It's communication You find out what's behind kids' thinking. And when they make a statement, you're not necessarily judged, but find out what's behind their thinking." Sharon and John Shaw have not had a foster infant child in four years.

"The system has changed," Sharon said. "More and more they're going from the hospital straight to adoption."

Sharon, however, said it's been her calling to reach out to others and it will be a blessing when her sons start raising their own children.

"I believe God put a baby hole in my heart and it's one way I can give back," she said. "Having babies in the home was tremendous for the boys because it taught them how to love people and let them learn the hard lessons in life.

"They're already asking me for advice. I think they'll also be great dads."

Tim Shaw, meanwhile, said his experiences growing up will be a great benefit when he becomes a parent down the road.

"It made me more rounded and the experience is priceless when I have kids," he said. "My mom doesn't get enough credit."

Include realistic goals in your New Year's fitness resolutions

TOPS Club, Inc., (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) suggests setting small, definite goals as a way to achieve weight loss success this year.

The nonprofit weight-loss support organization, shares the following tips for realistically planning - and achieving - New Year resolutions:

1. Be specific

Determine an exact goal. Instead of resolving to lose weight, consider a specific amount or goal weight and time frame, such as losing 20 pounds by the Fourth of July and 20 more pounds by Thanksgiving. No matter what the resolution, setting small goals will be easier to achieve one step at a time.

2. Make a plan for success

Construct a "road map" as a guide to achieve your goal. Consider what it will take to accomplish the plan. For example, to lose weight, healthy eating, exercise, and joining a support group like TOPS is paramount. Consider keeping a journal to keep track of progress ups and downs.

3. Review the plan along the way

Once a week, take time and evaluate progress. Review the journal and determine if the goals need revamping or ramping up. Everyone makes mistakes. When that happens, avoid falling into the traps of shame and guilt.

4. Keep resolutions realistic

Be realistic in goal setting. If completely eliminating a behavior is too difficult, consider resolving to do it less often.

5. Make it personally meaningful

A resolution should be something an individual desires to change or achieve and should not be dictated by family members or society. Resolutions without strong, personal motivation can be doomed to fail.

6. Tell others about the resolution

Sharing goals with friends and family can be an outstanding support mechanism and a source of gentle nudging if a detour from the plan takes place.

TOPS Club Inc., the original, nonprofit weight-loss support and wellness education organization, was established more than 62 years ago to champion weight-loss support and success. Founded and headquartered in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, TOPS promotes successful, affordable weight management with a philosophy that combines healthy eating, regular exercise, wellness information, and support from others at weekly chapter meetings. TOPS has about 170,000 members in nearly 10,000 chapters throughout the United States and Canada.

Visitors may attend their first TOPS meeting free of charge. To find a local chapter, view www.tops.org or call (800) 932-8677.

Westland couple 'pays it forward' through good deeds

BY SHARON DARGAY O&E STAFF WRITER

Jim Millsaps can't pass a stalled car on the road without stopping to lend a hand.

The Good Samaritan keeps jumper cables and a gas can ready to aid motorists and tells members of his church, Garden City Presbyterian, to call him day or night if they need assistance.

The 57-year-old Westland man figures he has made some 2,000 or more runs in all kinds of weather to help fellow congregants, friends and church referrals in Wayne, Westland, Garden City and Canton over the past decade. And that doesn't include the stops he has made to help strangers who are stranded on the road.

"I figure it this way, I'm retired and I can come home and go to bed. So, if someone is stuck out by, let's say Willow Run at 1 or 2 in the morning. there is no one out there. The cars that might pass by aren't going to stop. So, if it's a church member or someone I know, I'll go out," he said. "I've had women who will call me - 'I don't know what to do, the car stopped' - I go up to some of these and they are out of gas. But their gas gauge is not working properly. They've got an eighth of a tank and they try to get to their destination by stretching it."

His wife, Judy, 56, stocks his Jeep with blankets to keep motorists warm while her husband tinkers under the hood. A mechanic and welder by trade, Jim's goal is to get the cars started and on the way to their destination, not to make major repairs, although he occasionally has fixed a problem on the spot.

He doesn't expect anything in return for his service. although he will accept donations if offered to help pay for gas

He tells even the most apologetic callers, "I'll be right there, just tell me where you are."

