NorthRidge volunteers pack meals

Plymouth Township's NorthRidge Church drew more than 9,000 volunteers last weekend to pack some 2 million meals for poor children in three poverty-stricken countries.

NorthRidge's 2 Million Meals project, which also saw the church raise more than $400,000 to pay for the dried food, culminated Friday, Saturday and Sunday with the packing event at the Suburban Collection Showplace in Novi. Michael Miller, director of outreach at the church, said there were 11 two-hour packing shifts of about 900 volunteers each, meaning close to 10,000 volunteers altogether.

"You've got kids from 5 years old to grandmas who were packing meals," Miller said, adding that the involvement of young children in the project clarified for them the idea of hunger in the world more so than merely hearing about it. "That has an impact," he said.

The meals, designed by nutritionists, will be shipped to children in Haiti, El Salvador and the Philippines.

NorthRidge worked on the project through the Minnesota-based nonprofit Feed My Starving Children. Miller said Northridge members enlisted

New restaurant opens downtown

By Matt Jachman
Staff Writer

Panache 447 is now Bamboo in downtown Plymouth.

The all-new restaurant, under the same ownership, made a soft debut Valentine's Day and plans a splashier opening party in a couple of weeks. Bamboo offers lunches and dinners with Asian-inspired dishes and a bamboo-themed decor.

"People should really enjoy what we're putting out there," owner Blake Kolo said Tuesday. "We're really excited."

Bamboo, Kolo said, is both a pan-Asian restaurant with American influences (such as in its pad thai) and an American restaurant with Asian influences (as in its salmon entree). Bamboo has a sushi bar, Wednesday (wine) and Thursday (cocktails, martinis) drink specials and, as much as possible, locally sourced foods, such as fresh produce daily from Eastern Market and fish from the Detroit Fish Co.

Rooftop dining

Coming soon to Bamboo will be rooftop tiki bar dining on its walk-out second level.

The site was approved for rooftop dining by the Plymouth City Commission last month. Kolo said the deck build-out should be completed by April or May.

"They're very supportive," Kolo said of city officials. "We truly believe the Bamboo concept fits the city of Plymouth."

Panache 447 opened in early 2012 on Forest, taking the place of what had been Tavern 1999.

Kolo said the transition to Bamboo has been months in the making. The restaurant has a completely new management team and a new kitchen staff, he said, and the staff has gone through specialized hospitality training. Kolo said management consulted with successful restaurateurs in coming up with the concept.

Panache 447 - the number stood for its address on Forest - had remained open during the transition to Bamboo, Kolo said, aside from a few weather-related closures this winter.

Carving a niche

Wood workers make time for fun, friends

By Julie Brown
Staff Writer

Ron Nikolits' eyes moved from the photo of a church in the woods, a country scene, to the wood carving in his hands. The Plymouth Township resident, 77, said, "I've got a lot of wood to take off yet."

He's been working on the church scene for some time at the Plymouth Woodcarvers, an informal group that meets from 9 a.m. to noon each Monday at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer. Newcomers of all ages are welcome at the weekly sessions.

"We kind of do it on a casual basis. Everybody's working on their own project," Nikolits said, setting aside his project for a chat. He's been a wood carver since 2000, after retiring as

Wheel thief pleads guilty, is jailed

By Matt Jachman
Staff Writer

A Detroit man with several larceny and stolen-property charges on his record was sentenced Feb. 5 to a year in the Wayne County Jail after pleading guilty to four charges related to the theft of wheels and tires from a parked car in Plymouth Township.

Dennis K. Jenkins, 35, was sentenced in Wayne County

Circuit Court by Judge Daniel A. Hathaway, who also assessed fines and court costs totaling $1,402.

Jenkins had pleaded guilty Jan. 22 to four felony charges: one count of larceny, one count of receiving and concealing stolen property and one count each of attempted larceny and attempted receiving and concealing stolen property.

Circuit court records show Jenkins was a parolee with several similar crimes, plus an assault charge and a weapons charge, on his record at the time of his arrest last October. He had been released from a state prison last April after serving nearly two years for possession of burglary tools.

Jenkins was arrested by township officers about 4:30 a.m. Oct. 16 at the Bradbury Park Condominiums, in the area of Joy Road and Haggerly. A patrolling officer had found a Ford Edge from which all four wheels, with tires, had been removed. Footprints in dewy grass led officers to a Dodge Stratus in which Jenkins was found.

The Edge's wheels and tires were found nearby and lug nuts had been loosened on another Ford Edge in the area.

Jenkins initially claimed to have been sleeping in the Stratus.

a Ford Motor Co. engineer.

"Most of the people we have here are retired," Nikolits said. "Just before Christmas, you'll start doing Christmas ornaments and Santas." They also do Easter-related wood carvings.

Participants pay $1.50 for each drop-in session, which goes to the Cultural Center for the room, cleaning and coffee. "So we get our money's worth," Nikolits said. "It's a good deal. Part of my enjoyment is I've got something to do. I enjoy the camaraderie. We teach each other. We help each other."

Instructor was key

On the wall is a plaque with a photo of the group's late instructor, George Hanosh, who died at 79. It reads, "Wood Carver - Teacher - Friend / Enjoyed Helping Others."

On a recent Monday, Jerry Valentine, 76, of Livonia was working on a Kachina doll. Valentine is retired as an engineer from Pilot Industries in Dexter and has been a wood carver about 20 years.

"I did some stuff when I was a kid, doing model work," he said. The figurine coming to life in his hands is "carving in the round" and he'd progressed well in two weeks.

"To keep busy," Valentine said, noting he's also an artist in oils and acrylics. "I've done watercolor in the past," said Valentine, who also plays the recorder.

Valentine's wife is happy with his projects. "Oh, she loves it. I sometimes think that's why she married me, because of my artwork," he said. "She's waiting for a painting I'm finishing right now."

That's of The Last Supper, a biblical scene Valentine has also carved twice, one taking some 100 hours and the other 160. The Kachina doll he was recently working on will have feathers and a head dress when done.

"I've got a lot of detail work to do on it," he said.

Bob Goodwin, 66, of Plymouth is a new retiree who worked for Ford Motor in finance and human resources. He saw a notice in the parks and recreation brochure and dropped in for the first time Feb. 3.

"I had been involved in wood carving years ago," said Goodwin, who put in 35 years at Ford, as well as military service. "A thing called work got in the way."

Goodwin wore gloves and guards on his hands as he relearned. "These are like training wheels on a bicycle," he said with a smile.

The group is mostly male, with Nikolits noting some women have dropped out when arthritis makes the work too difficult. Carol Dodt, 78, of Westland was representing the women.

"My husband," she said of Bill getting her involved. "He carves. I used to go with him and work on a piece." She's been doing it in earnest about two years and wood burning before that.

Carol Dodt's a homemaker who worked as a medical office assistant as well. "I have made spoons with rope-like handles," she said. "I did a relief carving. That was quite a challenge."

The relief carving had a cabin, trees and fence. "I really enjoyed that," she said. "That was fun to work on. My husband shows me what to do."

Bill Dodt's been carving some 25-30 years and his wife has no problem with sessions with the men. "They help you if you ask them," she said.

"I don't really have that much. Some I give away," she said of her projects. "Some I've got in a box. It gives you a reason to get up and get going in the morning."

'Help each other'

Nikolits said, "We kept the club going" after Hanosh died. "We work as a cooperative. We all help each other. Just general interest in wood working. I find it relaxing and challenging at the same time."

He doesn't have power tools. "Basically all of us do everything by hand. You always have more tools than you need. I find it keeps my fingers limber."

The carvers sometimes travel to learn from experts in seminars. "We like to take beginners and help them get started," Nikolits said of the Cultural Center sessions.

He estimated a start-up cost of $50 and said there are lots of catalogs for ordering tools online. "It's not inexpensive, but it's not overly expensive either," he said.

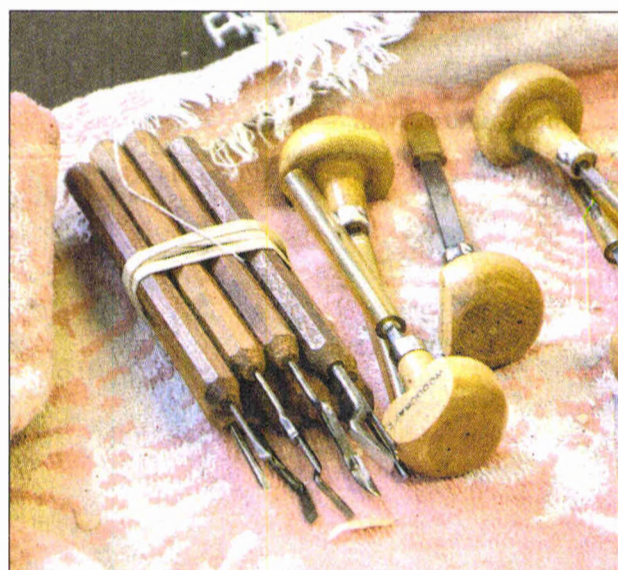

Carvers find bass the most universal wood and least expensive, he said, adding wood adds to the project cost. Some use walnut; pine doesn't work well.

Carol Dodt summed it up aptly: "There are a lot of nice people. That's why I come."

family members, friends, neighbors and co-workers to volunteer for the packing.

Dorothy Aren of Livonia, who volunteered along with seven members of her family, including her husband George, said the family had a great time.

"We wanted to help because the children of the world need to be fed and told about Jesus," Aren said.

The 2,029,752 meals packed, Miller said, are intended to be parceled out over the course of a year to more than 5,000 children in the three countries.

"If they get one of these meals a day, that'll bring a starving kid back," he said.

It was NorthRidge's second project with Feed My Starving Children. Three years ago, in a similar project, about one million meals were packed.

Canton barkeep tries for world title

By Brad Kadrich
Staff Writer

Andy Hool – known by his professional nom de plume, Andy Bro – is used to wowing the customers from behind the bar at the Canton TGI Fridays.

Next week, Hool, a seven-year TGI Fridays veteran who has been tending bar nearly six years, hopes to cause an even bigger stir in Dallas, where he'll compete Feb. 27 in the 23rd annual TGI Fridays World Bartending Championship.

A dozen bartenders, including seven from the United States, will be on hand for the annual tournament and will compete in categories including bar knowledge, compulsory and speed performances and a freestyle showcase. Hool is the only participant with Midwest ties.

It's Hool's third trip to the finals, following performances in 2010 and 2012.

"I have a lot more patience, more poise and I've been practicing extra hard," Hool said. "I've done a lot of pour tests, studied my recipes to make sure I can do them as fast as I can and as accurately as possible, I've been cutting fruit and opening bottles of wine. It's been an endless repetition of different moves."

Hool, a former Livonia resident, now lives in Canton with his 5-year-old daughter Payton. He attended St. Michael School in Livonia and is a graduate of Catholic Central, then in Redford but now located in Novi. His parents, Gerald and Elizabeth Hool, still live in Livonia.

Hool uses social media to invite friends and family into the Canton location whenever he's working. Hool's customers marvel at the fact he learns their names, favorite drinks and food orders. He's

"Every time I visit, we get a fun performance and the service is amazing," said Canton resident Jill Engel, a huge Hool fan. "When people say it's like being on the Cheers TV show, where everyone knows everyone and it feels like home, they aren't kidding. (Hool) tells his patrons how much he appreciates them."

Hool and the other competitors got a chance to meet at a kind of boot camp TGI Fridays conducted for its world finalists in November. Hool said having met most of the competitors (he met nine of the other 11) will benefit him when he gets to Dallas.

"It won't give me an advantage, except that it gives you a sense of calmness, knowing that you're not meeting a bunch of new people," Hool said. "I'm one of 12 great competitors and I'm definitely one of the veterans. I think I have just as good a chance as anyone."

IKEA confirms 'possible' expansion of Canton store

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

IKEA, already a massive landmark in Canton, could grow substantially if a preliminary proposal by company officials ushers in the first major expansion of the Swedish retailer's only Michigan store.

IKEA spokesman Joseph Roth confirmed the company has submitted a plan to Canton Township officials for what he called a "possible store expansion" – though a specific time frame wasn't known.

Roth's remarks provide one indicator of just how successful the 311,000-square-foot store has been since 2006, when it opened its doors on the northwest corner of Ford and Haggerty in Canton's bustling business district.

Canton Community Planner Jeff Goulet said the township has submitted to the township a proposed amendment to its planned development district agreement. He said IKEA has indicated an interest in expanding the west side of the store by 44,000 square feet, adding parking and demolishing the former ABC Warehouse building, located on IKEA property.

