Board reconsiders tough choices

District won't consider closing elementary school nor agree to admit schools of choice students

By Brad Kadrich Staff Writer

Gallimore Elementary School students and their families and opponents of opening Plymouth-Canton's borders to schools of choice students from outside the district can rest easy. The district's Board of Education decided against both avenues during a budget session Monday.

It would appear to be a reversal of direction on both fronts. As late as Friday, administrators were responding to a board request for information on potentially closing an elementary school – likely Gallimore – and had included the details in the board packet for a regular meeting held Tuesday night.

And as recently as its April 29 meeting, a majority of trustees supported the idea of opening some 200 seats at the elementary school level – along with a few seats in the district's STEM, IB and arts academies – to students from outside the district, a move administrators said could bring some $1.5 million

But at Monday's meeting, board members felt like there were just too many concerns. It may come back for consideration next year.

"There were a variety of reasons why board members chose not to go with this option this year," board President Judy Mardigian said. "It'll continue to be on the table for future budget years or the state may force our hand to open our borders."

Trustee Mark Horvath, who wasn't in favor of the idea in the first place, hailed the decision as "good for the community"

"(Schools of choice) continue to erode local control for school communities," Horvath said. "It turns us into a Wayne County school system, not the Plymouth-Canton school system. We worked hard to establish the academic criteria for

Water bills rising in township

Users will pay about $5 more each quarter

By Matt Jachman
Staff Writer

Water bills in Plymouth Township will likely go up – by just over $5 every three months for the typical household – when a hike in the price of sewage disposal takes effect.

The township Board of Trustees unanimously approved Tuesday an increase in the retail sewage disposal fee of 25 cents for every thousand gallons of water used. The sewage disposal fee will go from $5.50 per thousand gallons to $5.75 per thousand gallons, beginning in July 1997.

ning in July.

A cut in the wholesale price of water supplied by the city of Detroit allowed township officials to hold the retail water fee at $3.55 per thousand gallons. With the increased sewage fee, the township's business and residential customers will pay pay a total of $9.30 for every thousand gallons for water and sewer service.

With the average household using 21,000 gallons every three months, that means a quarterly bill for water and sewer of $195.30, up $5.25 every three months from the current rate. (Bills also include a meter fee, based on the size of the meter, that starts at $1.80 per quarter.)

Officials said Tuesday wholesale sewage treatment costs for the township, charged by Wayne County and the Western Townships Utilities Authority, are expected to go up by about 4 percent.

Pump-station payoff

The wholesale price cut for water, officials said, is due to the township's success at reducing water use at times of peak demand, when it is more costly for the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department to deliver it. A new pumping station in the area of Five Mile and mouth Township Park.

Paid for out of private money raised especially for the structure and poised on a small tract of land donated by Plymouth Township, the play structure is a monument to Alexander, a bubbly toddler who loved trains.

On a day when the Petkos were sure Alexander was smiling down on them, dozens of children – Alexander's 5-year-old brother Jonathan was the first – scrambled over the five-car structure with huge smiles that helped ease the pain of Alexander's loss.

"It's a wonderful gift in memory of our son," Tom Petko said. "It allows us to understand there is still the possibility of joy and gratitude. We'll always have our sadness, but we'll have the other emotions to help fulfill our lives. We're forever grateful to our friends, neighbors and the community."

The donation was the product of discussions between Jenny Petko's colleagues at Domino's. Dave Brandon, former CEO and now athletic director

Fountain opening marks 'unofficial' spring start

By Wensdy Von Buskirk

Correspondent

Spring isn't official in downtown Plymouth until the Kellogg Park fountain has sprung.

Anticipation for the iconic landmark's grand opening grew leading up to this week's opening, as the city's event season kicked off with the Plymouth Farmers Market last weekend.

"We've uncovered it and now we've got to see if it works," City Manager Paul Sincock said. "It's been a long winter."

Even with record-setting snowfall, the fountain was on track to open, Sincock said. Residents watched for the fountain's spray rising up from the center of the city's beloved park. Chances are as soon as the pool fills with water and the pumps are turned on, people will be drawn to the city's most high-profile sign of the season.

"The fountain serves as the centerpiece of town and the 160-plus festivals and events held in Kellogg Park," Sincock said.

"It's a favorite spot for wed-

Memories made

Like many local families, the Cannons have visited the fountain often through the years.

Brad Cannon, lead teaching pastor at Plymouth's Solid Rock Bible Church, recalls it as the backdrop for many lunches with his wife when their three kids were small, during the Music in the Park children's concert series.

As their children have grown, so has their interaction with the fountain.

"It's a place with lots of happy family memories," said his wife, Becky.

The couple's oldest daughter, Autumn, 14, met her fifth-grade pen pal for the first time at the fountain, while Bella, 11, has gone from balancing around its flagstone edge to meeting friends there with ice cream from the nearby Dairy King. Maxwell, 8, tosses pennies in as high as possible "to make the ultimate wish."

Well wishes

The Kellogg fountain was a gift to the city from the local Rotary Club, installed in 1967 as part of the city's centennial celebration.

It was upgraded in the 1980s and 1990s, Sincock said, and discussions are in the works for another update soon. In the meantime, the Department of Municipal Services, along with plumbing and electrical contractors.

keeps it running. Each week DMS workers drain and clean it, sweeping the coins into buckets to be dried on canvas at city hall before going to the bank. About $5,000 in wishes from around the world are are made at the fountain each year.

Pennies get thrown in there all the time and we get a lot of foreign coins from as far away as Europe, Canada. South American countries, Brazil, Peru, Sincock said. "It all goes back into upkeep of the park.'

The city dyes the fountain for special occasions — green for St. Patrick's Day, orange for Halloween, pink for the Susan G. Komen 3-Day. Sometimes pranksters fill the water with bubble bath.

The soothing sounds, surrounding shade trees and cool mist make it a tranquil spot and favorite photo opp, with Vice President Dick Cheney among visitors who have stopped by for a snapshot.

Each fall, the fountain is closed and wrapped in a grid work of tarps until the following spring.

During the winter, it looks like a spaceship," Sincock said. "We start getting calls in January: 'When are you going to turn the fountain on?'

Now, Sincock can say it's open.

at the University of Michigan, charged Tim McIntyre, the pizza chain's vice president of communications, with finding a way to honor Alexander and help the Petko family.

Knowing of the boy's love of trains, the idea for the play structure sprung to life. With generous contributions from Brandon's foundation and Domino's, plus numerous contributions from individuals – friends, family and strangers alike - the structure soon moved from idea to reality.

'The crux of the idea was to come up with a tribute that would be something special that Alexander would have loved and, as a 2-year-old, he loved nothing better than trains," McIntyre said. "It's really a gift to preschoolers throughout Plymouth Township for generations to come.'

And it's not just the play structure itself. Alexander's Express sits next to Pavilion 2 in Plymouth Township Park. That pavilion is in the process of being transformed into a train station. It's been painted, two windows have been modified to look like ticket windows, there's already a clock and a weather vane will be added.

The work was done entirely by volunteers, including many of the Plymouth Community Fire Department firefighters who responded to the call when Alexander drowned.

Firefighter Dan Atkins was on the call, one he said was "one of the worst calls I've ever responded to." He helped put up the brick-like vinyl siding on the side of the pavilion.

Atkins acknowledged that building something with such potential for producing happiness helps deal with the pain of the memory.

"It does," he said. "It's kind of a closing, to see something positive come out of something so tragic. It gives the guys a way to help.

Brandon said the play structure was created by a community "that loves Tom and Jenny." He said there was never any doubt the folks at Domino's would pitch in to do something to help the Petko family.

"We take care of one another at Domino's ... when someone is in pain, we rally around them and take care of them," Brandon said. "It's a way to memorialize a young life that was taken far too soon."

McIntyre praised the efforts of township officials, whose help he said he found "remarkable." He said he "pitched the idea" to Plymouth Township Supervisor Richard Reaume and that Reaume and township Treasurer Ron Edwards were very supportive.

"When you work with governments and you do things you've never done before ... every time I expected to hear the word 'no,' I heard 'yes," McIntyre said.

From there, McIntyre said, the project "just grew." Donations came in large amounts – Domino's donated $10,000 and Dave Brandon's foundation gave $5,000 - and small. Much of the material for the train station was donated and volunteers, from neighbors and friends to township staffers, spent hours helping get it set up.

"It was stunning," Jenny Petko said. "We just couldn't believe how many people wanted to be able to do something for our family and didn't know what they could do. This gave them an amazing outlet for their love and support of our family. It was incredible and we were just so overwhelmed."