LESSONS LEARNED

Jim, one of three siblings, said his late mother taught him the importance of helping others when he was a youngster. He'll never forget the time he ignored her lessons and simply drove past a stalled car.

"I remember before my mom died and I started doing this, I drove by my mom who was stuck on the road. I didn't know it was her because she had gotten a new car," Jim said.

"Since then," Judy added, "Nobody sits on the side of the road in a car."

Although Jim responds to roadside assistance calls on his own, the couple works together on other volunteer efforts. They clean elderly neighbors' sidewalks in the winter; paint, lawn mow and rake leaves at homes of senior church members; and co-lead the TOPS Inc. weight loss chapter that Judy formed at church last year. Both were ordained as deacons in Wayne Presbyterian Church, where they were members before it merged with Garden City Presbyterian Church.

BLESSING OTHERS

The couple says helping others and volunteering at church to work a regular job for several years, but remains positive about his health. He joklost a kidney to cancer two

Jim is president of the Men's Club and Judy attends both Men's Club and Women's Club sessions at Garden City Presbyterian Church.

"The Men's Club has adopted me. So it's Men's Club plus one," she said, with a laugh. "Every Sunday I'm in the (church) kitchen, putting on the coffee and putting out the treats."

ingly says he has to stay alive, because he made a contract with Judy to celebrate their 75th anniversary together. The document is kept under lock and key.

"The first five years of our marriage, he was going through treatment," Judy said, adding that the contract was designed to "make him fight for his life.

The couple met in 1991 and married a year later. Both had previous marriages and children. Jim's three daughters and Judy's three daughters and a son are grown. The couple also have 28 grandchildren.

VOLUNTEERING TOGETHER

"My kids were raised in the church and I made sure everyone around them were positive thinkers," Judy said. "I didn't allow people to tell them you can't because in our vocabulary there is no such thing as can't. You can, if you just put your best effort to it you can do it."

They've included their children in some of the volunteer work they've done and have repaired steps, black-topped a driveway and painted walls as a family.

Jim said it gave him a chance to pass along his skills to their children. Judy said it also instilled important values.

"If you know a senior who is struggling, you get your can over there and help them. Don't let them struggle,' Judy said. "God gave us this planet to take care of it. Be the Good Samaritan."

"Don't just walk by," Jim added. "It's all a part of stopping to smell the roses."

Jim and Judy Millsaps "pay it forward" by volunteering in their church and community - whether it's snow blowing sidewalks of elderly residents in their Westland neighborhood or jumpstarting stranded motorists. They're always out and about, lending a helping hand.

Salvation Army volunteers make the season brighter woke up the other day feeling sad, thinking of friend and neighbor Gerry Kruse, who lost his battle with cancer this summer.

The day's calendar held a volunteer shift with my husband, Mark Rembacki, at the Wayne-Westland Salvation Army. Mark and Gerry had been friends since their days together at the University of Detroit. Mark and I, with capable help from other volunteers and staff of the Salvation Army, were giving out toys, food and grocery gift cards for Christmas.

"Welcome to Toy Heaven," said Sandy Kollinger, Wayne-Westland Salvation Army

volunteer coordinator/administrative assistant, as she opened the doors to the toy-filled gym at the corps building on Venoy in Westland. Many of our fellow volunteers were from Ford Motor Co., which gives its staffers two paid days a year for charitable work. Jing Wei Lu, 48, of Canton works for Ford

It was Lu's first year at the Salvation Army, although he's done the Rouge Rescue cleanup and other projects. "Quite a few," he said as we waited in line to take parents through the Toy Shop to choose gifts. "Every way we do twice basically choose gifts. "Every year, we do twice, basically. They encourage us to help in the community. You contribute something to the community. "You feel good," Lu added of the volunteer assignments, with choice left up to the employee. "You feel satisfaction making a contribution to the community." Also from Ford IT was Johanna Wittbracht, 57, of Livonia. She was new to the Salvation Army but had done work with Habitat for Humanity, the Detroit Zoo and Focus:HOPE.

"We do a lot of different things," Wittbracht said. "A lot of children's charities, fixing things up outside. I did Habitat several times because that was really neat."

Volunteer Tim Williams, 53, of Dearborn works in purchasing for Ford and liked his first-time assignment at the Wayne-Westland corps. He's been brought back from retirement to work for Ford.

