Bikers needed

Ron Edwards is looking for a few good bikers. Edwards, the Plymouth Township treasurer, is organizing the pre-parade bicycle riders for the annual Fourth of July Good Morning U.S.A. Parade along Main Street through downtown Plymouth.

Edwards needs about 100 bicycle riders, with their bikes decorated, to ride along Main Street ahead of the annual parade. The opportunity is available to riders 5 years old and older. They will meet at 8:30 a.m. Monday, July 4, along Main Street in front of the former Walker-Buzenberg furniture store, right around

State House and Senate districts representing Plymouth, Canton and Northville were among those affected Tuesday when the House passed the bill that redraws district lines in light of the 2010 Census.

State Rep. Kurt Heise, R-Plymouth Township, gets a slightly larger slice of Canton Township but loses the City of Wayne in his 20th House district, while state Rep. Dian Slavens, D-Canton, sees her district stay largely the same, although she lost a little bit of eastern Canton but retained Belleville and most of the part of Van Buren Township she already represented.

The redistricting was passed in the House Tuesday, and now heads back to the Senate for confirmation. Heise, in his first term as a representative, said no significant changes are expected in the Senate.

"I'm very happy with it," Heise said. "I think it will be a more manageable district, and the people represented in the district will have a more common interest. It's been difficult to balance the interests of the people in Northville and in Wayne, because

Fourth with traditional fare

BY BRAD KADRICH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

The Plymouth community has a reputation for its homey, "small-town" feeling That reputation is likely to get a big boost this weekend, when Plymouth marks the Fourth of July in its traditional parade and picnic celebration. The annual Good Morning USA parade, as it does every year, kicks things off, though at a new time. The parade moves from its starting point at Theodore and Main Street at 9 a.m. Monday. "The feedback we've been getting on that has been fantastic, especially with the fireworks the night before," organizer Fred Hill said of the time change. "We've always had some concern about the (early) start time. We knew we'd get more people with a later start, but we didn't want to conflict with other parades in the area. We think we've got the bugs worked out." Hill thinks the parade, which features some 80 entries, just "keeps getting better and better." In addition to the popular standard attractions – the Plymouth-Canton Marching Band, the Fred Hill Briefcase Drill Team and local Scouting groups — this year's event offers even more.

Fond farewells

Plymouth-Canton Board of Education members, district staffers and a large audience bid farewell to retiring administrators at Tuesday's school board meeting.

George Belvitch, the district's director of elementary education, is retiring after 37 years serving the district. Belvitch, whose retirement is effective Friday, taught at Tanger Center and Eriksson Elementary School and has also served as a principal at Isbister and Tonda Elementary schools, along his career path.

Ray Bihun, the district's executive director of human resources, also retires effective Friday. He had been with the district for nearly 10 years.

Garage sales

It is spring cleaning time! Start gathering up all those items that you no longer need, use or want. Get a 10-foot by 10-foot spot inside the Plymouth Cultural Center Ice Arena to sell everything and free up extra space in your house! For $20 you can reserve your spot, but space is limited.

This year, because of the high demand, there will be two more garage sales: July 9 and July 23. Each sale runs from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., so if you do not need to sell but need to buy, come to the Plymouth Cultural Center and pick up a hidden treasure. Admission is free.

"We're very excited about that," Hill said. "We've really truly become a 'variety show in motion."

SOLDIER REMEMBERED

A dedication ceremony will be held immediately following the Fourth of July Parade (at approximately 10:45 a.m.) in downtown Plymouth for a memorial dedicated to the memory of Titus Hoisington, the only known Revolutionary War veteran to be buried in Plymouth.

For 170 years, Hoisington has not had a headstone or marker to acknowledge his service to his country. The Plymouth Preservation Network corrected that error, and now invites the community to join in "celebrating his efforts to secure the freedoms that we enjoy every day."

The ceremony takes place in the church yard outside of the First Presbyterian Church, 701 Church Street.

Music is key component of holiday party

An "old reliable" and a new feature will add a musical touch to the annual Fourth of July celebration in downtown Plymouth this year.

First up is the popular Plymouth Community Band, which kicks off the holiday weekend Thursday with a 7:30 p.m. concert in Kellogg Park.

The band, general composed of some 55-75 volunteer, amateur musicians, has been entertaining local audiences since it was founded in 1960. Under the direction of longtime conductor Carl Battishill, the band rehearses once a week, yearround (except for August), and performs other outdoor concerts as well

Board uses fund balance to eliminate deficit

BY BRAD KADRICH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Trustees on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education better hope it quits "raining" on the financial landscape pretty soon.

Board members passed a balanced budget Tuesday, beating the state-mandated deadline by a couple of days, but in the process exhausted some $7.8 million in the district's fund balance - euphemistically called the "rainy day" fund - and an additional $3.4 million in Durant lawsuit money to cover an expected $11.2 million deficit in the 2011-12 budget.

The move leaves the district with a projected 2012 fund balance of just more than $70,000.

"That's a fund balance that's razor-thin," Jim Larson-Shidler, the district's assistant superintendent for business services, told board members Tuesday. "But it does allow the board to pass a balanced budget."

The board passed its balanced budget, with projected revenues of $148.8 million and expenditures of $159.9 million, after spending most of the year considering cuts made by the administration. Administrators, using recommendations made by department heads, committee members and the public, recommended some $13.6 million in cuts. The board, however, acted on only $7.2

Cleanup effort targets more of I-275 trail

BY DARRELL CLEM OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Mere weeks after hundreds of bicyclists from across western Wayne County and beyond celebrated the official unveiling of a newly rebuilt stretch of the I-275 Metro Trail, a volunteer group has announced an effort to clean up another section of the pathway.

The 40-mile trail – coupled with the Lower Rouge River Recreation Trail that carves a pristine path across Canton has drawn increasing attention since June 4, when supporters marked River Day by inviting bike riders and other outdoor enthusiasts to see a rebuilt section of the paved pathway between Michigan Avenue and Hines Drive.

In the latest effort, a volunteer group, Friends of the I-275 Metro Trail, has announced plans to clean up a section that parallels M-14 by removing overgrown vegetation along the pathway.

We want to keep the path clear and safe for those who use it," Dave Duffield, the group's maintenance coordinator, said. "It's an ongoing effort."

Duffield and other trail supporters say the Michigan Department of Transportation has done its part by improving areas of the I-275 path that had deteriorated and become potentially unsafe for those who ride or walk along the trail.

"MDOT was nice enough to fix it up, and they frankly do not have the money for the upkeep," Duffield said. "That's where we, as volunteers, can step in and do that."

The summer season's first cleanup along M-14 has been scheduled to start at 9 a.m. Saturday, July 9. Volunteers will meet on Schoolcraft west of Haggerty, in an area where Duffield said helpers are allowed to park in a grassy area along the fence.

Volunteers are asked to give an hour or two of their time. The effort is expected to continue until noon or so, though Duffield said volunteers potentially could finish their work earlier if they have a large turnout such as scout troops.

Volunteers are urged to bring work gloves, long-bladed shrub clippers, hand-trimmers, metal rakes and brooms. Organizers also said a gas-powered leaf blower would be helpful. Water and a light snack will be available. For more information, call Duffield at (248) 994-3074 or visit Friends of the I-275 Metro Trail on Yahoo! Groups or Facebook.

School election deadline approaches

BY BRAD KADRICH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Nancy Eggenberger is in, but so far, she's the only one of the four incumbents on the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education who has made a decision.

And, with the Aug. 16 deadline for entering the race approaching, the time for such decisions draws ever closer.

Eggenberger currently occupies one of four seats that will be up for grabs in the non-partisan school election Nov. 8. Also up for reelection, if they decide to run, are current board president John Jackson, vice president Dianne Gonzalez and trustee Steven Sneideman.

Jackson, Sneideman and Gonzalez are still hedging their bets, declining to announce any decisions. Not so with Eggenberger, who believes the experience she's garnered in four years is crucial as the board moves forward.

"A lot has happened the last four years," Eggenberger said. "I think the history and the knowledge I've gained from being on the board is something that's essential in moving forward."

Eggenberger becomes the second declared candidate in the race. Plymouth City Commissioner John Barrett, a 40-year educator who retired in 2009 after 11 years as the principal at Farmington High School, is also running.

Barrett is the City Commission's liaison to the school board — a role he pioneered — and said a district workshop last summer, in which participants discussed their vision for the district's future, motivated him to get re-involved in education.

"I sort of got fired up again to get back into the education circle," he said.

Gonzalez declined to say one way or another whether she'd seek re-election. Sneideman said his decision hinges on goals he has set for himself in terms of public service and charitable work he'd like to do.

(School board) takes up a lot of time and can keep you from doing some of those kinds of things that I think I'd like to do," Sneideman said. "I'll decide in the next couple of weeks."

As will Jackson, elected in January as the new board president. Jackson said he needs to decide if the school board is where "I can bring the most value at this point in my life."

"I have to answer that question," Jackson said. "I want to do what I can to help students. If I can do that (from the board), I'll decide to run again. If not, I'll decide where else to spend the time."

Petitions and affidavits are due Tuesday, Aug. 16, at 4 p.m. at Plymouth Township Hall, 9955 N. Haggerty in Plymouth. Forty valid signatures are required for a person to be placed on the ballot. Petitions can be obtained at either the Plymouth or Canton Township offices.

Cameras flashed and screams were rendered as Selena Gomez hit the stage during her Monday appearance at Laurel Park Place in Livonia. Look for a photo gallery of her visit to Livonia online at hometownlife.com.

Disney star draws screaming fans to mall

BY BRAD KADRICH OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Amy Tucker of Plymouth took her two young daughters, 10-year-old Erin and 6-yearold Erika, to Laurel Park Place Mall in Livonia Monday and got in line around 1 p.m. to see Disney Channel actress/singer Selena Gomez.

The Tuckers joined a neighbor who had actually been there since 8:30 a.m. to reserve space for the scheduled 7 p.m. appearance by Gomez, in town to promote her new movie, "Monte Carlo," which opens nationwide Friday. At the mall, they joined what became thousands of screaming young fans eager to catch a glimpse of the 18-year-old star.

By 5:15 p.m., though, Tucker's neighbor had bailed when the crowd became too much to bear. The Tuckers, however, stuck it out, and were rewarded around 6:45 when Gomez finally popped on stage just outside the mall's Parisian store.

"My children are both huge fans," Tucker said. "They've got all her CDs, they've got her latest music in their iPods." Ten-year-old Erin Tucker was happy just to see Gomez. "She's pretty," 10-year-old Erin said of Gomez. "I like her music, I like the beat."

Alexsa Selitaj of Sterling Heights said she is Disney Channel actress/singer Selena Gomez's "biggest fan." Judging by the size of the crowd, which stretched as far as the eye could see in the mall, she's not alone. Selitaj was crammed into the hallway in front of Parisian, screaming along with thousands of other "biggest fans" of Gomez.

The visit put Selitaj, who came to see Gomez with her big sister, Rosa Palushi of Livonia, one step closer to a dream.

"I want to meet (Gomez) some day," the 12-year-old Selitaj said. "I love her songs, her personality.

The popular Gomez, star of the Disney Channel series "Wizards of Waverly Place," came out on stage around 6:45 p.m., led the crowd in an a capella version of her song, "Who Knows?" and answered a few hand-picked questions from fans during about a 20minute appearance.

Some 50 fans won tickets to do a meet-and-greet with Gomez, while about another 1,000 earned blue wrist bands that allowed them to get in the fenced-off section closest to the stage. The other gazillion fans who showed up had to crowd as close as they could get which, in most cases, wasn't all that close.

Eight-year-old Sydney Raab - "I love her singing!" Sydney said of Gomez -- of Canton was in that first section, along with her cousin, Mackenzie Konschuh, 11, of Chelsea, her 9-year-old neighbor, Katlyn Dushary, and her 5-year-old brother, Jeremy.

Riding herd on the kids was Sydney's mom, Jennifer Raab of Canton, who said going to the mall was a sort of lastminute thing.

"We made the decision (Monday) morning," Raab said, smiling. "The kids are huge fans.'

Not all of the fans were young girls. Sarah Ostrander, 33, of Novi waited in line million of those cuts, eschewing big-ticket cuts such as closing Fiegel Elementary School (which would have saved an estimated $1.4 million) and laying off teachers to save an additional $5.5 million.

Board members said they were passing the balanced budget in accordance with state law, but that they understand there is much left to do.

"We're passing it with the understanding we have more work to do," board President John Jackson said.

Among the work left to do is making decisions on privatizing noncore academic services such as custodial, transportation and food service, and contract negotiations with union groups, particularly the district's 1,100 teachers.

The district can qualify for an additional $100 per student by satisfying four of five criteria set up under Gov. Rick

SENATE MAP

The biggest change could be in the 7th Senate District, represented by state Sen. Patrick Colbeck, R-Canton. Under the old map, Colbeck's district included Canton, the Plymouths, Wayne, Belleville and then slid Downriver.