McIntyre called support for the project emotionally overwhelming" and a "bittersweet thing."

"It was very heartwarming," McIntyre said. "This is the greatest project I've ever worked on that I wish didn't have to happen."

Now that it has, Alexander's parents believe the 2-year-old, whose birthday party was set to feature a train theme, would be the happiest of all.

"He would do his little 2-year-old 'I'm happy dance," Tom Petko said. "He'd climb on top of the cars and make noise. We're just hoping a little bit of his joy can be shared with all the chil-

Plymouth-Canton schools.'

The board also decided not to consider closing a school for the 2014-15 school year. Board members had asked administrators to resurrect some information from the last time a school was closed (Fiegel Elementary before the 2012-13 school year), as a potential means of saving money in the budget.

Administrators have estimated the closing of a school would save the district about $1 million.

But when the board met for its Monday study session, there was no real support for closing a school with so little time to implement the plan.

Mardigian said some board members were worried there wasn't enough time for the housing committee and others to put the plan together, notify parents and school officials and communicate the decision properly to the pub-

"The feeling was there wasn't enough time to notify the families," Mar-digian said. "We're going to have to look for that money somewhere else."

Horvath said he's been urging the district to close a building for "a couple of years" as enrollment has declined. Information presented at Tuesday's regular board meeting showed the district could have as many as 80 empty classrooms by the 2015-16 school year.

"We have a lot of empty capacity and it costs us money we could be putting into the class-rooms," Horvath said. "(Enrollment forecasts) could change, but it's not going to change to fill that many classrooms.

Mardigian said the board will likely have to consider closing an elementary school before the 2015-16 school year. The district's boundary committee is expected to bring a recommendation on school boundaries in the fall.

Beck, they said, has allowed water to be pumped into the tower there more efficiently during off-peak times.

The rate cut proposed by DWSD for Plymouth Township earlier this year was just over 8 percent.

However, officials said, the retail water rate is being held at $3.55 per thousand gallons in order to smooth out past wholesale price increases that were not entirely passed along to consumers, but rather absorbed by the township's overall water fund.

The township water and sewer fund for the current fiscal year is more than $14 million.

In the city of Plymouth, water customers will pay $11.34 per thousand gallons starting in July. The city commission approved an increase in the combined rate, from $10.89 per thousand, earlier this month.

Canton police probe man's possible drug-related death

By Darrell Clem Staff Writer

A 35-year-old man's death is under investigation by Canton police after authorities were called Friday evening to the Day's Inn at Michigan Avenue and Lotz Road on a possible drug overdose.

The victim, a La Porte, Ind., man, died Saturday night at Oakwood Hospital-Wayne, one day after police began investigating the possibility that he and his male partner may have administered the drug methamphetamine to each other, Detective Sgt. Chad Baugh said.

Police have not released the victim's name.

The man's partner, described as a 38-year-old former Canton man who had been living in Indiana, called police after returning to the room and finding his partner "unresponsive," Baugh said.

It could take several weeks for Canton police to receive word from the Wayne County Medical Examiner's Office on the official cause of death, Baugh said.

At that time, he said, the information could be turned over to the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office to determine whether criminal charges should be filed.

serious injuries Tuesday afternoon when he was struck by a sport-utility vehicle on M-14 in Plymouth Township.

The accident occurred about 1:15 p.m. Tuesday on westbound M-14 near North Territorial, according to a press release from the Michigan State Police. The SUV was traveling in the left lane when the driver lost control while approaching a construction zone and the vehicle struck the worker and then rolled over,

The road worker was taken by helicopter to the University of Michigan Hospital, while the SUV driver was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with minor injuries. No further information about the worker or driver was being released.

Police said alcohol use does not appear to have been a factor in the crash, which remained under investigation. Police closed westbound M-14 at Beck for part of the after-

Police advised a Canton man to convince his 35-yearold daughter to seek medical help after she accused him of sexually molesting her - possibly using hypnosis, remote control or dietary means while they were in separate bedrooms, a police report said.

The woman told police she was in a room alone when the incident occurred. She said she has been told she suffers from paranoia and is seeing a doctor, though she said she isn't taking medication.

The woman also told police that her family staged a funeral of an uncle in Alabama because she had a premonition about his death. The woman indicated to police that she is a practicing attorney.

Local family fights hunger with music

The Birchler family is hosting "Jammin' to End Famine 2014," the seventh annual concert to benefit Kids Against Hunger, at 6:30 p.m. Friday, May 30, at The Plymouth Elks Lodge.

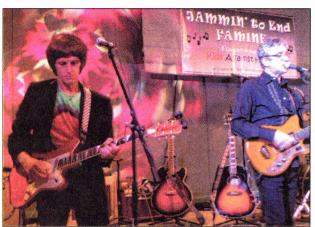

Kids Against Hunger is a nonprofit organization with the mission to significantly reduce the number of hungry children in the United States and to feed starving children around the world. The show will showcase four acts, each featuring members of the Birchler

"The need for nourishing meals here in Michigan, as well as places like Haiti, is just staggering," said big brother Dave Birchler.

Concert organizer Tom Birchler was very impressed with Kids Against Hunger after participating in a megapackaging event in Okemos, where 800 volunteers assembled 100,000

"I was astounded to see hundreds of grade school and high school kids laughing and having fun while helping to package food for the less fortunate," Tom Birchler said. "All the profit from this concert will go directly toward buying the food (for) a packaging event we will schedule later this year. Your support of the concert will help us take advantage of the tremendous participation Kids Against Hunger inspires in our youth."

The concert gives people of all ages the opportunity to let loose and enjoy music and dancing in a casual atmosphere. Every act features outstanding singing. John Birchler will open the show as a

Next, Tom's son Mark Warren and his band 2 Dayz Gone will fire up the dance floor with '80s and '90s rock 'n' roll. The night concludes with contemporary rock band Playing Mantis, featuring Tom's son Michael Birchler on drums.

Attendees will enjoy free pizza and salad, along with a cash bar. Tickets are $25 for adults, $10 for students, and are tax-deductible.

"Pope Francis in his first speech asked Catholics and all people of good will to 'protect the poor," said Jim Birchler, who will host the event. "Don Birchler, our beloved papa and our spiritual inspiration for this work, taught us by his example to care for the poor. We're looking for some folks who are willing to have a good time and help us enhance food security for the thousands of people who benefit from the work of Kids Against Hunger."

Kids Against Hunger works with churches and local nonprofits to package its specially formulated rice-soy casserole for delivery in the U.S. and more than 40 countries worldwide to feed starving children and their families.

"When you feed a child, you feed our future," Kids Against Hunger Coalition founder Donald Burwell said.

Since 2004, more than 95,000 volunteers in Michigan have packaged more than 10 million meals, which have been distributed to disaster victims, starving people throughout the world and to food shelters and depots in Michigan and the Great Lakes area.

Since 2008 "Jammin' to End Famine" has raised the funds for more than 98,000 of those meals.

Youngest brother John Birchler, past president of the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth, a major KAHC partner, said, "Our concert is a very fun way to help us continue this effort.

Home ownership is a great way to improve your quality of life, but it is not necessarily a great financial move. Many people believe that their house is a great investment when it is not. Renting may be a better option. If the house will not increase your quality of life, then walk away.

When it comes to purchasing a home, the most important document that you sign is the purchase agreement, which sets forth all financial terms of the sale and includes other things, such as any warranties, terms of inspection and any items that go with the home.

In many cases, a purchaser will not have an attorney review the document before it is

I recognize that a lot of Realtors will say that you have to sign the purchase agreement now or you risk losing the home. As far as I'm concerned, that is a marketing tactic. You have to protect yourself and the only way of sure that the purchase agreement has the protections needed.

Once you sign a purchase agreement and the seller accepts, it is too late to make any adjustments. That's why it is important an attorney – who represents you and only you – reviews the agreement.

Don't forget that in addition to a home, you have other issues such as saving for your retirement and potentially a child's college education. If you overspend on your home, you may find your retirement or your child's college education is jeopardized and that is something that will ruin the joy of home ownership. Good luck.

GOURMET GROWTH

Mama Mucci's celebrates 25 years making pasta the old artisan way

By Karen Smith Staff Writer

ince Mucci remembers his mother, 76, waking up early each Sunday morning to make pasta from scratch, rolling it out by hand and laying it all over the kitchen table to dry. She followed a recipe she learned at her mother's side while growing up in Montelongo, Italy. Today, she no longer has to go through that arduous process because her sons Vince and Frank make a variation of that same recipe at Mama Mucci's Pasta in Canton, a company they founded 25 years ago this month.

