'Jake' closes book on education career

By Brad Kadrich Observer Staff Writer

Growing up in northwest Detroit, all Ken Jacobs ever wanted to be was a special agent in the Federal Bureau of Investigation, even going so far as to write a letter at one point to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

But, while he kept a hand in law enforcement with his later involvement in the 35th District Court, Jacobs' dream path took a different turn, ending up not in a courtroom, but in a classroom.

And that's where he stayed. mostly, for more than four decades, until his retirement this year as the deputy superintendent of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. That retirement becomes effective Aug. 31, when Jacobs will walk out of an educational facility for the final time.

And, after more than 43 years, it isn't going to be

"It's a big move," Jacobs admitted. "It's time to move on, but it's still a big move."

Big moves aren't anything strange to Jacobs' career, considering he's made a lot of them, all within the district. In a career that has spanned more than 43 years, Jacobs has held just about every job

Study shows partnerships could aid city parking

By Matt Jachman Observer Staff Writer

Plymouth could increase its parking inventory through partnerships with the owners of private lots, who would make them available when spaces are open or when their businesses are closed.

That idea, one of several in a recent study of parking use in downtown Plymouth, appears to be gaining momentum as city officials begin to address what many contend is a shortage of public parking.

Preliminary discussions with lot owners have begun, said Mayor Dan Dwyer, and a six-member parking committee, with representatives from the City Commission, the Planning Commission and the Downtown Development Authority, has been organized and is planning to meet this week.

"I think it's universally accepted now that we're going to have to do something," Dwyer said Friday. "If it's not a big parking shortage, it's certainly a small one, and it's going to continue to get worse as we add development."

Teri Allen, a partner at Dearborn Jewelers and a DDA board member, applauded the study but said officials need to act on it quickly. "We have a wonderful thing going on here in Plymouth. Despite the economy the last couple years, this downtown has remained vibrant," Allen said.

Need growing

But as new businesses move in and vacancies are filled, "We know those needs for parking are going to continue,"

The study, commissioned in April, was done by the planning consultants Rich & Associates at a cost of $7.650. It examines at on- and off-street public parking availability and use, as well as parking at private lots, in a 12-block area downtown and its immediate vicinity.

There were approximately 2,350 parking spots, public and private, in the study area, about 950 public spots and about 1,400 in private lots. The authors wrote that a community's parking scheme usually works best if half or more of the available spots are for public parking. In the study area, about 40 percent of the spots are public.

The study found that weekday public parking use peaks between noon and 2 p.m. and between 8 p.m. and 10 p.m., with more than 80 percent of available spaces occupied during those times. When use reaches 85 percent, the authors said, motorists tend to perceive that lots are full and re-circulate on the streets to look for open parking.

"That is something that I feel the retail and restaurant owners have been say-

Assessment petitions filed; next move is board's

By Matt Jachman Observer Staff Writer

Petitions calling for a vote on a special assessment in Plymouth Township to support the Plymouth Community Fire Department were filed Tuesday, and the next move appears to be up to the Board of Trustees.

Facing a Tuesday, Aug. 30, deadline, the board must decide whether the petitions met the minimum requirement for putting an assessment question to voters: the signatures of the owners of 10 percent of the property that would be in the proposed district, which, in this case, would be the entire township.

"We have a very short time frame to get ballot language to Wayne County in order to go on the November ballot," said Clerk Joe Bridgman on Friday.

Bridgman was using assessment records and the township's geographic information system to determine whether the 10-percent threshold was met, and anticipated scheduling a special township board meeting for early this week.

"The board can make the determination whether they want to use what I've done or do something different," said Bridgman, who added he didn't expect to complete his calculations by the close of business on Friday.

The petitions were filed by the Citizens Action Group of Plymouth Township, which is seeking a township vote on a fiveyear, 1-mill ($1 for every $1,000 of a property's taxable value) assessment for the fire department. Group organizer Jennifer Mann, the wife of a firefighter, said more than 3,500 signatures were collected.

"We have seen overwhelming support from the people to put this issue onto the ballot this fall after township officials have refused to do so," Mann wrote in an e-mail. Township officials have said they don't sense much support for a fire department millage proposal.

Without a dedicated assessment, firefighters could face layoffs as the township looks for ways to cut approximately $1.3 million from its annual budget of nearly $4 million. The city of Plymouth is leaving the shared department after the end of the year, meaning the loss of its financial contribution, which has been close to $1 million a year. Township officials also cite the loss of revenue from the state and the decline in tax revenue linked to falling property values.

Bridgman said some issues surrounding a proposed special assessment district remain unclear, such as how tax-exempt properties, such as churches, should be factored in when the district is calculated.

"The board has to discuss this and determine how they want to proceed," he said. "We have questions that have to be answered?

Foundation pushes higher education

By Brad Kadrich Observer Staff Writer

Former Wayne-Westland school board member Trish Brown believes encouraging a more highly educated workforce is the only way to bring business to Michigan.

And instead of standing on the sidelines and railing about it, Brown formed Tipping Point Education, a Cantonbased "think-tank, policy-making initiative" in favor of all "post-secondary efforts that promote educating as many members of society as possible," according to its mission statement.

"It's based on the concept of increasing and sustaining the middle class and building the work force while trying to attract certain businesses by having a more educated populace," said Brown, who claimed statistics show fewer than 10 percent of Detroiters, for instance, have a postsecondary education. "If major cities don't have an educated populace, companies won't go there."

Brown said the idea began to kick around for her while she was recuperating last year from an illness. Part of the impetus, she said, came during an event at Wayne County Community College, where she heard a young boy ask a friend, "Do you think I could go to college?"

The idea that someone wondered whether they could get a better education tripped an alarm for Brown. "No one had ever told this little boy he could do that," she said. Using social media such Trish Brown formed Tipping Point Education in November to push the idea that a workforce with more post-secondary education will attract the kinds of businesses needed to move the state's economy forward.

TIPPING POINT

What: Tipping Point Education

Where: Based in Canton

e-mail TippingPointEdu@gmail.com

Why: A "think-tank, policy-making initiative" in favor of all "post-secondary efforts that promote educating as many members of society as possible." Contact: Website is www.TippingPointEducation.com;

as Twitter while recuperating, Brown started working out the plan for TPE. She said it's about building the workforce needed to attract key businesses, such as the film and energy industries. She said it starts with giving youngsters the opportunity - and the urgency — to obtain post-secondary degrees. She quotes a Georgetown University Center on Education and the Workforce study that points out the percentage of the U.S. workforce requiring some level of postsecondary education is up from 28 percent in 1973 to 59 percent in 2007 and is expected to increase to 63 percent by

"We want to increase the numbers of kids who move through high school into the post-secondary arena," Brown said. "That will change society."

The problem for Brown is she sees a "major crisis" at the community college level, where students are seeking higher education in droves. at least partly because of the economy. People are being displaced from jobs, she said, or are seeking more education to try and better themselves.

The problem, Brown said, is funding isn't keeping up with demand.

"People think tuition pays for community college, but it's only about 20 percent," Brown said. "Most of their funding is tied to property taxes."

But money isn't everything. The key to success, she said, is keeping students "engaged."

"You could take all the money in the world and throw it into this plan," Brown said. "Unless people grab it and mold it, it's not going to work."

Brown, whose background is in public relations, has traveled the country promoting the TPE concept. She impressed Shawn King, the wife of veteran talk show host Larry King and the chairman of the board of the Larry King Cardiac Foundation enough that King provided a testimonial.

King said too many people out of work today are "in a state of imbalance and are seeking resources and solutions.'

"This is a project and vision whose time is long overdue," King said. "I encourage everyone to take a hands-on approach to this effort, and hope you will join us as we build the America of tomorrow."

Brown said it's not about pushing public education over other forms, despite her background as a public school board member. For her, it's simply about changes she says are needed in society.

"I don't think I'm as much of a public education advocate as I am an advocate of bringing opposing sides together to identify the real issues in order to solve the problems facing education and society," Brown said.

Pediatrician offers backpack tips

Even with summer in full swing, back-to-school shopping is just around the corner. Purchasing a new backpack is often a part of this shopping frenzy and deserves careful consideration, according to Dr. Alissa Brekken, a pediatrician at IHA pediatric Healthcare-Canton.

"Improper backpack use can lead to back injuries in children which may cause muscle strains, pain, and even curvature of the spine," Brekken said. 'These backpack recommendations were made by the American Academy of Pediatrics and the American Occupational Therapy Association to help ensure your child's physical health is protected while they work towards academic success."

To help identify the ideal backpack for your child, consider the following characteristics:

 Lightweight: Light materials, including canvas, are better than heavy materials, such as leather, because they help to lighten the weight that must be carried.

• Double shoulder straps and waist belt: One shoulder strap can put a large amount of stress on the neck, back, and shoulder, while double shoulder straps and waist belts help to distribute the weight over larger muscle groups.

 Padding: Wide shoulder straps and the surface against your child's back should be padded for comfort and safety.

• Multiple compartments: Weight should be distributed throughout various backpack compartments to help prevent back strain.

• Rollers: Backpacks on rollers are available but need to follow the recommended weight limitations as these bags must often be carried up stairs and through areas where it is difficult for the rollers to function prop-

After a safe backpack has been purchased, consider the following additional AAP and AOTA recommendations that were made regarding proper use:

• Weight limit: Children should not carry more than 10-15% of their body weight on their back. For example, a 60 pound child should not carry more than six to nine pounds. If your child leans forward or their back arches, the weight of the bag likely exceeds this limit.

available. After graduating from the now-defunct Benedictine High School in Detroit, Jacobs earned his bachelor's degree in special education — and subsequently a master's degree in administration — from Eastern Michigan University.

