Sikh forum aims at understanding

BY DARRELL CLEM OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

As Plymouth-Canton school officials and local Sikh leaders strive to reach an accord to uphold the district's weapons policy while accommodating religious customs, about 100 people Thursday evening attended a public forum detailing how Sikhism was misunderstood long before a dagger-shaped, blunt-edged kirpan fell out of a fourth-grader's clothing.

At times, misconceptions have led to deadly hate crimes, such as the post-9/11 slaying of a turban-wearing Sikh man who was gunned down in Arizona, not long after he gave money to aid terrorist-attack relief efforts. As Americans, fearful Sikhs watched a horrendous assault on their chosen nation even as they personally faced discrimination.

"It was like being attacked twice," said Jaspal

K. Neelam, a Sikh mother of three and keynote speaker during Thursday's forum, organized by Plymouth-Canton Citizens for Diversity and Inclusion at St. Thomas a Beckett Catholic Church.

At other times, suspicion toward Sikhs - fueled by religious attire and customs some people simply don't understand - has led to less-dire yet still-painful reactions, such as taunting of young Sikhs on school playgrounds or hateful stares inside grocery stores.

After a kirpan — worn by baptized Sikhs as a religious symbol against violence toward the defenseless — fell from the Bentley Elementary boy's clothing, a controversy ensued as the local spotlight shone on Sikhs, who have six gurdwarras, or places of worship, in metro Detroit and as many as 1,500 families in Michigan.

Caroline Ahlquist has done volunteer work in India, and she's studied abroad in Argentina.

So when Ahlquist decided she was going to join the Peace Corps and work in Paraguay, family members weren't all that stunned. Father Sam was a little concerned, mom Diane "freaked out a little," according to her daughter, but the general reaction seemed to be, "That's Caroline being Caroline."

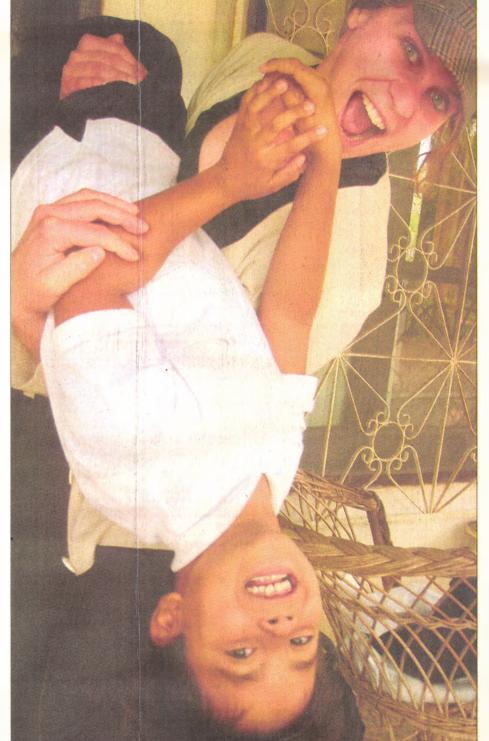

"Really, I just thought it went right along with everything else she's done," said her nephew, Nick Evans.

Caroline, a 2002 graduate of Salem High School whose parents, Sam and Diane, live in Plymouth, has done her share of traveling. She went all the way across the country — to Portland State University in Oregon - to earn a degree in Latin American Studies (with a minor in Spanish) in 2008. ## Foundation grant provides Girl Scout aid Girl Scouting will be available to financially-challenged girls in Plymouth this year, thanks in part to a grant from the Plymouth Community Foundation.

A $1,000 gift from the foundation will help to provide membership dues, books, resources, recruitment materials, training and administrative support. The funds are targeted at the 15 percent of students in the Plymouth-Canton School District who qualify for free or reducedprice school lunches.

"We believe that the benefits of Girl Scouting should be available to all girls," said Beth Braaksma, fund development specialist for Girl Scouts Heart of Michigan, "especially those girls who do not have access to quality after-school activities such as Girl Scouting due to socio-economic barriers.

"Participation in Girl Scouting opens a world of opportunity for girls who might not otherwise be able to have access to the high-quality programming available to members, such as field trips, community service projects, travel and more than 300 programs sponsored by Girl Scouts Heart of Michigan," she said.

Girl Scouts Heart of Michigan has a goal of serving 650 girls out of a potential of 1,855 girls, aged 5-17, in the Plymouth-Canton School District in school year 2010-

Through the Girl Scout Leadership Experience, girls discover themselves, connect with others, and take action to make the world a better place. Girl Scouting offers girls the tools they need to be successful leaders, and now and throughout their lives. In partnership with committed adults, Girl Scouts develop strong values and improve society. Girl Scouts Heart of Michigan invites girls everywhere to become Girl Scouts. ## Rotary honors 'best of the best' in public safety

BY MATT JACHMAN OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Bob Smith has been retired from the Plymouth Township Police Department for just over two months. But the former assistant chief, one of the first officers hired when the township organized its police department in 1985, returned with honor on Friday.

Smith was named the township's Officer of the Year during the Rotary Club of Plymouth's weekly luncheon meeting at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

"One of the ways to honor those of us in public safety is to continue to honor those who serve," Smith said in thanking the Rotary for the award. "This organization continues to support the public safety heroes of this community and well beyond."

Smith joined four other public safety workers — Plymouth Officer Jennifer Dergis and Sgt. Joe Kahanec, Huron Valley Ambulance paramedic Rob Foster, and Plymouth Community Fire Department Firefighter Greg Mangan — in taking home Rotary honors. Rotarian John Warner, cochairman, with John Folino, of the Rotary's public safety committee, called them "the best of the best."

Township Police Chief Tom Tiderington, joking that Smith had been the runner-up in many previous officer-of-theyear decisions, said Smith had a distinguished career and helped shape the department with his leadership.

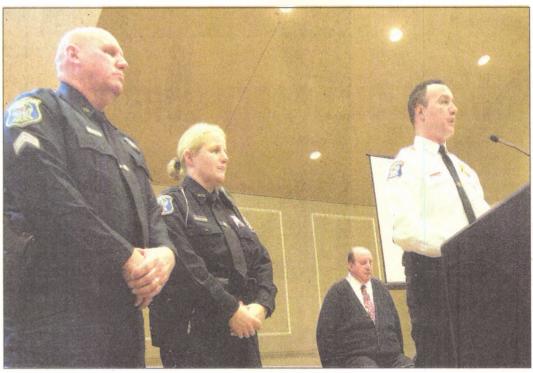

Tiderington also pointed to Smith's work as pastor at the Brighton campus of the 2|42 Community Church, and to his and wife Kim's work with medical teams in povertystricken Haiti.

Their efforts have changed or saved the lives of many," the chief said.

in downtown Plymouth last February. No one was hurt. Dergis and Kahanec are both previous officer-of-the-year winners, Cox said. "That alone should tell you a little bit about the quality of their work product," he said. Kahanec has been with the department for nearly 36 years, Dergis for 14 years. Mangan, a six-year PCFD veteran, takes the lead in everything he does, from fire and medical calls to department charity drives, said PCFD Capt. Dan Philips,

"They wrote me a speech for him, but I'm not going to read it," said Philips, adding that

"we're here to talk about the 100 things" Mangan does to set himself apart.

With every run, every encounter with a citizen, Philips said, "he does a little bit more and a little bit better."

Said Mangan: "It's an awesome honor. I feel privileged." Foster, a 10-year HVA employee, embodies the Rotary motto "Service Above Self," said Paul Hood, HVA's vice president for eastern operations.

"He takes charge head-on, and he is not afraid to go above and beyond the call of duty," Hood said. "Rob has the ability to treat the whole person, and that includes the family."

Rotarian Warner said that if one doesn't normally think day-to-day about the importance of public safety employees, people who were helped after a furniture store exploded in the city of Wayne late last month could attest to it.

Kiwanis dictionary donation 'elementary'

It didn't take long for third graders in schools from Allen Elementary to Workman Elementary to discover all of the fun facts in their new dictionaries. In fact, all of the PCCS third graders were using their dictionaries to look up works like "service" and "volunteer."

Those words would be music to the ears of folks in the Kiwanis Club of Canton, which donated some 1,300 dictionaries to third-graders in the 16 elementary schools in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district.

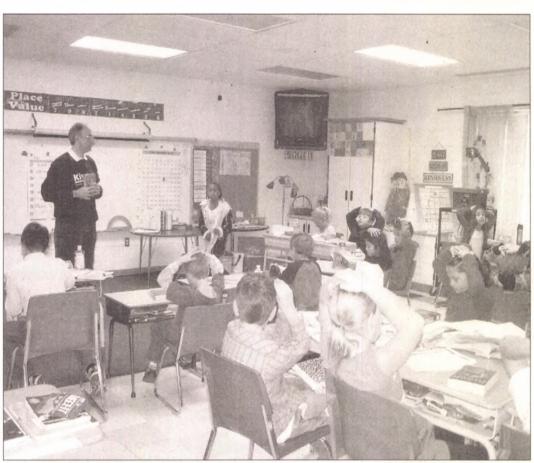

Joanna Uhl's class at Eriksson Elementary School was one of many in the district to receive complimentary dictionaries from the Canton Kiwanis Club.