'We still do it the way my mother did it as a girl," Vince, 52, of Plymouth said during a recent tour of his plant. "It's still made in batches, the old artisan way." Vince and Frank, 47, started the company in their parents' basement in Plymouth. Mama Mucci, Margherita, was the quality controller. "In the beginning, she threw away more pasta than we sold," said Vince, the company's president. They took it to chefs at area restaurants, asking them to sample it. Their first buyer was Ernesto's Italian Country Inn in Plymouth, now the Courthouse Grille.

Today, Mama Mucci's Pasta Co. sells to 200 restaurants in metro Detroit, as well as food service clients in 12 states and Canada. Customers include US Foods, Sysco Corp. and Gordon Food Service. The company makes more than 100 products, including fresh, dry, frozen and filled pastas. It plans to expand its territory from Michigan to Florida.

Consumers can purchase Mama Mucci's dry and frozen pasta at Holiday Market in Canton and Royal Oak and Mama Mucci's dry pasta at Hiller's Markets, which has stores in Plymouth and Canton.

Helping the company grow has been the explosion in pasta's popularity, fueled by cooking shows and people traveling more. At the time the brothers founded Mama Mucci's, fresh pasta was gourmet, Vince said. "Now everyone's eating pasta" and it's on nearly every menu, not just those of Italian restauare key What sets his company apart from some competitors is the quality of ingredients and the manufacturing process, Vince Mucci said. The brothers use more eggs - some manufacturers don't use any eggs, he said - and 100-percent semolina flour made from durum wheat. Mama Mucci makes its pasta in smaller batches and rolls it, unlike some companies that use Play-Doh-like machines to extrude it. Rolling gives the pasta more texture so sauce will stick to it, Vince said. He slowly dries the pasta at low temperatures for 18 hours instead of four hours, so it retains its flavor; it is then packed by hand.

The company has focused on selling to chefs, instead of directly to consumers, because 'chefs are a lot more demanding and particular than the consumers." Vince said. For example, he sells lobster-filled ravioli wholesale for $10 a pound. For him to sell it to consumers for $10 a pound, he'd have to cheapen the product, substituting large chunks of lobster claw and knuckle meat for minced or pureed lobster. "I refuse to do that," he said. The company employs 20 people, including Ed Kennedy of Westland, who has been with Mama Mucci's for 23 years. He is the production manager. "It changes all the time," he said of his job, as the company is always coming up with new products.

Mama Mucci's has been in Canton for 17 years, after it was moved from the parents' basement to a rented space in downtown Plymouth, where dad Pietro, 88, operated his shoe-making business.

Pietro and Margherita Mucci have been married 58 years. Their oldest son, Tony, is in comput-

Margherita Mucci said she couldn't have imagined the business her two boys started in her basement would grow into what it is today, producing one million pounds of pasta per year. "I'm really proud," she said. "They work hard."

And that means she no longer has to work hard each Sunday morning to enjoy authentic Italian pasta like her mother used to make.

Spring shoppers finally out; brutal winter was better for some than for others

By Julie Brown Staff Writer

Winter was rough on some Plymouth-Canton businesses - but not all.

"It makes people want to get out of town," said Kate Rosevear, owner of Travel Leaders, a travel agency at Ann Arbor Road and Sheldon. "I do snow dances and ice dances, but I think I overdid it this year," the Plymouth Township resident Already, winter-weary travelers are planning for next winter. "Anyplace warm," including Mexico, especially Hawaii and the Caribbean, Rosevear said.

"It's really impressed people that they need to plan ahead," said Rosevear, who also saw an increase in winter cruises. "I think we all got tired of this one. It was cold. The snow was kind of pretty.'

She's seen an uptick in business the last two or three years as people are less apprehensive about the economy. There are longer booking times, including for European travel.

"All of my colleagues are saying the same thing," Rosevear said of agencies that ring metro Detroit. "To a person, we're all seeing much better business." River cruises in Europe and even the U.S. are grow-

Eric Roundy is new car sales manager for Dick Scott Chrysler Dodge Jeep Ram, at Ann Arbor Road and Main. "We were busy" this winter, Roundy said. "It was a good winter. Pretty much across the board. It was a very good winter, actually."

The body shop was busy, he said, but not as much as you'd think from winter fender benders. "Previous years they were busier when the winter wasn't as bad," he Heidi Parent of Plymouth owns Sun & Snow at Ann Arbor Trail and Main in downtown Plymouth. It's her fifth summer in town.

"We didn't (suffer) because that is our market," she said of skis and winter outerwear. "We're still going to appeal to anybody who needs pants and jackets.'

"It is (busy) for us," Parent said of winter. "We stay busy all season. We do rentals as well," including skis, snowboards and cross country equipment.

Sun & Snow does a lot with the Plymouth Ice Festival, which boosts business. Warm weather yoga and, this year, with Zumba added with business partners also help. Sessions are held Wednesday evenings in Kellogg Park.

Spring break has brought in shoppers for swimsuits, flip-flops and the longboards.

'That market has grown for us in the last few years," Parent said of longboards, different from skateboards in that the skateboards are for tricks and turns while the longboards are more for traveling.

She's also planning to repeat last year's popular "Kick Butt" litter pickup, aiming for two such

The Saturday, May 3, opening of the Plymouth Farmers Market helped her business. "People were excited to get out," she said. "It's just a sign of spring and summer."

Downtown Plymouth concerts, including Fri-

Alpine Chocolat Haus also has stores in Gaylord, Boyne City and Sault Ste. Marie. "It doesn't deter people up there like it does here, Taylor resident McKeen said of winter weather. "They're used to it."

"People are not going to drive out of their way, for the most part," due to the number of jewelry stores, she said.

Plymouth chiropractor finds it is possible to go home

By Julie Brown Staff Writer

ndrea Hoglen has been thrilled to set up her chiropractic practice in downtown

Plymouth.
"I really believe in that personal aspect of quality of care," said Hoglen, who earned her doctor of chiropractic degree from Logan College of Chiropractic in St. Louis, Mo., in April 2011. "It shouldn't be a rushed issue."

Hoglen, 28, of Plymouth Township, isn't a newcomer to the area. She attended Plymouth Christian Academy, Central Middle School and graduated from Plymouth Salem High School at age 16 in 2002. She was on the cross country team at Salem.

"I'm just looking to grow my practice and become more established in the community. It was kind of neat to come back to Plymouth," she said. "The Box Bar is different, but it's still there. It's beautiful to come back to this town and see what has stood the test of time.'

She and husband Ryan Dunlap often walk to Panera Bread in downtown Plymouth. They also enjoy Kellogg Park.

She specializes in athletic rehabilitation and laser healing treatments. Hoglen is starting her fourth year in the area: "I just opened this office in the past couple months," she said, adding she's excited about pursuing her own standards of quality care.

She was an assistant with chiropractor Robert E. Potter of Canton Center Chiropractic Clinic earlier before she went to chiropractic school. She has patients still from that time and goes to the gym with a former Salem teacher.

After earning her doctorate, she'd worked several years with Innovative Health Solutions under the direction of clinic owner Davis Brockenshire before opening her own practice recently.

She volunteered in 2011 as the sole chiropractor in the Michigan Breast Cancer 3-Day event sponsored by the Susan G. Komen Foundation. Her focus was walkers, volunteers and staff.

Those people are the ones who do all the hard work. I'm just there to put them all back together," she said with a chuckle. "I'm hoping to be involved with it again. I would love to get back to it, I really would," she added, noting the big commitment concurrent with her new practice.

She began her studies at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, finished her bachelor's degree at Logan University and then her doctor of chiropractic.

"I've been back in Plymouth ever since," she said. "It's just a dream come true to have both my professional and personal life based in my hometown. It's absolutely perfect. I love the area."

She works in a general practice, including athletes ranging from high school to Olympic hopefuls to "weekenders."

"Really, it's just anybody who wants to be more active, healthier," she said.

When not working, Hoglen runs in Hines Park and around downtown Plymouth with her German shepherd mix, Sienna. She goes hot air ballooning with her dad and enjoys scuba diving with her husband. She is also involved in community theater and enjoys classical and modern dance.

Hoglen's practice can be reached at 734-751-8068 or www.doctor hoglen.com/.

She has a website blog on health, nutrition, fitness and related topics and also speaks to companies, clubs and others on her areas of expertise. Her practice of Hoglen Chiropractic & Laser is in Suite 1B at 580 Forest, on the second floor of Westchester Square in downtown Plymouth.