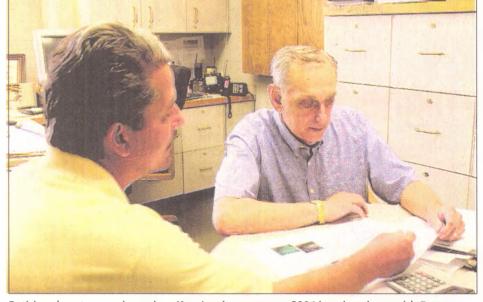

Coming aboard

After two years teaching special education in Wayne-Westland schools, Jacobs helped open Plymouth-Canton's Pioneer Middle School in 1968, starting as a special education teacher there. After three years of that, he took a job in job placement at the high school for a year, then moved to the new Canton High School as an area coordinator (they didn't call them assistant principals then) when it opened in Former Superintendent Mike Hoben got Jacobs to do an interim principalship at Canton High School, and Jacobs has also been director of maintenance and operations, assistant superintendent and even did two stints as the interim superintendent while the Board of Education sought new leadership.

"The opportunity to get into administration presented itself," Jacobs said. "It appealed to me because you have the ability to make some changes. When you're teaching, you can affect the kids. In administration, you can affect change in the culture. I've had just about every job you can have in this district. There aren't many who can say that."

One of the things Jacobs did was bring in a young health educator to teach some health courses and be the athletic trainer. More than 30 years later that teacher — Allie Suffety — is watching Jacobs wrap up a career he said was built on the idea of fairness.

"The health department had just opened and I was one of the first teachers," said Suffety, now . an assistant principal at Salem High School. "I've known Jake a long time, and he's always been a firm leader, and he's always been really fair. He's been the kind of guy, in terms of how he handled things, who always had the best interest of the district, and especially the best interest of the kids, in mind."

Law abides

Jacobs never lost his love affair with law enforcement, even as he moved through education circles. In fact, he found out the two could be closely tied together and provide him a perspective that benefitted him in both fields.

A friend talked Jacobs into getting involved with the 35th District Court, and Jacobs started out managing the court's work detail. He was soon the chief probation officer for the City of Plymouth and eventually became director of probation for the court.

And, while it was classified a part-time job, Jacobs put in a ton of hours, working mostly nights.

"Court was a heckuva experience for me," Jacobs said. "It served me well at high school. It taught you how to think on your feet, be independent and do the right thing."

Jacobs has watched a lot of his peers head out the door even as he knew his own career was drawing down. Bill Brown, the first principal at Salem High School, retired in 1986. Gerry Ostoin followed him, but was forced to retire himself for health issues in 2007.

And Pat Fitzpatrick, who helped get the district open and stuck around for 40 years at Salem High School, replaced Ostoin and retired from that chair a couple of years ago.

"The thing about Jake is you always got a straight Jake and I were there all through all of that. With Jake and I, we had some good times together. We got along with people and Jake was always easy to get along with."

Things to miss

There are things Jacobs won't miss. For instance, he'll probably never look at snow the same way. Gone will be the 3 a.m. travels around the back roads of the community, trying to determine whether to call a snow day. He said Livonia Supt. Randy Liepa has already threatened to call him the first time it snows this winter, but Jacobs would likely dodge the call.

"I never want to drive the roads, looking at the weather, again," Jacobs said, smiling.

Suffety acknowledged it would be strange to see the district without Jacobs, but understands things rarely stay the same.

"I've got a lot of respect for him," Suffety said. "I know times change, and my time will come around soon enough, but it's still sad to see him

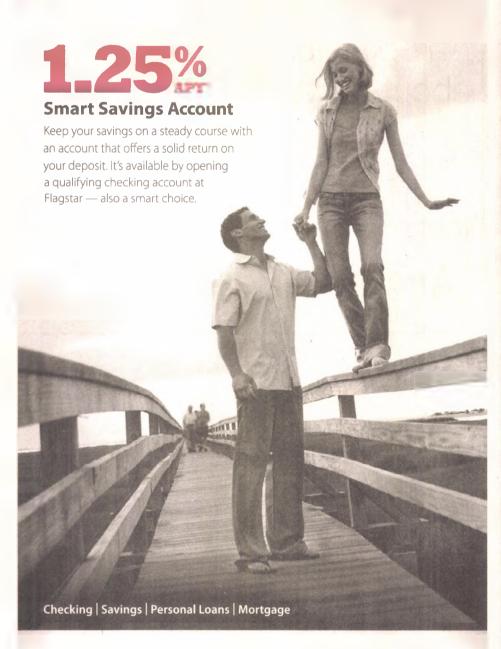

Jacobs agrees it's a little bit sad to be going, but he knows it's the right move. He also knows that, while it's a big move, it's not a distant move. Jacobs — "I've learned and grown with this community," he said — will maintain his Plymouth Township home, basically across the street from the high school park.

"It feels good to be a part of where I live ... I've been able to be an integral part of my community," Jacobs said. "The community put its faith in me, and I think I delivered. And when I leave, this is still my home."

CSX to work on Beck/M-14 crossing

By Matt Jachman Observer Staff Writer

The CSX railroad crossing at Beck Road just north of M-14 in Plymouth Township is expected to be closed for four days later this month for a major maintenance project.

The closure is slated to begin Monday, Aug. 29, and continue through Thursday, Sept. 1. Both northbound and southbound Beck will be closed at the tracks during the project; an official alternate route for drivers on the Wayne County-managed road could not be confirmed last week.

A memo to local officials from Tom Drake, a CSX Corp. regional vice president, said the work is needed because the crossing has degraded. The crossing will be brought back to federal and Michigan Department of Transportation standards, and CSX will pay the entire cost. Drake said.

The contractor on the project is Vorst Paving Inc. of Cloverdale, Ohio.

PARKING

ing for a long time now: There is a parking problem." said Allen.

Parking at private lots also peaks during the same time periods, but doesn't go above 50-percent occupancy, the study says.

Issues addressed

Public-private partnerships for parking would have to address issues such as public parking hours, insurance and lot maintenance. An example would be the spaces at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, that were leased by the DDA for several weeks earlier this year, during a streetscape construction project that temporarily closed some on-street parking.

"I'm hopeful that we'll be able to negotiate something that works for everybody," said Dwyer.

Other recommendations made in the study include:

 The use of handheld electronic devices, instead of the current tire-marking method, to help parking personnel keep track of whether motorists are violating the time limits on public parking spots.

• Improved parking signage to direct motorists to public parking areas.

 The issuance of a "courtesy ticket" for first-time parking timelimit violators. The courtesy ticket, essentially a no cost-warning, would thank the motorist for visiting downtown Plymouth and guide him or her to public parking spots available for longer-term

 Graded fines for overtime parking, with options to reduce those fines; for example, a second offender could get a $35 fine, with a reduction to $15 if it is paid that day, and third offense could bring a $40 ticket, with a reduction to $20 if paid the same day.

 The promotion of a more walker-friendly and bicyclist-friendly downtown in order to cut down on vehicle traffic.

• The use of street parking meters or another kind of pay-to-park system. Dwyer said the last idea should be discussed but seems unlikely to be implemented.

Allen said she is flatly opposed to metered parking. "When you've had free parking for a long time and all of a sudden you're charging for parking, it doesn't sit well with people," she said.

Dwyer said meetings of the new parking committee will be public, but that the final decisions will be made by the full City Commission and Planning Commission and the DDA board.

"It's going to be a public dialogue, it's just going to start on a start on a smaller scale," he said. Dwyer and Commissioner Ron Loiselle will represent the City Commission on the parking committee, while the Planning Commission will be represented by Commissioners John King and Conrad Schewe, the chairman. The DDA will be represented by Phil Pursell, an ex-mayor, and Dan Johnson, one of the partners at the Ironwood Grill.

A meeting date for the new committee hadn't been picked early Friday, but Dwyer said it would likely be either Monday or Tuesday.

Reunion helps bridge generation gap

By Brad Kadrich Observer Staff Writer

In the fall of 2009, Patricia Bruce and Judith Lowery stood in the same Susz, Poland (formerly West Prussia), church in which great-greatgrandparents Michael and Christine Gutzka had been wed, and they wept.

Nearly two years later. the tears flowed again as Bruce, Lowery and five generations of the Gutzka family gathered in Canton's Kinyon Cemetery Saturday to dedicate a new headstone over the graves of Michael and Christine, whose immigration in the late 1800s had established the family in the area.

The family reunion was the end of an odyssey that began when Michael and Christine journeyed to America in April 1873, and marked the first time, according to Bruce, that so many generations of the family had gotten together.

"It's the first time in probably 100 years that all of these people will gather," said Bruce,

The Gutzka family reunion started Saturday at their greatgreat-grandparents' graves in Canton's Kinyon Cemetery, and finished up at a nephew's home in Fenton.

Journey begins

For this family, the story begins with the immigration of Michael and Christine, whose journey, family legend has it. took six weeks of sailing, during which their freshwater supply ran dangerously low and their boat was nearly rammed by a steamer.

But the couple settled in Detroit, where Michael worked as a laborer. At their deaths in 1896 and 1900 respectively, Michael and Christine were buried in Kinyon Cemetery, located at Ridge and Gyde in Can-

The story fast-forwards about 80 years to the 1980s, when Bruce's family unwittingly expanded. Bruce and her sister, Joann Washburn, had been exploring the family line through Internet genealogy, and saw a posting on a genealogy website from Lowery, who was researching her own family.

Turns out, it's the same family. "I had started doing research and they were doing research, and we didn't know anything about the connection, said Lowery, who lives outside Atherton, Ga. (Bruce) filled in some blanks for me, and I filled in some blanks for her. It's such a wonderful thing to discover."

The cousins did more joint research and discovered the burial plot at Kinyon Cemetery, though they found out the graves were unmarked, although a Daughters of the American Revolution transcript shows one had originally been placed. The cousins made it their mission to get the graves remarked, a mission that brought five generations of them to Kinyon on Sat-

In the footsteps

But first came another journey, with cousins Bruce, Lowery and William Gutzka going to Poland in the fall of 2009. The three traveled to Susz, Poland, where they toured the area where the Gutzka family originated, including the Evangelical (Lutheran) churches where their ancestors were baptized, confirmed, married and where their deaths were recorded.

"We went to all the places they lived, saw all the churches," Lowery said. "We were standing in the churches where these people were confirmed. We were all in tears.'

"We were going back and walking in the footsteps of our ancestors," said Bill Gutzka. "It was an emotional experience."