"We have to figure out what the benefit to the community would be," Goulet said.

Township planners have responded to IKEA and asked for revisions to the initial proposal, Goulet said.

Roth said IKEA doesn't disclose annual sales for specific stores. He said the company's 38 U.S. stores had $4.1 billion in sales for 2012, compared to $34.6 billion for 349 sites in 43 countries.

IKEA plans to open stores this year in Miami and in 2015 in Kansas City, Kan. The company sells ready-to-assemble furniture, appliances and home accessories.

Roth said IKEA has been using the former ABC Warehouse building for storage since that company moved further west on Ford Road, occupying the old Borders book store site.

Roth said IKEA could move forward with plans to expand its Canton store.

"However, those are not final plans – merely a means as part of our evaluation process for us to get an understanding of what it would take and cost if we were to go down that road," he said. "Should we decide to pull the trigger and proceed down that path, we would be making an official and public filing at that point in time."

Roth said IKEA is exploring its options and time frames.

"At this point, we just intend to maintain the (ABC Warehouse) property. It's more for storage and our busiest time is usually late summer, when our new catalogs get distributed," he said. "For sure it will be there through the fall of this year. We haven't finalized any long-term plan."

However, he added, "We will not be leasing it out to any other third party or anything like that. We're still finalizing our long-term plans for the Canton store, as well as for the ABC Warehouse grounds."

IKEA Canton has drawn customers from across Michigan, other states and Canada, making it a destination for many shoppers from far away. Roth said the company is "thrilled with the performance and reception" the store has had.

IN MEMORY OF MOM

Canton team raising money to fight lung cancer

By Brad Kadrich
Staff Writer

No one really knew what was wrong with Carol Jackson. One night she went to bed a completely healthy wife, mother of two and dance studio owner. The next morning, when she woke, she couldn't see, talk or walk.

Doctors at first thought "stroke," but when it turned out not to be that, they couldn't really figure out what it was. Eventually, they started treating it like lung cancer, though no sign of an actual tumor ever developed, because that's what the problem most presented like.

That was December 2010 and it began an 18-month battle against lung cancer that claimed the life of the longtime Dance Connection owner, who devoted her life to teaching young people how to dance, in June 2012. The fight included six rounds of chemotherapy and brain radiation.

It's a fight her daughter, Melissa McParlane of Canton, doesn't want anyone else to have to fight. That's why McParlane and the 98 members of the TDC Dancing Divas are raising money for the LUNgevity Foundation, a nonprofit organization "committed to making an immediate impact on increasing quality-of-life and survivorship of people with lung cancer by accelerating research into early detection and more effective treatments," according to the group's website.

"There's not enough research," said McParlane, Jackson's 35-year-old daughter, who now runs the studio. "There is only a certain amount of chemotherapy available. ... There was nothing else they could do for my mom. For me, to raise money for research for someone else now is very important."

The Divas are doing that in a variety of ways. The team's next fundraiser is Friday, Feb. 21, an all-day event at the Olga's Kitchen on Ford Road in Canton. Olga's is donating a portion of its receipts to the Divas.

The studio then hosts a vendor sale from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday, March 1, at The Dance Connection, 1672 S. Lilley, in Canton. A variety of vendors will be on hand and

FIGHTING LUNG CANCER

What: TDC Dancing Divas fundraisers for the LUNgevity Foundation
When: Friday, Feb. 28, at Olga's Kitchen and Saturday, March 1, a vendor fair at The Dance Connection, 1672 S. Lilley, in Canton
What: All money raised in the fundraisers will go to TDC Dancing Divas and lung cancer research through the LUNgevity Foundation
How to help: For more information, call The Dance Connection at 734-397-9755 or go to the website www.the-dance-connection.com they're donating 10 percent of their receipts to the Divas and the LUNgevity Foundation.

Plus, the kids are trying to raise $100 apiece. If they reach the goal, they get a cancer walk T-shirt in which, according to McParlane, they show more pride than "any iWhatever" they might get. More than that, McParlane said, the kids learn just what the power of $100 is.

"We give them a list of exactly what $100 can do," McParlane said. "The excitement on their faces when they realize they did it is so exciting. Kids have worn those T-shirts since 2010. For them to be that excited about a simple T-shirt shows kids can be taught anything. We are teaching them about giving back to others in need."

It's important to McParlane, because lung cancer in particular is so prevalent. According to information on the LUNgevity Foundation website, one in 14 people will be diagnosed at some point with lung cancer, a disease the foundation says kills more people than breast, prostate and colon cancers combined.

Yet federal funding is lagging for lung cancer research. Federal funding, according to McParlane, is measured in dollars-per-life-lost to the disease. Breast cancer research got $26,398 per-life-lost in 2012; lung cancer, got less than $1,500.

The problem, according to McParlane, is name recognition. Breast cancer gets the biggest societal push, but few know that much about lung cancer. That's one of the issues, according to McParlane.

The TDC Dancing Divas will take part in the LUNgevity Foundation's Breathe Deep Michigan walk May 3 at Booth Park in Birmingham. They'll be representing Jackson, who owned TDC for 21 years and spent as much time with many of the kids in her studio as did their parents.

"Some 600 kids walk through these doors every year and a lot of them spend 16-17 hours a week in here," McParlane said. "My mom was like a second mom to a lot of them. When she got sick, it was a big thing to them."

Man facing trial on charges he hurt two with car

By Darrell Clem
Staff Writer

Barring a plea deal, a Canton man is expected to face trial in April following allegations he backed a car toward a crowd and injured two people during a dispute at the Shell gas station on Michigan Avenue near Lotz.

The defendant, 20-year-old Jesse James Winchester, has maintained his innocence and indicated he was fearful for himself and a female companion who was with him.

Winchester could face penalties ranging up to four years in prison if he is convicted of two counts of assault with a dangerous weapon, failing to stop at the scene of a personal injury accident and assault and battery.

Winchester

His trial has been scheduled for April 2 in front of Wayne County Circuit Judge Cynthia Gray Hathaway.

Winchester, who is free on bond, was charged Dec. 26 for an incident police say occurred in early December.

Authorities have said Winchester got into an argument after someone in a crowd of people had a conversation with a woman who was with him.

Winchester has described the woman as the mother of his child.

After the argument escalated, police said Winchester got into the vehicle and drove in reverse toward a crowd, hitting two people.

Canton Detective Sgt. Chad Baugh has described the injuries as minor.

Winchester was ordered to stand trial during a preliminary examination in early January in 35th District Court.

Police have said Winchester was arrested for the Dec. 1 incident at the Shell station after police went to his residence in Canton on Christmas Eve for an unrelated disturbance.

Tax scams reported in township

Tax-related fraud and fraud attempts are being reported in Plymouth Township during the filing season for 2013 income tax returns:

» A township woman reported Feb. 10 that she had received several phone calls in an apparent scam attempt by people claiming to be from the Internal Revenue Service. The callers, from different numbers, asked for the woman's bank information, which she did not provide, a Plymouth Township Police Department report said.

The woman told police she had been called both at home and at work and that one caller told her there was a warrant for her arrest that she could only resolve by providing banking information. She noted the numbers from which she had been called.

Police told the woman not to answer calls from numbers she doesn't recognize and turned the phone numbers the would-be scammers had used over to the U.S. Treasury Department.

» A township man reported Feb. 10 that a 2013 tax return had been fraudulently filed with his Social Security number. The victim is following up with the IRS.

A police report said the man tried to file his taxes electronically Feb. 8, but received a message that his return was not accepted, as someone had already used that Social Security number. The man told police that at least 12 people at his workplace in Farmington had reported the same problem.

» A township man reported Feb. 6 that someone had fraudulently claimed a $2,800 refund on his 2012 taxes.

The man told police he hadn't filed the 2012 return until October of last year and called the IRS recently to check on the status of the expected refund. He was told, he reported, that someone with the same name and Social Security number but a different address had claimed the refund. The IRS is investigating but told the man to file a report with his local police department.

Shoplifting

A 24-year-old Wayne man was arrested on a shoplifting charge Feb. 12 after admitting he had stolen a blanket and two air fresheners from the Kmart on Ann Arbor Road in the township.

Police were called to the store just before 2 p.m. A security worker told police the suspect, who was with a woman and a child, had concealed the air fresheners in a stroller with the child, then had taken the tags off the $16.99 Disney blanket and put it on the child before leaving the store without paying for the items. The employee confronted the man outside and he admitted the theft to police, the report said.

The man was arrested and later released with a court date for a third-degree retail fraud charge.

Larcenies

» All four wheels were stolen recently from a new Ford Fusion that was parked outside an apartment on Lilley Road in the township. The value of the stainless steel wheels and the tires on them was put at $1,500.

The victim told police he had last seen the car intact about 5 p.m. Feb. 9 and discovered the theft the next morning. The Fusion had been left sitting on bricks, police said.

» A tonneau cover was stolen recently from a Ford F-150 pickup that was parked at the Woodgate Condominiums, off of Ann Arbor Trail west of Sheldon.

The victim told police the theft occurred Feb. 11 or Feb. 12. The truck's tailgate wasn't locked, which would have secured the cover, police said.

Funny money

A counterfeit $20 bill was used at the Taco Bell on Ann Arbor Road in the township during the early morning hours of Feb. 8.

The manager told police the bill had been passed by an unknown person between 1-4 a.m. that morning. It was later discovered to be counterfeit.

Police turned the counterfeit over to the Secret Service, which investigates counterfeit cases.

CANTON CRIME WATCH

Head-on crash averted

Two drivers nearly collided head-on Monday morning after a woman driving on Saltz east of Beck said a driver in a black pickup truck crossed over the center line, causing their door mirrors to strike each other, a police report said.

The incident happened around 11 a.m. on Saltz at Kennebec, east of Beck.

The woman told police the pickup truck driver continued eastbound on Saltz without stopping. She said she wasn't even sure if the other driver realized a minor accident had occurred.

Trailer fire

A man and woman escaped a fire that started Saturday afternoon in a home in Wagon Wheel, a mobile home community on Mott Road between Barr and Ridge, a police report said.

The fire started in a gas clothes dryer, prompting the couple to try to douse it before firefighters arrived and put out the fire, a police report said.

The woman told authorities she had been drying clothes and noticed flames coming from under the dryer.

Roadside find

A 45-year-old woman found three purses and other items alongside the road near Haggerty and Ford, a police report said.

The woman brought the purses to the police department along with other items she found, including a brown sweatshirt, a white dress, a green bag that was ripped and a bag of decorative vase filler, a police report said.

The woman brought the items to the police station shortly after 5 p.m. Sunday. Police placed the items in a property room locker in case someone reported losing them.

Sam's Club fraud

A 59-year-old Redford man notified police after a Sam's Club account he opened was used to make fraudulent purchases totaling $557, a police report said.

The man received a bill for purchases that had been made on Christmas Eve after he opened an account at the Sam's Club store on Ford Road east of Lotz, the police report said.

Van damaged

A 44-year-old Canton man reported his 2005 Ford van was struck, possibly by a snow plow, while it was parked in the 46400 block of Overhill about 1:20 p.m. Jan. 25.

The man went to the police station to file the report. He said he had contacted a snowplowing company who denied causing the damage.

Heart transplant recipients set Guinness World Record

Valentine's Day was all about celebrating hearts – lots of them.

Late Friday afternoon, 132 heart transplant recipients cheered and tossed confetti as they set a new Guinness World Record for the largest gathering of heart transplant recipients in one place inside the showroom at Art Moran Buick GMC in Southfield.

The event was organized by the Donate Life Coalition of Michigan. Transplant recipients came from transplant centers at the University of Michigan Health System, Henry Ford Health System, Children's Hospital of Michigan, Beaumont Health System, Cleveland Clinic, the Cincinnati Children's Hospital and Stanford Hospital (part of the Stanford University Medical Center).

In total, the people on hand were celebrating 1,318 years of additional life, thanks to transplants.

Peggy Burkhard, marketing and public relations director for Donate Life Coalition of Michigan, said the event was one of the five most rewarding days of her career.

"It was the people who truly made this event special," she said. "It was so humbling."

Getting old isn't something Erik Morganroth dreads these days.

In fact, the Birmingham resident cannot wait to celebrate his birthday every year because, as a two-time heart transplant recipient, there were times when he didn't know if he would make the next one.

"I'm in a rush to get older and to see my daughter get married," he said. "Every day, you feel fortunate to have a life."