Stolen silverware found after auto accident

By David Veselenak Staff Writer

A disc jockey leaving Laurel Manor after working a party earlier this month hit the wrong restaurant as he tried to drive away under the influence with some stolen silverware.

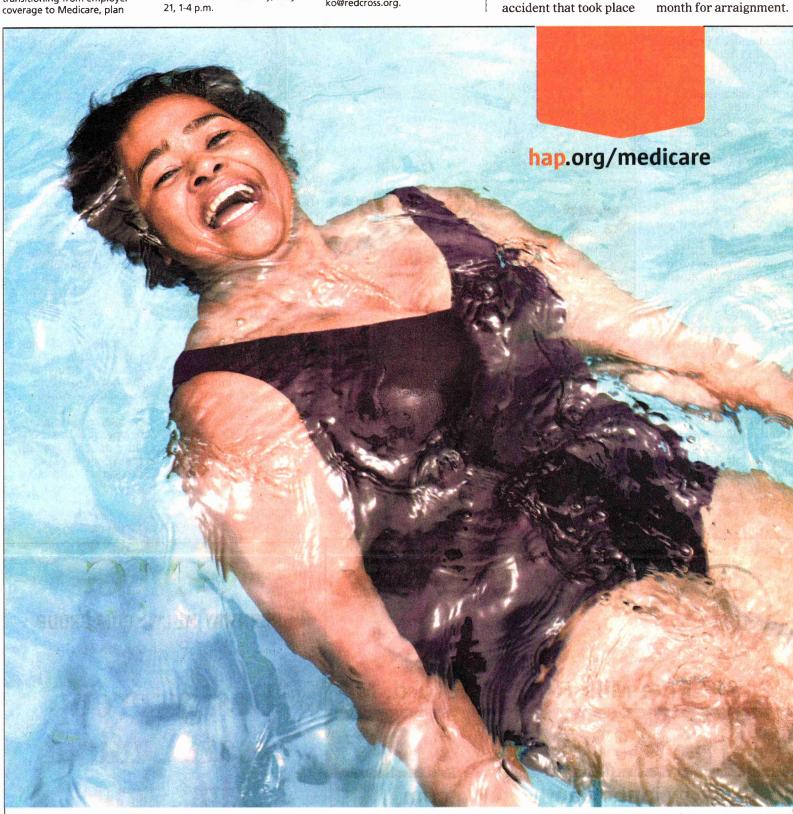

A police report was filed with Livonia police Monday afternoon from a family member related to the owners of the banquet hall, located at 39000 Schoolcraft in Livonia. The family member said they suspected a DJ who worked a party at the hall May 3 had stolen some silverware after the event and was caught by Plymouth Township police.

The DJ, a 23-year-old Belleville man, was involved in a rollover near the Livonia/Plymouth Township border at Plymouth Road and Eckles. The vehicle went off the road and hit the La Bistecca Italian Grille, 39405 Plymouth, and caught fire, according to police reports.

As a result of the accident, some contents of the vehicle were found on the ground. The owner of the grill found several pieces of silverware on the ground and, being a family friend of the owners of Laurel Manor, recognized it was from the banquet hall.

The suspect was arrested at the scene by Plymouth Township police under the suspicion of operating while intoxicated and is expected to be in 35th District Court later this

School district officials make good choice

Board right to delay decision on school closure

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education reversed course Monday on two key decisions trustees were hoping would help them avoid making even deeper cuts to eliminate a $5.3 million deficit in the district's bud-

And they were right to do

While final decisions hadn't been made yet, the board was leaning toward opening some 200 elementary school seats, plus some additional seats in the district's STEM, IB and arts academies, to a schools of choice option for students from outside the district's bor-

And, as late as Friday, the board was considering closing at least one elementary school - likely Gallimore - as early as the 2014-15 school year. Information had been gathered by the administration and placed in the school board packets to be introduced at Tuesday's meeting.

It's easy to see why the board would consider both moves. Administrators estimated opening the district to 200 students from outside its borders could generate as much as $1.5 million in revenue it wouldn't otherwise get. And they've said closing a school could save the district some $1

That's nearly half of the projected deficit.

However, reaction to the potential changes was underwhelming. Residents (read: taxpayers or voters) were none too keen on inviting stu-dents from outside the district into the fold, fearful of lagging achievement, academic among other things.

And while the board's decision Monday not to close a school circumvented potential negative reaction, it's not rocket science to believe families of the 314 students who attend Gallimore were going to put up

No one is pretending a building closure isn't coming down the road. The district will almost certainly close a building before the 2015-16 school year starts. Enrollment numbers will force the issue; the district has lost hundreds of students in the last five years and is projected to keep losing them due to the presence of charter schools and the dwindling birth rate in Wayne Coun-put it off. The decision to close Gallimore this September would have been forced, hurried by economic factors rather than logical thinking. Better to put it off, the board decided, and find the money elsewhere.

The district has already, to varying degrees of failure (bus privatization) and success (food services), done what it can to find cuts in expenses and increases in revenue.

Teachers, custodians and other union members have given millions back to the district and certainly can't be expected to simply keep giving back.

In budget sessions so far this spring, the board has cut teachers, is almost certainly going to privatize custodial services and has made other cuts to try to deal with the deficit. Frustrated by what they say is a lack of funding and support from the state, board members continue to do a remarkable job finding ways to cut. But you can't cut your way out of a deficit year after year; at some point, the board will have to make that most difficult of decisions - closing a

Some cans can't be kicked down the road. Closing a building was a decision the board was better off putting off.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Treating kids differently

Two weeks ago, the superintendent stated the district was considering opening our borders to out-of-district youth, while at the same time letters were sent to many district families that rescinded their ability to do the same. This again highlights that there is a marked discrepancy in educational experiences and allowances for the children in this district and it cuts across economic lines and neighborhoods.

Two years ago (school year 2012-13), there were three elementary schools that were rated by the state as "State Focus schools," due to large discrepancies in their MEAP scores. Parents in those schools were offered PRAs (the ability to transfer their children to another school in the district) and funding and focus was promised to these at-risk schools to address the issues. Many parents took this opportunity and moved to other schools in the district.

There were some added reading classes given to the youth in the focus schools; however, intervention for atrisk behaviors have still not been addressed properly. All of these schools fall in the lower income neighborhoods.

In August 2013, two weeks before the 2013-14 school year started, some of these PRAs were rescinded. When those of us who had our PRAs rescinded asked to see the data to demonstrate why this had happened, our PRAs were approved; data was not given to us to review. Two months ago, parents were again sent letters stating that the PRA program was not being continued and once our child advanced from the school they were in, they had to go back to their neighborhood school and were no longer allowed to go to any other school in the district

As one of those parents, let me tell you what this does. By making the decisions you have in the last two years, you are increasing the educational divide across economic lines for youth in this district and are not providing the same educational experiences or safety for all the schools in the same dis-

Lower-income families statistically work more hours and do not have the time to pay attention to when they are being treated differently or unfairly. However, there are those of us who do notice and we will not tolerate this exclusion to continue and the divide to in-

We are asking for the model that demonstrates how opening our borders to out-of-district youth, while denying in-district children the same opportunities, improves education for all youth in PCCS and details on how are we utilizing state focus funds to positively improve education in the at-risk schools in terms of at-risk behaviors.

These requests will not go away, nor will those of us who you believe are not paying attention to how our children are being treated differently.

Health is expensive

Amazed, not surprised

The slyness of our Republican lawmakers in Lansing never ceases to amaze me. Not surprise, just amaze. I swear, at times I have to doff my hat at the absolute wiles these people are able to pull off.

According to both of our daily newspapers, the Senate leader, Randy Richardville, has introduced legislation to raise the minimum wage by 75 percent Sept. 1. Sounds pretty good, right? Not so much when you look at the true motive behind this gesture.

A little information on what is afoot today. "Raise Michigan" has been circulating petitions to raise the minimum wage to $10.10 per hour. It appears they will have more than enough signatures to ultimately put the issue on the November ballot. However, the petitions being circulated are to amend the current minimum wage law.

Now, here's the rub: Richardville's bill would repeal the very law the petitions seek to amend. In other words, the petitions would be useless, null and void, because you can't amend a bill that no longer

Amazed, but not surprised. about to let citizens encroach on their turf with ballot initiatives, unless they fit in with their dogma. The best example of this was in 2012, when voters threw out the emergency manager law. During the last lameduck session, these same Republicans resurrected that law, changed a few words, added some state funds, called it an appropriations bill and, ta da, untouchable by the electors.