It was an emotional experience Saturday, too, when the family gathered to dedicate the newest marker for their greatgreat-grandparents' graves. Kurt Gutzka watched Bill Gutzka's immersion in the project and knew he wanted to be involved. too. He made the trip Saturday from Vancouver, Wash., in large measure to find out more about where he came from.

"My dad got into it, and I tagged along with him, it was a father-son moment," Kurt Gutzka said. "We were out here a few years ago, and found out a lot. I want to know my roots."

By Rick Bloom Guest Columnist

Q: Dear Rick: I got divorced a little over two years ago. At the time, my husband owed a substantial amount on his charge card. Under the terms of the divorce, he was responsible for that debt. About a year ago, my ex-husband filed for bankruptcy. He still owed a substantial amount on his charge card. Last week, I got a letter from the charge card company claiming that I am responsible for my ex-husband's debt. I have not contacted the charge company yet, but I wanted to get your opinion. I assume that since my ex-husband was responsible for the debt under our divorce, that I should ignore the charge card company. What are your thoughts?

A: Unfortunately, the fact that your divorce settlement obligates your ex-husband to pay off the charge card is not binding on the charge card company. The divorce agreement is between you and your ex and does not impact the charge

Money Matters

card company, not your obligation. Therefore, the real issue is not what was in your divorce settlement, but rather, what obligations, if any, you owe the charge card company. The key in identifying if you have any liability is to determine whether you signed the application for the charge card. If you were a signatory to that application, or if somewhere down the road you signed a guarantee on that debt, then no matter what the divorce decree says, and no matter what happens in bankruptcy, you would have liability to the charge card company. On the other hand, if the charge card was in your husband's name and you were not a signatory or a guarantor, then you would have no liability and the charge card company would not be able to pursue you. The key is determining whether you signed the charge card application.

I recommend that you contact the charge card company and have them provide you with the documents that were signed when the account was opened. If you did not sign those documents, then you have no liability. If it turns out that you did cosign the application, there would be liability. The fact that your ex-husband was discharged from the debt has no bearing on your liability. The only thing that affects your liability is if you signed the application.

Whenever you co-sign for someone, whether it is a loan or a charge card, you're assuming certain legal responsibilities. The bottom line is that if you are asked to co-sign a loan, a charge card or whatever, take it seriously. Good luck!

Big crowds expected for inaugural Hines Drive cruise

By Sue Mason Observer Staff Writer

Don Nicholson has done his share of car shows and cruises, but he has to admit that he's "blown away by the day" by the response to next Sunday's inaugural Cruisin' Hines Drive.

"I've been told that this will be the Dream Cruise of Wayne County," the Westland resident said of the Aug. 28 event. "I've had more hits to print the registration form on the website that there should be 5,000 cars bumper to pumper from Ann Arbor Trail to Outer Drive."

Hines Park will be closed to "normal" traffic from Westland to Dearborn, and that section of roadway will be limited to classic cars and hot rods. A classic is any car that is 25 years and older, while a hot rod is anything that is modified, said Nicholson, the cruise organizer.

The event is drawing interest from in and around the metropolitan area as well as outstate and out of state. Inquires have come from Lansing, London, Ontario and

"People seem to really like it because it's the only cruise where you'll see just classic cars and hot rods," Nicholson said.

Nicholson is asking cruisers to download the registration form at www. DonNicholson.net and fill it out in advance to make registration move faster at the Nankin Mills pavilion on cruise day. All cars will have to enter and register at the Ann Arbor Trail entrance. There is no charge for registra-

Spectators will enter

Don Nicholson poses with his 1939 Willy's to show off the green "I cruised Hines Park" Street sign. According to Nicholson, the signs are "like the Holy Grail to cruisers. They're made by CruisNews magazine and only a rare few auto events get them."

at Merriman, Telegraph and Warrendale. All three of the pavilions in those areas will be free to spectators during the cruise. Vendors will set up in those areas, and several car clubs have rented locations "to do their thing," said Nicholson.

"The bike path will be open so people can still ride their bikes," said Nicholson. "There will be cars along the route so we ask people to be kinds to the cars, if they're on their bikes."

There will be parades of one brand or model of car in single file on the hour and Henry's Field in the Nankin Mills area is reserved for all pre-1931 vehicles. The Motorsports Hall of Fame will have Kenny Bernstein's top fuel funny car on display and the original Monkeemobile and Ghostbuster car will also be there.

The Six Foot Poles will perform from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the band stand in the Nankin Mills area. It's sponsored by Gordon Chevrolet. WOMC will be doing live remote feeds from the same stage from 2 to 6 p.m.

"Six Foot Poles was the cruise band for Cruisin' Michigan Avenue and for my Wayne Skills Center car show," said Nicholson. "I think they've become the official car show and cruise band."

Mixed in with the vendors will be charitable groups like the Wayne Rotary Club, which will be doing fundraising for Fallen Soldiers. They're being sponsored by Tennyson Chevrolet.

Nicholson wants to see the public come down and watch what he says will be a "moving car show." He would love to see 15,000 cars come for the cruise, While he doesn't think he'll see that for the inaugural event, he "would like to make Hines Drive into one big traffic jam."

"The park lends itself to this; it's so natural," he said. "I wish I had done this sooner."

Researcher: Future depends on raising overall test scores

By Karen Smith Observer Staff Writer

A national movement to raise the achievement levels of nonwhite students is urgently needed for our country's future economic and social health, said a Harvard University faculty member and researcher who addressed a group of Wayne County educators in Livonia Thursday.

"If we can't make it happen, we may have already peaked as a nation," said Ronald Ferguson, faculty cochair and director of the Achievement Gap Initiative at Harvard.

Because of changing demographics, black and Hispanic students, who have traditionally scored lower than white students in math and reading, will make up the majority of the workforce in 20 to 25 years as white baby boomers retire.

Already, white teens in 14 other nations do better in math than white teens in the United States, Ferguson said. Our country will continue to fall further behind unless we aim to raise the achievement for all children while narrowing racial achievement gaps.

"We're no longer leading world the way we were before. Other countries are doing better

"We need young people who have the skills to be trained to fill those slots (left by retiring baby boomers)."

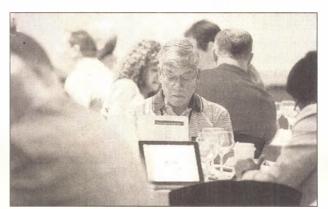

Ferguson addressed officials from Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville, Novi and Plymouth-Canton school districts during a professional training session at Schoolcraft College.

He said in 2000, whites comprised 68 percent of the U.S. population but in 2050 they're projected to make up just 46 percent.

Social strife

An achievement gap will lead not only to economic problems but to racial and age strife, he

"Old white people, young people of color have to survive together and support one another." he said, with young people voting in ways to support medical care for the elderly and the elderly voting in ways to support education.

Educators can't narrow the achievement gap alone, he said. Parents and business leaders also play critical roles.

White and nonwhite 1vear-olds score the same on IQ tests, he said, but by age 3, white children surpass nonwhite chilmotivate and guide them.

Classroom control

For educators, classroom control, which includes staying on task and maintaining mutual respect, is more important when teaching math and English language arts than caring about students or captivating them by making the material interesting, he said.

And educators shouldn't narrow the achievement gap by holding white students at current levels. Instead, they should concentrate on raising all students' achievement levels and measure their growth against state, not district, averages.

He said a raciallymixed, blue-collar high school in Massachusetts raised the writing scores of its students by more than any other school in the state by having everyone, even the football coach, teach writing. It was non-negotiable, he said.

Teachers provided feedback to the students, and the teachers' feedback was reviewed by the department chairs, who were supervised by the associate principal. "Everybody's work is visible," he said.

Livonia board OKs meal deal with P-CEP

By Karen Smith Observer Staff Writer

The Livonia school board on Monday approved a cooperative food service agreement with Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, recalled 22 teachers and set the annual Bounce Backto-School event for 5-8 p.m. Aug. 31 at Stevenson High School.

Under the two-year agreement, Livonia students will get healthier, tastier food, a greater selection, and move through the line more quickly, officials said. They hope that will increase participation by 20 percent and raise the food service budget's surplus at the end of next school year by an estimated $330,684, which would be split between the two districts.

Livonia's $3.5 million food services budget is self-supporting and has a surplus of $50,000 to $150,000 each year. If the program generates additional revenue, some costs currently in the general fund could be absorbed by the food services budget, said Lisa Abbey, director of business services.

Plymouth-Canton's food services director will manage Livonia's program, but all Livonia food services workers will remain employees of Livonia.

"I can't wait to see the kids' faces at the start of the school year," Trustee Randy Roulier said after the board approved the agreement in a 6-0 vote. Board Secretary Rob Freeman was absent.

In Plymouth-Canton, the high school cafeterias are like mall food courts with six options including Mexican and Asian cuisine, premade salads and wraps, and hamburgers. The elementary schools have carts with a wide selection of vegetables.

Livonia will have increased food service expenditures, including paying half of the costs for the director, hiring an assistant director, spending about $150,000 for equipment and marketing, and adding some part-time staff, Abbey said. However, the district expects to save money due to bulk purchasing and operating efficiencies. Livonia's food services director position was vacant.

Astronaut recounts space shuttle flights for students

By Ken Abramczyk
Observer Staff Writer

Capt. David Leestma showed a photo of one of the space shuttles as it peeked through the clouds of Earth.

"I had no idea I would fly one of these," Leestma said. "I could not conceive of such a thing."

Leestma, who flew three space shuttles in the 1980s and 1990s, spoke Tuesday to a group of students from Square One Education Network at Tower International in Livonia.

Square One Education Network, a Waterfordbased nonprofit, supports science, technology, engineering and math (or STEM) education among students in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana.

The network presented its inaugural Synergy Summit for Youth that day. Youth Summit participants, coming from schools around metro Detroit, explored discovery labs presented by engineers and scientists.

Leestma talked about his career as an astronaut, space exploration and NASA missions in discussing engineering with the students.