Under the new boundaries, Colbeck loses the Downriver portion of the district, but adds Livonia and its 100,000 Snyder's education reforms, which would bring an additional $1.9 million or so to the budget.

But union concessions are clearly where the board is looking.

"We can recover money for better performance (under Snyder's plan) in those five categories." said board Treasurer Judy Mardigian. "And (budget work) is contingent on conversations with our employees. Those are the conversations we have to have. We can't cut the fabric of who we are.

Union representatives said they're concerned with "what appears to be premature reliance on bargaining concessions."

"At the same time we know that during a school year budgets are changed many times," said Bob Thomas, MEA UniServ Director. "We are going to withhold further comment until we have time to further study the budget."

bkadrich@hometownlife.com | (313) 222-8899 population. The new map also includes Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Wayne.

Colbeck said he's "confident in the process that was used,' and points to some Republican unrest with some of the boundary decisions as an indication it wasn't completely political.

He said he's "disappointed" to lose the Downriver area, but downplays the challenge of adding a city like Livonia, where he hasn't had to campaign before and where he might not be as well known.

"I'm comfortable with the Livonia and Wayne areas because I have some family roots and friends there," Colbeck said. "I gained two additional communities I have relationships with, and I'm comfortable with that."

Plymouth's annual Fourth of July 'Good Morning U.S.A.' parade steps off at a new time – 9 a.m. – Monday morning.

BANG FOR THE BUCK

Many of those attending the parade will be rising early after staying up late to watch the third annual Plymouth Township fireworks display, which is scheduled to start around 10:15 p.m. Sunday in Plymouth Township Park, located at Ann Arbor Trail and McClumpha.

The cost of the fireworks was softened a bit by a recent fundraiser at The Picnic Basket in Plymouth Township, where a cookout raised more than $3,000, which included a $1,000 donation from owner Al Jonna.

Busch's Market staffers will be on hand with food.

There is a required parking donation of $5 per car. The money will be donated to the Plymouth Lions Club or the Plymouth Kiwanis Club; both groups are providing volunteers to help with parking.

"The (parking) money will not come back to the township at all," said Plymouth

EAT AND BE MERRY

The annual Plymouth Township Good Ol' Fashioned Picnic completes the holiday festivities, with food service starting Monday in Plymouth Township Park.

• 11:30 a.m. — The annual bike decorating contest

• Noon - Steve King and the Dittilies

• 12:30- 2 p.m. – Children's games

• 2 p.m. – Prize Drawing • 2:30 p.m. - Pie eating contest as a slate of indoor concerts during the school year.

At 7 p.m. Friday, Zap Toro provides the music for the weekly Music in the Air concert series, hosted by the Plymouth Downtown Development Authority.

Then comes the new – a concert featuring the Michigan Philharmonic (formerly the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra), a patriotic performance set for 7:30 p.m. Saturday, also in Kellogg Park. It's the first time the Philharmonic has been part of the Fourth of July festivities.

Called "An American Salute," the free concert will feature patriotic music.

"We're hoping this new concert will become a new tradition," said Tony Bruscato, operations manager for the Plymouth Downtown Development Authority, which presents the concert in conjunction with its sponsor, the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Bruscato promises a "fun and family friendly concert showcasing popular American composers. Among the selections - a medley of patriotic songs, including Yankee Doodle, You're a Grand Old Flag, This Land is Your Land and God Bless the USA, along with the Stars & Stripes Forever march.

The big brass cannons and church bells of Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture provide the concert's grand finale.

Coupled with the fireworks display Sunday, the Good Morning USA parade Monday morning and the Good Ol' Fashioned township picnic Monday, Bruscato sees a wealth of patriotic celebration within the community.

"This is an exciting week for downtown Plymouth with five days of Fourth of July activities that will bring lots of people downtown," Bruscato said. "There's no reason to leave Plymouth to enjoy the Fourth of July."

Local author translates Golfers swing to benefit the needy lessons into first book

BY DARRELL CLEM OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Canton resident Janet Morris Grimes has parlayed her move from Nashville, her struggle to find a job, her lifelong writing hobby and an online contest into getting her first book published.

It didn't hurt that she had to downsize from a two-story, four-bedroom home to an apartment less than one-third the size.

Grimes, 45, smiles as she holds a copy of her new book, The Parent's Guide To Uncluttering Your Home. It's a topic she learned the hard way, even though it helped her achieve a dream that started early in life.

"I always wanted to be a writer," she said. "I remember being given an assignment in the sixth grade to write one paragraph. Mine ended up being eight pages long."

Grimes, a mother of three, has made strides in her writing career since she moved two years ago from Nashville, where husband Thomas worked for a Ford Motor Co. windshield-producing facility before he was transferred to the Dearborn Truck Plant.

HITTING THE ROAD

They picked up their roots from the country music capital and headed toward Motown, bringing their 17-year-old daughter, Malloree, but leaving behind two adult children, Crystal and Andrew, and other family members.

In what proved useful for her home-uncluttering book, Grimes sold many sentimental belongings - her children's furniture, a dining room set, a new bedroom suite – that she couldn't cram into the family's 1,000-squarefoot apartment in Canton.

"I watched 25 years of my life walk out with other families," she said.

Amid housing-market woes, Grimes and her husband settled for renting out their Nashville home. She stayed there a year longer than he did, then braved a colder Michigan climate and an even frostier job market.

Grimes had worked in Nashville as a police dispatcher and then as a director of events for Lipscomb University, yet metro Detroit proved an elusive job market.

"I couldn't find a job," she said, adding that when cold weather kept her indoors, "I thought I may as well write."

Her publishing break came after she saw an online writing competition and sent samples to Atlantic Publishing Co., which chose her to pen a 65,000-word, 272-page book, The Parent's Guide To Uncluttering Your Home: How To Organize What You Need and Recycle What You Don't.

It can be found on websites such as www. amazon.com, www.borders.com and www. target.com, and it typically sells for $15 to $24. Grimes also has donated copies to the Canton and Plymouth public libraries, which she frequents.

ADVICE GIVEN

She wrote her book in stages, interviewing Realtors, home-organizing sources, feng shui experts and others. She offers a wide array of advice - tidying a room in 10 minutes; cleaning tips while on the phone; keeping mail sorted; finding hidden storage space; finding the right place for everything from winter gloves to summer flip-flops. Even her book is compartmentalized.

Grimes finally got a job in January as a frontdesk supervisor for Canton's Summit on the Park, but she hasn't abandoned her writing and has attended writing conferences.

Former Detroit Red Wing Joe Kocur figures plenty of people helped him during his time as a player, so he's perfectly happy now to find ways to help others.

That's why Kocur was among some 50 "pros" who joined some 200 golfers taking part in the 14th annual St. Joe's Pro Am golf event Monday at Pheasant Run Golf Club in Canton.

The event aims to raise $150,000 to support prescription co-pays, medications and supplies and transportation for the uninsured and underinsured patients receiving care at the St. Joseph Mercy Canton Center for Advanced Medicine and Surgery.

"I was fortunate enough to play professional hockey,' said Kocur, president of the Red Wing Alumni, pointing out he appears at an estimated 20 or more charitable events a year. "People helped me a lot along the way. Any way we can find to raise money for local charities, we want to do that."

Melissa Sheppard, director of special events and annual giving for St. Joe's, said some 50 teams registered for Monday's event. She said the event had already raised some $143,000 by Monday morning, with a 35-item silent auction still to be counted.

Proceeds from Monday's event will go to help uninsured and the under-insured, a departure from previous events, which benefitted the St. Joe's Health Exploration Station at the Canton center. She said Pheasant Run is a "great venue" because of its 27-hole configuration and its proximity to the Canton center.

That's what Detroit Red Wing legend Ted Lindsay likes about the outing: It helps people who need help the most. Serving as the event's Chair Emeritus, Lindsay praised the work St. Joe's does.

"They do an awful lot for a lot of people who need help," said Lindsay, who golfed with steering committee member Gil Ruicci and Marty Pavelich of Gil-Mar Manufacturing. "They take care of people who can't afford to pay. It's a wonderful event, and I look forward to many more years of being a part of it."

Park project extends growing opportunities

BY DARRELL CLEM OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Far from Canton's bustling shopping district, Preservation Park harkens back to a decidedly rural past when farms defined the landscape, rather than strip malls and sprawling subdivisions.

It's an almost defiant little spot off Ridge Road north of Cherry Hill — near the neourban Uptown Apartments — where hundreds of people flock every Sunday to the Canton Farmers Market, amid a picturesque setting defined by the old Cady-Boyer Barn, the historic Bartlett-Travis House and farmer Richard Waldecker's treasured fields.

. Now, just a stone's throw from small, community garden plots where gardeners pay $30 a season to test their farming skills, a large "hoop house" — defined by its builders as a passive, solar greenhouse made of sturdy plastic, galvanized steel and wiring — has arisen.

This hoop house, like the historic amenities near it, lays claim to Canton's surviving farmland, rising 14 feet tall at its peak and housing a 48- by 31-foot area where community gardeners can test their skills year-round, even during winter months when certain produce — spinach, kale, collard greens and the like — can survive inside this shelter.

Moreover, the hoop house during summer months can accelerate the growth of produce that depends on a warm season. Supporters say it's a welcome addition to Preservation Park.

"It's very significant, considering that Michigan's growing season is very short," said Brad Sharp, Canton Township's park and facility manager. "It promotes community gardening, and it adds another dimension to what we're doing out there."

It's perfect for aspiring gardeners who don't have any land they can farm — whether they intend to put the produce on their own table, sell it at the Canton Farmers Market or donate it, as some already do, to local food pantries.

Jon LaFever, Canton recreation coordinator, said 17 people already are on a waiting list for community gardens — a need the hoop house can help fulfill in an area where "we've already got a lot of great things in place."

A small army of volunteers worked quickly and tirelessly Wednesday to erect the hoop house. Most of them are involved with Ann Arborbased Selma Cafe — a project Jeff McCabe and wife Lisa Gottlieb founded to raise money for innovative projects such as hoop houses. Every Friday, they sponsor fund-raising breakfasts that bring in as much as $2,000 a week.

"We have over 500 volunteers in our database," McCabe said, not even pausing as he worked on Canton's hoop house.

GRANT FUNDING

Selma Cafe didn't pay for Canton's hoop house, however. Rather, Canton received a $50,440 grant from the Michigan Economic Development Corp. for an urban farming project, intended to expand the Canton Farmers Market which, last year alone, drew more than 10,000 visitors.

The market has become so popular that its manager, Tina Lloyd, has spearheaded efforts for the last two cold seasons to offer the Canton Winter Market, allowing visitors to shop for Michigan-made meats, fish, honey, bread and other foods.

LaFever said the hoop house also can be used as an educational tool to teach farming, though exact details haven't been decided.

Tim Haines, an Ann Arbor resident who helped build the structure, said such projects can provide a healthy food source, create income for farmers and keep dollars in the local economy.

"It's important for people to develop local food systems," he said.

Canton hoop house volunteer Noah Link already has started his own urban farm in Detroit, near the historic Boston-Edison neighborhood. He grows produce such as squash, melons, sweet peppers, jalapenos and cabbage.

"I think everyone benefits," he said, adding that he hires interns and neighborhood children in Detroit to help on his urban farm.

Local officials are keenly aware that Canton, which witnessed an 18-percent population growth in the last U.S. Census, will never return to the farming community it once was, when it was affectionately known as the sweet corn capital of Michigan.

Years pass. Communities change.

Yet, as Canton's population has grown to 90,173 people, Preservation Park appears destined to retain its rural appeal. It's a place where locals can escape a bustling world, recapture a part of the township's past and, with community gardens, see its future.

Spree 61 fireworks start off with a bang.

Fireworks show draws an estimated 200,000 to Livonia

Daniel and Jen Sitarski, with sons Rylan and Jase, watch the fireworks. They're from Howell, but both Daniel and Jen grew up in the Livonia/Redford area.

Ken Abraham, Dave Stokes, Julie Stokes and sons Andrew and Bryan Stokes enjoy Sunday night at Spree 61.

Sunday may have been one of the best-attended in the city's history.

The combination of perfect weather for viewing fireworks and a reduction in the number of cities offering fireworks because of the expense drew more than 125,000 people to Ford Field for the 30-minute display and grand finale of Livonia Spree.

"We were extremely packed," said Dan Spurling, president of the Livonia Anniversary Committee, which sponsors Livonia Spree, the city's weeklong birthday celebration.

"The breeze was minimal; there were no clouds. You couldn't have asked for a better evening," he said. "I think it brought out more people."

He said the Spree committee was getting calls from as far away as Waterford and Brighton from people asking about Livonia's fireworks. "People just love fireworks; they will drive miles to see them," he said. "A lot of these communities are cutting back."