According to club president Mark Ott, the distribution is done with books purchased through The Dictionary Project, a national organization supporting literacy by providing access to affordable books for students. The Kiwanis Club of Canton (formerly Plymouth Canton Breakfast) has supplied books to students for the last six years and during that time they have provided over 10,000 books to the children. Ott said it's been a fun proj-

Monit says yes, Pitsenbarger no to new term on W-W school board

OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

There will be a new face on the Wayne-Westland school board come July 1 with the announcement that Martha Pitsenbarger will not seek re-election to a fifth four-year term.

"This is it," said Pitsenbarger, the most senior member of the board. "I knew that four years ago. Sixteen years is enough.'

Pitsenbarger's seat, as well as the one held by board President Skip Monit, will be filled in the Tuesday, May 3, school election. Monit, who is completing his 12th year on the board, plans to seek a fourth term.

"I feel my work isn't done, I still have things to do and I believe I have valuable experience I can give to this district," said Monit, a Wayne resident. "I originally hadn't planned to run again, but as I went through the process and things progressed, I could see what was coming down the road and decided to serve one more term."

For Pitsenbarger, the decision to leave the board comes at a time when she is caring for her husband who is recovering from a bacterial fungus that left him hospitalized for two months and in a wheelchair for more than three weeks. She is now caring for him in Myrtle Beach, N.C., where he is getting therapy three days a week and recovering from the infection with the help of the salty air.

During her almost 16 years on the board, she has served as the board president for two years and as the secretary for 13 years. It probably would have been 14 years, but Pitsenbarger ask not to be nominated for the position last July in part because of her husband's illness.

Granola bar helps police break the case in school burglary

BY MATT JACHMAN OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

A granola bar wrapper, an alert custodian and "good oldfashioned police work" led to the arrests early Wednesday of two men now charged with breaking into Central Middle School in Plymouth.

Kyle Hendrick of Plymouth and Chad Owens of Plymouth Township, both 20, were arraigned Thursday on burglary charges by 35th District Court Judge James Plakas. Not-guilty pleas were entered for them, and they were each freed on a $25,000 personal bond.

Police arrested each at his home early Wednesday after a custodian at Central reported finding a broken window there at about 2:30 a.m., said Sgt. Jamie Grabowski, who is in charge of police detectives. The custodian had also seen, from a distance, someone running in a hallway. She assumed it was a co-worker, but he told her later it wasn't him, Grabowski said.

The custodian had also reported finding a granola bar had been used to prop open an exterior door at the school, Grabowski said.

That information prompted

Officer Chris Voorhies, who was on duty that night, to recall an encounter about a half-hour earlier with two men who were riding bicycles without lights, Grabowski said. Voorhies had stopped the pair, in the area of Church and Main streets, and they agreed to pat-downs, he said.

The pat-downs turned up granola bar wrappers and a computer cable, and Voorhies had thrown out the wrappers, taken the men's names and released them, Grabowski said.

The wrappers turned out to be for the same type of granola bar that held open the school door, Grabowski said. At Central, Officer Tom Koval found footprints in the snow on a roof, near where the window had been broken.

"It's good old-fashioned police work," Grabowski said.

The officers confronted each suspect at his home, and both admitted to the break-in, Grabowski said.

Granola bars and a computer cable were reported stolen. A preliminary hearing for

"I can still talk to everybody on the board," Jackson said. "I think there's a chance for us to come together, and I'd like to be the person who makes that happen. I have a track record for doing that and I'd like to try that here. If enough board members agree with me, I'd be honored and I look forward to the challenge."

The other positions — vice president, secretary and treasurer — are also up for grabs. Current Secretary Nancy Eggenberger said she'd like to remain an officer, perhaps

"I've got a strong math background, and I'd like to be a part of that," Eggenberger said. "I've been on the board 3/2 years, and I'd be interested in trying other officer positions, but it's not up to me how that happens."

Trustee Dianne Gonzalez, Fiegel's most outspoken critic, said she has communicated her desires to other board members, but wouldn't say which job she'd like, other than to acknowledge she thinks it's time for her to take on a leadership role.

"I feel sort of bad because I've always kind of taken a back seat," said Gonzalez, who has also started her own business during her tenure. "I'm going to talk to everyone and let them know. I feel like I should step up, and this is a good time to do it."

Current Treasurer Judy Mardigian, the board's longestserving member and a former board president, did not return calls seeking comment. If the voting stays the way it's been on major issues the last several months, Mardigian could retain her position.

Trustee Adrienne Davis, the newest member of the board who became the district's first African-American board member when she was elected in November 2009, wouldn't say whether she'd seek an officer position.

"I'm still awaiting information on how we're approaching it," Davis said. "I don't want to

Regardless of how the officer elections turn out, Simescu said he'd like to see the board continue the work started in a series of workshops on developing superintendent goals and working more efficiently together as a body. The workshops have been led by Mary Kerwin of the Michigan Association of School Boards, who has told board members they "need to heal."

"I would like to continue the work we've started with Marv Kerwin," Simescu said. "The budget (process) is going to start up again soon, and we're going to have to deal with some rather scary numbers coming out of Lansing. We've got a lot of things we're going to have to discuss."

Jackson said board members have to put the acrimony of the last several months behind

"We have to get our focus off of where we disagree and focus on what we agree on and what's necessary to make this district successful," Jackson said. "I think we're spending too much time focusing on the negative and not enough on the positive. We spend an awful lot of time on stuff that's not productive."

but her discussion with him awakened something in Caroline.

"The more I learned about it, the more I liked the idea," Caroline said. "It sounded like something that was for me."

She briefly considered going to Africa, but the uncertainty about what Peace Corps life would be like sent her to Paraguay, where her background in Spanish came in handy.

That was OK with her familv. who were concerned about where their daughter, once she made the decision to join, might end up.

"There were places that scared us," Sam Ahlquist said. "But I read all the Peace Corps information, and they take care of their people. I felt a lot better about it after that."

While the $30,000 rumor turned out to be unfounded, Caroline said the Peace Corps does provide a way of life for its volunteers, including a place to live, and enough money to eat. In fact, she said, by Paraguayan standards, it's a fairly comfortable stipend.

Her Peace Corps project is education and youth development, working with elementary school students. She's already built a library, which she said is "up and running, people are borrowing things." Over the next year (her commitment expires in April 2012) she hopes to help students improve communication skills, among other objec-

It hasn't been completely smooth. Caroline said the Paraguayans are sometimes slow to accept people, particularly those who are different, so the social aspect of the job has been a little daunting.

"I've had to learn how to get along with people who aren't used to getting along with you and your culture," Caroline said. "But it's the most fun part, too, if you're with people who can laugh at you, and you can laugh at vourself."

Life in Paraguay is much more laid back than Caroline is used to — "It's the most 'tranquilo' place in the world," she said with a laugh — dotted with sleepy little towns like Villa Oliva, where she lives.

There are challenges. Most of the roads in and out of town are dirt, so when it rains, she said, life basically stops because "you can't get anywhere." She went into town a couple of days before her flight home for the holidays in case the weather rendered the roads impassable.

But it has its rewards, too. The work, Caroline said, is fun, and the people she's met have "been amazing." Her students call her "prof" (for professor) and they're getting used to her "weirdness." Her Spanish has come in handy, because she has struggled with the local language, Guaranese.

"I speak enough Guarini to make people giggle," Caroline said, smiling. "I speak Spanish, which sometimes comes off a little cold, because it's the 'official' language."

The best part, she said, is the people. She said she's made amazing friends, people on whom she can call for just about anything, despite the fact she's only been there since February.

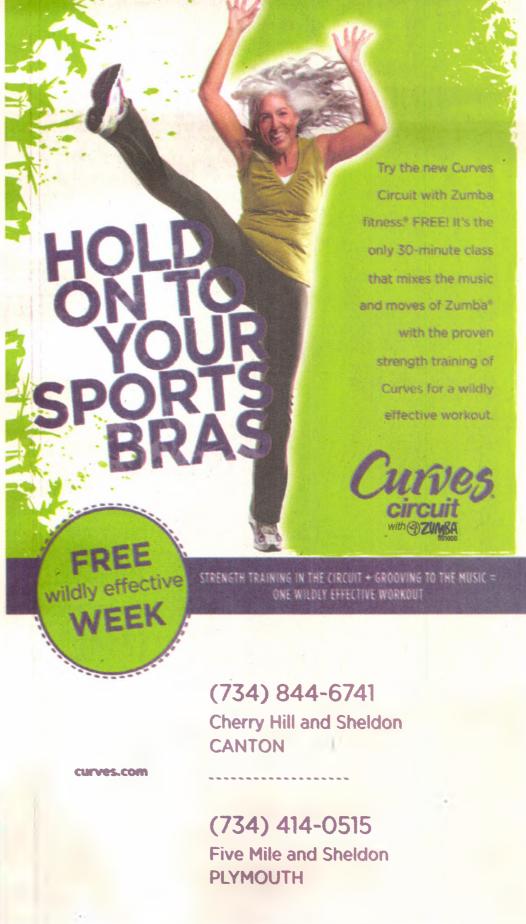

'The people I've met, my friends there, have been so amazing," Caroline said. "I'm shocked people who've known me for so little time can be so amazing to me."