"To help give back," is his reason for signing up, said Williams, who's also worked with the Capuchins in Detroit. "And I get a lot of personal satisfaction out of it too."

Some of us took parents through the Toy Shop, with toys on tables divided by age and gender. There were some clothes to give out as well, and other volunteers took food donations and the toys out to waiting cars.

Roselle Tablada, 36, of Sterling Heights, a firsttimer, is in the Ford College Graduate program. That comes after undergraduate work and rotates staffers through departments one year at a time.

A Monday assignment takes Tablada to Boys and Girls Republic in Farmington Hills for gift wrapping. "I think it's nice that Ford is giving back," she said of the two days a year. "And it's nice to give back to the community."

Volunteer Wittbracht also liked an assignment at Northville Township's Maybury Farm. All the volunteers enjoyed a pizza and salad lunch at the corps, then returned to their volunteer posts.

"They're the backbone of our volunteers this time of year," said Capt. Derek Rose, corps commander with wife Capt. Joanna Rose, of the Ford staffers. "They're the warm and friendly smile. We just can't say thank you enough to the Ford Motor Co."

Our day with the volunteer group at the Wayne-Westland Salvation Army left me feeling a lot better about what can be a sad season and time of loss. Two nice young boys asked my husband if he was Santa Claus, perhaps because of his red jacket. Santa lives in the hearts of all the volunteers and donors who together make Christmas brighter for so many.

Auxiliary plans its garage sale

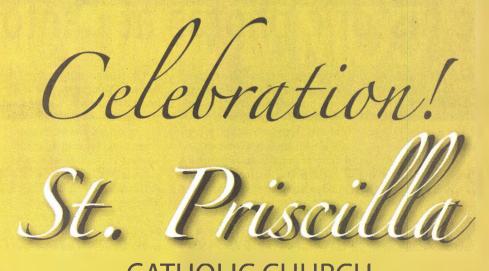

The Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary, Livonia Unit 114 is collecting items for its "Garage Sale For Veterans" fund-raiser Jan. 27-29.

Items in good condition are accepted 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Wednesdays, at the DAV Hall, 30905 Plymouth Road, in Livonia. Or call (734) 546-6968 to arrange for another time.

All proceeds from the garage sale, which will be held at the DAV Hall, will be used for local veteran's programs. The organization's previous garage sale raised enough money for donations to VA hospitals. It also enabled the group to provide Thanksgiving dinner for a veteran and his family. At Christmas, the Auxiliary assisted a deserving veteran with children.

See historic photos at Canton theater

A Michigan State University travelling exhibit, "Welcome to Idlewild: The Black Eden of Michigan," will be on display through Feb. 24 at the Village Theater at Cherry Hill, in Canton.

Exhibition visitors can learn about Michigan's role in the history of segregation and how a strong African-American sense of community developed in this Michigan town.

For many years Idlewild was known as a "Black Eden," one of only a few resorts in the country where African-Americans could vacation and purchase property. In 1912, a group of entrepreneurs bought 2,700 acres of land in rural northwestern Michigan to establish a vacation community specifically for upper class African Americans. Prospective buyers came primarily from Detroit and other Midwest cities but some came from as far as Cuba. Prominent African Americans who purchased and developed property helped Idlewild quickly gain a national reputation.

At its peak it was the most popular resort in the Midwest and as many as 25,000 individuals came to Idlewild in the height of the summer season to enjoy camping, swimming, boating, fishing, hunting, horseback riding, roller skating and night-time entertainment. When the 1964 Civil Rights Act opened up other resorts to African-Americans, Idlewild's boomtown period subsided but the community continues to be an important place for vacationers and retirees. Idlewild also holds special meaning as a place for younger generations of African-Americans seeking to learn about their heritage.

"Through the evocative stories and photographs in this exhibit, Idlewild community members share their rich past and their contributions towards a vital future," stated Marsha MacDowell, curator of folk arts at the MSU Museum and MSU professor of art and art history. The MSU Museum worked with Idlewild community leaders and scholars over a five-year period to develop the exhibit that shares the stories of the resort community's development, its thriving "Summer Apollo of Michigan" entertainment scene, and the town's active cultural, social, religious and political-organizations.