He said in addition to the 125,000 at Ford Field and the immediate vicinity, there were an estimated 25,000 to 75,000 more spectators watching from homes and businesses and other locations throughout the city.

Spurling said the show, choreographed to music and put on by American Fireworks, keeps getting better each year. "There were more shells ... some new designs. Technology keeps advancing with fireworks."

The weather was certainly improved from the past two years. "Last year we fought the storms," he said. "We didn't even know if we were going to be able to shoot them."

Livonia Spree and the fireworks are free for people to attend, thanks in part to corporate sponsorships and numerous volunteers.

Spurling said the Spree committee plans to keep admission and parking for the city's annual celebration free again next year, just like the founders of Spree intended.

"We're planning Spree 62 as we speak," he said.

Good seats for the show are everywhere.

Since opening in the fall of 1996, Compuware Arena's programs, amenities and prime location have helped it become one of the busiest facilities in Michigan.

The two-rink facility is home to the Ontario Hockey League's Plymouth Whalers, Compuware AAA Hockey Club, Compuware House League and the Detroit Catholic Central and Plymouth Wildcats high school teams. The arena also hosts hockey schools, concerts, the MHSAA state tournament, high school graduations and college graduations, birthday parties and a three-screen Drive-In Movie Theatre in the parking lot all summer long.

Michigan Hockey readers noticed and voted Compuware Arena as the best in the state in the 2011 Quest for the Best Arena poll.

"That's very exciting and an honor," said Denise Ronayne, Compuware Arena's director of sales and marketing. "I'm glad the readers of Michigan Hockey cared enough to pick us. Our staff takes pride in making this a great place to skate and we appreciate the recognition."

Built by Compuware Corporation owner Peter Karmanos Jr. on a 30-acre parcel of land on the east side of Beck Road just north of M-14 in Plymouth Township, Compuware Arena sits on the highest point of the property surrounded by woods and natural wetlands.

"After spending many years in rinks around the United States and Canada with his youth teams, Mr. Karmanos wanted to build a first-class facility for parents and their kids in this area," said Compuware Arena President Mike Vellucci. "With all the events going on here, we've become a big part of the community. People enjoy coming to Compuware Arena."

The 170,000-square-foot facility has a large lobby with Ronayne.

With its seating capacity, terrific amenities and proximity to the multiple hotels and restaurants of western Wayne Country, Compuware Arena is well equipped to host large gatherings.

The facility has also hosted ice shows, trade shows, pro wrestling and several concerts.

"Compuware Arena is a perfect size for concerts, it has great acoustics and a location that can't be beat," said Dan McGowan of the Crofoot Ballroom, who moved a concert that had outgrown the Crofoot to Compuware Arena earlier this year.

"We're looking to book even more shows," said Mike Henry, Compuware Arena manager. "We'd like people to see that we are a good venue and have more acts start coming."

WALT DMOCH

Measuring your online presence

BY JON GUNNELLS GUEST COLUMNIST

t used to be that if you had a problem about a product or service you would call and complain, write a nasty letter, or if you were really annoying contact a government representative.

Not anymore. Consumers now use social media to communicate directly with businesses and if a customer has a bad experience, they can air the dirty laundry online for the entire world to see.

Negative feedback is bad for business, so as you could imagine, companies react quicker than they used to.

This however, isn't about how companies can leverage social media to have better customer service and happier clients. This is about how consumers can build an online reputation to help themselves through customer service issues.

There are a handful of websites that track activities and rate your reputation on the Internet, but the site that has its biggest share of fans (and detractors) is Klout.com

Users who link their Facebook, Twitter or LinkedIn accounts with Klout will receive a ranking based on how well they interact on the internet. Think of it as a digital score about how well you play with others within social space.

Scores are on a 100 point scale with the higher numbers being better. On Klout, users won't necessarily increase their score by having as many friends and followers as Justin Bieber, but they can increase their numbers by starting conversations, sharing information, and responding to others.

Some say the algorithm used to determine Klout scores is arbitrary, because there is no perfect way to do social media. Tweeting for example isn't like throwing a baseball or growing a vegetable garden. There's no completely right or wrong new for businesses to offer freebies or discounts to online influencers. Klout just makes scores easier to understand and makes the online influencers easier to identify. Online influencers are essential to service providers because they are key to cheap online advertising

Take The Palms hotel in Las Vegas for instance. In the fall, The Palms began creating the Klout Club that would allow certain perks for hotel guests with higher Klout scores.

The way it works is, a high profile celebrity, or say, a social media guru with a high Klout score could get an upgrade for having a strong online presence. It's the hotel's hope that the aforementioned power user would share their great experiences with their highly engaged fan base and create some buzz for much cheaper than a commercial or billboard.

In the past year, other companies have reached out Klout users who are influential in certain areas to help promote their cause. A snack manufacturer, for instance, may send free samples to users who are influential about junk food in the hopes that they will rally their fans to go buy a new product.

But it's a two-way street and while companies can use people with high online rankings to improve their web visibility and sentiment, users can also use their high online rankings to improve the way they are treated by companies.

If you have a high Klout score, or are simply have an

How to interact in social space

While there is no perfect way to use social media, there are a few easy ways to improve your presence

• Interact with others. Don't simply post status updates or Tweet. Reply to others, respond to posts and start conversations.

• Don't use social media to only be negative to companies, or even people. Give credit where credit is due.

 Share information. While it may be fun to sit back and observe, the Internet is great because of the wealth of information users have at their fingertips. Start adding to it!

engaged readership that will allow you to broadcast a message, companies that are serious about customer service will take notice.

Whether they are a Las Vegas hotel, a potato chip manufacturer, or any other service provider – companies cannot afford negative feedback — especially in social media where comments could spread like a virus.

Next time you're online, think about quickly registering for Klout.com or another online measurement site to see how strong your presence is and what you are influential about.

Who knows, the next time you have car trouble, or get a fly in your soup at a national restaurant chain - your online presence may help you get solutions.

Walsh: Medical marijuana needs better regulation

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

House lawmakers are expected to study a package of bills introduced Tuesday that proponents hope will clarify ambiguities in the Michigan Medical Marihuana Act.

State Rep. John Walsh, R-Livonia, said he and a bipartisan group of state lawmakers have proposed bills that aim to ensure medical marijuana is "properly certified and acquired appropriately" by patients.

Walsh announced the legislation at a press conference in Lansing with Attorney General Bill Schuette, state Sen. Rick Jones, R-Grand Ledge, and Berrien County Prosecutor Art Cotter.

Walsh said lawmakers wanted to "clear up the ambiguity involving the law and get the focus back to what people intended when they voted for this in 2008 to assure that medical marijuana is available for patients who truly need it."

"Voters approved the Michigan Medical Marihuana Act, but they did not vote for legalization of marijuana," Walsh said.

The proposed legislation:

 Requires traditional doctor-patient relationships to end the current practice of some doctors certifying patients for medical marijuana without even seeing the patient or knowing the patient's medical history. Walsh said a recent Detroit Free Press article reported that just 55 doctors have certified about 45,000 -or 71 percent - of all medical marijuana registrants;

• Enhances public and patient safety by prohibiting patient-to-patient transactions and requiring growers to keep their plants in enclosed, locked facilities accessible only to the registered caregiver or patient;

• Protects patients from unnecessary pursuit by law enforcement officials by giving law enforcement officials access to the medical marijuana patient registry during the course of their official duty; and

 Clarifies zoning guidelines as many city, village and township boards do not know how to classify dispensaries opening within their boundaries.

The bills will go to the House Judiciary Committee.

BETTER DEFINITIONS NEEDED

"The two biggest issues with the MMMA are the definitions." Walsh said. "The physician-patient relationship is poorly defined, and the caregiverpatient relationship is poorly defined."

Attorney Michael Komorn, president of the Michigan Medical Marihuana Association, said Wednesday he was disappointed with the legislation. Komorn said that the proposed reforms fail to address the patients' need for protection and assist more with law enforcement, creating what he called a "new niche" for prosecutors.

"This (medical marijuana) is new Pictured from left at the news conference are Berrien County Prosecuting Attorney Art Cotter; Rep. Ed McBroom, R-Vulcan; Rep Marty Knollenberg, R-Troy; Rep. to law enforcement and new to the communities," Komorn said. Some law enforcement agencies "are arresting first and asking questions later," Komorn said.

Komorn said that patients often need to exchange marijuana because it can take four or five months to grow. "They may need it right now," Komorn said. Prohibiting patient-to-patient or caregiver-to-caregiver transactions would reduce or eliminate access for many users, he said. "Where are they going to go?" Komorn asked.

The legislation is not realistic, Komorn said. "It doesn't consider the community's need." Komorn also noted that 63 percent of Michigan voters supported medical marijuana and that some claims of abuses of the law are "overblown and hyperexaggerated." Walsh said prosecutors have told lawmakers that caregivers will take care of their legitimate patients, then sometimes sell any excess medical marijuana to other patients or on the open market. -Prosecutors are also finding that doctors will conduct Internet consultations without actually seeing patients who seek medical marijuana and want the cards, Walsh said. Other doctors may set up storefronts, charging a flat fee, without an actual exam, Walsh said. Walsh said he has heard these complaints from prosecutors all over the state.

Walsh wants the definitions tightened and better zoning regulations in the new legislation. Walsh said lawmakers were working on regulations for dispensaries.

"We'll be reaching out to the medical marijuana community to get their input on the bills over the summer," Walsh said. Walsh doesn't expect a 100 percent "buy-in" on the bills, but wants a comprehensive discussion before public hearings are held in the fall on the legislation.

"Regulation will help the patient," Walsh said. "Better regulations on what is legal also will help police and prosecutors."

Komorn said the legislation and the attorney general's opinion are not the way to create dialogue on the topic. "You should contemplate both sides," Komorn said.

It's not a surprise to anyone that an estate like Michael Jackson's would have issues. Obviously, our situations are a lot different than Michael Jackson's. However, what caught me by surprise was when the commentator of the story implied that family infighting was reserved for the rich and famous. I wish that were true, however, the reality of the situation is that family infighting happens across the board whether it's a large estate, small estate or even sometimes when there's no money involved.

Family infighting upon death goes across all lines of our society and is something that everyone needs to be aware of.

It's not just death that causes family disagreements. Issues such as how to handle a family emergency or decisions regarding elderly parents can also cause tension within the family.

The reality is no matter what you do and no matter how well you plan, you cannot totally eliminate family disagreements. However, planning does allow you to do is minimize the likelihood that a family disagreement will result in lawyers and judges being involved.

Good planning provides the methodology to resolve disputes. For example, a durable power of attorney appoints an individual to make decisions in your absence. Without a durable power of attorney, if you are unable to make decisions for yourself, loved ones would have to go to court to seek that power.

Whenever courts get involved, there is no doubt it complicates matters and is more expensive and timeconsuming. The goal of good planning is to reduce costs and make things as easy as possible on your loved ones.

Most people don't do any planning. It is beyond me why they don't. After all, do they think they are going to escape the inevitable?

The reality is people don't plan because they're busy with other things and this is something that no one likes to think about. It's easy to find an excuse, but that doesn't diminish the need to plan.

As adults, we have responsibilities and one of those is to plan for the inevitable and for other bumps in the road.

Estate planning doesn't have to be expensive. There are free forms for medical powers of attorney, durable powers and wills, available on my website (www.bloomassetmanagement.com) under the Bloom University heading — click on Legal Forms. These forms are not for everyone, but they work for many families.

Doing things such as checking beneficiaries and creating a document locator, listing what your assets are and where they and your important papers are located, does not have to cost a thing. On the other hand, if you need professional advice, hire an attorney that specializes in estate planning and don't be afraid to discuss costs and fees ahead of time.

An attorney who does not want to discuss costs and fees ahead of time is an attorney you don't want to deal with.

I assume Michael Jackson did not want to have his family fight and be in litigation for years after his death. I also assume that none of us would want our families to suffer because of us.

When we are no longer here, we want our family and friends to remember us fondly rather than as the cause of family strife. Therefore, to do the right thing, take time and plan.

Good luck!

Population trends impact future of region

BY SANDRA ARMBRUSTER OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Kurt Metzger plays the numbers, but what he is betting on has nothing to do with personal gain

Metzger, who started Data Driven Detroit for the Kresge Skillman Foundation, is betting that his numbers will help everyone from health care organizations to government units and retailers provide the appropriate services for their target audiences

The statistics were anything but dry when Metzger spoke Monday at the Schoolcraft College VisTaTech Center in Livonia, before a group of about 40 stakeholders at a board meeting of St. John Providence Health System. That health organization has five hospitals in the metropolitan area, including in Southfield and Novi.

One didn't need to see the numbers while looking at one of Metzger's maps showing population trends. A broad expanse of green covered the far western areas of Oakland County and all of Livingston County, depicting the areas with growing population

The map made sense to Lou Martin, who handles marketing and communications for Providence Park in Novi

"We have a terrific number of births at our hospital," he said. "The (I-) 96 corridor, it seems like there's something in the water."