"I think it's really important to inspire the kids," Leestma said, minutes before his talk with the students. He also wanted to encourage them to study the STEM subjects, he said.

Learning to fly

Leestma, who lived in Muskegon and Grand Rapids as a youngster before his family moved to California, marveled at NASA's Mercury and Gemini programs as a boy and teenager. After high school, he attended the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis and graduated with a bachelor's degree in aeronautical engineering in 1971. He received a master's degree the following year in the same field at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School.

"I found that I liked engineering," Leestma said. "I'm the guy who liked to take stuff and use it, or what they call operations. What I ended being able to do was fly an aircraft."

And he loved it, he said, showing a photo of himself flying an F-15.

NASA announced that they were accepting astronaut applications in 1977. After two members of his squadron were accepted in 1978, Leestma applied and was

Walking in space

accepted the following

In 1984 Leestma flew on the sixth flight of the Challenger. Leestma and astronaut Kathryn Sullivan conducted a 3.5hour space walk (or what NASA calls extravehicular activity) to demonstrate the feasibility of satellite refueling.

Training for the flight involved learning how to reposition systems on the shuttle and "how to make things work."

"It becomes a game with the simulations and mission control," Leestma said of the training.

But when it came time for the flight, it was all business. Leestma remembers a quote from a colleague about the potential danger of the space shuttle.

"It's a four and a half million pound bomb, and someone's going to light the fuse," Leestma said. "And you know that all the time, but you can't wait to go."

Nitrogen and oxygen pour out of the ship's tanks. "The machine is like it's alive and it can't wait to take off," Leestma said. "You have seven and a half million pounds of thrust, and it is quite a ride. It's like a catapult and it lasts for eight and a half minutes."

Leestma remembered the old Superman TV show in describing the speed of the shuttle. Superman could fly "faster than a speeding bullet"

"A bullet travels at about 3,000 feet a second," Leestma said. "You're going at 25,000 feet a second."

Weightlessness causes anything that is unsecured to float inside the shuttle, including dust and cracker crumbs from a recently consumed saltine

The human body has two quarts of liquid it has to get rid of, and the body must be replenished of liquid before returning to Earth. Leestma said a human's stomach floats upward inside the body because of the lack of gravity.

"You feel very uncomfortable," Leestma said.

An unbelievable experience

Of course, the childlike wonder still exists for the astronauts, too.

"You say 'Wow, I can't believe I am doing this," Leestma said.

Besides the extravehicular activity with Leestma and Sullivan, that first shuttle flight included the deployment of a satellite using a remote manipulator system, operating a payload and a large format camera.

As he stepped out of the shuttle into space, the Earth was in his line of sight. "That is a long fall," Leestma thought. He held on tight, and stopped for a few moments before proceeding. He later learned that his EKG reading peaked when he stepped outside the shuttle.

Leestma said the international space station was built over 35-40 shuttle flights, calling it an "engineering marvel."

"There's a lot we need to learn about space before we head off to Mars," Leestma said. He believes that current elementary school children will be the ones who fly to Mars someday.

"When you get back, you weigh a ton," Leestma said. "My kids ran out, and jumped into my arms. I thought I was going to die."

Leestma also mentioned the Challenger and Columbia explosions during the discussion. "There is always a risk to fly in space," Leestma said.

"Safety is always a big factor when you design, especially when you go exploring," Leestma said, in describing what happened in the explosions.
Leestma then answered questions from the students. One asked about Leestma's grades. Leestma said he had good grades as a student.

Another asked about the difference in temperatures with the sun and without the sun. "You can hold your hand out, and one side of the glove will be 200 degrees and the other will be minus 200," Leestma said. "That's why the (astronaut's) glove is white. Everyone who designs these suits has to deal with not just the (lack of air) pressure but with the temperatures.'

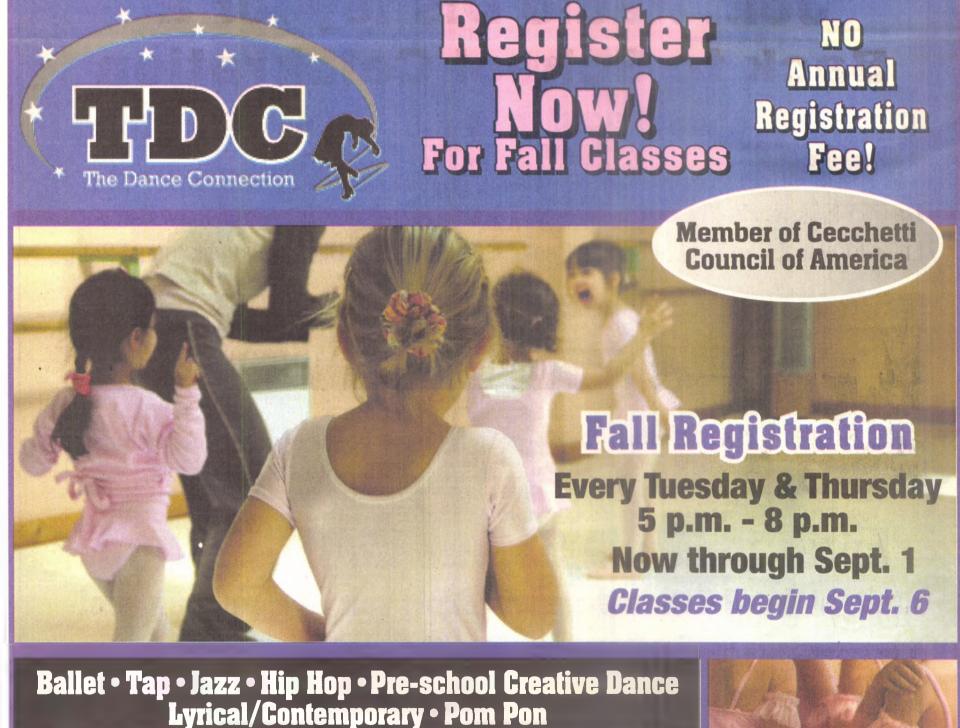

He was also asked what was the hardest thing to do in space. "That's to keep focused on the mission and what is going on," Leestma said.

Ken Kundrick, vice president of technology for Tower International, said Tower "gives the right environment for the students to learn about engineering."

Tower International is a global manufacturer of engineered structural metal components and assemblies. The company supplies the automotive industry with body-structure stampings and chassis structures. The company does similar product development work for the defense and aerospace industries.

"Engineering opportunities are endless," Kendrick said. "You can look at these parts and frames of pickup trucks, floors and powertrains, and the work that our company is involved in. It's huge."

Chiefs itching to get started

By Tim Smith Observer Staff Writer

Tim Baechler and his Canton Chiefs aren't dwelling over what happened during the 2010 state football playoffs.

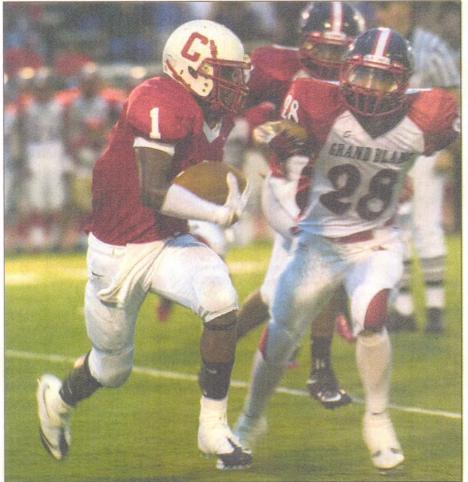

The Chiefs — favored by many prognosticators to reach the Division 1 title game at Ford Field — were tripped up by campus rival Plymouth in the second round of the postseason. Then, to rub salt into the wounds, the Wildcats marched all the way to the finals.

But the new season is about to start and the Chiefs won't be thinking about extracting revenge against Plymouth, at least not until they meet on Oct. 7.

Instead, the mission is to gear up for visiting Walled Lake Central (the opener is 7 p.m. Thursday) and keep improving for the long haul.

"Anytime you lose the last game of the year, you're upset about it, you're not happy," said the 14th-year Canton coach, watching his players run through calisthenics to open Wednesday afternoon's practice. "Two years ago we lose in the third round in overtime to CC (Novi-Detroit Catholic Central) and the only thing we felt good about was we played very well.

"We played real well and lost. And that's easier to live with. But we're still upset. Even when we lost in '05 in the state championship ... there's only eight teams in the state that are really, truly happy at the end of the season. And when you lose you're motivated. What can we do to get an inch better? That was our focus this offseason."

Once again, a creative, high-octane offense won't be among Baechler's worries entering the opener. The focus will be how the Chiefs' defense handles the potent Vikings.

"We don't have a lot of depth at certain positions, and we've got a few injuries going on right now," he explained. "But they're going to be a great defense - eventually.

"Unfortunately, we play Walled Lake Central and Grand Blanc right out of the gate. They're two very good, offensive teams. So they need to get great, soon. And three weeks (of practices) is not a lot of time."

Scoring threats

Of course, it helps that many of the key components are back from the 2010 season, when the Chiefs finished 10-1 and won their division and conference.

Quarterback Kyle Adams and the tripleback formation of halfbacks Kevin Buford (who recently made a verbal commitment to the University of Toledo), Ryan Jones and Zac Merillat are all seniors and looking ready to embark on a mission. "Their speed and explosiveness are big," Baechler said. "Kevin Buford, this will be his third year starting and he's just a great talent.

"He's just got that bigplay ability, so does Ryan Jones and so does Zac. And so does Kyle throwing the ball and running the ball. All four of them have big-play ability."

The coaching staff can plug juniors Malcolm Hollingsworth and Kendall Scott into the backfield mix and not lose much. Baechler heaped some extra praise on Adams' plate, particularly about how sharp he's looked during the preseason workouts.

"We're extremely happy with him, he's going to be a very good quarterback," Baechler said. "He reads well, gets rid of the ball on time. his ball-handling is good as far as faking and taking care of the football. We're very high on him, he's doing a great job." Adams will throw to several targets, including runners out of the backfield as well as tight ends/wide-outs Nick Tata, Evan Rinke, Matt McKoy and Scott Gring.