Berkley resident Mike Roman waited 15 months before he got his new heart in 2009, and five years later, he remains healthy and is an active volunteer with Gift of Life.

"Our donors are the true heroes," he said. "All we did was get sick."

The event, which was highlighted by the record, also was being used to raise awareness and sign up donors.

Business support

Tom Moran, president of Art Moran Buick GMC, in Southfield, has been promoting organ donation at his dealership for more than a year, and is offering a free car wash to anyone who signs up for the donor registry at the dealership.

Moran, a Farmington Hills resident, has supported the Donate Life campaign in part because a former employee, John Schmidt, received a heart transplant.

"We just want to get the word out and educate people on what it means to donate," said Moran,

According to Donate Life Coalition of Michigan, more than 3,200 patients in the state await organ transplants. Approximately 3.3 million individuals are registered donors in Michigan, but according to Gift of Life Michigan, the state's federally designated organ and tissue recovery organization, the supply of organs doesn't meet the demand. Its website notes that on average, 17 Michigan residents have organ transplants every week. Organ donors can save up to eight lives and tissue donors can improve life for up to 50 sick and injured persons.

"People don't realize how many lives can be saved. I think it's real important," said Sherry Johnson, a heart transplant recipient from Farmington Hills.

"It's important that people be educated about it so they can make their own choice.

Johnson received a heart through the University of Michigan Health System in 2006. She had cardiomyopathy, a condition that generally leads to heart failure.

"My mother and brother had it as well. Both also had transplants. My brother lived 10 years. My mom was one of the first ones (transplant patient) and didn't live as long, but paved the way.

"I was very sick and I had two young kids. It's hard to give up your life for an illness. When I got so, so sick I went to my transplant center."

Johnson, the mother of two boys, 11 and 13, said she works at staying healthy by taking her pills on time, eating right and exercising.

Ultimate gift

"I was given the gift of a heart and I treat it well. Without it, my kids wouldn't have their mom. It's not just a gift for me, but for everyone around me."

Johnson also "gives back" to Asia Woerner (left), 14, from Cincinnati, and Julia Evans, 13, from Novi, do a dance in celebration of the Guinness World Record of 132 heart transplant recipients in Southfield Friday afternoon.

Donate Life Coalition and Gift of Life Michigan by volunteering for the organizations. She helped coordinate all of the paperwork needed for the Guinness World Record attempt, as well as participating as a transplant recipient.

"Without those organizations, I might not have had a donor. I feel it's important to spread awareness," she said. "This is an exciting event."

Dr. William Devlin, who specializes in cardiovascular medicine at Beaumont Health System, said it is great for him to see people get a second chance, and encourages more people to become donors.

"It's a wonderful gift to give to someone," he said. "And you never know if you or someone you know might be a recipient."

Individuals can register to become an organ donor by calling 800-482-4881 or by visiting giftoflifemichigan.org.

Ficano touts accomplishments, others less laudatory

By Brad Kadrich
Staff Writer

Wayne County Executive Robert Ficano has not officially announced his intention to seek re-election this year.

Unofficially, he sounded a lot like someone doing just that Tuesday night.

Ficano, who has yet to enter the fray of the 2014 campaign, extolled the virtue of the county's accomplishments in his 12th State of the County speech at the Automotive Hall of Fame in Dearborn.

Calling the state of the county "improving," Ficano said the county's "future looks bright."

"Like the auto industry, Wayne County has had challenges, but we are roaring back," Ficano said. "We're creating new jobs and investment and leading the way to future growth."

In an upbeat speech that touted what Ficano believes are the county's biggest successes and passed lightly over more significant challenges like the fate of the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department and the troubled jail project, the county executive drew the loudest cheers when he opened by congratulating Olympic champions Charlie White and Meryl Davis on their gold medal in ice dancing at the Sochi Olympics.

White and Davis, along with silver medalists Tessa Virtue and Scott Moir, train at the Arctic Edge in Canton.

Ficano also drew loud applause when he recognized the men and women "in uniform who serve our community" and talked about the First Responders Memorial the county had built in Hines Park last year.

Then he got down to business, talking about, among other things:

» Challenges created

Audience members crowded into an auditorium at the Automotive Hall of Fame applaud Wayne County Executive Robert Ficano during Tuesday's State of the County address.

by the 2008 recession. Ficano said property tax revenue has declined by "nearly 30 percent," resulting in the loss of some $106 million in revenue. Since 2008, he said, the county has lost $353 million in property tax revenue.

However, he said, property values are "on the rebound in Wayne County," with median sales prices rising 45 percent last year. Despite that climb, he said, the revenue stream will "remain flat" because of caps put in place by Proposal A and the Headlee Amendment.

» Cost reduction and streamlining of operations. Among the cuts he touted were a 10-percent reduction in salaries, including his own; a reduction in the work force by more than 1,300 positions; and reducing the number of his own at-will employees by 40 percent.

That part didn't necessarily sit well with some employees, who think Ficano is cutting from the bottom.

"He's taking from us at the bottom to pay for all his mistakes at the top," said Wendy Lukianoff of Canton, a union leader who works in the Department of Public Services Environmental Group. "Our structure at the top is broken. We've got managers managing nobody. (Ficano) needs to start at the top."

» The renovation of Cobo Center and the Aerotropolis, the business enterprise zone now known as Vantage PORT.

» The troubled jail project. Ficano said as soon as he was told the project was going to go over budget, "the first thing I did was stop the construction." He said he worked with the team to drive the costs back down to initial projections. Now, the county is working toward moving the justice facility to an existing location on Mound Road, what he called "a win-win-win" because it will bring some 9,000 temporary jobs and 5,500 permanent jobs, along with some $380 million of economic impact to the area.

But while Ficano trumpeted it as a solution, other commissioners laid the blame for the problem at Ficano's feet.

Wayne County Commissioner Laura Cox, R-Livonia, said Ficano was trying to blame the commission, at least in part.

"I don't think mismanagement of a project is necessarily adversarial," Cox said. "The mismanagement of the jail is all (Ficano's) fault."

Ficano also breezed over the fate of the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department, saying only that "a regional authority solution that brings all the interested parties together and works for everyone makes the most sense."

Ficano also listed some positives, including:

» Completion of an $8 million construction project that improved safety at Belleville and Ecorse roads.

» A new command center at the Central Maintenance Yard in Romulus, one of the first of its kind in the country, that allows the county "to take road hazard calls 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

» Investment and jobs. According to Ficano, 38 percent of all investment in Michigan since 2009 happened in Wayne County, as well as 43 percent of all new jobs.

» More than $1.3 billion in new investments in Wayne County since 2008, including a $550 million investment by Ford at its Flat Rock assembly plant and a $71 million project to build the Gateway Marketplace on 36 acres near the old State Fairgrounds.

Among his plans, Ficano said he would "continue to fight to guarantee collective bargaining rights for working men and women and to raise the minimum wage." He said he'd also sign an executive order expanding the county's non-discrimination policies to include protection for sexual orientation and gender identity.

While all of that "sounds good," Wayne County Commissioner Shannon Price, R-Canton, said the county's focus should be on the challenges at hand.

"In order to be on par with Macomb and Oakland (counties), we have a lot of work to do," Price said. "It starts with the deficit elimination plan. We need to remove ourselves from politically charged issues like raising the minimum wage and focus on the job at hand."

Wayne County Commissioner Kevin McNamara, D-Wayne, who has announced he'll seek the county executive seat in the 2014 election, said he was encouraged to hear Ficano "finally admitting he's going to have to ruffle some feathers to finally fix the problems" the county faces.

"I know the government is broken and I also know it can be fixed," McNamara said. "This is not a six-month fix. We need leadership."

On guard: Don't fall victim to scams

I have accepted the reality that no matter what anyone does, the number of scams will continue to grow at an epidemic rate.

The Internet has allowed lowlifes from around the world to target us. There is no one who can protect us. That is why we must always stay on guard. We are our own last line of defense.

I can write a column every week and would not be able to keep up with the number of scams that are out there. That being said, it is important to highlight scams that are affecting consumers in Michigan.

The first deals with your phone. Scam artists are using automatic dialers to contact cellphones. It rings once and then hangs up.

What happens is that people see the number and call back. Unfortunately, when you call the number, you are connected to some sort of premium service and you are automatically charged a connection fee,

Rick Bloom

typically $20.

In addition, you are then automatically charged another $9 or $10 a minute for as long as you stay on the line. Although the area codes on these calls appear to be U.S. numbers, these calls typically originate from somewhere in the Caribbean.

The lesson to learn is if you get a call and you do not recognize the number, do not return the call. In addition, if you fall for the scam and you are hit with these fees, contact your cellphone carrier. There is a chance that it will reverse the charges and, if it won't, you can file a complaint with the Federal Communications Commission or the Federal Trade Commission.

Another scam, coming from overseas, deals with funeral notifications. Scammers are stealing the names and logos of legitimate funeral homes and sending out fake emails either notifying you of a memorial service for a loved one or friend or asking you to sign a remembrance book in someone's memory. The scam here is that once you click on to the link, malware is downloaded onto your computer, allowing the scam artist to obtain all sorts of sensitive information from your computer.

Most people getting an email from a funeral home will open it. Once again, the lesson to be learned is if the email doesn't reference an individual you know, don't open it. If you are not sure if the email is legit, go to the funeral home's website and check it out.

Law enforcement authorities can't stop all scams, so be smart and careful to reduce the risk of being a victim.

In addition, by being aware, even if you do become a victim, you can substantially minimize the effect.

Good luck.

W-W prepares to find new superintendent

By Sue Mason
Staff Writer

The Wayne-Westland school board likely will hold a special meeting in early March to discuss the search for a new superintendent, according to board President Shawna Walker.

The idea for the meeting resulted from a board workshop last week, where Donna Oser of the Michigan Association of School Boards discussed what board members need to know to conduct a superintendent search.

"The meeting will be to discuss what was brought up at the workshop," Walker said. "There were questions about an interim superintendent and, if we decide to go forward, how we will do it and what search firm we will pick. We need to get the preliminaries out of the way. We as a board need to have a search."

"It's important that we get started," she added.

The board has the job of replacing current Superintendent Greg Baracy, who announced his retirement in December. Baracy, the longest serving superintendent in the district's history, plans to retire July 1 at the end of his current contract.

Dave Campbell (left), the president of the Michigan Association of School Administrators, presents Wayne-Westland Superintendent Greg Baracy with a plaque in recognition of his distinguished service as a MASA member and administrator in public schools. Baracy is one of several school administrators who have served in the organization for more than 20 years. He is the longest-serving superintendent in Wayne-Westland Community district's history and will be retiring June 30.

Delay selection

Trustee John Goci asked the board to consider delaying the selection of a superintendent until after school board elections in November, when seats held by Walker, Goci, Carol Middell and Charles "Trav" Griffin will be filled.

"I feel uncomfortable making a decision for board members who won't be there," Goci said. "I think we would do a huge disservice. Four of us are up for re-election. We make the decision now, but the election may change the board."

Oser, who covered the fine points of hiring a district's top administrator during the workshop, agreed that Goci brought up an important point, but noted that when something ends and the new beginning hasn't started yet, the in between becomes a "neutral zone."

"Employees don't like living in the neutral zone, it's very stressful," she said. "It's a meaningful discussion to have. There's no sense to starting a search if you're not going to finish it."

Oser recommended the board consider a national search, saying that a school district the size of Wayne-Westland is going to attract a "more sophisticated pool of candidates."

"It never hurts to cast a wide net and see what comes in," she said.

Straightforward process

She recommended an interview process that is straightforward, but where board members can "still kick the tires." The board must make its decisions in public and rank candidates for purposes of interviews. Members can't narrow the field of candidates through a consensus building process in a closed session. The decision on who will be interviewed also must be made at an open meeting.

She added that it is "a risky proposition for a sitting superintendent to pursue a position. To attract the best candidate pool, they must be assured of confidentiality until the interview." She also said board members should refrain from checking out candidates until they have accepted an interview.

"The board is responsible for hiring one person, the superintendent," she said. "You will be researched as much as you research."

"This isn't about seven people hiring seven superintendents, it's one board hiring one superintendent," she added. "You need to create a shared vision; be as transparent as possible, and attract involvement. The clearer the picture of the type of leader a board is seeking, the easier it is for a search firm to find him or her."

PLYMOUTH-CANTON CHAMBER CHAT

Business development

The Institute of Business Development "The Art of Giving Great Customer Service" seminar is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 25, at the VisTaTech Center at Schoolcraft College.