For instance, according to statistics provided by the South Lyon School District, the number of students enrolled increased 2,654 students over 19 years, starting from the 1991-92 school year. But a look at the yearly figures show that the enrollment dipped slightly in the 2008-09 school year, which is considered to be the beginning the economic collapse in the area. The next three years showed an increase of only 23 students.

Those figures fit with Metzger's contention, based on data from the U.S. Census and the American Community Survey, a substitute for the long form of the Census, that sprawl is continuing and having a serious impact on service delivery throughout the nine county region he studies.

Following along the I-96 corridor, after its split west of I-275, are towns like Novi, South Lyon and Brighton, followed by Howell at M-59 and I-96. Without the use of a map, a drive along the corridor shows proof of population growth through major shopping developments at Novi, at Brighton just south of the intersection with US-23, and a major outlet shopping development in Howell.

The impact of that growth means, however, that more land is consumed and that the demands for transportation are growing. "We keep abandoning areas in our core," he said. "Seventy-six percent of the jobs (in the area) are 10 miles or more" from where people live.

"The whole idea is that we operate on a regional economy," something that Metzger adds is the key to the future of the ninecounty area. "We have got to talk about how we can work more together."

If Metzger had one common theme, it was "live local, hire local."

THE YOUNG LEAVE

Some areas have seen significant declines. "Michigan had more than a 540,000 net loss from 2000-2009," Metzger said. The greatest drop came in the 25-44 age group, he said.

"Young people are leaving the state," he said. Young couples are the most impacted by the last hired, first fired policy of employers, he said. Since many do not own homes, they are better able to move. A lot of those couples, he said, have young children.

Like with the growth of shopping centers, local school officials wouldn't need to see a map to know that the number of local births has dropped for the area and for Michigan. School officials carefully track such numbers, since the state aid to education is awarded on a per student basis.

Some of those young couples who leave also are encouraging their parents to follow them, he added.

At the other end of the age spectrum, "The number of deaths is stable," Metzger said. That means the area's population is growing older and needing different kinds of services.

'The baby boomers are here, and they are aging in place," he said.

"This is reflected in an older workforce," Metzger said. That workforce frequently doesn't have the education and skills that will induce businesses to locate in Michigan, Metzger said.

"Opportunity and education are key to the state of Michigan." he said. "...Michigan ranks 37th in the percentage of college-educated residents."

Metzger's stress on the need for education comes at a time when the state Legislature just passed a budget from Gov. Snyder that reduces the amount of state aid to education.

Significant changes also have occurred in the movement of ethnic and racial groups, he said. That's important, Metzger said, for attracting international business and investment.

A NOTE OF OPTIMISM

Metzger expressed optimism on the future. "The economy really hit this area, but we're about as far down as we re going to get," he said. Still, he cautioned that "we dropped much faster than it is going take to get back." He estimates that it will be five years before the area's economy fully recovers.

There are other ways that Metzger's statistics have an impact on lives in Southeastern Michigan, including the redistricting procedure for congressional and state officeholders now going on in Lansing.

Metzger calls congressional districts 13 and 14 interesting because, for the first time, they cross the Eight Mile Road border that separated Oakland County from Wayne County and from Detroit. Those districts are currently represented by Hansen Clarke and John Conyers.

Observer & Eccentric | Thursday, June 30, 2011

Once said to be the most segregated area of the country, Metzger said that is no longer true

"We're now the fourth," he said.

Metzger cautions that the data only can be interpreted so far. The sample size of the American Community Survey is small, reducing its reliability, he said. And while data for larger towns like Farmington Hills and Southfield will be updated every three years, smaller towns like Ferndale and Royal Oak will have demographics updated every five years.

George Blaty, a business consultant with the Southfield Chamber of Commerce, said the most important statistic to him was the one that said that the 25-44 age group declined. He asked Metzger what the "trigger point" would be for an economic turnaround that would bring people back.

Young people want diversity and a viable urban area, Metzger said. However, "they want the suburbs, like Royal Oak," when it comes time to buy a house and raise a family. That means that Detroit, Ann Arbor, Saginaw and Bay City all need to be revitalized, he added.

"A city has to have a kind of buzz to it" to attract young people, Metzger said. There was general agreement, though, that no one understood former governor Jennifer Granholm's "Cool Cities" initiative.

Revitalizing those cities will take improved housing, because much of the housing there "was not meant to last," Metzger said

While "single family homes are the strength of the region," Metzger also said that population trends will dictate what regional transportation is needed. That some communities have been allowed to opt out of regional transportation systems "makes no sense at all," he said.

Improved transportation systems could carry people from the core cities right out to that I-96 corridor, where "Novi is an employment center," Metzger said. And it will take that improved housing and access to jobs to repopulate core cities in the area, or, as Metzger said, "Where you live shouldn't determine how you live."

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP SENDS OUT WATER QUALITY REPORT

The Plymouth Township Water and Sewer Department has sent out its annual drinking water quality report to consumers. Among other things, the report discloses the amount of various materials in the water, including microbial and inorganic contaminants, and pesticides and herbicides.

The annual report has been required by law since the U.S. Congress passed the 1996 Safe Drinking Act Amendments.

Most of the Detroit metro area, including Plymouth Township, gets its drinking water from the Detroit River. The Detroit Water and Sewerage Department operates the water treatment facilities and pumping stations that supply water to the township, which operates the pipeline infrastructure and acts as the retailer to area businesses and residents.

Residents or business owners who have not received the report or have further questions can contact the Plymouth Township Water and Sewer Department at (734) 354-3270.

Fire and safety officials would rather residents left the fireworks displays to professional observances like this one in Canton, or the one coming up Sunday in Plymouth Township, but urge safety for residents intending to use their own fireworks.

Be considerate at commencement

On June 10, I attended Salem High School's 2011 commencement program. Before diplomas were handed out, the audience was politely asked to hold their applause, not to whistle or call out to their graduate so each student's name could be heard by family and friends.

For the first one-third of the program, people did comply with that request. Then some groups started applauding, yelling and even' sounding bull horns. Does simple courtesy only pertain to a few rather than to the whole audience? It was very disconcerting and many people, including the graduates, were embarrassed that adults could be so inconsiderate. Of course, we are proud of all the graduates and wish them well.

After 50 hours of parental supervised driving, three weeks of three-hour classes almost every day, and a formal driving test with a certified trainer, there is no reason for teenagers to be in by 10 p.m. and never have more than one person in the car. However, these regulations should be enforced if irresponsible teens violate other driving laws. The responsible teens who meet all expectations and follow driving laws just as well as any other driver should not be punished because of other foolish acts. Therefore, responsible teens should be able to take three friends out to a movie that starts at 9 p.m. and arrive home no later than midnight. Furthermore, stricter rules and regulations lower the expectations for maturing teens and disappoint those who have worked for and deserve to be treated like an adult. Any further restrictions for teens regarding their licenses should be left for their parent or guardian to determine. I understand the purpose for the revisions that were made; however, I think the government should consider the large percentage of teens who have not done anything wrong in order to earn such punishments. I hope many people take these points into consideration the next time this topic is brought up.

It seems an obvious message to deliver as the Fourth of July approaches — be safe with fireworks — but that doesn't mean it's not a message worth delivering.

That's because, from the various fire officials in the communities we cover, we know a few things about this time of year:

• In the United States, on July 4, there are more fires reported than on any other day of the year.

• Fireworks account for more than 50 percent of the reported July 4 fires. Fireworks caused an estimated 22,500 fires in 2008. These included 1,400 structure fires, 500 vehicle fires and 20,600 outdoor fires. These fires resulted in one civilian death, 40 civilian injuries and $42 million in direct property damage.

But this was just the tip of the iceberg.

• U.S. hospitals treated more than 7,000 people for fireworks-related injuries in 2008. Of that number, 53 percent were to the extremities and 37 percent were to the head. The age groups at highest risk were teens 15-19 years old and children 5-9 years old.

• Eighty-four percent of fireworks-related injuries treated in hospital emergency rooms involved fireworks that federal regulations permit consumers to use.

In Michigan, any firework that flies, spins, twirls or explodes is illegal to purchase or use without a permit. While legislation is currently pending in the state Legislature to allow consumer fireworks, this bill obviously will not be signed into law in time for this year's celebration.

The National Fire Protection Association, along with virtually any fire department official you care to ask, recommends that residents leave fireworks to the experts and find a public fireworks display to enjoy (there's one in Plymouth Sunday, for instance) this Fourth of July holiday.

However, we understand there are going to be people who purchase and use fireworks. If you're one of those people, at least please follow these safety rules from the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

• Never allow young children to play with or ignite fireworks.

• Adults should always supervise fireworks activities.

• Never try to re-light or pick up fireworks that fizzle and don't go off.

• Never point or throw fireworks at another person.

• Keep a bucket of water or a garden hose handy in case of fire or other mishap.

• After fireworks fully complete their functioning, douse the spent device with plenty of water from a bucket or hose before discarding to prevent a fire.

Many communities - Canton and Livonia among them - have already had their public fireworks display, so there might be a sense the danger has passed. However, safety officials point out research shows that typically 60 percent of fireworks injuries occur from the end of June through the last weeks of July.

Obvious or not, this is a message worth heeding.

Change the process

One of the most important decisions made in a democracy is determining the composition of legislative districts, since it establishes the constituencies that elect our representatives. The way districts are drawn has a significant impact on the outcome of elections.

There are legal guidelines that must be followed such as population, preserving local political boundaries, compactness and compliance with the Voting Rights Act; however, it is easy to adjust lines to give an advantage to incumbent legislators or a political party.

With this understanding, several members of the League of Women Voters of Northwest Wayne County attended the meetings of the Wayne County Apportionment Commission beginning April 12. We came to observe the process and report back to our membership.

Members of the commission are Chairman Raymond J. Wojtowicz, Wayne County treasurer; Vice-Chair Cathy M. Garrett, Wayne County clerk; Kym L. Worthy, Wayne County prosecutor; William J. Runco, Republican Party representative; William M. Wolfson, Democratic Party representative.

The commission's responsibility was to revise the boundaries of the 15 districts based on the 2010 Census data and the criteria mentioned above. The commission hired Data Driven Detroit, a business incubator, to develop a number of options for the commission to critique and then decide on one.

At each meeting there was a written agenda, but all of the information from Data Driven Detroit was projected on a screen with no paper copies available to the public. At the end of each meeting, Wojtowicz asked for public comment. It was difficult to study and prepare meaningful comments when the information was posted on the Wayne County clerk's website only one or two days before the meeting.

On May 27, the commission voted to accept option six of Data Driven Detroit's various proposals. At this meeting it was announced that the public can submit alternatives between June 9-21. Option six was posted June 1 on the website of the Wayne County clerk as the finished product.

As a proponent of an informed and educated electorate and transparency in government, League members recommend that the public be given a substantial opportunity to critique and provide input to the plans submitted by individuals, groups and Data Driven Detroit before a vote is taken by the Apportionment Commission.

In geographic areas that do not have to meet the rules of the Voting Rights Act, the district lines should be drawn so one party does not have a substantial advantage over another. In one new district in western Wayne Country, it is an 80-20 percent split, creating a situation where the commissioner elected by the 80 percent can ignore the concerns of the 20 percent and still get re-elected. This is not what our founding fathers intended.

When young people say they don't vote because their vote doesn't count, they have a point. We need to change the re-districting process. We all have the right to make our elected officials more accountable, and we all have the right to fair representation at the county, state and federal levels of government.

> Angela Ryan, president League of Women Voters of NW Wayne County

Teen restrictions unfair

Being a 16-year-old who drives, it has been brought to my attention that driving regulations for anyone with a graduated one driver's license have been extremely restricted. Although such laws were passed in order to benefit society and protect citizens of all ages, there comes a point where one needs to draw the line on how much to control people's lives. Not only do teens go through intense training to receive their license in the first place, but they also reach a milestone in their life when they gain a sense of freedom after finally receiving their first driver's license.

Bill wrong for schools

Not only are Republican lawmakers cutting funding to our education system, but now they are trying to get rid of our tenured teachers to cut additional costs.

This bill allows our educators fewer rights by stripping protections that shield them from being dismissed without reasonable and just cause. Also, this legislation may prompt districts to lay off teachers who earn more to simply save money, and personal feelings and local politics may get in the way of just cause.

I'm not saying our tenure system does not need to be reformed, but there are logical ways to go about this such as performing timely evaluations and further documenting teacher performance. This bill is wrong for Michigan schools.

He was a killer

Jack Kevorkian was a post-industrial serial killer protected by the fog of a Byzantine legal system which he exploited to serve his twisted agenda. It is surreal observing a human being engaged in this behavior and then promote it as a progressive movement. Of course, Jack would never entertain the notion of using his "killing machine" on himself.