At some later date, I'll inform you readers about some of the things they have planned for the next lame-duck session. James Huddleston

Lipstick on pig

Education funding has increased since Sen. Pat Colbeck and Gov. Rick Snyder took office. The problem, if you are a school district, is that the increased spending has been mainly to make adjustments in legacy costs, while actual perpupil funding has declined When Gov. Snyder took office the per-pupil funding was $7,316 and in 2013-14 the funding is $7,076.

This week, House Democrats proposed a cap on the state's furniture purchases from Gov. Snyder's cousin and also proposed an increase in the education budget by $22 million, the same amount Gov. Snyder's cousin's furniture contract was increased when it was doubled.

tions of the roads in Michigan? After shameful neglect, Colbeck and Snyder are frantically proposing election year fixes, which should be welcome to us all - except that 84 road repair projects were submitted by legislators and only two went to districts represented by Democrats. Is it only Republicans that deserve to drive on safe roads?

Looking at the Colbeck and Snyder agenda and record, you can try and put lipstick on a pig, but it is still pretty ugly. How about Michigan Republicans making women buy special rape insurance so a legal medical procedure will be a covered part of their health insurance?

Volunteers makes 'happy dance' possible aration, countless hours of effort and indeterminable amounts of emotional upheaval finally paid off Saturday when 'Alexander's Express,' the five-car play structure dedicated at Plymouth Township Park, was finally unveiled.

The structure is dedicated to the memory of 2-year-old Alexander Petko, the Plymouth Township toddler who drowned in a tragic accident last September.

Pavilion 2 that goes

Happy kids played gleefully on Alexander's Express after its unveiling Saturday in Plymouth Township Park.

But the real heroes of this story are the many volunteers who chipped in in any number of ways. Donations large and small flowed in (to the tune of some $30,000). Sure, there were a couple of large donations mixed in (Domino's gave $10,000 and the Dave Brandon Foundation donated $5,000), but by and large, it was paid for the way these kinds of efforts are normally paid for: the generosity of friends, family and even strangers.

Volunteers painted walls, searched for complementary pieces like the clock that's already up and the weather vane that will be added, put up brick siding and spread mulch. All of it was done to keep alive the memory of a young boy who loved trains and who spread joy in his ever-so-brief time.

"Zander (his parents' nickname for him) would have loved this," said Tom Petko, Alexander's dad. "He would have done his 2-year-old 'I'm happy' dance."

Ironically, Alexander's Express was unveiled on National Train Day. Judging by the numbers of children delighting in the play structure on its opening day, it's a pretty safe bet Alexander was, indeed, doing his happy dance.

Students make connection with 'Macbeth'

By Sue Mason Staff Writer

Kate Ulrey makes no bones about it; she loves Shakespeare. In fact, her favorite play is Macbeth.

So it comes as no surprise that Ulrey, the head of the drama department at Lutheran High School Westland, selected Macbeth as the final theatrical production this school year. The play will be presented Friday and Sunday, May 16 and 18.

"It's absolutely my favorite," Ulrey said. " Macbeth has some very teachable moments in it. The teachable moments run through the play and the kids can make the connection.

Work on the play started in March, less than two weeks after the curtain fell on the musical Annie. Working around spring break, the spring sports season and concert, a cast and crew of 60 students have been rehearsing after school.

The cast also includes teacher David Kusch as the Old Man and siblings Aaron Wentzel and his 9-year-old sister Elise, who play Doctor and the Macduff child.

"We're also fortunate to have some athletes in the show," Ulrey said. "We were able to work with the athletic director to let them come in for some practice."

Costume stash

This is the third Shakespeare play Ulrey has produced at the high school. She has staged A Midsummer's Night Dream and Romeo and Juliet previously.

For this production, she dipped into her stash of costumes used by her Backyard Shakespearean Players, a children's troupe that performed in outdoor settings like her backyard. She estimates that 95 percent of the costumes "came out of my garage.'

"He showed them specific moves so they wouldn't hurt themselves," she said. "We'll open the whole thing with a battle scene and renaissance music. We also have a surprise planned for the banquet scene. It's very dark and we want to lighten up the mood."

Ulrey's daughter Jane, a veteran of the Backyard Players, is playing Lady Macbeth. She didn't expect to get the role and her mother admits she actually saw her playing one of the witches. Ulrey gets help from Kusch and Jeanne Wiley with audi-

Of course, Jane is getting advice from her mother and calls her sister Nora who's acting in Chicago, too.

A senior at LHSW, this is her last play and she's "really enjoying doing it."

'This is a good way to end high school. I like this show a lot," she said.

Jane also is working with Annalee Kuhr and Bethany Hoehne in choreographing the dances. Kuhr, who plays Fleance in the play and is stage manager, joined the Backyard Players at age 9 and became Jane's best friend. When Jane decided to attend LHSW, Annalee did the same.

NOAH'S MARK

Willer hits the target as Rocks win weather-delayed game over 'Cats

By Tim Smith Staff Writer

The first half of a Kensington Conference boys lacrosse matchup between campus rivals Plymouth and Salem was as hotly contested as one might expect.

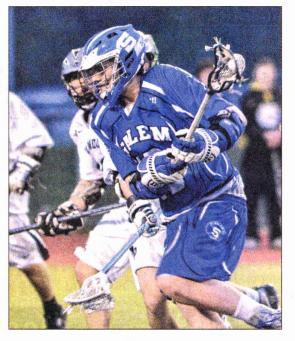

But put the second half on hold for three days and there's no doubt things would really reach a fever pitch when the game resumed on the varsity turf field at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park. Such was the case Saturday, with the Rocks rallying for an 8-7 victory on junior attackman Noah Willer's goal with about four minutes remaining in regulation.

It was Willer's second goal of the second half and third overall; he also scored Wednesday, May 7, when the first half took place before lightning delayed completion of the match with the teams tied 3-3.

"It kind of bubbled up and boiled over before the game today," said Salem head coach Paul Nemzek about the anticipation for rebooting the game, which had implications for the Park championship.

Salem (5-8 overall, 2-3 in the Kensington Conference) can win campus bragging rights with a victory over Canton, but Making another determined offensive push is Salem's Noah Willer (No. 19), who was a thorn in Plymouth's side.

Practice makes perfect, they say.
And that made all the difference for Plymouth sophomore pitcher Cameron
Stella and the Wildcats varsity baseball team in Saturday's 4-2 victory over Salem in the opener of the annual "Strike Out Prostate Cancer" twinbill.

Salem had runners on second and third with one out in the top of the seventh, trying to mount a rally against Stella.

Mike Vernon smashed a hot shot up the middle that looked to be a gametying single to center field, but Stella snagged the comebacker and threw to catcher Andrew Jossey who proceeded to get courtesy runner Conner Shaughnessy into a rundown.

Shaughnessy was tagged out for the second out of the seventh and Stella then got Josh Penn on another hard-hit grounder (to Plymouth first baseman Seth Hubbard) for the win.

"We do a lot of plays like that in practice, where we get it and step off, look right at the runner, throw it and kind of just run him down," said Stella, about the crucial defensive gem.

He added that first-year head coach Jason Crain and the rest of the coaching staff always puts a premium on making the plays — routine or not — when they need to be made.

"Before the game the coach just says there's going to be three to five plays that determine if you win or not, and we made those plays," Stella said. Stella also helped his cause at the plate, doubling to lead off the fourth against Salem starting pitcher Nick March with the Rocks nursing an early 1-0 lead (via an RBI-double to right-center by Jack Driscoll).

Hubbard then singled and Patrick Downey's attempted sacrifice bunt was thrown into the left-field corner, enabling the Wildcats to go up 2-1. A balk followed to make it an unconventional three-run rally.

"Those things happen in high school baseball," said Crain, about the wild throw. "We've had it happen to us, it

Probably the highlight of the day for Canton's varsity girls tennis team Saturday was receiving the trophy for winning the KLAA South Division championship.

Other than that, Saturday's Kensington Conference "A" tournament at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park belonged to the KLAA Central Division of the Charles of Tuesday's thunderstorms forced the postponement of a scheduled KLAA Kensington Conference baseball matchup between host Salem and Canton. It marked the second consecutive day for storms and washouts at the Park. Both teams are hoping to make up the game this week to determine seedings for the May 19 conference tournament. According to Chiefs head coach Barb Lehmann, talking earlier during the tournament, her team's top two doubles tandems were "still on the court and most of the girls got through the first round, which is great. Marlins sweep Blazers to capture division title

Staff Writer

Farmington Hills Mercy swept a softball doubleheader from Livonia Ladywood for the second time in three days last Thursday to win the Catholic League Central Division championship.