When her tour is up, it's off to grad school (she's considering the University of Michigan, Georgetown or school in Switzerland). Caroline said she'd like to continue the same kind of work, though perhaps "higher up the chain," maybe fund-raising to help even more people do the kind of work she's doing.

"What I really hope to leave (Paraguay) with is having had this amazing experience and made these wonderful Paraguayan friends," she said. "I hope I will have had as great an effect on them as they've

Vacant gas station razed; redevelopment plan revised

BY MATT JACHMAN
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Visitors to downtown Plymouth might be doing double-takes at the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street.

A long-closed gas station, which the property owner wants to replace with a restaurant/retail development, is gone. The station was torn down on Wednesday by a crew from the company of Rick Perlongo in Plymouth; it had sat empty for years while the redevelopment of downtown Plymouth seemingly passed it by.

Meanwhile, Ed Dombrowski and Omar Hamdan are preparing to return Wednesday to the Plymouth Planning Commission, which last month asked them to revise plans for a three-story building of restaurants, retail stores, or a combination of the two. Under the current proposal, the 789 Building (named for its address on Ann Arbor Trail) would have a food court of five kiosks and a dining area on a below-grade first floor, two restaurants on the second floor, and one restaurant, with outdoor rooftop seating, on the third floor.

Planning commissioners in December raised concerns about trash disposal, the amount of parking spaces required and the sunken first floor. Consultant Don Wortman's written analysis of revised plans says the latter two concerns remain: the area's Central Business District zoning frown on below-grade ground floors, and the building would require 17 off-street parking spaces, Wortman wrote. (Current plans do not provide for parking, but developers can reach deals with the city for a payment in lie of parking.) Wortman also called for details on some of the outdoor lighting.

But Dombrowski is confident his proposal will be approved.

"Those are not final plans," Dombrowski said, but more of a concept. "As soon as the concept's accepted, the engineers have to follow through."

Dombrowski owns the property with his wife, Patricia, and Hamdan has a background in developing and managing restaurants.

Dombrowski said he is soliciting proposals from restaurateurs or retailers who might want to locate at the site.

"Everybody wants to get into business today, but it's not as easy as they think," he said.

He said he hopes to breek ground on the

He said he hopes to break ground on the project by early spring. "Sooner if we get a warm streak," he said.

Canton man grabs $250,000 lottery prize

Three lucky winners across the state won $250,000 prizes in the Mega Millions game from Tuesday night's huge jackpot. Two of the winners have come forward to collect their winnings.

Neelam said. Plymouth-Canton officials have banned kirpans as they seek a new policy. Frank Ruggirello, the district's director of community relations, issued a statement Thursday indicating the district will continue to prohibit weapons and items that look like weapons to ensure a safe educational environment.

"Our attorneys have informed us, however, that the courts have exempted religious artifacts, and there are documented methods that courts have approved," the statement read. "We have identified the related case law and will use it to help us make decisions related to this particular situation."

School officials and Sikh leaders plan to meet Wednesday, and Ruggirello said, "We are optimistic that we will be able to work out the details of an accommodation plan. When we do, we will communicate the plan to our school community and the media so that the greater community will understand."

Meanwhile, the culturally and racially diverse crowd attending Thursday's forum listened attentively as Neelam, who attends the Gurdwara Sahib Hidden Falls of Plymouth Township, gave a historical perspective of the world's fifthlargest religion, which believes in one God, equality for all, truth and social justice and the brotherhood of humanity. It was started in 1469 by Guru Nanak as a religion against oppression, and its followers are expected to work hard, help the needy and remember God throughout the TejKiran Singh, a representative of the Gurdwara Sahib Singh Sabha of Michigan in Canton, welcomed Thursday's forum: "We are Americans, and we want all of our brothers and sisters, as Americans, to know who we are."

Robert Bruttell, who chairs the InterFaith Leadership Council of Metropolitan Detroit, said other religions also have faced difficulties. He said President John F. Kennedy had to overcome prejudices toward Catholics when he ran for office.

Bruttell urged the crowd, which also engaged in small group discussions, to serve as ambassadors to teach others about Sikhism: "Learn something and take it to the rest of your community."

That's just what Elizabeth Barker of the 100-member women's Plymouth Study Group plans to do by inviting Sikh speakers to address the group.

Neelam said Sikhs number 25 million worldwide, and though many live in India, they remain a minority even there. The Sikh population has grown to 700,000 in the United States, and Neelam said many are involved in their communities by feeding the homeless and offering free health-care fairs.

Neelam said Sikhs respect all religions, though "we believe in one creator for the entire universe."

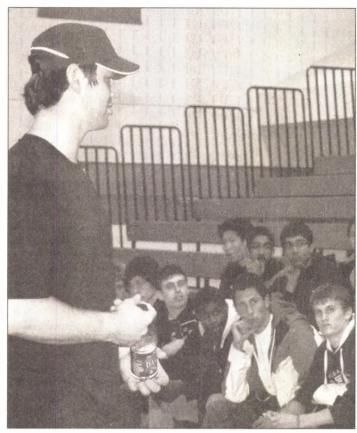

She said Sikh customs such as tucking long hair in turbans and carrying kirpans stem from centuries-old rules to cement a relationship with God and defend against oppression. The kirpan, she said, usually is a few inches long, has a small wooden or steel handle and a blunt blade.

Meanwhile, Sikhs hope to further educate the public with open houses, tentatively Jan. 30 at the Canton gurdwara and Feb. 6 at the Plymouth Township gurdwara. Singh said more details will be forthcoming.

Friends of the Rouge is looking for volunteers who want to help look for stoneflies in the Rouge River on Saturday, Jan. 22. Volunteers must pre-register by Jan. 14 on the FOTR website www.therouge.org or by calling (313) 792-9621.

Winter stoneflies have an unusual lifestyle in that they hatch from streams in winter rather than the more pleasant spring or summer like mayflies. Friends of the Rouge has been monitoring stoneflies since 2002 because their extreme sensitivity to pollution makes them good indicators of water quality. They are found in tributaries and branches of the Middle and Lower Rouge River and occasionally in the Upper Rouge. Last winter, they were found for the first time on the Main Branch of the Rouge in the city of Detroit. It is hoped that they will be found again at that site and nearby.

Volunteers must dress for the weather and be prepared to be out in the cold for several hours. Only trained team leaders go in the water; volunteers search through samples on the bank. Children age 5 and older are welcome when accompanied by a participating adult: groups of up to six people can be accommodated.

The Annual Winter Stonefly Search is part of a long-term monitoring program coordinated by Friends of the Rouge. It is supported by the Fred A. and Barbara M. Erb Family Foundation.

Lettin' it roll: Friends keep Bunco night going for 25 years

BY STACY JENKINS
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Observer & Eccentric | Sunday, January 9, 2011

They've been through a lot in 25 years, but they've never rolled the dice on their friendship — or on having a good time.

This group of eight Bunco dice game players — plus or minus a sub here and there — keeps the laughs, the memories and a sort of sisterhood alive and well with monthly Bunco.

They are longtime friends who, between them, since starting the group, have had 15 children, 10 grandchildren, numerous graduations, communions and other milestones and, notably, no divorces.

Carol Livingston of Farmington Hills started the Bunco group 25 years ago in the neighborhood — Flanders Street, west of Farmington Road, between Eight Mile and Nine Mile.

"It's a good way to keep in touch with what's happening in the neighborhood," said Livingston.

Bev Rotenheber, who hosted a recent Bunco night at her Flanders home, said it's not really about playing the fastpaced dice game at all.

"Just to get together with my friends — we've gone through so much with each other and with our kids," said Rotenheber. "I don't play for the game, I like to see my friends."

Kay York of Farmington Hills said it's definitely social time at the not-so-serious Bunco nights.

"It takes no concentration, which is why we like it — we can talk while we play," said Kay.

Carol McElroy of Farmington Hills said having the group of friends meeting monthly has been handy in exchanging tips and the do's and don'ts, especially when the

Each month, eight women gather to play Bunco, just as they've been doing for the past 25 years. The newest member, Jennifer Frusch, on right in striped sweater, is the daughter of Bev Rotenheber.

The Bunco ladies play four per table during the fast-paced dice game.

kids were school age. Now, Bunco has a second generation, with Bev

Rotenheber's daughter,

Jennifer Frusch of Northville, joining the fun as the newest member.

"I bridged the generation gap," she said.

But, seriously, she's having an awesome time with these Bunco Babes.