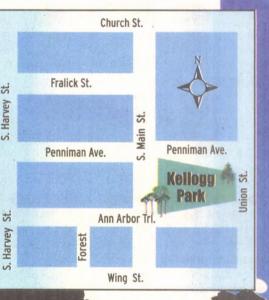

When all the smoke clears and the cheerleading is over, many will come to realize how harmful he was for those who value life and death with dignity.

Despite injuries, Moss flourishes with Calgary

Livonian completes fifth NHL season with Flames

BY BRAD EMONS OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

David Moss has become an avid golfer, but the right winger from the Calgary Flames would prefer to keep his clubs in storage during the months of April, May and June.

The Livonia native and Detroit Catholic Central High grad just completed his fifth season for the Flames, who just missed the Stanley Cup Playoffs for the second straight year.

Moss, a member the Flames' top line which includes Jarome Iginla and recently re-signed Alex Tanguay, went down with a freak ankle injury while skating in a practice during mid-March.

After scoring 17 goals and adding 13 assists with a career-best plus-9 rating, Moss' presence in the lineup was sorely missed.

"I was going to catch a pass and got caught in a rut," Moss said. "I missed the last 15 games and we were making a run. (Teammate) Brendan Morrison also got hurt and that didn't help."

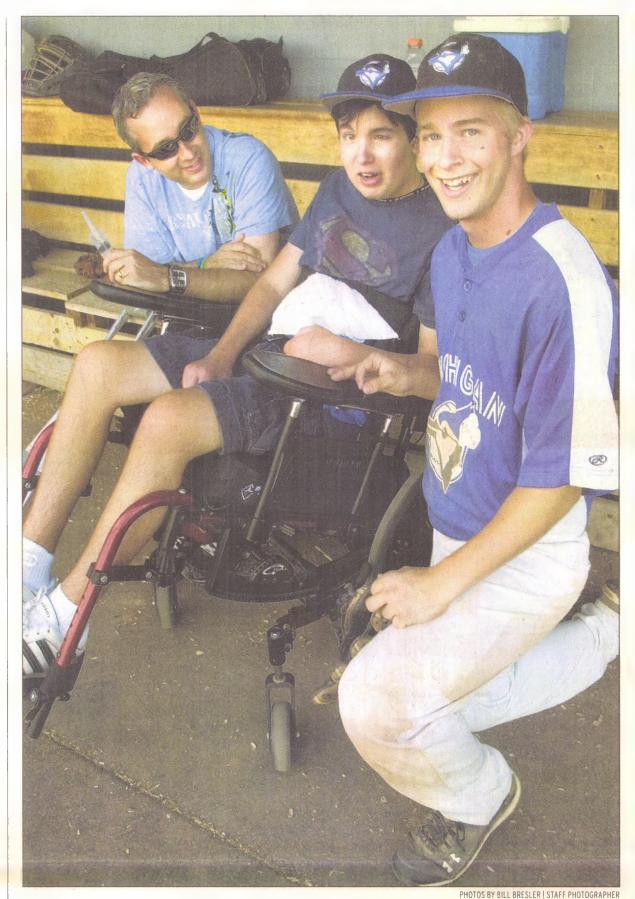

The 6-foot-3, 205-pound forward was the Flames' seventh-round draft pick (220th overall) in 2003 and has appeared in 285 NHL games with 59 goals and 56 assists.

But his last playoff appearance was in the 2008-09 series against his hometown Detroit Red Wings.

"I don't know if it was one thing why we missed it," Moss said of the two-year playoff void. "We were definitely close both years. We had stretches - where you can't do in the NHL - when you're in a really bad funk. The first few months of last year we really put ourselves behind the eight-ball.

"After the All-Star break we were one of the better teams in the league. It's one of those things were you put yourself too far back, too early and you can't climb out of the hole. The teams are too good. You're close, but it's a matter of taking that next step, and in Calgary I think we have the team to do that."

Moss hasn't been on skates since the March 15

SIDELINES All-star standout

The official end of Jason Wilson's high school football career merged nicely with the start of his college career Saturday.

The former Farmington High wide receiver caught two touchdown passes in the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association's 31st annual East-West All-Star game.

Wilson's first-half touchdowns sparked the East to a 16-7 halftime lead and an eventual, 30-13 victory at Central Michigan University.

Wilson, a two-time, All-Observer player, will play college football in the same Kelly-Shorts Stadium for the CMU Chippewas.

He finished with three receptions for 136 yards. His TD catches, both thrown by Detroit Cass Tech's Keith Moore, covered 61 and 68 yards.

Wilson just missed a third TD reception late in the game on a pass from Harrison quarterback Tommy Vento, who was 8-of-16 passing for 78 yards.

Michigan Amateur

Both of Madonna University's golf programs were represented in the final 64-player field with women's assistant coach Brian King (Livonia) and recent men's program graduate Brett Quitiquit having advanced to the match play event at the 2011 Michigan Amateur Championship held at The Heather at Boyne Highlands Resort in northern Michigan.

Willie Mack III of Flint defeated Joey Garber of Petoskey, 4-and-3, for the coveted title.

In the stroke play portion of the championship, King shot rounds of 76 and 72 to tie for 13th in the field. He was ousted by Patrick Colburn, 1-up, in the first round of match play. Quitiquit, a Highland native who was the NAIA National Tournament runner-up medalist in 2010, shot an 80 in the first round of stroke play, but rebounded in round two to card a 71 and tie for 29th in the field. He was eliminated by Canton's Mike Fedewa in the first round of match play, 2and-1. Mike Fedewa then ousted Steve Fedewa of Howell, 3-and-2, before losing to Mack in the guarterfinals, 5-and-3. Livonian Kevin Janasik also qualified in 47th with a 79-74-153. He was ousted by Jerry Gunthorpe in the first round, 2-up.

'SuperJess' Classic a smash hit Benefit baseball game supports Canton teenager

BY TIM SMITH -OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

There were no raindrops finally — but plenty of happy tears Monday as two teams of Jesse Lindlbauer's baseball buddies played the long-awaited "SuperJess" Baseball Classic at Plymouth High School's varsity field.

Postponed from June 22 due to rain, the first-annual classic pitted two U16 travel teams mostly comprised of players from Plymouth-Canton Educational Park.

Whatever the Michigan Blue Jays and Plymouth Grizzlies could do on the baseball diamond paled in comparison to the reason everyone was there.

The star of the event was 16-year-old Jesse, whose family wheeled him out to the pitcher's mound for the ceremonial first pitch – delivered by Jesse's younger brother Noah.

Jesse wore a smile and Blue Jays cap as waves of people made sure to greet him with smiles and encouraging words.

"They've been here every step of the way," said David Lindlbauer, Jesse's dad. "Six months later they're still following us, following the progress.

"We certainly appreciate it because we can't let down. There's a little ways to go, so we're still pushing forward and we need the support, trust me."

Area men win compensation for ex-major leaguers

BY DAN O'MEARA OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

If it was a baseball game, it would be the equivalent of a 22-inning marathon. Like the winning team, Al Moran and Jim Acho have been rewarded for their persistent efforts, too.

For the last eight years, the Farmington Hills men battled Major League Baseball in the courts, fighting on behalf of former players who were excluded from a 1980 change in the pension agreement.

The announcement this spring that MLB and the Players Association had worked out a deal to compensate those players is a victory for Acho and Moran.

Acho, the attorney for the Livoniabased law firm that represented the players, did all of the legal work on the case since the original lawsuit was filed in 2003.

Moran, a former shortstop who played for the Mets and Red Sox in the early 1960s, served as the Midwest representative in the class-action suit.

When Moran played, a minimum service of four years on a Major League roster was required to earn a pension. Under a new agreement in 1980, players needed only 45 days for a pension and one day for health insurance.

Moran and others like him were never included retroactively in the new Jim Ewald of St. Clair Shores used a 20-degree Orlimar to ace the 146-yard, No. 17 hole Saturday at Redford's Glenhurst Golf Course.

For the 64-year-old Ewald, it was his first hole-in-one in 34 years. He shot 87 for 18 holes.

MU guides lauded

The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Sports Information Directors Association recently announced its 2010-11 publication awards and three guides produced by the Madonna University Sports Information Office took home top-10 honors.

The 2010 volleyball media guide placed second among the 22 entries while the 2011 baseball media guide took home seventh in the Walt McAlexander Baseball Brochure contest and the women's basketball guide ranked eighth.

All three guides were produced by Madonna University Sports Information Director an alumnus Patrick Moore, with assistance from assistant athletic director Noel Emenhiser, along with volleyball student-athlete Anna Gatt (Livonia Churchill) and former interns Erik Gruenewald and Jarrett Fenech.

All-Area baseball team packs a punch at the plate

ALL-AREA FIRST TEAM

Ryan Bazner, Canton: The junior co-captain was the Chiefs' MVP, batting .506 with 14 doubles while dominating whenever he pitched.

Bazner's 9-0 record, 1.43 ERA and 67 strikeouts in 52.2 innings went a long way toward Canton's 27-7 record, KLAA Central co-title and fourth straight Division 1 district championship.

His efforts were rewarded with selection to the all-KLAA and alldistrict teams.

"Ryan is an extremely focused ballplayer who became a dual threat this season by being the ace of the staff and also leading the team in batting average and extra base hits," coach Mark Blomshield said.

Zak Kmet, Garden City: Kmet was a dual threat for the Cougars, hitting .458 (38 for 83) with seven home runs and 31 RBI from the lead-off spot, while registering a stellar 6-1 record on the mound. The sophomore crafted a solid 2.48 earned run average and struck out 30 batters in 36.3 innings.

"Zak had one of the best seasons for a player I've ever coached," said coach Steve Herman. "When you combined his RBI total, batting average and pitching numbers, it's real tough to top. He started the season as our No. 2 hitter, but he hit so well I moved him to the lead-off spot. He had 31 RBI from the leadoff spot, which is unbelievable.

Evan Piechota, Stevenson: The senior pitcher-shortstop, headed to Madonna University, was named to the Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association East-West All-Star team that was held recently at Comerica Park.

Piechota excelled on the mound with an 8-1 record to go along with a 0.72 ERA. In 58 innings, he struck out 66 and walked only 12.

Offensively, Piechota batted .360 with one homer, 11 doubles and team-high 28 RBI. He had a slugging percentage of .500 and an onbase average of .460.

Piechota earned all-KLAA, all-district and all-region honors. Collegiate Baseball also gave him honorable mention high school all-America honors. "Evan played every inning of every game," coach Rick Berryman said. "He pitched unbelievably well for us and played a great shortstop. He had an unbelievable year as a pitcher. He's very focused and very dedicated."

Ben Matigian, Churchill: As a pitcher, the senior went 5-2 with a 1.67 earned run average and also hit .361 with 27 runs and 21 RBI.

In 46 innings pitched, the all-KLAA and all-district pick struck out 25 and walked just 13 while holding opponents to a .192 batting average Matigian, bound for Madonna

University, also slugged at a .458 clip and had a .481 on-base average. "Ben is a very hard-working player who does not take his baseball skills for granted," coach Ron Targosz said. "He continuously works on improving them by taking extra ground balls, extra swings or doing whatever to takes to get things right.

"He's a three-year varsity player that will be extremely hard to replace next season." Mark Wagner, Stevenson: The senior first baseman was a four-year varsity player who earned all-KLAA and all-district honors.

This season, Wagner was second on the team in batting with a .388 average and finished with two homers, eight doubles and 27 RBI.

He also slugged at a .531 clip and had an on-base average of .516.

Wagner, who will play next season at Henry Ford Community College, carried a four-year batting average of .362 with 101 total hits.

"The first year he was a catcher, the second year he played third and caught, and this year he filled in at first base and was very capable," Berryman said. "He also did a little bit of pitching and played an excellent first base. What was unique about him was his leadership in the infield.

Scott Devine, Salem: The two-year starter had an outstanding senior year, collecting 45 hits en route to a .445 average and MVP honors.

And he only made five errors in 114 chances for a .956 fielding percentage.

Devine earned selection to the all-KLAA, all-district and all-state teams and was a conference scholar-athlete.

"Scott Devine has been an outstanding player and a better person for Salem baseball," coach Dale Rumberger said. "His leadership style is quiet, but everyone has huge respect for Scott. (He) is the kind of young man you would want your son to aspire to be."

Devine will play baseball at Kalamazoo College in 2012. Chris Perkovich, Canton: Saginaw Valley State University is calling Perkovich to play there in 2012 and his senior year at Canton provided ample reason why.

Perkovich, besides being co-captain and "a terrific leader by example on the ball field" according to Blomshield, delivered in all aspects of his game in 2011.

He batted .376, belting five home runs and driving in 41 runs to always be in the middle of the Chiefs' rallies. And the all-conference and all-district selection played flawless shortstop.

"Chris has great range and arm at shortstop," Blomshield said. "I'm looking forward to seeing what he can do at the next level.'