The compressed training camp (17 days) is one reason for Baechler to be slightly cautious about predicting what kind of offensive line he'll have.

"That's what's so frustrating, the whole state of Michigan's doing the

A tough-to-penetrate defensive wall is one of the calling cards of Plymouth's varsity boys soccer program under veteran head coach Jeff Neschich. And the 2011 season figures to follow the script.

The Wildcats, who finished 10-7-3 overall last year and 8-2-0 (second place) in the KLAA South, have a solid group of defenders as well as a talented, athletic goalkeeper in senior co-captain Rene Mejia.

All it took to spark Michaela Warner's deep interest in fastpitch softball was some encouragement from a friend.

Four years later, 13-year-old Michaela is a "world champion" as part of the Compuware Fastpitch Softball Club 12-and-under team. Her team won the National Softball Association Class A World Series, held July 26-30 in Chattanooga, Tenn.

The hard-hitting cleanup hitter slammed a two-run double into the left-field corner to give her team (coached by Ed Ewald) the winning runs July 30 in the titleclinching 6-4 win over Ohio Classics. The NSA Class A title was the first for a Michigan-based 12U team in 20 years.

After the game was over, parents Paul and Cindy Warner of Canton said they and other softball moms and dads were more worked up about it than the athletes themselves.

"I think we were happier than they were because I don't think they knew what to do," Paul Warner said. "I know she was catching, she ran out to hug the pitcher and all the girls came in and did a real quick huddle. then they broke into a straight line and shook hands."

Michaela's team got the job done was Cindy Warner, who admitted that "parents are always more nervous than the kids. They just go out there and play. They have the game to keep them busy, but we're the ones watching every mistake or wondering what's going to happen next."

Breathing a sigh of relief that Usually, what happened next was something good because the team finished 47-7 overall including a 33-3 record in Michiganbased tournaments. At the World Series, Compuware won eight straight games against opponents from five states.

All in stride

Even several days after the infield dust had settled, Michaela Warner (who will be entering eighth grade at Dearborn Divine Child) seemed to remain businesslike when talking about her team's winning ride.

You can add national All-American swimmer to Adam Seroka's evergrowing resume.

Seroka this week embarks on the next chapter of his alreadyimpressive life as he travels to George Washington University in St. Louis, Mo.

The most-recent chapter's a riveting story in and of itself: Seroka, a recent Salem High School graduate-withhonors, was confirmed as a National Interscholastic Swim Coaches Association All-American for 2011 in the 500 freestyle.

Seroka could not be reached for comment Friday. But that lofty accolade is a source of much pride for longtime Rocks varsity boys swimming and diving coach Chuck Olson.

After serving in an apprentice-like role in 2010 behind then-senior keeper Kyle Brindza, Mejia's confidence should be boosted thanks to a plethora of hardworking defenders, led by senior co-captains Mike Ambrose and Zach D'Agostino. "Our defense looks to be strong," the coach said.

Girls golf teams set to tee it up

By Tim Smith Observer Staff Writer

LOCAL SPORTS

The three varsity girls golf teams at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park are seeing the start of the 2011 season from different angles.

Once again, Plymouth figures to be a dominant team, spurred on by outstanding junior Kelsey Murphy.

Thursday served up more evidence to that end, as the Wildcats won the Milford Invitational at Huron Meadows Golf Course with a round of 324 strokes. Murphy was the individual medalist, tallying a 71 for 18 holes.

Elsewhere at PCEP, Canton's Chiefs could make a push toward contention in the ultra-tough KLAA South.

And despite low numbers to open the year, the Salem forecast calls for enthusiastic performances and a rise in on-thecourse fortunes.

Following is a look at the three Park teams as the season begins to unfold:

Plymouth

Plymouth had an excellent 2010 season, finishing 10-0 during the regular season and going on to finish 11th at the Division 1 state tournament.

And head coach Chris Moore doesn't just have Murphy — who made last year's All-State Super Team after averaging 39.5 strokes per nine and 76 for 18 — back for another season.

All five of his top golfers in 2010 will give it another go this fall.

Junior Sarah Thompson, who shared team MVP honors last year with Murphy, is another standout. She averaged 43.5 and 88 for nine and 18 holes, respectively.

Senior co-captains Carly Curvin and Lindsay Dean and junior Danielle Allen also will be featured in Plymouth's lineup card.

"We have very high expectations this year," Moore said. "The girls are working very hard to reach these lofty goals.

"After making it to the state tournament last year, the girls now understand what it takes to make it to the next level and what it is going to take to excel at the state tournament."

Top goals include working on the short game (chipping, pitching, putting), capturing the division and conference, making it past regionals and earning a spot in the Top Five in the state.

Newcomers include sophomore Kayla Whatley and freshmen Sydney Murphy, Justine Berry and Abbey Zacharias.

Rounding out the roster are juniors Jane McMurray, Sarah Uhlian, Lindsey Oprisiu and seniors Kendra Bartkowiak and Ashley Pawzcuk.

Once again this season, Plymouth golfer Kelsey Murphy is likely to spark the Wildcats to good things.

Salem is looking for golfers to join the team. Those interested should e-mail head coach Ryan Nimmerguth at salemgirlsgolf@ pccsmail.net.

The Chiefs get into the swing on Saturday, Aug. 25. in the North Farmington Invitational at Glen Oaks.

Salem

Although there are only six girls on the Salem varsity girls golf team - although Rocks head coach Ryan Nimmerguth said additional golfers are welcome to join up all is not bleak.

In fact, Nimmerguth is optimistic about his squad because five of his golfers have varsity experience as well as a second-to-none work ethic.

"Even though we are short in numbers I am very encouraged by the practice habits of these girls," Nimmerguth said. "Last year was the first year of competitive golf for all of these girls and I look for us to be much improved.

'It shows in their game that many of these girls have been practicing over the summer.

Junior Gabrielle LeBlanc and sophomore Christine Li will carry much of the load at the top of the lineup.

"I look for Gabrielle LeBlanc and Christine Li to lead this team," Nimmerguth said. "They both come into the season hitting the ball well."

Other varsity returnees are juniors Katie Vena, KaLaya Thomas and sophomore Amanda Bennett. The lone newcomer is freshman Kahrlee Kozan. "I am excited for this team this year," he added. "It is a great group of girls that are very driven to compete.' Nimmerguth, of course, wouldn't mind having a couple more girls to join the roster. Those interested should e-mail him at salemgirlsgolf@pccsmail.net.

BILL BRESLER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Zac Merillat (No. 21), shown in this 2010 game, figures to be a key performer on both sides of the ball for Canton this season.

FAST FACTS

School: Canton. Head coach: Tim Baechler, 14th season. 2010 record: 10-1, champions of KLAA South Division, KLAA Kensington Conference. Notable losses to graduation: Ben Merbler, Davion Stackhouse, Ryan Powell, Ben Poirier, Braden Price, Garrett Bryden.

Baechler says: "All we can worry about is our own daily improvement. All I can tell you is if we keep progressing like we are, we're going to be a great team at some point during the season. I don't know what that means as far as wins and losses goes.

Schedule: (all 7 p.m. starts except as noted) Thursday, Walled Lake Central; Sept. 1 at Grand Blanc; Sept. 9 (6:30 p.m.) Livonia Franklin; Sept. 16 at Wayne Memorial; Sept. 23 Westland John Glenn; Sept. 30 at Livonia Churchill: Oct. 7 at Plymouth; Oct. 14 vs. KLAA crossover; Oct. 21 same thing," he noted. "This is our sixth day with pads and it's not nearly enough. We've got a long way to go just as I'm sure everybody else does.

"Blocking's always a work in progress, but we're getting there."

There are linemen who are looking solid on the eve of the season opener.

Double duty

On defense, the only returning seniors are defensive back Buford and linebacker Merillat. But that's a pretty good start, according to Baechler.

"Zac's very quick, very tough, he's our hardest working kid on the team," Baechler said. "He transferred from Tecumseh last year as a junior. We're just lucky we got him. A great kid, great worker."

Other members of the offense who can swing over to the defensive side of the ball include Scott (defensive back), Hollingsworth (linebacker), Dillard and DeRoso (defensive line).

"Until our depth improves they may see some time playing some defense," Baechler said.

The Chiefs will have seniors Zachary Smilo and Michael Boes augmenting Buford in the defensive backfield.

"They're very quick kids, even though they haven't had a lot of experience," Baechler added. "They've had a good summer in the passing league and we're liking what we see right now.

"In practice they're not afraid to come up and hit and they both can run well.'

Baechler said senior John Chadwick, who is nursing an injury, is a player who can help the defense.

"He didn't get a lot of reps last year on defense, but he should start somewhere," he continued. "Either outside backer or d-end."

Canton will use quarterback Adams at the punter position, and juniors Scott Piwowar and Connor Shennan (both also varsity soccer players) will adequately handle placekicking and kickoff duties.

"It's a good competition," Baechler said. "Connor's got the stronger leg but Piwowar's very accurate. We should be taken care of there."

Warrior gridders hoping to avoid injury concerns

By Brad Emons Observer Staff Writer

Tenth-year Paul Guse` can't help but be optimistic about this year's Lutheran High Westland football team, but there's one catch.

"With a school our size it's always depth," said Guse', who is coming off an 0-9 season. "I think our starters are as good as anybody's in the conference, but once the injuries start happening, and the dominoes start falling, we just don't have a lot of depth. We gave up 343 points last year, so obviously defense has to be a key for us. What's the key to this team being successful? Stay injury free. Those were our last words last year and then we had 7,000 injuries."

Guse', however, thinks the Warriors are on the right track to compete in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference where Grosse Pointe Woods University-Liggett and Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest shared the title in 2010.

"I like the attitude, we have a good group of kids who are willing to work really hard for us," Guse` said. "But we're still trying to fit the pieces together. So far it's been a great attitude. I think we've had a really good camp and we've stayed relatively injury-free so far."

Meanwhile, the Warriors took a major hit when the team's second leading returner tackler Eddie Christensen, was lost for the season after suffering serious injuries in a summer car accident.

work together and work cohesively, I think we should have a pretty strong running game.