"I consider my mom to be my best friend," said Frusch, 32 years old and mother of two. "This is my girls night out. I'd rather hang out with them than with most people

She remembers her mom and friends playing Bunco when she was a little girl—and being startled by the sudden shouts of "Bunco!" as she tried to go to sleep.

As one might expect after 25 years of playing the same game, each player has taken on her own Bunco persona.

We have the ever-witty Kitty Ostach, who is quick with a joke and plenty of laughs.

There's the steady, sweet Carol McElroy, who serves as a main substitute — in December she subbed for Colleen Pace.

Then, you have Barb Ksiazek of Novi, who is likely the most serious of the Bunco players and is known for her scorekeeping prowess.

Bev Rotenheber is called the therapist of the group, with her sweet and caring demeanor.

LaJean Nagrant of Northville is "our toy," said Ostach, noting she's also her "sidekick in trouble."

Carol Livingston is called The Queen, since she organized the group, and keeps it on track for its monthly games eight months out of the year. Plus, she collects the money that goes into a summer Bunco field trip to somewhere like a musical, comedy club, the casino or a race track.

Finally, there's Kay York, who just enjoys laughing — a lot.

"That's all she does is laugh," said Frusch. "It's contagious — she starts and we follow."

And that's the Bunco experience in a word.

Fixed annuity can be good retirement plan tool

Q: Dear Rick: I am in my mid-60s and recently retired. My wife, who has been retired for a few years, has a pension. I have one as well. Our pensions more than cover our needs and we are delaying collecting Social Security until we're each 70. We have no debt, our house is paid off and following your recommendations, my portfolio is about half and half between stocks and bonds. We have about $50,000 in cash to invest. We want to be conservative with the money and, therefore, I was thinking of CDs or fixed annuities. I know from your column that you have no problem with fixed annuities. Does a fixed annuity make sense for me vou want. without money being an issue. It's obvious from your letter that you and your wife have been successful in accumulating enough resources to maintain your lifestyle. You are correct. I do not have a problem with fixed annuities. There are many very good fixed annuities and particularly for someone who wants to protect the principal of his/her money, a fixed annuity makes sense.

I prefer fixed annuities over CDs, based upon returns. If you haven't noticed, rates of return on CDs are very low. That's not to say that rates on fixed annuities are high because they're not. However, they are higher than CDs. In addition, fixed annuities do have the benefit of allowing money to grow tax deferred.

When money accumulates in a fixed annuity there are no tax consequences until the money is withdrawn. With a CD, you are taxed on the money annually, whether you have the interest reinvested or ties, there are two types - traditional-fixed and equity-index.

The traditional-fixed guarantees a rate of return for a set period of time. The equity-index gives a guaranteed rate of return, plus a bonus based upon the performance of an index (i.e. S&P 500) linked to the stock market.

Equity-index annuities are fixed income investments because you cannot lose your principal, however, the return can fluctuate based upon the stock market.

Unfortunately, buying fixed annuities, whether traditional-fixed or equityindex annuity, is not easy. Unlike a mutual fund where you can go directly to the company, you can't do that with an annuity. You must go through a representative of the company. In addition, what makes it more complex is that not all annuities are the same. There are some annuities stuffed with high fees while others are more "investor friendly."

When buying an annuity proceed with caution.

Whenever it comes to retaining the services of a professional, whether it is a lawyer, financial advisor or an annuity salesperson, dealing with honest and competent people is the key.

I recommend speaking with family and friends to find out who they've used and if they have confidence in them. In addition, you can always email me.

I generally recommend Jim Hutton from Hutton Financial, (800) 870-4444. He has been in the business for over a quarter century and understands the importance of low-cost investing.

Annuities can play an important part in someone's portfolio. However, like every other investment, some are good and some are bad. Investors should steer away from annuity products that are not investor friendly. Good luck!

It took a quarter for Plymouth's varsity girls basketball team to shake off the holiday rust Friday against Livonia Franklin in the KLAA South opener for both teams.

Plymouth outlasted the visiting Patriots 40-37 in a game that began as "The Chelsea Williams Show."

Franklin's senior forward scored all but two of her team's 14 first-half points. She finished with 23, along with eight rebounds.

But Plymouth (3-3, 1-0) came out in the second half with pressure defense and some timely shots to seize control of the game.

"We just came out and played better defense," Plymouth head coach Bob deBear said. "I think a lot of the baskets were scored on turnovers." According to deBear, it took a while for the team to get going in all phases of the game.

"We haven't played in 20 days," he said. "We had kids all over the place with vacation, so it was hard to have any continuity in practice. At the end of the game, it got better."

Frustrated about another close defeat was Franklin head coach Bob Ostrowski, who praised his team for playing as hard as it could.

"It's hard to swallow, knowing you're playing so good and so hard," Ostrowski said. "But you know what, the girls are really upbeat and they said they're going to continue to work hard."

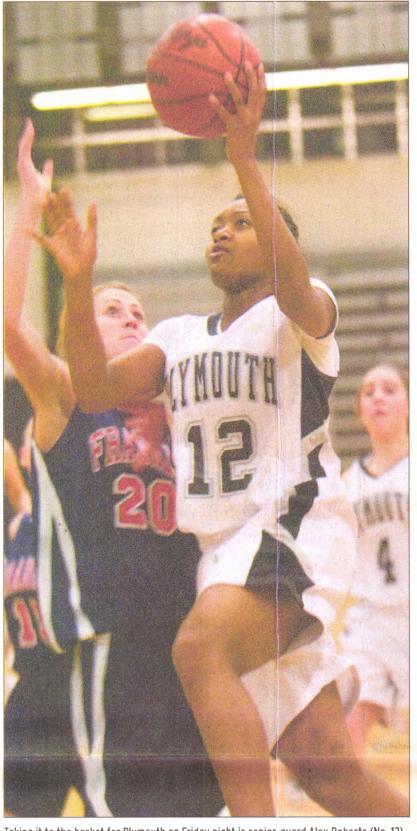

Ostrowski added that the Patriots (2-4, 0-1) are "just not getting the right bounce off the rim, we're not getting the right step on a girl."

TAKING OVER

The Patriots led 8-1 after one quarter (six points scored by Williams), 12-3 early in the second and 14-9 at halftime before Plymouth finally got in sync.

Setting the comeback tone for the Wildcats was senior guard Alex Roberts (11 points), who tallied the first seven points of the third — before Franklin could score any — to put Plymouth up 18-14.

Rocks sturdy, topple Chiefs

BY TIM SMITH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

For the second time in as many opportunities this season, Salem's varsity boys basketball team knocked off a campus rival.

The host Rocks outrebounded Canton by a 42-20 margin Wednesday night and benefited from a 23-point game by sophomore Chris Dierker to earn a 62-55 KLAA victory.

It was the second game of a varsity doubleheader between the Rocks and Chiefs; the varsity girls played earlier (Canton won, 42-10).

Dierker went off in the first quarter, scoring 12 points as Salem (5-0) broke out to a 16-10 lead after the stanza.

Midway through the first, Dierker calmly launched a majestic trey from behind the top of the arc. But he also scored on putbacks and short jumpers.

"I was just making my shots at the beginning of the game," said Dierker following the game, with a grin. "And once I got going, I just thought I could make

Chiefs bounce back

The Canton varsity boys basketball team overcame a slow start Friday night to get past Wayne Memorial 58-44 in the KLAA South opener for both teams.

Canton trailed 14-12 after one quarter, but stormed back with a combined 26-12 edge over the next two to take a 38-26 advantage.

Dietrich Lever II scored 26 for the Chiefs and added six assists, six rebounds and two steals, while other big contributors included Terrell Sewell (15 points, 13 rebounds) and Ben Spreitzer (12 points, 10 rebounds).

"I liked that we came back and rebounded the ball tonight," said Canton head coach Jimmy Reddy, whose team grabbed 40 boards to the Zebras' 25.

Plymouth prevails

In another KLAA South opener, the visiting Plymouth Wildcats defeated Livonia Franklin, 61-47.

Scoring 17 points each for the Wildcats (3-3, 1-0) were Brennen Beyer and Mike Nadratowski, while Pat Salo chipped in with 11.

"We came out and competed really hard for the first two quarters," Plymouth head coach Mike Soukup said.

North stars: Salem impresses at TC tourney

Salem sophomore forward Alek Zultowski (No. 2) skates into position to take a pass during the Rocks' tournament game against Orchard Lake St. Mary's.

BY TIM SMITH
OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

If Salem varsity boys hockey coach Ryan Ossenmacher learned anything from his team's trip to northern Michigan for a holiday tournament, it's that he's got a pretty good team.

The Rocks (6-3 overall, No. 6 in Division 1) finished 2-1 at the Traverse City Central Hockey Tournament, good for third overall out of eight top-level prep programs.

"Everything went pretty well," said Ossenmacher, about the Dec. 27-29 tourney. "If you'd tell them going up there that they'd finish 2-1, in third place, and be down by a goal against Orchard Lake St. Mary's and have a chance to tie it and go the finals, I think we probably would have taken that."