Dallas Sutton, Harrison: The senior shortstop made the all-area first

He had only three strikeouts in 85 atbats, and he had 30 stolen bases. In career numbers, Sutton ranks eighth in average (.418), second in doubles (22) and third in stolen bases (61).

"Dallas is one of the all-time great Hawks," coach Pete Lamerato said. "His leadership was second to none in his three years as a varsity starter. He never cared about his own statistics. All he wanted was his team to win, and he always showed that fire to be successful Dallas is what every coach wants his captain to be. He never took a pitch off, and his numbers for a career match up with anyone."

Ben Wohl, Plymouth: The senior was a stabilizing force at shortstop for Plymouth as he wrapped up a successful prep career. Wohl batted .390, with 41 runs scored and a .937 fielding percentage, and achievements included selection to the all-conference and all-district teams and a scholar-athlete award.

And although the Wildcats do not name captains, he was a team leader who gave it his all on the field.

"Ben is a special player," coach Bryan Boyd said. "He brings it every day in practice, games and in whatever else he does.

Wohl is going to Calvin College, where he hopes to continue playing baseball.

Joe Williams, Churchill: The senior third baseman earned first-team all-area honors for the second straight year after hitting .470 with 11 doubles, 22 runs and 17 RBI.

Williams, headed for Siena Heights University, also slugged at a .551 pace and added an on-base percentage of .514 (with only two strikeouts). "Joe has always been a very good offensive player, but this year he turned himself into one of the best two-way players that I have ever coached," Targosz said of the all-KLAA and all-district pick. "Defensively, Joe seemed to get bet ter and better as a the season went on. This is because he worked on his whole game. He was not happy with just being a very good hitter. Therefore, he continued to work on his field and improved it a great deal." Mike Nadratowski, Plymouth:

Another Plymouth scholar-athlete and outstanding all-around player, Nadratowski was the team MVP after batting .470.

What's more, he slugged 16 doubles, four triples, seven homers, drove in 38 and had a slugging percentage of .920 while fielding center field flawlessly.

The southpaw also was in the Wildcats' pitching rotation, going 4-1 with a 1.45 ERA.

He was named to the all-KLAA team for a third straight year and all-district selection for a second consecutive season.

"Mike put up some monster statistics over his career at Plymouth." Boyd said. "He is now the school's statistical leader in many categories. Mike is the best defensive center fielder in the area."

Nadratowski will be playing baseball at Grand Valley State University.

Damien Quarles Braden Price Clarenceville Canton

Kirk Barikmo, Garden City: Barikmo closed out his high school career in style, hitting a whopping .466 (27 for 58) while knocking in 27 runs and scoring 25. Among his hits were one double, three triples and two home runs. He also walked 14 times from the clean-up spot in the batting order and played a nearly flawless left field.

"Kirk had a great season," said Herman. "He improved in every facet of the game since last season He went from being a defensive liability last year to having an awesome year in left. I don't know how he did it, but he improved his quickness and he was a stealing threat on the bases. He also cut his strikeouts in half. When Kirk played well, the team seemed to play well."

Damien Quarles, Clarenceville: The speedy outfielder batted .431 for the Trojans with a .569 slugging percentage and 23 runs scored. Quarles was also successful on the base paths with 19-of-20 on stolen base attempts.

"Damien is the player that makes us go," coach Dan Miller said of the left-handed hitter and starting pitcher. "As our lead-off hitter, he's a sparkplug in offense. He would usually end up on second base, wither it was getting a double or stealing a base.

"Either way, he's putting a lot of pressure on the defense and starting rallies. He also covers a ton of ground in center field. He gets to balls that a lot of kids won't get to, and makes it look easy.'

Braden Price, Canton: Speed never goes into a slump, and the same could be seen for the senior Price

He played flawless center field and was an offensive catalyst at the top of Canton's hard-hitting lineup.

Price, who was an all-conference and all-district selection, batted .437 with 10 doubles, three triples, three homers and 38 stolen bases in 42 attempts.

"Braden can flash the leather only committing one error this season while efficiently patrolling the out-field gap-to-gap," Blomshield said.

Tyler Lynch, Stevenson: The thirdyear varsity player was the Spartans' leadoff hitter who led the way with a .398 batting average including nine doubles and two triples.

Lynch also scored a team-high 32 runs en route to all-KLAA and all-district honors. He also had a slugging percentage of .531 and a team-best .532 on-base average.

His three-year career batting average was .372 and his fielding percentage was an impressive .998.

"Tyler epitomizes hard work to make himself a better player," Berryman said. "During the off-season each Saturday, he was always the first one there to hit at 8 a.m. He's a very focused and very dedicated player."

COACHES OF THE YEAR Mark Blomshield, Canton: In four short seasons at the Chiefs' helm, the former pitcher at Western Michigan University has transformed the baseball program into a winning machine.

Canton went 27-7 to share first place in the KLAA South Division, winning the tie-breaker with Livonia Churchill for top seed in the conference tournament. The Chiefs then won the D1

districts for the fourth consecutive season before bowing out in a tough regional contest against Birmingham Brother Rice. That gave Blomshield a record of 102-38 Mark Blomshield since taking over Canton coach in 2008.

Meanwhile, he was named MHSAA District Coach of the Year for a fourth time.

"The 2011 Chiefs worked very hard and was a very talented baseball team," Blomshield said. "They played with a high intensity that I haven't seen matched and it was exciting to coach these young men. "From first-to-last pitch, these guys were fired up and in the game. Blomshield, an 11-year physical education teacher in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District, holds a master's degree in educational leadership from Eastern Michigan University.

Steve Herman, Garden City: Herman's 13th season at the helm of the Cougars' program was capped by a Western Wayne Athletic Conference title - the second consecutive title for Garden City and fifth championship during Herman's tenure. The Cougars also cap-along and all of the Steve Herman players improved. We were a young Garden City coach team - we only had four seniors - but they didn't play like they were young. It was fun to watch these guys grow as a team.

"We have 10 players returning, which bodes well for the future. Herman teaches math at Garden City High.

SUPERJESS

SUPER SPIRIT

Everybody did their part to get into the SuperJess spirit. Colorful wristbands (sold as tickets to the event) were emblazoned with "SuperJess" on them while some players used eye black to create an S and a J on each side of their face.

And behind home plate was a "SJ" logo painted behind home plate by Jon Schneider. He created a Superman-like look, with white letters inside a pentagon.

That logo was created before Wednesday's original date, but it remained intact for Monday's festivities.

"We noticed that (SJ logo) Wednesday," David Lindlbauer said. "But it's pretty cool, that's an awesome touch. A lot of the players have S and J painted on their faces too, so that's cool."

Beyond cool was the way the community continues to go all-out for Jesse, a Canton sophomore who suffered a brain abscess last December.

Canton's Jen Deprez, whose son Jacob is a longtime friend of Jesse's, couldn't hold back her tears when talking about Jesse's ongoing fight.

"(He's made) great progress," Deprez said. "I think the power of prayer is amazing. And every event that we go to seems to get bigger and bigger.

"You'd think that after a while the support would start to wane, and it hasn't."

There were more than 300 of the $6 wristbands sold for admission to the baseball game, won by the Grizzlies 12-11. With the original game postponed, the actual number who came out Monday was closer to 100.

"We appreciate all the support we can get," David

Lindlbauer said. "It's a nice turnout, great to see."

REASON TO SMILE

Such events such as Monday's continue to have a positive impact on Jesse, who beams whenever he's in the baseball environment.

"It's definitely his favorite sport. He keeps targeting getting back to playing baseball someday," Lindlbauer said. "We're hopeful. It would be great to see."

He added that Jesse "always has a smile on his face (at such events), it's great just seeing a lot of his friends. And I think just being around all the people, more than anything, is uplifting for him."

Deprez said people continue to show their support by visiting Jesse's CarePages Web page, stopping by the Lindlbauer house, doing whatever they can to be supportive.

"It's the reason he's feeling it, believing it," Deprez said. In fact, David Lindlbauer said the family is remaining hopeful about Jesse's recovery - regardless of how long that might take.

"He's verbalizing a little bit now," Lindlbauer said. "His therapists are working hard with him, with his speech and PT.

"He's able to stand up a little bit using the parallel bars. The sky's the limit, hopefully. The latest results of the MRI came back real, real good."

Another plus, his dad continued, is Jesse is "looking forward to going back to school in September. It may just be part time to start. But that's a nice step for him."

SuperJess" event to take place Saturday, Aug. 27 at Lakes of Taylor Golf Club.

"We're lucky to live in such a great community with such community support," said Plymouth varsity baseball coach Bryan Boyd, who had several of his players on both the Blue Jays and Grizzlies. "When something happens to one of our own you see that people come out of the woodwork to help them and support them and do whatever they can."

a pension from that work, was always about the principle. The baseball compensation was never going to be a make-orbreak deal for him.

Another area player in that situation is Bill Zepp of Livonia, a University of Michigan grad and retired Chrysler employee. He pitched three seasons in the Majors with the Twins and Tigers.

"It's a nice turn of events; I'm sure everybody feels better," Moran said. "For the guys who are having a tough time, I'm sure they're happy as heck to get it.

Meanwhile, he continues to work out and run during the off-season at his alma mater, the new Catholic Central in Novi, under the guidance of trainer John Vickers of Dynamic Athletic Performance.

Former University of Michigan teammate Brandon Kaleniecki and Ryan Hayes of the Plymouth Whalers meet daily at 7:45 a.m.

"Calgary gives us a good program and I've had the same trainer for three years," Moss said. "CC has a brand new weight room and we do a lot of things on the football field and track. I haven't skated yet, but I feel my ankle is good enough to go."

Moss is in the final year of his contract and will become an unrestricted free agent. He plans to return for preseason workouts in mid-August in Calgary, which he'd like to call his permanent home.

"It's a fun city to play in," Moss said. "The people are passionate about hockey. It's the only major sport in the city with the exception of a CFL team and their season is well over by the time we're going. The people love it and it's truly a fun city to play in.

"I like it there. If I could I'd like to stay there a long time. Really enjoy it and hopefully I'm not traded."

Moss, who also missed the first nine regular season games with a shoulder injury, proved his worth when he returned after scoring just eight goals and adding nine assists in 64 games during the 2009-10 season.

"The year before I was struggling to score and missed a few games," Moss said. "When you're not producing, you won't play. It was a tough year. But I felt good last year and Brent (Sutter, the Calgary coach) had a lot of confidence in me."

Moss not only played on the Flames' top line, but also earned minutes both on the power play and penalty kill.

Moss said Sutter has developed a good rapport with the players.

"I think he's great," the former CC standout said. "He's played the game and been successful as a player and a coach at different levels. I think his biggest attribute is that he's honest and he's fair with guys. You know where you stand with him. When you're not playing well, he'll let you know. And when you're playing well he's going to let you know. As a player that's all you can ask for. Despite being thousands of miles from home, Moss does make regular appearances in Detroit and leans on his support system, even when things aren't going his way. "Your family and friends tell you good things for the most part," Moss said. "My grandfather always gives me fairly good advice and will tell me I'm playing better than I am at the time. It's always nice to have encouraging comments from family and friends because they're always on your side and want you to do well."

there has been a lot of great memories."

"He never played hockey, but he always helped out," David Moss said. "My first couple of years he was a parent that wanted to be involved. I don't think he knew too much about the game, but he was always willing to help. He could probably coach a team now with all games he's seen and all the hockey games he's watched and been around. He knows the game way better now than when he started - that's for sure."

Moss, ironically, has a distinction of playing before three of the largest outdoor hockey audiences of all time.

There was the Cold War on Oct. 6, 2001, between Michigan and Michigan State that drew 74,544 fans.

At the 2010 IIHF World Championships at Veltins Arena in Gelsenkirchen, Germany, he played for Team USA against host Germany before 77,803.

And there was this past February in Calgary at the NHL Heritage Classic against Montreal Canadiens before 40,000.

"They were all memorable in their own ways," Moss said. "The one in Calgary was probably coldest one I played in."

"We were in Germany and playing Germany. It was crazy. It was their home turf and it was like nothing I've ever seen. It was almost like a soccer game over there. They were cheering the whole game. The fans were there probably six hours before the game tailgating. It was almost like a college football game atmosphere. It was really neat and fun experience. I also played the one at Michigan State I remember we wore extra layers underneath.

"Got three under my belt." Moss is one of several Livonians to make it and thrive in the NHL. And one of those players most recently made it all the way to Game 7 of the Stanley Cup Finals.

"He's a great player," Moss said of Ryan Kesler. "When I skate with him in the summer time, too, it seems every year he gets better and better. Obviously playing in Calgary, he's a rival. He's the type of player everybody would love to have on their team, but you hate playing against him. He's the best two-way player in the game. He won the Selke Award and he's a tough player to play against."

So how does Moss honestly evaluate his golf game these days? "Seems like I play less-andless every year," he said. "I enjoy the game a lot, not so much now when I'm hitting it sideways, but I try and play as much as I can. I'd give myself a 12 (handicap) on a good day.

agreement, and their plight was told in Doug Gladstone's 2010 book A Bitter Cup of Coffee – How MLB and The Players Association Threw 874 Retirees a Curve.