The Warriors could get a lift up-front from 6-5, 335-pound senior twoway tackle Ryan Miller.

"It's like night-andday," Guse` said. "Ryan is a lovable, nice kid, but worked his butt off literally in the offseason. He worked out with a trainer. He changed his body around from being kind of a being just a heavy kid to being a pretty athletic and agile kid. He went from squatting 185 (pounds) to 550. Golf for pucks

Hockey players seem to be natural golfers, and the two sports are coming together for a fundraiser later this month.

On Saturday, Aug. 27, at Hickory Creek Golf Club in Ypsilanti, a golf tournament to benefit the Plymouth, Canton and Salem varsity boys hockey teams will take place.

Proceeds from the 13th annual event will help those teams with the costs associated with playing the 2011-12 season.

There will be a $10,000 holein-one contest, plus prizes for closest to the pin, longest drive, first place, skins and door prizes.

Golfers will receive doughnuts and bagels for breakfast, a hot dog at the turn and a buffet dinner.

Cost is $120 per player or $425 per foursome. To register, contact Patti at berlin.patti@ yahoo.com.

more difficult because you got to see teams you never saw before," said Michaela, who hit .570 for the season. "You had to work harder because you'd never seen them and they could be from somewhere where they could play year-round.'

There were 200 teams from 20 states to play in five age brackets.

But she said it was a blast to be down in Chattanooga, especially because she could visit tourist attractions such as Ruby Falls, an amusement park complete with water falls.

"I just thought it was really fun to play in the World Series," Michaela said. "To go different places like Ruby Falls. It was really fun."

Drive to excel

Softball's also been fun for her, ever since neighborhood friend Lauren Hayes stopped by the house one day in 2007.

"One of her neighbors, who currently plays for the older Compuware girls, came over and played catch with her and explained that she plays ball," Paul Warner recalled. "And ever since there, it's just been a drive of hers just to get better.

"She actually has the same number (No. 10) as her friend Lauren Hayes, who got her started in softball."

Hayes, a Canton resident who attends Livonia Ladywood, is moving up from the Compuware 14U team to the 16U team.

Meanwhile, Michaela Warner just found out she will play the next year of fastpitch softball with the 14U squad. It means another school year where softball ramps up tice can go until 10 p.m., with homework sometimes not starting until the car ride home "especially when it gets to May and June."

It goes with the territory for playing in such a competitive program.

"She's learned a tremendous amount at Compuware," Cindy added. "She works hard, is focused on her softball, tries to watch softball and learn things on her own, too.

"... She works harder even if she's tired. Which she didn't do when she started. She'll work through all the pain."

With the big taste of victory, it's no surprise that Michaela wants to keep motoring toward more softball success.

"I want to play it more,"

Michaela said. "I want to be aggressive, serious." Sounds like high school coaches might be next to pay a visit to the Warner household.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Many people are wrongly rejected when they apply for Social Security Disability benefits. Money was taken out of their paychecks for Social Security taxes to ensure that they would receive disability benefits if they could no longer work full-time. Sadly, the government denies approximately 60% of those who apply for disability benefits. Attorneys J.B. Bieske and Jennifer Alfonsi have 42 years combined experience representing only Social Security disability clients. And they personally meet with all clients and appear personally at all court hearings. Many large firms assign inexperi-enced attorneys to your case. And some of these firms are located thousands of miles away and only fly the attorney in the day of the court hearing. Attorneys Bieske and Alfonsi have vast experience before local Michigan judges.

Attorneys Bieske and Alfonsi can often make a winning difference at the application stage. And, if an appeal is necessary they have won several hundred cases before a court date is even set.

Those denied can appeal on their own but statistics for many years reveal that those represented by attorneys win a much higher percentage of appeals. And attorneys who specialize in Social Security Disability cases win a much higher percentage yet.

In addition to practicing only Social Security disability law attorney Bieske has written a book for attorneys about the subject and has been interviewed on various television programs. Both attorney Bieske and Alfonsi have also been interviewed on radio programs and have given speeches to many groups.

Attorneys Bieske and Alfonsi offer free phone or office consultation. If they represent you, there will be no fee charged until after the case is won. The fee is a percentage of retroactive benefits.

Bieske and Alfonsi represent clients from all over the state of Michigan. Their Livonia office is on Six Mile Road just west of I-275. Their Novi office is located on Haggerty Road just north of 12 Mile Road, Call them at 1-800-331-3530 for a free consultation if you have been denied, or if you are thinking of possibly applying for Social

COMMUNITY LIFE

Conference celebrates African roots of Christian Orthodoxy

By Sharon Dargay
O&E staff writer

It was a moment of revelation for Sharon Gomul-

The Livonia woman, who was raised a Missionary Baptist and converted to Lutheranism, visited an Orthodox Christian Church one day several years ago and watched as white worshippers kissed the image of a darkskinned man. It was the feast day of St. Moses the Black and the congregation had lined up to venerate his icon.

"I didn't realize it was his feast day and I didn't know about venerating icons. I had a paradigm shift of the many Caucasian people kissing this black man," Gomulka recalled. "And I began to question what kind of church is this? Who are these people that color does not seem to truly matter?"

The answer became evident as Gomulka and her husband, Ted, studied Christian history and learned about the "desert fathers," African saints who helped shaped the early church. The couple discovered that Orthodoxy not only recognized its African heritage, but also offered a deeper understanding of their Christian faith, a "fullness of Christian teaching."

"Being Orthodox became so right for us, said Gomulka, an African-American.

The couple and three

Gomulka

of their children — their eldest daughter remains Lutheran — joined the Orthodox church and are members of Holy Transfiguration Orthodox Church in Livonia.

Creating awareness

Gomulka also chairs the Detroit Metro chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Moses the Black, a national organization of African-American Orthodox Christians. The group will hold its 18th annual Ancient Christianity and African-American Conference Aug. 26-28 at Holy Transfiguration Orthodox Church, 36075 Seven Mile.

Cost, including registration and meals, is $100 for two days, $50 for one day and $25 per day for high school and college students. Visit www.mosestheblack.org to register.

The Rev. Matthias Moriak, Bishop of Chicago and the Midwest of the Orthodox Church in America, is the keynote speaker on the conference
theme "The Ancient Faith for Modern Problems." A full schedule of activities is available on the Brotherhood Web site. The conference will include panel discussions, prayers, vespers, guest speakers and demonstrations, including a session on the connection between Orthodoxy and Negro spirituals.

Personal story

The Very Rev. Moses Berry, pastor of Theotokos "Unexpected Joy" Orthodox Church in Ash Grove, Ark. and the founder and president of the Brotherhood of St. Moses the Black, will explain how the ancient faith can free individuals from modern spiritual and mental prisons. He'll also offer a session on the African roots of Orthodoxy and the African-American experience.

"What Father Moses did that was pivotal for me was bringing in family artifacts," said Gomulka, who is familiar with his presentations. "He is the gate keeper of his great-great grandfathers' slave shackles. He has his great-grandmother's auction tag. He brings in quilts and talks about the oldest Negro cemetery in the Ozarks. It became this glue that I could attach myself to ... and understand that this is my story, too."

Gomulka said organizers hope to reach three distinct audiences with the conference—the Orthodox faithful, those who don't know the Gospel message, and African-American Christians.

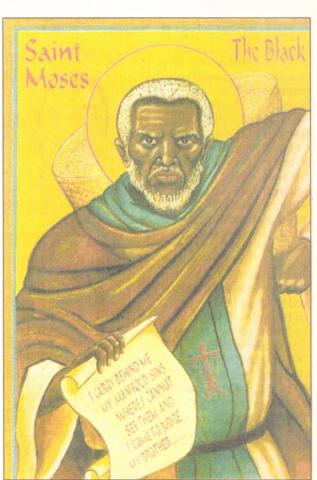

The Rev. Moses Berry, president of the Brotherhood of St. Moses the Black, will speak at its conference Aug. 26-28 in Livonia.

"Many of us start our spiritual journey from the plantation ... tracing back to the point we got off the boat or just before we got on." But African-Americans can find their Christian roots in the early church, with the desert fathers. "It started much earlier."

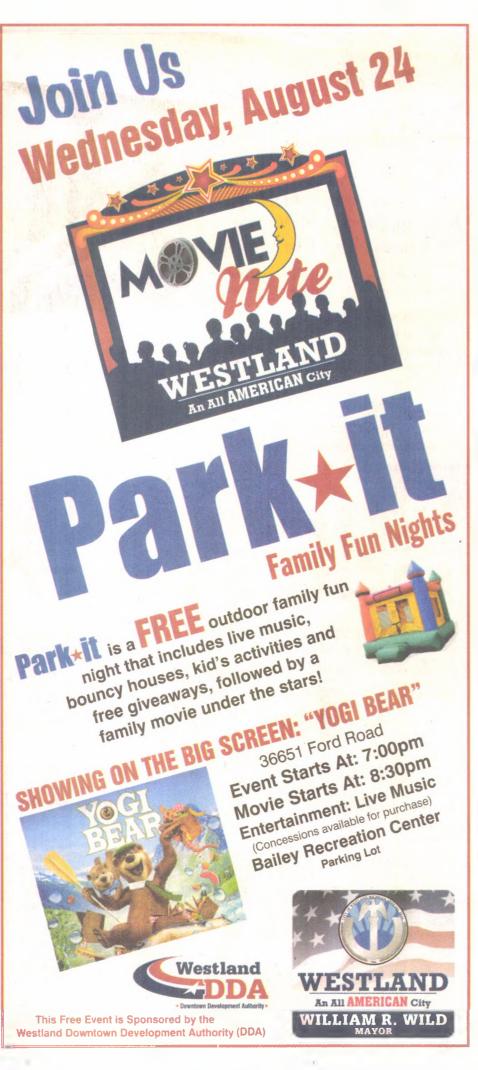

"We invite clergy to come and grow with us on this spiritual journey of understanding African spirituality and roots." The invitation is designed to strengthen relationships and not to prosely-