Ossenmacher said the Rocks trailed the Eaglets 4-3 late in the middle game played by Salem. With senior goalie Brandon Price pulled for an extra attacker, St. Mary's scored an insurance goal.

But Price played well in that game and also was stellar in Salem's two victories — a 2-0 shutout over Traverse City West and a 4-1 victory over Traverse City Reps.

"He's played really well," Ossenmacher said. "I think he's played every game for us and I can't say up to this point that he's had an off night at all."

P'RODUCTION LINE

In the win over TC West, junior forwards Michael Manser and Mark McGee scored for the Rocks.

Salem's goal scorers against St. Mary's were junior forward Austin Sartorius, senior forward Matt Downey and senior forward Nick Hayes with senior forward Connor Berlin adding two assists.

Against the TC Reps, Salem's dangerous line of McGee, Sartorius and senior forward Ryan Quigley accounted for three of the four goals.

Quigley scored twice with Sartorius and McGee assisting each time; in turn, he set up McGee for his goal.

Also lighting the lamp was Hayes, from Downey and junior defenseman Kyle Eggenberger.

The only other Salem players to tally a point during the tourney was senior defenseman Michael Hochkins (one assist).

Canton girls cagers rout Salem

OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Losing back-to-back games just before Christmas break put the Canton varsity girls basketball team in a sour mood.

And when the 2010-11 season resumed Wednesday at Salem, it was the Rocks who got squeezed like citrus. Canton rolled to a 42-10 KLAA victory in the opener of a rare girls-boys varsity doublehe:ader.

In Garne 2, the Salem boys varsity defeated visiting Canton by a 62-55 score.

"Christmas break, losing against Inkster and (Detroit) Country Day, you learn a lot from that, it gives you a different mindset," said Canton head coach Brian Samulski. "The girls have really picked it up in practice. The focus is better, we're defending better and concentrating more."

Canton improved to 4-2 while Salem dropped to 1-5, with KLAA division play slated to begin Friday.

The Chiefs' pressure defense forced 17 turnovers (including four steals by senior forward Sara Sch mitt) and pestered Salem shooters so much that they only connected on three of 25 field-goal attempts.

We knew that's the way they play," said Salem head coach Fred Thomann, about Canton's pressure D. "That's their style, they've been doing it for a lot of years.

"... Buit I thought there were a number of times where we were in position to make the next pass and we just didn't make it early enough and consequently got caught. Our job is to get better, obviously."

SHUTTING THE DOOR

The Chiefs fell behind 5-1 a few minutes into the contest. But they blanked the Rocks for the rest of the first half, building leads of 15-5 after one quarter and 24-5 at the half.

Salem's Heidi Schmidt has a step on Canton's Paige Aresco on Wednesday.

Salem did not score again until junior guard Brianna Berberet drained a trey with 5:45 left in the third to make

Many of Canton's buckets were fast-break layups, scored after the Chiefs picked off passes and subsequently raced to the Salem basket.

Seven straight Canton field goals in the first half were layups. Sophomore point guard Robyn Mack (eight points) was instrumental in several of those, including a nifty bounce pass in the paint to senior forward Sara Schmitt (seven points, four steals). "I thought we defended pretty well and didn't allow them anything easy," Samulski added. "For the most part, I thought we blocked out and rebounded. Overall I thought it was a pretty solid game.' The top scorer for Canton was senior forward Kari Schmitt (10 points, five rebounds). Also scoring eight and grabbing five rebounds was senior forward Kayla Bridges.

Salem was led by Berberet, who tallied six points. The other points were scored on buckets by senior point guard Heidi Schmidt and sophomore forward-guard Breanne Beaver.

According to Thomann, the infrequent playing schedule for the opening month of the season makes it difficult for teams to get into the swing.

That should change now that teams will begin playing at least twice a week.

"I think now that we're into two games a week, many of the teams will get a lot better because there's more of a rhythm to their contests." Thomann said.

Varsity twinbill puts girls in the spotlight

Tuesday, Jan. 11

W.L. North/Central at Plymouth, 6:30 p.m.

BY TIM SMITH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

On Wednesday night, area basketball fans were treated to a unique doubleheader.

Instead of playing on different nights or opposite venues, the Canton-Salem girls varsity teams and Canton-Salem boys varsity teams played back-to-back. The girls game began at 6 p.m., followed by the boys contest.

Is it an idea that could catch on? It depends on who you talk to.

According to parent Dennis Bridges, Sr., whose daughter (Kayla) is on the Canton varsity girls basketball team, bigger crowds typically watch the boys.

So it was nice for more people to catch part of the girls game.

"I think this is a better situation, to have the girls play first and then the boys, because more fans will be coming in," Bridges said. "... the other way around, there would be concerns that fans might leave as soon as the boys game ended.'

During the second half of the opener, stands at Salem High School began to fill up. Fans continued arriving after the nightcap started.

"It gives the students a chance to come out and see both girls and boys at the same time," he added. "I think that's a great idea."

According to Canton girls coach Brian Samulski, the girls-boys twinbill was "cool, they're a lot of fun. We do them with Salem and we do them with Plymouth."

The Chiefs and Wildcats will play a girlsboys twinbill on Friday, Jan. 14.

Samulski noted that schools in Plymouth-Canton Educational Park can try such an arrangement because "the Park is a unique situation, and I think it's cool that we can do this and have some school spirit both on the Canton and Salem sides.'

Bob Brodie, coach of the Salem boys, thought the twinbill was good as a special event. But he doesn't want to see it become a

"It was different, it was nice," Brodie said. "But I prefer to watch my own players, my freshman and JV teams.

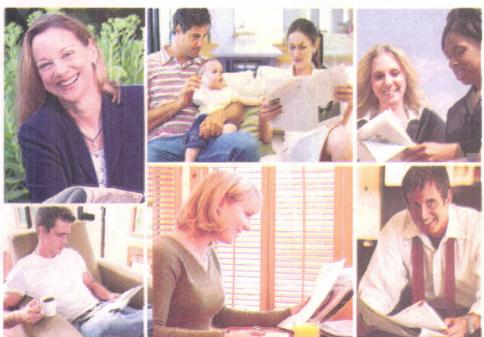

"If I had a preference to vote on that I'd rather stick with what we do as tripleheaders. It's better for gym time, it's better for us.'

And by the way, Dierker was a defensive menace, registering nine rebounds and three blocks - one of them on a layup bid early in the second by Canton sophomore guard Josh Mayberry.

"He's a good athlete, he likes to play both ends of the floor," Salem head coach Bob Brodie said. "He can bring the ball up like a guard, he rebounds like a big man, he's just a pretty versatile player."

WORKING FOR IT

Jimmy Reddy, head coach for 2-3 Canton, said the Rocks deserved to win based on their

"I thought we played hard at times, but we didn't play hard for 32 (minutes)," Reddy noted. "Salem did, Salem played their butts off, they pursued the ball better and they killed us on the glass. That was the game right there."

A bright spot for the Chiefs, still without injured junior forward Paul Baumgart, was the play of senior point guard Dietrich Lever II.

The Ferris State-bound playmaker managed 30 points, seven rebounds and seven steals despite being covered like a blanket all night.

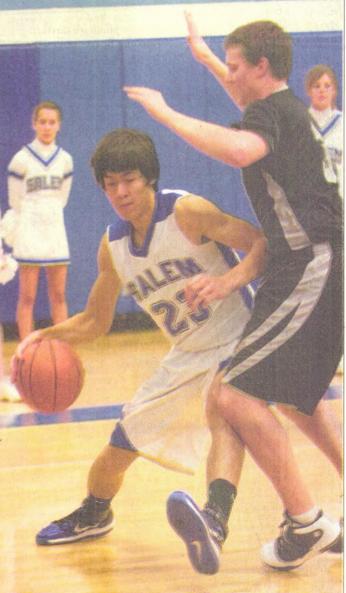

Brodie said Salem's defense "made (Lever) change his trajectory quite a bit. But give him credit for getting 30 even though we're trying to double him and triple him.'

Adding 14 points was Mayberry while junior forward Terrell Sewell chipped in with 10 boards.

Sewell didn't have much help in the paint and Reddy let the team know about it following the contest.

"I just told them rebounding is about effort and will," Reddy said. "It's not about weight, it's not about height. It's if you're willing to go and block a guy out, pursue the ball with two hands. And we just couldn't do that."

Perhaps because of the two-week holiday hiatus, poor shooting bothered both teams. Canton hit on just 20 of 60 field-goal attempts while the Rocks were only slightly better

Salem sophomore Chris Dierker (No. 23), shown from a game earlier this season, scored a career-best 23 points against Canton.

(19-of-53).

Much of the game was a seesaw affair.

After forging ahead thanks to Dierker's run, both teams traded leads several times during the second quarter.

Lever was the big reason for that, as he spearheaded an 11-0 spurt (scoring nine of the points) to put Canton up 25-21 with 2:50 to play in the half.

Salem bounced right back, taking a 30-26 edge into the intermission.