The seminar will allow officials from Zingerman's to discuss their approach to great customer service, which has been applied successfully in a wide variety of businesses, including retailers, banks, health care providers, manufacturers, schools and libraries.

Regular registration is $157; non-Canton Chamber of Commerce members pay $197. The seminar takes place in Room W201B. The VisTaTech Center is located at 18600 Haggerty in Livonia.

For more information, call the Canton Chamber of Commerce at 734-453-4040.

Joint after-hours

The Canton Chamber of Commerce partners with the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce for a joint-chamber event 5-7 p.m.

Wednesday, Feb. 26, at Stella's Black Dog Tavern (formerly Doyle's), 860 Fralick, Plymouth.

The event will provide members the opportunity to expand their network of professionals from businesses in neighboring communities. There is no charge for the event.

Scholarship fundraising

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce and the Canton Chamber of Commerce are starting their fundraising for the Student Citizen Scholarships.

The chamber's Education Committee awards scholarships to up to five students based solely on their community service during their years in high school.

Last year, the chambers were able to offer five students $1,100 each.

For information on how to donate, call the Plymouth chamber at 734-453-1540 or the Canton chamber at 734-453-4040.

Brave Ambassadors

On a snowy Feb. 5, 18 of the Chamber Ambassadors braved the elements to attend their monthly meeting.

The Ambassadors are the core volunteer group for the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce who contact new members, attend ribbon cuttings and volunteer for chamber events.

Anyone interested in joining the group that is willing to come out on a snow-covered morning can contact the chamber at 734-453-1540 to learn more about the committee. The group meets at 8 a.m. the first Wednesday of each month.

Environmental group boasts local support

By Sandra Armbruster
Staff Writer

The thin plastic tube threaded into Nancy Goedert's nose dropped down and disappeared into a black strap used for her oxygen.

"I suppose I won't be around for a long time," the Ferndale woman said. "But I suppose my grandchildren will and I hope they have a long time in a friendly environment."

It was that concern about the environment that brought Goedert out to Irene's Myomassology Institute in Southfield last week for a press conference by Beyond Coal, announcing that 120 Oakland County businesses have signed on to protest DTE Energy's use of coal.

The businesses ranged from Wixom and Wayne to Bloomfield Hills and Berkley. They largely represented the service industry, with a few small restaurants as well.

Among them was Katie Reiter, founder of Our Greentopia in Berkley. Reiter's store offers "green" or environmentally friendly products that also support the business community, she said. Reiter told the group of Beyond Coal members — the group is an offshoot of the Sierra Club — that the cost of producing coal "is only going to continue to rise. She called the use of coal "dirty energy." She also claimed that for every $1 invested in alternative energy sources, the economy grows by $21.

Kathy Gauthier-Skubik, owner of Irene's Myomassology Institute in Southfield, talks with candidate Rudy Serra who put in an appearance at the event hosted by Beyond Coal. SANDRA ARMBRUSTER

"It's time for DTE to step up and do their part," she said.

That's something DTE says it is doing. Its website claims that the cost of producing energy is dropping for the business and its customers, due in part to decreasing cost and increasing production of its wind energy farms.

"(DTE is) committed to evolving to continue our growth of less-emitting generation and zero-emitting generation. DTE also is committed to doing it in a way that minimizes the financial impact on our customers and supports Michigan's economy," DTE spokeswoman Randi Berris said.

Kathy Gauthier-Skubik, owner of Irene's Myomassology Institute founded by her mother, talked about what she said is the "ramification of burning dirty coal."

Gauthier-Skubik said it "boggles my mind why DTE doesn't want to jump on the bandwagon," adding that the impact of asthma is "very serious."

As for DTE's alternative energy initiatives, "doing the bare minimum is not enough," she added.

"We have to take care of Mother Earth or Mother Earth won't take care of you," Goedert said.

Fifth Third reopens in Plymouth

Fifth Third Bank (Eastern Michigan) recently moved its Canton financial center to a newly constructed, energy-efficient and environmentally friendly facility in Plymouth Township.

The new office is located at 42370 Ann Arbor Road.

Designed and constructed to meet high human and environmental performance standards, the new financial center is pursuing certified recognition under the Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design standards set by the U.S. Green Building Council. The facility's green attributes include:

» 22-percent energy use reduction;

» 100-percent green power offsets through wind energy;

» 100-percent energy star equipment used;

» 61-percent water use reduction for landscaping;

» 36-percent water use reduction;

» Construction materials are user-friendly with low VOC content for paints, adhesives, sealants and carpet; and Fifth Third Bank has opened a center at 42370 Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township.

» The building allows for users to have control over lighting levels and was designed for optimum thermal comfort and views to the exterior.

"In addition to the green technology, the new Plymouth location provides a more open and inviting lobby," said Amy Sobas, financial center manager. "The new design features kiosks staffed by knowledgeable bankers, so no more 'going through the teller line.' Plus our state-of-the-art ATM will feature cash and check scanning deposit technology. All of these enhancements will allow us to provide our customers with a better banking experience so come on out and see us."

Lobby and drive-up hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday.

In addition to Sobas and the staff, the following services will be available at the Plymouth location: ATM, night depository, mortgage loan origination, business banking and investment advisers.

"I am so pleased to be able to offer this brand new bank to our loyal customers in Plymouth and Canton," said Patricia Van Pelt, senior vice president and head of retail banking in Eastern Michigan. "Our goal has always been to improve Fifth Third's presence and service to our customers and we think this office helps accomplish that."

PLYMOUTH-CANTON BUSINESS BRIEFS

Sharing space

Judi Hales of Trust & Obey Paw-sitive Dog Training and Jill Andra Young Photography will be sharing space.

Hales will be having classes in a studio room which has been cleared for her and, on the days she is not teaching, Andra Young will use the room for studio sittings.

Hales starts her classes at 5:30 p.m. Feb. 24. Anyone interested in her class, or any other classes, can contact Hales at 734-718-3541.

Zumba party

The Barwis Methods training center in Canton announced that in promotion of heart health month, it is offering a free Zumba Party in Red class at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 24. Research has shown that just 40 minutes of moderate to vigorous aerobic exercise, such as Zumba, three to four times a week reduces the risk of heart disease.

Zumba fitness classes merge up-beat Latin, pop and international music with easy-to-follow dance moves to create a unique workout experience. Zumba is perfect for all fitness levels and a great way to begin a heart healthy lifestyle.

The free Zumba Party in Red class will be held at the Barwis Methods training center, located inside the Arctic Edge ice arena at 46615 Michigan Ave., in Canton.

Participants are encouraged to wear red, bring a water bottle and wear athletic/dance shoes. For more information, contact Valerie, Barwis Method's certified Zumba instructor, at Valwoodward25@gmail.com or call 734-829-0172.

Gone green

Agents of RE/MAX Classic in Canton recently earned the prestigious Green Designation through the National Association of Realtors. The course was led by Bart Patterson, vice president and general manager of RE/MAX Classic and certified instructor for the Green Course through the Greater Metropolitan Association of Realtors. RE/MAX agents who received the Green Designation include Peggy Collins, Stephanie Harris, Tiffany Larabee and Cindy Mancina.

The Green Designation is the only designation of its kind recognized by the National Association of Realtors. During the program, agents become familiar with green principles and choices in home design. In addition, agents learn the materials, systems and construction methods used in developing or rehabbing energy-efficient homes. As graduates, the agents can now fully explain the value of living green to their clients.

Petree

"Today's consumer is embracing a greener lifestyle. As a result, we see more and more clients requesting green features when they search for a home," Patterson said. "The Green Designation allows our agents to serve as knowledgeable experts on this topic. Our agents can now provide objective information to their clients to help them determine whether a home meets the criteria they desire. This is a perfect example of RE/MAX's ongoing commitment to the education of our agents."

RE/MAX Classic of Canton is located at 42078 Ford Road. For more information, call 888-759-0366.

Consulting manager

Plante Moran, PLLC, announced Scott Petree has been named as IT consulting manager in the firm's Southfield office within the IT government group.

Petree has more than 13 years of professional experience working in public accounting, technology consulting, security assurance and forensic accounting services. He assists clients in understanding and identifying enterprise risk assessments, forensic investigations, internal audit support and litigation matters. Prior to joining Plante Moran, he was a senior manager at Deloitte.

Petree earned his bachelor of arts degree in mathematics from Grand Valley State University and has a bachelor of business administration degree in accounting information systems from Eastern Michigan University. He is an active member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants and the ISACA.

He lives in Canton with his wife Sarah and their children.

OUR VIEWS

Study time

Parents should take advantage of boundary forums

Administrators of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district have begun the process of putting together a boundary study that will determine where students attend schools once the new middle school in Canton opens in September 2015.

Boundary studies have long been political hot potatoes in this district, but parents have a chance to avoid all the angst and rancor that have accompanied similar studies in the past by attending one of two remaining public forums on the subject.

Last week, administrators began the process with the first forum at Discovery Middle School. Succeeding forums take place March 20 and April 10 (both at 7 p.m., both at Discovery Middle School, 45083 Hanford, in Canton). They provide a chance to have questions asked and answered, to receive information directly rather than filtered through other people's eyes or through the media. Parents should take advantage of the opportunity.

The study became a necessity as soon as the district decided to close Central Middle School and build a new middle school at Cherry Hill and Canton Center in Canton. While the vast majority of students now attending Central come from Canton, the addition of the new school will still create something of a seismic shift in attendance boundaries.

And the new middle school isn't the only boundary that needs to be decided. There are schools that are woefully below capacity, as well as schools that have exceeded their designed student limits.

Field Elementary School in Canton, for instance, is only at some 58 percent of capacity, while Gallimore is only at 78 percent. At the other end of the spectrum is Hoben Elementary in Canton, at 101 percent, and Bird Elementary in Plymouth Township, at just over 100 percent.

The Hoben numbers are a bit skewed, officials said, by the fact the school houses half-day kindergarten and the Young 5s program, both of which are only half-day programs. Officials said the district also has "some programming needs," including expanding the preschool program and incorporating some special-education programs into buildings with a general-education population, that could affect the future boundaries for certain schools.

Redistricting is going to happen at the middle school level; with the closure of Central and the opening of a new school in Canton, it has to.

But as numbers dictate, there will likely be some redistricting at the elementary level, too. The extent of any elementary redistricting will be determined, according to administrators, by information gleaned by the committee.

These discussions have typically brought about a politically charged atmosphere, with large crowds of passionate parents advocating for their particular schools. That's a good thing. But it has, on occasion, gotten a little ugly and that's not a good thing.

The Board of Education has, in the past, backed down in the face of overwhelming pressure from parents who rightfully don't want to see their school boundary disrupted. This time, declining enrollment, demographic shifts and the creation of a new school leave the board with little choice.

Boundaries are going to be changed. Parents can help the process go more smoothly by getting as much first-hand information as possible.

The boundary study forums are a perfect way to do that.

Gov. Rick Snyder is touting Michigan as the comeback state. Do you agree? Why or why not?

We asked this question at the Plymouth Coffee Bean Co.

"I agree with him. I've seen a huge improvement. ... I don't agree with his priorities as far as education and business. ... There's a feeling of hope again. ... If it's true that he's robbed education, cut education to the bone to give tax breaks to businesses, I don't agree with him."

CVS Caremark Corp. last week announced that its 7,600 stores would stop selling all tobacco products by October, making the company the first U.S. drugstore chain to remove cigarettes from its shelves. It's being called a precedent-setting step that could pressure other stores to follow suit. What do you think about CVS' decision? Tell us in 400 words or fewer. ## LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Something's fishy

I am usually not very political, but the issue over saving Central Middle School has caught my attention.

The board members for Plymouth Township has decided they're going to be dictators and want nothing to do with Plymouth city. I abhor this act, as it reminds me of the Detroit versus the suburbs nonsense.

In the schools, the students are not separated by city versus the township. In recreational groups, they are not separated. So why do they want separate recreational areas? And where is the money going to come from?

Central Middle School is the focal point for the community and the plan is to save it and use it for all types of groups. That also finally means seniors, whose center now is a disgrace. It will house the remarkable Michigan Philharmonic, several sports teams that serve the entire community and various arts groups, as well.

I want this measure to be on the ballot and not decided by some secret groups who then come to the board and present it as some done deal. Why is the Plymouth Township board not representing its citizens? Something is indeed fishy here and needs to be investigated.