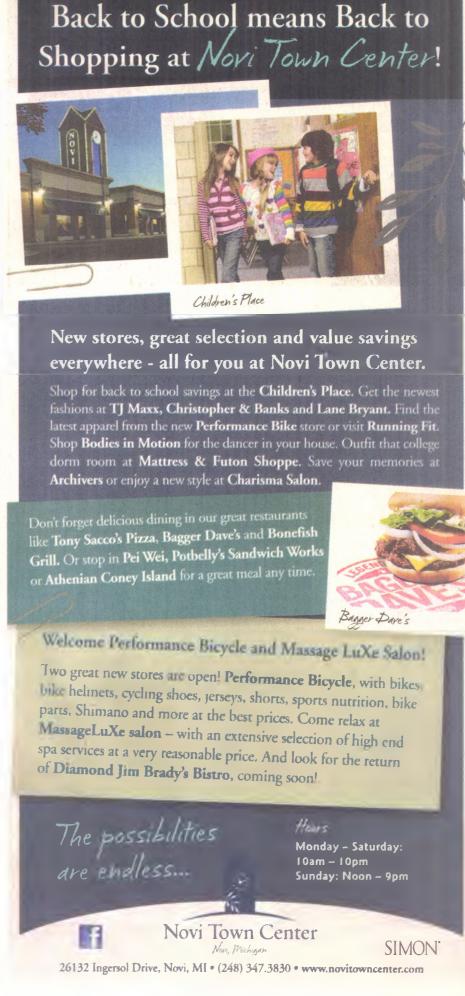

The Brotherhood of St. Moses the Black's mission doesn't include evangelizing. It aims to create awareness of the Christian Church's African roots and heritage.

"That's another thing I like about the Orthodox Church. It doesn't proselytize. It's not out to get you to leave your church. Christians are Christians. We don't need to shuffle them around."

St. Moses the Black is one of many African saints.

The fall season needs more freezer space s we go into the wind-up weeks of summer there is a marked increase in the sale of stand-alone freezers both upright and chest. Homeowners are thinking about the freezing of products for consumption during the cold days of winter. It is a human trait to stock up while the products are fresh and cost less and you may have the fisherman or hunter in the family who likes the taste of the wild Joe Gagnon How do you make the right choice when purchasing a freezer? First, decide if you want a chest or upright and which space it will consume in your home. Remember that the garage is not the place to install a freezer. A place where temperatures drop below 50 degrees can only create an expensive repair on the product and I know your old one may have been working fine there for the last 20 years but today's products are not the same.

Find the coolest spot inside the house to give you better operating efficiency and make sure the floor is level. To help you decide on what size of freezer to purchase, the rule of thumb is that every cubic foot of freezer space equates to 35 pounds of food product.

If your choice is a chest freezer, see if you can get a couple of baskets thrown into the deal which helps in sorting out things for easy removal. A chest freezer is more efficient to operate than an upright. You can buy a self-defrost upright which is really expensive because it has a defrost system just like the kitchen refrigerator. I do not recommend the self-defrosting upright freezer for a few solid reasons. They can be expensive to repair as this following e-mail demonstrates: upright freezer that does not seem to be getting as cold as it should. Started noticing it when my son went to get a popsicle and it was really soft. Bought it in December 2002. It has worked well up until now. Tried to turn it up but still nothing. There is some ice build up at the bottom and towards the back of the freezer. Should I be able to feel cold air blowing out of the top inside back wall of the freezer?"

Chris writes: "I have a Gibson

I will Chris at the phone number she enclosed with her mail and will explain to her that she has a failure in the defrost system of her freezer, which most likely will require a call for service and that's expensive. The heat introduced inside a freezer during the defrost cycle will remove nutrients and taste from the frozen product that may be noticeable to your palate. Great care needs to be taken when defrosting your freezer. Anything you use with a sharp edge can scratch the inside walls and cause the refrigerant to leak out of the system which in most cases is not repairable. Remove and store any food products in a cooler or some other container and use a hair dryer or fan to circulate warm air inside the freezer. Be careful as to not melt any of the plastic walls and keep in mind that you are using electricity around ice and water.

After you install your manual defrost upright freezer stand to the side of the unit a place your hand near the top. Give it a gentle push and notice the door moving up and down which is why the product should be level. Raise the front using the two leveling legs in front by a half an inch higher than the rear. This will cause the door to close on its own should someone leave it ajar.

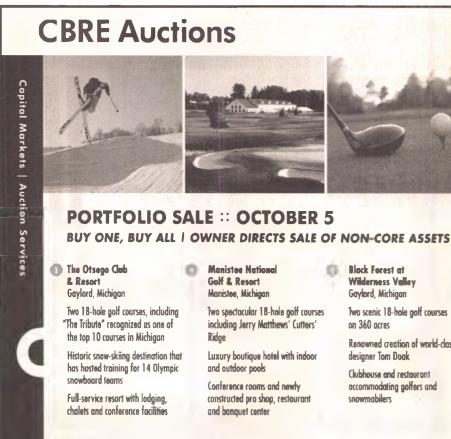

Stay tuned.

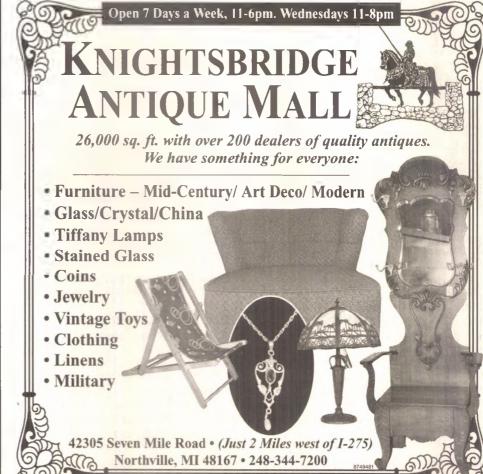

Joe Gagnon can be heard at 8 a.m., Saturdays on WAAM 1600. You can e-mail your problems and questions on appliances to appldr@twmi.rr.com

Arthritis Today

METHOTREXATE IN RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

Rheumatoid arthritis is a condition of inflammation that attacks the joints of the hands and feet. Features of rheumatoid arthritis include swelling in the fingers, pain and loss of function of the wrists, difficulty grasping, stiffness in the hands, and pain in the soles of the feet as if walking on stones.

In rheumatoid arthritis, the cells that line the joint are the targets of inflammation. What the person feels is the result of inflammation, namely swelling, joint effusion and pain.

Since inflammation underlies the features of rheumatoid arthritis, physicians turn to medicines that interfere with the building blocks that keep inflammation ongoing and destructive. Methotrexate is the first drug of choice as it disrupts the sequence of elements needed for inflammation to work. Patients take the medication one time a week as the drug acts best as a single large dose rather than the conventional tablet-a-day regimen. If methotrexate alone fails to control inflammation, physicians add other medications to methotrexate to achieve effective therapy The nature of rheumatoid arthritis differs from osteoarthritis. In osteoarthritis the body constituent at risk is cartilage that lines the ends of bone. The underlying mechanism of change is injury and wear. They cause the cartilage to thin at a faster pace than the body can make repairs or synthesize new cartilage. Physicians have no medicine that will slow down the wear on cartilage or stimulate the body to accelerate repair and replacement. Therefore in osteoarthritis doctors can offer pain relief and counsel the patient when it is time to consider surgery

WILTSE, JOHN A.

2011, at Seton Northwest Hospital in Round Rock, Texas. He is survived by his wife of 41 years,

Leila Seese Wiltse; his son Peter grandchildren Kaitlin and John P.

Wiltse and their mother Elizabeth

Rhonda, of Plano, Texas, their children Heather Buegler, her husband Britt and their son Bo, Erica

Harvey and Houston Harvey;

daughter Lynne Hughes of Victoria, Texas, daughter Joanna

Middleditch, her husband Tom, their children Sean and Samantha of Ypsilanti, Michigan; daughter

Kerry Lovelady, her husband

Glenn and their children Kerilee,

Glenn, and Kevin of Mayer. Arizona. He is also survived by his brother Richard Wiltse and wife Bea of Tucson, Arizona. He is preceded in death by his broth-er James Wiltse of Norfolk,

Virginia, as well as his parents

Cecil C. and Mary G. Wiltse. John

graduated from Plymouth High School in Plymouth, Michigan

He graduated from the University of Michigan on June 15, 1957 with a B.S. in Pharmacy. He was initiated as an active member of the Alpha Epsilon Chapter of The

Rho Chi Society at Idaho State University on April 13, 1984 and went on to earn a M.Ed. in Vocational Education from Idaho

State University on December 21,

1989. John served in the Army on active duty for 3 years and in the reserves for 5 years. He attended the Army Security Agency School

to become a Morse Code

Interpreter and was stationed in Graz, Austria. His service awards include: Army of Occupation Medal (Germany); National Defense Service Medal; and

Marksmanship Badge (Carbine)

After leaving the service, John took over Wiltse's Community

Pharmacy in Plymouth, Michigan where he was a compassionate competent owner for 25 years

Many customers remember him opening the store after hours so they could fill a prescription immediately and get their loved one on the way to good health once again. He was never too busy to explain medications or answer questions for anyone who came in the store. While involved in providing pharmacy care for many patients, he still made time to found the Plymouth Chapter of the Kiwanis Club and was president from 1969-1970. He was awarded a plaque for Outstanding

Club Leadership as President for his time in office. After making the decision to sell the pharmacy

he and his wife, Leila, moved to Idaho where he taught in the Department of Pharmacy at Idaho

State University. He was recruited

by Saint Alphonsus Regional Medical Center in Boise, Idaho to manage and develop their outpatient pharmacy. His development of the pharmacy was so successful that the hospital built a new outpatient pharmacy that was quadruple the size of the old one to accommodate the increased business. John retired from Saint Al's in 1997 but remained active in pharmacy. He was the Executive Director of the Idaho State

Hospital Pharmacists from 1996 to 2001. He also received the Pharmacist of the Year in 1997

John and Leila decided to move to the sunny south and became members of the Sun City-Georgetown community in October of 2001

John soon became active in the Sun City Chapter of the Kiwanis

Club and served as president from 2003-2004. In addition, he became founding member of the Department of Homeland Security in 2003. He served as a pharmacist in Louisiana during the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina. John continued to maintain his interest is helping others even after retiring as a pharmacist. He volunteered at the Scott & White Clinic in the lab. He had many neighbors and friends who will miss his smile, sense of humor and willingness to help others. He has touched the lives of many and will be sorely missed. The family wishes to thank the ambulance personnel who arrived so prompt ly, and the staff at Setor

Northwest Hospital in Round

Rock for their excellent care and obvious compassion. A memorial service will be held at Ramsey

Funeral Home, 5600 Williamson

Dr., Georgetown, Texas on Friday,

August 19, 2011 at 1:00 p.m. The service will be followed by interment and graveside service at the Central Texas State Veterans Cemetery, 11463 State Highway 195, Killeen TX 76542. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Sun City Kiwanis

This Week Only INTERNATIONAL COIN COLLECTORS are in Livonia!