Under the 2011 deal, those players will receive anywhere from $1,200 annually upward to a maximum of $10,000 based on the amount of time they played in the Majors. Medical coverage is not included were under no obligation to do this. The judge said they had a moral obligation to continue to negotiate." Acho doesn't think the 2011 deal will be undone in two years.

"I don't think they'll do that given they've already made this commitment to these living players," he said. "That would be unfortunate (if they did), and I just don't think they're going to do that. I think they'll continue to do this until this pre-1980 class passes away."

REASONS FOR CHANGE

"It wasn't what we expected, but it's better than nothing at this point," Moran said. "Jim and a lot of guys spent a lot of time on this, trying to get it. It's really not even called a pension. It's called a compensation to the players who didn't have a full four years.

"The guys who are going to get $10,000 are the guys who were two or three days shy of four years, and then it works down on a percentage. I would say, if you have two to three years, it'll be a nice piece of change for you."

NO SURVIVORS BENEFIT

Furthermore, the deal is only good for two years. After that time, the players could get nothing again, or they could be covered under terms of the 1980 agreement, according to Acho.

"That's why I would stop short of calling it a pension," he said. "It's a two-year charitable contribution in recognition of their efforts.

"The only bad thing is the surviving spouses are not eligible for this like they would be in a pension. That's the only unfortunate aspect, but at least it's something.

"The truth is we lost in trial court in Los Angeles and on appeal, so they really

There are several reasons the older players are getting some money now, according to Acho.

A change at the head of the Players Association may be the primary reason. Michael Weiner, who replaced Donald Fehr, was much more sympathetic to their cause.

Furthermore, MLB Commissioner Bud Selig is nearing the end of his term and wanted to resolve the matter, Acho added. The third was the publicity from Gladstone's book

"It was a surprising turn of events and we're glad," Acho said, adding financial compensation for his firm is unlikely. "It's a matter of principle and doing the right thing more than the money. We're just glad it got done."

"Weiner at least listened to the people, and (MLB) kinda felt bad for the guys," Moran said. "The alumni association -Brooks Robinson and his guys - stepped in and were the ones who kinda put this thing together.

"Once the book got out, I'm sure that put a lot of pressure on Major League Baseball after they read all this stuff, too."

MONEY NOT THE ISSUE

Moran, who is a retired carpenter with

The Major League Alumni Association feels good, because we got something out of it. We were the warriors who started out playing when there were eight teams. We didn't make much money. Now, there are more teams and guys making so much money. The old guys are the pioneers who got this thing rolling."

Moran added the time and effort he put into helping with the lawsuit was definitely worth it. But Acho is the one who deserves all the credit, he added.

"We can say, 'Hey, we did something;' the follow-up by Jim Acho and a lot of guys (produced a positive result)," Moran said. "I feel bad because of what they spent; they'll probably never get their money back, the lawyers. The guys feel good. We did something; something came forth from it."

Moran anticipates the players will begin receiving their compensation later this year.

"Someone said it would be after the World Series, because it takes time to evaluate all the ballplayers and send them all the W2 forms," Moran said. "We'll see how this thing plays out. We haven't received anything yet, but their word is pretty good."

Moss said he doesn't feel it's a burden when coming back home.

"It's been fine," he said. "I think my first year in Calgary we played Detroit in the playoffs and that was pretty chaotic with all the people and the support and stuff.

"But it's great. I love coming back here because you always have your family and friends at the games. You work so hard when you're younger. They want to see.you play and there's no better place than Joe Louis where's

"I got a chance to play Oakland Hills last year and that by far was the nicest course I've ever played and the most challenging. That was a real treat.

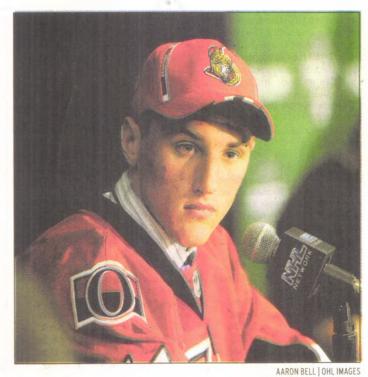

"I played way more in my younger days when I was in college - when I had what it seemed like more time and didn't travel as much."

So who is the best Flame player on the links?

"Yea, there's a few guys on our team that can 'chuck," Moss said. "In Calgary, probably Jarome (Iginla) and Alex (Tanguay), they're both good golfers, and Curtis Glencross ... they're all single digit handicaps. They're all pretty good."

Whalers duo selected in NHL draft's first round

Stefan Noesen of the Plymouth Whalers addresses the media after being picked 21st overall in the NHL Entry Draft by Ottawa.

For the first time in a decade, two Plymouth Whalers players were selected in the first round of the National Hockey League Entry Draft.

Stefan Noesen (21st, Ottawa) and Rickard Rakell (30th, Anaheim) were selected Friday at Xcel Center in St. Paul, Minn.

The last time the Whalers had two players taken in the first round was in 2001, when Stephen Weiss was taken fourth overall by Florida and goalie Jason Bacashihua 28th by the Dallas Stars.

Later in the 2011 draft, Plymouth forward Garrett Meurs — a frequent linemate of Noesen and Rakell last season - was picked in the fifth round (123rd overall) by Colorado. Goalie Matt Mahalak then was picked in the sixth round (163rd) by Carolina.

Noesen was interviewed

Friday night by TSN directly after being selected by the Senators.

"I fell in love with the game through the (Dallas) Stars," he said. "My great grandfather was Canadian and he showed me the ropes and took me to Stars games. I'm really excited to get started."

Noesen was compared on the broadcast to Anaheim's Corey Perry.

"Noesen's the same kind of player," said Ottawa general manager Bryan Murray. "He's a hard-working, competitive person that's paid an awfully big price to be a hockey player, moving away from home and doing the things he's done. We like his competitive nature. Corey's turned out pretty well and we think Stefan will, too."

The Senators acquired the 21st pick from Nashville in a deal during last season's NHL trade deadline for Mike Fisher. Rakell of the Plymouth Whalers.

Food collection, cupcake baking sweeten Vacation Bible School

BY SHARON DARGAY O&E STAFF WRITER

Cupcakes and chefs, pandas and bamboo will keep Vacation Bible School lessons lively at local churches next month.

"Oh, it's food, so it's going to be fun," said Kim DeSantis, describing Vacation Bible School's "Shake it Up Cafe" theme at St. Matthew's United Methodist Church in Livonia. DeSantis directs the Vacation Bible School at St. Matthew's, which is collaborating with two other churches, Faith Lutheran and Holy Cross Lutheran for the second summer.

Approximately 100 youngsters in preschool through sixth grade attended the joint school last year. DeSantis expects at least as many for the session that will run 9 a.m.-noon, July 18-22 at St. Matthew's, 30900 W. Six Mile, Livonia. Registration is $10 and includes all food, supplies and a T-shirt. Advance registration isn't required, although it will help Vacation Bible School planners order the correct amount of supplies and T-shirts. Call (734) 422-6038.

"We have a recreation segment, games and snacks. There's a full music section. Everyday we're doing a mission. We're going to do a food theme."

Youngsters will donate a different food each day according to a theme. On "Prince of Peas" day they'll take canned vegetables to school. A Pasta Paul Day will round up pastas and grains. On the final day of school they'll make and decorate cupcakes to share during a joint Sunday church service on July 26.

"I went to Vacation Bible School in Kentucky," said DeSantis, recalling her own childhood experience. "It was nothing like this at all like this. We were all together sitting and hearing a lesson. It was more like a very long Sunday school class.

"This (Shake it Up Cafe) is very structured, but the curriculum gives us leeway about how much we want to put into it. If kids walk away from Vacation Bible School remembering even one thing, that's what's important to us."

TASTY LESSONS

At Berean Bible Church, 35375 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia, volunteers are gearing up for "Pandamania," Vacation Bible School, where even the snacks will help reinforce Bible lessons.

"I know we're doing a Jonah story. The grapes will be the bubbles coming out of the fish's mouth," said Sue Endlein, who is co-directing the program. Fish-shaped crackers will represent the whale that swallowed Jonah.

Youngsters of different ages are grouped in small teams that move from activity to activity together. Endlein said the grouping creates a "family" in which "older kids rise to the occasion to help the younger ones."

Crafts, games and Bible stories, along with a daily video story, round out the curriculum.

"The story in the cinema revolves around a character who goes to a panda refuge. There are all these panda bears involved and we decorate with bamboo and pandas."

The session is free and runs 9 a.m.-noon, July 11-15. Walk-ins are welcome. Pre-registration also is accepted at (734) 728-4028.

Here's a sampling of other Vacation Bible Schools

• Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, 39020 Five Mile, Livonia, "Pandamania," 9 a.m. to noon, July 11-15; (734) 464-0211

Will include games, music, skits, snacks, crafts, Bible stories, and more. Suggested donation is $15 per child and includes a T-shirt. Registration is open until first day of event, but preregistered participants also receive a CD.

• Bell Creek Community Church, in McKinley Elementary School, 9101 Hillcrest, Livonia, "Shake it Up Cafe," 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., July 18-22; (734) 367-4632. For children entering kindergarten-fifth grade. $10 per child/$25 max per family; www.bellcreek.org

Symphony in the park Spend four days

Celebrate the nation's birthday with a star-spangled concert

BY SHARON DARGAY O&E STAFF WRITER

Pack a picnic, grab a blanket and head to Kellogg Park in Plymouth Saturday for an evening of patriotic tunes and music by American composers.

There's no better way to kick off the holiday weekend, says Beth Stewart, executive director of the Michigan Philharmonic Symphony.

"It's a great way to celebrate the Fourth, by having the symphony in the park. All over the country that's the big thing. People like to hear classical music in the park," Stewart said. "We hope it will be really big and that everyone comes down for it."

Free concerts will fill Kellogg Park with music * for three days this week, beginning with Plymouth Community Band at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 30, followed by Zap Toro's Latin sounds at 7 p.m. Friday, July 1, and culminating with the Michigan Philharmonic's An American Salute at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, July 2. The Observer, Sensors, Inc. and Biggby Coffee are sponsoring the An American Salute.

The Michigan Philharmonic's pops concert lineup includes selections from Broadway musicals, Carousel and West Side Story; a song from the epic film, The Bridge on the River Kwai; The Star-Spangled Banner, American favorites such as Yankee Doodle, Stars and Stripes Forever, You're a Grand Old Flag, favorites from George Gershwin and Aaron Copland, and the soul-stirring 1812 Overture by Tchaikovsky.

DRAWING THOUSANDS

The program will be similar to the symphony's recent concert at Kensington Metropark, with a few changes

"It's all good stuff. People will get into it," Stewart said. "Even though it was a little chilly at Kensington, several thousand people were out there. It was so well received. The Detroit Symphony had been doing it the last 22 years and this year they didn't want to find the sponsorship to do it, so the parks hired us instead. We didn't disappoint."

The Michigan Philharmonic will play its first concert in Kellogg Park on Saturday, July 2. The last time it played in the park – nine years ago – the group was known as The Plymouth Symphony.

Stewart said the last time the Michigan

Philharmonic played in Kellogg Park, it was for the one-year anniversary of 9-11. At that time the group was called the Plymouth Symphony. It changed its name after 65 seasons, to reflect its broad scope and stature.

'The DSO is doing its thing at Greenfield Village, but if you want to come out to a free concert ... it's supposed to be a great night Saturday. Warm, but it will be a great kick off to fireworks and the Plymouth parade," Steward noted.

Fireworks will light up the sky at 10 p.m. Sunday, July 3, over Plymouth Township Park, 46640 Ann Arbor Trail, east of Beck. The "Good Morning USA" parade was moved from 7:30 a.m. to 9 a.m. this year. With more than 80 units, the parade takes approximately two hours to move along Main through downtown Plymouth. The celebration will continue afterward with entertainment, games, hot dogs, chips, drinks and ice cream at Township Park.

Host a Star-Studded ath

The Fourth of July calls for a carefree party, with good friends, fab food, fun and fireworks — a real star-studded holiday celebration.

The entertaining experts from Wilton have plenty of ideas to add star power to the occasion, beginning with the decorations. Festive stars and stripes napkin rings in red, white and blue dress up napkins and containers of colorful blossoms to brighten up the table.

Then, on to the main course. Serve an all-American favorite meal of grilled burgers and corn on the cob, appropriately topped with a star-shaped pat of butter.

The grand finale is always part of this all-American celebration. Patriotic Pops cut into star shapes definitely say "Happy Fourth of July." Decorated in red, white and blue icing, red licorice and colored candies, these easy-to-make crispy rice treats are a favorite for both youngsters and the grown-ups. The kids can lend a hand to help decorate by placing the candy pieces on the stars.