One community

I would like to comment on Brinton Baker's column Thursday, Feb. 6, in the Observer. While it was well thought out, it is important to remember the PARC Committee and Don Soenen have been very upfront with their plans and are only in the beginning stages of this project.

If too much about the PARC is undefined, it's because it is still in its infancy and the hope is that the township trustees will sit down and really look at all aspects of the project. All involved need to check their egos at the door. Sadly, that has failed to happen. Much is undecided; Mr. Baker is correct. We as residents have a lot at stake here.

Another point worth mentioning is I have attended most meetings regarding the PARC and have never been encouraged to "bully township trustees." I have been encouraged to express my concern and my feelings about their decision not to engage in any conversation regarding the PARC project, which I feel is unprofessional, inappropriate and not how I wish to be represented.

I agree the township has proven itself to be well-managed fiscally; however, it is not the only reason families are drawn to the township. It is the area and what it has to offer that draws families and keeps them here. People also move here because of the city amenities, not just the township amenities. Would the township be as attractive without the city and vice versa?

The PARC Committee has been very clear and is all about transparency. Anyone who has been to a PARC presentation hears that message clearly.

They recognize and admit there is much work that still needs to be done and they are willing to do it. There are a lot of things, groups and people to consider and if this project works, we of course, as a community want it to be fabulous and viable. I feel it has the potential to be just that and then some if all participate and that means city and township. Not talking and shutting down and revealing your own plan does not speak community.

We are one community and we value all that makes it home. I would hate to think that we could lose Central and have new homes put in or a strip mall, because those are the other options. To lose Central because of "bad feelings" would be a very sad commentary on local politics.

Who's lying?

I'm writing regarding the letter by Mitch Smith titled, "CBO boosts ACA." Mr. Smith starts his letter by saying about the GOP and conservatives, "If the data doesn't fit the narrative, misrepresent, mislead or even lie about."

I'm wondering if that was a typo and he meant to insert "Obama" instead of the GOP. I'm sure he didn't miss Obama saying, "If you like your health insurance plan, you can keep it" and "If you like your doctors, you can keep them." Obama said those things after his own advisers told him people would not be able to keep their plans or their doctors. Is that not a lie?

How about Obama and his minions telling the American people for over two weeks after the Benghazi attacks (and right before an election) that the attack was a spontaneous demonstration by people protesting a video, when Obama knew the day of the attack that it was a well-planned attack by a faction of al-Qaeda. Was that not a lie? Need I go on?

Mr. Smith goes on to say, "Subsequent analysis indicates that the CBO report did not say that jobs would be lost at all. Actually according to the CBO report, the ACA will result in workers choosing not to work ..." So people will choose not to work to qualify for subsidies for Obamacare? Is that what this great country is all about? The CBO also states, "Although CBO projects that total employment will increase over the coming decade, the increase will be smaller than it would have been in the absence of the ACA."

Obama's most recent statement was, "That's the good thing about being president, I can do whatever I want." No, Mr. President, you can't do whatever you want. There is something called the Constitution. I'm not opposed to Obama the man, I'm opposed to Obama's policies, as they are a failure to the American people and to this country.

Rocks climb in tourney

Salem to host Glenn in conference final

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

The more physical the action got Monday night, the better Salem senior center Michael Hoover liked it.

In fact, it was reminiscent of another sport Hoover played at Salem and will continue to play in college — football.

Hoover bumped and got bumped under the boards and parlayed his increased physicality into eight points, 13 rebounds and three steals to key the Rocks' 52-38 win over visiting South Lyon in the third round of the KLAA varsity boys basketball tournament.

"That's what I thought about when I was playing it," said Hoover, about the hard-nosed game between the Rocks and Lions. "I just tried to use my strength. It's fun when it's like that."

"We knew it was going to be hard but we were more focused this game."

He was referring to a loss to the Lions in the final game of the regular season prior to the KLAA tourney tipping off. The KLAA Central Division rivals split two games earlier in the schedule.

Also strong in the paint for Salem (15-2) were junior forwards Allante Wheeler (10 points, seven rebounds, five assists, three steals) and Tyler Brooks (seven rebounds).

Senior forward Alec Winfrey registered 11 points while senior guards Brady Cole (nine points, three steals) and Connor Cole (eight assists) all were instrumental to the Arctic Edge 'skating family' cheers, celebrates Meryl Davis, Charlie White

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

For months — maybe even years — young figure skaters such as Natalie Fabien and Cathryn McGowan have gotten up close and personal to Meryl Davis and Charlie White as they trained at Arctic Edge.

On Monday, the girls were among those huddling up to the Canton arena's wall-mounted flat screen to see them again. They wouldn't dare miss a rousing viewing party, watching Davis and White do their medal-winning thing from the Sochi 2014 Winter Olympics in Russia.

There were rock star screams followed by reverential silence as they watched every move the Davis-White team made en route to winning the United States' first-ever gold medal in ice dancing.

"That ... was ...," said 8-year-old Natalie of Plymouth, barely catching her breath after the Americans completed their flawless, stunning routine. "It was amazing."

Livonia resident McGowan, 13, was just as awe-struck by what actually just happened.

"Meryl Davis and Charlie White, it's amazing that they got gold," said McGowan, part of Arctic Edge's figure skating program. "They've been working so hard for this. It's amazing, I've been watching them for the past four years, ever since Vancouver, and it's so amazing to see their progress from there."

"Each year, they just get better and better, each performance."

She had been getting some practice in nearby, while waiting for the U.S. duo to take the Sochi ice. Everything stopped at Arctic Edge when Davis and White did come out to screams from the youthful audience.

And she was still soaking it all in that the most-accomplished skaters of all — who routinely take the time to say hello and offer any advice they can to the young skaters at Arctic Edge — had just reached the Everest of their sport.

"A lot of people their idols are pop stars and stuff like that," McGowan continued. "I'm a skater, I look up to skaters. And like they're one of them."

"It's just amazing to see that. I am ecstatic for them, I'm even telling my nonskating friends 'Watch them, watch them, they're amazing.'"

Salem grad de Bear wrapping up stellar college career at Albion

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

Brett de Bear is a scholar and an athlete. She's been off the charts in both during her four-year career at Albion College.

Yet the Salem High School alum remains humble and almost embarrassed about the attention she is receiving for her soon-to-end career as a women's basketball player for the Lady Britons.

She is deserving of the spotlight.

Saturday at home against St. Mary's College, de Bear will play the final game of her Albion career. Going into her second-to-last contest (Wednesday night at Hope College), the 5-10 guard/forward had 1,203 career points and needed to score 12 more to jump into third place ahead of Cathy Bachinski.

"I just didn't really expect it to happen, I didn't think coming to Albion that this (notoriety) would happen to me," said de Bear, during a telephone interview last week. "And it's all just kind of crazy, because I see all the updates on the Albion athletics Twitter page."

"I mean, they make a big deal about it here, my coach does, the athletic department, everybody does. I didn't expect it to happen and it's all happening right now. So it's a lot."

Wait, there's more.

» A total of 17 points in the final two games would give her third place in scoring for a single season; she already has the fourth best mark with 406 tallied in 2012-13. Her scoring average this year is 17.6.

» Earlier this month, the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (D-III) named her player of the week for the fourth time in her career.

» And on Dec. 28, de Bear became the eighth women's basketball player in Albion history to crack the 1,000-point plateau.

The 21-year-old daughter of Bob and Jane de Bear couldn't help but laugh about that. Becoming a collegiate star never was her motivation when finding a place to follow high school, keep playing basketball and pursue a degree in teaching.

"It's cool that it's happening and stuff, but it's not the most important thing to me," she said. "What is? Just being able to play, I guess. I love the game. I love my team. I don't know how, it just wouldn't be worth it without those people."

Her Salem roots

Basketball-wise, the past four years have gone by in the blink of an eye for de Bear. She remembers just looking

Plymouth faces Shamrocks in D1 quarters; Park teams sending 11 to Palace

Plymouth knows Friday's Division 1 quarterfinal against Novi-Detroit Catholic Central will be a tough one.

But the Wildcats' varsity wrestling team will go to Battle Creek for the first time in school history with plenty of confidence — not to mention the fact several also qualified to go to the Palace of Auburn Hills Feb. 27-March 1 for the state individual finals.

"They (Shamrocks) are a very talented team top to bottom and don't really have any holes in their lineup," Plymouth head coach Quinn Guernsey said. "We have a similar type of lineup, but on paper their guys are a little better."

Plymouth again outright division champs; Salem fourth at KLAA Central meet

By Tim Smith Staff Writer

The encore season for Kenn Forbes and the Plymouth Wildcats has been wet and wonderful.

Plymouth — just like last year, Forbes' debut with the team — won the KLAA South Division tournament and outright championship (No. 1 in dual meets and division meet).

The Wildcats, featuring plenty of depth and splendid performances throughout the lineup, registered 611 points Saturday at Westland John Glenn for the division meet triumph. In second was Canton, with 406.

"I guess you can say it's been a fun and productive two years," said Forbes, who formerly coached at Redford Union. "We have a lot of depth and talent coupled with youth. Most importantly is we try to stay very focused and humble.

"Nothing is guaranteed and it's not something that we assume will happen. We are very fortunate for our success, but there's a lot more to improve on. Faster bigger teams to go up against."

The team now would like to ride that wave of momentum into their next challenge, this weekend's Kensington Conference meet at South Lyon East.

"The boys and myself are extremely thrilled about what we just accomplished, and they should be," Forbes said. "I know at the same time a few of them, along with my assistant coach Ronson (Webster) and myself, are looking to get those state cuts, especially after being so close at divisions."

division meet, at the top of the list were sophomore Garrett Beauprez and junior Ben Yang.

Beauprez finished first in the 200 IM (2:06.05) and 500 freestyle (5:06.10 for a personal best).

Yang also took the top spot in two events, including the 100 butterfly (57.54) and 100 backstroke (57.37).

One of the other standouts was sophomore Bronson Knowles, who dropped eight seconds in the 200 IM to place second (second to Beauprez) with a 2:10.95 time.

Knowles also shaved five seconds off his previous best in the 100 breaststroke to finish first (1:06.56) and edge out Canton senior Alex Bourdeau (1:07.77).

Several other Plymouth firsts helped make it a foregone conclusion that Forbes and the squad would enjoy a victory lap in the John Glenn pool.

In the 200 medley and 400 freestyle relays, the Wildcats finished 1-2 (1:44.47, 1:49.83; 3:26.06, 3:36.65). Plymouth also took the top spot in the 200 free relay (1:34.11).

Taking part in all three winning relays was junior Ryan Heinze. Double winners were Beauprez, Yang, Brandon Burger and Alex Johnson. Freshman Michael Wischer (200 free relay) also contributed.

"As for everyone else, the rest of the team all dropped time in their respective events," Forbes noted. "Last I counted I was up to 41 individual personal records and hadn't looked at relay splits yet."

Gerard Niermann took second in two events for Canton (200 free, 100 breast).

Salem fourth

At the KLAA Central Division boys swimming and diving meet at Novi High School, Salem finished fourth with 306 points.

Winning the meet was Northville (655.5 points), followed by Livonia Stevenson (608) and Novi (349.5).

"I'm pretty happy with the meet today, (we) moved up to fourth," Salem head coach Chuck Olson said. "Matt Pairritz, Phil Collingwood, Patrick Casey all had a good day."

The best event for the Rocks was the 100-yard backstroke, with Casey's time of 56.39 good for second place and Brendan Wellman placing fourth (58.58).

Pairritz took third in the 100 free, with a time of 49.82 and came in fourth in the 50 free (22.67), with teammate Charles Liu ninth (23.90).

In the 500 free, Collingwood's finish of 5:04.01 was fifth, but just a little behind Northville's Nick DuFresne (fourth, 5:03.60).

Wellman and Colin Urbaczewski finished sixth and seventh, respectively, in the 100 butterfly (59.28, 59.49) while Collingwood's mark of 2:10.51 in the 200 IM was good for sixth. Urbaczewski was eighth in the 200 IM (2:13.58).

Another top-10 finisher for the Rocks was Brian Kuang (eighth, 100 back, 1:00.45).

The Rocks, like Plymouth and Canton, will take part in the conference meet Friday and Saturday at South Lyon East.

WRESTLING

matches and we hope to win enough of them to have a chance at winning."

The Plymouth-CC quarterfinal is slated for 3:15 p.m. at the Kellogg Center. Guernsey's squad earned that trip with a 32-29 win over Bedford at the Feb. 12 team regional final at Westland John Glenn.