The Marlins finished 11-1 in the loop, losing only to Warren Regina, and improved their overall record to 13-1 by defeating the host Blazers, 11-0 in a five-inning mercy, and 9-4.

Mercy sophomore Abby Krzywiecki threw a three-hit shutout in the first game and was 6for-8 at the plate with seven RBIs and five runs scored in the doublehead-

She went 4-for-5 in the nightcap, knocked in four runs and scored three. Krzywiecki and Jordan Ewald hit back-toback RBI doubles in the first inning of that game, but the Blazers scored three runs in the third to take a 3-2 lead.

Mercy tied it in the fourth with Alex Sobczak's RBI single, then Cari Padula hit a two-run triple in the fifth to give the Marlins a 6-3 lead.

Krzywiecki broke it open with a two-run homer in the sixth and added an RBI single in the sev-

Ewald was 3-for-5 and Sobczak and Jordan Johnson were 2-for-4 as the Marlins outhit the Blazers, 13-5.

For the annual "Strike Out Prostate Cancer' benefit doubleheader, each team hosted one game.

But only the opening game, at Plymouth, counted in the Kensington Conference standings for seeding purposes ahead of the May 19 conference championship.

In the nightcap, Salem sophomore starter Eric Scott out-pitched Plymouth's Derek Ebeling.

Scott gave up two runs in the second on a run-scoring double by Nick Foster and RBI single by Dakota Lynn before settling down.

Featuring a sharp breaking ball, Scott retired the Wildcats in order the next two innings — fanning the side in the fourth. Josh Penn closed out the victory with two scoreless frames.

Plymouth still led 2-1 going into the bottom of the fifth when the Rocks surged ahead for the Driscoll, who had two hits in each game and also made a handful of stellar defensive plays at shortstop, got things started with a single up the middle.

Vernon was hit by a pitch and Penn (2-for-3, one run, one RBI) beat out an infield hit to load the bases.

Clearing the bases with one swing of the bat was Brandon Gillen, roping a double to rightcenter to make it a 4-2 Salem advantage.

The day wasn't just

"It's obviously a great cause and we're real happy to be a part of it," Crain said. "We talked to the kids a little bit about it. We've talked about what it means now and what it's going to mean for them in maybe 30 years ... not too far down the road, although it seems like a lifetime for them."

3 Crusaders get All-WHAC honors

Madonna University landed first-team honors on the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference baseball team as voted upon by the nine WHAC coaches.

Leading the way for MU was senior catcher Donny Holland (White Lake Lakeland), senior pitcher Travis Schuba (Rapid City/Kalkaska) and sophomore second baseman Shane Dokey (Brighton).

Holland is making his second straight appearance on the squad after being tabbed for the honorable mention team as a junior. The Crusaders' team MVP controlled a young pitching staff from behind the plate while posting a .252 average with 32 hits and 15 RBI.

Holland also fielded .985 average, picked off five runners and threw out 22 base stealers this season.

Schuba becomes the first male studentathlete in MU history to earn All-WHAC first team honors in two sports after being tabbed to the All-WHAC basketball firstteam in each of the last two seasons.

The jack-of-alltrades for the Crusaders this season, Schuba posted five saves while also making three starts in the rotation. In addition to a teambest seven wins, Schuba collected five saves with a 1.86 earned run average in 20 appearances after joining the squad following the completion of basketball season.

Schuba is second in career saves with 13 and tied for fourth in single-season appearances with 20 in 2014.

Dokey ranked third on the team with a .291 average, collecting 51 hits while scoring a team-best 53 runs. MU's leadoff hitter most of the season, Dokey drew a teambest 33 walks while stealing 31 bases.

A trio of Crusaders were named to the WHAC's honorable mention including sophomore pitchers Evan Piechota (Livonia Stevenson) and Adam Prashad (Mississauga, Ontario), along with freshman designated hitter Taylor Grzelakowski (Fraser).

Piechota went 5-3 with a 2.55 earned run average this season in MU's weekend rotation. He struck out a team-leading 49 batters in 70.2 innings of work while holding the opposition to a .233 average.

Prashad posted a 4-3 record with a 2.62 ERA in 72 innings. He was second to Piechota with 40 strikeouts, while walking just 19 batters.

Grzelakowski hit .287 this season, including eight doubles a team-best 36 RBI. He also went 17-of-19 in stolen base attempts.

Seniors Ryan Lech (L'Anse Creuse North), Tyler Schofield (Windsor, Ontario Brennan) and Dan Stoney (Canton), along with redshirt sophomores Ben Matigian (Livonia Churchill) and Piechota were all named to the Academic All-WHAC

To be honored on the academic team, a student-athlete must be a junior or senior academically and have a grade-point average of 3.25 or better.

Holland, meanwhile, earned his second straight WHAC's Champions of Character Team honor. He was selected by his coaches as the studentathlete who best displays and lives the NAIA's Five Core Values of respect, responsibility, servant leadership, integrity and sportsmanship.

The Crusaders finished 29-25 this season, including 13-14 in the conference.

Eagles soar in 12-3 victory

Plymouth Christian Academy's varsity baseball team staked starting pitcher Michael Slater to a 3-0 lead in the first inning last Thursday.

That was plenty as Slater pitched a complete game, walking one and striking out 12 as the Eagles earned a 12-3 victory over their MIAC opponent.

PCA went up early on a double by Johnny Laugh, singles by Daniel Jipping and Michael Slater and a two-base hit by Austin Andres.

Southfield chipped away with a run in the second, but PCA replied with a five-run surge to go up 8-1.

That rally started with Jared Cobb's bunt hit.

MU signs cager

Madonna University women's basketball coach Carl Graves announced the signing Monday of Cara Horst, a 5-foot-10 forward from Clio.

Horst, who led Clio to a pair of Metro League titles (2011, 2013) is the third to sign an NAIA letter-ofintent this offseason with the Crusaders joining Lindsey Hernden, a 5-6 guard and 1.000-point plus career scorer from Romeo, along with Kacy Robinson, a 5-8 guard-forward from Clarkston.

Horst was a two-time second team All-Metro performer as a junior and sophomore, along with being a first-team All-League and team MVP as a senior. She also lettered in volleyball for the Mustangs.

'Cara has enjoyed an incredible high school career, and I'm pleased that she has chosen to join our family," Graves said.
"She will be a great fit, and brings the right attitude and commitment to the program. I'm certain that today's signing makes the future of this program a bit brighter.

"My staff, my captains and returners are all very excited for next season."

Futsal soccer to a 'T' at seminar

LOCAL SPORTS

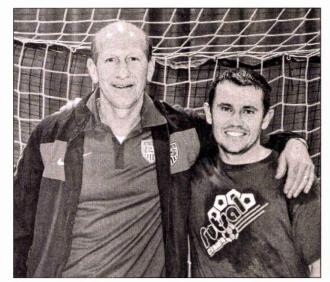

United States Futsal Soccer National Team Coach Keith Tozer visited High Velocity Sports in Canton late last month to conduct a coaching seminar.

The Canton Soccer Club and many other soccer clubs attended to listen to "Coach T," the winningest coach in indoor soccer history with over 700 victories and five league titles.

Tozer, who has coached 31 years in the Major Indoor Soccer League, is now stepping away from coaching in the MISL and shifting his focus to the growth of Futsal in the United States.

Futsal is a variation of soccer played on a basketball size court with one keeper and four field players.

Plymouth's Kyle Robertson was in more of a celebrator mood in the first half of the game against Salem, when he scored twice. Robertson scored another goal after the game was resumed Saturday, but the Wildcats were defeated 8-7. BILL BRESLER | STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER just when that game will be played remains to be seen. The Salem-Canton game on May 9 was stopped in the first quarter — yes, also due to weather — with the Rocks leading 3-0. Willer received a crisp pass from freshman Marty Mills and ripped a 10-yard shot into the top corner of the Plymouth goal, beating sophomore netminder Trevor McManus.

Then with the Wildcats (4-10, 0-5) ganging up on Willer to knock the ball away for a potential game-tying bid, the Salem player refused to lose possession and grinded out as much of the clock as possible.

"Just keep the ball away from them no matter what," said Willer, about his blue-collar effort at the end of the game. "Because, at that point, it's for the game.'

According to Nemzek. that gutsy sequence by Willer was no surprise.

"He's our best player. We want the ball into his stick at any point when it's at the crucial point of the game," Nemzek said. "When we want to run the clock out, that's our play. Either with him or Joey Krause. We were fortunate to run it down."

Willer scored the first goal of the second half after the suspended contest got back underway and Dillon Farmer added another marker to put Salem up 5-3.