Senior forward Zinoviy Pelekh (10 points, seven rebounds) and junior center Josh Peterson tallied clutch, short-range baskets during that rally.

CLOSING IT OUT The Rocks then took a 44-37 lead into the wild and frantic fourth, when each team scored 18 points. À Dierker jumper gave Salem a 51-41 advantage, but sharp shooting from Mayberry (two treys) and Lever (one trey) pulled the Chiefs to within 58-52 with 1:10 left.

Sewell's subsequent layup made it 58-54, but Salem senior guard Josh Perrin went four-for-four from the freethrow line to clinch the win.

The Rocks received contributions from a number of players, with senior center Ethan Walsh (six points), Perrin and junior forward Tyler Stewart (five points each) helping the

The Wildcats added a driving layup by junior guard Kate Watson (five points), a short jumper by freshman guard Kylie Robb (seven points) and a trey by freshman forward Jada Woody to help the home team go up 27-25 going into the fourth.

Plymouth never gave up the lead in the fourth, starting it with a 10-3 run to lead 37-28 with about three minutes to play.

Quickness on defense by Robb, freshman guard Alyssa Dillon (six points) and Watson helped frustrate the Patriots, who other than Williams had trouble generating any offense all night. Scoring seven for Franklin was senior Amanda Borico

"She (Watson) is a sparkplug," deBear said about the co-captain. "She brings enthusiasm to every practice and every game. She just plays

1,000 miles an hour."

SALEM 50, SOUTH LYON EAST 31: The host Rocks took control of their KLAA Central opener during the middle quarters, with margins of 15-6 and 10-6 to build a commanding 42-23 lead.

Junior guard Brianna
Berberet and senior point guard
Heidi Schmidt were big factors in the win with outstanding shooting from behind the arc.
Berberet connected on three triples and Schmidt made two,
as they tallied 21 and 16 points, respectively.

Schmitt had 10 rebounds, while sophomore forward Breanne Beaver pulled down eight for Salem (2-5, 1-0). "We made a few shots

"We made a few shots tonight," Salem head coach Fred Thomann said. "We did a little better taking care of the basketball and we played a little bit better on the defensive end."

CANTON 67, WAYNE 17: There was little doubt who would win Friday's game between Canton and visiting Wayne Memorial following the first quarter, which ended with the Chiefs ahead 22-0.

Canton (5-2, 1-0) coasted from there in the KLAA South opener for both teams. Leading the Chiefs with 17 points each were seniors CarolAnn Sexauer and Kayla Bridges, who also had seven rebounds. Contributing 12 points was senior Kari Schmitt while senior Sara Schmitt had seven points and eight boards.

Salem bowls over Trojans

Now that the holiday break is over, Salem's bowling teams are working out the kinks and could be on the brink of an excellent season, said Rocks' head coach Kathie Hahn.

The reason for her optimism was Thursday's performances against Livonia Clarenceville at Novi Bowl. The boys and girls varsity squads each won by 28-2 scores while the boys JV finished in a 15-15 tie with the Trojans.

"The whole Salem team is pulling together finally after a rough start," Hahn noted. "They are all talented kids and I'm looking forward to a great season."

For the boys varsity, senior captain Ryan Clark rolled a 297 game en route to a 511 series while senior co-captain Tyler Foley (232-235-467) and sophomore Kevin Williams (265-193-458) also had solid showings.

Likewise, the girls varsity bowled well, with sophomore Bridget Maul pacing the Rocks with a 169-245-414 series. Senior Meaghan Eldridge racked up a 202 in the second game (she had a 334 series) while sophomore co-captain Kristin Larkins (157-188-343) and senior captain Ashley Kretschmer tallied a 143-170-313 series. Meanwhile, junior Rachel Amodio chipped in with a 157 in the first game.

As for the junior varsity boys, seniors Jordan Moore (190), Eli Engle (181) and sophomore Jimmy Bowling (173) were strong contributors to the tie with Clarenceville. Helping the cause were freshman Brandon Allison (163) and senior Jack Roberts (152).

Salem celebrates a tournament win over Traverse City Reps, cementing the Rocks' third-place showing among eight teams.

It was a morning that these young hockey players will never forget. On Dec. 11 at University of Michigan's 'Big House,' the '98 Pee Wee AA Plymouth Stingrays and '98 Pee Wee AA Indianapolis Racers battled to a 3-3 tie. With the final score posted behind them on the scoreboard, players and coaches from both teams gathered for a fittingly mammoth group photo. Wearing white jerseys are the Stingrays, including (in alphabetical order) Alec Allen, Ted Austin, Riley Brass, Max DiCicco, Zack Finzel, Brendan Guziak, David Kiers, Joe Mancinelli, Trevor McManus, Evan Newel, Zac Osaer, Carson Pakula, Ryan Radwan, Grant Reszczyk, John Sladic, Bailey Thompson and Josh Wilk,

Whalers on hot streak in New Year

So far, 2011 has been very good to the Plymouth Whalers.

Plymouth won for the third straight time since New Years, earning a 4-1 victory Friday night against host Guelph.

The night before, forward Tyler Brown ended Plymouth's overtime victory over Windsor and he got things going Friday at Sleeman Centre with a shorthanded goal at 18:01 of the first period.

Brown now has 14 goals. The Whalers (21-16-1-1) added a goal at 10:25 of the second, when Mitchell Heard scored from forward Stefan Noesen and Farmington Hills native Austin Levi (2 assists), but Richard Panik scored midway through the third period for the Storm

But center Robbie Czarnik put it away with two goals for the Whalers, one on the power play (at 14:26) and the final one into the empty net at 18:37. It was Czarnik's 22nd goal of the season.

One of the keys to the win was strong play by Plymouth goalie Matt Mahalak, who stopped 35 of 36 Guelph shots.

PLYMOUTH 5, WINDSOR 4 (0T): The visiting Whalers defeated Windsor on a goal by forward Tyler Brown at the 4:44 mark of overtime Thursday night in an Ontario Hockey League matchup.

Brown took a feed from winger Rickard Rakell and snapped the puck past Spitfires' netminder Troy Passingham for his 13th goal of the season.

The winner capped off a see-saw affair at WFCU Centre. Windsor took an early 1-0 lead but red-hot Plymouth center Robbie Czarnik tied it up at 18:29 of the first (from Garrett Meurs and Stefan Noesen).

Czarnik's 20th of the season at 1:20 of the second gave Plymouth a 2-1 edge, but the Spits regained the lead on markers from Steven Trojanovic and Zack Undaunted, Plymouth's Nick Malysa scored his first goal of the season at 15:02 of the second to make it 3-3 entering the third.

Noesen tallied his 19th of the year at the 55second mark of the frame to give the Whalers a 4-3 lead. Windsor tied it at 5:20, when Saverio Poso beat Scott Wedgewood (who stopped 38 of 42

But Wedgewood shut the door the rest of the third, stopping the other 12 shots he saw and Brown rewarded him with the game-winning marker.

With the win, Plymouth (20-16-1-1, 42 points) climbed to within two points of second-place Windsor (21-14-1-1, 44) in the Western Conference

West Division entering Friday's game at Guelph. PLYMOUTH 6, SAULT STE. MARIE 4: On Sunday, Czarnik's power-play goal late in the third period snapped a 4-4 tie as the visiting Whalers welcomed 2011 with this victory before 4,664 at Essar Centre.

Czarnik tallied a three-goal hat trick to pace the Whalers, giving him 18 goals for the season. Czarnik scored twice in the middle frame to put Plymouth up 4-0 with 4:05 to play in the period. It was 4-1 after two, following a power play goal by Brett Findlay.

Plymouth withstood a three-goal surge by the Greyhounds, which tied the game with 6:58 left in the third.

Also scoring for the Whalers were forwards James Livingston (7), Brown (12) and Noesen (18). Farmington Hills defenseman Austin Levi, Noesen, Czarnik each assisted on two goals.

Stopping 25 of 29 shots for the victory was Wedgewood.

Big thrills at 'Big House' for AA Rays

Imagine playing hockey in the Big House at sunrise with five-degree temps to boot?

That's exactly what the '98 Pee Wee AA Plymouth Stingrays and '98 Pee Wee AA Indianapolis Racers did on Saturday, Dec. 11 — the morning of the "Big Chill at the Big House," a game between Michigan and Michigan State which drew a record 113,411 spectators.

Despite the 7 a.m. puck drop (official sunrise was 7:02 a.m.) and bone-chilling cold, the two teams played a thrilling 3-3 tie with the Rays knotting up the contest with only 2.4 seconds left on the scoreboard.

"Just a great experience that the players, coaches and families will never forget," said James Radwan, dad of Stingray player Ryan Radwan.

Both teams, by the way, are considered top-ranked rivals and have played three ties in as many meetings this season. Radwan said they are on a collision course for the International Silver Stick Tournament, regionals or possibly nationals.