"We have had some experience in big tight matches," Guernsey said. "Hartland, Tecumseh, Swan Valley and Bedford were all the type of duals that we hope Friday will be — competitive, intense, and exciting.

"We are not planning on settling with just showing up, we plan to go after whoever we wrestle. This team has had a little bit of a chip on their shoulder all season and even with the success they've had they still are hungry for more."

Palace bound

As of individual performances, the Wildcats did just fine Saturday at the D1 regional at Brownstown Woodhaven with six qualifiers headed to the Palace. The top four in each weight class qualified.

Regional champions for Plymouth were Brandon Harris (112) and Mohamed Youssef (119). Harris earned an 8-2 decision over Southgate's Dante Rivera while Youssef tallied a 15-3 major decision over Livonia Franklin's Nick Robertson.

Also qualifying for the Wildcats were Joey Shaver (second, 160), Jon Conn (third, 140), Hussein Youssef (second, 171) and Sofus Nielson (fourth, 145).

Plymouth's Mo Youssef (top) won the individual regional title at 119. DOUGLAS BARGERSTOCK

"A lot of guys are wrestling really well right now," Guernsey said. "Brandon Harris is on a roll and has looked stronger than he's been all season. Mohamad continues to be a force to reckon with and was in control of all of his matches all day.

"Jon and Sofus both wrestled really well in their consolation semifinal and will hopefully have a good tournament at the Palace. Joey and Hussein both had solid wins in the semifinals but fell just short in the finals against some top notch talent."

Guernsey said all six can take a shot at being up on the podium at the finals. "Having the full team working with them as we get ready for Battle Creek is certainly going to help those individuals be successful next week."

The only other Plymouth-Canton Educational Park champion was Canton senior Alec Pantaleo, who pinned Southgate's Jacob Balogh in 5:00 at 145.

Canton's Ben Griffin (second, 130), K.J. Wooley (fourth, 215) and Ty Jasman (fourth, 140) also are set to compete at the Palace. From Salem, Mitchell Gross qualified with his third-place finish at 189.

"Our guys wrestled at a high intensity all day," Chiefs' head coach Cory Mancuso said. "We are going to take the next 10 days to get better and fix some things so we can get all four on the podium."

Salem head coach Pete Israel said it was gratifying to see under-the-weather (cold) Gross qualify after coming so close (one match short) in 2013.

"The matches have been close and with Mitchell not feeling well I knew he would have found the motivation and wrestle a full match," Israel said. "Mitchell did just that. He now has some time to recover and train for the state meet.

"I expect if Mitchell shows up and wrestles the way he can, I have no doubt he will place. As long as he is aggressive with his shots he should do well."

Olympians inspire young skaters to go for it

Arctic Edge heroes give South Lyon siblings reason to believe they can do it too

By Tim Smith
Staff Writer

Who knows, maybe young Aaron Caicco can follow the gold medal-winning path of Charlie White someday.

"He (Aaron) is a hockey player, too, like Charlie was," said Arctic Edge figure skating coach Maria Lako-Pinkowski, before working with Aaron, 12, and his 10-year-old sister Grace Caicco, both of South Lyon.

"Charlie was a really good hockey player."

Of course, now look at him. White and his U.S. ice dancing partner (Meryl Davis) Monday won the gold medal at the Winter Olympics in Sochi, Russia.

White and Davis train at Arctic Edge in Canton, where Lako-Pinkowski was helping the Caicco siblings sharpen up their singles.

Out in the arena lobby, Arctic Edge skaters, family members and friends at an Olympics viewing party enthusiastically waited for the show to begin.

It wouldn't be long before White-Davis and Canada's Tessa Virtue and Scott Mohr (also from Arctic Edge) performed their dance routines with gold medals on the line.

"It (figure skating) helps me with my speed and for hockey, I'm a lot stabler," said Aaron Caicco, a hockey player for the Howell Warriors youth team. "I'm really stable on the ice. Figure skating helps with that."

Grace said she doesn't "care about that hockey stuff."

Tangible proof

Both are truly amazed by how they skate, of course.

"They give me a lot of inspiration to get better and get there one day," noted Grace, who might think about eventually going into pairs if not dance.

Aaron said the success of the now-famous skaters from Arctic Edge "just gives me a lot of hope that I can get better, I can get as good as those Olympians" and maybe perform from afar on the flat screen at a future viewing party.

"As long as I can skate, yeah, until I get up there," he added.

But Lako-Pinkowski said her skating students, such as the Caiccicos, are fully aware that wanting something is just the tip of the iceberg.

"There's a lot of hard work, a lot of hours, on the ice, off the ice," Lako-Pinkowski stressed. "A lot of sacrifices from parents, siblings and the kids themselves, because they're here all day training and not necessarily going to prom and after-school activities. That's what they've chosen to do."

The Caiccicos, though, have chosen to work on their skating skills at the very place Charlie White and Meryl Davis finetuned their ultimate talents.

"We just recently came to this rink, and I think it's really cool," Grace said. "It seems really cool to see them here and think about seeing them at the Olympics and how we can be around them at the same rink."

Many others perhaps are flocking to Arctic Edge for that same reason. Consider there are about 250 people in this season's Learn to Skate program at Arctic Edge.

SKATERS

What makes them so special?

"They're just like one on the ice. With some of the pair teams you can tell they are two individuals.

"But it's like they skate as they're one."

Friends and fans

Natalie had a front-row seat at the viewing party, complete with red-white-and-blue pinwheel-like ribbons in her hair and paint on her face.

She was there with her mom, Trisha Kvasnak. Before the Davis-White team skated, not to mention the Canadian duo of Tessa Virtue and Scott Moir (2010 gold medalists in ice dancing who also train at Arctic Edge), daughter-and-mom watched other skaters while anticipating The Main Event.

"She's excited, we're both excited," Kvasnak said.

"USA, yep, but we're rooting for all the teams though that skate out of here."

In addition to Davis and White (both from Michigan) and Virtue-Moir, the Ann Arbor brother-sister team of Alex and Maia Shibutani also train out of Arctic Edge.

The Canadian team won the silver medal Monday, flip-flopping places on the podium with Davis and White.

"I'm here, one because I skate here and two, because I really want to watch," Natalie said.

Asked about why she loves ice skating, she said "it's fun, it gives me a sense of like, almost like I'm flying."

Maybe someday

She had plenty of company at Arctic Edge.

"Everybody is just kind of like one big family and it's a lot of fun," said Canton's Dawn Blashak, whose 13-year-old daughter, Samantha, has skated for a decade at Arctic Edge. "We see the Olympians every day that we're here. And you just feel closer to them when you're here, you just feel this energy."

"So we wanted to come here and watch them with all the skaters."

Samantha smiled about getting inspiration to maybe someday go as far, do as much as the skaters they call Charlie and Meryl have.

"It's kind of like important for me to watch them because it means a lot that they're (from) here," Samantha said.

Maria Lako-Pinkowski, a figure skating coach who works with all age groups at Arctic Edge, emphasized just how much of a connection the Olympians (from both North American countries) have forged with the Natalies, Cathryns and Samanthas.

"They stand at those windows over there and they watch them skate (in training sessions)," Lako-Pinkowski said.

"You can just see it in their eyes that they wish to be like that someday."

GIRLS GYMNASTICS

Canton won the Kensington Conference gymnastics title.

Chiefs win another conference crown

Canton's varsity girls gymnastics team completed a clean sweep of the KLAA Kensington Conference with Saturday's first-place finish at the conference meet.

The Chiefs' (10-0) totaled 145.2 points to win the title.

In Division 1 competition, Jocelyn Moraw and Melissa Green tied for third place in all-around (36.8) with Moraw finishing second on vault (9.4) and floor exercise (9.45).

Also in D1, Maddie Toal contributed three nines while Stephanie Cox medaled in all four events.

Hailey Hodgson was D2 champion on vault (9.225) and floor (9.3).

Helping the cause by bringing home a medal were Ellie Bachman and Jessica Siegler (D2).

Toal dominated the Kensington season average medals. She won on bars (8.803), beam (9.37), floor (9.361) and all-around (36.353).

for a college to call home while still at Salem, a standout guard for legendary coach Fred Thomann (who passed away in late December).

Although de Bear was unable to attend the mid-January tribute to Thomann, she often thinks about what he meant to her as a player, student and person.

"That was sad, I wanted to be there," she said. "It (Salem career) definitely has a lot to do with my success. Fred was a great coach, he definitely knew the game well and always looked out for his players."

"He honestly deserves a lot of the credit. He was my coach for four years, so he had a lot to do with it."

A scholar-athlete with a 3.67 grade-point average (she was named to the MIAA academic honor roll for 3.5-or-better GPA her first three years and is a good bet to make it four), de Bear would be the perfect candidate for a recently launched memorial scholarship program at Salem honoring her old basketball coach.

The Fred Thomann Scholarship Fund will be awarded each year to a senior student at the Park (regardless of sport) who wants to study to become a teacher — a profession near and dear to Thomann and his family.

"I actually go into student teaching next fall," de Bear said. "So I'll be back here for another semester and then after that I guess I'm going to apply for teaching jobs."

She laughed when asked whether she'd also like to become a basketball coach. She still enjoys playing the game, making the shots, helping her team.

She's about team

And for all of her personal milestones, de Bear pointed to a team moment as the best she's had at Albion.

"My sophomore year, it was 'Beat Hope at Hope' and it was like the coolest thing," de Bear said. "I think that's the only time I beat Hope in my four years."

"It was just like the greatest feeling, my team was so excited afterwards."

Yet, perhaps typical for Brett de Bear, she could not remember how many points she scored in that victory.

One gets the feeling she wouldn't know just how much she has accomplished with the Lady Britons without the wave of media attention these days.

With her career winding down and with the chance to move up one more rung in the Albion College record book, de Bear confirmed that she's still taking a "business as usual" approach and not getting caught up in any hoopla.

"I have three games left in my career," she noted. "I'm really just trying to enjoy these last games."

Power play lifts Whalers in OT

By Tim Smith Staff Writer

Late goals by Gianluca Curcuruto and Victor Crus Rydberg on Saturday night enabled the Plymouth Whalers to knock off their closest competitor in the race for a playoff spot. Plymouth defeated the Kitchener Rangers 2-1 at Compuware Arena on Crus Rydberg's power-play tally at 3:07 of overtime. He had the chance to be the hero because Curcuruto's point shot with 8:36 left in the third period evened up the Ontario Hockey League contest. "Yeah it was," said Crus Rydberg, asked if the goal was his biggest ever as a Whaler. "It was a real important game today so it was nice to see the puck go in there." With Plymouth on a 4-on-3 power play in the extra frame, the Whalers rookie walked in from the left half-wall into the middle of the ice between the circles and cranked a screamer over over the right pad of Kitchener goalie Jordan DeKort. Setting up his eighth goal of the season were forward Zach Lorentz and defenseman Mathieu Henderson. "I tried to look for a seam to Lorentz or just take a shot," Crus Rydberg said. "I just took the shot. I just tried to hit the net." That goal gave the crowd of 2,929 plenty to be happy about as they left the building. Plymouth improved to 21-28-0-6 (48 points) and strengthened its grip on eighth place in the OHL Western Conference; ninth-place Kitchener now has 43 points (20-32-2-1). "It's not three points between us, it's five now," Crus Rydberg added. "So yeah, that was a good goal." For much of the night, the Rangers were looking as though they might win in regulation and close the gap to two points (46-44 points). After a scoreless period, Kitchener defenseman Dmitrii Sergeev's high point shot sailed past a screened Plymouth goalie Alex Nedeljkovic (26 saves). The Whalers applied plenty of offensive pressure on DeKort, who made a number of excellent saves (40 for the night) to help the Rangers take a 1-0 lead into the third. Plymouth finally found the range with 8:36 left in regulation. Forward Danny Vanderwiel threaded a pass from the right wing out to Curcuruto, striding in from the point. Curcuruto then snapped a low shot through traffic in front of the Kitchener goalie. The puck then snuck through DeKort's pads for the equalizer. Drawing the second assist was center Vincent Scognamiglio. Plymouth will play three road games this week (Monday at Guelph, Wednesday at Sault Ste. Marie and Friday at Sarnia) before returning home for Saturday's 7 p.m. game against London. GUELPH 3, PLYMOUTH 3: The host Storm scored three goals in each period Monday afternoon to rout the Plymouth Whalers. Goal scorers for Plymouth (21-29-0-6) were Ryan Hartman, Carter Sandlak and Yannick Rathgeb. SAGINAW 3, PLYMOUTH 2 (SO): On Friday night at Saginaw, the Spirit finally scored in the ninth round of the shootout (the longest in Whalers history) to edge Plymouth. Zach Lorentz (from Carter Sandlak and Yannick Rathgeb) and Matt Mistele (from Ryan Hartman) scored for the Whalers while Jimmy Lodge and Dylan Sadoway countered for Saginaw. Making 30 saves for Plymouth was Alex Nedeljkovic. Saginaw goalie and Detroit Red Wings prospect Jake Paterson turned aside 27 of 29 Whalers shots.