Bouncing back

But the Wildcats did not go quietly. Derek Szczepanik scored to make it 5-4 with 1:45 remaining in the third, finishing a play started by Jack Balch.

Krause got it right back to restore a twogoal lead (6-4), but the Wildcats' Justin Brodzik and Mitch Gonzalez netted back-to-back markers against Salem goalkeeper Mack Baker in the final minute to enter the final stanza deadlocked at 6-6.

Momentarily keeping the Rocks from taking the lead early in the fourth was McManus, who blocked a scorching one-hopper from Willer.

Then the Wildcats took a 7-6 edge with nine minutes remaining when junior attackman Kyle Robertson buried a 12yarder inside the right post. It was the third goal of the game for Robertson.

The euphoria on the Plymouth sidelines did not last very long, however. Just 44 seconds later, Krause circled the Plymouth goal and flipped the ball in front to Mills — who quickly snapped it home

"We were without our second-leading scorer, Lucas Martin, that's why No. 1 (Mills) stepped in and started and he played well," Nemzek said.

Plymouth also was without a key player for the second half, losing Nolan Ouellette to an injury during Wednesday's first half (when he also scored one of the Wildcats' goals).

The Mills goal set things up for the Noah Willer Show down the stretch, and he didn't disappoint his team or its

Kensington meet features slew of top performances

By Brad Emons Staff Writer

There was little drama determining the boys and girls KLAA Kensington track and field champions Friday at Livonia Churchill.

The Northville girls, led by double individual winners Rachel Coleman (800-meter run, 1,600) and Chloe Abbott (100, 200 dashes), put on a dominating display to repeat as champion with a team-best 161.6 points.

Novi was a distant second with 90, while Salem (86.6), Churchill (74.6), Plymouth (59.1) and Livonia Franklin (49.6) rounded out the

On the boys side, Novi (101.5) repeated as champ, with Livonia Stevenson edging Westland John Glenn for second place, 69.33-68. Churchill (54.5), Northville (53), Canton (52.33) and South Lyon (52.33) were the next four in front," Salem girls coach Dave Gerlach said. "And we did some things with our lineup today, just trying to see what we could do in different events. Now we got to concentrate on regional finals and get kids to the state (finals)."

The Rocks got a sterling performance from freshman Isabel Rodriguez, who posted an impressive time of 58.06 to win the 400. She also teamed up with Kaya Knake, Anya Cho and Kayla Kavulich for a first in the 1,600 relay (4:06.31).

"Very exciting race," Gerlach said of the 400. "They came around the turn there with a 100 (meters) to go and three abreast. That's one tough kid, Isabel Rodriguez, as a freshman. To run 58 flat, that's the real deal."

Canton sophomore Emily Meier swept the shot put (38 feet, 9.25 inches) and discus (124-0), while Franklin's Sheila McKinley captured the pole vault (10-9).

The Novi boys were led by sprinter Jordan

Love, who captured the 100- and 200-meter dashes, as well as anchoring the first-place 400 relay (43.58).

The Stevenson boys got only one first, but it was a big one as Terry Buford-Pendergast took the 110 hurdles in 15.84. He was also runner-up in the high jump behind Canton's Jamal Dixon, who set a meet record with a leap of 6-8.

"Buford-Pendergast did a very nice job today ... that was a surprise for him to come out and win the hurdles," Stevenson coach Scott Shaw said. "He's had more success in the high jump and has been following Nate (Falzon) a little bit, but he came out and took that first. He also got a second for us in the high jump, so he was the man today.

"Ágain, we were strong in our normal areas. We only had seven kids technically allconference (top three), but we got guys taking fifth, sixths, sevenths down the line. That's what does it."

Glenn junior Jaron

Flournoy ran a blistering 48.59 to edge Wayne Memorial's Montel Hood (48.88) in the 400 finals. Flournoy also teamed up with Freddie Thompson, Kenyatta Mason and Austin Hickers for a first in the 800 relay (1:30.5).

The Rockets' quartet of Thompson, Kimari Johnson, Hickerson and Mason also captured the 1,600 relay (3:29.16).

"Coming into the meet, I knew we'd be in the top three," Glenn coach Jason Dixon said. "Of course, you always hope for a first-place finish, but I'm very proud of them.

"Everyone did what I thought they were going to do. It's getting towards the end of the season. We're getting some PRs, some great performances.

Meanwhile, Churchill senior Jacob Hage broke his own conference record in the pole vault (14-6), while Plymouth sophomore Michael Jordan was best in the discus (47-4.25).

MARY EVANS 91, of Canton Township, Michigan, Sun City West, Arizona, and Allegan, died Saturday, May 10, following a life-altering struggle with vascular dementia. Mary was born April 21, 1923, in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada the daughter of Wilson and Lillis (Oakes) Evans; however, she spent most of her childhood in Detroit and Ypsilanti, Michigan. She graduated from Henry Ford Hospital School of Nursing as a registered nurse in 1946, spending the last year as a cadet in the Army Nurse Corps in Battle Creek, Michigan. Mary worked in many roles throughout her long professional career: labor and delivery, pediatrics, adult medicine, office practice, and in extended care facilities. Following retirement, she spent countless hours volunteering at Sun Health in Arizona and Allegan General Hospital in Allegan, Michigan. In 1946, she married Gerald (Bud to some, Jerry to others) Sutton in Canton Township, Michigan, following a twoyear letter correspondence prearranged by his mother and her aunt, while Bud was in the Army. They fell in love and were engaged before they ever met, and spent the remainder of their lives giddy with love, holding hands, doting on each other always. After spending the first half of their lives in Michigan, Mary and Jerry spent many happy retirement years in Arizona, where they enjoyed the warm sun and playing golf with their friends. Mary wove a deeply-patterned and richly-stitched life. Candies (in the red glass container) and homemade, fiber-filled cookies (in the blue jar) always awaited guests and grandchildren. She set a beautiful Sunday table, proudly displaying family heirloom china, linens, silver and crystal, for which she had developed a deep affection after working in her aunt and uncle's china shop as a young woman. She was also proud of and passionate about (aka, obsessed with) keeping house and home, famous in the family for her "unnatural thrill for clean windows." She completed crossword puzzles daily for as long as we can remember, usually before she had finished breakfast, thinking that it would stave off Alzheimer's. She loved reading the newspaper, especially in order to clip coupons and recipes, often finding of interest something using spiced or candied nuts, or any-thing into which she could slip a secret, nutritious ingredient, like parsley or wheat germ.

Lawrence Welk; listening to the Jackie Gleason Orchestra, Perry Como, K.D. Lang and Norah Jones; singing good old Methodist hymns; and the organ, which she used to play with verve. Mary loved Michigan soil and tomatoes, as well her Arizona citrus trees. Her extended family and constant companions were her houseplants, ever cared for her experienced green thumbs, always trimming, rerooting, re-potting and sharing with friends and family living in various places across the country. Among the last of the Veteran- and Depression-Era she counted every dime, spending very carefully, splurging rarely, dutifully making sure to waste not; she was among the first recyclers and washers of used aluminum foil, we are sure. She liked to look pretty, decorated in jewelry and colorful scarves. She was an accomplished seamstress, sewing up until just a few months before her passing. If you keep a sharp eye, you will find Mary's handy work everywhere - just look for walkers or hospital beds with small-to-large bags decorated with pretty buttons or swag. bags decorated Nothing reflected her journey to and through dementia better than her sewing and crocheting -from flowing, organized and orderly to a tangled mess of button-bombed and road-rage stitched - all beautiful all along the way the dementia-poetry path. A tapestry of gifts from a woman who lived for so long. Mary is survived by her three daughters, Shirley Sutton-Rop of Allegan, Jill Sutton of Glendale, Arizona, and Denise Sutton of Allen Park, Michigan; seven grandchildren, Liza Allegan, Billy Rumery of Kristen) Shellenbarger of Royal Oak, Laura Niemi (Pat LaGrego) of Portland, OR, Brandon Niemi of Phoenix, AZ, Sydney Sutton-Liswith of Los Angeles, CA, Lane Sutton-Liswith of Tucson, AZ, and Elizabeth Moosekian of Allen Park, MI; one great-grandchild, Luna Belle of Allegan; and a niece and two nephews, Judy (Evans) Swanson, Iim Evans and Ken Evans, She was preceded in death by her husband, Jerry; brother, James; sister, Dorothy; sisters-in-law, Shirley and Betty; son-in-law, Charles; and by a dear "sister"in-law, Mary Lou Bailey. Cremation has taken place. Mary's ashes will be co-mingled with Jerry's so they can carry on their love affair/embrace and dance for eternity. They will be buried in Sheldon Cemetery, Canton, Michigan, where there will be a private family celebration of their lives. Plymouth theater stages funny, poignant sides of motherhood

Cast members from Barefoot Productions' Motherhood Out Loud show just how fun motherhood can be.