The exhibition consists of freestanding photographic interpretive banners and a reproduction of a quilt by Michigan quilter Deonna Todd Green. It traces through words and images the development of the Idlewild community from its inception in the 1920s to the present day. This multi-media art

ACKNOWLEDGING ACHES

A person should not accept that aching is part of aging. It is true that arising in the morning or getting up from a chair is more difficult as one approaches age 70 and beyond. But this difficulty of movement comes from stiffness which is a reflection of the slowing of chemical processes in the muscles and ligaments. Stiffness differs from aching: stiffness lessens with activity and aching continues or worsens with movement.

Aching is another way of saying that a joint(s) hurts. A painful joint is not acceptable particularly if the pain means ongoing discomfort and prevents one from carrying on with the day as intended or planned.

carrying on with the day as intended or planned. Indications for seeing a doctor include persistence of the ache, worsening of the pain, the onset of swelling of the involved joint or the spread of pain to other joints. One should come to the appointment able to answer the physician's questions on when the pain began, where it moves, what make the pain better, what makes the pain worse, how much pain comes on at night, and what medications has the person taken to treat the ache.

At times, the doctor will want x-rays or will order laboratory studies before making a diagnosis and recommending long term treatment. In the interim between the initial visit and the return one, he will prescribe pain medication.

It is best if the person's expectations are in line with the tempo of the joint evaluation. Then the individual will not be disappointed when the initial visit does not immediately resolve the problem and the pain.

RICHARD "Brad" ANGELI A life dedicated to Peace, Civil Rights and the Power of Reason Richard "Brad" Bradshaw Angell died on Dec. 24, 2010 at the age of 92, surrounded by family at his home in Kendal at Longwood, Kennett Square, PA. He is survived by his loving wife of 62 years, Imogene; his brothers Gardiner (Helen) & Steve Angell; his children, John (Emily Nahat), Paul, Jim (Cathy), David (Monisa) & Kathy Angell; grandchildren, Noah, Dylan, Caitlin, Corina & Olivia Angell, Elias Ketchum (Elizabeth Horpedahl), Craig Gilman (Jessica) & Justin Lunge; & great-grandchildren, Blake & Julie Gilman, Noah & Marlee Horpedahl. He was born to Stephen Leroy & Mary Alice Angell on Oct. 14, 1918 in Bronxville, NY. He attended Bronxville High School, where he founded a Peace Club & first joined the Religious Society of Friends, or Quakers, at the age of 15. He went on to Swarthmore College as an undergraduate in the class of 1940. He initially thought he would like to go into politics & did his Graduate studies at the Wharton School at University of Pennsylvania, receiving his Masters in Government Administration. During WW2, he had applied for & was granted Conscientious Objector status, however he was moved to volunteer with the Army 20th General Hospital unit in May, 1942. He was sent to officer's training school & emerged as a Medical Administrative Officer, at a captain's rank. In this role, he would not be called upon to kill & would be in a position to help save lives on both sides of the conflict. This allowed him to reconcile his pacifist beliefs with his need to help stop the evil Hitler was perpetrating. Upon his return from the war in 1945, his direction had moved away from politics & he had developed a keen interest in the study of ethics. He went to talk with the famous American Philosopher, Philosopher, & Education Reformer, John Dewey, regarding the possibility of pursuing a PhD in Philosophy. He applied & was accepted to Harvard, where he met his wife Imogene, while boarding with Professor John Demos' family. They were married in June of 1949 & enjoyed raising a family of five in their 62 years together. He received his PhD in Philosophy from Harvard in 1954 & went on to a teaching career at several colleges, primarily Ohio Wesleyan in Delaware, Ohio & Wayne Ohio State University in Detroit, where he served as Department Chair. He is the author of two books on Logic. His first, Reasoning and Logic, was a textbook published in 1954. His second, A-Logic, published in 2002, when he was 84, laid out a new system of logic which was his life's work. It is available for review on the web at: http://digitalcommons.wayne.edu/philofrp/1/. He also maintained a personal journal of Philosophical Thoughts from 1985 through 2010 which will be archived at Swarthmore College. He was a member of a number of professional associations including the American Philosophical Association, the Society American for Exact Philosophy & the Gandhi King Society for the Philosophical Study of Non Violence. He published many articles & abstracts in Academic Journals & presented his papers inter-nationally. He has been an active member in the Society of Friends & was instrumental in the formation of the Friends Meeting in Delaware, Ohio & served as Clerk for the Delaware & Birmingham, MI Friends Meetings. He had a lifelong dedication to the Civil Rights & Peace movements. And he had a sustaining belief in the power of reason as a force to benefit humanity. He is profiled in Men of Peace, World War II Conscientious Objectors by Mary R. Hopkins, along with his brother, Steve. He served as an officer in the Oakland County Chapter of the United Nations Association-USA, the Board of Trustees for Friends School in Detroit & the Oakland County Peace & National Prioritles Center. With his wife Imogene, he founded the Quaker Inner City School Endowment Fund (QICSEF), to help sustain urban Quaker schools. A man of vast curiosi-ty, both intellectual & cultural, he was fascinated by all that surrounded him from quantum physics to a jet ski competition he chanced upon when visiting Santa Cruz, CA. He loved birds, trees classical music, painting, historical sites & followed the rulings of the Supreme Court & even the career of Tiger Woods. An avid outdoorsman & hiker, he particularly loved the White Mountains, where he served as a guide at Lost River while in college & made his final ascent of Mt. Washington at age 75. He raised his family to always leave the campsite better than they had found it, as his father had raised him. And, always a man of his convictions, he leaves this world a better place for having lived in it. He exemplified the Quaker precept of finding "that of God in every person", supporting his wife and raising their children to question, be independent & follow their hearts where they led them. Memorial Services will be held at Kendal Auditorium, Kendal at Longwood, Kennett Square, PA on Sat., Jan. 15 at 2pm. No flowers, please. Messages to family may be sent to: Imogene Angell 326 Kendal Drive Kennett Square, PA 19348