Senior Night was a winner for Plymouth's varsity boys hockey team, which defeated Grosse Pointe North, 7-1, on Friday night at Arctic Edge Arena in Canton. Junior forward Josh Smith opened the night's scoring and finished with two goals for the evening as the Wildcats (11-9-3) built a 7-0 advantage before North scored in the third to ruin junior goalie Erik VandenBosch's shutout bid. "I was very happy with our effort," Plymouth head coach Gerry Vento said. "We moved our feet well and put a lot of pressure on them early and got out to a lead. "And that's what I think made the difference and made for a great Senior Night." Also scoring twice for Plymouth was senior forward Charlie Supernois, with single tallies by senior forwards Mike Schultz, Mike Scarpello and John VanDenBeurgery. Other seniors honored Friday were defensemen Zak Fadden, Colin Staub, Kyle Bauer and forwards Anthony Sloan, Kyle Melnick, Mitchell Lengell, Zach Tavierne and Corey Smith. The victory gave Plymouth three decisive wins in three nights. On Wednesday, Feb. 12, the Wildcats were paced by two goals each from Schultz and Scarpello in a 10-3 rout over Walled Lake Western. Registering the first goal of his varsity career was junior defenseman Ben Chafin. The following night, Josh Smith's hat trick and three assists by sophomore forward Alex Bump keyed Plymouth's 5-1 win over Walled Lake Central. SALEM RECAP: Salem's varsity boys hockey team played three games in three nights, managing to win the middle matchup. The Rocks were defeated 5-1 on Tuesday, Feb. 11, against Macomb Dakota, but bounced back the following night with a 7-0 rout of Grand Blanc. Evan Newel scored two goals and four other players found the mark for the Rocks, supporting the shutout goalkeeping of Dillon Phillips. But the Rocks ran out of gas late in Thursday's 4-1 loss to Hartland. "We competed hard for the first two periods and out-shot Hartland during that time," Salem head coach Ryan Ossemacher said. "We ran out of steam in the third period. It was our fourth game in five nights." Salem now is 9-12-1 overall and will host Livonia Churchill at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Plymouth Cultural Center. PCC also will be the site of the pre-regionals the following week. On Monday, Feb. 24, Salem and Canton will square off at 7:30 p.m. with the winner meeting Plymouth two nights later in a pre-regional semifinal.

Late start costly as Salem loses

With energy levels and offense lacking in the first half Tuesday night against Howell, Salem interim girls basketball coach Lindsay Klemmer reminded her team of that at halftime. The Highlanders had taken a 19-14 halftime advantage, to Klemmer's chagrin. One intermission chat later, the Rocks did come out with more fire in the third and even caught Howell in the fourth quarter of the KLAA consolation bracket game. But a buzzer beater by How-ell's Tess Weatherly from 15 feet gave the Highlanders a 34-32 win. "If we had played the entire 32 minutes like we played the last 12," Klemmer noted, "it would have been our game. Another tough lesson learned the hard way." Juard guard Jamyra Wilson and junior forward Shara Long led Salem (12-7) in scoring, with 11 and 10 points, respectively. Junior post player Maranda Armstead chipped in with eight rebounds. Weatherly paced Howell with eight points, while Rachael Nelson grabbed eight boards. NOVI 40, PLYMOUTH 35 (OT): In a season of highlights and triumph, the Plymouth Wildcats nearly topped it all Friday night. Plymouth trailed 28-25 at Novi with time running out on their chances to advance in the Kensington Lakes Activities Association girls basketball tournament. But then junior point guard Courtney LaVallee put up a deep trey that dropped through the cylinder with just eight seconds left in regulation. That forced overtime to decide which team would face Canton in the KLAA conference title matchup. However, Novi point guard Kerri McMahan continued her torrid scoring of the second half into the extra frame and the visiting Wildcats were defeated 40-35 to fall to 14-4 overall. Novi improved to 15-3. McMahan led all scorers with 23 points, including 17 in the second half and overtime.

victory. The win advances Salem to the Kensington Conference title game 7 p.m. Saturday against Westland John Glenn (at Salem). Battle tested "It was physical, it was a battle," Salem head coach Bob Brodie said. "Both teams were a little bit tight in that first half, we didn't score many points. "The first time (against South Lyon) it was 20 points our way and the second time was 20 points their way, so you knew it was going to be a battle and it was until later in the game." For the Lions (10-7), Tommy Averill posted 13 rebounds along with seven points and three assists. Will Sanders tallied eight points while Carter Drazga and Antoni Skupin each scored seven. Salem led 13-11 after one quarter and both teams struggled to hit their shots in the second. South Lyon outscored the Rocks 12-11 in that frame to trail just 24-23 at halftime. During the break, Brodie talked to his team about putting the clamps on South Lyon's rollicking transition game. "We gave a lot of easy baskets up in the first half," Brodie said. "Just putting a little too much pressure on them, trying to gamble and steal the basketball. "They had give-and-go cuts and they hung with us... In the second half we did a better job of shutting that down. And we mixed our defenses up and I think it put them on their heels a little bit." Still, both teams went back and forth for a while in the third with a putback by Skupin making it 30-29 with 2:30 to play in the stanza. Hoover went off during the final 90 seconds of the quarter and that directly led to the Rocks going on a 5-0 run to take a 35-29 edge into the fourth. He snared a defensive rebound in traffic, helping keep the Lions from scoring what would have been a go-ahead bucket. Then he kept an offensive sequence going with a rebound that led to a running bank shot by Wheeler with 1:15 left. In the final seconds of the third, Hoover intercepted the ball down low in the South Lyon zone and fired a pass out to Brady Cole who was standing a good five feet behind the three-point arc. Cole launched a perfect buzzer beater to pump up the team and home crowd. Exclamation point Wheeler opened the fourth with two layups, sandwiched around a missed trey by the Lions. South Lyon's off-the-mark shooting (14-44, 32 percent) kept the Lions from mounting any kind of sustainable offense down the stretch. With about five minutes to go, Wheeler skied to block a layup try by Luke Wolfe to again send a jolt through the home bleachers. "They (Hoover and Wheeler) came up big," Brodie said. "They did a nice job inside, rebounding and blocking out and everybody hustled and did what they were supposed to do. I was happy with the contributions by everybody again." Brodie said playing well during the KLAA tournament could have a positive carryover effect on the Class A tournament (which begins in early March). "Hopefully it does, you get your momentum going and you're playing in a tournament," he added. "Just like at the collegiate level, that's what they do. They set those tournaments up so they're prepared for the big tournament and hopefully that does that for us, too." PLYMOUTH 49, HARTLAND 41: Josh Reynolds and Randall Aikins scored 22 and 15 points, respectively, to lead the Wildcats to this KLAA consolation bracket win on Monday night. Plymouth (8-9) next faces Livonia Stevenson on Thursday. BRIGHTON 39, CANTON 38: In a see-saw KLAA consolation bracket contest Monday, the Chiefs were edged down the stretch despite 18 points and 16 rebounds by Jaxon Taylor. Greg Williams scored nine for Canton (11-6) while Jordan Nobles chipped in with eight. Canton trailed 24-18 at halftime but roared in front with a 12-4 third to take a 30-28 edge into the fourth. But the Bulldogs outscored the Chiefs 11-8 in the final stanza to pull out the win. tsmith@hometownlife.com

FILM STAR, RANCHER

Actress Pam Grier to greet fans at Redford Theatre

By Sharon Dargay
Staff Writer

Pam Grier has carried hay bales and cleared brush. She can jerry-rig a generator in a pinch and she drives a truck — some times with a horse trailer attached. She has been involved in a therapeutic riding program with her horses and works with ASPCA and Pilots with Paws to aid homeless dogs and cats. “My grandfather wanted all of us to be curious and do what boys could do. He said boys will respect you if you do something. He set that tone for me,” said Grier, during a recent interview with the Observer. “He instilled a love of animals. Animals are more intuitive and sensitive than people give them credit for. I’ve always had that love of animals. When I’m with animals my blood pressure goes down. I focus better.”

Confidence, self-sufficiency, strength, critical thinking and a take-no-guff, can-do attitude have served Grier well as a single woman living on her own ranch in Colorado — and as an actress playing tough, street-smart women in action films.

The Redford Theatre will screen three of her works this weekend, beginning with Coffy at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 21, followed by Foxy Brown at 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 22, and Jackie Brown at 8 p.m., also on Saturday. Tickets are $6 for each screening. Grier will be on hand an hour before show times to sign autographs and to meet fans. The theater is located at 17360 Lahser, just north of Grand River Avenue in Detroit.

Dinner with Grier
She’ll also make a special presentation at a VIP event, 4:30-6:30 p.m. Saturday, at the Old Redford Banquet Center, located on Lahser across from the theater. Tickets for the event are $50 and include dinner, a photo autographed by Grier, priority seating at the Jackie Brown screening and Grier’s presentation.

It won’t be Grier’s first visit to Michigan. She attended the Global Automotive Summit, presented by Rainbow PUSH Coalition in Detroit last year and met with women executives in the automotive field. She suggested that some cars and most trucks include a generator as a vehicle option, to power tools and other equipment while on the road.

“When I was there this past summer, to see the energy of the people there and the rebuilding of Detroit, I was amazed. I wish it well,” she said.

“Every state in this country ... we need to support one another whether it’s with food, water or in an emergency. That’s the fabric of who we are.”

Grier received an honorary doctorate degree in 2011 from Langston University in Oklahoma because of her interest in agriculture and her work in community gardening at Fort Worth’s National Multicultural Heritage Museum.

“Farmers should be able to grow in greenhouses (year-round),” she said, adding that organic produce should become standard fare at the dinner table. “It should be what we eat. Not toxic. Period. And not just for the affluent.”

Avid reader
Grier studied French, German and Spanish on her own and loves to read.

“Even after Coffey, I think I might have gone back to school to get a master’s degree, but I had just signed a three-picture deal. And so, in the meantime I still study. My house is filled with books, political authors, Einstein — you name it. I read a lot of books.”

She took film classes in college and enjoyed her time behind the camera, working on student crews, and producing “guerrilla” film projects, with the goal of someday becoming part of a documentary team.

Working her way through school, she held down three part-time jobs, including a gig as a disc jockey at a private club and a receptionist at a talent agency. She was reluctant to leave her work even after Roger Corman of New World Pictures tapped her for The Big Dollhouse, a 1971 film about five beautiful women who plot to escape a Philippine prison.

Grier had never acted and couldn’t afford to lose her jobs. “He said, ‘Read this book (on acting) by Stanislavski. I guarantee you’ll be great.’ He loved my rawness. I had this truth thing and I wasn’t taking any guff from any one.”

The film laid the groundwork for Grier’s longtime work in film and television. These days she’s also busy writing and developing other creative projects.

Blend different flavors for DELICIOUS RESULTS

Dessert is an indulgence, and when you delight in the taste, texture and aroma of a decadent sweet treat, you savor every bite. It is easy to get lost in the flavor and fragrance of rich chocolate or creamy caramel.

But what happens when chocolate or caramel are paired with different flavors, like salty, sour or savory? Spurred by curiosity, the food scientists in the Wilton Test Kitchen dug deeper into unusual flavor pairings to enhance the taste experience.

While the terms “taste” and “flavor” are often used interchangeably, there is a difference between the two. The taste of a food is what the taste buds perceive, while the flavor of a food is the combination of these tastes, plus the aroma and the other sensations.

There are five basic taste categories the taste buds perceive:

» Sweetness is recognized by the presence of sugar. It is very predominant in desserts, but also creates great contrast with salty and sour.

» Sourness can be added through a variety of acidic foods, such as vinegars and citrus fruits.

» Salt enhances flavor, intensifies sweetness and suppresses bitterness.

» Bitterness may be found in a variety of foods, including chocolate and coffee. When not in balance, bitter can be offensive, but in very small quantities it adds richness and depth.