By Sharon Dargay Staff Writer

Get ready to celebrate Mother's Day for one more weekend with Barefoot Productions' Motherhood Out Loud, Friday-Sunday, May 16-18, in Plymouth.

The play, which closes Barefoot's 2013-14 season, takes a look at motherhood from pregnancy and labor through greatgrandmotherhood in scenes and monologues written by 14 American writers, including Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright, Beth Henley. It replaced the theater's annual production of The Vagina Monologues in this season's line-up.

"We decided to put more variety into the season," said Craig Hane, who is co-directing the play with Dana Naughton. "We thought we'd drop it (Vagina Monologues) for a year and we found this great little script celebrating motherhood."

hood."
Like The Vagina Monologues, some of the scenes in Motherhood Out Loud are read and some are acted out. Monologues and sketches are arranged along a time line that's divided into hortons.

divided into chapters.

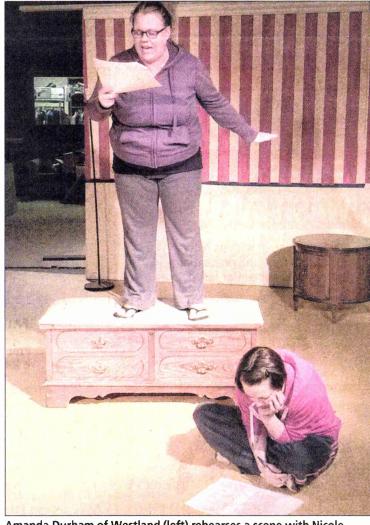

"The first chapter is all about labor and newborns. The second chapter is the first day of school ... the reaction of mothers when their children go away," Hane said. "Parts of the show are about the fun of motherhood, but also about the craziness craziness.

"There is a wonderful scene about a son who has gone to Afghanistan and another about an autistic son's very first date. The scenes vary from comedy to poignant, but they're all very true to life."

Casting moms

Although the script calls for just four actors playing multiple roles, Hane and Naughton cast 12 actors, including two men.

Amanda Durham of Westland (left) rehearses a scene with Nicole Holiday of Plymouth.

"Being a community theater, we wanted to use as many people as we could. Each scene represents different people anyway," Hane said. "I would say there are six people who are new to our stage. Half who came in to audition are brand new and the other half are veterans.

"I was surprised to find out how many mothers we have in the show."

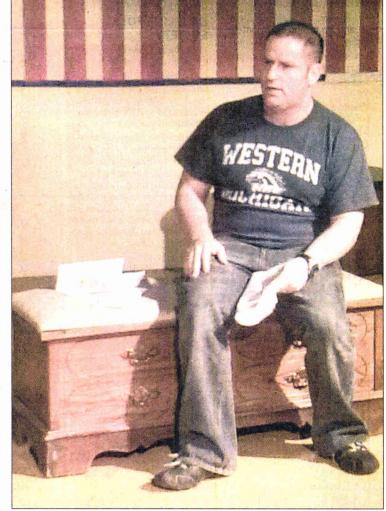

Naughton, who had a baby last summer, will perform the opening and closing scenes of the show. Hane tapped her to help direct the play because of its large cast. He also was happy to let Naughton choose the scenes that resonated with her, but that left him a bit bewildered.

"She'd say I want this one, I know what this is about. And I'd say, good, because I don't."

Dog dad

Hane doesn't have any human children but has cared for three rescued dogs. His current furry child is Murphy, a shepherd mix.

"Many people say to me
'You treat your dogs better than I know some parents treat

Sean Randolph of Canton is one of just two men cast in Motherhood their kids.' My pets are my everything," Hane said. When Murphy temporarily slipped away on a recent trip to Maine, Hane panicked.

"My heart went into my throat. I know how a mother feels when she turns around and her child is gone," Hane said. "I think I can identify with a lot of this."

The play starts at 8 p.m.
Friday-Saturday and at 2 p.m.
Sunday, at the Barefoot Productions theater, 240 N. Main, Plymouth. Tickets are $15, available in advance at justgobarefoot.com or at the thea-

Food stylist offers advice on how to make your meals pop nforgettable spring and summer moments are typically defined by family, friends and great weather and made even more memorable by the meals. Take warm weather gatherings to a new level of festive by adding fresh pops of color to everyday meals and outdoor celebrations.

For inspiration, try these warm weather tips from food stylist and loyal Aldi shopper Janice Stahl:

» Mason Jar Salad: Keep salads fresh and delicious by layering nutritious goodies in a mason jar. Start with dressing on the bottom, then layer veggies, cheese, lettuce and your favorite protein or topping. Everything stays separate and dressing-free until you toss the salad together in a bowl.

» Sweet Summertime: End your meal with a light but special sweet treat by serving fruit for dessert. Summer fruits can be baked, grilled, frozen or simply used as fresh pops of color on top of your favorite sorbet.

» A Toast to Summer: Raise a glass this summer in a toast to refreshing seasonal beverages for all ages. From the sunny yellow of lemonade to the ruby red of sangria, these drinks can double as centerpieces for all your backyard get-togethers.

Aldi style tip: Fill ice cube trays with lemon juice, fruit or fruit juice to add to your drinks. This will help keep them from getting watered down as the ice melts.

Grilling tips:

» Prevent food from sticking by oiling your hot grill rack with an oil-soaked paper towel. Hold it with tongs and rub it over the rack.

» Before using a marinade, divide it into two containers. Use one part as a marinade and the other as a dipping sauce, once the food is » Grill meat with a dry spice rub instead of a traditional sauce. Supply a buffet of sauce choices that complement the rubs for guests to choose and try.

» Use cinnamon sticks in place of skewers when grilling fruit kabobs. These spicy skewers not only hold the fruit together, but also impart a bit of flavor as they caramelize on the grill.

New home building on a rebound, skilled workers in demand

Michael Stoskopf, CEO of the Home Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, isn't the only one who's glad spring is here. "It is a frustratingly old story," Stoskopf said of this winter's impact on home construction. Even in March, builders could continue work on some existing projects but starting new home development was difficult.

He was at an existing Canton home development in mid-March. "You could barely drive through because there was so much construction activity," Stoskopf said. "Now we're seeing that pick up in April" regionally.

Based on single-family new home permit data compiled by the HBA of Southeastern Michigan and reported in the HBA/Wells Fargo Southeastern Michigan Residential Building Activity Report, 245 such permits were issued in Macomb, Oakland, St. Clair and Wayne counties in March

For example, there are fewer local excavator companies. "They only can do so much work," Stoskopf said.

Stoskopf said both new and existing home sales are crucial at all income levels and home types. He added that a strong housing market indicates a strong, improving economy.

The HBA/ASA New Housing Permit Forecast projects a total of 2,475 permits will be issued in the six-month, Aprilto-September time frame. If activity is limited to the forecast level, it would represent a 10 percent decline compared to the same period in 2013 (2,756). However, if adjustments are made to account for "pent-up activity" that was not possible during the past four months, the six-month permit forecast is for 2,755 permits, equal to activity in 2013.

Community gardens often bloom where planted

Q: I have heard that the popularity of community gardens has exploded in recent years nationwide. Can you give some idea of what at community garden is?

A: Community gardens are shared spaces at associations, apartment complexes, and other housing sites where residents gather to garden and grow food. They can range in size from one communal raised bed, to hundreds or thousands of square feet of people. Community gardens provide numerous benefits to residents and to associations such as: 1) beautifying community grounds; 2) increasing community property value; 3) creating social activities for residents; 4) empowering youth and disabled residents; 5) encouraging water conservation, waste reduction and recycling; and 6) giving residents access to fresh, healthy food. A good idea if the circumstances warrant.

Q: One of our neighbors lives on a manmade lake and claims he has riparian rights to it. We have been telling him that he is wrong, but I would like your opinion.

A: In a recent case, the Michigan Court of Appeals ruled that riparian/littoral rights do not attach to land abutting a large manmade body of water. In doing so, the court seems to have put to rest any issue that may have existed as to whether the Inland Lakes and Streams Act abrogated the common law definition of riparian rights. In effect, the case establishes that lands abutting artificial surface water bodies do not abut a natural water course so that your neighbor may well be out of luck.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have ou hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Intermediate

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