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

A Résumé Checklist: 13 Things To Do Before You Apply For The Job

Selena Dehne, JIST Publishing. Featuring an excerpt from "Step-by-Step Resumes" by Evelyn Salvador.

When writing the first draft of your resume, you probably know it could be -- and should be -- stronger than it is. If you're like many job seekers, though, you might feel pretty mystified as to which specific steps will lead you to more powerful content and a more attractive design.

Fortunately, boosting a bland resume or simply polishing it before applying for a job isn't as cumbersome as you might expect. According to Evelyn Salvador, author of "Step-by-Step Résumes," there are many simple, yet effective, tricks that can significantly strengthen your resume's readability, call to action, marketability and overall appearance.

In her book, Salvador recommends you take the following steps to improve a resume before using it to apply for jobs:

1. Remove personal pronouns. The subject (I, me or my) is understood in your resume and you should leave it out of each sentence. If your resume contains any of these words, delete them and restructure your sentences if necessary.

2. Check for action verbs. Be sure each bullet in your "professional experience" section starts with an action verb or adverb preceding the action verb.

3. Delete redundant or superfluous words. Review each sentence or bullet and delete any words that your sentence reads fine without, such as "the" and "that," as well as unnecessary "fluff" words. Edit down to the most concise sentence possible without omitting any important content, such as achievements.

bullets. If you have many responsibility and achievement bullets under each position (say, more than 10), you can divide them into two categories ("responsibilities" and "achievements") and subtitle them as such under each position for easier reading.

Check for quantifying 9. information. When reviewing your sentences, ask yourself, "Did I include how many, how much, how often, how big, how fast, how well and so on?" If not, go edit your sentences to include more specific, concrete information.

10. Verify that "CAR" and benefit info is included. Do your achievements include the Challenge you faced, the Action you took and the Result? Be sure you show how well you performed these functions and always include the benefit(s) to the company.

11. Vary bullet line length. Try for a good mix of line lengths. Bullets are effective when they are a combination of one, two and three typed lines. Because it is important to show not only what you did, but also how well you did it and what the benefits were to the company, information should be concise without sacrificing content or meaning. In this way, you will have an action-packed, achievementoriented resume that is tightly and concisely written.

12. Check grammar, punctuation and spelling.

Spell-check your document in your word-processing program. Proofread several times. Be consistent in your use of capitalization and hyphenation. Be sure you have used correct grammar and punctuation. If this is not one of your fortes (and it isn't for many people), give your completed resume to someone you trust to proofread it for you.

13. Add more descriptive adjectives or adverbs where applicable. Check to see whether you can infuse any additional descriptors that show how well you performed your job functions.