Paying Cash for all Coins and anything Gold or Silver!

By KEN MCINTOSH

STAFF WRITER

ICCA will be placing ads in newspapers, radio and running television spots this week asking people to bring in any old silver and gold coins made before 1970. Those that bring in their coins will be able to speak with collectors one on one and have their coins looked at by a specialist. With the help of these ICCA members, offers will be made to those that have coins made before 1970. Offers will be made based on silver or gold content and the rarity of the coins. All coins made before 1970 will be examined and purchased including gold coins, silver coins, silver dollars, all types of nickels and pennies. Those that decide to sell their coins will be paid on the spot.

If you are like a lot of people you might have a few old coins or even a coffee can full lying around. If you have ever wondered what they are worth now might be your chance to find out and even sell them if you choose. They could be worth a lot according to the International Coin Collectors Association also known as ICCA. Collectors will pay a fortune for some coins and currency for their collections. If it is rare enough, one coin could be worth over $100,000 according to Eric Helms, coin collector and ICCA member. One ultra rare dime, an 1894S Barber, sold for a record $1.9 million to a collector in July of 2007. While that is an extreme example, many rare and valuable coins are stashed away in dresser drawers or lock boxes around the country. The ICCA and its collector members have organized a traveling event in search of all types of coins and currency. Even common coins can be worth a significant amount due to the high price of silver and gold, says Helms. Washington quarters and Roosevelt dimes can be worth many times their face value. Recent silver markets have driven the price up on common coins made of silver. Helms explains that all half dollars, quarters and dimes made before 1965 contain 90% silver and 'are sought after any time silver prices rise. Right now it's a sellers market he said.

The rarest coins these collectors are looking for include $20, $10, $5 and $2 1/2 gold coins and any coin made before 1850. These coins always bring big premiums according to the ICCA. Silver dollars are also very sought after nowadays.

Other types of items the ICCA will be purchasing during this event include U.S. currency, gold bullion, investment gold, silver bars, silver rounds, proof sets, etc. Even foreign coins are sought after and will be purchased.

Also at this event anyone can sell their gold jewelry, dental gold or anything made of gold on the spot. Gold is currently trading at Record Highs. Bring anything you think might be gold and the collectors will examine, test and price it for free. If you decide to sell, you will be paid on the spot - it has been an unknown fact that coin dealers have always paid more for jewelry and scrap gold than other jewelers and pawn brokers.

So whether you have one coin you think might be valuable or a large collection you recently inherited, you can talk to these collectors for free. If you're lucky you may have a rarity worth thousands. Either way there is nothing to lose and it sounds like fun!

ounce Back After Losing Your Job

By Alina Dizik Special to Career

Rebuilding your confidence after a job loss can be difficult. It's easy to fall into the trap of feeling sorry for yourself, which can cause you to doubt your ability to land a new position. If that happens, make bouncing back your top priority.

Here are nine ways to regain confidence after a job loss:

1. Develop a routine

Not having control of your job search can have a negative effect on your self-esteem. Instead of wallowing, treat the job search process like a full-time job and be thorough and deliberate in your search. "Develop a routine each day to regain control," says Jayne Mattson, senior vice president of Keystone Associates, a New England-based career management firm. "There are so many activities of a search that will keep you busy and that you have control over, so use your time wisely."

Find a supportive network

Being surrounded by supportive circle can help rebuild your confidence, Mattson says. "The people who believe in you really do want you to find the right fit and they will be your best advocates to others," she says. Anyone from former colleagues or acquaintances to family members can help boost your selfesteem after a lavoff.

3. Help others

Instead of feeling sorry for yourself, use your new free time to help others. Establishing new connections and applying your skills to other areas like volunteering or taking on leadership positions in your community can help you to bounce back, Mattson says. "It will keep your skills sharp, make you feel better, but will also give you something to talk about when meeting others." she says.

4. Use positive affirmation

While getting support from others is key, it's also important that you believe in your own skills. Use each day to verbalize a positive affirmation and remind yourself that you possess valuable skills, Mattson says. "Self-talk becomes an important part of rebuilding self confidence," she says.

5. Take time to do something you love

"Filling part of every day with something you love to do will keep your engines going longer," Mattson says. It can be as simple as reading a book or listening to your favorite song, but make sure it's a part of your day that you can look forward to.

6. Exercise

Exercise is a natural endorphin booster, so vou're bound to be in a much better mood postworkout. If paying for a gym membership is prohibitive, keep costs low by jogging outdoors and doing an at-home yoga routine. Since you're no longer tied to your desk for hours each day, use the new flexibility to get back into shape and feel better about yourself.

7. Allow time to heal Especially in a tough economy -- when job interviews are harder to come by -- it can take time to regain confidence and no one expects you to recover right away. "Don't beat yourself up," Mattson says. "Recognize that you will have good and bad days." Going through a job loss is never easy, and there's nothing wrong with allowing some time to heal.

8. Meet other job seekers

Knowing that you're not alone can go a long way in helping boost your mood. Seek out networking events in your industry or attend job search lectures to get out and mingle with other job seekers. With less interaction in your day-to-day life, meeting others can play a big part in boosting morale.

9. Be ready for a tough road ahead

Being prepared for the less-than transparent interview process can go a long way in protecting you from further disappointments and plunges in confidence. With high unemployment rates, being out of work has become standard for many professionals and isn't a reflection on your abilities.

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Beginner

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

BMW, MERCEDES AIM FOR PHOTO FINISH IN LUXURY RACE

The battle of giants for the lead in the U.S. luxury market got even more interesting in July, as No. 1 BMW crept a little further into the lead over No. 2 Mercedes-Benz during the month; Lexus remained hamstrung by supplies; and other players were jockeying for the No. 3

sold about 135,000 vehicles year to date through July, and last month upped its edge over the Mercedes brand, which sold about 130,000 during the first seven months. Lexus brand sales were off by 19 percent in July and are off by 19 percent for the seven months, even though availability has begun to return to form. Audi and even Lincoln staged their own surges during the month as the entire segment began easing into the traditional summer selldown.

One obstacle is out of the way for luxury sales for the rest of the year, at least for now: doubts sewn among upper-income consumers about the U.S. debt and budget situation. To be sure, equity markets have taken a beating during the last couple of weeks, a dip that, if extended, bodes ill for the willingness of many luxuryvehicle consumers to buy.

Nevertheless, executives in the segment continue to profess confidence in their own future performances and, to some degree, the luxury market as a whole. "Despite the recent economic news, our BMW Group sales in July continued their good momentum," said Jim O'Donnell, president and CEO of BMW of North America.

\Nearly every major luxury brand – including not only the Germans but also Buick, Lincoln and Infiniti have embarked on bold plans to scramble at least closer to the top of the heap as Lexus has at least temporarily slipped off the pinnacle.

BMW, like its rivals, scheduled launches of new products in the second half including the 528xi, the first all-wheel-drive, entry-level version of its hot-selling 5 Series. Recently, Daimler CEO Dieter Zetsche was reminding employees in Frankfurt that the company will use rivals' success as "additional motivation."

Infiniti boasted that 10,000 new vehicles became available for consumer delivery as the brand pulls out of its supply difficulties. And Audi upped the ante in its embrace of big TV events in the U.S. market by announcing that it will serve as "the official automotive partner" of the television industry's 63rd Primetime Emmy Awards in September.

The 5 Series is crucial to BMW's intentions to win the 2011 luxurysegment race in the U.S. market.

Several players predict that full-year sales in the luxury market will end up about flat with 2010 after first-half sales this year were roughly flat as well, while general industry sales rose by 13 percent in the first six months.

"The overall [luxury] market is fragile and uncertain, so we're being cautious about that," said Matt Granger, general manager of retail sales for Audi of America. "The second half has become a period of uncertainty for the segment. Six months ago, the view was more optimistic." Mark Templin, general manager of the Lexus brand, said that the luxury market "will mirror what you see in the overall market" for the rest of the year.

"Unemployment and consumer confidence are still a problem. [Luxury sales] won't materialize to the extent that everyone thought at the beginning of the year."

In the first half, the supply disaster for Japanese brands, especially Lexus and Acura, dictated a down performance for the segment overall. In 2010, while the total U.S. industry posted an 11-percent sales increase, the luxury segment rose by 14 percent. Luxury sales were still rising, to a "torrid" pace in the first quarter, Poore said, when the earthquake and tsunami hit on March 11.

"We're just happy that we have something to sell again," Templin said. "It's like going back to basics. We're sharpening our knives." Yet Steve Cannon, vice president of marketing for Mercedes-Benz USA, paid homage to an even stronger competitor right now: BMW, with whom Mercedes-Benz is battling for the 2011 luxury crown. BMW sold about 114,000 vehicles in the United States during the first half, while Mercedes sold 111,000.

The Mercedes executive protested that the company is "not setting out to beat BMW" this year. Yet Cannon noted proudly, "We've closed an enormous gap with BMW over three years. In 2007, they outsold us by 45,000 cars" in the United States. "Now, we're neck-and-neck with them every single month."

And BMW's Creed seemed more than willing to focus on the brand's mano a mano contest with Mercedes-Benz, saving that he "feel[s] good" about the slim lead over its