Add a taste of nostalgia for the child in all of us with Ice Cream Sandwiches — everybody loves 'em. Homemade brownies and buttery vanilla cookies, sandwiched with the ice cream flavor of your choice are a cut above ice cream truck offerings. Give them the flair of the Fourth by rolling the edges in patriotic sprinkles and sugars. Or, dip part of the sandwich into melted candy melts and decorate with sprinkles for a fun and festive finish.

Even beverages can boast the star treatment. Star-shaped ice cube kabobs in the colors of the day are a celebratory way to keep lemonade icy cold. Or, they're perfect for chilling the holiday cocktail.

Visit www.wilton.com for more celebration ideas, to order decorating supplies, an Ice Cream Sandwich Pan or the Silicone Star Ice Kabob Molds.

Have a flag-waving Fourth of July

Potlucks are a popular way to celebrate just about anything — and July Fourth is a great reason to get the friends and neighbors together for a patriotic potluck.

I'm bringing a fantastic flag cake to this year's party. It serves a lot of people and it's easy to make. I'll let you in on two little secrets.

Il let you in on two little secrets, that make this cake taste extra good — instant potato flakes keep the cake tender and moist, while mini chocolate chips give you little bursts of chocolate with every bite. The colorful fruit on top not only adds great flavor, but it turns this cake into a showstopper that has guests "oohing" and "ahhing" in delight! If you're going to a potluck party this year, I have some tips for being a good guest: : It's tricky to keep hot foods

• Keep it safe: It's tricky to keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold, so make sure the food you're bringing will be safe at room temperature. For example, on a hot summer day, vinegar-based salad dressings are a better choice than mayonnaise-based ones.

• Keep it simple: Bring dishes that are ready to serve. Asking to pop something into the host's oven for "just a few minutes" is inconvenient for the host and the guests waiting to eat.

• Keep it practical: Label your dish so that guests know what they're getting. It's also a big help if you bring your own serving utensils. The host won't be forced to hunt for something and the line won't get held up waiting.

• Keep it yours: If you need to take your serving dish home, be sure to label it. A bit of masking tape with your name on it can be discreetly placed on the dish so it doesn't get mixed up with someone else's.

Keep yourself, loved ones safe in a tornado

Severe weather has been a major concern this past spring. The American Red Cross, Southeastern Michigan Chapter, offers this advice related to tornado safety.

During any storm, listen to local news or a NOAA Weather Radio to stay informed about tornado watches and warnings (in which a tornado has been spotted nearby or indicated by weather radar). You should know your community's warning system — communities have different ways of warning residents about tornado danger, with many having sirens intended for outdoor warning purposes.

Pick a safe room in your home where household members and pets may gather during a tornado. This should be a basement, storm cellar or an interior room on the lowest floor with no windows.

You should practice periodic tornado drills so that everyone knows what to do if a tornado approaches.

Consider having your safe room reinforced. Plans for reinforcing an interior room to provide better protection can be found on the FEMA website at http://www.fema.gov/ plan/prevent/rms/rmsp453.shtm.

Prepare for high winds by removing diseased and damaged limbs from trees. Move or secure lawn furniture, trash cans, hanging plants or anything else that can be picked up by the wind and become a projectile.

Watch for tornado danger signs, such as dark, often greenish clouds, a phenomenon caused by hail. You may also see a wall cloud, an isolated lowering of the base of a thunderstorm. Also watch for a cloud of debris, large hail, a funnel cloud (a visible rotating extension of the cloud base) or hear a roaring noise.

The safest place for you and your family is an underground shelter, basement or safe room. If none is available, seek a small, windowless interior room or hallways on the lowest level of a sturdy building.

Mobile homes are not safe during tornados or other severe winds. Do not seek shelter in a hallway or bathroom of a mobile home; if you have access to a sturdy shelter or a vehicle, abandon your mobile home immediately. To to the nearest study building or shelter immediately, using your seat belt if driving. Do not wait until you see the tornado.

If you are caught outdoors, seek shelter in a basement, shelter or sturdy building. If you cannot walk quickly to a shelter, immediately get into a vehicle, buckle your seat belt and try to drive to the closest sturdy shelter. If flying debris occurs while you are driving, pull over and park.

Now you have the following options as a last resort: Stay in the car with the seat belt on. Put your head down below the windows, covering with your hands and a blanket if possible. If you can safely get noticeably lower than the level of the roadway, exit your care in lie in that area, covering your head with your hands.

Your choice should be driven by your specific circumstances.

After a tornado, you should continue listening to local news or a NOAA Weather Radio for updates. If you are away from home, return only when authorities say it is safe to do so.

Wear long pants, a long-sleeved shirt and sturdy shoes when examining your walls, doors, staircases and windows for damage.

Watch out for fallen power lines or broken gas lines and report them to the utility company immediately. Stay out of damaged buildings.

Use battery-powered flashlights when examining buildings — do not use candles.

If you smell gas or hear a blowing or hissing noise, open a window and get everyone out of the building quickly and call the gas company or fire department.

Take pictures of damage, both of the building and its contents, for insurance claims. Use the phone only for emergency calls.

Keep all of your animals under your direct control. Clean up spilled medications, bleaches, gasoline or other flammable liquids that could become a fire hazard.

Check for injuries. If you are trained, provide first aid to persons in need until emergency responders arrive.

Lawyer can advise on lot use

Q: My parents own two lots which they always intended to give to my brother and me. I have installed a mobile home on the land near my brother's mobile home. I have built a garage and decided to build a home on the lot. My father and grandfather helped me with site preparation and my dad helped me obtain a building permit which was issued to him. He has also helped with the construction by putting in the foundation, etc. For some reason now he is refusing to give me a deed to the lot. I am wondering what my recourse might be as we are now estranged?

A: Obviously, if you cannot resolve the matter amicably, you may have to bring a suit seeing specific performance of the promise or damages based upon the value of the house. In a similar case out of state, the Appellate Court held that the trial court should consider whether the facts and circumstances, particularly the parents'

general promise to give the land at some time, coupled with their affirmative action in allowing the daughter to build a substantial house on the land, made out a case of what is called promissory estoppel. The court took into consideration that the statements or conduct representing a present commitment to do something in the future reasonably can be expected to induce reliance and can be enforceable. Hopefully, telling your parents of this kind of case decision sent by a lawyer may have a therapeutic effect.

Some states are passing statutes and/or cases upholding the right of an association to collect a transfer fee upon the sale of a unit which goes into the association coffers, but there is much debate and/or controversy about whether a developer can, in effect, create an annuity for itself for an indefinite period of time even if he is out of the project. You should check with your local counsel to determine whether, in fact, there is a transfer fee, and, whether in fact it is enforceable in your jurisdiction.

Designation

The Charles Reinhart Co. announced that 10 real estate agents recently completed the Graduate, Realtor Institute (GRI) class and received their GRI Designation. Agents earning the nationally recognized GRI Designation include: Jason Boggs, Tammi Ebenhoeh, Ann LaCivita, Maris Laporter, Kathryn Linderman, Kari Newman, Lisa Stelter, Deb Stern, Rick Taylor and Melissa Van Dam.

A minimum of 90 hours of intense coursework is required in order to earn a GRI Designation. Subjects covered include: contract law, professional standards, sales and marketing, finance and risk reduction. Obtaining the GRI designation is an additional measure of knowledge and prestige achieved beyond receiving a real estate license.

"As the maze of real estate continues to become more difficult, these individuals have positioned themselves to provide the best possible service to their clients," said Bill Miller, general manager of the Charles Reinhart Co. "We congratulate them for continuing to increase their knowledge while striving to be their best."

Q: An owner advised the board of our condominium of his intention to purchase a plug-in electric vehicle and is requesting permission to install a charging station in his assigned parking space. The parking spaces in our garage are assigned but not owned. How should the board respond and what responsibility does the association board have to allow common elements to be altered to accommodate the charging stations? Who pays for the electric service and what requirements, such as maintenance and insurance, should be assigned to the individual co-owner? Does the board have to obtain approval from the other co-owners?

A: This is a very complex and, obviously, bifurcated question. The subject of electric cars and charging stations is becoming a "hot topic" for condominiums. The board should certainly encourage the purchase of electric vehicles and accommodate the necessary stations to service the automobiles to the extent it can reasonably make accommodations which may be difficult or impossible. The board could grant the owners' request to modify the common elements by installing a charging station in the parking space, but will this lead to gas pumps requested to be in garages of condominium units as well? With any consent given, the board will have to determine the means to bill the owner for electricity as a user charge, unless the charging station has a separate meter which the board may wish to require be established. With any addition to the common elements the board may approve, the directors should require the co-owner to provide the necessary insurance and indemnify the association for any damages arising from the use or operation of the station by way of the typical modification agreement which we often provide to our clients. The Association would likely provide for multiple charging stations in a garage and make the maintenance of these facilities part of the common expenses as the board may enhance the marketability of the building by offering this amenity for prospective buyers. In any event, legal counsel should pass on the entire process.

GM'S NEW CRUZE PRICING OFFERS MORE FOR MORE

Advertising Feature

General Motors is making small-car pricing moves now with an eye toward how executives envision the industry six months hence. Sure, by raising the price of the next version of Chevrolet's Cruze compact by an average of about $1,000, and by setting the sticker of the new Chevy Sonic subcompact thousands of dollars above the Aveo it replaces, GM will attempt to make short-term hay in a small-car market where nearly everyone else is choked by short supplies.

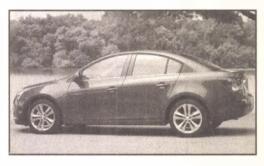

But now, finally competitive in a segment where it was woebegone for decades, GM also is trying to establish a couple of things for the day late this year when Japanese heavyweights finally return in full force.

For one thing, GM wants to get American consumers more used to the idea of paying more for GM's small cars -and, in return, getting more amenities and higher-quality content than they're accustomed to seeing. Plus, if GM can build in a price cushion for six months from now when Toyota Corollas and Honda Civics are likely to be back in full supply at U.S. dealers, GM will be in a better position to continue to compete for customers in what could become a competitive donnybrook of historic proportions.

"Toyota and Honda could price aggressively when they come back, which could lead to an excess of supply in this segment, and price wars," said Jessica Caldwell, senior U.S. industry analyst for Edmunds.com. "Raising prices now as a precursor to that could be helpful, because if GM is going to have to battle Toyota and Honda with incentives, they won't lose as much margin."

Two moves prompt examination of GM's intentions. Recently, the company said that the 2012 version of the Cruze that it introduced last year will cost as much as $1,045 more than comparable versions of the current model. An LT version of the car with an automatic transmission will be sticker at $20,220, about $1,000 more than the 2011 model. The entry-level LS model will be priced at $17,470, or $195 more for the new model. And the high-end LT. will start at $23,860 in the 2012 model year in a few weeks, up nearly $900 from last year.

The new LT will include as standard a feature package that cost $525 in the current model and includes Bluetooth phone connectivity, cruise control, a leather-wrapped steering wheel and other amenities. And the fuel efficiency of automatic-transmission turbocharged versions of Cruze will jump to 38 mpg on the highway from 36 in the 2011 model, thanks to changes in the six-speed transmission.

The interior of the LT. illustrates Cruze's ample contenting.

But that still leaves a $500 increase for similarly equipped cars for the 2012 model year.

Of course, everyone in the small-car game has been raising prices throughout the second quarter. The March 11 earthquake and tsunami in Japan hamstrung Toyota, Honda and Nissan production of small cars in North America. Toyota and Ford nudged up official prices across the board in the spring, citing higher commodity prices. And the shortages of small cars, even as American consumer demand was being stoked by higher gasoline prices, meant that incentives dwindled rapidly in deals offered by brands and dealers alike on just about every small and fuel-efficient vehicle in showrooms.

So GM no doubt is taking some short-term advantage of a favorable pricing climate. "It lets consumers know that the current Cruze is cheaper; therefore, if you're in the small-car market – which is still hot despite the decrease in gasoline prices over the last few weeks –you might The Chevrolet Cruze is snaring a big share of the small-car market for GM.

want to get into a Cruze before prices go up," said Ivan Drury, a U.S.-industry sales analyst for Edmunds.com. And Cruze is cruising: GM sold more than 98,000 units in the United States this year through May, and its 23,000 sales during the month were tops among compact cars.

But GM's moves have longer-term roots as well. One of them is that, even before the winter run-up in fuel prices, GM, Ford and Hyundai were notably improving the quality of materials in their small cars and the level of amenities and daring to charge higher prices. They were addressing a longterm enhancement of the small-car expectations of American consumers and taking advantage of their willingness to pay for better vehicles instead of just econo boxes of old. "More small cars but at a higher price point and better-equipped – it's reflective of what [former GM Vice Chairman] Bob Lutz actually predicted years ago," said Rebecca Lindland, senior strategist for IHS Automotive, a consulting firm in Lexington, Mass.