The Stingrays are coached by Dave Brass and assistants Rob Reilly, Mike Osaer, Paul Wilk, Dave Austin and Joe Mancinelli. The team manager is Michelle Wilk.

Brass, Max DiCicco, Zack Finzel, Brendan Guziak, David Kiers, Joe Mancinelli, Trevor McManus, Evan Newel, Zac Osaer, Carson Pakula, Ryan Radwan, Grant Reszczyk, John Sladic, Bailey Thompson and Josh

'Coming of Age': Artist puts social networking images on canvas

BY SHARON DARGAY O&E STAFF WRITER

Viewing Erica Podwoiski's first major one-woman art show is a little like peeking into a family photo album.

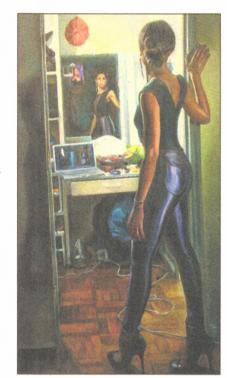

"What I love about her work is the narrative. She is chronicling coming of age, using herself and her sister as the subject. This is her sister," said Diane DeCillis, owner of Lido Gallery & Gifts in Birmingham, describing two of several portraits in the exhibit. "This is a self portrait It was at sunset. You can see shadows from the blinds. It's interesting to see."

Other pieces show Podwoiski, her sister or their friends as youngsters adorned in handmade dress-up gowns sewn by the artist's grandmother, on the sand at the beach, and playing in their Garden City neigh-

"I think she does it beautifully," DeCillis said. "I've been watching her over the years. She recently graduated and I decided she was ready for a show."

"Coming of Age in an Era of Celebrity Worship," which runs through Jan. 30, at Lido Gallery, includes pieces from Podwoiski's thesis show at the Columbus College of Art & Design, which explored notions of privacy, female stereotypes and the allure of Facebook and MySpace for image-conscious women and girls. Podwoiski, 22, who was Valedictorian of her class in May 2010, painted images she found on social networking pages for her student show. She also drew inspiration from old family photos and used her sister, herself and childhood friends as subjects.

"I've always been fascinated about pop culture. For me, it's about what happens when real girls and their lives become intertwined with popular culture and what we value as society ... dressing up and wanting to be pretty," Podwoiski explained. "With MySpace and Facebook it's so easy now to put images of yourself out there and have an alternate persona projected on the world. There's that whole idea of fame, especially for girls, that everyone wants to be famous."

"Scopophilia," the centerpiece of Erica Podwoiski's exhibit, is all about looking at oneself - in the mirror, on Facebook and in photographs.

FROM THE WEB

When she began her thesis exhibit, she painted images of strangers on Facebook and MySpace pages, eventually posting her works on her own Facebook page. She heard from one subject, who took issue with the title of a painting in the series. "My sister had given me a link to her profile. She embodied what I was trying to say. She was about 14 and had a Playboy outfit on ... in the corner there was a picture of her little brother looking angelic. The contrast was funny to me. I painted it and titled it 'If You Nasty.' I put it online and she saw it and wrote me a message saying it was disrespectful. But I think part of it is that if you put images out there, there is no protection for you. Anyone can see it. Anyone can take it."

Toward the end of the thesis project, Podwoiski began to focus on acquaintances, friends and family as subject matter after the VVeb images "started to feel voyeuristic." She wanted some "interaction" with her models, even if it was only a memory sparked by a family photo.

She enlisted the help of a friend to pose for the centerpiece of the Lido exhibit. Scopophilia shows a woman looking at herself in a mirror, with Facebook page and self portraits nearby. A risque companion piece was accepted into this year's Dirty Show, an international erotic art exhibition that runs Feb. 11-19 at Berts Warehouse Theater, 2739 Russell, Detroit; www.dirtydetroit. com. Tickets are available online and from River's Edge Gallery in Wyandotte; (734) 246-9880 as well as Noir Leather in Royal Oak, (248) 541-3979.

A portion of the Lido exhibit also includes several embellished bras, the sale of which will benefit IMETAvivor, a research and support group for metastatic breast cancer. Podwoiski's mother, Leanne, has stage four breast cancer and suggested the organiza-her father, Don, for supporting her interest in art, which began as soon as she could hold a pencil and draw. They held art exhibitions in their home during family gatherings and took her to museum shows. Lefanne gardens and sketched while in high school and Don, an engineer, has dabbled in painting. No one objected when she decided to pursue a fine arts degree.

"I know it's a very competitive field to go into, but it's what I want to do and I couldn't see myself doing anything else," said, Podwoiski, who lives with her parents and sister in Garden City. She hopes to return to school and pursue a master's degree in 2012, while continuing to create art.

Lido Gallery is located at 33535 Woodward, north of 14 Mile in Birmingham; (734) 792-6246.

O&E STAFF WRITER

Marti Bush likes to knit and purl her way through a good yarn.

The Redford woman meets twice weekly with other knitters and crocheters who enjoy reading needlework-themed fiction and then discussing it while they knit or crochet. Bush, a certified Craft and Yarn Council knitting and crochet teacher started the group, called "Novels, Needles, Hookers Book Club," two months ago along with Kathleen Mahinske, owner of The Books Connection in Livonia.

"Almost every avid knitter I know is also an avid reader," said Bush, explaining the combination knitting circle and book discussion group. "There's a whole line of books built around crafting and needlework. Debbie Macomber's Blossom Street Series is a wonderful series and it's so true in terms of the bonds and friendships of people who knit and crochet together."

The book currently in discussion is Sally Goldenbaum's Death by Cashmere. Knitters meets the second Tuesday and fourth Friday of the month. The next session is 6 p.m. Jan. 11 at the store, 19043

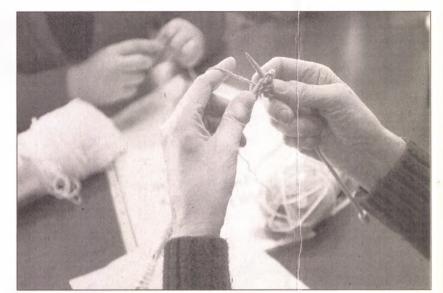

Middlebelt, south of Seven Mile, in Livonia; (248) 471-4742.

"Our group is really informal. If you're more advanced person we expect you to help people not as advanced. If you're a beginner, there is no criticism. It's a fun group."

It's among several local knitting groups that combine the art of needlecraft with socializing and informal instruction.

Bush's also holds a social knit and crochet Meetup — without the book discussion - at 9 a.m. Thursdays, at Panera, 28551 Schoolcraft.

Across town at Panera on Haggerty south of Eight Mile in Livonia, the Southeast Michigan Knitting Group welcomes Knitters, Crocheters, Spinners and Weavers to its 2 p.m. Thursday session. An evening group meets at 6 p.m. Tuesdays at the Panera on Six Mile east of

FIELD TRIPS, FESTIVALS

Sue Zoldak, a member, says the Meetup.com groups primarily draw knitters, but also include some crocheters and tatters.

"We are at all skill levels and are willing to help anyone who is stumped on project. It is not a class, but anyone interested in learning to knit, crochet or tatting could be directed to people who will be willing to teach them for a fee." Zoldak said. "We also schedule field trips to fiber festivals, yarn crawls to yarn shops in the area, and we go to Mary Maxim's tent sale in August.

"There is no fee for joining. All you have to do is go to www. meetup.com and put in Southeast Michigan Knitters and sign up."

Bob writes: "Joe, this has been a bad refrigerator. We are on our third mother-board and our second ice maker. GE is not interested and never has been. We are having problems again with the ice maker and water flow from the dispenser.

The water dispenser stops and restarts for no apparent reason. It's probably the mother board again. Please recommend an appliance repair company that would service the north Woodward area (Bloomfield Hills) and knows what they are doing. Thanks, Bob." I suggested to Bob that he call my son Mark who is the best refrigeration technician in America. Bob could be having a freezing problem of the water line that runs through the cabinet of the refrigerator. This may mean tearing off some the plastic breaker strips and re-insulating around the plastic tubing. If so it is a bear of a job and if a person doesn't know what: they're doing can cause a lot of unnecessary damage. Bob will let me know what Mark does to solve this problem. Jeff writes: "I have a Magic Chef Gas range purchased in 1992. The problem is oven won't ignite. I noticed the pilot does ignite however the oven does not ... instead it just fills with gas. Any suggestions would be appreciated. Please feel free to call with any questions or com-

Reply: There is no pilot in your oven. It is a glow-type igniter that glows bright red. I suspect this igniter is defective even though it is glowing. It is not providing enough milliamps to the oven safety valve. Remove the oven floor and it's mounted with two screws. Cut the two wires and purchase a new igniter. Should take care of the problem.

Jeff writes again: "Thanks for sharing your expertise. That's exactly what it was ... a bad igniter. After replacing it, now it works like a charm and Mom can bake her awesome Christmas cookies for us again. She's 87 and has listened to you on the radio for many years. She's the one who got me turned on to you years ago. I also owe you a BIG THANK YOU for returning my call leaving your cell number. Although I had resolved the igniter issue without bothering you, I'll keep it in a safe place for future reference. That was very kind of you to make yourself available like that. Most radio personalities aren't as generous. Hope you and your family have a Merry Christmas and we look forward to hearing you the radio and reading you Observer articles in 2011. All the best. Jeff."