» Umami is described as a savory, often mouthwatering taste perceived when eating meat, fish, cheeses like parmesan and bleu and certain vegetables such as asparagus.

COFFEE TOFFEE HEATH CUPCAKES

Makes about 24 cupcakes
» Coffee increases the bitterness of the chocolate for richer, deeper flavor
» Toffee adds rich buttery notes and caramelized sugar flavors

Cupcakes:
1 cup water
2 tablespoons instant coffee
1 package (16.2 ounces) devil's food cake mix
3 eggs
½ cup vegetable oil
Ganache:
½ cup heavy whipping cream
2 tablespoons instant coffee
1 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
1 package (8 ounces) English toffee bits

Preheat oven to 350°F. Line muffin pan with baking cups. In a small bowl, combine water and instant coffee; stir to dissolve. In a large bowl, combine cake mix, coffee, eggs and oil. Beat with electric mixer on low speed for 30 seconds, scraping bowl frequently. Then, beat on medium speed for 2 minutes. Fill baking cups ¾ full with batter. Bake 16 to 18 minutes or until toothpick, inserted into the center, comes out clean. Cool cupcakes in pan 5 minutes. Remove from pan and place on cooling grid to cool completely. For ganache, combine cream and instant coffee in small saucepan; stir to dissolve. Warm over medium heat until cream begins to steam; do not boil. Remove from heat and add chocolate chips; stir until smooth. Cool slightly. Place ½ cup ganache in disposable decorating bag. Using the handle of a wooden spoon, create a small hole in the center of each cupcake; pipe in ganache. Dip tops of cupcakes in remaining ganache; lightly shake off excess. Immediately dip cupcake in toffee bits.

SWEET AND SALTY CARAMEL CASHEW BROWNIES

Makes 15 brownies
» Caramel gets its flavor from browning sugar, butter and cream; it adds a rich, mouth-filling flavor
» Cashews add nutty, roasted flavor notes
» Salt reduces sweetness and increases the bitterness of the chocolate and butter in the caramel, creating a richer flavor

6 ounces semi-sweet chocolate (squares or chips)
12 tablespoons (1-½ sticks) butter
1 cup all-purpose flour
¼ cup cocoa powder
1 teaspoon coarse sea salt
1-½ cups granulated sugar
3 eggs
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
¾ cup cashews, chopped plus additional for garnish
15 soft caramel candies

Preheat oven to 350°F. Prepare 9-by-9-inch pan with parchment paper. In a large saucepan, melt chocolate and butter over low heat, stirring to combine. Cool slightly. In a small bowl, stir together flour, cocoa powder and salt. Add sugar, eggs and vanilla to chocolate mixture. Stir until well combined. Add flour mixture; stir until just incorporated. Stir in cashews. Pour into prepared pan. Bake 24 to 28 minutes or until toothpick inserted into the center comes out nearly clean. While brownies bake, unwrap caramel candies and roll each one out until it is ¼ inch in thickness. Cut with medium sized Leaf Cut-Outs cutter. Remove brownies from oven and immediately top with caramel cut outs, arranging in 3 rows of five. Position a cashew on each caramel. Return to oven for 1 minute. Remove from oven. Cool on cooling grid until just barely warm. Cut into 1-½-by-3-inch rectangles and serve warm or at room temperature.

PEAR AND BRIE HONEY TARTLETS

Makes about 2 dozen tartlets
» Brie has creamy texture and is a soft-ripened cheese with mild flavor
» Honey adds sweetness and balances the cheese flavor
» Pear also adds sweetness
» Cardamom adds a slight bitter note

1 sheet (½ of a 17.3-ounce box), puff pastry, thawed
1 teaspoon ground cardamom
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons honey, divided
1-½ cups diced, peeled firm ripe pear
¼ 4-ounce wheel, brie, cut into ¼-inch pieces

Preheat oven to 400°F. Prepare a 24-cavity mini muffin pan with vegetable pan spray. On a lightly floured surface, unfold puff pastry; roll out to about 12-by-8-inches. Cut into 24 squares, about 2-by-2-inches. Press each square into a prepared pan cavity. In a small bowl, stir together cardamom, salt and 2 tablespoons of the honey. Add pears; toss to coat. Add 1 heaping teaspoon pear mixture to each pastry tartlet. Bake 13 to 16 minutes or until puff pastry is golden brown and filling is bubbly. Immediately top with pieces of brie. Cool in pan 5 minutes. Remove to cooling grid. Drizzle remaining honey over tartlets and serve immediately.

FROZEN GREEK YOGURT POPS WITH PISTACHIOS AND RASPBERRIES

Makes 8 pops
» Greek yogurt adds sour cultured notes and creamy texture
» Sourness is balanced by the sweet honey, which contributes floral notes
» Raspberries add fruity flavor, which is also slightly floral

1 cup plain Greek yogurt
2 tablespoons heavy whipping cream
¼ cup, plus 4 teaspoons honey, divided
1 teaspoon clear imitation vanilla extract
¼ cup raspberries
3 tablespoons chopped pistachios, divided
4 Wilton 8-inch Cookie Sticks, cut in half

In medium bowl, whisk together yogurt, cream, ¼ cup honey and vanilla until smooth. Place one whole raspberry in the bottom of each Wilton Round Brownie Pops Mold cavity. Cut the remaining raspberries into quarters. To assemble pops, spoon 1-½ teaspoon yogurt mixture over raspberry in mold cavity; lightly tap mold against work surface to level. Sprinkle ½ teaspoon pistachios over yogurt and then ¼ teaspoon honey over pistachios. Repeat, layering yogurt, pistachios and honey, as listed above, lightly tapping mold to level. Add a quartered piece of raspberry; top with remaining yogurt mixture and lightly tap to level. Insert sticks about ¾ into pop; freeze at least 3 hours or overnight.

ROOSE, ELAINE MARY (KASHKIN, GINGRICH)

Jan. 15, 1937 - Feb. 3, 2014
 Elaine Mary Roose (77) of Pentwater Michigan and formerly of Dearborn Heights, Livonia and Farmington Hills, Michigan, passed away on Monday evening while at home and in the arms of her husband, to be with her Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. Her death is attributed to heart disease problems which have plagued her for several years. Elaine was born January 15, 1937 in the City of Detroit, daughter of her immigrant Russian parents, Peter Z. Kashkin and Anna Marie Kashkin. A child prodigy at the piano, Elaine played her first full length concert at the age of eight years, at the Baldwin Concert Auditorium in Detroit, Michigan. She continued to study with several prominent piano teachers in the Detroit area, including Gizi Santo and Misha Kottler of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. At the age of seventeen, while still attending Fordson High School in Dearborn, Michigan, Elaine received a Bachelor of Arts Degree, majoring in piano performance, from the Detroit Conservatory of Music. Prior to graduation from high school, Elaine taught privately on Saturdays and on Sundays she played piano and organ at many churches in the Detroit area. After a Magna Cum Laude Graduation from Fordson High School, Elaine attended the University of Michigan where she continued her pursuit of a second Bachelor of Arts Degree in Piano Performance. Following her degree in piano performance from the University of Michigan, she joined several professional piano groups in the Detroit area where she continued to pursue her ambition to reach the concert stage as a concert pianist. After several years, she went back to the University of Michigan to earn a Masters Degree in Music Education. Shortly after the end of the Korean War, she married her high school sweetheart, William T. Gingrich of Dearborn, Michigan. This marriage ended in divorce in 1973 and in 1978 Elaine married her present husband, Stanley V. Roose of Plymouth, Michigan.

After the birth of her daughter, (Leslie Anne Gingrich), Elaine returned to the University of Michigan to earn a second Master's Degree that certified her to teach High School American History, Psychology and Sociology. Elaine is survived by her brother, Leon Kashkin, living in Kansas; her daughter, Leslie (Gingrich) (Housner) Wallstrom and Leslie's children, Master Sergeant Jeffery J. (Brittnee) Housner, Staff Sergeant Ryan (Melissa) Housner and Erik Wallstrom. Leslie's great grandchildren include Peyton and Hailey Housner. Elaine is also survived by Stanley's children: Joseph (Gloria) Roose and Susan (Alan) Aldworth and grandchildren: David J. (Amy) Roose, Christopher M. (Melanie) Roose: Cody (Sierra) Horstmann, Savannah Horstmann, and Scott and Kimberly Aldworth: Great Grandchildren: include Ethan Roose, Emily Roose, Lillian Horstmann and Brooklyn Roose. As a Lifetime member of the University of Michigan Alumni Association Elaine was very active in Alumni Activities. She was also very active in the Pentwater Community through her participation in the Pentwater Library book Club, the Centenary Methodist Bible Study Group, the Pentwater Garden Club, the Pentwater Women's Club and Pentwater School Activities. Cremation has taken place and equal portions of the remains will be interred in the Pentwater Township Cemetery and the Glen Eden Cemetery in Livonia, Michigan. It was Elaine's wish that Memorial Contributions be sent to the:

"ELAINE ROOSE SCHOLARSHIP FUND" PENTWATER WOMEN'S CLUB, P.O. Box 1104, Pentwater, Michigan, 49449. The family is planning for a "Celebration of Life" which will be held in the spring/summer of 2014. For further information: info@kingfuneralhome.net or svrooabh@hotmail.com King Funeral Home Hart

SE Michigan report: Home permits show seasonal slowdown

Based on single-family new home permit data compiled by the Home Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan and reported in the HBAWells Fargo Southeastern Michigan Residential Building Activity Report™, a total of 200 single-family home permits were issued in Macomb, Oakland, St. Clair and Wayne counties in December 2013. From a year-over-year perspective, permit activity in December was 10 percent lower than in December 2012 (221).

The lower activity in December was due in part to expected seasonal slowdown and was further affected by an early onset of winter snowstorms and frigid temperatures.

From a trailing 12-month perspective, the four-county total of 4,601 permits is 29 percent higher than December 2012 (3,579).

For the year, in the four-county area:

» Counties: Pulte led the way with 2,158 single-family home permits. Macomb (1,532) and Wayne (863) rounded out the top three.

» Municipalities: Macomb Township led the way with 589 single-family home permits. Lyon Township (292) and Canton Township (288) rounded out the top three.

» Builders: Pulte led the way with 400 single-family home permits. Lombardo Homes (355) and MJC (223) rounded out the top three.

The HBA/ASA New Housing Permit Forecast™ projects a total of 2,159 permits will be issued in the six-month January-to-June time frame.

HBA presented its Economic Forecast Luncheon and meeting Wednesday, Feb. 19, at the Best Western Sterling Inn in Sterling Heights.

The featured guest speaker was David Crowe, chief economist of the National Association of Home Builders in Washington, D.C.

In conjunction with this event, HBA's officers for 2014 took the oath of office and those members who volunteer their time by chairing committees, councils and task forces were recognized.

HBA's 2014 Executive Committee includes:

President — Paul Aragona, Aragona Properties, Clinton Township
First Vice President — Norm Finkelstein, Norwood

Homes Ltd., Farmington Hills

Treasurer — James Clarke, Robertson Brothers Company, Bloomfield Hills

Law covers tenants, drug use, sale

Q: I heard that a landlord can obtain possession of property from a tenant if there is a drug problem. Can you be more specific?

A: Under Michigan law, a landlord may give a tenant a written, 24-hour notice to quit if the lease contains a clause providing for termination if the tenant, another member of the tenant's household, or a person under the tenant's control engages in the unlawful manufacture, delivery or possession of a controlled substance, and if a formal police report alleging illegal drug activity has been filed. Previously, the landlord had to file the police report, but the law was recently changed to allow the landlord to serve the 24-hour notice if anyone has filed a formal police report. The tenant is still entitled to a hearing in court to dispute the allegations. You are best advised, of course, to seek legal counsel.

Q: I am confused about whether homeowners associations in general are covered by the Americans with Disabilities Act or the Fair Housing Act. I am also wondering whether we can keep our pet dog as a service animal. What are your views?

A: These are very complex issues and I will try to do my best to answer them in the space limitations. First, the ADA applies only when the association has a facility that is open to the public, which is unusual. The FHA, on the other hand, applies to most community associations. Often, association boards and property managers confuse the ADA and the FHA and require the homeowners association to pay for a requested modification, when, under the FHA, it is the applicant that is required to pay for the modification. Whether an association must allow a dog that is both a pet and a service animal depends on the needs of the resident. Generally, under the definition in the FHA, the animal must be trained for service, not merely needed for comfort. These are complex issues requiring a legal opinion from capable counsel.

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