Greyheart Greyhound Rescue and Adoption found families for 39 dogs last year, but continues searching to find the right match for two of its charges in particular: Wayne and Cuddles.

Wayne has been with us for about six months, due to no fault of his own," stated Jackie Bowen, the organization's public relations director. "He is a very handsome and loving boy but for some reason he hasn't been selected by a family and remains with his foster family.

"Cuddles was adopted by a couple and returned the same day. This also had nothing to do with her behavior or character traits. I believe that most likely it was the resident dog and Cuddles not immediately bonding and not enough time was given the resident dog to adapt to a new housemate. A patient with rheumatoid arthritis sees her doctor because of recent onset of a swollen knee. How does the doctor decide if a joint injection with cortisone will resolve the problem, or instead, the patient needs a change of medication to deal with the Birthday Or Just A Special Treat!

The physician could do both an injection and prescribe another drug. However doctors prefer to proceed by making one change at a time to be able to better judge if the change in therapy was helpful.

Generally, if one joint such as a knee is inflamed, the physician will chose to inject the joint. If several joints are swollen, the physician likely will initiate a change in medication. Recurrent swelling in a single joint, say a knee, brings up the possibility that the arthritis in the knee is different than the arthritis in the patient's other joints. Then there is no question between joint injection and adding medication. The decision to inject medication also provides the opportunity to aspirate fluid from the knee. Sending that fluid for laboratory analysis allows the physician to determine if the knee swelling represents rheumatoid arthritis or is really osteoarthritis. The chance of having two arthritic conditions exists because the strain on a joint, particularly the knee, that rheumatoid arthritis brings, can cause a wearing down of cartilage leading the knee to become osteoarthritic.

A physician's decision to inject a swollen joint or give medication also hinges on the patient's preference. A physician wants to know the patient's attitude since what the patient thinks may influence the effect of treatment as much as the injection or nedicine itself

Winter stoneflies have an unusual lifestyle in that they hatch from streams in winter. Friends of the Rouge has been monitoring stoneflies since 2002 because their extreme sensitivity to pollution makes them good indicators of water quality. They are found in tributaries and branches of the Middle and Lower Rouge River and occasionally in the Upper Rouge. Last winter, they were found for the first time on the Main Branch of the Rouge, in the City of Detroit.

Volunteers must dress for the weather and be prepared to be out in the cold for several hours. Only trained team leaders go into the water; volunteers search through samples on the bank. Children 5 and older may participate when accompanied by a participating

Make the most of your skin exam to maximize your overall health

The New Year is the perfect time to see a physician for an annual skin exam, to make sure that any skin cancer or potential problems are detected and treated early.

"Skin cancer is almost always curable when found and treated early," said Dr. Elizabeth Tanzi, a spokesperson for The Skin Cancer Foundation. "Annual skin exams performed by a trained physician, coupled with monthly self-exams, offer the best chances of detecting skin cancer before it progresses."

To make the most of your visit to the dermatologist, Tanzi and The Skin Cancer Foundation offer these tips:

BEFORE THE EXAM

• Perform a full-body skin self-exam (for instructions on how and what to look for, visit www.SkinCancer. org/Self-Examination/), and make note of any new or changing moles, growths, or lesions. Any mark or growth that itches, bleeds, or otherwise calls attention to itself should also be recorded, and pointed out to your doctor during your appointment. The Foundation recommends that you examine your skin once a month.

• Remove all nail polish from your finger and toenails. The doctor will need to look at your nails and nail beds, since skin cancers can form there.

· Wash off your makeup so that the doctor can look closely at your face.

• If you have long hair, pull it back so that the doctor can easily see behind your ears and neck.

AT THE EXAM

The exam itself will likely be brief.

"An annual skin exam on a patient who's never had dysplastic (atypical) moles takes about 10 minutes," Tanzi said. Atypical moles are benign, but look suspicious and could be a risk factor for skin cancer. "The more moles you have, the higher your risk for skin cancer, and the longer the exam."

· Ask the dermatologist to examine closely any moles, growths, or lesions you noted during your skin self-exam. Your dermatologist may biopsy suspiciouslooking growths. • Have a pencil and paper on hand, so that you can take notes if necessary. Also ask your doctor to spell out terms you're not familiar with - this will make it easier for you to research facts on your own.

• Don't hesitate to request relevant literature, ask your doctor to recommend a reputable source of information, and/or find out about possible diagnostic tests, treatment options, and cure rates. · Ask your dermatologist if he or she recommends any further action, and when you should schedule a follow-up appointment.

An annual skin exam is just one part of a complete prevention program, and an overall healthy lifestyle. For more information visit www.SkinCancer.org.

The Skin Cancer Foundation is the only global organization solely devoted to the prevention, detection and treatment of skin cancer. The mission of the Foundation is to decrease the incidence of skin cancer through public and professional education and research. For more information, visit, www. SkinCancer.org.

During the past few years, low interest rates, war and uncertain stock market performance combined to push prices of gold and silver to their highest levels in 25 years. We have studied the investment and retail markets for decades, and in the past during times of economic uncertainty (which is deepening now), there have been dramatic price declines in many areas of the jewelry, gold and retail markets. Which is why this may be the best time in decades for you to sell for some of the highest prices ever.

10 Things Smart Job Seekers Do

hank you

Beth Braccio Hering, Special to CareerBuilder

What separates the smart job seeker from others looking for employment? Oftentimes, it is one of these 10 things:

1. They realize a potential job lead could be anywhere.

Smart job seekers aren't afraid to mention occupational aspirations to their book club, their parents' friends or their dentist. (One never knows whose golf partner might be the ticket to getting a foot in the door.) Caroline Ceniza-Levine, a partner at SixFigureStart -- a career coaching firm in New York City comprised of former Fortune 500 recruiters -recommends putting your LinkedIn public profile hyperlink in your automatic e-mail signature. "This is an elegant way to attach your resume to every correspondence you send. Even friends who think they know you may click through to your profile, learn more about you and perhaps think of you for a job or lead that they might have overlooked."

2. They surf job boards for more than just open positions.

Ceniza-Levine calls job boards "goldmines" for research. "You might see companies you didn't know before -- add these to your list of targets. You might see the same requirements again and again -- this indicates a standard for the job you want, so incorporate these items into your pitch and cover letters."

3. They put adequate time and effort into their applications.

"Spend time to make your resume the best possible written advertisementof you," says Lisa Quast, author of "Your Career, Your Way!" and founder of Career Woman Inc., a Seattle-based career development consulting company. "Analyze the job requirements against your own skills and abilities, and customize your cover letter."

Obviously, all correspondence should be free of errors and typos. And before sending off the application packet, look at the job posting one last time to ensure all desired material is included.

4. They do their homework.

It seems logical to smart applicants to know something about potential employers. From Googling a company to checking out its financial statements, they learn what they can -- and use the info to enhance their correspondence.

5. They know employers do their homework, too.

"According to [a 2010] Coremetrics [study], 75 percent of companies require recruiters to research job applicants online, so you'll want to be sure you know what they'll find," states Sherrie Madia, co-author of "The Online Job Search Survival Guide." Besides thinking twice about what you choose to post, she suggests doing a Google search on your name. If you find something undesirable, try to have it removed.

6. They make their value known quickly.

"An employer gives each resume about a three-second window of time > to either 'delete' or read further," says Patrice Rice, author of "How to Interview" and presidentof the recruiting firm Patrice & Associates in Dunkirk, Md. A smart applicant answers the "What can you do for me?" question right off the bat with a summary before he decides of strongest accomplishments at the resume's top.

7. They look and act like a professional.

Simple but effective: A smart applicant arrives on time, dresses appropriately, both talks and listens, displays confidence and minds his

8. They show that they want

Smart job seekers are not "tire kickers." They focus on the needs of the employer and demonstrate how they are perfect for this particular position.

"Show enthusiasm during the job interview," says Rice. "Always make certain that the company you're interviewing with feels as if it is your first choice, no matter what other companies are involved in your job search."

9. They don't get ahead of themselves.

As much as she may be dying to know about promotions, raises and vacation time, a smart candidate doesn't jump the gun and tackle these issues during the first interview. She focuses on landing the position, then on whether the package is suitable.

10. They ask for the position, follow up and thank.

"As strange as it sounds, you need to ask for the job," says Catherine Jewell, author of "New Resume New Career: Get the Job You Want with the Skills and Experience You Already Have." "At the end of the interview, sum up your strengths, tell the interviewer that you are excited about the position and say, 'I would really like to contribute to this company. I am hoping you select me."

Then, a smart interviewee keeps his name in the game with a follow-up note reiterating interest and offering thanks -- knowing that a great last impression can seal the deal!

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Beginne

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
